Correction

Two news stories appear on the inside section of this issue of the newspaper that appeared last week on page one. Our printer got the type mixed and part of the story concerning Doyle Corder, minister of the Church of Christ, and a portion of the story concerning a young man's death in an accident in Midland appeared in the Corder article. We are sorry about the mistakes and because both articles are scrapbook items we are reprinting the corrected versions in this issue.

Stanton's C. Of C. Banquet Is Mixture Of Wit, Criticism

By FRANK DAVIS

Businessman Horace Blocker accepted the job of president of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce here Saturday night with self-proffered humility, to which he quickly added a touch of humor and later a whole lot of candor.

He followed the outgoing president, Dr. Allen M. Fisher, to the banquet rostrum in Cap Rock Electric Auditorium where the latter had reported on the group's 1965 projects and aspirations.

"First," said Blocker, "we want to loosen up credit and start money flowing more freely. Next we've got to have some rainfall."

New directors Sammy Houston, Bill Decker and Gerald Hanson were forthwith "employed" as rainmakers.

Blocker's straightforwardness did not shine through, however, until Lubbock Christian College's speech making vice president, Dr. C. L. Kay, had delivered his last-ringing challenge for Stanton to be the "biggest little town of 3-, 000 people anywhere."

Dr. Kay, whose hour-long lecture ranged from J. Edgar Hoover's concern about crime and communism to his own impatience with the welfare state philosophy, had gotten around to discussing vision as one of America's great traditions.

"You've got to think big and plan big," he declared. "You (Continued on page 5)

Bill Vaughn is the current month program chairman. He presented coach Doyle Edmiston as the speaker for today's program. Edmison gave an interesting review of the basketball activities up to now, and some of the possibilities for the rest of the season.

Tommy Hursh Enters Race For Trustee

Stanton Girl Overcomes Early Heart Disorder

About twenty years ago doctors told Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Bryan that unless their little six month old daughter, Kay, had heart surgery she would be an invalid by the time she was 18. The doctors explained that Kay had been born with a heart murmur. A tube that goes into the heart which closes when a baby is three days old had failed to do so.

Some children outgrow heart murmur, but Kay did not. The summer before she started to school, she still had the murmur. Doctors advised that Kay have surgery before she started to school. She was sick so much that she would have to be absent from school a great deal. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan certainly wanted their daughter to grow to be a healthy young

Doyle Lee Corder Following In Footsteps Of His Elders

Doyle Lee Corder has been serving the Stanton Church of Christ for the past several months. He is filling the pulpit occupied by relatives prominent in Church of Christ activities for many years and he is doing it with ability and distinction.

The minister was ordained to the ministry by the officers of the Stanton church in September, 1965, when they called him to full time work. Born in Turkey, Texas, Oct-

College in 1955-56 and the Amarillo Bible Training Work in 1963-64. He made further preparation for the ministry by holding preaching appointments, having started this in 1961 while living in San Angelo. One of the most inspiring places that he preached, as he reports, was at the Hill Top Church, a colored congregation, near Turkey, Texas. His preaching appointments expanded while he was living in Tulsa, and it was while living in Tulsa that he terminated eight years of employment with the Santa Fe Railway Company in order to become a full time minister.

Brother Corder is married to the former Peggy Neil McCormick, daughter of Brother and Sister Leonard McCormick of Muleshoe. The Corders have four children, David Lynn, Twila Nell, Arthur Dean, and Eiven Odell.

The Stanton minister credits his parents with the development of his Christian life, however, he also gives a good amount of credit to the elders of the church at Seagraves.

Doyle Lee Corder has a name to live up to, because he is a grandson of the late and beloved J. T. Corder and wife. Corder was a minister of the Church of Christ. Corder is also a nephew of Elmore Johnson and Delos Johnson and a grand nephew of Alva Johnson, all ministers.

Health And Safety Tips

From The American Medical Association

Does a young person in your family want to become a nurse?

Mostly aspiring nurses are young women, but sometimes young men also enter the profession.

Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association, advises counselors, parents and prospective nursing school students of four approaches to entering the nursing profession—

* A four - year college or university program leading to a baccalaureate degree.

* A three - year diploma or hospital program leading to a diploma.

* A two - year community or junior college program leading to an associate in arts degree.

* A 12 - to - 18 - month program for practical nursing.

The baccalaureate and diploma school graduate is eligible to take examinations for licensure as an R. N. (registered nurse). The two-year junior college graduate is eligible to take examinations to become an R. N. in many states. The practical nurse graduate is eligible to take examinations for licensure as a licensed practical nurse (L. P. N.). Since licensure laws vary from state to state, the State Board of Nurse Examiners should be contacted in each state for full information on the requirements for taking an examination.

In all cases, the schools must offer a program in which both theory and planned clinical practice with patients in hospital settings, public health agencies, and other institutions are provided for the students. These schools must meet the requirements of the State Board of Nurse Examiners.

The requirements include standards for theory, practice, faculty, preparation and other criteria related to the nursing profession. It is important that the school be approved by the National League for Nursing, the official accrediting agency for schools of nursing.

Bible Comment—

Israel Grew From Small State To Unified Nation

The process whereby a people becomes a nation varies in its time span according to many and varied circumstances. The American colonies built themselves in to a nation after a slow and tedious beginning as a tiny spot of civilization along an untamed coast which fringed a wilderness.

Israel began slowly to achieve a sense of national unity, ripening suddenly as she acquired strong leaders with the will to weld the tribe into a country under a ruler who gave his people a feeling of sovereignty.

