HERBERT HOOVER, former President, observed his 90th birthday on August 10. MR. HOOVER was the victim of a vicious political barrage of untruths, mis-statements, and character assassination when he sought reelection and the great wave of liberal-leftists led by ROOSEVELT the SECOND, took over the government and in less than ten years had it in war up to its neck. We heard a lot of jokes about jackrabbits and creek water under HOOVER and the depression cycle caught up with the country during his administration but he did keep the flower of American manhood and the sons of thousands of parents off the world battlefields and out of premature graves. The fiscal policy of the nation has been on a tax, tax, tax, spend, spend, merry-go-round since. No thought is even given to trying to balance-the-budget in Washington these days. The big Potomac River spenders led by the wildeyes, have practically thrown open all doors to the U. S. mints and everytime anything or anybody wants a few million they just send up to Ft. Knox for a bale of the stuff. We have a peace corps now with no peace in the world. HERBERT HOOVER did more for America with his work for underprivileged boys through BOYS' CLUB OF AMERICA than the ROOSEVELTS, TRUMANS, EISENHOWERS, KENNEDYS and JOHNSONS have done in their combined five administrations in the White House.

With the time swiftly approaching for school to start it's a good thought to have the children's eyes checked and to put a good set of reference books into the home for your boys and girls. DR. ALAN HAMILTON, across the street from the courthouse in Big Spring is fully qualified to take care of any eye examinations needed at this time. MRS. COATS BENTLEY is the sales agent for this county for WORLD BOOKS, and they provide the very latest data in the reference field. MRS. BENTLEY will be glad to call and give a demonstration if you will call her at SK 6-2184.

Foreman Defends Criticism Of Johnson To Press Group

Congressman Ed Foreman of Odessa praised West Texas editors and publishers Saturday for "not being afraid to print what you think — not just the gobbledygook passed off by Washington" and appealed to them to "become concerned with what's going on — it's your country!"

The Republican congressman said he was booed in the House Friday for his criticism of President Johnson for announcing on the television networks Tuesday night, an hour and a half before the attacks were made, that American planes would bomb North Viet Nam PT boat bases.

"You know what would happen to an ordinary GI if he

Texas Co-ops In Convention At Austin This Week

"Helping Build Texas" will be the central concern of nearly 1,000 persons when they meet August 12-14 in Austin for the annual convention of rural electric leaders from all over the state,

O. B. Bryan said here Tuesday. The majority of those attending are members of the boards of directors of the 79 rural electric systems which in the last 25 years have already helped build Texas by transforming the rural areas of the state. When the first rural electric cooperative was organized, only 2.3 per cent of the farms in Texas had electricity. Today more than 97 per cent have power and the dozens of labor-saving machines and appliances which electricity makes possible.

The meeting will be the 24th annual convention of Texas Electric Cooperatives, Inc. state-wide association of the rural electric systems. Members in this session will be concerned with ways of helping their rural areas grow despite the drastic decline in the numbers of persons in farming and ranching.

But they will take time out for one evening of entertainment which will include a contest to select the 1965 Miss Texas Rural Electrification. This program will be Thursday, August 13, and the winner will vie for the national title next January in Miami.

Glenn L. Browns Return From Extensive European Tour

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn L. Browns, Guy, Baxter, and Suzanne have returned home following an extensive European tour. Their itinerary also included stops in Washington, D. C., New York City, and a visit to the World's Fair.

The Brown family left Midland by plane on July 15 with the first stop at Washington, D. C. They toured the Capitol, saw the Washington Monument, Jefferson Memorial, Arlington Cemetery, and the White House. They also visited the Smithsonian Institute, and several government buildings, including the Pentagon. They flew from Washington to New York City, where they spent a day at the World's Fair viewing famous exhibits and other attractions. They also made a tour of the city, visiting Times Square, the subway, the Statue of Liberty, and other places of interest.

On Saturday they embarked on the S. S. America for an ocean voyage to Europe. They were on the ocean for six days, and highlights of the boat trip included many interest-

Barry To Open Drive In Arizona

Republican presidential candidate Barry M. Goldwater will kick off his campaign for the White House in Prescott, Ariz. September 4, it has been announced officially.

