By NEAL ESTES

The Justice Department has asked the Supreme Court to decide the merits of an amendment to the Selective Service law that forbids the burning of draft cards. It has been ruled unconstitutional by a U. S. Circuit Court in Boston. The Supreme Court failed to act and adjourned Monday until October. It is disgusting with American boys dying in Vietnam; with another war in confusion in the Middle East, and with social life as usual going on in Washington, to find it even necessary to waste time on a draft card burning proposition. Any guilty of burning a draft card should be run in and kept in jail. Any person guilty of burning the flags needs to be up for the duration of this nation's war or put in uniform. Boston has always been tainted with a strong British influence. We are aware of the current styles and disgusting Mod junk coming out of England these days. The morals in Great Britain are lower than a snake's belly. And now because of a Boston court decision the U. S. A. must wait three months to hear from the nine men on the Supreme Court. I have no patience for the long waiting period on a problem or question that should be elementary. I know not what the Supreme Court will rule in the fall on the draft card burners but I know what my kind of people will do on the spot if a yellow bum ever burns a draft card or tears up the flag in eye sight. And I don't think there is a court in Texas, state or federal, ready to defy a liberty loving person the right to defend Old Glory or cause him to defend the draft laws of this nation.

The Seminole Indians have scored a major victory in a long legal war with the U. S. government over land taken from them more than 100 years ago. The Seminoles, the federal claims court has decided, have established their original ownership of almost all of Florida—32 million acres—and must be paid accordingly. The payments may run as high as $48 million. So, we might say the Seminoles have scalped the palefaces in 1967. The American taxpayer is going to be permitted to become a modern day CUSTER. The Indians do not want the land back, just the cash—long green, bucks for Bucks. Now if the Redbones in Louisiana put in a claim for land, and the Reds want Alaska back, no doubt but what some shrewd lawyer can find something wrong with the original titles. With the little man now paying through the nose for everything from shoe laces to bacon the question arises again about how the nation is going to survive all the silly decisions being handed down in Washington.

The Israelis ripped through Syria, Egypt, Jordan, at a before the United Nations could say seat. It was stupid for the people to be subjected to tv debate by a gang of bums up on the Hudson in New York who couldn't find the stopper to the war jug. Let's face it. The United Nations is nothing more than a free-loading bunch of cats sipping at the public feed trough. A delegate would preface his remarks with such high sounding words as "his excellency" or "the honorable representative from so-and-so." And then proceed to cut his opponent to ribbons in a tirade of verbal abuse. The entire mess was disgusting.

The six-day war in the Middle East broke some kind of a record. Israel lost 579 men killed and Syria reported 15,000 casualties. Statistics from (Continued on page 8)

Sunday Is Dad's Day

Sunday is Father's Day. It will be observed from one end of this great land to the other. Men, women, and children will be holding the spotlight on the fellow we all depend on every day in the year. Try and be with your dad on his big day if he is among the living. If he has passed to his heavenly reward, mark his memory in a suitable way. The fine thing to remember is to just be with him if possible, if you can't be with him, why not telephone him, send him a small gift, or wire him greetings of flowers.

I'll Take The Texas Rangers!

FBI agents renewed their investigation into activities of Texas Rangers in the Lower Rio Grande Valley farm labor dispute.

A bureau spokesman would not specify the scope of the inquiry, nor its purpose.

Some members of the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee, AFL-CIO, have charged the Rangers with brutality in making arrests.

The FBI was not ordered to the Valley by Director J. Edgar Hoover but by one John Doar, an Assistant Attorney General. That is what an FBI spokesman in San Antonio said this week.

A yell of brutality and yapping about how Texas Rangers is an insult to all Texans. This act alone could cause the defeat of any candidate seeking any office from the courthouse to the White House in Texas. If the riff-raff had been chased off in the first place, the Rangers would not be on the scene. But as long as the rabid long-hairs and ragtag, bobtail ballyhoo boys are present, the Rangers must be there too. The Texas Rangers are living legends.

Local businessmen then turned to an electronic assembly plant as the most feasible operation for Morton. A local holding company, Morton Development Corp., was established in late April to provide financing for an electronics assembly plant."

