Stanton experienced another crisp, Spring-like weekend and Monday was another shirt-sleeve day. Tuesday was a little chilly but not bad. . . And the forecast for this section continues to include sunny skies and mild temperatures. Topcoat weather just hasn't been seen around these parts and there is no use for woolen blankets, heaters or furnaces being turned up around the houses only for maybe a couple of hours a day — early in the mornings mostly.

We counted another big batch of circulars in their favorite resting place Monday — the postoffice wastebasket. It does look like this silly habit of throwing money away on junk mail would cease. It is inconvenient for the postal employes and does the circulator very little good, if any. The two largest business firms in Midland have always used and are now using the newspaper over there for their advertising messages and from the looks of some of the crowds pouring into those stores to snap up the printed, advertised bargains in THE REPORTER-TELEGRAM they are getting results. The same results can be obtained by taking advantage of the columns of this newspaper for advertising purposes.

The MOTHERS MARCH for money to try and help further the advance of the program set up to wipe out birth defects by the NATIONAL POLIO FOUNDATION, will be conducted in Stanton on the evening of January 25. MRS. TULL RAY LOUDER has announced that her sorority will make the drive. The ladies will call between the hours of six and seven p.m., according to MRS. UDELL MORRIS, chairman of the MOD. If you are at home be sure and make a donation. Turn your porchlight on so the ladies can see their way to the door. If you are out of town for the evening be sure and mail in the envelope some member of the collection group will leave with you and mail it in. UDELL MORRIS is heading the March of Dimes in the county this year.

A city employee was operating the street sweeping machine on School Street Tuesday afternoon. The big unit was picking up dirt and sand banked against the curbing. The piles of rubbish — another reminder that we have had not winter weather — stood four inches high curbside before removal. Oh how we wish for some cold weather and moisture. A snow plow would have looked a lot better to us than the big sand and dust remover out on School Street Tuesday afternoon.

An old friend of ours, CLIFTON BLACKMON, long prominent in the many LYNDON JOHNSON campaigns and now serving as the Advertising Chairman for Texas Savings Bonds Committee wrote us a brief note this week. Said CLIFTON: "Our thanks to you for your support of the Savings Bond Program and a 'special' thanks to you for using Savings Bonds ads on such a consistent basis."

PERLE MESTA kicked off inauguration ceremonies in Washington with a party in her 15-room penthouse apartment Sunday night. There was pink champagne, smoked tongue and black caviar. HUBBERT HUMPHREY was there with his wife and LYNDIA JOHNSON was there with an ex-marine. The cocktail party had been billed as a get-to-

Mrs. James Eiland Tapped For Signal Community Honor

By NEAL ESTES

Mrs. James D. Eiland, Martin County Home Demonstration Agent, has been tapped by the Beta Sigma Phi chapters in Stanton for the signal "Woman of the Year" honor. Mrs. Eiland's recognition for outstanding community service was announced at a Valentine Tea, held in Cap Rock Auditorium in Stanton on the evening of January 17, and participated in by the full membership of the five Beta Sigma Phi sororities in the city. Two representatives, or delegates and the president of each of the chapters make up the city council. The full membership of all combined chapter voted Mrs. Eiland, affectionately known in our county as Mildred, the Woman-of-the-Year award from a field of sixteen outstanding nominees.

During 1964 Mrs. Eiland served as Secretary-Treasurer of the County Home Demonstration Agent Association of Texas. Her many friends in the organization wanted to name her a vice-president to serve in 1965, but Mildred declined the added honor because of increasing duties and responsibilities in Martin and Glasscock Counties with her

New Restaurant Slates Formal Opening Here

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Currie are proud to announce the opening of their new restaurant "Currie's Cafe." The Curries moved here from Illinois, where they also operated a restaurant. Mrs. Currie is a native of Louisville, Ill., and Mr. Currie is a native of Stanton.

The Curries plan to have the restaurant open from 6 til 12 every day. They also have excellent help, Mrs. Nell Wilson, Mrs. Ivy Scurlark, Mrs. Fina Tolbert, and Mrs. Nora Lou Wolf.

An announcement of the opening appears elsewhere in this issue of the newspaper.

"The reason we picked Stanton for our business is because we like Stanton and the people here," stated Mrs. Currie.

The public is cordially invited to drop by Saturday for free coffee and doughnuts.

March Of Dimes Campaign In Full Swing Here

Martin County's March of Dimes Campaign for 1965 is in full swing this week, with posters and coin collectors to be distributed throughout the county.

March of Dimes mailers and other general mailings are being typed out by Charlotte Kuhlman and are being prepared for mailing under her direction by other members of the Stanton High School homemaking classes. S. J. Foreman of Lenorah, is the chairman of the mailers and will handle the mailing and receiving of the contributions back through the mail.

Mrs. Udell Morris is the chairman for the Mothers March (house to house.) The Mothers March will be Monday, January 25, from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. She requests that any others who wish to help in the Mothers March on this night to contact her by telephone.

