TAX MAN SAM SEZ

Most taxpayers received more money in their pay checks when Congress cut the withholding tax rate earlier this year. How much tax you will owe next April 15 probably depends on the records you keep now rather than the amount withheld. Keeping good records is still the surest way to pay less.

Bible Comment—

Even Paul Sought Training For His Life

Paul was not long in finding Christian friends although at first the disciples feared him because of the recent zeal he had shown in persecuting them.

But Ananias, a saintly Christian in Damascus, welcomed Paul as a Christian brother. Ananias had been prepared in a vision for the coming of Paul but he doubted, at first, that so terrible a persecutor as Paul would become a disciple so suddenly.

The disciples in Jerusalem were a little harder to convince. They had suffered much more from the fury of the persecutor and were suspicious. It was Barnabas, the rich disciple who had given all his wealth for the Christian cause, who vouched for Paul.

It was not unnatural that Paul's former associates in persecution should have been aroused to a high pitch of anger at Paul's defection. Their fury was so intense that Paul's newfound Christian friends had to help him escape, letting him down from the walls of the city in a basket.

Paul made his way to Jerusalem and again boldly proclaimed his new faith in the Lord Jesus. But he did not stay very long in Jerusalem and his public preaching was interrupted while he sought fuller preparation for his life's mission.

It is difficult to think of a man as intense as Paul being in retreat for any length of time. Probably the years of his preparation were spent in studying, praying and conversing with other men. In this way he would have the opportunity to feel his way into the fullness and richness of his activity as a missionary.

There is a very good lesson for all of us in the fact that so wise a man as Paul felt that he needed preparation. Zeal, even in a man of Paul's stature, is not enough.

Philosopher Claims To Have World-Wide Scoop On Resignation Of Nikita Khrushchev

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw claims to have some inside information this week.)

Dear editor:

I never was much for trying to be first with the news. I figure yesterday's newspaper is as full of news as today's if you haven't seen it yet, or last week's too for that matter, but since editors seem to go for such things, I am pleased to enable The Stanton Reporter to break the news world-wide that Premier Khrushchev of Russia is going to resign.

I don't know why all the wire services and radio and television commentators missed this, too busy reporting bathing suits I guess, but it's a fact, Mr. Khrushchev is going to resign.

Speaking in Denmark last week, he said: "If Russia's farm problems aren't solved in the next seven or eight years, I will resign."

The trouble with the farm problem is that its main ingredients, land and weather, aren't members of any organized system of government.

If Mr. Khrushchev plans to resign in despair, let him. I intend to stay right here with this Martin County grass farm and its unsolved problems. I've found that if a man puts his mind to it, he can be just as much a problem to his farm as it is to him.

Yours faithfully
J. A.

Negro Baptist Ask End Of Race Demonstrations

Demonstrations have reached and passed their peak as effective instruments for the promotion of civil rights, a Negro Baptist leader said today.

"They have already come to the point of diminishing returns," Dr. J. H. Jackson, president of the National Baptist Convention, told the National Sunday School and Baptist Training Union Congress.

"They now cost the country and negro people more in money, morals, energy, attitudes, appreciation and goodwill than they gain in economic, mental, social and cultural progress," he said.

Jackson said civil rights leaders should emphasize the solution of the problems of civil rights through law and order and the American way of government and of life.

If demonstrations, such as pickets, sit-ins, wade-ins and lie-ins continue, Jackson predicted: "The participants will become more discouraged and frustrated the longer they are forced to wait for what their leaders promised them would come now. They will come to hate both their country and their leaders."

Health And Safety Tips

From The American Medical Association

Tetanus is one of the most dangerous diseases that can strike a human being. No antibiotic or other drug can halt a full-blown case, and about 60 per cent of those afflicted by the disease die. Yet by means of immunization tetanus is almost completely preventable.

The seeds, or spores, of tetanus can be found in the cultivated soils of most areas of the United States. They can be picked up by plants or animals and introduced into the victim's body by something as seemingly inconsequential as the scratch of a thorn or insect bite.

Once they enter the body, these spores "hatch" into tiny, microscopic bacteria, which begin to multiply. In the process, they liberate one of the deadliest of all poisons which attacks the nerve centers causing convulsions and muscle spasms — some so severe that victims have been known to fracture a vertebra.

Usually the first nerves affected are those of the head and neck which control the chewing muscles. These turn rigid with spasm, giving the disease its familiar name — lockjaw.

In a clean, free-bleeding cut any tetanus spores which might contaminate the wound are usually washed out. Or if they do sprout into bacteria, the micro-organisms may be destroyed by oxygen in the blood.

But when blood flow is slight as in deep puncture or crushing wounds or when the spores are insulated by imbedded dirt and debris, the tetanus bacteria may gain a deadly foothold within the body. This is because tetanus bacteria thrive in the absence of air.

While millions of babies and members of the armed forces have been inoculated against tetanus, the fact remains that about three-fourths of the adult population is lacking in immunity. The reason is that the protection offered by immunization wears off after several years, and must be re-established by "booster" shots, which most people fail to get.

Protection should start early — one and a half to two months after birth — for the scrapes and falls of childhood offer tetanus many opportunities. In children, as well as adults, immunity is initiated by a series of three shots, spaced out over eight weeks, and followed by a booster dose within six to twelve months. Thereafter, immunity is maintained by booster shots every five years.

With the new emphasis on outdoor living, with accidents on the increase and with the spores of tetanus in the dust and dirt all about us, we can only look forward to an increase in this deadly disease unless we make the effort to get immunized and keep immunized.

Dowdy Asks Ouster Of Agency Official

U. S. Rep. John Dowdy of Athens has called for the removal from office of William L. Slayton as commissioner of the urban renewal office in the Housing and Home Financing Agency.

The Democrat put into the congressional record a 53-page speech which he had prepared for delivery on the House floor.

Dowdy has frequently charged that urban renewal is mismanaged.

In the speech, Dowdy called for an "investigation of activities including possible conflict of interest involving William L. Slayton."

He listed six charges against Slayton which prompted the demand that Slayton be removed from office.

First, Dowdy said, that Slayton had deceived the public and second, he has "slandered a member of Congress" — namely Dowdy.

Dowdy also said that Slayton has supplied Congress with false information, has failed to heed an act on General Accounting Office reports criticizing urban renewal, supplied the press with false information, and has "used powers of his office in an attempt to bring about the defeat of congressmen critical of urban renewal."

Dowdy further said that Slayton tried to get him defeated in the recent Democrat primary in Texas.

"Prior to becoming commissioner of urban renewal," Dowdy continued, "Slayton helped plan and promote the controversial, multi-million-

Olivia Kay Sanders

Olivia Kay Sanders To Wed Norman B. Donelson

Mr. and Mrs. David T. Sanders of Slaton announce the engagement of their daughter, Olivia Kay, to Norman B. Donelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Donelson of Stanton.

The couple will be married at 8 p.m. August 29 at the First Methodist Church of Slaton.

Miss Sanders attended Texas Technological College and dollar Erieview Urban Renewal Project in Cleveland and later as commissioner he persisted in keeping the project alive despite findings by government accounting offices that his agency had improperly condemned private property in Cleveland.

Dowdy also charged that Slayton had put pressure on him and other congressmen and in recent weeks has attacked the press.

Helena, Mont., Citizen: "Although supporters of federal medical care under social security for the aged were challenged two years ago to find one elderly person needing and seeking hospital care to whom it was denied because of poverty, they have yet to supply the name and address of a single one, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. . . . It suggests that the real issue is not whether the aged are receiving the hospital care they need, but whether the present system of providing care will be replaced by a compulsory federal system."
