VAR'ETY Santa Claus Slates Stanton Visit

By NEAL ESTES

The ALPINE BUCKS were eliminated from the state schoolboy football championship chase Friday night in San Angelo when the FRED-RICKSBURG BILLIES downed them 37-0. DENVER CITY also lost to IOWA PARK by a 20-7 count. The BILLIES will meet IOWA PARK this Friday in quarter-final action.

We read recently where an East Texas attorney who helped draft the new criminal code of procedure for Texas said that the code was in "line with recent Supreme Court decisions." I'd like to remind the lawyer that many of those decisions are not in line with the best interest of America in the estimation of many of us. The attorney has grown rich defending those who operated outside the law, including some of the slant-oil tycoons and he had to do it — conduct the defense — the hard way. With the code definitely "slanted" to protect the underworld element, his job will be much easier in the courthouse. BILLY GRAM just about nailed the thing down in a sermon in Houston last week when he said there was an organized effort in this nation to undermine justice by making police officers look like clowns.

Many out-of-town firms are making pitches to try and lure business from Stanton to their cities. We can only suggest to our subscribers and readers to at least give the local taxpaying merchants an opportunity to show you their values before chasing off to buy something. Consider who supports this community with taxes year in and year out. Consider who makes the heart of the city beat in Stanton and in other Martin County communities. Shop at home if you can find the items you seek here and nine times out of ten you can.

Word has just reached us that MIKE ANDERSON is in the hospital again. MIKE is one of our favorite persons and he has many friends who wish for him a complete recovery. Men of MIKE'S cut are few and far between. I respect him a great deal.

B. F. and PHILIP WHITE have purchased the Ford Agency in Lamesa and PHILIP is already actively in charge of the new property. The WHITE brothers are recognized by officials in the FORD dealership family as being very successful agency owners. We congratulate the brothers on their expansion. B. F. will, of course, continue to look after the interests of the motor company in Stanton. By the way B. F. was named a director of the local hospital the other day to succeed the late DR. BONE of Midland. He is also currently serving as a director in the MARTIN COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE. Both of the WHITE brothers have been prominently identified with Baptist Church activities in Martin County for years. We want to add that both of their wives are wonderful women and we all know that there is a fine woman behind every successful man.

My good friend G. TUNNELL brought in a copy of the RECORD-COURIER, published at Johnson City, Texas, Blanco County. That's LYNDON JOHNSON country and MR. TUNNELL also claims it as his old hometown. He has many relatives and friends down there now and frequently visits in that area. The copy of the paper MR. G. brought by my desk carried a page one photo of the President and the newly appointed Postmaster General, LARRY O'BRIEN. (Continued on page 4)

First Frost Finally Arrives In Martin

The first frost finally arrived in Martin County.

Sunday night brought the temperature down to a 25-degree reading. The mercury did not show that much around 8 a.m. but it was recorded between midnight and daylight.

The first frost in November was late in arriving. This November came close to matching that of 1949, when no frost at all occurred. Local farmers say the freeze of Sunday night, coupled with the one Monday night should defoliate most of the county's cotton fields. The full impact of the freeze will be determined later in the week.

The freeze was sharp enough to kill vegetation and tomato plants and late blooming flower plants were ruined.

Cotton producers will now be able to get in the fields with stippers. Up to the first, the planters had been kept out due to the heavy foliage and because there were so many unopened bolls. The cold weather took care of the leaves, causing them to fall and burst the bolls.

In a few days the cotton harvest should be in full swing in Martin County. Generally lower temperatures have been forecast.

Favorable Weather Aids Cotton Harvesting In Area

Farmers in the area took advantage of favorable weather last week and got a lot of cotton in bagging and ties.

Harvesting on Jones County and the counties south of Abilene remained at its peak, but should drop off sharply in the next few days. Harvesting in the Roscoe, Rotan and other more western areas picked up considerably, but ginners are still looking for the "big rush" after a killing frost.

The Cotton Classing Office, a division of the Consumer and Marketing Service, reported its busiest week so far this season. The 37,000 samples classed pushed the season total above the 180,000 mark.

B. E. Manly, Jr., in-charge of the USDA Office said the quality of samples was unusually good considering the rains, fogs, and dews of the past weeks.

Grades of last week's receipts held steady, while a little drop was noted in staple lengths, micronaire and pressley readings. Manly said the most significant change was in the number of samples containing bark. The percent of "barky" samples ranged from one percent in the San Angelo area to 5 per-

West Texas Chamber Wants Ag. Labor Committee Named

The Executive Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has recommended to Texas Governor John Connally the appointment of a special Agricultural Labor Advisory Committee to help deal with pressing agricultural problems in Texas.

WTCC President Beeman Fisher announced Tuesday.

