College District Support Grows

By NEAL ESTES
ACE REID, noted Texas cartoonist, tells this story. The area around Comfort in Texas Hill Country, is populated with many German families. Comfort people have always passed through Borne enroute to San Antonio. Now there's a new highway that bypasses Borne. There is a man named BRUNO who operates BRUNO'S CAVE in Comfort. An elderly German who hadn't been to San Antonio in 15 years went down for the stock show. He came back fast as he could and said, "BRUNO, give me a beer." BRUNO said: "He drink half of it in one swallow and den he say, 'BRUNO, ven did they move Borene?'"

West Texans are convinced they have a lot to brag about and they did some bragging recently in Washington. The occasion was a dinner hosted by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

And the West Texas brought up a few attractions which many Texans in Washington attending the dinner didn't know about.

For instance, the wine accompanying the steak dinner came from West Texas, as did the steaks.

The winery is in Del Rio, and the wine itself proved to be an added attraction to a festive and well-planned evening.

Speeches were held to a minimum. The desire to put on a party instead of a meeting caused West Texas Chamber of Commerce president John Ben Sheppard — who is seldom caught speechless — to decline to make a formal speech.

Each woman guest went away with another West Texas product — colorful wool mohair blankets manufactured in Eldorado.

NELSON EDDY, handsome singing idol of the '30s and '40s who formed with the late JEANETTE McDONALD one of the most beloved romantic teams of movie history, died the other day. EDDY suffered a stroke as he sang from a Miami Beach night club stage. He was 65. EDDY and MISS McDONALD joined in singing such musicals as "Naughty Marietta" and "Rose Marie." Some of the better known songs the famed pair of performers sang included: "Indian Love Call" and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life."

It has been said that the three ages of man are school tablet, aspirin tablet and stone tablet.

One thing for sure. Since I have been in and out of the hospital and recuperating at my home one of the highlights of my day was to view the BAT MASTERSON program. I sure miss the show.

GOV. CONNALLY has appointed HARRY D. JERSIG of San Antonio as a new member of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission. JERSIG is president of the Lone Star Brewing Company. The outgoing member, is A. W. MOURSDUN, LBJ'S business associate.

We send out congratulations to the AMERICAN LEGION on the 48th birthday of the organization. The LEGION was founded March 15-17, 1919 in Paris, France, shortly after the close of World War One hostilities. Its founders were representatives of various outfits which made up the AEF. The organization now consists of veterans of World War I, World War II, the Korean War, and the Vietnam War.

He noted that the county makes a $10 million crop each year but said without rain soon that amount could drop to as little as $7 million.

He told of his trip and displayed slides of places he had visited.

It was of special interest to Martha Couch, president of the Gay Hill Club, as she is one of the 1967 winners and will leave in June on the same sort of tour.

The meeting was in the Bethel Baptist Church annex.

Special services will be held in several Stanton churches Sunday in observance of Easter.

Investigation Continues In Stanton Thefts

The Martin County Sheriff's Department continued its investigation today into the March 15 burglary of the Dr Pepper Bottling Co. here.

Thieves kicked in a side door at the plant and left with approximately $30 from the cigarette machine. Also missing was a transistor radio.

The burglary came one night after burglars broke into the Friendly Food Store, ripped open the safe and escaped with $377, mostly in coins.

No suspects have been arrested in either case.

Martin County Men Included On Committee

The Permian Basin Committee for a four-year college, which enlisted a broader base of support last weekend, turned its attention back to Austin Wednesday where legislative committee meetings were being held on an amendment to a 1951 bill which would qualify the Permian Basin for a regional college district.

Martin County Commissioners Weiland Atchison and Mason Coggin were in Austin for the meetings. They left Stanton Wednesday morning.

Tag Sales Slow, Deadline Nears

With the deadline for purchase of automobile license plates less than two weeks away, Martin County Sheriff, Tax Assessor-Collector Dan Saunders reports that only about 875 tags have been sold since the period opened in January.

During the 1966 sales period, 1,900 vehicles were registered with more than 5,500 registering here to date.

Saunders urged county residents to purchase tags as soon as possible to avoid last minute rushes at the courthouse.

Residents also were reminded that the deadline for inspection of vehicles is April 15.

Methodists Set Spring Revival

Rev. Ed Robb, nationally-known evangelist headquartered in the Abilene area, will be revival speaker here April 9 through April 16, for the annual spring revival of the First Methodist Church of Stanton.

With Rev. Robb will be singers Gene and Bobbie Moore, members of his evangelistic staff.

The announcement of the planned services was made here today by Rev. Richard Payne, First Methodist pastor.

Funeral Rites Held For E. R. (Bill) Perry

E. R. (Bill) Perry, 48, this city, died at 9:30 p.m. Saturday, apparently of a heart attack suffered while fishing at Lake Falcon.