THE MITCHELL COUNTY NEWS: "At this moment it looks as if we may have a dry year and a short crop. This brings to mind that it might be well for the community to think of the hazards of a one-crop system for our economy. ### Library Lines

Mrs. Ralph Caffey, Librarian

Library Hours: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, 1-5 p.m., Saturday, 9 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Good books are good friends. Even though you live in the country or in a small town, you can have friends from everywhere if you read good books.

Drop by your county library, and let us introduce you to some of these friends.

You like a book about hobbies or scientific experiments? All right, you'll find one.

Or maybe you want a sweet love story? It's here too.

Or, it's a hair-raising true adventure you like? We have that kind also.

In your county library you will find good books, and they'll be good for you, too.

Many boys and girls are already finding this so as they read in the Reading Club Program. Laquana Jones, Wayne Jones, Diann Scurlark, and Debbie Caffey have already read the first 12 books, and are still reading. At least 20 others have enrolled by reading at least one or more books. The response is good and there is still plenty of time to begin.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

If you were a June Bride—or a December Bride—during the tax year (It make no difference what time of the year you get married) you may need to check on the type of income tax return that you file with your new husband. If your Father provided principal support for you during the year that you get married and would be entitled to claim you as a dependent, you can help dear old Dad on his taxes. However, you must file a separate return from your husband. You can split the community income, but if you file a joint return your Dad can't claim you.

Bible Comment—

The Last Supper Of Jesus Accents Fellowship Among All Faiths

The Last Supper of Jesus with His disciples stressed the communion as the symbol of fellowship in the Christian Church.

This is marked to such an extent that denominations, or sects are called "communions," even in their very separateness which denies the unity that ought to be in Christ.

For that, of course, there are historic reasons, which to a large degree are being overcome by many who in mind, soul and heart accept as fellow Christians all who love the Lord, regardless of barriers of organization and formal creed.

But there ought to be even deeper implications of fellowship as we contemplate that Last Supper in the upper room.

That Last Supper was the celebration by Jesus and His disciples of the Passover, the most sacred rite in the Jewish religion, which was their heritage as Jews and which Jesus said He had not come to destroy but to fulfill.

The fact ought to give the Last Supper a significance that it has never had, either for Jews nor Christians, and a meeting place in fellowship that they have never found.

Surely the supreme task of all who believe in Christ and the fellowship of the upper room is to bring to reality and fullness in the world the spirit and the practice of brotherhood.

We know that there was one person present in that room with Jesus who renounced that spirit, who betrayed his Master. What we do not realize is that everyone who professes to share in the communion, who does not live in its spirit of brotherhood, is more akin to Judas than to those who loved their Master.

To partake of holy communion "in remembrance of Jesus" is not merely an act of conformity, and expression of outward faith. Its reality is found only in a renewed commitment of the soul to the Christian way—the way of brotherhood.

Philosopher Hears The U.N. Debates On Mid-East And Draws Some Odd Conclusions

(Editor's note The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw reviews the Mid-East situation this week, more or less.)

Dear editor: The thing about listening to news on television and reading in a newspaper is that you come out with some interesting notions.

For example last week I spent some time in front of the T.V. listening to the United Nations sessions on the Middle East situation. Incidentally, while it shouldn't be that way, up to now I have always figured turning a big world problem like the Arab - Isreal war over to the U. N. was about like trying to stop a bank robbery with a committee from the P.T.A. Maybe I was wrong.

At any rate, after the cease-fire order was given, a representative from the Arab countries, I didn't catch his name, was asked in a television interview what the result would be.

"I can answer that easily," he said. "The result will be that the United States will be the biggest loser in the whole affair."

I didn't understand that at all until I picked up a newspaper I was saving to read while the Ambassador from Syria was talking and read that in the last few years the United States has sent 346 million dollars worth of military aid alone to 10 Arab countries.

Then it began to dawn on me what the Arab representative was talking about. He meant the United States will lose one of its best customers for hand-outs. Naturally this would be a serious blow.

