COACH BEN SCHWARTZ-WALDER of Syracuse has sent his football teams against some outstanding quarterbacks in his long tenure but he found the best when Baylor beat the Orangemen 35-12. "TERRY SOUTHALL is the best quarterback I ever played against," he said after the inter-sectional game Saturday kicked off the major college football campaign.

JACKIE HANKINS, son of MR. and MRS. JACK HANKINS, now of the United States Navy, has been visiting his family and friends in the city. JACKIE is a splendid young man and we predict a continued fine future for him.

Some fans will make the trip to Iraan Friday to watch the Stanton Bisons trangle with the team in that city. We wish to suggest two things. Drive safely and be sure you reach the game site. When you attend another football game in Stanton and the local boys get behind, don't get up and walk out on them. After all, if a fan expects to witness the Green Bay Packers in action on high school grids on Friday nights, cease attending the schoolboy contest. The kids receive no money for playing and the whole program is being operated to give the youths an opportunity to participate in a good, active sport. An author wrote a long time ago: "It's not whether you win or lose but how you play the game."

West Texas has missed a major outbreak of encephalitis, the so-called "sleeping sickness" spread by the culex mosquito. But recent rains increase the dangers by providing new breeding places for the insects. It is the responsibility of every citizen to do his or her part in making sure our community is not victimized by this disease which can be a cruel killer. Of course, the city can contribute something to the eradication campaign but they cannot be expected to carry the entire load. So, the more possible trouble spots you eliminate in your own area, the more assurance you provide your family and yourself that encephalitis will not strike.

The recent riots in Atlanta, Georgia offer convincing evidence that most, if not all, of the racial violence in our large cities has been organized and led by a small minority bent upon the very destruction of our society. A prominent Southern publisher, RALPH Mc GILL, Atlanta Constitution, long a moving and militant force for equal treatment of the Negro citizen as provided by law, says the riots were the work of members of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, STOKELY CARMICHAEL, a West Indian, led the trouble makers. He also heads the SNCC, the group previously recognized as agents of anarchy in Watts, New York, Chicago, Cleveland and other major cities.

JIM JOHNSON has a garden and a yard full of fresh vegetables and tomatoes galore. He also puts up some of the finest honey this side of East Texas. JIM sells his honey for a buck a jar and you can't beat it. Try smothering your hotcakes some morning with this Martin County honey and find out personally if you ever tasted anything better. JIM is a generous man. He has pounded us with fresh tomatoes all summer and the lath string is always out for friends at JIM'S home.

The Plowboys from Roscoe High School proceeded to plow the Stanton Buffaloes under by a score of 27-8 here last Friday night in the season's opening game.

The score actually did not represent the evenness of the offensive and defensive strength of both teams. Stanton played a much finer game than indicated by the final outcome and led the visiting eleven 8-7 at the halftime mark.

The Plowboys opened up the scoring for the evening in the initial period when Jim Rayburn rolled out for 91 yards. Jackie Smith kicked the extra point.

Stanton went ahead in the second stanza when Quarterback Buddy Shanks passed to Rickey Carbell for the two point conversion.

The third period was scoreless, but in the last period four of Shank's passes were intercepted with two of them resulting in touchdowns for Plowboys. Harris intercepted one at the 20-yard line and returned it for a counter. Ken Welch, took a Stanton pass a minute later by interception and dashed 30 yards for a score.

Roscoe scored a second go-ahead touchdown in the final frame on a 21-yard pass from Rayburn to Harris.

The Bisons journey to Iraan this Friday night to play a second non-district tilt.

Government Boosts Estimate On Cotton

The Agriculture Department estimated the government-entitled cotton crop at 10,992,000 bales.

Texas production was estimated at 3,675,000 bales, compared to 4,725,000 last year.

The crop estimate compares with an August figure of 10,820,000 bales, with last year's harvest of 14,956,000 and with the 1960-64 average of 14,795,000 bales.

Production is being greatly curtailed this year under a new government program offering special payments to growers who plant less than their acreage allotments. The purpose is to help reduce a record surplus of 16.8 million bales.

The department has predicted that domestic and foreign markets will require about 15 million bales. Deficits from the crop will be supplied from the surplus. Markets took about 12.5 billion bales during the season which ended Aug. 1.

The acreage planted this year was only 10,567,000, compared with 14,153,000 last year and 15,728,000 for the five-year average.

Today's report estimated the yield of lint cotton per harvested acre would be 539 pounds compared with 526 pounds last year and 475 for the five-year average. The Texas yield was set at 430 pounds.

CC Head Hits Tax Proposals

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce said Saturday that President Johnson's proposals "to increase taxes painlessly in an election year" might prove "disastrous" for American industry.

Joel Barlow, a Washington lawyer who is head of the chamber's taxation committee, denounced the President's plan to suspend tax bonuses for business investment in equipment and buildings as moves that would hurt the economy at home and abroad.

The proposals would force business to pay higher taxes than it should, he said, and would result in a lack of money for modernization of productive facilities. This, in turn, he said, would create "continuing obsolescence, high-cost, high-price production, loss of market, loss of profits and less revenue for the government."

The production of American-Egyptian type cotton was forecast at 90,000 bales compared with 88,200 last year.

Cottonseed production was forecast at 4,529,000 tons, compared with 4,116,000 tons last year.

The Census Bureau said 395,862 bales from this year's crop had been ginned prior to Sept. 1, mostly in Texas.

The indicated yield per acre and production by states included: Mississippi 671 and 1,390,000; Arkansas 580 and 1,040,000; Oklahoma 324 and 290,000; New Mexico 671 and 197,000; Arizona 1,077 and 570,000; and California 1,110 and 1,450,000.

N.Y. Liberals Pick FDR Jr.