Services were held at 4 p.m. Wednesday at Nalley - Pickle Rosewood Chapel, Big Spring. Rev. V. W. Allen, pastor of Tarzan Baptist Church officiated assisted by Rev. Church. Burial was in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mr. Perry was born Sept. 10, 1918, at Roff, Okla., and moved to Texas in 1937. He was married to Dora Faye Goolsy, May 26, 1940, at Ackery and had been a resident of Martin County for the past 26 years. He was a member of the Lenora Baptist Church and Martin County Farm Bureau. He served on the Grady school board for several years. He was a veteran of World War II and served overseas with a U.S. Army anti-aircraft unit for three years.

Survivors include his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Schmidt of Big Spring, and Misses Elizabeth Ann and Lea Perry, both of Stanton; a brother, L. D. Perry of Long Beach, Calif.; and his mother, Mrs. Frank Beard of Davis, Okla.

"If this area becomes qualified for a regional college district, the committee will urge the counties in this area to join in creating such a district," said John A. Woodward of Odessa.

Martin County would be one of the counties which would be asked to participate in both the organization and financing of the four-year school.

Woodward, vice president and general counsel for El Paso Products Co., presided at a meeting Saturday of the Permian Basin Committee. Its ranks were swelled to include 83 representatives from various counties in the area.

The meeting, which was held on the Odessa College campus, was called in order to inform members of the Austin trips.

Stanton men named to the committee include Cecil Bridges, Russell McMeans, David Workman and County Judge Jim McCoy.

Reps. Ace Pickens of Odessa and Richard Slack of Pecos, co-sponsors of the amendment, along with Reps. Frank Cahoon of Midland, and Randy Pendleton of Andrews, were present as was Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo.

The committee voted unanimously to support the amendment, and every county was asked to send representatives to the Austin meetings.

During the last Austin meet of the college group, Stanton resident Cecil Bridges attended to express local interest in the issue.

It was five weeks ago that delegation trekked to Austin for an unprecedented Sunday session of the State College Board of Higher Education.

The board ruled that the Permian Basin had failed to show that an emergency existed and affirmed an earlier decision not to recommend any state supported colleges until completion of a master plan sometime in 1969.

This ruling has now led the committee to map an alternate action which would establish a four-year college as soon as possible, using existing facilities and the physical plant of Odessa College as a nucleus.

"But, with a view to obtain the additional lands and facilities that would be required for a college having a potential enrollment of 10,000 students," Woodward stressed.

The committee also voted unanimously to continue all efforts to obtain a four-year college with or without state support, to include raising funds for the investigation and exploration of any and all means to obtain the school without delay and without having to wait for the Coordinating Board's decision when its master plan is completed.

"The entire committee feels the need for a four-year college in this area is critical and immediate," Woodward said.

If you have to go fishing in a hurry, don't have long to stay, or it is too far to drive... take wings! Fly, man... fly!

Use of planes for fishing trips is becoming quite commonplace. Individual plane owners have been flying to their favorite fishing spots for a number of years.

Today, however hundreds and hundreds of Texans are using regular commercial planes or special flights to get them there and bring them back in a hurry.

There are organized "group" trips, too!

Perhaps the best of the "group" air-fishing-junkies by Texas are staged by the Texas Fame Fishing Club of Dallas. Members of this club have been just about everywhere on the North American continent, with several chartered trips a year.

Other clubs, such as the Dallas Woods and Waters Club, and a new one in Austin, also have promoted these organized trips to Canada and other hot spots of fishermen.

There's always a thrill in going to some new, far away place to cast a few lures. However, Texas should not be overlooked.

Texas has fine fishing in more inland waters than any other state. Most of these waters are reachable by commercial air lines. You can fly between cities, then rent a car at the airport, spend a day at your favorite lake and return home at night. If your time is worth anything it generally will be cheaper to fly than to drive any great distance.

Form North Texas it's only a little more than an hour to the Texas coast. You have a choice of scores of good places, all the way from Port Arthur to Brownsville. All are served by commercial airlines.

If you live in South Texas and want to fish one of the seven Highland Lakes it's but a short hop into Austin. Or you can go on to Waco, Fort Worth and Dallas for an abundance of good sparkling water. Or fly into East Texas... say to the Longview-Lufkin-Nacogdoches area... fast becoming the fisherman's paradise.

You can go west too, young man, clear to the Rio Grande. You can land in Laredo... or El Paso... or any number of spots in between.

And there's some good new fishing waters in the Panhandle area... all reachable by air.

Texas has more than 200 inland lakes and reservoirs, some of them mighty, mighty big, too. You can't visit them all, but you can try. Go by air and have a day to spare.

I've made a number of these flying trips, especially on the week-end.

Most recent one was out of state... a weekender to Little Rock, Ark.

Four of us flew up there, rented a car and drove to Heber Springs where we got in a day and a half of fishing on Greer Ferry Lake. It's a new impoundment built by the Corps of Engineers.

We flew Trans-Texas from Austin to Dallas, to Little Rock. Flying time was slightly more than two hours. Then it took us only a little more than an hour to drive from Little Rock to the lake. Total time to get from our homes to our fishing water, a distance of almost 600 miles, was less than five hours.