Paige Eiland Named Heart Chairman

Bill Renfro, director of the Texas Heart Association's regional area advised Neal Estes, editor of The Stanton Reporter, this week of the appointment of Paige Eiland as Martin County Memorial Chairman for the association.

Eiland will receive memorial gifts which will be used to support programs aimed at conquering this Nation's number one health problem — heart diseases.

Contributions mailed to him, Box 837, Stanton, will be promptly acknowledged to the bereaved family and a receipt sent to the donor.

Eiland explained that more deaths result from heart diseases in Texas than from all other causes combined. Research has already developed much that is cutting this heavy toll. For instance, rheumatic fever is yielding to drug therapy, and many heart operations have resulted in longer life for some individuals.

The Texas Heart Fund, a large part of which is income from Memorial Gifts, is now in its 16th year.

Eiland is anxious to let everyone know of the Heart Association's over-all program and expressed a willingness to provide interested readers with additional information on the Texas Heart Association and the memorial gifts program he is heading.

$ February $

Dollar Day falls just right in February. Monday, February 1 starts, the shortest month in the year off on a nappy merchandising note.

In next week's newspaper, we invite the local merchants to get some sort of advertising copy — large or small, in the county publication.

Dollar Day has come to mean a great deal to the shoppers of the area. Several local merchants have brought timely and price slashing bargains to the people on the first Mondays in the months for the past several years.

We invite the copy of any advertiser in Martin County for use in our next issue of the newspaper on January 28.

Car Tags Go On Sale February 1

Motor vehicle license plates for 1965 will go on sale at the Martin County courthouse, February 1, stated Tax-Assessor-Collector Dan Saunders.

"Passenger car plates will have three prefixes that will start with CTL 425 and will run consecutively through CTM 999, CTM 10 through CTN 899," he said. Everyone is urged to bring their 1964 license receipt and car title when registering their vehicle. Cars must be registered before April 1.

He also said his office would issue pamphlets provided by the Texas Department of Public Safety, explaining recent changes in the safety responsibility law, which went into effect January 1.

PRESIDENT LYNDON JOHNSON

In a spirit of sterling Americanism, we salute the people's President, Lyndon B. Johnson. It is our hope and prayer that Mr. Johnson be blessed with all the rewards of the presidency and especially with good health during his term of office. It is possibly more important now than at any other time in the illustrious history of our nation that the President be kept safe so he can direct the many facets of our country. We break out all over in a cold sweat when we think what might happen to the United States without Lyndon Baines Johnson from Texas. Let us all join now in a resounding chorus of "Hail To The Chief." And let us really mean it!

Health And Safety Tips

From The American Medical Association

The athlete — including the weekend golfer or skier — who experiments with pep pills, whiffs of oxygen, odd dietary supplements and other such fads in the hope of improving performance is doomed to disappointment and may even be courting bodily harm.

Sports, with their premium on endurance and top performance, are fertile soil for experimentation with a wide variety of what physicians call "ergogenic aids," ergogenic being defined as increasing the capacity of bodily and mental effort, especially by eliminating fatigue symptoms.

The mystique of the readiness of the athlete for competition intrigues the sports enthusiast, says a joint comment of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations and the Committee on Medical Aspects of Sports of the American Medical Association.

None of the fads, fallacies and quackery associated with ergogenic aids is of any more assistance to athletic success than the superstition of never changing underwear during a winning streak, the joint statement says. And some of the practices may even be hazardous if carried to extremes.

For safe and effective performance, there still is no alternative to the fullest utilization of one's natural resources through good personal health practices, top physical conditioning and confidence in one's ability based on careful coaching and good medical supervision.

The four-minute mile barrier was broken ten years ago and running the mile in the 3:50's is now commonplace although it was long considered impossible. Athletes set new records not through gimmicks but through spartan self-discipline and effort focused on peak condition and extreme refinement of skill.

The two sport groups label over reliance on isometric exercises as a fad for which claims have been exaggerated. Isometrics can increase muscular strength but they do not assist range of motion or heart-lung endurance. The notion that extra vitamins are needed by athletes is labeled as a fallacy. The essentials of a normal good diet with sufficient quantity to satisfy increased caloric expenditure are all that's required.

Pep pills that lessen the feeling of fatigue obviously can be dangerous, in that they lead to exertion far beyond the body's capacity, and also impair judgment.

For top performance in sports, there's no artificial substitute for good coaching, thorough conditioning, many hours of practice and general good health. These cannot be obtained from a bottle or box.

Bible Comment—

Saint Paul Had Solution For Quarreling

There are many things in the two epistles that Saint Paul wrote to the Christians at Corinth, the longest in the New Testament. And much in the letters has to do with the dissensions that arose so early in the church.

Particularly note worthy is Paul's comments and counseling concerning these church quarrels, and especially his commendation of Christian love as the one great means of overcoming them.