Rep. John Rhodes, R-Ariz., one of the senator's earliest backers, told reporters that arrangements had been completed for Goldwater to launch his formal campaign in the same city where he started his successful drives for the Senate in 1952 and 1958.

The announcement, confirming earlier tentative plans, was made after Goldwater and GOP vice presidential candidate William F. Miller held the second in a series of "unity breakfast meetings" with Republican House and Senate members.

Heartened further by a promise from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to pledge of support from New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Goldwater and his top backers were reported highly pleased with the success so far of their party unity efforts.

FOR COMMUNITY SERVICE — Beeman Fisher, left, of Fort Worth, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, presents the annual WTCC Community Service Award to Jim Cornish, publisher of the Post Dispatch. Award was made Saturday during a breakfast at the West Texas Press Association at the association's annual convention in the Sands Motor Hotel in Midland.

Milam said he would have eight lettermen returning to form the nucleus of the 1964 team. These boys are Bill Davis, Carroll Anderson, Carl Lawson, Mike Hall, David Dunn, Dink Polson, Wayne Woody, and Johnny Swanson.

He will have five offensive starters back. They are Bill Davis, tackle, weighing in at 228; Carl Lawson, guard, 160; Johnny Swanson, halfback, 140; David Dunn, halfback, 165, and Mike Hall, fullback, 210.

The two defensive starters returning are Johnny Swanson and Mike Hall.

Milam stated that the main strength the team should have this year is a good backfield with above average speed, and the team should have a good running fullback in Mike Hall. Buddy Shanks, passing quarterback, should be above average and will see lots of action.

Key men in the backfield are Buddy Shanks, Dink Polson, David Dunn, Johnny Swanson, and Mike Hall.

The main weaknesses according to Milam are the lack of depth in the backfield, not too much experience, and Stanton will have the smallest line in the district.

Key men in the line will be Carl Lawson, Bill Davis, and Carroll Anderson.

Team captains for the 1964-65 team will be David Dunn, Johnny Swanson, and Carl Lawson.

Milam announced that the competition would be rough this year, and gave a brief summary of games to be played and what the Stanton fans could expect from their rivals.

The season will open on September 4 on the home field with Roscoe being the first foe. Roscoe won six and lost four last year and has tremendous desire plus southpaw passer Britt Paty.

Game number two will feature Big Lake here. They are rated number five in the state, will have a huge line and speedy backs, and were bi-district winners last year.

On September 18 Stanton will play Coahoma there. Coahoma lost only two boys off of the entire squad. They have a fine running back in Eddy McHugh, and are picked second to state semi-finalist Merkel.

Lorraine and Stanton will play here on October 2. Lorraine was second in their district last year, being defeated by Robert Lee for the district championship 18 to 16. Robert Lee was number one in the state last season.

Stanton fans will journey to McCamey on October 9 to take on last season's co-champs with Crane in District 7-AA. McCamey has a fine bunch of young boys that will be double tough in two years. This season their team will be loaded with boys that were champions on McCamey's track team.

The first conference game will see Stanton and O'Donnell in action October 16 on the home field with game time at 7:30 p.m. O'Donnell (Continued on page 5)

The Hot Dog

The hot dog has long been an American institution, and in all likelihood it is destined for immortality.

The hot dog's history is full of nostalgia. According to some accounts, it made its first appearance in 1871 at a Coney Island refreshment center.

The hot dog was off and running. It soon became a familiar sight at carnivals, exhibitions, and circuses throughout the Midwest.

The hot dog has just about everything. It's succulent and cheap, and nothing does more to happily perfume the air, whatever the season.

'Lawman' Arrested For Violating Law

Garrett B. Trapnell, 26, probably always wanted to be a lawman.

He probably played cops and robbers as a boy, using a toy pistol and policeman's badge.

But the highway patrol thought he was a little old for the game and they jailed him for it.

It wouldn't have been so bad except Trapnell set up operations on heavily traveled U. S. 66 near the Texas-New Mexico border and began fining motorists on the spot.