Fisher said the recommendation from the top leadership of the West Texas Chamber came after careful study and research. Purpose of the committee would be to make recommendations to the governor, and state agencies which the governor might designate, on all matters dealing with Texas agricultural labor needs.

Fisher said this committee should be authorized to call on existing state agencies for research data, information, and statistics to aid in making its recommendations.

Fisher said the proposed committee would keep the governor advised of agricultural labor conditions in Texas; inform the governor of agriculture's labor needs; advise Texas and its possible effect on Texas agriculture; and prepare recommendations for the governor regarding state agricultural labor legislation.

In order to be responsive and effective, Fisher said, the proposed committee should include representatives from the sheep and goat raisers group, cattle raisers, cotton producers, vegetable producers, citrus growers, poultry producers, and dairy producers.

The WTCC president urged also that in making appointments to the committee consideration be given to the various geographic labor - using areas of the state in order to

Time Growing Short For Christmas Mailing

The time is growing short to send Christmas parcels and cards to members of the Armed Forces overseas.

Only the period recommended by the Post Office Department for sending parcels and cards by air mail remains in the future. This period is Dec. 1 to 10. The time for sending such items by land means (Oct. 21 to Nov. 10) is past.

Cards as well as parcels should be mailed within the period recommended if they are to have a reasonable expectation of delivery before Christmas, according to Lubbock Postmaster Ernest Ohnemus.

Packing Important
 Parcels should be packed in boxes made of wood, metal, solid fiberboard or strong double-faced corrugated fiberboard.

All fiberboard boxes should be wrapped securely in heavy paper which materially strengthens the package, and should be tied with strong cord. Sufficient cushioning material should be used to prevent any rattling or loosening of articles within the packages. Unless they are tightly filled, boxes are likely to be crushed.

A list of contents should be enclosed in the parcel. All parcels should be addressed clearly, accurately and completely, and a complete, clear return address should be used. Customs declarations are required on parcels going to some destinations overseas.

A spare address and return address label should be enclosed with the list of contents for use of the post office in the event the address on the outside should become lost or mutilated.

Use Return Address
 Cards also should be addressed clearly, completely and accurately, and a complete return address should be used.

In addition to the usual list of items which normally are prohibited to be sent through the mail, there are a number of specially prohibited articles which cannot be sent to overseas military addresses. Some of these prohibitions apply only to certain destinations.

All APO numbers have been changed to five digits which are identical to the ZIP Code.

Airmail articles not weighing in excess of 8 ounces may be sent at the weight of 8 cents per ounce. Those weighing over eight ounces are carried at the rate of 88 cents for the first pound and 80 cents for each additional pound or fraction of a pound. Domestic rates apply and all postage must be fully prepaid.

Temple Doctor To Try Life In A New Country

A lot of people would like to try the kind of life a Temple doctor has planned for his family. Here is his story and to keep it in perspective, some background information on Dr. Varley F. Young should be noted right off.

Since he left his farm home near the little Coryell County town of Jonesboro he has earned a doctor of veterinary medicine degree at Texas A&M University and a master of science degree at Northwestern State College in Louisiana.

As a microbiologist specialist, certified by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists, he is employed at Temple's Scott & White Clinic, and his income is more than $15,000 a year.

And because he is fed up with the Great Society, he is swapping it and his career and his native land for a 294-acre farm in a remote river valley in the Canadian Rockies.

Dr. Young, who is 39 years old this month, says quietly but firmly, "I'm going back into an area where the filthy fingers of the politicians can't reach as yet with their regulation-laden gifts. I pray that it is far enough back that it will remain thus for the rest of my life — and through the lives of my children and their children."

Dr. Young will not lead the cloistered, white-jacketed life of a laboratory expert in his new home. He and his wife and two sons, 15 and 14, expect to raise some cattle, grow most of their own food, and hunt and fish.

"Our land is beautiful river-bottom land along the Fraser River in British Columbia, protected on both sides by mountain ranges. It'll grow almost anything. It's an almost unexplored wilderness where he who works not, eats not, and he who contributes not, gets not. Where the misfit is kicked out. Where the hardships are many but can be overcome by industry. Where the dangers are legion but a man has the right to defend himself against any and all of them," he declares.

Bible Comment—

Have Faith As A Grain Of Mustard Seed And Nothing Shall Be Impossible Unto You

Perhaps the most distinctive, and at the same time the most puzzling thing that Jesus said about faith is in the words recorded in Matthew: "If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say to the mountain, remove hence to yonder place; and nothing shall be impossible unto you."

These words offer no puzzle for us today, when we see such things actually being accomplished.

Hills that have stood for centuries are daily leveled by high power equipment of puny man's devising.

This is an interpretation of the words of Jesus that we could easily make today of the greater works that were yet to be accomplished. Perhaps it is the interpretation that Jesus intended.

