Congratulations go this week to ROBERT KEITH SALE, son of MR. and MRS. J. C. SALE for his bid to membership in PHI DELTA THETA, a social fraternity at TEXAS TECH. BOBBY was among the fall pledges.

It's easy to figure the cost of living these days. Take your total earnings and add twenty percent.

Absentee voting for the four proposed constitutional amendments is underway. Read the amendments before visiting the polls. Be sure you have a poll tax. You can't vote without one—don't try it.

The staff received a very clever birth announcement from LT. and MRS. CHALMER WREN, JR., A03118933, U. S. A. F. Auditor General Branch Office, A. P. O. 254, New York, N. Y. CHALMER WREN III, was born October 2 and tipped the scales at six pounds and 11 ounces. The editor lived next door to KATHY in her courting days with CHALMER. We are very proud of this splendid young couple and send our personal congratulations on the arrival of the number three CHALMER WREN.

The TENAHA STATE BANK has been robbed again. News of the latest robbery was circulated by a leased wire service Saturday. Tenaha is located in Shelby County, between Carthage and Center. It has been robbed before. Many years ago, when your editor was editing a newspaper at Carthage, the Tenaha bank was hit and a bank employe was locked in the vault. That was the first time any bank robber used that gimmick to get away. Tenaha is just a dozen miles from Gary, the small community in Panola County where TEX RITTER, the singing cowboy movie star was reared. TEX once wrote a song titled: "Tenaha, Timpson, Bobo and Blair." It was a popular seller in East Texas. JOHN GRAVES, native of Timpson, now with the Soil Conservation Service in Stanton, has been in Bobo and Blair many times. The small communities are also near Tenaha.

MR. and MRS. GRANVILLE GRAVES and children TERRI, age 8 and CRAIG, age 3, have moved back to Stanton from Coahoma. GRANVILLE used to work for us here in the newspaper office. He left the printing profession several years ago and entered the plumbing field as an associate of his dad, WALTER GRAVES. For the past three years, GRANVILLE, his wife and children, have resided in Coahoma. He holds a master plumber's license and has moved the family into a residence located at 410 S. Boniface here. GRANVILLE has a birthday on November 7. His wife, ROBBIE, observed a birthday on October 28. MR. and MRS. WALTER GRAVES entertained their children with a special birthday dinner the past week end.

How Much Does A Drought Cost?

The first question usually asked in connection with a drought is: "How much is it going to cost Texas?"

This question is rising again as Texas, and much of the South and East enter the fifth month of a prolonged dry spell.

It is impossible to accurately forecast dollar losses in drought areas but a look at our production figures under normal conditions in Texas is significant. Our past experience with production losses during the droughts of the 1930's and 1950's can give us an idea as to what we might expect if dry weather continues another 12 months.

Farm and ranch livestock are about the first to suffer at the very beginning. Grass becomes scarce and expensive feeding operations have to be started. Many stockmen then are forced to sell cattle which tends to depress prices.

The loss potential by the fall of 1964 is approximately 200 million dollars in animals and animal products if the history of the middle 50's is repeated. This represents a dollar loss of about one-fourth of our annual livestock income at the end of an 18-month dry cycle.

In a normal year, our livestock industry is valued at about 930 million dollars. During the last drought, losses ranged from 30% to 70% in areas of the state.

Drought makes a dramatic impact on Texas cash crops which have an average annual value of 1 1/2 billion dollars. It doesn't take much dry weather at the wrong time to slice this figure by one-fourth during the first harvest year.

The initial loss potential, then, is something like 375 million dollars during one complete crop year. This income declines as the drought continues.

The impact of a drought on range land is less dramatic, at first, but its effects are longer and just as damaging. Grass and range cover almost completely disappear by the end of the second year of a severe drought, exposing the soil to irreplaceable loss through wind erosion.

