MRS. ED WHITE and MRS. JAMES McDIVITT, wives of the latest space exploring astronauts, spent sometime at the Houston communications center hearing the voices of their husbands while they were whirling around at several thousand miles an hour in space. MRS. WHITE, an attractive blonde, told newsmen: "I think they will give them sometime off after the flight and if they do I hope ED takes me to Colorado for a vacation."

The Hale Center tornado has caused a lot of people to stop and think about what they would do in case a tornado alert was sounded in this community. We talked with about a dozen citizens and none of them had settled on a plan of defense against a possible tornado strike in Martin County. Of course those with cellars have a good chance of escaping death or serious injury, but too few residents in this area have such shelters. It might be well for each family to work out a plan of action in case a tornado alert is sounded in the future.

The tornadoes which struck Hale Center and Cotton Center last week came on the anniversary of tornadoes confirmed in the same vicinity two years ago, June 2, 1963. Two years ago to the day, five tornadoes were sighted in the Hale Center area — one five miles from town — one three miles from town — and three less than twelve miles away. In 1963 the tornadoes roared in the air — only one touched ground for a brief time but it did not get closer than five miles to Wednesday night's destructive demon.

The astronauts ED WHITE and JIM McDIVITT proved that man can live and work in prolonged space for a long period of time . . . 98 hours in their case. Hot, hungry, but happy, the Gemini astronauts got back from space Monday and immediately won the cheers of their fellow countrymen in uniform when hauled aboard the U. S. IS. Wasp. The astronauts had to make the drop back home without use of a highly touted, one million dollar computer that failed to compute. This computer was about as trustworthy as some used by the cunning political pollsters in the last general election. You can't tell a humbug machine from a computing machine speaking politically — but you can and the astronauts did, catch the computer myth red-handed up there in space. Anyway with pilots like WHITE and McDIVITT and the others in the Gemini program who needs a million dollar piece of junk?

HUNTLEY and BRINKLEY were "scooped" Monday when the space director from Houston took over the actual broadcast of the landing of the astronauts. They were obviously non-plused and demonstrated their ignorance of the text of the operation. The big news team just sat there before millions of viewers without much comment. They looked like a couple of models for an old-time Arrow collar ad. Many ten year old boys in the nation know more about the space program than a lot of "experts" in the programming field.

FFA Chapter Taps Editor For Honor

The Stanton Future Farmers of America chapter voted a distinguished honor on Editor Neal Estes of The Stanton Reporter on April 27.

Nolan Parker, vocational agriculture instructor in the local school, presented the plaque denoting honorary membership to the local newsmen this week.

Parker explained that the delay in announcing the presentation was due to the fact that the chapter also voted to have a special plaque made up for Estes.

The plaque is attractively designed with the FFA emblem and bears the inscription: "Honorary Chapter Farmer."

Parker stated that the award was given to men and women of the community, area, state and national level who contributed time and effort to the FFA work on the different levels of the FFA program.

Parker said: "The Stanton Chapter has awarded Editor Estes this award to indicate the high respect and admiration for his work on behalf of the local chapter, school, and community."

EDITOR HONORED—Editor Neal Estes of The Stanton Reporter is shown above displaying the most recent award for community service presented by the Stanton Chapter of Future Farmers of America. The plaque and letter of commendation for services performed over a long period of time in behalf of the FFA group was voted Estes by the local chapter membership and presented by Nolan Parker, vocational agriculture instructor in the local schools. The Stanton editor was recently honored by the School Board of Trustees for the Stanton Independent School District for outstanding support of the public school activities. The Martin County Chapter of the American Cancer Society cited the newspaper and the editor two weeks ago for meritorious service rendered the cancer crusades in the county for the past ten years. The newspaper was also the recent recipient of a membership certificate in the Half Century Club sponsored by the Texas Press Association.

Fee Required For Address Changes

After this week, all changes of address, must be reported directly to The Stanton Reporter, P. O. Box 248, Stanton.

If you are a subscriber, wish to change your address, and live out of Martin County, just mail us your old and new address. We will change it without charge. If you use any other method of changing your address, we will require a fee of twenty-five cents per change. It takes this much to process a change after two or three notices are received at a charge of ten cents each time. County newspapers, charging only $3 a year for an out-of-town sub can't do business on this basis. We have but this single alternative — either price the subscription price for all outside subscribers or require the 25 cent fee for changing an address in the future, unless a postal card is mailed directly to the paper. That way, a subscriber will only have to pay four cents.

If we receive any other changes of address in any manner other than the one specified above, we will simply hold your newspaper up until the twenty-five cent fee for changing is paid in.

If you live in Martin County, want to change your address, it is plain. Just pick up your phone, report the change, mail in a card, or come by the office for a local change of address will be made, if you use anyone of these three methods.

Major Issues Up To Texas Voters

Texas voters were not left completely out in the cold during the recent session of the Texas Legislature.

They are going to get a chance to veto or approve actions of the legislators on proposed constitutional amendments.

And they'll vote on 14 more proposals in 1966.

A special September 7 election will determine the fate of a plan to enlarge the Senate from 31 to 39 members. Last minute efforts failed to change the election date to Nov. 2, when 10 proposals in amendment form will be on the ballot.

Two Nov. 2 proposals that caused lots of steam in the legislature would double the present two-year terms of the governor and lieutenant governor, other officials elected statewide and the 150 state representatives.

Senators abandoned a plan to extend their terms from four to six years.

In the 1966 general election, the 14 proposals will tie the record set in 1961 for suggested amendments on a ballot.

Since the Texas Constitution was adopted in 1876, voters have patched it 158 times. They have rejected 97 proposals, mostly in off-year elections such as this year.