What did the words mean to these disciples to whom they were spoken, and what did Jesus intend them to mean?

Jesus was about to give to the disciples a seemingly impossible task. He was sending them out to preach the Gospel to every creature, to make disciples of all nations.

What a vast mountainous task that must have seemed to those few unknown men as they faced the world with its materialism, its power and paganism.

Perhaps it was those very words of Jesus that they must have recalled as they faced that mountain-moving task.

And with what amazing results the power of faith was vindicated, both in the Roman Empire and the whole world have known.

It is that sort of faith that we need today.

Philosopher Not Very Interested In New Book On How Much He Ought To Sleep

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw discusses sleep this week, a topic he knows quite a lot about.)

Dear editor:

Right after my nap yesterday afternoon I pulled out a newspaper which I had found that morning on the road near this Martin County grass farm and which I picked up to do my part to help keep America beautiful. It's not that I think a newspaper blowing in the wind is so much worse than leaves doing the same thing, but you can't get around prejudice. A leaf - strewn lawn is one thing, but a Reporter - strewn lawn would be another thing.

At any rate, after I had collected my senses from the nap I looked it over and ran into an article on sleep by a man in England who was described as the "world's foremost authority on sleep," and has written a book on it.

While I don't know how a man gets to be the top authority on sleep, at least I've never found sleeping something you had to study for, any one - day - old - baby can do it, I've been doing it for years, still what interested me about the article was his contention that people, if they try hard enough, can get by a lot less than the customary eight hours a night. In fact, he said the eight - hour system is a carry - over from cave - man days when man didn't have any light and slept from sundown to dawn, it down to six hours and eventually to six hours and eventually to four hours.

Well now I'll tell you, I believe that's one field where we don't need any outside advice or control. We just don't need any sleep quotas.

Maybe some people need to be told how much or how little to sleep, but I've always gotten along on my own. If a man doesn't know when he's sleepy, and when he's through sleeping, or when he's hungry and when he's not, or when to sit down when he's tired and when to get up when he's rested, or when it's time to get a drink of water, I doubt if he can find much help in a book of directions. I sleep till I wake up, then stay awake till I go to sleep. Don't see how anybody can improve on that system. Yours faithfully, J. A.

Social Security Column

Another of the changes in Social Security made by the 1965 Amendments is the one that eliminates remarriage as a basis for ending widows' benefit check in some situations, according to Erven Fisher, manager of the Big Spring Social Security District.

Any widow who was receiving social security benefits based on her deceased husband's social security record, and saw them ended due to her remarriage, should get in touch with the social security office at once.

The 1965 provisions will let her receive either one - half of her former husband's basic amount, or one-half of her present husband's retirement amount (slightly reduced if she is between 62 and 65), whichever is the higher, Fisher went on.

For example, Mrs. A. began to receive $82.50 per month at age 62, based on Mr. A's social security record. At age 64 she married a man who was not entitled to social security benefits at that time, so her checks were stopped.

Fisher says that she may now begin to receive $50.00 per month on her former husband's record. Later, if her present husband becomes entitled to retirement benefits or more than $100.00 per month, her checks can be raised to one-half of his.

Anyone who feels that this change applies to her, should get in touch with her Big Spring Social Security Office promptly. The office is located at 1099 Gregg Street. The insure adequate representation in relation to the different regions' labor requirements.

The recommendation from the WTCC Executive Committee to Governor Connally is the result of three months of research and study, beginning August 26 when the Agriculture Committee of the West Texas Chamber met in Abilene to discuss farm and ranch labor problems and other agricultural problems in the chamber's 132 - county area. A subcommittee was appointed at this time to research the agricultural labor situation and develop recommendations to the WTCC Board of Directors. Those who served on this committee were Bob Browder, Texas Electric Service Company; Ernest Duke, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association; Marcy Orman, Forth Worth and Denver Railroad; Dexter Little, Holly Sugar Corp.; G. K. McDonald, farmer and signer, and Donald G. Smith, Texas Independent Ginners Association.

The subcommittee worked with a number of other groups interested in the farm labor situation in Texas and determined that significant agricultural labor problems exist in all geographic regions and commodity areas of Texas agriculture. Problems exist both in the area of the seasonal worker and the fulltime agricultural employee, the subcommittee determined.

Other states having similar problems have developed committee structures that function as advisory bodies to their governors. States now having Farm Labor Advisory Committees include Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Vermont, Washington, and Wyoming.

The subcommittee and the Agriculture Committee of the WTCC will make further recommendations to the West Texas Chamber Board of Directors at the quarterly meeting of the board in El Paso in mid - January. W. H. (Bill) Lance of Perryton is chairman of the agriculture committee.

set rules as to how much bark a sample must contain before it is reduced in grade. High grade cotton can not have as much as the lower grade bales and still go unpenalized.