The Liberal party of New York state has chosen Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., as its gubernatorial candidate.

In Rochester, meanwhile, the Republican party chose Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller as its standard bearer. In November's election, then, Rockefeller in his bid for a third term will oppose the son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Frank D. O'Connor, who was named the Democratic candidate Wednesday night.

In still another state convention, at Saratoga Springs, the Conservative party Wednesday nominated college professor Paul L. Adams as its candidate for governor.

Neither of Thursday night's political choices came as a surprise but confirmed that the Empire State will have at least a 4-corner race for the governor's mansion.

Bible Comment—

Man Is A Partner In Concept Of Creation

The foundation of a great religion was laid when man dared to conceive of himself as made in the image and likeness of the God who made him. Here was spiritual insight, the full significance of which we can appreciate when we see the type of religion that had man bowing down to grotesque idols.

The writer of Genesis saw man in God's image, with dominion over lesser creatures and with dominion over his world.

It is this view of man that demonstrated throughout the centuries. Man, like God the Creator, is himself a creator. He has conquered seas and oceans; he has bridged great rivers and chasms; he has ascended high mountains and delved far into the depths of the earth. In spite of the limitations of human weakness; we see man as exercising dominion.

God who created man is on the side of man to help strengthen him. Man, consecrated to God, may live a life of faith above fear and anxiety. To seek first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness is to establish all of life upon an unshakable foundation.

It is the tragedy of our times that God-like man should choose to make himself so devil-like, destroying where the whole purpose of God and of man at his best is to create and build. The Bible is a great revelation of what man and human society could be, if men fulfilled the character and destiny for which God made them.

Stanton Philosopher Claims He's Figured Out How To Make Both Sides Happy In Football

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw is out of his field this week, but that's his problem.)

Dear editor: Since a man can't spend all his thinking time thinking about international problems, and since every newspaper I've picked up out here lately has been devoting more and more space to the new football season, from high school through college to the professionals, I have returned to a problem I've been working on for several years now.

It is: how can football be arranged so, after a game, everybody on both sides comes away happy? Like it is now, out of the thousands of games played every weekend, fifty percent of the people always leave the stadium sad, except in the case of a tie. No game, like no politician, can last if it can't make more than half the people

On The Square

By RED GIBSON

Somewhere along the line, probably in that dark era when I worked on the night shift, my coffee consumption went up sharply. At its peak it was between 25 and 30 cups a day, which is a considerable amount of coffee.

I didn't pay much attention to it for a long time, for I felt good. Besides, Voltaire used to drink 50 cups a day. I figured that if he could drink 50 and be considered a great thinker, I could drink 25 and be about half as good. I was tempted to shoot for the whole 50, but that takes too much labor.

As a matter of fact, it takes quite a bit of effort to hit 25 cups. You have to get up early and put the pot on in a hurry. And you unquestionably must have a pot going at the office. Also, a fresh pot must be ready for you when you get home from work.

This essay is not meant to disparage coffee; far from it. But coffee, like several other things that come readily to mind, is bad if taken in excess. And that's why I cut down.

Or thought I did. I had cut down to four, maybe five, cups a day until I came to Stanton for a short visit not long ago. The first person I ran into on the street, Ronnie Gilbreath, asked two questions:

1. How are you doing?
2. Can I buy you a cup of coffee?

Ronnie didn't get to pay for coffee, which we got at Currie's Cafe. Wayne Cook was in there, having his morning cup, and he intercepted the check on the way to our table. So Wayne's thirst cost him 60 cents that morning — our table included Sheriff Dan Saunders, Terrel Pinkston, Henry Ringhoffer and Ronnie and me.

Terrel and Dan were having the most fun, for they got to tell a new listener about their trip to Mexico. They didn't say precisely when this trip took place, and it somehow didn't seem right to ask. They took their wives with them, so apparently it was a proper trip.

Anyway, since that first day in town my coffee intake has gone up alarmingly, even though the experience was enjoyable. I have had coffee with such pleasant people as Verla Ray Doggett, Phil Berry, Billy Houston, Raymond Straub, Billy Morrow and Jimmy Stallings. It has all been good. Perhaps the tastiest cup was one Glenn Brown bought me in his drug store; it had a newspaper thrown in. What happened was that I got up before the store opened that day and had to filch a copy of the paper. After the coffee, when payment for drink and paper was offered, Glenn picked up the tab. I shouldn't have thought about buying some sunglasses. No guess no. Glenn is generous, but he isn't Santa Claus. I'll just take the coffee and be grateful to him.

And to the rest. Possibly the best thing that can be said about coffee is that it is a social beverage. You put a lot of people around a table, set out a pot of coffee and start enjoying the conversation. The combination is hard to beat.

What's behind the closed door?

Clean GAS Cooking.

No way around it, broiling creates smoke. But there is a way to keep it out of your kitchen. Close the broiler door and let the GAS flame consume the smoke. Closed-door broiling is just one of many reasons why GAS cooking is cleaner and cooler.

The flame GAS MAKES THE BIG DIFFERENCE ... COSTS LESS, TOO!

Vehicle Inspections Now Underway

Colonel Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety announced today that the 1967 vehicle inspection period has begun.

Garrison said that the new inspection period began on September 1 and will end on April 15, 1967 as prescribed by the Public Safety Commission. The inspection period is the same as in previous years.

"This means that between now and April 15, 1967, each of the five and one half million Texas registered vehicles will have to secure the new green and white 1967 inspection sticker from one of the 5,500 official inspection stations," he said.

Garrison pointed out that Texas inspection stations can be identified by the official vehicle inspection station sign displayed at each station.

Garrison suggested that if motorists have their vehicles inspected during the routine visits to garage for ordinary maintenance, the necessity of having to wait in line at a later date for an inspection will be eliminated.