Whether the dissensions at Corinth amounted to actual quarrels or not we cannot tell. But the difference of opinion and the divisions were evidently very sharp.

Throughout the long history of Christian churches, quarrels have frequently been bitter and sharp, degrading the institution that in its rightful organization ought to embody the spirit of the Lord whom it professes to serve.

Corinthian Christians were very much like those that have appeared again and again in modern churches.

Who has not seen a church divided about some merits, demerits, of some minister? One knows, also, how often such dissension has been sharp and strong. At Corinth they were divided over the respective merits of Paul, Apollos, and Peter. Some even adhered to Christ, not as possessing all that the others might have, but merely as a leader of a party.

Against all this dissension Paul proclaimed the all-inclusiveness of Christ as "the power of God and the wisdom of God."

It is this Christ-like concept and spirit that should rule the hearts and minds of those who often unthinkingly give allegiance to causes much less than God-like in their origins.

Philosopher Says He Can't Estimate His Costs Any Better Than Roads Bureau

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw reviews the highway situation this week.)

Dear editor:

According to an article I read in a newspaper last night while my television set was having cable trouble, the Bureau of Public Roads has discovered it has underestimated the cost of the vast interstate highway system which is supposed to span the United States by 1972 by about $6,000,000,000, or 6 billion, to spell it out in case The Stanton Reporter doesn't have that many zeroes in its plant.

Originally, they'd figured the 41,000 miles of super-highways would cost 41 billion, dollars a thousand miles, but due to rising costs, such as higher costs of land as everybody knows farm land is worth more in a highway than in cultivation, the cost has risen to about 47 billion dollars.

I know how these things are. You start out a year in January figuring it'll cost so much to get by on, but by the time September rolls around you find so many unexpected things piled up your estimate was no better than the United States Bureau of Public Roads.

But what interested me in the highway article was the statement that the vast system was "designed to handle traffic 20 years beyond the design period."

As I understand it, the project is supposed to be completed in 1972, however they've been working on it for several years already, with 19,000 miles open to traffic and 22,000 still to go.

What this means is that by the time they get the last of it built, the first of it will be 20 years old and already out of date. It'll be like a woman wearing a 1965 hat and 1945 shoes. In other words, we're building new cars faster than we can build roads to run them on and the future looks dark unless we can step up the rate of accidents.

I don't like to stand in the way of progress, sit, maybe but not stand, but it is hard for me to figure out a place a thousand miles from here which it's worth a billion dollars worth of highway to get to. Certainly I can't imagine anybody that far from here willing to spend that kind of money to reach this place.

This figures out to be $1,000,000 a mile, but I guess there's some satisfaction in realizing, after you've driven 60 minutes at 60 miles an hour, you've just ridden over $60,000,000 worth of comfort, although to tell the truth I can get almost the same comfort sitting in a four-dollar rocking chair out here on this Martin County grass farm.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

TCU To Call On Students For SS Numbers

If you're planning to enroll at TCU for the Spring semester, get your Social Security number ready.

That was the advice given this week by Registrar Calvin A. Cumble.

Those registering will be asked to supply Social Security numbers for the purpose of permanent student identification.

TCU officials believed that the Social Security numbering system affords the most valid means of keeping up with its students.

The system will be put into effect with the Spring semester registration Feb. 1-3, Cumble said.

FARMER OF THE MONTH

Clements' Success Formula: Work; Maintenance, Ability

Gene Clements finds equipment repair is a big item to a small farmer . . .

. . . and an off-season equipment check saves time when the season begins.

Hard work, good equipment and the desire to be a farmer have made farming a healthy enterprise for Gene Clements.

As a native of Martin County, Clements grew up knowing the ails of Martin County farming and set out on his own to show his ability as a tiller of the soil.

Diversifying his farming, Clements has gone to alfalfa, livestock feeding and grain sorghums from the usual cotton crops.

Being a fairly lucky young man, who also is able to recognize a need, Clements started planting alfalfa in 1957 on 10-acre patch. He planted 60 acres and harvested 6 cuttings last season.

Another of his virtues is proper maintenance of equipment.

"I just try to follow the recommendations of the operator's manual," he says.

Clements does his own mechanical and welding work. His farm and implements are adorned with plenty of metal tool and equipment boxes he made for proper storage.

Crop rotation, long known as a remedy for better crops, is another item Clements plans for his 160 acre farm.

"Since we have been raising alfalfa, we transfer the alfalfa to a new field every three years and plant cotton on the old alfalfa plot," Clements said. "It saves fertilizer."

During the last few lean years Clements' alfalfa has been a big factor in making ends meet when bill paying time comes.

Like all farmers Clements has labor problems. He partially solved the problem by keeping the same worker the last three years. The worker's quarters, complete with television, shower and refrigerator, were built by Clements as an incentive to keep good help.

Clements also uses school-boys during the summer which serves a double purpose by giving the boys work and helping to solve the labor problem.

Clements presently is feeding about 40 head of cattle on an oat patch which helps build the soil and also is another source of income.