Moving slowly from Egyptian bondage to the haven of the Promised Land, the feeling of the people was more on a tribal, racial and religious level rather than national.

ElI was a great -leader and had high personal integrity, but his son "made themselves vile and he restrained them not."

A new leader, Samuel came to give people such a strong national consciousness that they demanded a military leader instead of a religious one. In this way they went too far, paving the way for the disaster which was soon to come to them.

We first meet Samuel as a small boy brought to the Temple by his mother, Hannah, who devoted him to the service of the High Priest Eli.

Eli enjoyed more success with the little helper than with his own sons. When Samuel heard the voice calling him, Eli realized it was the divine call and told the boy that when the call came again he should say, "Speak, Lord, for thy servant heareth."

And thus Samuel became aware of having a great mission. He purged the temple of abusive practices and restored the religious life of his people to its former strength. He has his undeniable part in the building of the Jewish Nation.

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw has been trying to hilosophize his way out of fixing a fence, his letter this week indicates.)

Dear editor:
I was walking along the fence between me and a neighbor yesterday afternoon hoping maybe a newspaper had blown up against it when I came upon the neighbor himself putting in some new posts. I preferred a newspaper but I went ahead and talked to him, since he saw me before I had a chance to duck out.

"What you doing?" I asked.
"Fixing this fence."
"That's a good idea."
"I know it. Say, isn't it about your turn to do some fixing?"

"Whatta you mean?"
"This fence helps you, too, doesn't it?"
"Sure but are you taking a stand against the British Empire?"

When I said that he missed a staple and hit his thumb with his hammer and I figured it was no time for a high - level conversation and excused myself and came on back to the house. I learned long ago never to discuss international affairs with a man who has just smashed his thumb.

But what I meant was that in some ways in the conduct of this Martin County grass farm I'm lined up with the

Mrs. Bill Uhlman presided, and gave the meditation on the Unchanging Christ. A panel was presented on the trend in home missions—past, present, and future. Today's trend is to strengthen work in 23 states. As a result of an education boom and shifting of industrial personnel, the board had 150 new communities entered last year.

Members taking part in the panel discussion were: Mrs. Gene Butler, Mrs. Guy Eiland, and Mrs. T. R. Louder. Other members present were: Mrs. Eugene Byrd, Mrs. R. O. Anderson, Mrs. Ralph Caffey, Mrs. H. R. Caffey, and Mrs. Roy Martin.

MRS. RALPH CAFFEY, Librarian

Library hours: Monday, 1-8 p.m.; Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, 1-5 p.m.; Saturday 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

To continue our tour through the religion section of the library, here are two books by J. B. Phillips. "God Our Contemporary," examines the spiritual poverty of the twentieth century and makes some practical suggestions for restoring God to His proper place in modern life. "Making Men Wholes," is a vigorous statement of the eternal truths which enable men to face this present life with courage, hope and good humor.

Two books of sermons that are really intended for the lay person as well as the pastor, are, "Has Civilization Failed? and other sermons," by W. W. Melton, and "Ten Vital Messages," by John R. Sampey.

A challenging book is, "Bible vs. Communism," by Leroy Brownlow. The author believes the whole struggle between the free world and communism is a clash of ideologies and can be reduced to the proposition: Bible vs. Communism. Both cannot command the loyalties of men; and as one ideology triumphs in the hearts of men, the other perishes.

The well-known and loved author of so many fine fiction books, Lloyd C. Douglas, was a minister. His daughters have chosen sermons and talks of his and arranged them to give the highlights of Dr. Douglas' philosophy of life.

The most "readable" book of prayers I have ever encountered, is found in "The Prayers of Peter Marshall," as compiled by his wife. It is a book worth devotional reading.

Baptist Church Activities

The Primary I Sunday School class of the First Baptist Church held a Valentine social hour Sunday night in the primary department of the church.

Mrs. U. A. North told the Bible story, "The Unfaithful Servant," and Mrs. Buster Adams gave a character story, "The Seeing Eye." Mrs. North led the group in a number of songs with Mrs. Walter Graves at the piano. Prayers were offered by Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Graves.

The children were served cookies and strawberry punch, and were given favors of cups filled with candy hearts. After refreshments were served, Valentines were distributed from the Valentine box.

Members of the Vivian Hickerson Circle met at the First Baptist Church, February 16, for a lesson, conducted by Mrs. Eugene Byrd, on chapter two of "Panama, The Land Between."

Those attending were: Mrs. Byrd, Mrs. E. Butler, Mrs. R. O. Anderson, Mrs. Ralph Caffey, Mrs. Ralph Inkman, Mrs. Bob Johnson, Mrs. T. R. Louder, and Mrs. W. H. Uhlman.

Special Session Comes At A Bad Time

A politically sensitive Texas legislature convenes in a special session that could produce more campaign oratory than legislation.

From the standpoint of getting things done with a minimum of fuss, the timing couldn't have been worse.

The primaries are less than three months away, and because of Senate Redistricting, there is not a single holdover in the entire legislature.

To further complicate matters, 10 senators and more than 30 representatives are running against each other in new districts. Two senators and two representatives are running for statewide office. Two more senators seek congressional seats, and 12 house members are running for the Senate.

So far the only permissible topic is a new voter registration law to replace the poll tax system, declared unconstitutional Wednesday by a federal court.

The debate is likely to divide the legislature into one group that wants to make voting as easy as possible without encouraging fraud and another that wants to make it as tough as possible without violating the constitution again.

Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio, a candidate for attorney general, already has come out for year-around registration and automatic re-registration by voting.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith wants an annual registration system.

Gov. John Connally doesn't want any fee attached to the registration system, but a bill proposing a so-called "two-bit poll tax" — a 25-cent registration fee — reportedly is in the works.

Smith said the voting bill could be passed in two weeks, and Connally said it could be done in a week.

After that, Connally will have to decide whether to send the legislators home to do their campaigning or open the session to other subjects.

Sen. Galloway Calhoun Jr., running for attorney general, as a friend of strict law enforcement, has asked Connally to let the legislature reconsider the controversial criminal code.

Calhoun wants to amend one of the most difficult and emotional sections of the code — that dealing with the rights of the defendant versus the rights of the police at the time of arrest and interrogation.

Some police and prosecutors who think their hands have been tied can be expected to press Connally on behalf of Calhoun's request.

Other legislators will have other projects that they think can't wait until the regular session in 1967.

There could be a move to redistrict the house again. A federal court has declared invalid 11 of the new districts drawn last year, but the legislature has until 1967 to correct them.

The state also is under federal orders to do something about water pollution in 1967.

Connally has left the way clear to bring up anything he wants.

He alone has the power to decide what the legislators can vote on, but he cannot control what they talk about.

In response to the speech Dr. Kay said he hoped would be inspirational, Blocker said bluntly he was disappointed in the banquet turnout.

He accepted part of the blame himself for "falling down on ticket sales" and especially noted the absence "of any city or county officials."

Blocker hopes during the coming year to see operating in Stanton "one of the biggest packing plants between Fort Worth and El Paso."

The audience of approximately 75 persons included visitors and guests from Big Spring, Lamesa, Midland, Odessa and Tarzan. Midland's delegation included Mr. and Mrs. Ron Hardaway, Fred Middleton, Mr. and Mrs. A. David Uechi, Sam C. Jones Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William E. Fincher, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. (Bill) Malone and Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Parsley.

The disappearance of feed grains is expected to increase

Results of grain sorghum performance tests grown at 14 locations in Texas have been released by Texas A&M University.

Medium-late hybrids generally had the highest yields, but in some areas, hybrids of medium maturity performed well, said D. T. Rosenow and T. E. Haddox, agronomists at A&M's South Plains Research and Extension Center, Lubbock.

Grain sorghum production was estimated at an all-time high of over 285 million bushels in 1965 — a 32 percent increase over 1964. A record 52 bushels per acre average in the state was produced.

The production of feed grains in the nation set a new record in 1965. Yields were 18 percent higher than in 1964 and 11 percent above the previous record set in 1963, reports John G. McHaney, extension economist at Texas A&M University.

The record per acre yields increased the supply for 1965-66 by 10 million tons above the previous year but the 217 million ton available, McHaney explains, is 5 million tons below the 1959-63 average.

The disappearance of feed grains is expected to increase

Research done by Texas A&M University scientists indicates feeding protein supplement twice a week is just as satisfactory as feeding daily or three times a week. This doesn't mean feeding less protein — just feeding larger amounts less frequently.

The result from twice weekly feeding: about a 60 percent saving of labor and travel compared to daily feeding.

The research was done by A. A. Melton, associate animal husbandman at A&M's McGregor field station, and J. K. Riggs, professor in the Animal Science Department at A&M. It was done in the Trans-Pecos area, but the researchers say less frequent feeding may well apply to most other areas of Texas.

Melton said winter roughage for range cattle in the Southwest usually consists of dried native grass. The dried grass may provide adequate energy but be deficient in protein during the winter and spring months. Thus, the need for protein supplement.

The common practice is feeding cottonseed cake or other protein on a daily basis. As labor and transportation costs increase, cattlemen are looking for labor saving systems of supplemental feeding. One of these methods is feeding less frequently.

Until now, there has been little or no research to indicate that cattle perform satisfactorily on less than daily supplemental feeding.

SAVE TIRES AND LIVES

In the last two years, the winning car in the Indianapolis 500 has finished the race without changing tires.

When tires will stand up for 500 miles at a 150 mile-an-hour average on the Speedway, it's a real tribute to their staying qualities.

If we stop to think about it, we all know tires are better than ever. Flats used to be commonplace, but now many drivers have never experienced one — and therein lies a danger.

Too many of us have become complacent about tires. But an under-inflated tire run at turn-of-the-road is a prime candidate for a blowout. We all know what happens when tire blows out at high speed, especially a front tire.

Even if you avoid a blowout, driving under-inflated tires takes thousands of miles off their life.

Incidentally, contrary to a popular notion, letting air out of your tires is no real help in getting off ice, sand or rock salt works much better.

So, if you want to save tires — and possibly your life — check tire pressures regularly.

Another good way to save tires — and lives — is to replace shock absorbers every 20,000 miles with new McQuay-Norris shock absorbers or front and rear shock absorbers.

Which shock absorbers are dangerous and can cost you as much as 17% in tire life, roughly about 5,000 miles of travel.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has approved 16 of the 23 Texas High Plains counties for accepting producer certification of planted cotton acreage in 1966.

They are Baily, Castro, Crosby, Dawson, Deaf Smith, Floyd, Garza, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Parmer, Swisher, Terry and Yoakum. In Deaf Smith County the approval applies only to cotton, but in all the others it applies as well to wheat and feed grain acreage. ASCS personnel will measure acreage in the other seven counties as in the past.