He expressed appreciation for the cooperation extended him while serving in the sanitation inspector capacity.

Board Awaits Service Of Legal Papers

Consolidation of the Stanton negro school with the white elementary school and a resulting cutback of the negro teaching staff has resulted in a suit in U. S. District Court charging discrimination.

The suit is thought to be a first in Texas. Wallace Mendelson, professor of constitutional law at the University of Texas, said it is the only case of its type he knows of. "At least, the U. S. Supreme Court has never passed on such a case."

Old Settlers Reunion Will Be July 12-13

The theme of the Martin County Old Settlers Reunion, which will be held this year on July 12-13, will be "Day Before Yesterday," according to an announcement by Mrs. Morgan Hall, secretary.

At a recent meeting of longtime Stanton residents, President J. C. Mott appointed some of the committees to assist him in making the reunion a smooth-running affair. Other committees will be appointed and plans completed at the next meeting, which will be on June 14 at Cap Rock auditorium.

Registration will begin at 1 p.m. Monday, July 12, at the office of Jimmy Stallings, and will continue through Tuesday morning. Mrs. Bess Stewart has been named chairman of the welcoming committee.

Billy Houston has been appointed parade chairman. The parade is scheduled for Tuesday, July 13, in downtown Stanton. Riding units from Stanton and surrounding towns are expected to participate. Mrs. Hall emphasized that businesses and clubs are encouraged to enter floats for the parade. Prizes will be given for the first three places.

Other than the committee chairmen previously named, those serving a re: chairman of lighting committee, George

The formal complaint was filed by Mr. and Mrs. Belvin E. Steward, who have been teaching in the negro school. The case names Stanton Supt. Beryl Clinton, the school district and school board members Coats Beatley, G. P. Harrell, Neil Fryar, Fred Holder and Stanton White.

Mr. and Mrs. Steward were told in May they would be dismissed from teaching duties, along with Mrs. Ladora Preciphs, who has not filed a suit. Mrs. Preciphs is currently employed by the Midland branch of Project Head Start.

Injunction Asked
They were the only faculty members of the 48-student negro school.

The petition was filed by attorney Weldon H. Berry of Houston and Jack Greenberg and Derrick Bell Jr. of New York. Their goal, they said, is to obtain a permanent injunction to prevent the Stanton board from hiring and assigning teachers on the basis of color or race.

"We feel our case is valid, or we wouldn't have filed it," said Berry. "If the court looks at this case in the right light, it will see there is some discrimination."

Clinton and his associates, on the other hand, said no discrimination was intended in the cutback and that it was simply a case of having too many teachers for the new consolidated school.

Clinton quickly pointed out that "we had to drop one of the White teachers from the Courtney school also." The Courtney school is a 70-student school.

Braceros Still Hope For U. S. Farm Work

Mexican farm laborers still hope that the U. S. Congress will renew the law permitting them to help harvest crops in Texas, Florida, Michigan, and California.

They also hope that their own government, in Mexico, take a more realistic look at their economic situation at home.

The news that Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz had authorized admission of 3,500 laborers on an emergency measure to help gather the perishable fruit in California seemed to hearten the Mexicans who want to work in this country. But there is no immediate hope.

Congress, pressured by the AFL-CIO and some church groups let the 20-year-old bracero agreement, (Public Law 78) expire last December 31 and there are no signs it will be renewed.

Under the law, as many as 400,000 laborers had picked fruit and cotton, moved irrigation pipes, operated tractors, etc. No complaints were registered by the braceros.

The politicians and the labor unions couldn't stand the peaceful operation of the "best foreign policy" this country ever had. They started their political jockeying and as a result the representatives from the cotton country conveniently forgot about problems of the owners and

Great Plains Caprock Singers To Meet Here

The 18th annual session of the Great Plains Caprock Singers Association will meet, as in the past, in Stanton on June 12th and 13th.

Sessions will be held in the Cap Rock Electric building, located just outside the western edge of the city.

The building is air-conditioned and singers have expressed delight in being able to meet in the big auditorium.

The convention is "home coming" for the singers of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

Commitments have arrived from many of the leading quartets, soloists, and directors indicating they would be in attendance in Stanton when the meeting convenes.

J. Lawrence Deavers and Mike Anderson have advised the convention crowd that ample hotel space will be available in Stanton and good cafes are operating around the clock.

The Woman's Home Demonstration Club will cater the lunch Sunday at a nominal cost. This will make it possible for those wishing to remain in the building to continue throughout the day.

Some of the outstanding groups and personalities who will be in attendance to perform will be:

The Bailey Family Quartet, Loraine Quartet, Campbell Family, Bill Baker and the

Mrs. Hila (Stormy) Weathers Resigns State Hospital Post

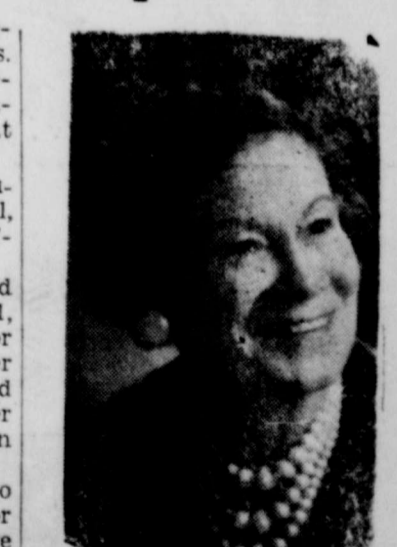

One of Stanton's most beloved former citizens, Mrs. (Stormy) Weathers, has resigned her place as coordinator of voluntary services at Big Spring State Hospital.

Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent of the Hospital, made the announcement effective June 1.

Mrs. Weathers has served in the position since Dec. 1, 1961. She was hospitalized for a time earlier this year after suffering a heart attack and is retiring from office on her doctor's request. Dr. Harrison said.

Mrs. Weathers plans to leave Texas on June 13 for Van Nuys, California, where she will make her home with a daughter.

Mrs. Weathers formerly lived in Stanton and served as manager of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce. She is widely known in West Texas. Many years ago her admirers and close friends nicknamed her "Stormy" due to the tremendous energy and vivacious personality. Her father, Ice Berg Reeves, was a

Marina Oswald Marries Two-Time Altar Loser

Marina Oswald, who was unsuspectingly drawn into one of the nation's greatest tragedies became the June bride of a man who rode into her life on a horse after he had marched to the altar twice previously with women who terminated his married status via divorce.

Marina, 23, wed Kenneth Jess Porter.

The couple was wed in a small justice of the peace office in the tiny community of Fate, Texas.

A Richardson neighbor, Mrs. Myral Clark, said she introduced Marina to Porter. Mrs. Clark was Porter's landlady following his second divorce. He is the father of two children by that marriage.

She said that she and Marina were sitting on the back porch of Mrs. Clark's home one day about two months ago "when Kenneth came riding up on his horse."

"They just sort of clicked," said Mrs. Clark.

American Legion Boys State Hits All-Time High Number

Seven hundred and fifty high school junior boys gathered in Austin on June 5 for the 1965 session of the American Legion Boys State, sponsored by the Legion's Department of Texas.

Another record breaking enrollment has flooded department headquarters as the previous record of 718 boys in 1964 was broken.

The 1965 Boys State will be in session from June 5 to June 12 on the campus of the University of Texas, Commander Emerich said.

The American Legion in 49 states will sponsor Boy States throughout the nation where boys who have just completed their junior year in high school will study the organization, operation, and political processes of state government. Youths from all parts of Texas will participate in the organization of political parties, campaigns, elections, and the enactment and enforcement of their own laws within a mythical 51st state.

"Boys State is one of the outstanding youth training programs of the Americanism Commission of The American Legion," Commander Emerich stated. "Not only do the youths learn more about the functions of government but also they see the importance of the role played by each good citizen in discharging his basic citizenship responsibilities. They soon discover how the quality of government is related directly to the active interest of each citizen."

On Friday, June 11, the citizens of Boys State will visit the State Capitol and actually sit in the chairs of the office to which they were elected and run the state government for a day.

A Governor's Ball will climax the week's activities at the Student Union on Friday night.

Bible Comment—

Faith, Good Works, Must Go Hand In Hand

In the Epistle of James, there is a profound plea for plain, honest, practical Christian living. There ought to really be a great deal more of it in the church and in all relationship of Christians with the world. We have had no right even in our thought, to separate faith and works. Faith is primary and basic, but faith and works go together, and until we relate faith to character and conduct we do not come to understand what Christian faith is.

James, like Paul, emphasizes that fact that God is the source of all goodness. From Him comes every good and perfect gift, and with Him there is no variableness or shadow of turning. His love and His grace are abiding, and every man who in faith accepts the obligations of the Christian life will find the power of God with him to help him.

Man cannot too strongly stress this concise definition of religion, found in the Epistle of James: "Pure religion and undefiled before our God and Father is this to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep oneself unspotted from the world."

It is this sort of religion which distinguished the early disciples. Paul believed in it just as much as James, but the world is still run largely on the basis of self-interest and not always "enlightened" self-interest.

True Christianity represents something deeper and brighter. It has produced humanitarian organizations and movements which lift mankind to motives of mutual aid. This, not self-interest, is the hope of the world's future.

Philosopher Tells Big City Mayors Not To Expect Too Much From New Sec. Of Cities

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw has some advice for big cities this week)

Dear editor:

As I understand it, the mayors of over 300 big cities in the United States are trying to get a new department set up in Washington with full cabinet standing to represent the metropolitan areas and their troubles.

It would be, I understand, a sort of Department of Cities, with a Secretary of Cities, similar to the Secretary of Agriculture.

The mayors argue that agriculture has had cabinet recognition for years, why not cities?

Well now there's nothing wrong with the argument, so long as the big city mayors understand the new department won't necessarily eliminate their problems.

What I mean is, take agriculture. Sure, we need a Department of Agriculture, don't know how we'd get along without one, but the city mayors ought to be reminded that in the 100 years we've had one the percentage of farmers has dropped from 70 percent of the population to 10 percent. Right now, the farmer and rancher's share of the national income is the lowest of any other group, outside maybe blacksmiths and lighting rod salesmen. And without a Department of Agriculture, no telling where we'd be today. Probably completely out of sight.

Therefore, I'd suggest to these big city mayors that they not go into this new program feeling that if they can just get a Secretary of Cities in the cabinet, their problems will end.

What I mean is, I've tried for years to get the Secretary of Agriculture to do something about the weeds on this Martin County grass farm, the run-down fences, the leaky roof, etc., but from the looks of things, we might as well not even have a Department of Agriculture. If the cities can get the Secretary of Cities to come in and patch their bumpy streets and leaky roofs and over-crowded schools, I hope they let me in on the secret.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Health And Safety Tips

From The American Medical Association

Summertime brings a return to the out-of-doors and its many games and sports.

Summertime also brings back the hot sunshine, high temperatures and cases of sunburn.

Vigorous out-of-doors physical activity in the hot summer months is fun for almost all of us, but it can also bring health problems.