Mrs. W. E. Kelly, vice president, presided at the meeting in the place of Mrs. Joe Stewart, the president not being able to attend.

At an average car speed of 50 miles an hour, which is pretty hard to maintain, it would have required 12 hours each way, or 24 hours. We would have been tired when we reached our destinations and even more tired when we arrived home. Even worse we would have lost an awful lot of good fishing time... not to mention sleep.

Naturally you travel light, when you fly. Each of us took along two rods, an ample amount of tackle and a camera.

For trips of this kind, a person should carry his rods and reels in a good sturdy case to protect them from breakage. Although we took more lures, a dozen well chosen ones would be ample. For example... two spinners, two spoons, two topwaters and an assortment of leadhead jigs plus a fist full of plastic worms and weedless hooks.

Include an extra spool of line, a pair of small pliers and a flashlight... and that's about all you need. Your boatman will have a landing net, stringer and the other necessary items.

But be sure to carry a warm jacket and a light raincoat. You might not need 'em but they're good insurance against rainy weather or a sudden norther.

Take wings -- and try one of these flying trips sometime. Your local airlines representative will be glad to help you work out a schedule.

Most of the food fishing committees have alert Chambers of Commerce. A ring to even-the-smallest of them will bring you an abundance of material about lodging, etc., including guide service.

And believe you me a good guide is the best investment you can make -- especially when you're not familiar with the area.

Philosopher Says He's Baffled By All The Talk About Daylight Saving Time

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Drive expresses himself on daylight saving time this week.)

Dear editor: There are times when I'm convinced I don't know anything at all about people.

For the last week or so I've been reading in every newspaper that turns up out here on this Martin County grass farm about the big hassle over daylight saving time.

As I understand it, Congress has passed a law installing daylight saving time all over the country and the only way a state can escape is to pass a special law exempting itself.

And last night when I saw a special television report on the situation was when I decided I don't know anything about people.

One man from a city said daylight saving time would give him an extra hour to play golf in the afternoons and he sure wanted that. A farmer said it would throw him and his cows and his milking and feeding schedule off and he was violently opposed to the change. A barber said he goes to bed at 9 every night and the thing would cause him to go to bed actually at 8 with the sun maybe still shining.

I don't understand any of this. There has been no Congress ever assembled that can tell me when to go to bed and when to get up, and there never will be. And while I don't play golf or mumblety-peg, I've never seen the day when I couldn't fish an hour longer if that's what I had in mind.

I go to bed when I'm sleepy and I get up when I wake up, and what difference could it possibly make to me what time Congress says it is? Any man who has to look at a clock to tell whether he's sleepy or not, probably needs a Congress to legislate his bedtime. Any man who has to appeal to Congress to give him an extra hour of golf is a man I'm not familiar with. And as for cows, it'd surprise you how many cows don't even know Congress exists.

There are times when I suspect the reason there are so many laws is that people want to be told.

Personally, I don't care whether Congress votes to turn the clocks backwards or forwards, or whether it votes to make every day in the week Saturday or summer to overlap winter. My clock hasn't kept correct time in years anyway, and I went six months once without turning the page on my calendar.

As I see it, the sun comes up in the morning and goes down in the evening in compliance with a law that got here before Congress did.

Yours faithfully,
 J. A.

The eleven sons of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Hamburg of Gering, Nebraska, amassed a total of 68 years of military service. Of this total, eleven were in combat with seven brothers serving in WWII and three in the Korean conflict. Five of the Hamburg boys were members of the National Guard.

George Hagedorn, economist and vice president of the National Association of Manufacturers says: "... if we are to avoid subjecting the economy to severe inflationary strains, we will have to settle for somewhat less rapid growth than we have been used to in the recent past. According to these projections, our potential growth in the remainder of the 1960's will be only about three-quarters as rapid as our actual growth in the decade so far."

Said Maurice Stans at the 71st Congress of American Industry, "We don't have to reverse or reconsider our federal programs on a wholesale scale, we merely have to hold them back a bit. We don't have to set the clock back to 1896, we simply have to slow it down while we close the three year lead that spending has gained over revenues. We don't have to veto progress, we merely have to abandon the "crash" psychology that we can solve all human ills by massive doses of instant money."

Question-And-Answer

(This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.)

Q — Does the gas tax table in the 1040 instructions cover business driving as well as pleasure driving?

A — No. This table should only be used for non-business driving. If you are entitled to a deduction for business driving handle it separately. Check page 7 of the 1040 instructions for details.

Q — Are weekends counted in the waiting period for a sick pay exclusion?

A — Yes, they are counted unless the illness began on a weekend. In that case, the waiting period begins on the next work day.

Q — If you have more than one casualty loss during the year can you combine the losses so that you only have to apply the $100 limitation once?

A — No. The $100 limitation applies to each separate casualty.

Q — Is there any limit on what you can claim under the minimum standard deduction?

A — Yes, the limit is $500 for married persons filing separately and $1,000 for single persons or married couples filing jointly.

Q — Am I taxed on what I received on the sale of a house?