A reduction of one grade on account of bark may lower the value of a bale of cotton as much as $10.00, and possibly more. Samples are sometimes, but rarely, reduced two or more grade due to extraneous matter such as bark. The Commodity Credit Corporation loan penalizes a "barky" bale 50 points or about $2.50, and accepts the bale on the grade to which it was reduced.

Cotton producers are urged to take all precautions in setting and operating "strippers" as those little pieces of bark are very costly when sold in a bale of cotton.

The Launching Pad

By NEAL ESTES

MANY families were made sad in recent hours due to visits from the Grim Reaper. Death claimed M. (BABE) HENSON, W. W. TAYLOR, LUTHER BALLARD, and MRS. LILLIAN FRANKLIN. The latter was the sister of MRS. EDNA DAVIDSON and lived in Odessa. She had been a visitor in her sister's home only last week. The many friends of the families of the deceased person extend them deep sympathy in their respective losses.

ANOTHER of Stanton's little girls had a birthday on Friday, November 26. She is AMY DENISE POWELL, daughter of NANCY and KOVEY POWELL. She is also the apple of her two grandmother's eyes. We speak of MRS. O. L. SNODGRASS, JR., and MRS. LOIS POWELL. AMY has other relatives and friends who love her too. She is a sweet little one and she is quick and smart. Your writer presented her with a toy tiger and she promptly named the play cat TIGER TANK. It appears LITTLE AMY has been picking up the current commercials.

DENNIS IRETON, son of MR. and MRS. JACK IRETON, observed his tenth birthday on Nov. 22. DENNIS passed the day in happy spirits and his many friends helped him mark the day with all the pleasures it takes to make up a nice birthday. We send our personal salute along DENNIE and wish you many, many more happy returns of the day.

Harriet Redwine Receives Scholarship

Harriet Redwine, professional staff member of the West Texas Girl Scout Council, has received a graduate scholarship in English from Arizona State University, Tempe, Arizona. She plans to enter the Graduate College in January for the spring semester. She, therefore, resigns her council position effective January 1, 1966.

Miss Redwine joined the council in June 1959 upon graduation, summa cum laude, from McMurry College. Scouting was not new to Harriet when appointed to the council as she had been a Senior Scout, serving as patrol leader to our first inter-council encampment at Blue Cedar. As a volunteer, she served as an adviser to the Senior Planning Board, assistant leader to a troop at Abilene State School, and worked at Camp Boothe Oaks during her college summers.

Her present position is adviser in Districts II and III, and she resides in Snyder. Formerly she served as adviser in District I covering Abilene, Merkel and Haskell.

Midland Symphony Concert Set

One of the most inspiring and delightful Christmas concerts ever planned for Permian Basin residents is in store for Midland - Odessa Symphony guests December 6 and 7.

Guest soloists will join the orchestra and chorale to usher in the holiday season with an outstanding array of traditional music.

The program will begin with choral excerpts from Wagner's "Die Meistersinger" followed by Schubert's inspiring "Mass in G." Library Lines

MRS. RALPH CAFFEY, Librarian

Library hours: Monday, 1 - 8 p.m.; Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, 1 - 5 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

The library the past week added 131 new books to the shelves. Among these are interesting biographies for adults such as: "When The Cheering Stopped," by Gene Smith, which deals with the last years of Woodrow Wilson; "Albert Schweitzer's Gift of Friendship," by Erica Anderson; "Lincoln as a Lawyer," by John P. Frank, casts more light on Lincoln's law practice, and tells us more about the kind of lawyer he was than anything else. A pictorial biography of Shakespeare, by F. E. Halliday, was printed to describe what we know about Shakespeare's life after three centuries of discovery, and to illuminate and animate the story by illustration. A different biography entitled "L. B. J., The Man From Johnson City," by Clarke Newton, and "The John F. Kennedys," (family album-pictures) by Shaw, might be of interest to some.

A few of the novels for adults received were: "Seasons of the Heart," by Margaret Abrams, the setting is in the 30's in the Texas Panhandle; "The Old West In Fiction," is a fine collection of the best fiction ever written on that vast theme - the great American West. "God Bless the Child," by Kristin Hunter, tells the short, feverish life of Rosie Fleming, a negro girl determined to make a better life for herself and her family; "Shane," by Jack Schaefer, tells of a stranger who rode out of the heart of the great glowing West - into the small Wyoming valley in the summer of 1889. A few new Zane Grey, books, and Grace Livingston Hill books complete the new ones added to this section.

Schantz, a former member of the Chorale, is presently assistant professor of voice at Texas Christian University. Mr. Roe is voice instructor at Texas Tech.