In a pamphlet, "Tips on Training," the American Medical Association and the National Federation of State Athletic Associations offer some hot weather tips for athletes that also can be applied to that big majority of Americans who are only occasional weekend athletes.

Have a careful medical checkup prior to starting a program of vigorous activities, such as returning to the tennis court or the golf course for the first time after the winter hiatus.

Plan your more vigorous sports and games in the cooler hours of the day, mornings and early evenings.

Become acclimatized to the heat by graduated approach to exercise. Don't play too much or too long for the first few sessions in the heat.

Take frequent rest periods. Don't be ashamed to sit down on a bench and rest while awaiting your turn at the tee. Take 15 minutes for a rest break between sets of tennis.

Wear white clothing to reflect the heat, loose and comfortable to permit heat escape and permeable to moisture to allow heat loss via sweating.

Drink enough water to replace loss from sweating. Small, frequent drinks of water, perhaps half a glass, are better than gulping large quantities.

Watch yourself and the others in your party for signs of trouble. Don't try to be a "he man." If the heat begins to get you down, stop, rest and cool off.

Remember that the temperature and humidity are even more important than the sun. Heat exhaustion and heat stroke can occur in the shade on a hot, humid day.

The petition charges that the negro couple appeared before the school board in May and were told that there would be no positions available for them in the now consolidated system. Also filed is a letter from Clinton to the pair informing them formally of their dismissal.

"I have received no certification of such a suit and therefore cannot say anything else. I know only what I have read in the newspapers" the Stanton superintendent said. "They did come before the board, and we told them that we regretted that there were no positions available for them next year. We don't want trouble — we have tried to be fair and follow the law to the letter," Clinton said.

Barry, the Houston attorney, revealed that legal costs in the case would be supported by the National Association of Colored People, and apparently they intend to go all out with the case.

"We are not trying to say that negro teachers shouldn't be dismissed if they are not competent," Barry continued, "but the record shows that these two teachers are competent."

"If you consolidate the school, you should consolidate the faculty. This is being done in some parts of the state voluntarily, but in other places fear of community pressure prevents total integration."

The case comes under the long-debated Civil Rights Law passed recently and put into force by President Johnson.

Yeah man, the 1965 crop of reptiles are a gritty lot.

You've just been reading a lot about what a great group of lawmakers we had in Austin last session — that is to say, that's the way GOV. CONNALLY described them. Well, hold your hats again — here comes another blow! Insurance rates on cars are due to advance as much as fifteen per cent next year. That's going to make a lot of owners do without it. The legislature still have not found a legal way to help the safe car driver. The punk without a driver's license — the ones generally involved in the accidents — should be pulled out from under the steering wheel. Highway patrolmen could arrest 250 of these kind in Martin County alone in the morning. Insurance rates go up when accident's increase — when repair costs of the wrecked car go up — when hospital bills are padded. HUNTER McLEAN, and old friend of CONNALLY is chairman of the State Insurance Board. The average hike on car insurance premiums will be $15 per unit. More than $60 million will be paid into companies for insurance than is currently being paid. We feel like a uniform law on insurance rates is a must at the next session of the legislature. And it would help to get the illegal car operators off the streets and highways.

Job Corps Centers To Aid Youths

County Judge Jim McCoy has requested a press release from the newspaper concerning the Job Corps.

The Job Corps is mostly for young men and women who are out of school, cannot find a job. In a Job Corps center, these young people will receive basic education, job training, and the experience to develop good work habits, McCoy said.

Young men and women between the ages of 16 and 21 can apply. Young women will go to large cities where they will be trained to work in business offices, stores, hospitals, etc.

Young men will be based near rural areas, or on public lands, such as the National Park and Forests. At these centers craftsmen will learn carpentry and forestry work. They will also learn to read and write better. The young men who desire it will be placed in centers near cities to learn a trade.

Those interested in the program are invited to contact Judge McCoy. He will supply the full details, rate of pay, time of the courses, etc.

Braceros - - -

(Continued from page 1) of the people who wanted to help harvest the crops. They started off in space, looking for assignments in the international field. The boys back at the forks of the creek were forgotten and remain that way today.

Mexico misses the income the braceros brought home, but the Mexican politicians are doing nothing about the situation. Someday, the braceros, the people from the ranks, could change the politicians' minds for them in a hurry.

Braceros miss the money. By the thousands they swarm to what used to be hiring centers in their own country. The Mexican government has told the braceros they should stop gathering at the centers. Workers, after long habit, paid no heed and continued to congregate and trade rumors about what Wirtz or Congress was supposed to have said or done.

In the Cuidadela area of Mexico City, sometimes as many as 3,000 braceros would hang around all day, badgering Mexican officials, thinking that the Mexican government was somehow responsible for their plight. The men were in a surly mood.

Residents of the area started complaining that the men (braceros) were a menace, a potential mob. So Mexican officials sent in riot squads to clear the plaza with billy clubs and tear gas.

Braceros, thoroughly unfamiliar with the niceties of international relationships and laws and economics, found themselves being hauled off to Mexican jails by their own police merely (they thought because they wanted work).

To the hungry braceros, the difference in Public Law 78 and Public Law 414 is meaningless. All they want to do is cross the border, pick crops and come home with dollars in their pockets.

Tips On Emergency Treatment For Rattler Bites Released

The appearance of rattlesnakes in the city limits of Stanton and the reports of two recent snake bites and the death in the area of a small boy bitten by a rattler, is evidence enough that deadly reptiles are on the move.

J. Weldon Watson, executive director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, Austin, has issued a seasonal warning, recommending prompt attention to snake bite victims.