A — Profits made on the sale of a residence are taxable. However, if another home is purchased within a certain period that costs the same or more than the adjusted sales price of the one you sold, payment of the tax may be postponed. There are also special rules on home sales by those 65 or older.

Details on these provisions of the tax law are given in IRS Document No. 5017, "Selling Your Home." Send a post card to your District Director for a free copy.

Q — Is a man entitled to claim something for child care expenses?

A — Yes, under certain circumstances men as well as women are entitled to use this provision of the law.

Q — I got a refund on my state income tax last year. Do I have to declare that as income?

A — Yes. Refunds of state income tax in a prior year are income. However, Federal income tax refunds are not taxable but interest on them is.

Q — My wife worked a little last year. Since there was no withholding on her salary does that mean we don't have to pay tax on it?

A — No. Income is taxable whether or not it is subject to withholding.

Now is the time to renew your subscription to the Ole Reliable for another year.

GET TOP IRRIGATION PERFORMANCE

Knights Tri-Matic Sprinkler Irrigation System was designed to give you better water distribution and conservation. With the Tri-Matic you can apply 3 1/2" to 4" of water to 160 acres in a period of ten days, and you can do it with one man who can move the entire system himself from one location to another in a short time. Well "shut down" time is reduced to a minimum.

The Tri-Matic propels itself forward, backward or endways. It can be pulled endways by a tractor to a location in an adjoining field or to a field several miles away. Let us show you how Knight's Tri-Matic System can help you solve your irrigation problems.

Changes In Draft Will Face Delay

If you're wondering when the changes proposed by President Johnson are going to be made in the draft system, you're in distinguished company. Many of the officials running the operation don't know.

But informed sources do hazard a prediction on one change in the Selective Service System a lot of people have been wondering about.

It now appears that Johnson's announced plan to have 19-year-olds called first — reversing the callup order — probably will not be put into effect for at least several months.

Congress is about to consider proposed changes in the draft. And, sources said, the youngest — first plan is not expected to take effect before Congress acts.

The President could issue an executive order, effective immediately, that would make the change-over.

But sources said this would be extremely difficult. One troublesome question is what would be done about young men past the 19- to 20-year age group but liable for the draft up to age 26 — would they escape the draft?

Lottery Recommended
And there is the question of what method would be used to select the youngest eligibles to be called first.

In his draft message to Congress, Johnson recommended selection by an impartial random system — a limited lottery. But he has directed that the lottery be ready for operation only by Jan. 1, 1969.

The biggest uncertainty of all is Congress. There have been expressions of sympathy on Capitol Hill for calling the youngest first. But even if Congress does specify such a change, it is expected the new system might not be made effective immediately and that probably it would be phased in.

The time element of two other announced presidential orders also remain in doubt. One would stop postgraduate deferments except for medical and dental students. The other would give no further deferments for enlistment in a reserve unit — except for filling specific vacancies.

As with the executive order on 19-year-olds, the President said only that he would issue the orders. He did not say when.

Impeding traffic is against the law in Texas, says "Texans for Traffic Safety." In effect, the group adds, the law says "get with it or get off the road."

The World Worships At Bethlehem

Soon, all who hold the Christian faith will journey afar in spirit. White and black, Caucasian and Asian, they will gather together in spirit at the manger in Bethlehem.

The message of the gospel was that "God so loved the world, that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him might have everlasting life." Jesus said: "I am the light of the world." His commission to the disciples was: "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. . . . Make disciples of all nations."

When one considers the little company of Christmas, in a small province of the vast Roman Empire, daring to think of making their faith and experience world-wide, the spiritual daring of it is amazing. It is no wonder if many have failed to catch the vision. Missionary vision and passion have, after all, been manifested by only a minority of those who profess the Christian way.

ved a four-year hitch before entering West Point with the Class of 1932.

But what a minority. And how wonderfully those who have gone to the remote parts of the world, telling the story of Christ and of the love of God, have been vindicated. And yet, their work is but begun. Prejudices die hard, and the world view of Christianity, and the world fellowship of Christian faith, life and service has had to overcome great obstacles.

As we gather at the spiritual Bethlehem, let us vow, each in our own heart, to do so live our personal life that we make of it a mission of example whereby the cause of Christianity may beat with new fervor to the ends of the earth.

Area Girl Takes California Title

Dan Blocker, television personality and a West Texas native with several relatives and friends in the Stanton area, knows talent when he sees it.

And his latest discovery — Miss Shanna Estes of Midland — is the proof of the pudding. Last week she was selected as Miss California in the American Beauty Queen Pageant held in El Segundo, Calif. and has had several movie offers as a result.

Miss Estes began her career as a member of a band called "The Rhythm Folk," which operated out of Odessa. Blocker, better known as Hoss Cartwright in television circles, knew some of the members of the group. When the band decided to go to California last June, Blocker agreed to help them and they became "The Dan Blocker Singers."

"The sky's the limit for Shanna," Herm Lewis, her agent in Los Angeles said. "The Miss California title carries various honors, and among them is a guaranteed part in a movie, should she desire to take it."