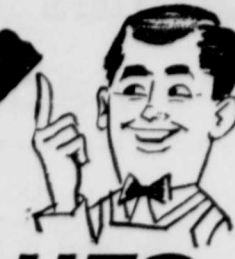

The second half of the concert will feature Christmas favorites, beginning with "A Christmas Fanfare" and "Fantasia on the Tune 'Greensleeves'". These will be followed by "Do You Hear What I Hear?", "Twas the Night Before Christmas," and "The Twelve Days of Christmas," the latter being a special arrangement by Conductor Dr. Lara Hoggard.

The concert will conclude with Tchaikovsky's "The Nutcracker Suite."

The Christmas concert is already becoming a tradition for Permian Basin residents with a program planned each year to embrace the religious as well as fun and exciting aspects of the season. Monday night's program, December 6, will be in Ector Auditorium, Odessa, at 8:00 p.m. Tuesday's program, December 7, will be held at Lee Auditorium, Midland, also at 8:00 p.m.

Admission for Midland and Odessa residents is by season membership only. However, tickets for out-of-town residents will be available at the door the evenings of the concerts at a cost of $2.50.

TCU Installs Dr. James Moudy As President Of Famed School

Ninety two year-old Texas Christian University has installed Dr. James M. Moudy, the first TCU alumnus and first native Texan to hold the post as the new president.

It was the first inauguration of a chief executive at TCU in 49 years.

Dr. M. E. Sadler, who retired as TCU's chancellor for 24 years, presided over the inauguration ceremonies, and it was fitting that he should. When he became the school's top officer, in 1941, there was no inaugural ceremony. He just went to work.

Dr. Sadler noted that only three men had guided the destiny of Texas Christian during the last 75 years.

Dr. Moudy, a graduate of TCU of the class of 1943, was selected by the school's board of trustees after nearly three years of careful study to find a man who would be able to step into Dr. Sadler's shoes when the long time TCU chief executive chose to retire.

In accepting his new challenge, Dr. Moudy warned that Americans are expecting too much and are expecting the wrong thing from education.

Education, he said, "has become the nation's rabbit foot, thought to cure all ills, and to guard against all evils." And then he emphasized, "There is no magic in education."

He said school administrators are trying too quickly to create or adjust their curricula to obtain state and federal funds, and not paying enough attention to the overall main purpose of their institutions.

Dr. Moody declared that Americans have slipped into an attitude which demands that all children have a college education even though the child might not be equipped for it.

"We claim to be a nation of individualists and private enterprisers," said Dr. Moudy, "but we seem to be doing our best to make our children all alike by expecting the same for all of them."

Dr. Moudy felt that the most dangerous assumption is that giving a boy an education will make him a good boy.

"It won't," asserted Dr. Moudy. "There is not even any evidence that it will make him a better boy."

"We give vast attention to education, while giving little to the study of what makes a good man. Most people seem to believe that by accomplishing the one, we will produce the other. This is a demonstration of how poorly educated we are and how much we have to learn."

Dr. Moudy graduated from Texas Christian University in 1943. He joined the U. S. Army as a chaplain in World War Two and was assigned to the 103rd Infantry Division just as it was committed to the Battle of the Bulge. He took his divinity degree at TCU in 1949 and received his

Connally Likes Carr For Senator

Gov. John Connally gave glowing "non-endorsements" to Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, who is running for the U. S. Senate, and Secretary of State Crawford Martin, who seeks Carr's job.

After asserting "I'm certainly not going to project myself into any race other than my own," Connally volunteered the opinion that both Carr and Martin would be outstanding in the higher offices they seek.

He repeated his declaration of non-endorsement four times during a news conference, but added these comments about Carr:

"Waggoner would make an outstanding United States senator. He has made an extremely able attorney general. He and his staff have done an excellent job."

He served four year as minister of the University Christian Church in Fort Worth and for a short time was a minister at the A&M Christian Church in College Station. He also served four years as dean at Atlantic Christian College in North Carolina.

In 1957, Dr. Moudy returned again to TCU to become dean of the TCU Graduate School and professor of religion.

Paper Reports Austin State's Center Crime

A Dallas newspaper said Tuesday that Austin, Texas, has become the home base for a band of roving thieves who conduct burglary, robbery and narcotics over the state.

In a front page story, the Dallas Times Herald reported that Austin sources have called the state's capital the "hottest spot" as far as roving hoodlums are concerned.

The paper quoted one source as saying a dozen known hoodlums operate out of Austin specializing "in bank burglaries. They operate both inside and out of Texas."

"One year ago a member of the gang flew from Austin to Dallas and met in Dallas with an Odessa man," said the Herald. The men were followed into Oklahoma by officers and through the work of Dallas police, were arrested there.

The paper said that while the gang is not a syndicate of sorts, it does have leadership.