"The patient must not exert himself by running, because increased circulation brought on by such physical activity will speed up absorption of the poison. For the same reason, the use of whiskey or other stimulants should be avoided.

"The victim's state of mind is important; he must promptly be convinced that his chances for recovery good — and indeed they are. He should not be terrified by the thought that every snake bite means certain death. Actually, a survey of case histories shows that with prompt and proper treatment only about one or two per cent of all snake bites in this country are fatal.

"There is a considerable difference of opinion about the correct first aid treatment for poisonous snake bite. The most effective method of such treatment is immobilization of the bitten limb, application of a constricting band, and prompt incision and suction."

The constricting band needs to be applied from two to four inches above the bite, between the wound and the heart. This will help to limit the spread of the venom until it can be removed by incision and suction or neutralized by anti-venom.

A piece of rubber tubing or a strap tourniquet included with every snake bite kit, is best for this purpose. When these are not available, articles of clothing may be used. A shoe lace, strip of clothing torn from a shirt, or trousers will do.

Do not restrict the wound so tight it will keep the deeper blood circulation from functioning. A band should be loose enough to allow a finger to go under at all times. Remember that during first aid treatment the constricting band MUST be loosened every 15 minutes for about two minutes. This precaution may prevent gangrene.

If the bite is on the hand or forearm, take off rings, bracelets or other jewelry because subsequent swelling may make their removal difficult.

Make incisions after the cutting instrument has been sterilized by iodine or alcohol. If no antiseptic is available, the instrument may be heated. Make one cut over each fang mark, parallel with the long axis of the bitten limb, not across it. Incisions should be one-quarter inch deep, but definitely no longer than the diameter of the suction cup being used. This would allow air to enter the suction bulb form the outside and void the operation of the apparatus.

Government spending for highway, air and water transportation will amount to a record — breaking $16.2 billion this year. This spending will push total outlays for such transportation facilities by federal, state and local governments in all years of record to $243 billion, a study by the Association of American Railroads reveals.

Baptists OK '66 Budget Of $21,800,000

Messengers to the Southern Baptist Convention approved with minor opposition a record 1966 budget of $21,800,000 in Dallas.

Most of the budget — $19,016,000 — is allocated to operating the convention's 20 agencies. The new budget represents an increase of $1,465,000 over last year.

Largest chunk of the 1966 budget will go to the denomination's foreign missions program which will receive $10,000,000, a boost of $700,000 over 1965.

Dr. Porter Routh of Nashville, Tenn., in explaining the outlay, said the home missions board also received an increase of $355,650 which resulted in a $3,203,000 budget.

Both the foreign and home mission programs are receiving additional attention next year in an effort to place more missionaries in the field, he said.

For the first time in its history, the SBC last year spent 52.27 per cent of its cooperating program gifts on foreign missions. Dr. Routh said this was the largest such expenditure in this area.

The brief dissension over the budget came when critics of the Christian Life Commission, the controversial "social arm" of the SBC, moved to strike out a proposed increase of $18,500 in its outlay.

The motion failed, thus paving the way for the approval of the entire budget and the Christian Life Commission's $90,000 allocation.

Warden Deadline June 18

The deadline for receiving applications for the position of Texas Game Warden is 5 p.m., June 18, 1965, according to J. Weldon Watson, executive director, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

An applicant must be in good physical condition; a high school graduate; citizen of the United States and a resident of the State of Texas for at least one year prior to the date of appointment.

Applicants must be between 21 and 40 years of age inclusive (as of March 1, 1966), be at least 5 feet 8 inches tall, without shoes, and must weigh at least two but not more than three pounds for each inch of height.

The appropriation bill as passed by the 59th Legislature provides a salary increase which would put beginning game wardens on a competitive basis with beginning law enforcement personnel of other agencies. Said Watson, "This progressive move should encourage more young men to seek a career in wildlife conservation."

Requests for applications may be sent to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78701.

Outdoor Look Is Popular This Summer

The outdoor look is "in" this summer, and women's fashions are capitalizing on many aspects of this trend. Young and active looks are found in every sportswear category, says Lynn Parks, Texas A&M University extension consumer education specialist.

"You may be a surf-rider, but you'll find the nation's newest beach sport is an important influence in swim wear designs. The surfing look is reflected in many tailored two-piece suits," Miss Parks says.

These suits feature such surfer design notes as flap pockets, lace-up ties at the waist, and boy-leg trunks banded with white fabric trim. Suits come in sturdy cotton denim, madras plaid, and duck.

Because real surfers like their suits to look faded, one new swim wear fabric is an all-cotton twill with a special weather-faded look.

Another popular trend in sportswear is the nautical look. Both sailors and non-sailors will take to one trim-fitting sports outfit — bellbottomed pants and blazer jacket in cotton sailcloth.

For riding the range — on horseback or on the seat of a bicycle — there's the ranching look. It's interpreted in cotton stretch wrangler pants and Western — tailored shirts. And, whether you're a golfer or not, you'll like the casual comfort of stylish new golfing culottes, worn with cotton knit T-shirts.

When we watch TV and see the Nomadic tribes wandering around, most of us feel that this is a pretty rustic way of life. We often forget all those "For Sale" signs we see in our neighborhood. Americans move around nowadays. Selling your home is a very important tax transaction. Keeping good records on your investment in your home keeps you from paying tax dollars that you do not owe. It is a pretty good system to set up a folder to keep all your home investment papers together just in case your company sends you to

MRS. RALPH CAFFEY, Librarian

New library hours: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday 1 - 5 p.m., Saturday 9 - 1 p.m.