It is impossible to estimate dollar losses on range land but we are just now achieving complete recovery in some areas of the state from the drought that ended six years ago. The "road back" for range land is a slow process.

Intensive Research Program To Study Weevils Scheduled

The only thing High Plains farmers can do now about boll weevils is to conduct a thorough cleanup around farms, gins, city dumps, and farm buildings after harvest. That's because officials of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station say only an intensive research program—already planned—can provide definite answers to the control problem.

Such a cleanup program can reduce possible numbers of hibernating weevils and the elimination of such areas would also reduce possible habitats for weevil hibernation.

A basic question must be answered before the most effective control programs can be initiated, explains Dr. J. C. Gaines, head of Texas A & M University's Department of Entomology. That is, do boll weevils overwinter above the Caprock?

To get the answer, he says about 150 cages are to be placed in possible over-wintering areas—such as soil bank land, mesquite brush and shinnery areas. Locally collected weevils will be placed in the cages this fall and those surviving will be recorded next spring. If weevils survive in the cages, then the overwintering question will have been answered, he says. W. L. Owens, associate entomologist at the Lubbock station is in charge of this phase of the research work. Dr. Gaines explains.

Negative results from these studies, however, he adds, will not necessarily be conclusive since additional overwintering studies will be necessary for a 3-5 year period in order to get a complete answer.

In addition to the cage studies, trash sample from possible overwintering sites will be examined during the coming winter to determine whether weevils are hibernating in the various habitats. This may also give the research workers an indication of the relative importance of the various environments in the overwintering.

Health And Safety Tips

From The American Medical Association

The nose is a delicate organ, both as concerns its smelling abilities and its structure.

The nose bruises and bleeds easily when punched. Its delicate lining covers a dense network of blood vessels, and the slightest break in this mucous surface causes bleeding.

It's an indelicate topic, but too many people pick at the nose in a sort of habit pattern that is not only repulsive to others but also potentially dangerous. Serious infection may result. Another dangerous practice is pulling hairs from the nose. Excessive use of nose drops on inhalants can cause permanent damage to the delicate membrane.

A sometimes serious side effect of nose troubles can be involvement of the sinuses that empty into the nose.

If you must wash out your nose, use mild salt water and put it in drop by drop. Don't pour it in as though you were flushing out a catch basin.

If you catch a cold and your nose drips, blow it gently with both nostrils open to clear out the mucus. If one side is closed and you blast away, some of the force will back up into the throat.

Germ laden mucus might be driven into one or both tubes into the middle ear, with possible infection resulting. Blow gently.

Your nose is a useful appendage. It records many sensations, both pleasant and unpleasant. Sense of smell is an important part of the sense of taste. Smelling smoke might serve as a warning of danger from fire. Don't abuse your nose. It must last you a lifetime.

Poison Oak And Poison Ivy
If you ever run into Poison Oak or Poison Ivy on a camping or fishing trip, here's a recipe that's a sure cure:

- 1 pint Rubbing Alcohol
- 2 cubes Camphor Gum
- 25 Aspirin Tablets
- Mash up Camphor Gum, Aspirin and add to Rubbing Alcohol. Rub over affected parts of body.
- This "Old Woman's Recipe" is also good for killing red-bug itch and stinging nettle whelps.

Bible Comment—

The Last Supper Of Jesus Accents Fellowship Among All The Faiths

The Last Supper of Jesus with His disciples stressed the communion as the symbol of fellowship in the Christian church.

This is marked to such an extent that denominations, or sects, are called "communions," even in the very separateness which denies the unity that ought to be in Christ.

For that, of course, that are historic reasons, which to a large degree are being overcome by many who in mind, soul and heart accept as fellow Christians all who love the Lord, regardless of barriers of organization and formal creed.

But there ought to be even deeper implications of fellowship as we contemplate that Last Supper in the upper room.

The Last Supper was the celebration by Jesus and His disciples of the Passover, the most sacred rite in the Jewish religion, which was their heritage as Jews and which Jesus said He had come not to destroy, but to fulfill.