In announcing the new inspection period, the Public Safety Director pointed out that vehicle defects contributing to traffic accidents in Texas during 1965 were the fewest yet experienced since the inspection program began in 1951.

Dick Milstead Joins Gil Jones Law Firm In BS

Dick Milstead, native of Austin and for 11 years engaged in the practice of law in Kermit, is Big Spring's newest attorney.

Milstead is now associated with Gil Jones at 600 Main.

Milstead received his BA degree at the University of Texas in 1949 and his law degree at the same school in 1957.

For three and a half years he practiced law in Austin.

In Kermit, he was a member of the law firm of Robertson-Wesh and Milstead for nine and a half years.

For 10 of the 11 years he lived in Kermit, he was municipal judge.

He was a member of the Kermit Lions Club and is a member of the Presbyterian church.

His practice, he said, has included both civil and criminal cases but his principal experience has been in the former field.

Gil Jones, former District Attorney, heads one of the finest legal firms in Texas. The distinguished attorney has many clients living in Martin County.

Senator Tower's Column

The increasing crime wave, the constitutional problems in law enforcement, the competitive labor market and the lack of funds confronting our cities all combine to create a major potential threat to the public safety. Never in history has the need for well educated, properly trained law enforcement officers been so critical.

The Law Enforcement Act of 1965 will do much to remedy this situation in the long run. The aid provided under that program will enable law enforcement officers to better cope with the increasingly difficult problems of crime detection and prevention.

But the Act does nothing to alleviate the most serious and immediate problem facing the police departments of our cities today. Recruiting of qualified young men is at a standstill. Even the greatest efforts and best intentions cannot improve the numerical strength and professional effectiveness of police forces. I have been in contact with a number of police officials in Texas and have been informed of the alarming shortage of officers in our police forces.

In many cities, police personnel are stretched so thin that there is a great deal of difficulty in reacting quickly and effectively to an unexpected hazard, either natural or man-made.

While the manpower shortage of our police forces is not a new problem, it has become disturbingly acute in the last year. One of the major reasons for this is the significant number of men enlisting and being drafted for service in our Armed Services.

To remedy this situation, I have introduced an amendment to the Universal Military Training and Service Act to provide a draft deferment for police officers. Congress has already authorized the President to provide for the deferment of registrants whose employment is found to be necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety. My bill would evidence Congressional conviction that effective and fully manned police forces are necessary for public safety. Rather than place a great number of restrictions on this agency, my bill gives it broad authority and instruction to provide for the deferment of police officers in order to avoid undue disruption of the law enforcement agencies of the states.

Draft deferment for police officers would make available a broad segment of well qualified, well educated young men who would consider the career of law enforcement.

A young man who is willing to face the risk of personal abuse, bodily harm or death in the line of duty as a police officer should be given preferential treatment by the boards in the face of the current crisis in law enforcement.

President's Popularity At New Low

President Johnson's popularity has slipped to 50 percent, the lowest level since he entered the White House, a nationwide public opinion poll showed this week.

Unless high prices start going down, the President can look for a lower rating the next time around. Racial unrest in the country has contributed to the low popularity rating also and for two different reasons. First, Johnson has displeased a lot of Americans by his rugged tactics in seeking more civil rights legislation. Secondly, the group he has tried to help — the black minority, now seems to be leaning toward Senator Kennedy and away from Johnson.

The Louis Harris Survey reported the President's rating had dropped four points since July. This revelation comes when Johnson has just finished speaking trips around the nation.

and often quotes them as a low rating includes the riots, airline, newspaper and threatened railroad strikes, drop in the stock market, and the continued high level social life in Washington with a war going on and men dying in Viet Nam.

Another pollster, and Johnson has great stock in them and often quotes them as a preacher would the bible, says that unless the war ends soon in Viet Nam, Johnson's popularity will continue to drop and he will be "in deep trouble."

Sawyer Says Hunters Hurt Communications

Each year, thousands of telephone conversations are interrupted by hunters who are negligent when shooting near telephone wires and cable, according to Harry Sawyer, local Southwestern Bell Telephone Company manager.

It only takes one careless shot to knock out vital local and long distance service for an entire area, he said, noting that many important calls may be missed while the telephone service is out.

Sawyer asked area hunters to follow the rules of safe gunmanship while hunting and to remember that there is no open season on telephone wires.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH MARTIN-HOWARD-MIDLAND SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT

Jack Buchanan, Bob Cox, Bernard Houston, Larry Shaw, J. D. Crawford.

Bob Cox, vice chairman of the Martin - Howard S. C. D. and chairman of the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce, announced this week that the annual Martin County farm tour will be held next Tuesday, September 20.

The tour will be in private automobiles and will leave the south side of the courthouse Tuesday morning at 9:30. Lunch will be served by the Home Demonstration Club at Tarzan at noon. The meal will cost $1.50 per person.

Cox stated that the group will see parallel terraces, weed control methods, cotton and sorghum variety tests, and other improved farming procedures, during the morning and evening tour, which will be concluded by 3:30 p.m.

"The conservation revolution, now just beginning to flower, may be the most important and least understood revolution of all," Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said at McKinney, Thursday, September 6, as he dedicated the 1,000 flood prevention dam in Texas.

Freeman said conservation meant stopping floods and soil erosion which would result in unpolluted streams and lakes. He also said it meant the development, protection, use and management of all our resources for the need and enjoyment of people.

Site 16, Sister Grove watershed, a tributary of the Trinity, was the dam dedicated. Freeman pointed out that the Sister Grove project would return $2.35 in benefits for each $1.00 of total cost.

Freeman also paid tribute to the leadership of soil and water conservation districts, the Soil Conservation Service, county courts, and other local groups for progress made in Texas watershed projects.