The Midland County Library was kind enough to give us 123 books that had been donated to them. They already had sufficient copies on the shelf of these books. We always appreciate any books given, reserving the right to return them to the giver or dispose of them if they are not needed on our shelves. Any library has that right and so states to any person who offers books. It stands to reason that in a small library we do not need over two copies of just any book, unless it is a classic or on the required reading list of the students.

The books we are offering for sale do not come in that category, however. They are books that I cannot personally repair; to send them to be repaired would cost more than buying a new copy. Many are not of the highest caliber and cannot be replaced, because better books have been written. The classics that are offered for sale are replaceable and most of them have been or will be when these books are sold.

The library always is happy to receive new books and will always need the help of the public to acquire all the books needed, but we do try to use some standards to have the best possible reading matter for our patrons.

Many questions have been asked about the Story Hour, which the library will offer this summer. That will not begin until July 7. The time for the 4, 5, and 6 years olds will be from 2 - 2:30 p.m. and the first and second graders of the past year will have

Time To Act

President Johnson has asked Congress to repeal federal excise taxes, including the World War II "nuisance taxes" levied at retail on cosmetics, luggage, jewelry, and numerous other articles in general public use.

The House has passed this measure, and the Senate should move with due speed to put the changes into effect.

There are some indications, here and there around the country, that buyers are delaying purchases of some products until they are assured of saving the amount of the taxes.

Unless Congress acts speedily, consumer reaction to the delay could lead to at least a threat of a slowdown in retail sales, thus undermining the nation's economy.

The federal excise levies produce some $5 billion a year for the U. S. Treasury. Reductions proposed this year amount to $1.75 billion, with more to follow next January 1 and each year for several years.

All of the "nuisance levies" made at retail, which are responsible for $550 million of revenue, should be removed from the books. This action is long overdue. These were purely war emergency measures and should be ended with that conflict.

These levies, imposing a burden on consumers and retailers alike, restrain sales and therefore have an unhealthy effect upon the economy. The government's proper concern for needed revenue should lie in the area of growth of production and sales, not in levies that restrict sales.

Passage of a constructive excise tax bill should take only a minimum of time and debate. Almost everyone favors it, in and out of Congress. They is no need or reason for undue delay.

West Texas Boys Ranch Holds Annual Board Meeting

The West Texas Boys Ranch held its annual board meeting on May 29th at the ranch located 17 miles west of San Angelo. During the annual meeting officers and directors were installed. They are: president, Claude Collins, Jr., San Angelo; first vice-president, Joseph V. Anderson, Stuckey, Sonora; second vice-president, Dan Gibson, Snyder; secretary, Dennis Q. Lilly, Brownfield, and treasurer, Harvey Hartgrove, San Angelo.

The executive committee is composed of the officers of the board and four board members: Pat Bunnell, San Angelo; Ralph Logan, San Angelo; Jack Canning, Eden, and Stanley Frank, San Angelo. New directors installed on the 29th are: Joe Moss, Big Spring; John Cargile and Stanley Frank, San Angelo; Tommy Iverson, Snyder; Giles Dalby, Toby Foster, and Lee F. York, Lubbock; Bill Hutcheson, Midland; Gene West, Marfa, and Judge Steve Preslar and Judge Alan Fraser, El Paso.

Directors currently on the board serving unexpired terms are W. T. Meriwether, Jim Langdon, Austin; Eli Alpine; Ken Spencer, Crane; Long, Monahans; Pierce Hoggett, Junction; Charlie Trigg, Eldorado; Fred Hall, Eden; Charles Lawrence, Seminole; O. D. Finegan, Del Rio; J. P. "Bum" Gibbins, Midland; Charles Nunn and Dr. R. L. Price, Sweetwater; H. D. Winters, Brady; Mrs. R. T. Waddell and Ted Dawson, Odessa; Dr. W. E. Thurman, Pat Bunnell, Dr. Gus Eckhardt, Dr. James Hooker, all of San Angelo.

Life members of the board of directors are: Fred Lindall, San Antonio; Carl Runge, San Angelo; H. B. Rees, Big Lake; Clayton Puckett, Fort Stockton, and Roy Minear of Midland.

A review of the 1964-65 program was presented. In the fiscal year of May 1964 - May 1965 the ranch received over 174 applications and were able to accept only 27. The ranch was able to make some outstanding property improvements during the year. A new vocational building was completed, Sunday School rooms were added to the all faiths chapel and a modern water system was installed. The ranch was also able to build a new sprinkling system. The ranch raises a good portion of its own food and runs a limited number of cattle, sheep and goats. Currently the boys are raising rabbits. Morris H. Craig, executive director, pointed out that last year the ranch was able to produce 7 to 8 per cent of its own food budget. This includes the deer that the boys shoot each year on their annual hunt.

In the 1965-66 fiscal year the directors approved an annual rodeo which will be held this year on July 3rd at the ranch, an annual blind bogey golf tournament and several other special events. The ranch will begin a new swine program, giving the boy additional responsibility. Special emphasis will be placed on advancing the vocational training program. The ranch has a modern vocational building where the boys learn woodwork, leatherwork, painting, and furniture repair. A report was given showing that the boys credit union and their store, which is owned and operated by the boys, made a profit in the past year.

The directors are undertaking a project to present programs to the various civic clubs throughout the 60-county area. This will be handled through the district chairmen in the eight districts.

West Texas Boys Ranch has grown from a one-boy institution to its present population of 64 boys in residence and 25 in placement away from the ranch. The ranch has a national average of 8 out of 10 boys making excellent or good adjustments. Recently, one of the ranch boys who attends San Angelo College was elected "Mr. San Angelo College," one of the highest honors at the college.

The ranch serves dependent, neglected and homeless and pre-delinquent boys of the 60-county West Texas area. It depends solely on free-will donations and contributions for its income.