McKinney Jolted By News VA Hospital To Shut Down

McKinney, one of the favorite cities of the Fourth Congressional District represented in Washington so long by the late Sam Rayburn, was a sad town this week.

Confirmation of a long-standing rumor that the Veterans Hospital there would close despite the fact that the late Mr. Sam had told the people of his district for years that "he had anchored the hospital in such a way that it could never be moved."

D. W. Middleton, a veteran who has been in many hospitals said: "This is the best VA hospital I've seen. I can't believe they'll close it. This was Mr. Sam's godchild, you know."

Mayor Louis Miller said: "It's going to be quite a blow."

The hospital began as Ashburn General Hospital when a prisoner-of-war camp was located in McKinney during the early months of World War II. In 1946 it became a VA hospital.

Located on the north edge of the city, the hospital has 101 buildings, connected for the most part by covered walkways. You can walk half-mile under one roof. Hospital director E. P. Whitaker is proud of the place. Maintenance of the buildings has been first class. The hospital is also identified with a couple of major research projects. It boasts the only electro-aerosol project in the VA. In a chamber, victims of lung ailments are fogged with a saline mist that is charged electrically. Data is kept on results.

Another project in research is a study of the changes to the eye produced by aging.

The 284-patient hospital has 350 employees and a whopping payroll of around $2,300,000 yearly. It is definitely McKinney's major economic dynamo.

Fire Destroys Editor's Bed

Editor Neal Estes lost his bed in a fire caused by an over-heated electric blanket Tuesday afternoon.

Arising early Tuesday morning the editor failed to switch off the blanket before leaving for work. The blanket and rolled back bedding and mattress became ignited and when the editor returned to his home for a snack about 1:30 p.m. the smothered smell of cotton burning was the danger signal that alerted the newsman to call for assistance. Cecil Bridges arrived and we used a couple of buckets of water to douse the blazing bedspread, blankets, and mattress. Then with the help of Alton McCormick we removed the burned articles from the house. Then we called Paige Eiland to come up and advise us of the possibilities of getting replacements. Paige has our insurance.

The Baylor University graduate and loyal fan for his alma mater was very nice and agreeable until we showed him the blanket on the bed, burned beyond repair. It was marked with the head of the Longhorn steer and the word Texas was monogrammed on a background of brilliant orange.

The Baylor man said: "That blanket isn't worth ever what it cost you."

work as the local demonstration agent, her family, her church, and other civic activities.

Mildred Eiland is superintendent of the Youth Division and the Intermediate Youth Leader in the First Methodist Church here. She is also vice president of the Women's Guild in the church.

Mrs. Eiland has held various offices in the Beta Sigma Phi sorority in the past, among them president of the Ritual of Jewels Chapter, Delta Omega. She was a member of Exemplar Chapter of Xi Alpha Beta.

Mrs. Eiland is also an honorary member of Delta Kappa Gamma Sorority, an organization for teachers.

One of Mildred Eiland's most treasured honors was the one she was cited for when named one of four of the state's top Home Demonstration Agents in 1954. At the time Mrs. Eiland received this honor, the National Council of Home Demonstration Agents authorized these words on the citation: "A most capable and dependable agent. In both counties where Mrs. Eiland has worked the program grew and was strengthened under her leadership. She does excellent work with young people. She holds the interest of the older 4-H Club girls and has a good junior leadership program. She possesses an unusual ability to get along with people."

Mrs. Eiland was also the recipient one year recently of an outstanding Martin County Chamber of Commerce award. The award was presented to her by Mrs. Lila Flanagan at the annual banquet.

Mrs. Eiland has served as Home Demonstration Agent in Martin and Glasscock Counties since 1949. She graduated from Texas State Women's College in Denton with a major in home economics before entering her favorite field of service. After her graduation from the Denton school, and before her marriage to James D. Eiland, Mildred continued to study with courses at the University of Arkansas and at John Tarleton College in Texas. She specialized in youth work, tailoring, handcraft, and recreation.

Mr. and Mrs. Eiland are the very proud parents of a wonderful young son, Mark, and the family resides in a new and attractive home at 404 St. Charles Street in Stanton.

The editor would like to point out that Mildred Eiland has always cooperated faithfully with The Stanton Reporter during our editorship in the county. It has been a great experience and a genuine pleasure to have worked with Mildred and James in many community capacities and of course, Mark, our young neighbor, is on our top ten junior citizens list. We congratulate Mrs. Eiland on her highly deserved honor and we congratulate those ladies of Beta Sigma Phi who made her citation as "Woman of the Year" possible.

Veterans Administration To Close Hospital, VA Offices GI Bill For Viet Veterans

The Veterans Administration's disclosure Monday that it will close two regional offices and one hospital in Texas, comes as a shock to the American Legion, according to Department Commander Lewis W. Emerich of Houston.

Under the plan the VA offices in Lubbock and San Antonio and the McKinney Hospital will be closed, effective June 30.