H. N. Smith, state conservationist, SCS, officially turned Site 16 over to John Wells, chairman, Collin County Soil and Water Conservation District, for operation and maintenance. Wells promised that with the help of the Collin County Commissioners Court, the dam would be well maintained.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

Fishing is the most popular recreational activity.

So states the Department of Interior. Recently the Department completed a study of some 40 recreational areas around the country, extending from the Virgin Islands to Mt. McKinley in Alaska. These areas provide "wide and colorful fish" ranging from tarpon to trout.

"The anglers will find the wilderness settings are among the nation's most scenic and spectacular and also as varied as the species of sports fish in their waters," the report says. "He can cast a line in the turbulent streams of Yellowstone National Park; the salt water of the Gulf of Mexico, near Fort Jefferson National Monument, off the Florida Keys, the two gigantic lakes contained in the Lake Mead National Recreational area; or in the placid brook along the sprawling Blue Ridge."

Now Texas is adding a facility to the list — Padre Island, the national seashore from Corpus Christi to Port Isabel. Here is a stretch of land little more than 100 miles long, off the coast of Texas. A major portion of it is being taken over by the Federal government. A superintendent has been appointed and the development is to get underway soon.

Padre will lure to Texas many people from all over the United States to fish along that beautiful sand spit.

Which also reminds us that Texas now has an advertising fund. Its expenditures are under the supervision of the Texas Tourist Development Agency, with offices in the John H. Reagan building in Austin.

Veterans Administration

(Editor's note: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their government provides for them through Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.)

Q — I am a "cold war" veteran. May I obtain a G. I. loan for the purpose of purchasing a business?

A — No. G. I. loans may be made under the new G. I. Bill only for the purchase of a home or farm.

Q — My father was killed in military service and I have been attending school under the educational program administered by the VA. I will be married this summer, but intend to return to school and complete my college education. Will my marriage terminate the monthly payments I have been receiving from VA?

A — No. Marriage does not terminate your entitlement for this benefit.

Q — What procedure is necessary for correction of an other than honorable discharge?

A — Upon request the military services will provide Form DD-293, Application for Review of Discharge for other than Honorable cases, and DD Form 149, Correction of Military or Naval Record for veterans with dishonorable discharges. Although VA has no jurisdiction in these cases, forms are available at VA offices.

Shivers To Be Honored In Woodville

Former Governor Allan Shivers will be honored at the dedication of an Official Texas Historical Marker commemorating his long public service on October 1 at Woodville, his hometown. The announcement was made today by John Ben Shepperd of Odessa, President of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee.

Ceremonies will be at 11 a.m. the Allan Shiver Library and Museum.

Governor John Connally will give the dedicatory address.

The marker is the second to be erected in the Modern Texas Statesmen series initiated by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee. A marker for former Gov. William P. Hobby was dedicated in 1964 at Moscow in Polk County.

Hanson, reporter.

Plans were made to attend the district convention in Snyder.

The next meeting will be Oct. 17, at the Flower Grove High School. A lawyer will present the program, and the public is invited to attend.

With this money, and with the help of industries, the state is telling the Texas story to the nation.

Hunting and fishing are two important assets that will attract tourists to Texas. Texas has more deer population than any other state. More deer are being killed here every year than anywhere else in the nation. Furthermore, we have more equitable laws, and our non-resident license fee is nominal.

As for fishing Texas has forged ahead of many other states. Originally Texas had practically no water. But there are many impoundments today to provide top fishing, especially for bass, crappie and catfish.

Our Texas coast line, with its bays and inlets, provide something like 1,200 miles of fine coastal fishing waters. They extend completely across the Gulf of Mexico.

Another attractive feature is Texas' $2.15 universal fishing license. Most states charge much higher fees to non-residents. Sportsmen in Texas pay the same low price whether a native or a newcomer.

All Texas lakes and streams have been amply stocked, and fishing is available wherever in the state every day of the year. More lakes are being built every year. Right now we have ample to care for the added millions who'll be coming to Texas for their vacations, or to make their homes.

Facilities also are being provided around these lakes, even in the smallest of towns. Such facilities attract tourists. And good fishing holds 'em!

The Allan Shivers Library and Museum, which will also be dedicated, serves as the Tyler County public library, and the museum displays Shivers family memorabilia.

Shivers and his wife purchased and restored an 1885 two-story house as a museum, and added on a library.

The museum is being further developed by the Shivers family. They also are developing a rare books room for the library that will include books about Texas, written by Texans, and books and information about all U. S. Presidents.

Kenneth Holm, Assistant Secretary of the U. S. Department of Interior for Water and Power, will be the principal speaker at the annual meeting of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., on September 21.

The meeting will be held in the KoKo Palace, 5201 Avenue O, Lubbock, beginning at 10 a.m. Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of PCG has issued a blanket invitation to all cotton producers, ginners and other cotton-related businessmen. Lunch will be served at noon.

Holm is one of the most knowledgeable people in the U. S. on the subject of surface water, its distribution, and current plans for its redistribution from surplus areas to water-short areas such as the High Plains.

He will direct his remarks specifically at water for irrigation purposes, and is expected to shed some light on when, and from where, supplemental irrigation water might be made available to the High Plains.

Dr. Grover E. Murray, new President of Texas Technological College, is also scheduled to speak. He will outline and explain the significance of his plan to make Texas Tech the world center for higher education and research on "arid and semiarid lands."

As of 1964, the High Plains had 5.75 million acres under irrigation, and the total is expected to peak at near 6 million acres about 1980. But hydrologists predict that by the year 2020, slightly less than 2.2 million acres can be irrigated from existing supplies of water.

For this reason Johnson feels that one of the prime responsibilities of Plains Cotton Growers is to fully investigate every possibility of securing supplemental water for irrigation.