This is a part of a pilot project in which USDA is trying to reduce ASCS operating costs by letting farmers measure their own acreage and then certify to the accuracy of their measurement at the ASCS office. Probably about one-fourth of the self-measured farms will be checked later.

Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. doesn't think very many farmers will do their own measuring because of the stiff penalties imposed in the event of error, even within the allowable tolerance.

A farmer will be found not in full compliance if he winds up with an excess average of cotton, a deficiency of diverted acres or acreage in excess of his allotment on another farm.

But unless the county ASCS committee determines that a scheme to defeat the objectives of the program is involved, producers will be allowed a certain tolerance without losing all payments and other program benefits. Planted or diverted acreage may deviate from that the farmer has certified to by no more than the larger of two acres or five percent of the farm allotment, but not more than 15 acres in any case.

If the farmer's measurement error falls within this tolerance, he will still be penalized in the form of reduced payments. If the error exceeds this range, the producer will lose all program benefits and be required to return any payment already made to him with six percent interest. And after certification of acreage, he will not be permitted to plow up the acreage in order to get back in compliance.

Within the established tolerance, the penalty is "only" twice the loan rate (21c) times the projected yield for the farm times the acreage by which the farm fails to fully comply. Therefore a farmer with 200 acre allotment could overplant up to 10 acres without losing all program benefits. But he would be subject to a per-acre penalty of 42c per pound times his projected yield on each of the 10 extra acres. With a 500 pound projected yield the penalty would come to $210 per acre or a total of $2100.

Johnson feels that with such a severe penalty farmers will not be able to afford the chance of error. And by having the ASCS office either pre-measure cotton land or measure it soon after planting, the danger of having payment reduced can be avoided. Otherwise, a producer would almost be forced to plant well below his allotted acreage, just to be sure he wasn't overplanting.

ASCs will charge a fee for either pre-plant or post-plant measuring. Pre-measurement cost to the farmer, according to Lubbock County ASCS Office Manager Walter Wells, will be $10 per farm, plus $5 per plot measured, plus 5 cents per acre, and the farmer will also be required to pay 9 cents per mile for whatever mileage is involved.

Even so, farmers will recognize that a $40 or $50 measuring expense is insignificant in comparison to the consequences of an error made in self-measurement. And because of this fact, the former certification of acreage plan is not apt to reduce the cost of ASCS operations at all, but will merely shift a part of the cost to the farmer. Some believe this to have been the intent of the whole thing from the beginning.

The fee for measuring acreage after planting has not been set, but Wells says it will be only about half as much as the pre-measuring fee. So some farmers who do not plan to put down fertilizer or herbicides before planting may prefer to do their own pre-measuring and call on the ASCS to verify the acreage with a post-plant measurement.

Wells says the pace of farmers signing up for the 1966 farm program has slowed considerably this week. In fact, he has asked that PCG advise farmers who have already made up their minds of the program alternatives to sign up now instead of waiting until the last few days before the end of the sign-up period April 1. If they don't, he said, some farmers will be waiting in line at the last minute.

The Texas Farm Bureau Federation publication "Facts For You" recently ran excerpts from the travels and works of Captain John Smith, probably the best known and oft-quoted of the early settlers of Virginia. We think a couple of the passages worthy of reproduction here.

"When our people were fed out of the common store and labored jointly together, glad was he who could slip from his labor or slumber over his task he cared not how. Nay, the most honest among them would hardly take so much true pains in a week as now for themselves they will do in a day. Neither cared they for the increase, presuming that howsoever the harvest prospered, the general store must maintain them so that we reaped not so much corn from the labors of thirty as now three or four do provide for themselves.

"Nay, so great was our famine that a savage we slew and buried; the poorer sort took him up again and ate him; and so did divers one another boil and stew with roots and herbs. And one amongst the rest did kill his wife, powdered her with salt, and had eaten part of her before it was known, for which he was executed as he well deserved. Now whether she was better roasted, boiled, or carbonadoed I know not, but of such a dish as powdered wife I never heard of.

"This was that time, which still to this day we called the starving time; it were too vile to say and scarce to be believed that we endured. . . Yet had we been even in Paradise itself with these governors, it would not have been much better with us."

Easter Seal State Chairman Picked By George Zachariah

Robert W. Milam, M. D., of McAllen, began his chairmanship of the 1966 Easter Seal Campaign today by issuing a challenge he said he hoped would reach every home in Texas.

"Let's bring the best help possible to the many disabled children and adults who live with handicaps in Texas communities," the fund appeal chairman declared.

Dr. Milam, whose appointment was announced by George J. Zachariah, President of the Texas Society for Crippled Children, said the best way Texas can meet the challenge to provide disabled children and adults in the state with the best rehabilitation treatment available would be to give to Easter Seals when they arrive in the mail March 1.

Dr. Milam will lead state Easter Seal volunteers in conducting the drive March 1 through Easter Sunday, April 10. The mail appeal will be supplemented by a series of special events and activities planned by community groups on behalf of the disabled children and adults the society serves.

Well-known professional and civic leaders throughout the state are aiding on a local basis in the 1966 Easter Seal appeal. Eighty counties throughout the state are directly affiliated units of the State Society, and local representatives in 63 other counties help to further service the disabled in the state.

The Texas Society for Crippled Children and Adults is an affiliate of the National Easter Seal Society, dedicated to serving all handicapped persons regardless of age, cause of crippling, race, religion, or economic status.