Using a cheap tin constable's badge and a dime-store pistol for effect, he parked his car at the side of the road and put some portable flashing red lights on it.

Then he flagged down motorists and gave them a stern dressing down for speeding. Some he fined. Others he "let go" on $15 bond.

First reports of the strange constable came last week when a motorist from California complained to the highway patrol in Albuquerque that he had been stopped near San Jon, N. M., by an officer who said he was G. B. Trapnell, Constable No. 116 of Garrett Township, N. M.

The motorist said he paid a $15 bond.

Officers checked and found out there was no such township and no such constable.

Later in the week at least three other incidents of false ticketing were reported.

Finally, a truck driver tipped officers Thursday about a speed trap and highway patrolman A. L. Mitchell investigated. He found Trapnell sitting in his car near Vega, Texas, close to the New Mexico border.

Trapnell was dressed in a khaki uniform and had an abundant supply of cheap constable and deputy badges, a rubber stamp to make citations look legal, and a "Dick Tracy type toy pistol."

He was jailed in Hereford. Dist. Atty. Victor Breen of Tucuman said Trapnell was charged there with extortion and impersonating an officer.

Bible Comment—

Man Is A Partner In Concept Of Creation

The foundation of a great religion was laid when man dared to conceive of himself as made in the image and likeness of the God who made him.

God who created man is on the side of man to help strengthen him. Man, consecrated to God, may live a life of faith above fear and anxiety.

It is the tragedy of our times that God-like man should choose to make himself so devil-like, destroying where the whole purpose of God and of man at his best is to create and build.

The Bible is a great revelation of what man and human society could be, if men fulfilled the character and destiny for which God made them.

Philosopher Fears Supreme Court, If It Hears Of It, May Redistrict Farm Problem

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw has discovered a new problem to worry about, his letter this week indicates.)

Dear editor: According to an article I read last night, the average farmer is now producing enough to feed 31 other people.

Fifty years ago he was lucky to feed himself and maybe two others, but as the population of the towns and cities increased and the population of farms decreased, coupled with the masterful production ability of us farmers, the number of non-farmers depending on us to feed them has increased to 31.

Now I have been thinking about this and while it's pleasant to admit we're doing such a fine job, still there are dangers involved.

For example, when they say the average farmer, that takes in a lot of different sized operators. Frankly, if there are 31 people in town depending on me to feed them, they're in for a hard winter and a poorer spring. In fact, I

High Equipment Prices Prompt Users To Lease

Leasing machines is one way to avoid paying the purchase costs but leasing has drawbacks, according to Kenneth Wolf, extension agribusiness economist at Texas A&M University.

To help agribusinessmen realize the drawbacks and advantages, Wolf has a few guidelines he suggests they use before making the lease-or-buy decision. The guidelines also apply for other equipment users.

There are two types of leases, according to Wolf. A true lease under which the lessee never intends to own the equipment and a lease with an option to purchase the equipment.

Lease costs under a true lease are usually deductible as operating expenses for tax purposes, Wolf says, but costs under a lease with a purchase option are questionable tax deductions.

Before they sign a lease arrangement, Wolf advises agribusinessmen to ask themselves, "Do we want to buy all future uses of an asset or buy just periods of use, one at a time?"

After answering this question, he suggests they realistically compare costs with the other advantages and disadvantages of leasing.

Here are the advantages of leasing:

Permits use of modern equipment without depleting funds.

Releases funds for other uses.

Provides protection against technological obsolescence.

Eliminates the need for disposing of obsolete machinery that remains idle.

End maintenance problems if the agreement includes this feature.

Fills temporary equipment needs.

Here are the disadvantages of leasing:

Costs are high because the owner must be compensated for his risk.

Desired equipment may not be available for lease when needed.

Business firm does not enjoy pride of ownership.

For further information on leasing, Wolf says to get copies of the Small Business Administration technical aid, "Rented Tools Can Improve Efficiency," March-April 1962. (Small Business Administration is a federal agency with field offices in Dallas, Houston, Lubbock and San Antonio.)