"And having these people on the program for our annual meeting is one step toward learning all we can about where surplus water is available and how it can be brought to this area," Johnson said. He feels that these two speakers have to say will be highly interesting to the PCG membership, and is urging a large attendance.

He pointed out that the PCK Water Committee, chaired by Joe B. Pate, Jr., of Lubbock, for the past several months has been studying the proposed "Texas Water Plan" and working closely with others in an effort to get some of our own state's surplus surface water for West Texas.

"But at best the available surplus water in Texas might be sufficient to maintain our current level of irrigation," Johnson said, "and we are striving toward the development of our full irrigated potential, somewhere in the neighborhood of 9 million acres. And to do this we must look to out-of-state sources of additional water."

The annual meeting will also include the regular report on past, present, and future PCG activities. County directors, elected previously in meetings throughout the 23-county area, will be certified by the membership. PCG is governed by two directors from each county, one a producer and the other a businessman.

All-cotton door prizes will be given and there will be two grand prizes, one each to a ginner and a cotton producer. The grand prize will consist of an expense-paid trip to the Texas Cotton Ginners Convention in Dallas, usually held in April. Johnson said he hoped to complete the meeting by around 2 p.m.

As of Friday morning, September 9, 123,981 acres had been sprayed with low-volume, undulated malathion in the third year of the High Plains Boll Weevil Control Program, according to Ed Dean, Field Service Director for Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

Plains Cotton Growers is the cotton produced organization through which the program was organized in 1964 and which continues to coordinate the efforts of all agencies involved.

Dean said somewhere around 42,000 acres remain to be sprayed in this first application. This would bring total acres involved to about 165,000 acres. The reduction is due to the fact that intensive survey work has failed to find weevils in some of the area previously suspected of infestation.

There is a possibility that weevil migration will bring additional acreage into the control zone, but officials are confident the total will not exceed the first estimate of 190,000 acres.

Weather conditions on Thursday, September 20, grounded the 18 aircraft being used for the spraying. But it was felt that one more full day's spraying could complete the first operation.

The program, designed to prevent the spread of the dreaded weevil across the High Plains, has been dramatically successful to date, reducing per-acre weevil populations last year by 99 per cent.

Low competitive bidder for the spray contract, for the third year in a row, was Roane's Flying Service of Jeanerette, La. The spraying price this year went for $1.80 per gallon, which figures about 16.5 to 22 cents per acre, depending on the

Imported Irrigation Water West Texas Section Goal

Joe G. Moore, Jr., Texas Water Development Board executive director, said in Lubbock Friday that the feasibility of importing irrigation water into West Texas will be subjected to new studies.

Moore who said the studies will be initiated "as rapidly as available staff and funds will permit," made the announcement at the conclusion of an all-day hearing on the Texas Water Plan.

His announcement followed closely some of the recommendations made earlier in the day by a host of representatives of farm organizations, West Texas Chamber of Commerce, U. S. Rep. Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls, members of the state legislature and others.

Moore said the board will examine four alternative sources "in sufficient detail to provide cost estimates for surface water for irrigation in various respective points."

These potential sources include:

1. Waters available to Texas in the Sulphur, Cypress and Lower Red River Basins and possibly the Upper Sabine River Basin in excess of intrabasin requirements and projected municipal and industrial needs in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

2. Water in lower Sabine and Neches River Basins now not allocated under the Texas Water Plan.

3. All water in East Texas surplus to intrabasin requirements and the demands for higher uses which Moore said must be satisfied by interbasin transfers.

4. Imported water to West Texas from either the Mississippi or the Missouri River or their western tributaries.

Moore told an audience of about 350 persons from throughout West Texas that he wasn't asking them to abandon objective and critical appraisal of the Texas Water Plan.

"I would ask you rather to join us in the continuing review of that plan as it is implemented and as it undergoes the inevitable modifications which changing conditions will impose upon it," he said.

John Ben Shepperd of Odessa, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce pleaded for the plan.

The first two applications, applied at from five to seven day intervals, will be at the rate of 12 ounces of malathion per acre. Subsequent applications, from that time until frost, will be on a 10 to 14 day schedule and at the rate of 16 ounces per acre.

However, Don Rummel, Area Extension Entomologist, pointed out that the third application may be made in five to seven days also if weevil populations warrant.

Basis for these rapid-fire applications, according to Rummel, is to have an egg-free period during September when environmental conditions are suited to weevils entering diapause.

In the second phase, the applications are made at wider spacing, timewise, and the purpose is to kill those weevils missed by September sprayings before they have a chance to reach overwintering sites.

The program is financed by cotton producers at the rate of 40 cents per bale produced, paid into the program through Plains Cotton Growers, and by state and federal funds. Federal funds match the producer and state contribution, dollar for dollar.

When the program began in 1964, Rummel says weevil populations ran as high as 20,000 per acre, the highest recorded in any section of the cotton belt.

The sixteen survey teams working the area this year reported and average of only 10 weevils per acre in mid-August, but these populations are naturally increasing. Rummel, however, expects them to stay substantially below the 1,500 per acre peak populations of last year.

Winning The Reward

Edwards flew into a rage when he found the hub caps missing from his car. Shaking his fist, he sputtered:

"Why, I'd give $100 to know who stole those hub caps!"

The man next door, hearing these words, took them literally. He did a little quiet sleuthing, and, sure enough, discovered the culprit. But when he claimed a $100 reward, Edwards refused to pay off.

And in a court test, the judge sided with Edwards. His angry exclamation, said the judge, was obviously just a way of letting off steam, not a serious offer of a reward.

The legal obligation to pay a reward is based not on the ethics of gratitude but on the principles of contract law. There must be an offer, seriously meant. And there must also be a performance that fits the terms called for in the offer.