Stanton Man, 21, Killed In Midland Auto Mishap

Abelardo Martinez Salgado, 21, recently discharged from the Army, became Midland's first traffic fatality of the year late Thursday night in a spectacular crash that injured a companion.

Salgado died instantly in the one-car accident. The men restored service to the homes of 58 customers in a few hours after the accident happened.

When the telephone pole was cut down by the impact of the car the weight of the cable broke the cable lashings, causing the half-mile reaction.

Salgado was born in Mexico, March 26, 1944. He moved from Odessa to Stanton in 1962. He served two years in the Army and returned to Stanton several months ago. He was a truck driver for Tri-City Dr Pepper Company, this city.

The dead man was a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church here.

Funeral services were conducted at 10 a.m. Monday morning at St. Joseph with interment in the St. Joseph Cemetery under the direction of Gilbreath Funeral Home.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jose Salgado of Stanton; five brothers, Frank of Lenorah, Gilbert, Willie and Jose Jr., all of Stanton; four sisters, Mrs. Irma Parris, Big Spring; Mary, Elodia, and Linda Salgado of Stanton; and a grandfather, Felix Martinez of Odessa.

The dead youth was buried with full military honors.

Lucio Villa, injured in the one-car mishap was reported recovering at press time this week. He also was employed as a truck driver for Tri-City Dr Pepper.

Liberal, Kan., Southwest Daily Times: "The average person is very courteous to others under most circumstances. Most men will open doors for ladies (even though they don't get thanked always), assist elderly persons across the street. . . What happen to many of these same people when they get behind the wheel of an automobile? . . . They race through traffic. . . fail to allow other drivers into a lane of traffic, dash through intersections with no regard for pedestrians. . . and instead of 'pardon me,' they bellow like an angry bull at every other driver on the road."

Officers said Salgado was apparently traveling at a high rate of speed when his vehicle failed to make a turn and careened about 1,700 feet on the road shoulder. Officers said the vehicle rolled several times before slamming into a utility pole and severing it. The top part of the pole was slung 170 feet away, 17 strands of wires were broken and parts of the city were without electrical and telephone service temporarily.

A spokesman for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company said about a half mile of wires had to be replaced at an estimated cost of $6,500. Work-

San Antonio Selected For Texas 4-H Horse Show

The Texas Youth Development Foundation has accepted the invitation of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce to hold the 1966 Texas 4-H Horse Show at Joe Freeman Coliseum, Aug. 12-13.

Jerry D. Wheat, Foundation board chairman, announced today that the Alamo City was selected as a site for the 1966 Horse Show as a result of a joint invitation extended by Chamber President Red McCombs and Joe Freeman, general chairman of the Chamber's Farm and Ranch Committee.

Wheat said planning and staging the show will be coordinated by the Farm and Ranch Committee, the Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The Texas 4-H Horse Show brings together winners of 12 4-H district shows held throughout the state.

Some 300 winners of district competitions will vie at the Coliseum in August for trophies and ribbons awarded annually by Texas Electric Co., Inc.

"San Antonio's romantic history, much of it related to and made possible by the horse," Wheat said, "makes the city a fitting location for the fifth annual Texas 4-H Horse Show."

Representatives of the 4-H Foundation will plan the August show in close cooperation with members of the Chamber's Farm and Ranch Committee, and with Bexar County Agricultural Agent Thurman Kennedy and Asst. Agent Preston Sides.

Thurman said the 4-H Horse Show program is of "growing importance" in the Texas 4-H picture.

Triumphs and Sidelights State CAPITOL

Texas legislators were called back to Austin for a special session Monday by Gov. John Connally.

A three-judge federal court's order knocking out the poll tax as a requirement for voting prompted Governor Connally, on advice of Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, to call the extraordinary meeting of lawmakers. Purpose is to pass a voter registration law in case Carr's appeal of the lower court's decision to the U. S. Supreme Court is lost.

Texas has no other form of voter registration than machinery for collecting the poll tax, noted the governor. If the Supreme Court agrees that the $1.75 levy is an unconstitutional infringement on due process, Carr and Connally feared local election officials would find it "virtually impossible to determine who is a qualified voter."

Connally made it clear that if the Supreme Court accepts Texas' appeal and delays final disposition through 1966 elections, only those who paid the poll tax by January 31 will be permitted to vote. Come what may, the governor thinks those who paid the levy should be considered automatically registered this year.

Federal judges here, while convinced the poll tax is an improper "charge on a very precious constitutional right," disagreed with U. S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach that it has been employed in modern times to deny negroes the right to vote. All evidence, they concluded, is to the contrary.

As limited as the special session's subject matter is, state lawmakers already are finding room to disagree. Some think voters should be required to register every year to guarantee purity of the ballot box. Others feel the new law should allow re-registration by voting in elections.

A proposed state constitutional amendment to abolish the poll tax which will be voted on next November calls for annual registration.

Campaigns Begin — They're off and running in the May 7 primary elections!

Filing deadline last week found seven contested Democratic races and eight Republican candidates filed. All eight GOP candidates were unopposed.

Democratic primary spotlight is on the attorney general's race between Crawford C. Martin (who resigned as secretary of state) and Sens. Franklin Spears of San Antonio and Galloway Calhoun of Tyler.

P. S. Ervin of Dallas joined the Democratic contest for railroad commissioner which included incumbent Bryon Tunnel of Tyler and Rep. Paul Haring of Goliad.

Fred Williams, Del Rio, was a late entry against Democratic Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler.