"The American Legion is in favor of economy in Government," said Emerich, "but such economy at the expense of sick and disabled veterans, as well as cutting services for elderly widows and orphans of the nation's war dead is unthinkable. To me, this is totally inconsistent with the President's program of total war on poverty. In fact, most of the veterans who use the McKinney Hospital fit the test rule being employed by the President to determine those in poverty."

"As Commander of The American Legion in Texas, I am lodging a most vigorous protest to the President, to the VA and to members of Congress," Emerich said.

At its State Convention in San Antonio last year, the Legion adopted a resolution asking for additional beds in the McKinney hospital due to the long waiting lists. More beds are needed, not less. These patients cannot be transferred to the Dallas VA Hospital, for they are already extremely overcrowded with a long waiting list. Closing of McKinney will cost the north Texas area 312 sorely needed beds, and will further tax the facilities at Dallas.

The American Legion fails to see how money can be saved in consolidating the San Antonio VA Office with Houston and the Lubbock office with Waco, Emerich added.

"Does the VA realize how far it is from Amarillo or El Paso to Waco? The extra costs to the government in travel and per diem would offset any savings realized by putting employees out of work."

The closing of these facilities will eliminate jobs for about 600 trained people. These will be thrown into the labor market, thus increasing unemployment.

According to the Commander, it is imperative that all members of the Legion, its Auxiliary, as well as all veterans and their dependents, lodge strong protests to the President and to members of Congress.

With his bill, Tower will propose legislation to establish a GI bill for American veterans of Viet Nam military service.

The Republican senator said his bill would provide educational and loans benefits similar to those provided to veterans of World War II and Korea. It would include a blanket income tax exemption for enlisted men who have served in South Viet Nam, and $200 a month exemption for officer veterans.

With his bill, Tower will propose a resolution asking that American servicemen in South Viet Nam be provided with "the most effective weapons, equipment and aircraft available in American military inventories."

The senator said veterans whose military service approximates that of wartime are entitled to educational benefits like those extended in Korean and World War II GI bills.

The Tower proposal would also provide home and farm loan assistance. Six months of active service would be necessary to qualify for benefits. Widows would be eligible for loan benefits, and children of combat dead would be eligible for educational benefits.

Employees Of The Public

In an era when some programs of public works often are referred to as "boondoggles," it is worthy of note that such terms of derision as "fraud" and "bungling" and "waste" are not applied in any important measure to public works in Texas.

While it would be difficult to cite all the reasons for this highly creditable showing on the part of Texas, it is exemplified by the excellent work of the Texas Highway Department which, across the years, has given this state a program in which billions of dollars have been expended with honesty, integrity, efficiency, and wisdom.

This situation was pointed up the other day by Herbert C. Petry, Jr., chairman of the Texas Highway Commission. In an address that deserved far wider news distribution than it apparently received, Mr. Petry told the annual meeting of the Texas Employees Association in Austin that their honesty, efficiency, and friendly public spirit has meant much to Texas progress and welfare.

The 68,000 state employees in Texas have 10,000,000 bosses—the people of Texas, Mr. Petry said. "We believe we have accrued a tremendous backlog of public acceptance and confidence from an insistence that we be known by our integrity."

Praising the 25,000-member association for its work in state employe relations, the Highway Commission chairman said:

"This is not a thing which may be controlled by any organized police force. It is basically a matter of self-policing from the bottom to the top of the entire state employe complex, and each department within it. Organizations such as the TPEA do a tremendous job in instilling pride in public service among its membership. I submit that where integrity is lacking, there can be no pride."

Mr. Petry is right, of course. A person, whether employed in private business or in a public department or office, must have a sense of responsibility to his employer—whether the owner of a business, or the people.

The public employes of Texas from top to bottom of departmental and office groups, by and large are fine people with a good sense of duty and a pride in their work. This merits public recognition, and it is good to see Mr. Petry speak out in this manner.

"We live in a cynical time, but there is no room for cynicism where respect of our employer is concerned," the highway official said. "Let us never forget that our employer is the people."

"With hardly an exception, the record of public service in Texas has been one of honesty, integrity, and efficiency. There can be no finer program of public relations for each of us as individuals, or for all of us collectively as public employes."

"As employes of the public, we have 10,000,000 bosses. Let each of us always remember our obligation to those who employ us, and who place their trust in us—the people of the great State of Texas."

Along with the well-deserved recognition given Texas public employes, Mr. Petry left them with a challenging charge of responsibility to faithful service. With such inspiring words from department officials as those from Mr. Petry, Texas surely will continue to have the benefit of dedicated employes who give of their best in service.

Texas Tech To Gather Water Data

Texas Tech and the Texas Water Commission have joined forces in a sweeping cooperative agreement designed to further development of the state's water resources.

Signing the agreement were Dr. R. C. Goodwin, Tech president; Joe D. Carter, chairman of the Water Commission; and John J. Vandertulip, chief engineer of the commission.