The ranch is hopeful that within the next couple of years they will be able to add another dormitory to take care of more boys.

Boom!

A Kentucky judge, skeptical of the testimony of a scientific expert, recalled a story he had once heard from a lecturer: "Take the bumblebee. Apply to him the recognized aerodynamic tests. From the size, shape, and weight of his body, in relation to total wing area, he cannot possibly fly. But the bumblebee does not know this, and he goes ahead and flies anyway."

The story sheds light on a new legal troublemaker, the sonic boom. Experts, applying the recognized aerodynamic tests, predicted that the boom could not possibly cause extensive damage. But windows, not knowing this, went ahead and broke anyway. As supersonic flights multiplied, so did complaints about cracked plaster and shattered brick-a-brac. Rightly or wrongly, the boom was blamed for making a dog neurotic and a man arthritic, for rupturing a swimming pool and spilling a toilet bowl.

All this commotion raised some novel points of law that are still not settled. For example: When is it negligent for a pilot to break the sound barrier? Can you collect insurance for sonic boom damage if your policy protects you against "explosions"? Luckily for most claimants, the United States Air Force stands ready to pay for the damage it causes — without quibbling about such technicalities. Air Force bases have set up regular procedures for handling claims.

However, the Air Force has no desire — indeed, no right — to pay for damage it does not cause. This is no easy road to government money. Every claim is meticulously investigated by a team of specialists before it is paid.

No doubt the problem will get worse when civilian airlines switch to supersonic jets. As an Air Force claims official put it to a group of insurance men: "You ain't seen nothin' yet."

It's Okra Time For The South

Fresh, tender okra — fried, boiled, or cooked in a gumbo—is one of the joys of June living in many households of the Southland.

"Gumbo," as okra often is fondly called, is the kind of food you have to learn to enjoy. But once you acquire a taste for it, no spring season is complete without having it often, okra enthusiasts say. And the number of okra enthusiasts is increasing, not only in the South but throughout the nation. That trend has stimulated demand for frozen okra and, also, a request from commercial producers that the Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service establish grade standards for okra that will be processed. The proposed standards would encourage growers to deliver high-quality okra to processing plants.

Total amount of okra produced each year is difficult to determine because so much of it comes from local gardens. But USDA estimates production for processing at 20,000 tons, in the commercial fields of Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, Tennessee, Georgia and Florida, the leading okra states.

Right now, though, it's time to enjoy fresh okra. C&MS says okra is one of the most fresh vegetables on the June list of plentiful foods.

A Calendar Of Fact And Opinion

Testifying before the Senate Finance Committee on the medicare proposal, Dr. Donovan F. Ward, president of the American Medical Association, said: "The American system of medicine for generations has been a system of quality medicine practiced through a voluntary relationship between patients and physicians, with doctors free to make decisions based on the patients' specific needs and nothing else. Forget for a moment the staggering, through unpredictable, cost of the pending program. Ignore the administrative problems that it would create, and the burden it means for wage earners at the low end of the income scale. Look only at the intrusion of government in the field of medicine, which cannot be avoided if this measure is adopted. With the quantity of care thus restricted for the sake of controlling costs, the quality must deteriorate. The patient is the ultimate sufferer."

According to the head of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) nuclear energy now supplies one fifth of one per cent of the free world energy market; in 1971 its share will probably be about 1 per cent. Hydroelectric now supplies about 7 per cent; its share should be about the same in 1971. Coal now supplies 26 per cent; by 1971 its share will probably fall below 25 per cent. Oil and gas supply 63 per cent today; by 1971 this is expected to rise to 67 per cent.

By NEAL ESTES

We still have plenty of politics in the country. And speaking of politics and politicians here is a refreshing story. Some years ago, in another part of Texas, a candidate was running for public office and he closed his remarks to the gathered crowd with these words: "My grandfather was a politician—my father was a politician—and I want to be a politician." A listener shouted: "Didn't anyone in your family have any ambition at all?" Which brings us down to cases. We need more qualified statesmen in public offices—we have too many one-track, one-mind, politicians in important posts now. Witness the confusion present in the recently adjourned session of the legislature.

THANKS to the CURTIS FLANAGANS for the loan of a magazine we have some interesting and authentic information to pass along to the "Stanton Sidewalk Senate" concerning the facts about the rattlesnake. We found the boys discussing some of the habits of the deadly reptile a few days ago and promised to dig up some authentic data on the rattler. We must also necessarily debunk some of the tall tales about the poison peddling reptile. The rattler is timid and retiring and it does not have the brain capacity for cunning. The rattler does not particularly like the heat. The snake does not strike with lightning speed and the number of rattles cannot be considered a true guide to age. When the temperature borders around 70 to 80 degrees is time to really watch out for snakes. They don't like searing heat but they also stay away from colder places. Rattlesnakes have good eyesight at short distances. They depend on ground vibration at great distances. They have no hearing at all. They like to travel at night. A rattler can smell by flicking its tongue — the tongue picking up tiny particles in the air. The rattlesnake's rattle actually warns. When a rattlesnake meets a man its first reaction is to lie still and try and escape attention. They say it may actually start crawling toward safety. Usually, though not always, a rattlesnake will rattle before striking. The bigger the snake the greater dose of poison it administers. Snakebites greatest danger is hysteria. Immediate attention diminishes the chance of death from a rattler's strike. Adults can get over a bite easier than a child. The old legend about venom lingering in old boots, automobile tires, etc. is for the birds. If a snake strikes he does not leave his fangs in the tire or the boot. The best thing to do when encountering a snake bite is to keep as calm as possible and get to a doctor as soon as possible.