Another source is Studies in Marketing No. 6, "Marketing Aspects of Capital Equipment Leasing," Bureau of Business Research, The University of Texas, Austin, 1961.

Texas Food Roundup

Texas markets are displaying fresh produce from nearly every section of the country these days.

Examples included Michigan blueberries, Pennsylvania corn, Illinois peaches, West Texas lettuce, Louisiana and East Texas sweet potatoes, Alabama and Tennessee tomatoes, and a host of Colorado and California fruits and vegetables.

Production in local gardens especially in hot, dry areas, has declined noticeably.

Continuing in excellent supply at modest cost are cabbage, celery, lettuce, onions, potatoes, tomatoes and carrots, according to fruit and vegetable market news offices of the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Onions, lettuce and potatoes cost less than a week ago at most markets. Greens are irregularly higher and lower, depending on supply. Squash prices have strengthened in some areas.

Soft fruits, especially plums, remain abundant. Bananas continue available at modest cost. Orange prices are firm. The melon season continues, although watermelons are some higher. Cantaloupes are generally lower than last week.

 Chief Banks outlined the need for minimum standards for employment and training of police officers in our area in line with a statewide move by various law enforcement associations for the upgrading and the professionalization of police services. In our area there is a great need of a facility for training of new recruits, as well as older officers who have not had an opportunity to properly equip themselves for a career in law enforcement.
 The problem that faces our Southwest Texas area is that most of the cities are small and employ only a few police officers. It is not economically feasible for them to provide their own basic training. Most cities in the area are so remote from each other that it is difficult for two or more of them to pool their training resources and commute to a training center from their homes.
 A curriculum consisting of 160 hours is proposed for the academy and would include every phase of police activity.
 All officers in the area are urged to help promote this school and get it off to a good start.

Arthur Posey To Attend Police Academy

Patrolman Arthur Posey of the Stanton Police Department, will attend a Police Academy at Howard County Junior College beginning September 21.
 The course will consist of four weeks of intensive training, and will be coordinated by Wallace Beasley of Texas A&M University, who will handle all of the announcements, enrollment, arrangements for visiting specialists, and instructors. Beasley, or someone assigned by him, will also instruct many of the courses.
 Announcements and registration forms will be sent out to the various police departments and other law enforcement agencies several weeks before the opening date.
 The school will be open to all law enforcement agencies, but it might be necessary to restrict classes to 20 or 24.
 The estimated per man cost of the entire four weeks course during summer months would be around $100.00. The estimated cost for school help would not exceed $150.00 per man. This would include housing, food, and all necessary supplies.
 Purpose of the academy is to provide complete and well rounded courses in police science for police officers in the area, at a minimum of cost per man to their departments, each city contributing only to the extent of the number of trainees sent.
 Living quarters and food service would be provided Monday through Friday of each week, with the trainees being released at the close of classes each Friday afternoon to return to their departments for service on weekends.
 Plans for the academy were formulated at the area Chiefs of Police meeting held in Andrews on July 8. A committee was appointed to meet with Dr. W. A. Hunt, Howard County Junior College, and Walter Beasley, Coordinator of Police Training, Texas A&M University.
 The committee consisted of Chief Jay Banks, Big Spring; Chief Walter Eubanks, Sweetwater; Chief Morris Zimmerman Lamesa; Chief John Neely, Andrews; Chief Joe Stevens, Winters, and Chief M. W. Gaddis of Seminole.

Small Newspaper Help Concerns TPA President

Concern for the small newspapers in today's fast-expanding area of communications was expressed Saturday in Midland by Aubrey McAlister, president of the Texas Press Association.
 McAlister, editor and publisher of the Bonham Daily Favorite, was in Midland to attend the 34th annual convention of the West Texas Press Association.
 He said one of his main objectives as head of the TPA would be to induce more small newspapers to use the services of the state press association.
 Despite the fact that he has just begun his term as TPA president, McAlister already has gained broad approval of a program which would aid small newspapers in legal difficulties.