The fact ought to give the Last Supper a significance that it has never had, neither for Jews nor Christians, and a meeting place in fellowship that they have never found. Surely the supreme task of all who believe in the Christ and the fellowship of the upper room is to bring to reality and fullness in the world the spirit and the practice of brotherhood.

We know that there was one present in that room with Jesus who renounced that spirit, who betrayed his master. What we do not realize is that everyone who professes to share in the communion, but who does not live in its spirit of brotherhood, is more akin to Judas than to any other disciple.

To partake of holy communion "in remembrance of Jesus" is not merely an act of conformity, an expression of outward faith. Its reality is found only in a renewed commitment of the soul to the Christian way—the way of brotherhood.

Philosopher Gives Up On Trying To Keep Up With What's Going On In The World

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw throws up his hands in the face of an impossible job, his letter this week reveals.)

Dear editor:
People are always saying a man ought to keep up with what's happening in the world, but it can't be done.

Last night for example I was leafing through a high-powered national magazine and ran across a seven-page article on "U. S. Policy In Yemen."

This is what I'm talking about. Yemen? I never heard of the place, and I'll bet a year's subscription to The Stanton Reporter that not over two people within ten miles of this Martin County grass farm ever heard of it either, yet it's a country on the foreign aid list the same as the others.

Now I don't mind admitting I didn't read that article, on the grounds that if I brought myself up to date on the situation in Yemen, it would be only fair to do the same for South Viet Nam, Iran, the Congo, Algeria, South Korea, etc. through the entire list of 175 nations now on earth, and by the time I got through I'd have to start back over as the situation changes every week or two in most of those places. This wouldn't leave me any time for farming, and if I'm not going to have any time for farming, I'd rather it'd be because of something besides the study of geography.

Trying to keep up with what's going in the individual countries of the world is beyond my reach. It's like trying to keep up with all the politics in all the counties in

The car's the same size. As trim and easy to handle as ever.

But now you can have a full-grown V8 in it. A Turbo-Fire 283* that turns out 195 hp.

It's the kind of machine that doesn't take much coaxing to set in motion. (Especially when you consider it has over 60% more power than the Chevy II that won North America's toughest rally last spring—the Shell "4,000.")

And for '64 we've also added a choice of a 4-speed Synchro-Mesh transmission* with a floor-mounted shift.

But in case your tastes run somewhat milder, we should point out you have a pick of three other engines as well. The standard 4 (on 100 Series sedans), the standard 6 and a new 155-hp 6*.

And, whatever one you decide on, it's reassuring to know you're getting a car built with the pure and simple integrity of a Chevy II. (Upkeep has been even further reduced this year by such refinements as larger self-adjusting brakes.)

It's a simple matter to spot one of these '64's by styling touches like the new grille design and trim accents. But we'd like to suggest a more memorable way. Drop down to your dealer's and drive one.

*Optional at extra cost.

Importance Of Cultural Practices In Insect Control

"Don't depend upon insecticides alone for good insect control," according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

"Insecticides are a wonderful and almost indispensable aid in the fight against pest—but they do not replace the necessity of good cultural practices," he added.

Cotton farmers especially should make every effort to clean their fields after harvest, the commissioner pointed out. A thorough destruction of the stalks help destroy winter hibernation places for insects, especially the pink bollworm and the boll weevil.

Cultural practices and insecticides make an almost unbeatable team in minimizing crop losses to insects, White said. But each one is an aid to the other. Neither one alone will do as effective a job as the team.

Insecticide costs can be cut to some extent when used in connection with proper cultural controls, he added. Stalk destruction achieves a good kill over the winter and lighter emergence of insects in the spring.

White said it was a misconception to think that modern chemicals had replaced the necessity for mechanical means of insect control. "There is no such thing as 'just button warfare' against crop pest," he declared. "You still have to do field work in addition to spraying."