IN a spirit of community cooperation and without any malicious intent I feel that something needs to be done immediately about the early infestation of mosquitos in the town. It is obvious that Stanton can't endure the sneak attacks of the malaria carrying insect this summer. Something must be done! If your country editor is invited, he will operate the spraying machine without pay a few hours nightly to rid the town of the big and biting bugs. I was seated in my back yard the other night smoking a cigar so strong the smoke should have wilted the wings of the flying insects but it didn't. One swooped in low—lined my neck up an insect radar—then bingo—a direct strike. If it had been in daylight I swear that mosquito must have had a wing spread so wide it could have carried a sky sign reading: "HHH for President in 1972." Talk about your poverty programs—a little money spent on public health, instead of so much welfare could do a job here in Stanton, Texas —A. D. 1965.

LBJ has said personally he was a man of "no labels." His sweeping victory last November apparently integrated the people under one party—or "The Great Society." Therefore, in the light of common sense, and according to the judgment of JOHNSON, who quotes the Book of Isaiah frequently — we in his thinking, are one. Therefore, a candidate can claim a violation of his civil rights if an opponent tags him with a label. Under the true definition of JOHNSONISM there are no liberals—no conservatives — no democrats and no republicans. We are all working and toiling together in a great brotherhood. Therefore, by the President's own statements any man running for representative or any other office is within his constitutional rights when he "just runs—and without labels." And we hope the best man always gets the most votes. Now what could be fairer than that?

SHELLEY BASSHAM was in the office the other day to pick up a back copy of the paper. He visited with us sometime and we asked him numerous questions about the farm outlook for the county this year. BASSHAM is a quiet man, owns a lot of good judgment, and knows almost every acre of farm land, both dryland and irrigated, in Martin County. During his many years of experience with STANTON IMPLEMENT COMPANY, 1210 St. Francis, SK 6-3397, he has had a part in servicing the needs of the farmers and ranchers of this county. SHELLEY was cautious in his crop prediction and not pessimistic by any means. I'll bank on his judgment. In addition to being a good fellow, he is also a deluxe fisherman.

Iwant to pause to pass credit to a very capable employe of the paper this week. We refer to M. O. (MAC) McKAY, who serves as just about everything in the mechanical department and recently added photography to his ambitions. The photo of the editor appearing on page one this week was made by MAC. As a matter-of-fact, it was his idea. He used his personal camera purchased from STANTON WALGREEN and we wish to point out that the camera is still working after recording the image of yours truly, Ain't that cool?

NEAL'S NUGGET: Sometimes when one works hard at trying to be a good guy he winds up being classified as a dam chump by those he has tried to accommodate.

Stanton Couple Married In Double Ring Ceremony

Mrs. Jimmy Don Barnhill

Mary Elizabeth Wilson of Stanton became the bride of Jimmy Don Barnhill, also of Stanton, in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. W. H. Uhlman at 7 p.m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church. The bride, a 1965 graduate of Stanton High School, plans to attend Commercial College of Midland this fall. She has been a Gold Star winner in 4-H Club competition and at SHS was a member of the Future Homemakers of America, president of the National Honor Society and member of the band, annual staff and pep squad. She also was salutatorian of her graduating class. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Albert Wilson Jr.

The bridegroom, a 1963 graduate of SHS, was a member of the Future Farmers of America and drum major of the band in 1963. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Barnhill. The bride wore a white satin floor-length gown which she designed and made herself. The bodice was veiled with Chantilly lace traced with seed pearls and sequins and had a portrait neckline and long tapering sleeves. Side pleats gave fullness to the skirt accented with the same lace motifs traced with seed pearls and sequins.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Mrs. Abe Lane of Amarillo, cousin of the bride, and the matron of honor, Judy Barnhill, sister of the bridegroom, and Linda Manning, cousin of the bride, were the bridesmaids. They were gowned in pink silk dresses with street-length bell-shaped skirts. They also had small pink hats and they carried white lace fans trimmed in pink and topped with pink carnations. Serving as best man was the father of the bridegroom. The brothers of the bride, Bill and Bob Wilson, were the candlelighters, and Don Williams and Butch Blocker, cousin of the bridegroom, were the ushers. The groomsmen were Smitty Smith and Ray Louder. Judy Cook, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl, and Wade Blocker, cousin of the bridegroom, served as ring bearer. Decorating the church were candelabra and baskets of white gladioli. The wedding music was furnished by the organist, Amelia Ann Luna of Mount Pleasant, cousin of the bride, and the soloist, Mrs. Kenneth Campbell of Abilene, cousin of the bridegroom. Jackie Cook, Ann Cook and Sheila Manning of Stanton and Vickie Cook of Littlefield, all cousins of the bride, were in the house party for the reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The guests were registered by Paula Cook of Andrews, also a cousin of the bride. After the reception, the couple left on a wedding trip to Colorado. They will be at home at 901 S. Peter Street, Stanton.

Janis Morrison will return this weekend to Lubbock, where she will attend the summer session at Lubbock Christian College.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says: "A national police force is a tool of tyranny. I abhor the implications of the term, and I refuse to let the FBI be forced into practices which smack of police state actions, regardless of the circumstances. . . . Some individuals, in their efforts to secure the fundamental guarantees of the Constitution for all citizens, have criticized this Bureau for not exceeding its authority and for not assuming responsibilities belonging to local and state police. The FBI fully appreciates the grave responsibility inherent in the investigation of alleged violations of Federal civil rights statutes. As I have stated many times, we are meeting these obligations without apology. Our role, however, is that of an investigator — not an accuser prosecutor, jury, or judge."