 "I am interested in the protection of the basic freedom of the press for small newspapers," McAlister said. He explained that larger newspapers usually have legal staffs, "but it can be a lonesome feeling for the publisher of a small paper sitting off by himself in time of trouble."
 The Bonham publisher who hails from the solidly Democratic stronghold of the late House Speaker Sam Rayburn, admits that he sees indications of a number of Texas newspapers openly support Sen. Barry Goldwater for the presidency.
 And on another political subject, McAlister feels that some of the criticism of news media during the current election campaign may be justified.
 And concerning professional opportunities in the newspaper field, the TPA president said he regarded it as a "wide open field." He added, "There was a time when you went into newspapering for love, but now it is fairly lucrative in both weekly and daily operations."

Devil Dogs And Corny Burgers, Picnic Menu

Take your pick from two tasty sandwich offerings, made to order for the cook-out crowd. The first is Devil Dogs, large frankfurters slashed diagonally and filled with deviled ham. Twist bacon around the frankfurters before placing them on the grill to broil until the bacon is crisp.
 Prepare Corny Burgers for the hamburger fans to grill. Mix canned whole kernel corn with peppers into ground beef along with green onion and other seasonings. Shape the beef mixture into patties and, like their cousin Devil Dogs, wrap them with bacon before grilling. For special zest brush Corny Burgers with barbecue sauce as they cook.
 It's reassuring for mothers to know that family sandwich favorites like hot dogs and hamburgers abound with nutritional goodness. Devil Dogs and Corny Burgers begin with enriched sandwich buns which supply essential B-vitamins and the mineral iron, as well as valuable cereal protein, then, nourishing fillings contribute other important nutrients.
 Devil Dogs and Corny Burgers are only two of the special sandwich recipes you'll find featured now during August, National Sandwich Month. You'll find other suggestions appropriate for summer and fall and winter months, too.

FARM REVIEW AND FORECAST

If rats and mice are a nuisance on your farm and are robbing you of those precious dollars that you have invested in grain and other stored materials, then these pests should be controlled as soon as possible.

Anticoagulants have proved quite effective as a method of control, says J. E. Poore, assistant district agent for predator and rodent control, Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Anticoagulants prevent blood from clotting and cause death from internal hemorrhages. Poore points out. Rats and mice must eat some of the bait every day for five or six days or every other day for 10 days or more before the hemorrhages are fatal.

Apparently no pain or warning of danger is connected with this action, says Poore, and the pests will return again and again to feed if the bait is attractive.

Anticoagulants are available on concentrate or ready-to-use form. The concentrate is usually blended with a dry cereal bait, a common formula being one part concentrate to 19 parts bait. Cornmeal or rolled oats serve well as bait but are often not well accepted by the rodents, says the agent.

To make the formula more attractive, use a cup of salad oil and a cup of sugar along with eight cups of rolled oats and 12 cups of yellow cornmeal. These ingredients should be well mixed along with one cup of anticoagulant, making about six pounds of bait.

Large quantities of ready-mixed bait are quite inexpensive and can be purchased through commercial concerns. Pouring the liquid off of canned vegetables is somewhat like removing the desirable additives from your automobile's gas tank. For both, points out Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, extension consumer marketing specialist, contain elements needed by the human machine and automobile engine for proper functioning.

from canned vegetables, about a third of the minerals and vitamins in the can are lost. In order to get the full nutritional and money value from canned products, Mrs. Clyatt emphasizes the importance of using the liquid.

She suggests adding it to gravy, soup or using it in a cream-sauce or stew. Here is why. After vegetables are canned, their water-soluble nutrients distribute themselves evenly throughout the solids and liquids. The drained solids, which usually make up about two-thirds of the can's total contents, contain about two-thirds of the soluble nutrients. The other third is in the liquid.

Keep in mind she says, that canned vegetables have already been cooked. To serve them with the most flavor and food value, drain off the liquid and boil down to one-third of its original volume, then heat the vegetable in this concentrated liquid. Minerals and vitamins are saved and you get the full benefits expected from your purchase, says Mrs. Clyatt.

For this week's best buys in fresh fruits and vegetables, the specialist suggests lemons, plums, grapes, nectarines, cherries, pineapples, cantaloupes, watermelons, cabbage, sweet corn, eggplant, lettuce, celery, tomatoes, squash, cucumbers, green peppers, dry yellow onion and okra.