Texas Prison System Needs 156 New Guards

Due to the critical shortage of custodial officers (guards) throughout the Texas Department of Corrections, Dr. George J. Beto, director, has issued an appeal for the employment of at least 156 workers in this category.

Dr. Beto stated that guards are needed at all 13 units of the state's penal system in order to maintain the department's security strength.

Applications are being accepted from men ages 18-55, in good health, who have a high school education or better, and who can stand rigid investigation.

Base pay for custodial officers range from $305 to $372 a month. While on duty, officers are furnished uniforms, meals and housing, Dr. Beto explained.

In addition to the base pay, all prison employees come under federal social security and the state's retirement pension plan. The prison system maintains also an employee-operated Credit Union.

Dr. Beto pointed out that personnel is needed at units in Walker, Madison, Houston, Brazoria, and Fort Bend counties. "The men who are employed as custodial officers," Dr. Beto commented, "can look forward to a rewarding career in prison correctional work."

Applicants are asked to write or contact L. W. Dishong, Training Officer, Texas Department of Corrections, Box 32, Huntsville, Texas, for additional information.

Art Sale Opens At Texas Tech

An opportunity for West Texans to view and purchase original art works from throughout America and Europe without having to travel further than Lubbock, will be presented at the Museum on the Tech campus November 7-21.

This art exhibition, entitled "Art to Own '63," is the second annual such show to be presented by the Fine Arts Committee of the Museum's Women's Council. The first one, on a smaller scale, was presented in 1962.

Large Show

"Art to Own '63" is one of the largest exhibitions of its kind ever shown in this area. It contains about $1 million worth of paintings and graphic art. These works have been gathered from American and European sources by R. W. Fine of Dallas.

Fine has been a collector of art for a half-century. Containing more than 300 works in contemporary and traditional styles, "Art to Own '63" present a wide variety of subject matter, including landscapes, seascapes, still life and figure painting.

On November 7, at 7:30 p.m. a preview of the exhibition will be open to anyone purchasing a preview ticket.

Each ticket provides its owner with the opportunity to receive one of three awards which are to be presented at 9 p.m. on the evening of the preview.

The first award will be a $250 work of art. Second award will be a $100 work and third award will be a $50 work. The person receiving these awards may apply the award won to a more expensive painting in the show.

Money from the sale of the preview tickets will go toward the purchase of an original drawing by Norman Rockwell, famed American artist and illustrator. The drawing was the original idea for the famous Saturday Evening Post cover painting entitled "Off to College," done by Rockwell in the 1930's.

Tickets

Preview tickets are priced at $3 for one or two for $5. Those wishing to order tickets by mail may do so by writing The Museum, Texas Tech, Lubbock.

Tickets will be for sale at the door on November 7. Winners of awards do not need to be present at the preview.

Exhibit hours for the "Art to Own '63" exhibition will be 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Saturdays, and 3-6 p.m. Sundays.

Fairbury, Ill., Forrest News: "It is about time that a halt be called on some of this increase in taxes which is being imposed on the American public at every turn of the wheel. Federal, State and Local taxes are constantly rising until the poor overburdened guy who foots the bills hardly knows where to get the money to meet his obligations."

HOSTESSES WITH THE MOSTEST

High-flying Braniff Airlines Jet Hostesses have a magic carpet for the future—U. S. Savings Bonds. A recent Bond Drive ended with 91 per cent of the Braniff hostesses signed up for Payroll Savings, to help their company win top honors in employee participation in the air transportation industry.

The campaign was part of an industry-wide Payroll Savings drive headed by C. E. Woolman, President of Delta Air Lines, whose company achieved second-highest participation in the air transport industry.