West Texas Chamber Taps Ben Barnes For Honor

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce recently announced the selection of Ben Barnes, 27-year-old Speaker of the House of Representatives in the Texas Legislature, as its first West Texan of the Month.

The board of directors of the West Texas Chamber voted October to select, beginning in November, a West Texan of the Month as a means of paying tribute to those men and women in West Texas who have given unselfishly of their time, energy, and talent to West Texas, to their state, and to their nation.

Beeman Fisher of Fort Worth, president of the WTCC and also president of Texas Electric Service Company, announced Barnes' selection simultaneously with the publication of the November issue of West Texas Today, monthly magazine of the West Texas Chamber.

Fisher said, "Ben Barnes was a natural as the first West Texan of the month. He is a remarkable young man—a hard working legislator who has exhibited his fairness and his consideration for the viewpoint of others."

"He is a natural leader, an effective administrator who is always in control of the situation, and he did an outstanding job during his first term as Speaker of the House."

Fisher said, "We are proud Ben is a West Texan, one who was born here and who received his first experience in government as a representative from West Texas."

Barnes represents the 64th Legislative District, composed of Runnels, Coleman, Brown, and Comanche counties.

Fisher said, "Ben has only been in the Legislature five years, but he has already demonstrated to an unusual degree his concern for the problems of Texas and his interest of tourist development, education, industrial development, water resources, any the many other opportunities available to Texans."

Barnes was first elected to the Legislature in 1960 at the age of 22, won rapid recognition among his colleagues and was named chairman of the important Rules Committee and other important committees in the 58th Legislature. He was instrumental in passage of key legislation.

In January 1965, following the surprise resignation of Byron Tunnell as Speaker of the House, Barnes quickly organized his force and conducted a day - and - night campaign which resulted in his election as Speaker, just four days before the 59th Legislature opened.

His first term record as Speaker won sincere praise from his fellow legislators and from Gov. John Connally and President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Barnes is the youngest man ever elected to the speakership in Texas who served out his term and, at the time of his election, was the youngest House Speaker in the United States.

Barnes is a native of Gorman and grew up in Comanche County. Both he and his wife, Martha, are graduates of DeLeon High School where he was an all-district football and basketball star. He is a business administration graduate of the University of Texas and student in the University of Texas Law School.

Under his leadership the 59th Legislature enacted vast expansion of water development programs and the first statewide water plan; strengthened the state health program, including the control of tuberculosis and the taking of steps to help those who are mentally retarded; consolidated, reorganized, and streamlined state agencies to effect efficiency and economy; expanded programs to encourage tourism and industrialization in Texas; and created a strong college coordinating board.

Vandals Said To Be Damaging Highways Signs

Highway signs are erected for the safety and convenience of the motoring public — not to provide gun-toting punks with a handy target for plinking.

Yet, a major share of the $450 thousand vandalism to Texas highway signs annually is caused by gunfire, according to D. C. Greer, State Highway Engineer.

Bullet - riddled roadside markers accounted for 85 per cent of all signs which had to be replaced in one Texas Highway Department District in West Texas in one year.

Even a small highway sign costs about $10 to replace. Larger, more elaborate signs costing hundreds of dollars have been targets for wanton vandalism too, Greer said.

If apprehended, vandals can be made to pay for the destruction they cause. But the person who operates a motor vehicle in Texas foots "the greater portion of the bill for replacement through his motor fuel taxes and licensing fees, Greer said.

More important, destruction of signs causes inconvenience—and many times deadly peril—to motorists using the highways.

"So be a good sport during this hunting season," Greer said. "Point your gun only at game, not our highway signs."

Grayslake, Ill., Times: "As a newspaper goes about the task of publishing the news fairly without favor, criticism can be expected from time to time from just about all the 'publics.' As long as John Q. and his neighbors are back of you any storm can be weathered. . . We won't go into a recounting of the responsibilities of the press in a democratic society. Let it be said . . . that your support is gratifying. It makes us want to work harder than ever in bringing you the best possible newspaper every week."

LINDA AND THE GOVERNOR—Linda Hollins called on Governor John Connally, asking that he support the Christmas Seal campaign against tuberculosis. Linda's mother, Mrs. John Hollins of Austin, a former WAC, was recently hospitalized with the disease. Linda, her two sisters and her brother, are being cared for by an aunt and by their father, who is employed as a welder. Governor Connally apparently found Linda pleaded her cause well.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

Internal Revenue usually hires applicants with a college degree in the appropriate field. These new employees he has to go to school how to be a tax man, but this doesn't earn their education. During a tax employee's career he has to go to school many times. Internal Revenue wants all their employees to know how to do the tax job right. It takes a lot of study to be a good tax man, but most of us taxpayers won't even read the instructions.