And don't forget, reminds Mrs. Clyatt, that outdoor cooks can find many meat bargains at the retail meat counters. Give the family a variety of menus by taking advantage of supermarket offerings, she says.

A system of identification is a necessity when production testing cattle and may become a real problem in a large herd. Freestone County Ranchman Joe Richards believes his system has merit. Richards operates a 2,000-acre, 300-cow spread with the help of his sons, Jerry and Burt.

He uses brand rather than tags or neck chains in his identification system. The reason, of course, is because brands will never be pulled off by brush or fences.

On the Richards' ranch, they can mark the owner of the cow (both boys own cows in the herd) and give her age and number with only 11 different branding irons. The system was suggested by Freestone County Agent J. H. Pritchard.

They identify the cow's owner with one brand used three different ways. "It's a diamond with a tail on it," says Richards. "The direction the tail points tells who owns the cow."

To tell age and number of the cow, they use three-number combinations. The first number tells the year the cow was born. The other two numbers set her apart from other cows born the same year. The three number system can be used with up to 99 replacement heifers each year. Every cow has a number like 309 or 471.

"Another advantage is that you can tell the boys to check old 512 and they'll know the cow to find," he said. "It works better than telling to check the old roan with a white spot on her left hind leg."

Criminal Code Study Is Underway

Texas criminal code revision, stymied by conflicting versions of the same bill during the last legislature, will be submitted again to the 59th Legislature.

Lawyer Fred Erisman of Longview, chairman of the State Bar Association's Criminal Code Revision Committee, was in Austin Friday to talk with bar leaders on possible changes in the law.

Erisman said recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions may require more sweeping changes than were included in the illfated bill the 58th Legislature passed.

In most industrial countries, income taxes are less than 50 per cent of national revenue. In the United States, they make up 80 per cent.

When the Area Redevelopment Act was passed, 103 areas were eligible for aid. That was three years ago. Now more than 1,100 areas are classified as depressed and eligible for aid.

TO PUSH CAMPAIGN

Eisenhower Enthusiasm Stressed By Goldwater

Sen. Barry Goldwater described former President Dwight D. Eisenhower as "very enthusiastic" and "very anxious to get going" in the campaign to oust President Johnson from the White House.

Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee, said he is now awaiting further word from Eisenhower on just what he will undertake in the campaign against Johnson. The question, Goldwater said, is how much campaigning the general can handle "from a physical standpoint."

The most recent Republican president and the man who hopes to be the next met for two hours at lunch at Eisenhower's Gettysburg estate. With them were Goldwater's running mate, Rep. William E. Miller of New York, and Eisenhower's vice president, Richard M. Nixon.

Goldwater and Miller flew up from Washington for the talk, and returned as soon as it was over.

Speaking to reporters at Gettysburg's small airport, the Arizona senator said Eisenhower's help would be particularly valuable to the GOP because in such states as California, Texas, Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois and Indiana.

He said Eisenhower has agreed to make speeches in Illinois and Oklahoma. Eisenhower himself had already said that, saying he has promised to help the GOP campaigns of Charles H. Percy, running for governor in Illinois, and Bud Wilkinson, Senate candidate in Oklahoma.

Goldwater said the luncheon discussion touched on "general, broad campaign strategy and suggestions."

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hull of Phoenix, Arizona, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hull and attended the Hull family reunion.

Walker Declares Tonkin Gulf Incidents 'Hot-Line Politics'

Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker flayed U. S. foreign policy and called the Tonkin Sea incident "hot-line politics" in an applause-punctuated talk Saturday in Dallas.

The former army officer, speaking before the Sixth Annual National Convention of Christian Crusade, said of President Lyndon B. Johnson:

"His international knowledge may not extend farther than the Pedernales River." Johnson's LBJ Ranch is on the central Texas stream.

He said the Tonkin Sea incident was a "planned, hot-line political incident," adding, "incident — political incident — it's near the month of November."