Already she has been offered a role in a film called "The Trip" which will star Peter Fonda.

And the former Midland High School cheerleader will enter the Miss American Beauty 1967 contest, which is scheduled April 26 in Long Beach.

Three days later she will compete as Miss North Hollywood in the Miss International Beauty Pageant, which will be televised nationally on the ABC Network. She will be among 90 contestants from throughout the world. She will also receive a cash prize.

But Shanna, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Estes of Midland, has no ideas about her future plans—except that she is determined to follow through with the goal that originally led her westward last June.

That is to help the Dan Blocker Singers "get to the top."

The contest win last week, she said, "still seems like a dream."

"I had no idea I might win — first because I was from Texas and because I had no real experience in a contest that big."

It all started with a decision Shanna made during the latter part of her junior year at Lee High School, and, perhaps at the time, it seemed a sacrifice to the attractive 5-6 brown-haired girl. Certainly it was a gamble.

That decision was to go to California with the group.

For Shanna it meant giving up her head varsity cheerleader post at Lee High, leaving her family and friends and leaving school.

She was determined however, to finish high school — and still is. She expects to graduate in May from Lee. She is completing her course requirements by correspondence.

The Dan Blocker Singers has appeared three times on the nationally - televised Milton Benie Show, and Shanna has been a guest on the Dating Game show on television.

The group opened a two-week engagement at the Nugget in Reno, Nev. Thursday. The singers will be in the Midland - Odessa area for a series of concerts in the spring but no exact date has been announced.

As far as the upcoming beauty pageants are concerned, Agent Lewis said one of his biggest worries is "how we're going to sell her as Miss California when she starts to talk with a Texas accent."

Jones was selected as third high individual in the meet with David Adkins placing as second high individual and Gaylon Pittman pulling seventh high individual trophies.

The range judging contest entails identification of pasture plants, classifying them and judging the grazing value for livestock and wildlife. The boys work in the pastures and make recommendations as to proper use and treatments to correct or improve the land.

Winning second high overall honors at the meet was the Stanton High School cotton classing team. Bobby Odom was selected second high individual in that event, Lindsay Jones was picked sixth high and Mike Keller was seventh high individual.

The boys won fourth place overall Thursday in a range plant contest held at Abilene Christian College, Jones posting a third high individual rating there, too.

The cotton classing team won the right at Sweetwater to attend the Texas Tech area contest on April 29. They will compete there in an effort to qualify for state events.

The cotton classing teams are judged on their grading and stapling of cotton samples.

Two other Stanton boys who showed up well at Sweetwater are G. P. Harrell, Jr., who won eighth slot in wool judging and grading, and Weldon Posey, seventh overall in livestock judging.

In his inaugural message, Ronald Reagan, now governor of California said: "Government is the people's business, and every man, woman and child becomes a shareholder with the first penny of tax paid. With all the profound wording of the Constitution, probably the most meaningful words are the first three, 'We, the People'. Those of us here today who have been elected to constitutional office or legislative position are in that three-word phrase. We are of the people, chosen by them to see that no permanent structure of government ever encroaches on freedom or assumes a power beyond that freely granted by the people. We stand between the taxpayer and the taxpayer."

Automatic Data Process Put To Work For IRS

It's officially known as automatic data processing and this year it will touch the lives of most of the nation's 198 million persons.

ADP is nothing more than the maze of electronic instruments and wires which make up the Internal Revenue Service's much heralded tax computers.

And the service can cite chapter and verse on the effectiveness of its machinery in catching tax chiselers. Such as the county tax assessor who failed to file any tax return for the last five years although his income exceeded $35,000 each year.

For the first time this year all tax returns — individuals as well as corporate — will be run through the computers at one of seven regional centers and at the National Computer Center at Martinsburg, W. Va.

The main purpose of the computer system is to handle the mountain of paperwork which now engulfs the tax collectors.

In addition to tax returns — the service received 104.1 million returns last year — about 500 million information returns are received each year.

These include duplicate W2 forms which employers are required to file with the government listing salary and wages for each worker; interest paid by banks, stock dividends and similar data.

One IRS staffer figured it would take about five years just to count the tax returns themselves if a person worked eight hours a day, five days a week for 50 weeks a year and counted at a rate of three returns a second.

Only Six Million In 1930

In 1930, only six million tax returns were filed.

Although IRS began experimenting with computers in 1948, the current system wasn't begun until 1961 and it has taken until now to put it into operation nationwide.

IRS can now boast of the National Computer Center at Martinsburg where a three-year history of every taxpayer will eventually be kept on magnetic tape and seven regional computer centers at Austin, Chamblee, Ga.; Covington, Ky.; Kansas City; Ogden, Utah; Andover, Mass.; and Philadelphia.

Data from tax returns and the information documents are converted to electronic tape at the regional centers and then processed through the master file at Martinsburg.