West Texans Will Visit Coast, Valley On Farm Progress Tour

Some 150 West Texas farmers, ranchers and businessmen will visit South Texas, the Gulf Coast and Lower Rio Grande Valley area Feb. 20-25 as the West Texas Chamber of Commerce holds a special agricultural development tour into those areas.

The tour is being set up to give the West Texans a good look at both the industrial and agricultural picture from Houston into the valley, with a special look at ranching operations on the King Ranch and the Artstrong Ranch between Kingsville and Brownsville.

W. H. (Bill) Lance of Perryton, chairman of the WTCC agriculture committee, announced the tour Wednesday. Dennis Lilly, Brownfield banker, is chairman of the subcommittee making tour arrangements and plans.

Travel will be by rail, with the Santa Fe making arrangements for the chamber. Pullmans will originate at Amarillo, Lubbock and Fort Worth.

Some of the highlights will be a visit to the Houston industrial complex along the ship channel and shipping facilities where West Texas-grown agricultural products are exported — cotton, grain sorghum, wheat and other crops.

Tentative plans call for a visit to the King Ranch to observe ranch management techniques, plus a visit to the nearby Armstrong Ranch to observe a sale of Santa Gertrudis cattle — the first time any of the Armstrong stock will have been offered to the public.

The touring group will then move into the Lower Rio Grande Valley to see vegetable production, cotton, grain sorghum and other crops adaptable to West Texas. Arrangement in this area are being handled by the Lower Rio Grande Valley Chamber of Commerce and the Brownsville Chamber.

Big Spring Theatre To Present Play

The Little Theatre of Big Spring will present Agatha Christie's mystery drama, "Mousetrap" on December 10-11.

Producer Kieran Doherty is busily engaged in assembling props appropriate to the setting of the play, the action of which takes place in an old English monastery.

Rehearsals are currently being conducted by the theatre group.

The play is expected to draw a large audience and Martin County theatre goers are in for another interesting evening of entertainment when they see the production on either Dec. 10 or Dec. 11.

Turkeys Said Plentiful

With Thanksgiving just around the corner, Mrs. Gwen Clayt, extension consumer marketing specialist with Texas A&M University, reports that turkeys are in ample stock. Turkey production is in full swing, and turkeys in the over 10-pound category are the most economical buys. You can expect slightly higher prices on turkeys in the four to eight pound category.

The pork section of the meat counter may have good buys on canned hams and picnics. Bacon prices vary according to brand and grade. Fresh ham roasts may be found at moderate prices.

Recent forecast of the canned salmon pack indicates that the big supply of high quality Red salmon should move well at substantially reduced prices, assisted by the sharp market advances on the short supply of the medium quality pinks. Gulf shrimp packers seem to have come through the recent hurricane with little threat to their packs. Expectations continue for a fair to good autumn production.

There's an ample volume of good quality fresh vegetables from which to choose. The opening of new areas for pole beans means better volume and quality — and lower prices. Celery is outstanding this week. Red potatoes, russets and sweet potatoes are all good values. Other economical offerings include carrots, onions, cooking greens, turnips, rutabagas, and hard shell squash. Cauliflower, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, peppers and cucumbers are priced moderately for fair to good quality.

Crisp, fresh apples continue plentiful — Jonathans, York, rieties, Grapefruit, orange, tangerine, grapefruit, orange, tangerine, and tangelo supplies are increasing each week with steady quality improvement. Bananas are cheap. There's an abundance of cranberries and cranberry products. Pecans and other nuts, fresh dates and crystallized fruits are here to remind us that November marks the beginning of winter holidays.

Health And Safety Tips

From The American Medical Association

Does your son want to study medicine? Or your daughter? For the aspiring student, a medical career offers many opportunities — private practice, research, teaching, administration, occupational health, school or college health, public health, foreign service, or the armed forces. Each opportunity requires different talents and abilities. Four personal traits, however, are musts, no matter what specialty a medical student chooses, says a new leaflet of the American Medical Association.

1. Intellectual curiosity. A medical student must expect to be a lifelong student. Modern research and the rapid advances of modern medicine continually challenge a physician's intellectual curiosity. As human horizons stretch into space, medical knowledge must expand accordingly.

2. Concern for people. Concern for people is the dynamic of medicine. A student must possess a compassion for people that includes understanding of human needs and fears.

3. Good health. A medical career, as well as the preparation for it, make strenuous demands upon a physician.

Students must be equipped to withstand the physical and emotional stresses of long working hours and mental pressures. The profession requires good health.

4. Tenacity. A medical student must be prepared to devote ten years or more, with minimal income, to formal education. Only a conscientious, tenacious student can meet these educational demands with high scholastic achievement.

Medical school is the first of many challenges in the medical profession. "Physician" is more than a title that one automatically receives after four years of study and training. The title is earned — by meeting the medical challenges in a community, by serving individual patients, and by discharging obligations to the profession.