District Judge John F. Onion of San Antonio is opposing Court of Criminal Appeals Judge W. T. McDonald of Bryan.

Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline, last man to post his $1,000 filing fee, is taking on Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, Lubbock. Hollowell's teammate, Stanley C. Woods of Houston, and Mrs. Johnnie Mae Hackworth of Brenham, are opposing Governor Connally.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White of Wichita Falls, Comptroller Robert S. Calvert of Austin, Treasurer Jesse James of Austin and three incumbent State Supreme Court judges have no Democrat opposition.

Emphasis this year obviously will be on the November general election clash between GOP U. S. Sen. John Tower, seeking re-election, and the Democratic nominee. Candidates on the Democratic primary ballot are Waggoner Carr and John R. Willoughby of Houston.

Other Republican candidates are T. E. Kennerly, Houston, for governor; Kellis D. Drell, Seguin, for lieutenant governor; Robb Stewart of Dallas for attorney general;

Rudy T. Garza, Corpus Christi, comptroller; L. D. Gilmer, Houston, treasurer; Albert B. Fay, Houston, land commissioner; and Jack Garrett, Danbury, agriculture commissioner.

Appointments — Governor Connally named T. D. Armstrong of Galveston, Wells Stewart and Ralph S. O'Connor of Houston, to the board of directors of Texas Southern University.

Governor picked as new Texas Animal Health Commissioners R. W. Hodge of Del Rio and Dent Ingram of Carrizo Springs.

He appointed Mrs. Margarette Bortel of San Antonio to State Board of Cosmetology.

Education Studies Begin — Two important studies of the public school system have been launched. A spokesman for one predicts teachers will ask another $500 a year raise at next year's legislative session.

Governor's Committee on Public School Education, directed to make a far-reaching report on school needs, held its first meeting here and selected Glenn H. Ivy, Texas Research League staff member, as its director.

House Interim Committee on Education decided to collect comparative data on what teachers are paid over the nation. Rep. Charles Wilson of Lufkin said he believes teachers will ask another pay raise in 1967. They got one in 1965.

Poverty Projects Approved — Fifteen more Community Action grants and two VISTA grants under the Economic Opportunity Act have received Governor Connally's approval.

Grants went to agencies in Harris, Hidalgo, Atascosa, Karnes, Wilson, Brooks, Jim Hogg, Zapata, Dallas, El Paso, Kleberg, Maverick, McLennan, Shelby, Starr, Comal, Blanco, Nueces and Webb Counties. They ranged from $5,752 for Economic Opportunity Development Corporation of Laredo project to $53,181 for Harris County Economic Opportunity Organization.

Manufacturing At Record Level — All-time highs in employment, payrolls and value of output were set by Texas manufacturing industries in 1965, and outlook is even brighter for 1966.

So concludes a study of Texas industrial expansion by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Total Texas manufacturing employment this year is expected to rise by 13 per cent, with biggest increase in electrical machinery production. Estimated value added by manufacture for 1966 is anticipated to be slightly above $8,500,000,000, a 21 per cent rise over 1963.

A serious problem facing Texas manufacturers, BBR noted, is a shortage of skilled labor (particularly machinists) and engineers for aerospace companies supporting the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston.

Shortages of engineers, machinists, technicians and managerial talent emphasizes again the "need to provide a superior educational system at the elementary, secondary and college levels," BBR stresses. Many industries, Bureau warns, can move where needed labor is available, and there is less and less work for the uneducated and unskilled.

New Highway Maps — New 1966 Texas highway maps are off the presses. Initial printing of 800,000 will be the largest in history.

Maps are produced for free distribution by Texas Highway Department's travel and information division.

New map shows 521 more miles of divided highways than appeared on 1965 map and over 22,000 miles of farm-to-market roads, an increase of 7,500 miles over 1965. Also shown are all highways, public lakes, safety rest areas, city routes and mileage between points.

Attorney General Rules — State Highway Department can buy interest in land needed for enhancement of scenic beauty adjacent to federal aid highways which are part of the Texas highway system.

Attorney General Carr has held.

In other opinions, the attorney general includes:

* Alabama - Coushatta Indian tribal members cannot create a public housing authority to which they can make a 40-year lease of state trust land for low-rent housing project.

* Election workers in counties under 500,000 may be paid for overtime over 10 working hours at rate not to exceed $1.25 an hour.

* Conviction in a misdemeanor case punishable by imprisonment is void where defendant was too poor to employ a lawyer and trial court failed to appoint one for him.

* Game wardens are entitled to $3 arrest fee payable to Parks and Wildlife Department, but fines and trial fees go to county officers' salary funds.

* A prisoner jailed on a misdemeanor charge is credited at rate of $5 a day for time served even though convicted prior to January 1 before new Code of Criminal Procedure took effect.

* An election for abolishment of a consolidated independent school district may not be called within three years after the consolidation election where no charge has been made in the status of the district subsequent to the consolidation election.

* Texas child support orders originating from divorce decrees in state courts should be processed for enforcement though petition is from out-of-state plaintiff.

* Governor's designation of Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation to administer state plans for construction of mental retardation facilities is valid.

Water Rights — The March 15 hearing of the Texas Water Rights Commission will begin a review of some 200 water permits and certified filings which reports to the commission indicate have not been used for 10 years.

Commission was given an assignment by the Legislature to cancel unused water rights, so the water in Texas streams can be allocated to cities and others who need and intend to use it.

Law required cancellation of rights which have not been used for 10 years.