Twenty-seven other major industries participated in the nationwide Payroll Savings effort, which to date has resulted in more than one million new savers signed up. Each drive was organized and directed by a top industry leader as a member of the Treasury's U. S. Industrial Payroll Savings Committee. Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon appointed the committee, with Harold S. Geneen, President of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation, as chairman, and outlined its assignment at a special Washington meeting in January.

FOUND TO BE BIG FACTORS

Food Habits, Heredity Can Help Cause Heart Trouble

High blood pressure generally boots the risk of getting a heart attack, but your food habits and heredity apparently can raise or lower those odds, heart researchers said today.

Striking differences turned up in studies of Apache Indians in Arizona and nearly 6,000 men in Brooklyn, N. Y., they told the American Heart Association's Council on Arteriosclerosis.

Death Rate Low

About a fourth of the Apaches were found to have high blood pressure, but the Apaches' death rate from heart disease nonetheless is 2 1/2 times lower than that of the general U. S. population, said Dr. Nathan J. Clifford of Ventura, Calif.

This could be due to hereditary resistance or to the fact the Apaches eat less animal and saturated fats which tend to raise cholesterol levels of the blood, he said.

The Apaches have smaller amounts of blood cholesterol—a fatty material incriminated in plugging up heart arteries—than most other American do, Dr. Clifford said.

Age 36 to 50

In Brooklyn Dr. David Sapiin found that men with high blood pressure run three times the risk of heart attacks during ages 36 to 50 than men with normal pressure face. After 50 the odds were 2 to 1 higher for those with elevated pressure.

For men with elevated pressure plus elevated cholesterol, the odds rose to 5 to 1, compared to men with normal pressure and cholesterol he said.

Dr. Sapiin said he had not found that either occupation, smoking habit or body build raise the risk faced by men who had elevated pressure, at least among this group studied during the last seven years at Beth-El Hospital.

Excess Pounds Bad

The heart disease risk rose among men who were overweight as well as having high blood pressure and diabetes, he said. The combination of factors spelled greater danger.

But men who were simply overweight and otherwise normal did not show any increased susceptibility to heart attack.

"This is not a green light for men to get or stay fat," he remarked. "The excess pounds are bad if a heart attack does come along."

Drugs Cited

For reassurance, medical experts commented that modern drugs can in almost all cases reduce elevated blood pressure to normal and keep it there.

Drs. Morris Gellis and Daniel J. Nathan are collaborating with Dr. Sapiin. Associated with Dr. Clifford in the two-year study of Apaches were Drs. John A. Kelly Jr. of San Diego, Thomas F. Leo, Hempstead, N. Y., and Howard A. Eder, the Bronx, N. Y.

Rats Are Billion $ Pest; Dirty Besides

Rats are more than filthy, distasteful pests, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. These rodents annually cost Americans over a billion dollars in the food they eat and the property they destroy, not to mention the misery and death they cause each year from rat-borne diseases.

Few farm products are safe from their attack. Rats spoil grain, fish, fruit, meat, milk products and vegetables, and

Association Issues Safety Bulletin

The Texas Safety Association today issued a special safety bulletin urging motorists to be on the alert for Halloween "trick 'n' treaters."

"Battalions of youngsters will be on the march in various neighborhoods throughout the State on Halloween night. For these youngsters to be safe, motorists must be on the alert for their actions," J. O. Musick, TSA General Manager, said.

"Children often forget their safety rules in their enthusiasm. They cross streets in the middle of the block and dart in front of traffic without stopping to look both directions," he explained.

The safety director has also warned that many of these youngsters will be wearing dark hard-to-see clothing as they carry out the traditional "spook and goblin" custom.

"It is difficult to see anyone on the street at night who is wearing dark clothing, but more difficult to see a small child. In addition, drivers should remember that their own eyes often play tricks on them at night and any vision defect is exaggerated."

Man Arrested In Lamesa After Wild Auto Chase

A 26-year-old Georgia man carried stolen Oklahoma license plates, was spotted in brush on the Richard Parker farm west of Knott from two private airplanes working with the Big Spring Police Department.