Two organizations can give you additional information about preparation for the challenges of a medical career:

West Texans Get Committee Jobs

Six West Texans have been appointed by the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, to four with student loans, junior college finance and liaison to the board.

W. B. McDaniel of McMurry College in Abilene was appointed to the advisory committee for student loans of private senior colleges and universities, and C. A. Robertson of Odessa College was appointed to the same committee for public junior colleges.

Another Odessan, Dr. Jack Rodgers, and Wayne Matthews, of Southwest Texas Joint Counties Junior College in Uvalde, were appointed to the committee on junior college finance.

Dr. W. A. Hunt of Howard County Junior College and Dr. Marvin L. Baker of South Plains College were appointed to the liaison committee for the public junior colleges.

The liaison committees were set up to develop a master plan for higher education in Texas.

'Christmas Airlift'

An excellent suggestion for a "Christmas Airlift" of packages to servicemen in Southeast Asia has come from U. S. Senator John G. Tower of Texas.

This timely idea can be a morale builder of first importance. There already is a demonstrated need for something on this order, and no time should be lost in getting the plan authorized.

The energetic Senator Tower, as a member of the Senate Armed Service Committee, is the proper source for such a suggestion. He has urged Defense Secretary McNamara to authorize the "Christmas Airlift," and has cited reasons for it and the purpose it would serve.

Senator Tower said it has come to his attention that many Americans are experiencing difficulty in sending package to servicemen in Southeast Asia. These facts already are well known among the people here in West Texas.

Postal facilities already are hard pressed, says Senator Tower. Normal military transportation is needed for weapons, supplies, equipment, manpower replacement and rotation—all of which is essential our operations on this Communist hot war front.

However, Senator Tower points out that many Air Force Reserve troop-carrier wings exist throughout the nation which could take Christmas package to Southeast Asia as a part of their regular training flights.

"The Air Reservists are fully capable of filling this need, and many of the wings likely would volunteer for a Christmas airlift," Senator Tower continues. "Certainly, the morale of our men fighting Asiatic Communism in Viet Nam would be greatly increased by the timely receipt of these packages from home. In addition to presents, books and magazines might also be beneficially included, along with regular letters and cards."

If a question of funds restricts Defense Department action, Senator Tower told Secretary McNamara that as a member of the Senate Armed Service Committee he will introduce in January a measure calling for special appropriations to reimburse the defense budget, adding "and I feel certain Congress would promptly authorize those funds."

This is a highly meritorious suggestion. Senator Tower's plan for a "Christmas Airlift" has our full endorsement and support. We are sure that the people of this region would be pleased to see it authorized. Anything that is needed and that can be done with reason and safety for our servicemen in Southeast Asia should be done promptly. Their good morale must be supported here at home, especially since some few are trying so foolishly and so desperately to undermine it.

Living Longer

The goal of living longer is, in a more or less defined way in everyone's mind. Life for most of us, even with its tribulations, is sweet indeed.

A British medical authority recently made a series of recommendations to executives to practices as a means of keeping healthy and fit. These rules are just as beneficial as a guide for all of us, when applied to the particular circumstance of each person.

Said the medical authority:

1. Try to recognize the characteristics of your reaction to stress.
2. Balance your activity at work and away from work.
3. Don't take work problems home at night, aside from reports and materials which can be read at leisure.
4. Go to work earlier in the morning, rather than staying late at night.
5. Take vacations and holidays in which you can cut off all contacts with the office.
6. Don't make unreasonable demands on yourself on trips.

7. Try to work no more than a five-day week.
8. Avoid overindulgence.
9. Take some regular physical exercise.
10. Do something to remedy the situation when you realize you're not able to adjust completely to some stress.

There is good reason and common sense in this list of rules. The human machine, while wonderfully made, is subject to fatigue. If this wasn't so, we doubtless would wear out both the body and the mind before we realized what was happening.

Rest, therefore, is required for the body. Relaxation is needed to relieve the mind of stress. It is natural and normal that this needed rest and relaxation should be taken at night, on weekends, holidays and vacation periods.

Those of us who take these wise precautions will not only live longer but work more skillfully and produce better results by following such safe and simple rules.

34TH ANNUAL 1965 TEXAS PRISON RODEO November 9, 1965

Editor: The Reporter Stanton, Texas

Dear Sir: Judged by any measuring device, the 1965 Texas Prison Rodeo was the most successful in the 34-year history of this event.

As you know, the primary purpose of the Rodeo is to raise funds with which rehabilitative services are provided to inmates. We derived enough net proceeds from this year's Rodeo to continue and expand our rehabilitative services for the coming year.

On behalf of the Board of Corrections, the Administration, and the inmates, may I take this opportunity to express to you our sincere appreciation for your splendid cooperation.

Cordially, Richard C. Jones.