Hearing on five such rights on March 15 will launch the review. A second set, involving rights in Lee, Ellis, Wilson, Oldham and Jack Counties, is set for hearing March 30.

Editorial . . . Congressman Teague's Bill

Rep. Olin Teague of College Station has introduced a bill and constitutional amendment to outlaw public protests against the United States military program "during war or armed conflict."

Teague, chairman of the House Veterans Committee, referred directly to demonstrations against U. S. intervention in Viet Nam and to fund drives to help the Viet Cong. The legislation would impose fines up to $10,000 and imprisonment up to 10 years on people who conduct fund drives for use by the enemies of the U. S. or those picket, parade or in any other public way demonstrate opposition to the U. S. military policy during a war or armed conflict.

Congressman Teague has a good bill. He thinks, along with many other Americans, that it is proper and necessary that we restrain the beatnik types and the pseudo-intellectuals who insist that the Constitution permits them to give aid and encouragement to our enemies.

Yes, Congressman Teague is a great and patriotic American but he ought to have introduced that bill before the war was escalated in Viet Nam. He should have attempted to get a measure on the books before the sorry spectacle of a march on Washington, led by some so-called pinks, pro-Communist, disloyal beatniks, contrary to loyal Americanism. The bill should have been pitched in the hoop-er and promptly passed before licenses to the rights boys were tolerated all over the country. The administration is now reaping what it helped sow. It is still not too late to curb the powers of the Supreme Court by Constitutional amendment and it might be a good time for those in the highest positions in our government to stop talking about "over-coming" until we can overcome the enemy over there.

Good luck with your bill Congressman Teague. We are for you all the way.

Rebekah Lodge Holds School

A School of Instruction was held Monday night, February 7, at the IOOF Hall for District 88.

Mrs. Loyd Hastings, District Deputy President, presided. Members from John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge No. 153, and Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 attended. The Launching Pad

By NEAL ESTES

CANDIDLY, the pre-nuptial party held in the White House Saturday night with the JOHNSONS meeting the NUGENTS and with LUCI and her groom-to-be, PAT, basking in a ray of romance is pretty disgusting. Especially is it ill-timed in view of the many young American boys denied the privilege of even being at home with their girl friends while war is raging in Viet Nam. This sort of caper is bringing more and more parents of the servicemen into the opposition camp.

WE commented in this column a few weeks ago that ROBERT KENNEDY could not be counted out of the presidential race in 1968. News out of Washington this week casts doubt on whether or not JOHNSON will try for a second term. No vice-president in American history succeeding a president due to death, has ever been elected to a second term. LBJ went in after the assassination of JFK. If he got a second term he would have served longer than any man in history with the exception of FDR. LYNDON JOHNSON is in serious trouble with his war problem. Unless peace comes, he could either elect not to run at all or take the chance of being defeated or returned to office by as thin a margin as WOODROW WILSON won by in 1916. We will wait and see what happens.

MAIL arriving this week from San Angelo brought some very good tidings. KATHRYN RENE, weighing in at six pounds and 13 ounces made her arrival on January 24. She is the new daughter of KATHY and CHALMER WREN, JR. The clever announcement with a tucked down corner and simulated safety pin looked like the real thing. Little KATHY RENE is going to be using lots of for sometime now. KATHY and CHALMER are two of our favorite people and we know the arrival of the new little girl is going to add more happiness to their already happy home.

PERCY FOREMAN is one of the attorneys in the MOSSLER-POWERS trial in progress in Florida. The Houston lawyer, a flamboyant trial figure says the key to winning in the courtroom is simply hard work. He has represented no less than 700 accused killers — and lost only one client to the electric chair. FOREMAN, native of Livingston, East Texas, was the son of a sheriff. He hung around the courthouse in Polk County a lot and knew many lawyers. He parlayed a job as a shoe shine boy in his hometown into a personal fortune and worldwide fame. The barrister now picks his cases. FOREMAN has a trial formula too. He says: "I never send out an investigator to check on a case. I do all the work myself. I learned the hard way and an investigator will usually tell you what he thinks you want to hear. That's why so many DA's lose cases." Of the case he lost to the electric chair FOREMAN thinks the defendant went to the chair because of his looks. "My client in that case looked like a gangster, had shot and killed his wife. It wasn't the facts of the case that got him the death penalty. It was his looks. I hated to do it, but I had to put him on the stand because there was not other witness to the slaying. It was his looks that convicted him." FOREMAN was once defending a woman in Houston charged with murdering her husband. The accused showed up in court one morning wearing a bright red dress. FOREMAN made her take the dress off and change to a drab brown affair. He says the lady was accompanied to court that morning by a lady about the same size and PERCY declares the dress switching transaction was carried out in parked car in front of the courthouse. His client, wearing a plain, brown dress, was acquitted.

A personal message from my friend DR. J. M. SHY recites his reason for being unable to be in Stanton and working on the hospital staff here until about March 1. The good physician is recuperating from recent surgery. In a few days he will be back in the city and we trust will be available from here on. He has many Martin County friends who share my opinion. Senator Tower's Column

The Senate now has brought to fruition a project that has involved thousands of Texans; we have provided a New G. I. Bill for our fighting men.

I am particularly pleased that a number of Texans have played important roles in achieving passage of this legislation. Senator Yarborough long has sought passage of such a bill. Congressman Teague was a key figure in consideration in the House of Representatives. And, I was glad to be able to offer more than a year ago the "Vietnam G. I. Bill."