The cooperative venture is in line with Gov. John Connally's charge to the Texas Water Commission to prepare a master water plan with projections of water requirements through the year 2000.

Research Stressed
This agreement states that the Water Commission will be able to utilize and benefit from the research and advanced concepts developed by Tech.

Likewise, Tech will be allowed to incorporate into its programs the advances and improvements in water resources research, management planning and design which come out of the agreement.

Dr. Goodwin said the agreement "will allow Texas Tech to have an important position in the development of a state-wide water plan for items relating to West Texas water resources."

Tech's agriculture dean, Dr. Gelard W. Thomas, emphasized that initial support for the study will be provided by the college's Institute of Science and Engineering.

Individual Taxpayers May Deduct $600

Every taxpayer is entitled to use his own personal exemption of $600 in filing his federal income tax return for 1964, Gene McCleskey, administrative officer in the Midland office of Internal Revenue reminded today.

Solon Urges Health Hazard Label For Cigarette Packs

Congress was asked this week to require manufacturers to label cigarette packs with a health hazard warning to smokers.

More than a year after the government branded cigarette smoking a major cause of lung cancer and other diseases, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) introduced a bill that would require this statement on every cigarette pack: "Warning: Continual smoking may be hazardous to your health." Violators would be fined up to $100,000.

Sen. Maurice Neuberger (D-Ore.), whose late senator husband, Richard, suffered from cancer, introduced separate legislation to empower the Federal Trade Commission to regulate cigarette advertising.

Mrs. Neuberger said Congress had taken no positive action since the surgeon general's report and that "it will be very difficult to convince smokers that the government take the report seriously until such warnings are required."

Johnson Whittles Budget Down Near $100 Billion

President Johnson's new budget tops $100 billion at the moment but he is directing an intensive last-minute effort to pare the total below that psychologically important level.

Normally the entire budget—a massive document—would have gone to the printer two weeks ago. However, because of the continuing effort to find items that can be pruned, there still are gaps in the galleys of type being assembled at the Government Printing Office.

Because this is an inaugural year, Johnson has had additional time in which to prepare his budget. By law, there normally would have been a Jan. 19 deadline for submission to Congress.

However, since Jan. 20 is Inauguration Day, Congress passed a joint resolution extending the deadline to Jan. 25. Johnson signed this measure—the first of the year—Wednesday.

Realistic Prospect
The legislation also authorizes him to delay submission of his economic report from Jan. 20 to Jan. 28.

Two months ago, the President told reporters he doubted he could keep below $100 billion in forecasting budget spending for the 1966 fiscal year that begins July 1. He said then that federal departments and agencies were asking for $108.5 billion.

This total has been cut to close to $100 billion and Johnson obviously feels there is still a realistic prospect of getting below that figure.

Light from the sun takes about eight minutes to reach the earth.

FOR a number of years now the TAYLOR STUDIO people have been using the columns of THE STANTON REPORTER for advertising purposes. They sometimes send out cards addressed to "Boxholder" or "Postal Patron" too, but they never forget to get the same message in the NEWSPAPER. If an individual or company is REALLY looking for business there is just no substitute for the county paper. The TAYLOR family realizes this. In this issue we are carrying another advertising message for them. Consider the ad—read it—then go out to MOTEL BELVUE on Jan. 27 and take your child with you for a wonderful surprise.

YOUR editor is confident of one sure thing happening in his life last year in Martin County. We know we made a sincere, loyal, fine friendship with JOE MABEE. And one true friend like JOE is worth a thousand of the other kind. Our friendship was born because we shared a common, if slightly old-fashioned philosophy of government of the people, by the people and for the people. Our friendship was cradled in a common cause, nourished in a year that saw the multitudes abandon the thinking of the minority, and found full bloom in the knowledge that in our hearts we thought we were right. We had a business conversation with JOE this past week and he is still the same wonderful fellow he was when we clasp hands in the newspaper office several months ago. Yes sir, folks, we don't have many like the MABEE family anymore—you know the type that made the motto, "In God We Trust," found on our silver coins a meaningful symbol.

THIS story is making the rounds, and we quote as it was told to us: "The only reason the Supreme Court don't declare the Constitution unconstitutional is because such an act would also put the Supreme Court out of business."

ONE of the many agencies is interested in finding stock ponds in South Texas to conduct experiments on the proper stocking ratio of large-mouth bass. When suitable ponds are found, they will be treated and all present fish removed, then they will be stocked with threadfin shad and later with bass fry in different ratios. No fishing will be permitted during the first year of the experiment, but beginning the second year it will be encouraged. At the end of the two years, the pond will again be completely renovated and all fish collected for production analysis. Oh yes, the pond owner will be asked to have his fishermen fill out a data card furnished by the department for each fishing trip. Our press sheet didn't say if the data card was to be filed by the pond owner or fed through a fish computer machine.