How It Works

Here's what will happen — and already has for many taxpayers — this year:

Information from your tax return is punched onto computer cards — anywhere from 1 to 12 cards for the average taxpayer. Included is identification, such as Social Security number, name, address, spouse and his or her Social Security number, income from awags, rents, royalties, dividends, interest, expenses, deductions, medical costs, contributions and tax owed.

The computer cards are then used to make a magnetic tape which is sent to Martinsburg and matched with the information returns in the central file.

A discrepancy between the tax return and the information returns would be spotted immediately by the computer.

As this year's tapes are fed into the computers, new tapes are produced preparing refunds or tax bills.

Large Refunds Spotted

The computers are also programmed to alert IRS agents to any item which seems unusually large. Refunds above a specific amount — IRS won't give the cutoff figure — are also examined by humans.

IRS said it is virtually impossible to place a cost on the computer system although it certainly runs into the millions and millions of dollars.

Eventually all tax returns will be sent automatically by taxpayers to the regional service centers. Some taxpayers have the option of doing that this year if they claim a refund.

Tax returns sent to the district IRS offices wind up at the regional centers also for their trip through the electronic maze.

IRS earlier reported that its computers have already frightened taxpayers into reporting voluntarily about $6 million in previously unreported taxes since Jan. 1, 1962. Computer verification of arithmetic last year turned up another $19.1 million which otherwise might have gone undetected, IRS said.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

The good tax folks tell us that simple errors on federal income tax returns delay many refunds and cause taxpayers trouble. They suggest this simple check list (1) Check arithmetic; (2) Sign your return (both husband and wife); (3) Print or type name and address, including zip code; (4) List your social security number correctly.

Spending a little time checking can save a lot of headaches later.

The PCG Cotton Review

PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

PROFIT — That's the name of the game, whether you're growing or spinning cotton. And one of the keys to PROFIT, for both grower and spinner, is QUALITY.

For the spinner, quality means greater plant efficiency, lower costs, better end products.

For the grower, it means a better price and a market for his product — two things desperately needed if we are to stay in the business of producing cotton.

Tired hearing that? We are too. And we'll stop saying it when we're sure ALL producers have heard and heeded.

Choose a cotton variety which, in your area, has the potential to give at least a 3.5 micronaire reading, 75,000 pounds per square inch or better tensile strength, reasonably high yield and the longest staple you can get without substantially lowering either of those three.

Plant pure seed and grow it, harvest it and gin it with high micronaire, tensile strength and uniformity in mind.

You'll have a double shot at increase profit—a chance at premium markets and a cinch on higher loan value. All to gain, nothing to lose.

These were points driven home in two days of discussion between nine textile mill executives and producers, ginners, merchants, seed breeders and other plains cotton industry representatives February 27 and 28. Textile men were members of the Cotton Committee of the American Textile Manufacturers Institute, Charlotte, N. C., meeting in Lubbock by PCG invitation. They account for about 40 or 45 per cent of annual U. S. raw cotton consumption.

ATMI Cotton Committee, along with about 600 cotton people from the Plains, took part in a GROWER-SPINNER COTTON QUALITY FORUM — described by Lubbock Avalanche Journal Far Editor Duane Howell as the "most important cotton meeting on the Plains in years."

COTTON RESEARCH AND PROMOTION ACT — well on its way to becoming effective. Twenty-man Cotton Board has been appointed. Met March 14 to designate cotton handler or handlers responsible for dollars-a-bale collections, beginning with 1967 crop.

TWO GOOD MEN were appointed from the immediate Plains area. Roy B. Davis appointed member and Joe B. Pate, Jr., appointed alternate, both to serve term expiring in 1969. They were selected by the Secretary of Agriculture from PCG nominees Davis and Roy Forkner for members and Donald Johnson and Pate for alternates.

Other Texas members are J. B. Copper, Jr., Roscoe; Nay Naman, Waco; Jack Funk, Harlington, and George W. Smith, Prairie View.

A beltwide "producer contracting association" will contract with the Cotton Board for research and promotion projects, which means it will spend the money. Members of this beltwide group soon will be chosen by the same 14 cotton producer associations in Texas who made nominations for the Cotton Board. Secretary appointed Cotton Board, will have nothing to do with selecting members of producer contracting association.

There is still some confusion about what the dollar a bale will be used for. It will be used for NATIONAL research and promotion. There will be substantial benefits to High Plains growers, certainly. But NONE of the money will come to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. And PCG's regional research, promotion and service, made possible by your 15 cents per bale dues, will still be essential to your business.

1967 COTTON LOAN PRICES—Premiums and discounts above and below 20.25 cent base not yet announced. May be out by the time this reaches you.

Underhill Task Force, appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture to study possible increases in discounts on lower qualities, has made its recommendations. As of this writing (March 9) there's no indication of what the recommendations were or what U.S.D.A. intends to do about them. We delayed writing as long as we could.

Greater discounts for shorter staples and lower quality characteristics are certain, regardless. Only question is how much. Average 15 spot market quotations, on which premiums and discounts have been based for years, now show a difference of 357 points between Middlin Inch and SLM 15/16ths. Current loan difference is 280 points.