Lawmen then tracked the driver of the car to the O. D. Green home in the Valley View community of Martin County. Here, the thin, blond stranger obtained a ride to the Lamesa highway and eventually another ride into Lamesa with Talmadge Whitehead.

At least five bullets were fired during the auto chase—four by a Big Spring policeman and one by Martin County Deputy Sheriff Clarence Airhart.

The man, James Maynard Adams, was returned to Big Spring after admitting he stole the 1963-model automobile in Georgia. He also told investigators about a "string of burglaries," including a recent one at Munday. In the Munday case, a billfold belonging to the late J. W. Moore was stolen while the family was attending his funeral.

Airhart and acting Stanton Chief of Police Jake Burton pursued the fugitive after he whirled away from their roadblock but lost sight of him on a dirt road northeast of Stanton.

Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders of Stanton related that the automobile, which Stanton lost to Muleshoe 27-0 last Friday night. The Muleshoe team, naturally is called the Mules. It might be interesting to our readers that not a single mule is to be found in Muleshoe. Frank Tolbert, Dallas News columnist, pointed this fact out a few weeks ago. The town people in Muleshoe are in the midst of collecting funds to erect a statue to the once faithful mule, but that's all they will have when it is erected — no active mules — unless you could call those football players mules.

'Sweetheart' from Day of Birth Is National March of Dimes Girl

"She was a sweetheart from the day she was born." This is the way her mother describes winsome, bright little Mary Lou Graves, 5, of Flint, Mich., who has been named the 1964 National March of Dimes Child.

Favorite hairdresser of Mary Lou Graves, 1964 National March of Dimes Child, is her mother, Mrs. Raymond Graves of Flint, Mich.

Blonde, blue-eyed, vivacious Mary Lou is indeed a sweetheart, but one who has had more than her share of sadness. She was born with a birth defect called spina bifida, which means that the base of her spine was not closed properly. At the age of one month, she underwent an operation to correct this condition. Since then, Mary Lou has fought to be able to walk, and sometimes, she has had to fight to live.

Today, the lower part of her body is paralyzed, and she is extremely vulnerable to infection. In spite of this, Mary Lou is a cheerful little girl determined not to miss any of the pleasures of growing up. Proud of the fact that she lives in a state known as the auto capital of the world, Mary Lou tells visitors that her wheelchair is a "Kadlac." She has a frisky puppy named Prince, and she scurries after him as fast as Kadlac's wheels can take her. She tags along after her mother, helping to sweep the floor, dust the furniture and dry the silverware.

One of her favorite jobs is baby sitting for her two younger sisters and brother who were all born without defects. March of Dimes Symbol The National Foundation-March of Dimes has chosen Mary Lou to symbolize the 250,000 children born with a serious birth defect each year in this country.

Basil O'Connor, president of The National Foundation, explains the problem of birth defects, and the voluntary health organization's attack on it, in this way: "Why did something go wrong when Mary Lou's tiny body was being formed? Why is a seriously defective child born to one out of 10 American families?" "Can more of these children be helped with present medical knowledge?"

"What more must we know to prevent this from happening to babies yet unborn?" "Simply stated, these are the questions for which hundreds of March of Dimes-supported scientists seek answers. Because the answers which come from scientific research will come too late to help children already afflicted like Mary Lou, the March of Dimes is fighting the problem of birth defects in still another way—through a growing nationwide network of March of Dimes hospital centers seeking the most effective treatment for these children. Currently, there are 44 of these centers across the country.

Grateful for Help Mary Lou may be unaware of all the national and international effort to help solve the birth defects mystery, but her parents are not. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Graves are grateful to the G. Nease County (Mich.) Chapter of The National Foundation for financial aid to help with Mary Lou's frequent hospitalizations. "The March of Dimes is the greatest friend we ever had," Mrs. Graves says. "The March of Dimes helped us pay for hospital bills, medications, the wheelchair and other necessary items."