Blasts Press, Too Sinking of North Vietnamese torpedo boats and attacks on shore installations were "political, playful, deceitful and give the air of the act of a bully," Walker said.

Walker time and again referred to the press and each time drew applause, laughter or cheers. "The press was evidently informed they should react with excitement," he said of news coverage of what he called the "Tonkin sea incident."

He said U. S. foreign policy was one "that demands you love your enemies and hate your neighbors. A military victory is a political defeat, thus a political victory is a military defeat."

Again there were cheers and cries of "that's it, that's it!" and "there it is!" from the crowd as Walker said in cadenced tones: "Shoot in Tonkin . . . keep Castro quiet . . . we want a nice convention in Atlantic City."

"Officers were given orders never to capture a Russian soldier alive . . . it would be too embarrassing . . . when I was in Korea," he said.

There was laughter from the audience, and Walker smiled, when he said "Communist" at one point in his speech when he intended to say "Congress." "I don't know what's the difference," he commented.

Walker, who started and ended his talk with standing, cheering ovations from the crowd of about 1,000 persons, also touched on other facets of the American scene.

"Dallas has and is being made a target of hate by the extremists who castigate it," he said. "We have our city of shame in this country . . . and it's Washington, D. C. Dallas cannot approach it. Washington is a city of deceit."

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Stewart, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Baugh of Big Spring, have been vacationing at Big Lake for the past several days.

Georgian Claims Johnson Betrayed On Civil Rights

A former chairman of the Georgia Democratic party said Tuesday that the Johnson administration has betrayed the South on the civil rights issue for political purposes.

James Gray, publisher of the Albany Herald and state party chief in 1959-62, told a cheering group of Democrats for Goldwater that President Johnson is willing to give up the South to gain support of negroes in key Northern and Eastern states.

"The bloc vote of a minority in key states appeals to presidential candidates," Gray said. "Lyndon B. Johnson would not be ignoring the South if he did not see great political benefits elsewhere.

"He is exploiting a minority faction to obtain the negro bloc vote."

Sour Cream Is Versatile

The piquant flavor of sour cream gives a magic lift to a variety of foods, says Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, extension service consumer marketing specialist.

The name sour cream is almost a misnomer, for the commercially prepared sour cream available on today's market is not "soured," but is "cultured." Lactic acid is the magic ingredient for making sour cream. It is added to pasteurized and homogenized light sweet cream, and results in specially controlled, really tasty sour cream.

An excellent way to use sour cream is an accent to new-crop vegetables. Dairy sour cream may be made a bit smoother and stiffer by whip-

Texas Tech To Meet Three Tough Foes In Openers

Three bowl participants lead off Texas Tech's home football schedule this fall.

First three foes in Jones Stadium for Coach J. T. King's Red Raiders are Mississippi State, the Liberty Bowl winner; University of Texas, the Cotton Bowl champion; and Southern Methodist, nipped by a touchdown in the Sun Bowl. Completing the six-game home card are West Texas State, Washington State, and University of Arkansas.

Road contests are with Texas A&M, Texas Christian, Baylor, and Rice. Mississippi State opens the home slate at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 19. Wade Walker, former Texas Tech assistant coach, is MSU athletic director, and Vic Spooner, who played end for Tech, is an assistant coach there.

Texas, gunning for another national championship, will be met in night game a week later, September 26.

Three successive road games are interspersed before Southern Methodist engages the Red Raiders in a contest climaxing Dad's Day the night of October 24.

Following a regionally televised game with Rice, the Red Raiders return for a three-game home stand winding up the season. First comes the Raiders' oldest rival, West Texas State, at 7:30 p.m. November 7. Washington State first met the Raiders last fall, plays Texas Tech in the initial day game of the home schedule at 2 p.m. November 14. Arkansas will furnish opposition for the homecoming game at 2 p.m. November 21.

Both season ticket and individual game orders are being accepted by the Texas Tech Athletic Department. Season ticket prices (plus a 50-cent mailing fee) are $24, $27, $30, and $36, depending upon the seat location. Game tickets sell for $4, $4.50, $5, and $6.