Thus, a reward offered for locating a robber "and" his loot is not earned by one who locates the robber — but not the loot.

Nevertheless, to encourage the catching of criminals, the law usually gives the claimant the benefit of the doubt.

An alert citizen led police to the hideout of a fugitive killer. But their effort to arrest him resulted in a gun fight in which the fugitive was slain. In these circumstances, was the citizen entitled to a reward offered for the man's "arrest?"

A court said he was indeed, because — for all practical purposes — he had done the job for which the reward was offered.

Is everyone eligible for a reward that is offered to the general public? No. As a matter of public policy, certain individuals may be disqualified even if the reward offer doesn't say so.

For instance, a policeman who does no more than his duty cannot ordinarily claim a reward offered by the victim of a crime. Otherwise, the police might be tempted to give better service to people willing to offer rewards.

Nor may a reward be claimed by someone who was himself involved in the crime. Thus, a man who helped find some stolen shoes was denied a reward, when it turned out that he had also helped to steal them.

As one judge put it: "No man shall be permitted to profit by his own iniquity."

Government Announces Freeze On Federal Agency Borrowing

Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler announced Saturday a 4-month freeze on federal agency borrowing in the tight private money market in an attempt to ease pressure for high interest rates.

The move was the first to be carried out by the administration under President Johnson's plan, announced last week, for fighting inflation and cooling off the overheated economy.

Fowler told a news conference there would be no sales on such federally owned financial assets as loans and mortgages through December "unless marked condition improve materially." Nor will federal agencies issue any new securities in the private market except to refund old maturing debt.

If federal agencies need additional funds to finance their operations, he said, they will have to borrow from such government investment accounts as the Social Security Trust Fund rather than from the public.

Fowler predicted the freeze would take the pressure off interest rates, now at their highest level in 40 years. But he added that mortgage rates are very difficult to bring down.

"Mortgage rates have a way of being stickier than others," he said. "It will take some time."

Sales of agency securities help send rates higher because the government, in effect, is competing with businessmen, consumers and other private borrowers for a limited supply of credit.

Ironically, the freeze will increase the federal deficit and force the Treasury to borrow more money from private lenders.

But Fowler's move was viewed as the lesser of two evils. Some experts say Treasury borrowing is inherently less inflationary than agency borrowing because Treasury securities have a broader appeal and thus do not have to carry such a high interest rate.

Fowler said the Treasury probably will need to borrow more than the 4 billion dollars it had planned before the freeze to obtain funds between now and end of the year. He was unable to say how much more.

New Car Buyers Have Opportunity To Buy Safe Cars, Save Money

Prospective new car buyers have an excellent opportunity to buy safe cars and save money by purchasing within the next few weeks. H. C. Pittman, executive vice president of the Texas Automobile Dealers Association announced today in Austin.

Pittman stated that new models will be slightly higher than the popular 1966 vehicles because of added safety equipment and finance charges. He stated that new car dealers in Texas reported sales during August just about equalled sales of a year ago. In spite of all the publicity about new safety equipment, Pittman reported that drivers continued to be the basic cause of accidents and the 1966 vehicles have proven to be exceptionally safe. Dealers report no problems in financing new cars and their stocks contain excellent selections.

New car showing dates for 1967 models will be: September 29th — Chevrolet, Buick, Dodge, Oldsmobile, Chrysler, Plymouth, Pontiac; September 30th — Ford, Lincoln, Mercury; October 6th — Cadillac, Rambler.

Pittman reported that 1967 models will contain as added safety features: dual brake systems, collapsible steering wheel columns, a simultaneous turn flash system, stronger door latches and hinges, recessed instrument panel knobs, larger outside rear-view mirrors and better windshield wipers. By 1968, models will contain headrests on front seats, "breakoff" window and door handles, padded backs for front seats, and rear-window defoggers.

TIM BRISTOW, son of MR. and MRS. DOC BRISTOW, this city, is among the 19 Texas Tech students picked for special honors from the freshman class. A story of young BRISTOW'S selection appears elsewhere in the paper. We wish to add our personal congratulations to TIM.

HERE is the lead sentence in story appearing in The Denver City Press Sunday concerning the 12-6 defeat suffered by the Mustangs of that city in the season's opener against Brownfield. "The high-flying Mustangs—sailing to first game victories for nearly a decade of football—were shot down Friday night 12-6 in the season's opener with the Brownfield Cubs." It seems that the Mustangs allowed too many pass interceptions. Six thousand fans turned out for the game. We mention the Denver City defeat to indicate to the Stanton Buffaloes that the Thundering Herd for the oil town are not invincible. This is not to indicate a bad season for the Mustangs, because they always have a fighting football club. But in years passed, when Stanton played in the same district with the Ponies, there seemed to be a tendency for the fans to give up before the game started. This year, maybe, just perhaps, we will take the field with better odds.

CONGRATULATIONS are in order for the BAYLOR BEARS for trimming Syracuse 35-12 Saturday. It was a great victory for the men who wear the Green and Gold, and PAIGE EILAND, a Baylor ex-student and fan deluxe, is up in the clouds over the Bruins triumph. He should be. Baylor had knocked down a very fine football team and perhaps the victory indicates what lies ahead for SWC opponents when they play the group from Waco. PAIGE had a copy of the Waco paper with a "Would You Believe It" type of headline. Later, we picked up a copy of the Longview News-Journal, and found an attractive over-the-banner streamer heralding the Baylor win. The streamer was in two colors—Green and Gold, of course!