Mary Lou wants to be a nurse when she grows up, Mrs. Graves reports. "Wouldn't it be wonderful if she could be the March of Dimes Child's mother says. "Then maybe she could pay back some of the kindness shown to her. Until then, my husband and I can only say thank you to everyone who contributes to the March of Dimes, because more knowledge might mean more medical techniques that may help our Mary Lou."

As March of Dimes President O'Connor points out, the ultimate aim of knowledge gathered from this scientific research is to prevent birth defects from harming thousands of tiny bodies not yet born.

Barron's magazine recently observed: "According to the folklore of politics, successful office-seekers boast a happy knack of staying in step with, or slightly ahead of, their constituents' views. However, on one major issue of the day—wasteful federal spending—Congress seems to be lagging perilously behind public opinion. To the astonished chagrin of such agencies as the Area Redevelopment and Urban Renewal Administrations, several communities lately have elected to reject government handouts."

Dragons Upended By Water Valley

Water Valley's Wildcats brought a bulldozer offense and a "rock-'em, sock-'em" defense Friday night and ground up at 31-12 victory over Flower Grove's dangerous Dragons in a six-man District 3-B grid opener for both teams at Flower Grove.

The thunderous Wildcat offense scored on drives of 48, 31, 22, 75 and 25 yards, turning two fumbles and an interception caused by the quick-hitting defense into touchdowns. The visitors scored in every period.

The host Dragon team tallied both of its counters on spectacular plays at the beginning of each half.

Burly fullback Clifton Wiese and speedy halfback Barney Sisco shared kudos for the Water Valley machine. Both were offensive standouts.

THE spooks and the goblins are busy this week getting ready for their big night. Halloween is almost here again. The ancient observance of All Hallow's Eve in modern times is turned over largely to the very small fry. The tots and toddlers take full advantage of the occasion to dress in scary costumes and munch cookies and candies from the neighbors with the traditional call of "Trick or Treat!" The rugged, rampant vandalism of a past generation is largely passe. But there still are some safety hazards to the youngsters who roam the neighborhoods and ring doorbells. Make your small spooks' costumes of bright colors. You might even sew on some strips of reflective tape. In the excitement of the occasion, they might dart into the street. A full face mask can cause trouble, if there's a chance that it can slip and block vision or breathing. A painted false face, using eyebrow pencil, grease paint or burnt cork, serves admirably. If the little goblin wants a light, give him a flashlight, not a candle or flaming torch. If you want to be extra safe, flameproof the costume by dipping in a simple solution of seven ounces of borax and three ounces of boric acid in three quarts of warm water. Adults can help make Halloween safe too. If you're out in your auto, slow down and drive with extra caution. Keep your pets in the house, especially dogs. Leave porch lights burning, front and back. Halloween "Trick or Treat" can be a memorable night for the small children. Help to make it a safe night.

THE SUPREME COURT continues to hand down strange decisions. They have now ruled a new trial for a notorious gangster, currently serving time in federal prison for narcotics violations. He is VITO GENOVESE, reputed overlord of organized crime in this country. GENOVESE was described in recent U. S. Senate crime hearings as kingpin of a nationwide crime syndicate known as Costa Nostra. He is serving a 15-year sentence in Leavenworth. It's high time that the American people vetoed the high court. This possibly must be done through congressional action. How much longer must this country put up with detrimental decisions to the standards of liberty in this country through the whims of nine individuals? HOW LONG can this great nation tolerate GODLESSNESS and continue to exist?