Tobacco sacks of the roll-your-own variety can be used to cover a cut on a dog's pads. Wash cut and apply antiseptic. Slip tobacco sack over paw and tie fast. The dog will probably chew the sack off but not before the antiseptic has had time to work.

Heat sour cream gently, but do not boil, reminds the specialist. Cook sour cream hollandaise-type mixtures over warm, not boiling water, rather than direct heat. These mixtures are good as sauces with cooked vegetables such as broccoli and asparagus, and for garnishing fruit or vegetable salads.

BY KENNEDY

'Backlash' Peril Seen

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said today the so-called backlash of whites alarmed at negro civil rights gains will hurt the Democrats in this fall's election campaign.

Various pollsters and public officials have differed over the existence and depth of such a reaction.

Kennedy said the Democrats would be deluding themselves if they failed to recognize that recent racial disorders would adversely affect their election prospects and the "attitude of people toward the negro."

To counter that effect, he said, the subject should be discussed fully, steps should be taken to eliminate negro injustices, and local law enforcement should be strong and impartial.

Kennedy spoke at the opening of a campaign school for Democratic congressional candidates. Both parties opened three-day schools Thursday.

With a more or less humorous smile Kennedy ruled his own recently discovered ineligibility for the vice presidency.

Kennedy said that after President Johnson's decision of last week in which he ruled out cabinet members as vice presidential timber "an awful lot of people came to me for comfort."

"I decided to send a note to cabinet members in general, saying 'I'm sorry I took so many nice fellows over the side with me.'"

Texas Schools To Use 'Modern Math' This Fall

Texas public schools next fall will change to what educators now call "modern mathematics."

The classic "three R's" of education — reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic—will be passe in about a year, some advocates believe.

Reading and 'riting will remain. 'rithmetic will be no more. In its place, to the elementary school student, modern mathematics will mean a better understanding of numbers, a sounder basis in the science of mathematics, and a smattering of geometry and algebra long before junior high school.

Old Subject To the teacher, the advent of this new system will mean a new way of teaching an old subject.

To train teachers in this new method, in-service education is under way. An example is the workshop in elementary school modern mathematics at Trinity University in San Antonio.

Dr. Oscar P. Rausch, professor of education at Trinity and director of the three-week course, said his workshop is only one of many being offered by colleges and universities to give teachers additional competency in this new area of teaching.

Classes are also being taught by various public school systems to familiarize faculty members with modern mathematics. In addition, teachers are being supplied with films, manuals and recordings to supplement their knowledge in this new method of instruction.

Rausch said the so-called modern mathematics has resulted from the scientific and technological revolution of the past few decades which has made it necessary for schools to reconsider their program.

Added emphasis has been placed on the sciences and mathematics.

"The change has been both in content and teaching method although we retained those principles and practices that have proved to be sound from the ultranian and psychological viewpoint."

Deepens Understanding Modern mathematics will not replace traditional mathematics. Rather, the newer concept is designed to generalize, supplement, unify and deepen the understanding of it, Dr. Rausch added.

Stated simply, the modern mathematical concept means that the student learns what each number means and its value, rather than just learning numbers by memory.

With more emphasis placed on the decimal system, modern mathematics teaches the student why he adds certain numbers together. For example, when he adds a column of figures, he doesn't simply add the right-hand column, but rather, he adds numbers with the same decimal value.

The same theory would hold true when the student is introduced to the multiplication tables. The student learns "why" three times two equals six — that is, he learns that three units taken twice equals six.

Application would come from understanding not memorization.

Grassroots Opinion

Salem, Ind., Leader: "There is a Bureau of the Public Debt—a branch of the Treasury Department. It costs $48,600,000 a year to run the department and it has 2,645 employees who draw $15,600,000 of that amount. But as yet we have never seen mention of a Bureau for Paying the Public Debt! Instead, we hear talk about how the larger our debt becomes the better off we are becoming because there are so many more people who are receiving more dollars per year than ever before. So, as long as we get to handle more money it doesn't matter what the debt becomes — or how little the dollar may be worth in terms of buying power. It's awful to be so old that we can't follow this line of reasoning!"