A nice note and subscriptions renewal arrived recently from J. C. NEWLAND, Lamesa. Our out-of-town readers have been extremely generous with kind words for the OLE RELIABLE and we are happy in the knowledge that our paper is appreciated. We also had a renewal check from our old friend, PHILIP WHITE, the Ford dealer in Lamesa. We want to drive up to Lamesa before long and visit awhile with some of our former Stanton residents and other subscribers in that area who are interested in Martin County and its newspaper.

IT was nice to see DR. JACK WOODROW out of the hospital and around town this week. The WOODROWS were shopping when we encountered them. DOC says he feels pretty good and as soon as he gets the green light from his physician he intends to resume practice. Being sick was a new experience for the physician. He told us Monday that the recent attack was his first experience as a patient. DR. WOODROW is a fine man and one of our most progressive citizens. He differs with some of our opinions but never gets heated up over a two-sided question. Most intelligent people hold to this view, but we have the radicals in our community who don't think anybody else ought to have opposite opinions.

NETWORK television's new season finds 34 new series up for the '66 season. Television Magazine reports that the networks spent $3,596,500 to produce the shows. That is a sizeable bundle, especially considering the track record of last year's entries in the ratings. Only 14 shows survived the 1965 season. Most of the "message" programs lost out. Networks need to realize that people want and expect good advertising and entertainment from TV. They don't appreciate and will not tolerate the propaganda bits. By-the-way, have you noticed the faces in the new runs? Most of the guys and gals previously appeared in other productions. It is going to take a little adjustment to get used to watching that hard man who played FRANK NITTI in the Untouchables do a good guy, white hot bit in another series. We hold to the image theory. Once a fellow pops on a black hat it's hard to imagine him wearing a tv badge. Even in video a bad reputation is hard to live down.

COMPLAINTS are rolling in concerning stray dogs on the streets of Stanton. A big gang of the canines are running in a pack in West Stanton and doing considerable damage to plants and flower beds. None of the dogs are tagged nor have they been immunized against rabies. It could be a dangerous situation. Dogs must be kept up or disposed of. Don't turn them loose on your neighbors. If you love your pet, take care of him.

AS long as we have stop signs in the city limits of Stanton we should observe them. Perhaps all of us have been a little lax in obeying the laws of traffic and we need to tighten up. CHIEF BRUTON can't be in all sections of Stanton at the same time, so it is up to citizens to supply him with the traffic infractions observed, when they "get out of bounds." The other day—Monday—a young lady ripped through a stop sign in West Stanton a good 50 miles an hour. She is a sweet young girl and I hope I never have to write her obituary, but unless she slows down, real trouble could result. But there is no need in dealing with individual cases. We admit to being negligent to a certain extent in the past and plan to follow the advise we are suggesting here. Let's cut down on accidents in both the city and county by trying to be more cautious, courteous and careful when driving.

If your family thinks cream-egg eggs are unexciting, try serving them over steamed rice with a topping of crisp chow mein noodles and a side accompaniment of pickled peaches. For the eggs, just add sliced hard-cooked eggs to medium cream sauce.

When a recipe calls for

"stewed" tomatoes, buy that variety to use. Some cooks confuse stewed tomatoes with plain canned tomatoes; the former are packed with bits of onion and green pepper and are well seasoned. The stewed tomatoes come in 4-serving cans and also in buffet cans to serve two.

WT Girl Scout Director Quits

Mrs. Janice Howard has resigned as executive director of the West Texas Girl Scout Council. The announcement came from Eldon Mahon, Council President.

Mrs. Howard had been executive director of the West Texas Council for five and a half years. She moved to Abilene from Waco, Texas where she was also the executive director, serving in this capacity for five years.

Prior to that she taught in the Physical Education Department at Hardin-Simmons University for six years.

Keeping Up With Bison Opponents

Stanton will be in District 4-AA this season's most fans already know. Our principal opponents will include such old-time enemies as the Denver City eleven, Post, Frenship, Slaton, and Morton.

The Buffs will face Iraan this week down there.

While the Buffaloes were losing to Roscoe's Plowboys 28-7, Iraan was dropping a lid blaster to Big Lake 28-6. The Big Lake Owls are reported to have a fine football squad this year.

Post defeated Hale Center 14-8. The Stanton club tangles with Post in Stanton on November 11.

After the game with Iraan, the Buffs will meet Seagraves, McCamey and Wink before entering district play against Frenship on the home field.

Manager O. B. Byran presided at the meeting and gave a report on the operations of the Cooperative during the past year. The invocation was prayed by Reverend Richard Payne, pastor of Stanton First Methodist Church. Special guests were introduced by James D. Eiland, assistant manager. Eiland also introduced Mike Springer, one of two winners in the Cooperative sponsored Government In Action Youth Tour to Washington. Springer lauded the tour and thanked the Cooperative for sponsoring this activity to give young people an opportunity to learn more about their government.

President Glenn Cantrell conducted the business meeting. The report of the nominating committee was given by Mrs. W. H. Ward, and Robert K. Hudson, attorney for the Cooperative, held the election. The barbecue was catered by Johnny's Barbecue of Midland. Movies were shown for the entertainment of the children while the business session was in progress.

The project is a re-entry of a 13,086-foot Ellenburger failure originally drilled by Humble Oil & Refining Co. and plugged in July, 1964.

Location is 6,405 feet from north and 6,306 feet from west lines of league 250, Hartley County School Land, 1½ mile southwest of Patricia in Martin as an extension to the MAK (Spraberry) pool. Perforations between 8,484 and 8,528 feet yielded 226 barrels of 35-gravity crude, plus 6 per cent water daily through a 24-64-inch choke. The horizon was injected with 1,750 gallons of acid, 25,000 gallons of fracture fluid and 50,000 pounds of sand. Gas-oil ratio was 801-1 and surface pressure gauged 125 pounds.