MONDAY morning South Vietnamese troops suffered their worst defeat in nine months of fighting. Government casualties were listed at 40 dead and 80 wounded including 13 Americans. Yet some say we are at PEACE—what peace? Thirteen American boys wounded—countless of others dead from this special little war going on in Viet Nam. And the PEACE CORPS is supposed to be functioning in the eyes of the people in 50 states. Another "little" side action is underway between the people of Morocco and the people of Algeria. This is the war that brought JACKIE KENNEDY bouncing back to Washington from a junket on the yacht of a shipping tycoon who reportedly owes this country a huge sum of money. These brush fire actions are going on around the universe. What ever happened to our stake in LAOS? That's the country that gave the crisis boys in Washington their daily diet for awhile. The Potomac politicians have apparently swept the Cuban problem under the Blue Room rug. But the American people are waiting for action and leadership. MOVING FORWARD—rocking chair style? Yep, up and down! In the meantime American soldiers continue to bleed and suffer and die for WHAT?

HARVEY WHITE, well known local citizen, present city secretary, and my personal friend of long standing, was in the office this week with a word of deep appreciation and warm affection for the friends who expressed deep concern over his condition while he was a hospital patient. HARVEY was admitted to the local hospital several days ago. He appeared to be fully recovered when we talked with him Monday morning. MR. and MRS. WHITE have been identified with many phases of our community life. They have a fine family and we have known all the members of the WHITE family for a long, long time and always found them top rate citizens anyway you measure them.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 4 is due to be a red letter day in Stanton. It will be DOLLAR DAY and many merchants have ads in this issue of the paper calling attention to special bargains to be offered this week and on Monday. The county will also turn out for the community chili supper to be held under the sponsorship of the MARTIN COUNTY CHAMBER of COMMERCE. Get a ticket and plan to be present for the evening's entertainment. A band will play and everyone is destined to have a good chili meal and a good time who plans to attend.

MONDAY evening your writer attended a director's meeting of the CHAMBER of COMMERCE. We actually felt the flu bug taking hold of us while seated there in the council room and for the past two days we have been grounded in bed most of the time at our home. Thanks to a willing staff, a good communication system between our house and the news office, a desk and typewriter in our home, and the telephone, we have done our best to keep your nickel in the pot. The flu sure hit us hard. We hope none of our subscribers have to experience a session with it.

NEAL'S NUGGET: We had that flu bug in our system before attending the CHAMBER meeting. Our presence there nor the things that happened at the session had nothing to do with our illness.

Patronize your local merchants for the best buys in the Permian Basin Area.

An ambulance took him to the hospital where he was treated and kept overnight, under guard, for observation. He was in good condition today. Bruton - - -

(Continued from page 1) Bruton ordered to stop as he passed through Stanton enroute to California after having stopped in Big Spring at a popular restaurant for food. Bruton had received a stop order from Big Spring and Jake simply pulled up beside the traveling actor and show personality and after both cars stopped rolling the officer asked: "Your name Candido or something like that?" Candido told Bruton it was and then Jake told him he was wanted back in Big Spring. After a telephone call to the restaurant, the actor learned that a long-time friend, Rodney Schreiber, was the chef there and wanted him to return for a reunion. Candy rolled up a paper napkin to look like a doll and left it on the table after he finished his meal in Big Spring. The waitress took the paper doll back to the cafe kitchen and then is when the chef discovered the trademark of his actor friend and started the ball rolling to stop Candido. Back in Big Spring, Candido said: "I know Rodney and his wife from all over, but I lost track of him so much—folks keep buying him and I never know where he's located." Candido spent Saturday night with the Schreibers and departed for California early Sunday morning. Jake Bruton, former sheriff of Howard County, and always an all-around, alert officer had scored again.

There is no place for vandalism in observing Halloween. The evening is set aside for the small children to play trick or treat. We urge the parents go with their children. It is also important that they go as early as possible. Stanton has never been known for a lot of vandalism or horse play on Halloween. Let's keep it that way this year.

Friday, November 1, is the birthday of HOWARD JENKINS, JR., one of our dependable employees and personal friend and protege of mine. HOWARD observes his 21st birthday. We predict that this young man will achieve his ambition in life and are for him all the way.