However, I am afraid the Arab mind doesn't understand the resourcefulness of the American mind. What is doesn't know is that while we might have our aid rejected in the Arab nations, we'll find somebody else to take it. You wait and see.

There must be some country on earth we haven't sent aid to yet, although off-hand I can't think of it. If you know of one, please wire Washington at once so we can offset our losses in the Arab countries.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

East Texas Shining' Light

(From The Gilmer Mirror)

A bright and shining light went out of East Texas the night of Monday, May 29th, when a heart attack took the life of Carl Estes, publisher of the Longview News-Journal.

Carl had carried the torch for Longview and East Texas for more than three decades, and the bright flame of his vision, foresight and enthusiastic leadership was a beacon for all of us to follow. The torch will now pass to others, but it will take many hands to provide the bright light that was his.

Carl started his crusade for East Texas during the early years of the oil boom when he worked for proration and the orderly development of the oil field. Then he led in the campaign for the establishment of Lone Star Steel, LeTourneau, Texas Eastman and many other industries for Longview.

There were times when the rapid growth of Longview gave concern and uneasiness to the smaller towns around it. As one industry after another moved to Longview and lines of commuters' cars drove workers there each day, the smaller towns wondered if they would be completely overshadowed by their fast growing neighbor.

But fortunately it did not work that way. Gilmer, Glade-water and even Kilgore are better towns because they had to meet the competition and emulate the progressiveness of Longview. And Carl Estes' newspapers and town have been good neighbors, willing to help out with advice, publicity and know-how whenever called on.

Carl was a Master Salesman, and his product was ideas. He would fly from one end of the United States to the other to persuade industrialists to move to East Texas. His delightful wit and sense of humor helped him out. Often he could sway a Board of Directors by illustrating a point with a funny story. Or if the time and place seemed to call for it he could quote the "Good Book" as adeptly as a preacher.

Two verses from Matthew seem to us especially appropriate to Carl Estes, Matt. 5:15, 16 "Neither do men light a candle and put it under a bushel but on a candlestick: and it giveth light unto all that are in the house . . . Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works . . ."

Carl never hid a light or an idea under a bushel, in all his life, but spread the good word through his newspapers and by personal contact, lighting the way for others to help develop Longview and East Texas.

And with all of these activities he still was a newspaperman and a gifted writer. His front page editorials were a popular feature of the News and Journal. Just a few weeks before his death he wrote his Masterpiece. "Treason is Treason" should become a classic to be reproduced in textbooks and carry the light of patriotism, and love of country to young people for many years to come.

Truly he "put his light on a candlestick," and it gave light to all that passed his way—GEORGIA LASCHINGER.

'67 Skip-Row Plant Report Changes Told

Skip-row farming has become a popular means of increasing cotton yields in Texas since the change in government cotton allotments in 1962, James Mulkey, Jr., Texas A&M University Experiment Station soil scientist, has pointed out.

The amended regulations omitted from the allotment any idle land in skip-row planted cotton. As a result, skip-row system employing one or two fallow rows were used extensively throughout the state.

This past year the regulations were amended again. This new regulation increased the percent cotton in the 2X1 system from 66.67 to 86.67 percent and in the 2X2 systems from 50 to 65 percent. The 4X4 and 4X2 systems remained at 50 and 33.33 percent respectively, Mulkey remarked.

This change has caused a major shift to systems employing four fallow rows. The four-row fallow system will take some cotton land out of production, but still offers some yield advantage, Mulkey pointed out.

Cotton and guar were planted in nine skip-row and interplant systems to investigate the yield potential of these systems and the feasibility of interplant cotton, planted in four row skips with two rows of guar.

Cotton planted in the 2X4 system produced 219 pounds lint per acre. This same system interplanted with two rows of guar produced 195 pounds of lint cotton and 511 pounds of guar per acre. The resulting difference was a net increase of $14.65 per acre.

The 4X4 cotton and fallow system produced 279 pounds of lint per acre. Using the same system interplanted with guar, 247 pounds of lint cotton and 357 pounds of guar were produced. The difference was a net increase of $7.30 per acre. In evaluating the results of this test, consideration should be given to the fact that the total effects cannot be fully determined in one year. However, this study does show the increased yields the 4X4 interplanted systems produce.