Many Texas editors and thousands of individual Texans also have urged and worked for adoption of the New G. I. Bill. I am pleased that the bill enacted last week by a 99-0 Senate vote contains many of the provisions of my Vietnam G. I. Bill.

Throughout our nation's history we have provided special benefits for the fighting men who defend our country against foreign enemies and who work with our allies in maintaining a climate of freedom in this world.

The assistance this New G. I. Bill provides will be of tremendous value to our younger veterans as they complete their Vietnam service and their service in other aspects of the Cold War. It will help them as they seek to return to an active, contributing civilian life.

We owe these men nothing less for their dedication and valor in service to us all.

This New G. I. Bill will provide veterans home loans of about $7,500 with somewhat greater amounts in rural areas where funds are limited. It will provide them education benefits on a basis of one month of education for each month they served. Six months of active service is required before men can qualify.

Education benefits will start at $100 a month for single veterans and scale upward to $150 for those with several dependents. These benefits may be applied to high school, college or technical training, and enactment of the bill now means it will go into effect June 1, in plenty of time for normal summer school sessions at our colleges.

When Bankruptcy Won't Help

Motorist A, held liable for an accident, was ordered to pay more than his insurance coverage, more than everything he owned. In desperation, he decided to go through bankruptcy. Although this left him poor, at least he was relieved of his overwhelming burden of debt.

Motorist B, in a similar predicament, also tried bankruptcy. But in his case, that didn't help. Even after going through bankruptcy, liability for the accident still hung over him as heavily as before.

The difference in these two cases illustrates an important provision of the Bankruptcy Act. Bankruptcy does cancel most debts, but not all. One debt it does not cancel is liability for "wilful and malicious" injuries inflicted on others.

Motorist A had caused his accident by just driving a bit too fast. The court held this was not "wilful and malicious."

But motorist B had been driving at high speed during a storm, on the wrong side of the road, while under the influence of liquor. The court decided this was indeed "wilful and malicious" conduct—and not even bankruptcy could save him from responsibility for it.

Most often, such questions arise out of auto accidents. But any kind of wilful and malicious act may put the offender beyond the relief of bankruptcy. Consider these cases:

A cantankerous home owner, to scare away some boys, fired at them with an air gun, injuring one in the eye;

A disgruntled boy friend spread slanderous stories about a girl's reputation;

The owner of a dog known to be vicious let it run loose on the streets, where it attacked a passing pedestrian.

In each case, after a judgment for damages, the offender went into bankruptcy in hopes of "getting out from under." But in each case, even after bankruptcy, he was held still liable for the wilful and

Texas Home Economists To Meet In Dallas, March 11-12

Plans are nearing completion for the annual meeting of the Texas Home Economics Association in Dallas, March 11-12.

Sessions will be held at the Statler-Hilton Hotel.

Major speakers for the two-day professional meeting have been announced by Mrs. Gladys D. Kolander, state home demonstration agent for the Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A&M University and first vice president of the THEA.

Keynote speaker will be Dr. Ruth C. Hall, president of the American Home Economics Association and director and dean of the School of Home Economics, University of Arizona, Tucson. Her subject will be "Mobilizing Our Potential." She will be introduced by Mrs. Florence W. Low, extension assistant director for home economics and immediate past president of AHEA.

malicious harm he had done.

A keynote of the Bankruptcy Act is sympathy for the hapless debtor. But, in the wilful - and - malicious cases, the law's sympathy is dampened by behavior that is not just foolish but wrongful.

Besides, the law owes consideration not only to the debtor but also to the person who has been run down, shot, slandered, or bitten.

A public service of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

Public relations expert Mercedes J. Hurst, who represents a major farm equipment company in Chicago Ill., will address the closing luncheon of the organization on March 12. She will discuss "Mobilizing Our Potential—The Consumer Needs Us."

Dr. Johnnie Christian, of the home economics branch of the U. S. Office of Health, Education and Welfare, Washington, D. C., is scheduled to serve as a moderator for a panel discussion on "Working with Low-Income Families."

Speakers will include other key people from family living and related subject matter fields.

A highlight of the annual meeting will be announcement of the identity of the Texas "home economist of the year." She will be honored at a luncheon on March 11.

Subject matter section meetings are scheduled in textiles, clothing and art; family relations and child development; foods and nutrition, family economics and home management and housing and household equipment.

Between 400 and 500 home economists in extension, research, teaching, business, industry and homemaking are expected to participate. Also taking part will be key leaders of college and university homemaking chapters of Texas.

Social Security Column

Many elderly people who are unable to leave their homes are being enrolled in the Medicare program, according to Erven Fisher, Social Security Administration district manager in Big Spring.

"In fact," says Fisher, "we are encouraging them to write or telephone our office. We can supply them with the necessary application forms to complete and return to us by mail. If necessary, one of our representatives will call at the home."

"Quite a few people who have elderly parents are visiting our office to obtain Medicare information and enrollment forms."

Legal guardians of people over 65 are also urged to get in touch with the social security office at 1009 Gregg Street, Big Spring, so that enrollment forms may be completed.

Because of the importance of signing up for Medicare, and a deadline, the office will be open every Saturday morning from 8:30 a.m. to 12:00 noon until March 31, 1966, the deadline for applying for the Supplementary Medical Insurance Benefits.

Visiting in the home of Mrs. Ray Davis is her sister, Mrs. Von Brewer, from Okmulgee, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Allen and children of Shamrock, Oklahoma, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Allen last week.