A couple of weeks back we printed an item about the first oil producer in Martin County in our 20-Years-Ago column. The well was brought in on the MABEE RANCH. The Texas Company drilled to 4,719 feet and the JOHN A. MABEE was declared a producer. Since the item appeared we have had some additional information. RAYMOND LOUDER informed us that he was a member of the drilling crew. And the other day ROSS HAY called to tell us that he had checked the well's production and that it was still making 65 barrels daily as regular as the clock. The well was completed in January, 1945.

THIS Spring-like weather continues in the area. We have read with interest advertisements in area papers beamed to bring business to the nurseries in nearby cities. Then an examination of some of the plants in our yard indicates the warm weather has contributed to early green shoots. The grass is even trying to peep through the brownish dead crust on top. We are not going over-board, however, on an optimistic notion that Spring is just around the corner. As a native Texan we know Winter is bound to get here sometime.

VOTERS can't be voters in Texas or Martin County without a poll tax. To qualify to vote in any election in 1965 you need to spend $1.75 now! If you are one who thinks "nothing of importance" is coming up this year—think again. A bond issue raising your taxes can be called in less than 60 days. You better think that one over and go over there right now to the courthouse and buy your right to vote. You can bet your bottom dollar there will be a number of elections of significance. We have some city officials to elect or reject and some to be added to or taken off the school boards of the county. You can't go to the polls under any circumstances if you go without a poll tax receipt if you are between 21 and 60 years of age. Remember that fact. And if you are caught around the polls trying to "wolf" a free vote you might be picked up and arrested for loitering around the voting places.

THE MIDLAND REPORTER-TELEGRAM says: "Seven hundred troops seems an impossible number of men for an airplane to carry. But that's how many will be lifted by a gigantic military transport plane which President Johnson has just O.K.'d $750 million to develop. It's a far cry from the "40 and 8s" of World War I fame, the French boxcars which transported either 40 men or eight horses to the front in something less than comfort. Come to think of it, 140 horses would be a lot of horses for an airplane to carry. Horses are smarter than humans, however. They don't go to war any more."

Tax Man Sam Sez:

If you haven't read your tax instructions that you received in the mail about January 1, now is a good time to start. There are more taxpayers that cost themselves by simply failing to take time to read the instructions than there ought to be. These folks simply don't take the deductions that they have coming to them. Most of us don't like to read, but being lazy when it comes to reading tax instructions costs more than we can afford. If you start now, April 15 will be a nice beautiful day.

Eaton, Colo., Herald: "I read in a Nebraska paper this week where they are thinking of changing the meat of the meal on Thanksgiving from Turkey to Potomac Trout. Seems as they are thinking thanks should be given to the government instead of to God, where it rightly belongs."

Texas 4-H'ers To Visit Chicago Board Of Trade

Two Texas youths, who have shown an active interest in cash grain farming, have been selected to participate in the 14th annual 4-H Club Grain Marketing Conference in Chicago January 26-28.

The Chicago Board of Trade sponsor the trips to the conference and will be host to the young people during their three-day stay.

The two boys are Craig Lawrence, 19, of Perryton, and Jon David Miller, 16, of Dawn. They will be accompanied by Juston T. McBride, Deaf Smith County extension agent.

The Texas youths will be among 21 4-H Club members from 11 states named to attend the conference.

Lawrence, the son of Mrs. Letha Lawrence, compiled a picture story of grain marketing procedures, using his camera to take photos of how grain travels to market in his area. He has specialized in raising wheat.

Lawrence won the Ochiltree County grain marketing pin in 1963, and last year was co-chairman of the county 4-H Council. He won the state award in soil and water conservation in 1962.

Miller, the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Miller, was an alternate state winner in grain marketing in 1963. He raises wheat and milo and as part of his project toured local feed mills.

2 Lawmen Arrested In Mississippi

U. S. marshals arrested Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey and Deputy Cecil Price Saturday following their indictments in connection with the slaying of three civil rights workers last summer.

The two law enforcement officers were among 18 white men indicted by a federal grand jury at Jackson Friday. Sixteen of them were from the Meridian-Philadelphia area while the other two were from outside Mississippi.

Rainey, Price and 14 others were arrested during the morning. There was no word on whether the last two had been arrested.

All 18 were indicted under an 1870 statute charging conspiracy to violently deny a person of his civil rights. The statute provides a maximum sentence of 10 years and a fine of $10,000 in the event of conviction.

A second four-count indictment charges the 18 men took part in a conspiracy involving law enforcement officers to "inflict summary punishment on the three civil rights workers." This charge carries a maximum penalty of one year in jail and a $1,000 fine on each count.

Rainey and Price went before a U. S. commissioner in Meridian and were released under bonds of $5,750 each. It was expected that bonds for the others would be in similar amounts.

Panhandle Gets New Deer Stock

A truck load of mule deer live trapped in arid West Texas were released in Palo Duro Canyon, near Silverton, roughly 400 miles from their native habitat.