You can't well argue with discounts set by the market. But shippers reportedly have recommended a difference of 500 points between these two qualities—210 points more than 1966 and 143 points greater than market quotations.

That's what PCG's been fighting — arbitrary manipulation that could undermine the whole pricing structure.

IMPORTED IRRIGATION WATER — Less than a year ago the High Plains was being told, in effect, "There ain't none, and if there was, you couldn't afford it."

Now we're being told "Get ready for it as fast as you can." PCG Water Committee and others too numerous to list deserve a lot of credit for the change.

Three huge and capable engineering firms, the Federal Bureau of Reclamation and the Corps of Engineers are now studying ways and means to bringing both interstate and intrastate water to West Texas.

Consensus now is that we'll get water — some probably between 1980 and 1985, more later — at a price we CAN afford to pay.

You'll be hearing much, much more about this in the next few years.

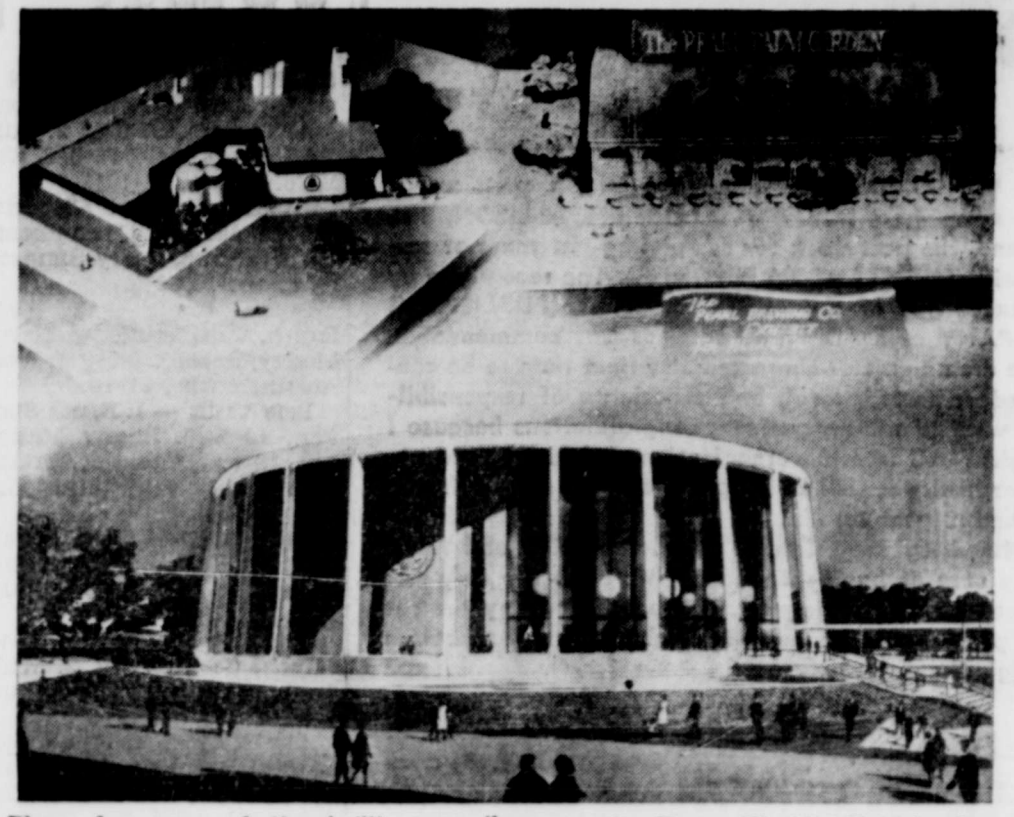

COMMERCIAL — A philosopher wise in the ways of the world was asked on his deathbed to summarize what he had learned from life. With his last breath he uttered "TANST-AFL." His students translated the word to "THER AIN'T NO SUCH THING AS FREE LUNCH." Think about it.

THE BURR — First Wife: I read where frequent water drinking keeps people from getting stiff in the joints.

Second Wife: That won't help my husband. The joints where he gets stiff don't serve water!

New York's famous 42d (Rainbow) Infantry Division got its colorful nickname from General Douglas MacArthur who served as a member of the division in World War I. The 42d was composed of National Guard units from many States. Two of its WWI regiments, the 165th Infantry (New York), and the 167th Infantry (Alabama) had last seen each other's colors from opposite sides of the battle lines in eleven different actions in the Civil War from Bull Run to Appomattox.

Commercial Egg Clinic — The 1967 egg clinic for commercial egg producers will be held at Texas A&M University on March 29. The one-day meeting is scheduled for the Memorial Student Center's Ballroom and will get underway at 8 a.m. with registration. The program will be fast moving and will feature speakers on subjects which are of vital importance to the egg industry, said Ben Wormell, extension poultry husbandman and program chairman.