Total depth at the project is 8,686 feet and 4½-inch casing pipe is set on bottom.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 2,310 feet from east lines of section 29, block 6, University Lands.

Russell Maguire of Dallas will drill No. 1 Grantham as a ¾-mile northwest and a mile southeast stepout of a south extension area of the Martin sector of the Ackerly (Dean) pool seven miles south or Ackerly.

Scheduled for 8,700 feet, it spots 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 30, block 34, T-3-N, T&P survey.

Disqualified Men To Be Inducted

Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara disclosed Pentagon plans to accept for military training in the next 10 months 40,000 men ordinarily disqualified because of education and health reasons.

He said the number would increase to 100,000 in the next fiscal year and in succeeding years. The men would undergo intensive training using facilities of the Defense Department — "the largest single educational complex the world has ever known" — to become "fully satisfactory soldiers," McNamara said in a speech prepared for delivery to the convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Aides in Washington described the training effort as unique and said men taken into the program will, like draftees and enlistees, be under military authority of the services. Pentagon spokesmen said 85 per cent or more of such trainees are expected to qualify for military duty. Those who do not qualify "will not be retained" in the service. McNamara told of the program in a speech that otherwise touched more on the war on poverty than the war in Viet Nam.

The Pentagon chief declared at one point, however, the United States has kept its commitments from South Viet Nam to Berlin "and will continue to do so until reasonable settlements are achieved." He offered no hope an end to the war is forthcoming.

"Our adversaries in Southeast Asia have come to respect our fire power," McNamara said. "It is clear now that they can only hope for a wavering of our willpower... they are of course mistaken."

Outdoors In Texas

Little gems they are! And to the fisherman they're like beautiful strings of pearls.

They're little and often practically unnoticed. But they produce some of the state's finest... yet unheralded... fishing.

These little gems are the countless hundreds of stock ponds and potholes over Texas... ranging from an acre to 10 acres in size. These strings of pearls are the winding rice canals that supply water for rice field irrigation.

Many of the larger ponds, those 10 acres or so in size, are fished regularly either on a per day basis or by members of private fishing clubs.

Most of the smaller ponds... and the rice canals... can be fished simply by getting permission of the landowners.

What do these ponds and canals yield? Fine bluegill, bream and perch action plus some astonishingly large black bass, blackies running as large as six pounds.

This is one kind of fishing that requires no special equipment. Standard baitcasting, spincasting or spinning gear will do the trick. It's also the kind of water that can be worked with fly tackle.

Except in the case of the larger ponds, all the fishing can be done from the bank.

On the large ponds, a small johnboat or canoe will put the angler within reach of every foot of water.

Unless the water area is quite small and badly overfished, the little gems will produce more fish in a given amount of fishing time than the large lakes that cover many square miles. This is simply because on the small ponds an angler can cover all nounced (permits were for sale of $539,941.650).

State draft boards will be called upon to furnish 2,339 men for the armed forces in November. October quota — largest monthly call since 1953 near the end of the Korean conflict — has been increased from 2,671 to 2,845.

Your Old Shoes Tell Volumes About You

Your shoes should be built for walking, and your old shoes are your best guides to what you need in a new pair. That's the opinion of Dr. Graham Hard, Texas A&M University Extension clothing specialist.

So, if you made mistakes in selecting your last pair of shoes, both your shoes and you have suffered. The way the old shoes look new may show you what those mistakes were.

Here are some of the common signs you may find on your old shoes that indicate some "buymanship" mistakes, says Dr. Hard.

If the shoe is worn unevenly, with most of the signs of wear in the front, the shoe is too short for you. Soles should wear through first at the center.

If the upper portions of the shoe bulge over the shoe line, the shoe is too narrow. Shoes that are worn completely out of shape show that size shoe is all wrong for you. In that case, you'd better have your shoe salesman make a special check of the exact size you need.

When the shoe heel pushes under or new lifts are needed often, the shoe is too short. Wear at the toe tip also means that the shoe is too short.

Heels that wear on the inside indicate that your arch is weak. Slight wearing at the back or outside line or normal. When "pockets" for the toes wear inside the sole, the shoe is too tight.

A shoe that is puckered or wrinkled behind the ball along the arch shows that it is not long enough from ball to heel, thus pushing the ball of the foot forward. While the overall length of the shoe may be right, the proportion probably is not, says Dr. Hard.

the water and all likely spots. Consequently these little gems are ideal areas where you can give youngsters their first taste of angling.

Fishing, as delightful as it is, becomes a bore to a youngster if fish are slow to bite or are lacking. But in the little ponds the bream and perch seem to have unending appetites and offer youngsters a lot of exciting action.

Baits that produce results on the big lakes are also fish-getters in the ponds and canals. And the method of fishing also is the same.

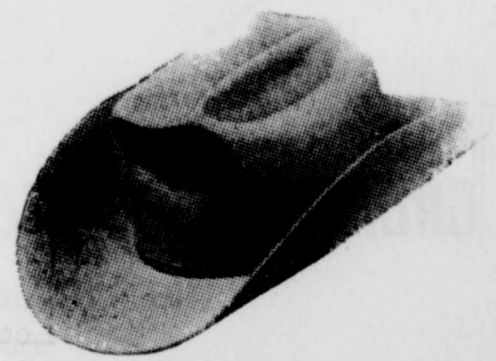

Ponds have flats, shallows and deep holes just like the big lakes.

Most of the man-made stock ponds are dug in such a manner that the deep troughs are close to and parallel to the bank. These troughs may run six to 10 feet deep with the shallows out in the middle just a couple of feet in depth. And most of these ponds have small foot bridges or shallow bars on which the angler can cross to reach the areas that can be waded.

Rice canals are six to eight feet deep and 20 to 30 feet wide. Their length depends on how large a rice area is serviced.