The Parks and Wildlife Department reports that last year 174 head of mule deer were trapped in the same West Texas area and transported by truck across Texas to help boost wildlife numbers in the sparsely populated Palo Duro Canyon section of Briscoe County, Caprock area of Floyd and Motley Counties, and the Canadian River breaks of Roberts County.

Past efforts to establish both whitetail and mule deer herds in the Palo Duro began in the early 1940's when both species were trapped in other parts of the state and transplanted to the northern end of the Canyon. Additional mule deer will be released in the three approved areas to supplement the initial plants made in 1964.

Guest of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones this week was Mrs. Eleanor Hopkins of Carlsbad, New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bridges and George Costlow attended the Lions mid-winter conference in Ballinger last Saturday and Sunday.

FARMER, RANCHER, BUSINESSMAN

Bernard Houston: A Man With More Interests Than Time

(Editor's Note: For ten years we have watched Bernard Houston in action in Martin County and he has been active on many fronts. Back in our early editorship in Stanton, Houston was president of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce and we worked closely with him, Louan Walker of the West Texas Chamber, and other local farm leaders to set up a cantaloupe producing program for Martin County. That joint project was hailed throughout the area as one of the finest ever developed in the county. When Houston was sticking mostly to ranching, he was responsible for the program which resulted in root plowing and many sections of land was cleared of mesquite growth. Incidentally, he spearheaded the eradication of the jack-rabbit as a menace to farm production in this county by sponsoring annual rabbit hunts. Bernard Houston is a good family man, father of two, and dedicated member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Stanton. We wanted to bring these additional bits of information on the life of Houston to the attention of our many readers before reprinting here a story appearing in The Midland Reporter-Telegram Sunday about Bernard. The story below was written by Ernie White.)

Bernard Houston

Midland, Howard and Glasscock Counties.

A rough hewn personality, Houston has more interests than time. Finding him at the Farmers Gin and Cotton Co., which he manages, is a near miracle.

Houston divides his time between the gin, his 14 section ranch, two farm supply houses, his farms and traveling over the state working on farm labor problems.

Houston is a native of the Stanton area. He attended school at the old convent school in Stanton. He later attended public schools in Stanton and Garden City.

The Houston family goes back a long way in West Texas history, since his grandparents settled on the Glasscock County home ranch in 1884.

Houston ranched with his father for several years. In December 1941, he joined the U. S. Navy. He was discharged in 1946 and went into the farm supply business in Garden City.

Houston long has been active in farm labor groups and has served as president of the Mid-Glass Planters since it was founded.

He recently has been vocally involved in the bracero hassle as secretary-treasurer of the Basin Growers Association.

Houston said he and other farmers formed Basin Growers so they could get bracero labor, "because we couldn't get local help."

Although far from looking the part of a socialite, Houston hobnobs with politicians and bankers as easily as he tells a tractor driver how a field should be plowed.

But he usually gets back to the farm labor problem in any conversation these days. In his frequent and sharply worded attacks on the farm labor policy of the federal government, Houston argues that "in this highly educated nation why does the secretary of labor want to make nationals do stoop labor?"

"If they would keep the braceros, they would free the local migrants so they could train under the anti poverty program and learn a new occupation."

Houston, not a man to go off on an idea without first trying to think out all the angles, theorized that when the farmers had to cut down on purchases of oil, tires, equipment and chemicals, made by union labor, the labor unions would soon realize the damage they have done by fighting the bracero program.

Houston said he doesn't know the final answer for the labor problem, "but the results will show on the housewife's budget."

His father's '65 Ford rides quieter than his father's Rolls-Royce

We know it's hard to believe a Ford could ride quieter than the famed Rolls-Royce. But it's a fact. Leading acoustical consultants conducted tests in which three V-8 powered Fords (Galaxie 500 Sedan, new Galaxie 500 XL and LTD Hardtops) with automatic transmissions rode quieter than a new Rolls-Royce. The tests were certified by the U.S. Auto Club. Of course, the best test of all is to get behind the wheel yourself . . . and listen to a '65 Ford in action.

That's what Chuck's father did. Ford's quietness really impressed him. But it wasn't the quietness alone that sold him. He shopped around and found that Ford offers features and models and quality that simply aren't matched by other cars in its class. For example:

- 100% new body—strongest Ford body ever.
- New frame "tunes out" vibration.
- Decorator-appointed interiors in LTD's, thick nylon carpeting.
- More luggage space than in most competing cars—trunk holds four 2-suiters standing upright with room left over.

- Thrifty, quiet new Big Six—the biggest Six offered by any car in Ford's class . . . 289-cu. in. V-8 in XL's and LTD's.
- All automatic transmissions have three speeds, not two as in some competing cars—smoother shifting, more economy.
- Silent-Flo ventilation (in 4-door hardtops) provides fresh air in car with all windows shut.
- Handy reversible key works either side up.

There's more . . . much more in a Ford than you'd expect for the money. Visit your Ford Dealer and take a test drive soon.