Plans for some of the brilliant pavilions at the Texas World's Fair in San Antonio in 1968 are going from drawing boards to contractors. Three of those scheduled for construction starts in the near future are the United State Confluence Theater (lower), the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (exhibiting with American Telephone and Telegraph and Western Electric) at the upper left, and the Pearl Brewing Company pavilion at the upper right. Bell's exhibit will trace the history of communications, while Pearl will capture the Gay 90's atmosphere in its entertainment and decor.

Library Hours: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday 1 - 5 p.m., Saturday, 9 a.m. - 1 p.m.

In observance of National Library Week April 16-22, the Stanton Study Club is again sponsoring a poster contest for the school to participate in. This year we are asking the sixth, seventh and eighth grade students to submit individual posters and suggesting that the lower grades submit a poster as a class project. "Explore Inner Space — Read" and "Reading Is What's Happening," is the dual theme for the week.

We are also inviting the pupils to write letters about what the library or reading means to them to be published in this column. A special invitation to each class has been extended to visit the library during this special week or any week.

World War II
 Vet Benefits
 Deadline Near

Less than five months remain for veterans of World War II to use their guarantee privileges for a loan to purchase a home, farm or for business purposes.

This warning came from Jack Coker, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco.

Present statutes provide that the absolute cutoff date for World War II veterans will be on July 25, 1967. This deadline is the result of Congressional action which has delayed the final date of eligibility several times.

The cutoff will not affect veterans of the Korean Conflict or veterans who have served since January 31, 1955, Coker point out, as these veterans are covered by different legislation.

The Veterans Administration will guarantee up to 60 percent of the purchase price of a home for a veteran with limitation as to the total purchase price.

Coker urged veterans planning to purchase a home to make their selection as soon as possible, avoiding the last minute rush for certification.

Portland General Electric Company predicts that, "To provide America's electric energy needs by the year 2000, the electric utility industry plans to build the equivalent of seven additional power systems, each equal in electric energy size to all that is serving the American people today."

Annual reports covering endowments of four Ivy League universities show steady emphasis on common stock investment, particularly in New York Stock Exchange - listed issues. Harvard's General Investments totaled 1975 million, 54.7 per cent in common stocks; Yale's Endowments totaled $470 million, 69 per cent in common stocks; Princeton's Pooled Funds, $311 million, 73.6 per cent in common stocks; Columbia University's Pooled Funds, $210 million, 44.3 per cent in common stocks.

Red's Corner

By RED GIBSON

This corner, ever brimming with advice, offers a word of caution: Don't get sick.

For, according to the newspapers, some of our hospitals are going to start using computers to tell nurses when to give a shot and when to feed you a pill.

I have nothing in particular against progress, and I'll be the first to admit that medicine has come a long way since the doctor made his rounds in a buggy. But just as the old buggy sometimes threw a wheel, every invention since those days has proved to be less than perfect. Moreover, as machines get more complicated they cause greater trouble for us mortals when they throw a wheel or the equivalent thereof.

What this means is that no matter how careful the doctors and the computer mechanics are, some old boy is going to get a bedpan when he doesn't want one. The computer is going to tell nurses to put a cast on some old girl's left ankle when all she is supposed to have is a blue pill and two red ones.

The idea, say the people who are setting this thing up, is to free hospital personnel from so much routine paperwork, such as keeping track of who is supposed to have what, and when. This move I applaud, for if they can cut down on costs, maybe they can cut down on hospital bills.

Fortunately, the computerization is going to focus on admissions, discharges, statistics and services rendered for a while before it starts handling medicine. It may not be doing any pill work for five or six years.

But the time is coming. It is not my intent to slow progress, but I warn you: If computers start telling nurses when to break out the needles, man is going to get it in the end.

We can be thankful that the black day of computerization is still some years off. There are more pressing problems to worry us today. One recurrent problem is the inability of the foreign policy people to look beyond their noses. Two recent developments indicate unthinking shortsightedness in the State Department.

The United States is thinking about using atomic bombs to dig another canal in — get this — Panama. The other development is the plan to fit up U. S. embassies, with safety glass, which will not slice everyone up when there is a bombing and will stop rocks and other thrown objects.

Why Panama? Panama already has one canal for the natives to get upset about. There is already one U. S. flag for mobs to rip down and burn. The Panamanians can talk the United States out of a bigger share of the revenue from the first canal the United States built. They sure don't need another canal.

If they had thought about it, the State Department people surely would have realized that Nicaragua would be a better place for a canal. As things stand right now, Nicaragua has hardly anything to blame the United States for. If we dug a canal through the country, the Nicaraguans would be able to emulate the Panamanians and riot occasionally, break the agreement and demand more money and accuse the United States of discrimination in wages.

Those Nicaraguans don't know what they're missing.

Of course, even if we did give them something to riot about, that new safety glass might dampen their enthusiasm. I have never been active in embassy - stoning, but I can see that half the fun is in making a hole in the glass. I once threw a rock through a greenhouse, but that was an accident. If a guy is going to go to all the trouble of hunting up a good rock, the least the embassy can do is provide breakable glass. The unbreakable stuff is going to cause some hard feelings.