Eye Gaza Strip
Possibly the Gaza Strip, from which Arab commandos staged terror raids into Israel, Egypt had been administering the strip.

As Eshkol spoke, his government was turning to the problem of handling the 1.5 million or more Arabs they swept up in their swift conquests in Egypt, Syria and Jordan.

Mrs. Alice Koonce and granddaughter of Breckenridge, were in Stanton for the singing convention, and to visit friends and relatives.

Veterans Administration

(Editor's Note: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them though the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.)

Q — My father received a small pension from the Veterans Administration until his death four years ago. My sister, through an accident that occurred when she was a child, is unable to earn a living. I would like to know if she is entitled to a pension, as she has never worked and will never be able to do so?

A — The Veterans Administration consider a "helpless child" as one who became permanently incapable of self-support prior to age 18. If this is your sister's case, you should submit medical evidence to the VA to support this claim.

Q — I was in service from Jan. 2, 1964, to Aug. 23, 1966. During my period of service, I received an injury to my right foot. I filed a claim with the VA and granted O-percent service connection on my foot. Would I be entitled to National Service Life Insurance? If so, what step should I take to apply for the insurance?

A — You may be. You should file an application, VA Form 9-4394, within one year from the date VA established service-connected disability, you may be issued up to $1,000 National Service Life Insurance.

Q — I received VA death pension of $64 per month in 1966 because my income was below $600. I completed my income questionnaire in January, 1967 and noted that my income for 1967 will be $900 from Social Security which started January 1, 1967. However, when I received my January check it was still $64. Will I have an overpayment for the month of January?

A — There is no overpayment, but your monthly benefits will be reduced to $49 effective February 1, 1967.

Driver's Licenses To Have 'Mugs'

After the first of next year, you will be "mugged" when you renew your driver's license.

And "printed" to if you are making your first application for a license.

Nobody in the Department of Public Safety knows yet what kind of photographic equipment will be used when you are told: "Smile, you're on DPS camera," but they know the picture will be in glorious color.

And while you are smiling, better cross your fingers, too.

Under the new driver's license law passed by the 60th Legislature, if your license number ends with 0, 2, 4, 6 or 8 every cashier who asks you for identification over the next four years is going to see that picture.

Even if the last number is odd, you are going to have to live with the picture in your billfold for two years.

Birthday Expiration
After this staggered inauguration, all operators' licenses will expire on their owners' birthdays — for easier remembering — every four years.

Commercial and chauffeur licenses also will get a staggered start: one-year renewals on the owners' birthdays for those ending with odd numbers, two-year renewals for the others. After that, all will be renewable every two years.

It will be difficult — and illegal — to alter the picture or substitute another because the license will be sealed in clear, deathless plastic to give posterity a chuckle.

You will only think the reason for the plastic is to preserve unsullied the ghastly purity of your countenance at the moment before you thought the picture was going to be taken.

Do you wonder if the photographer will arrange the lighting to emphasize your good points? Not exactly.

If you do not like your "mug shot," there is one way you can be sure nobody will ever see it. Don't drive.

Perhaps the idea of being photographed by law enforcement officers offends you.

Fingerprints, Too

Then you will be even more offended — if you are making your first application for a license — when they roll your thumbs on an ink pad and then onto your application for a license.

Console yourself with the thought they will do the same thing to your grandmother, if she is making her first application.

And if she gets convicted of driving without a license, the judge must send that information to the DPS together with a set of all her fingerprints.

The DPS has the authority, but not the money or personnel, to require thumb prints

Lead, S. D., Call-Pioneer Times: "There's a certain unpopularity about computers. But it isn't because people are afraid they will someday be automated out of their jobs. It's just a feeling that machines are becoming too humanlike. This was revealed in a study based on interviews with 3,000 persons, reported in Datamation magazine. It was found that many people believe — wrongly — that the computer is infallible and that it is a kind of super-brain which thinks as humans do and which can provide instant solutions to highly complicated problems that the ordinary man cannot even begin to understand." As more and more people come into daily contact with computers, however, this modern-day myth is expected to lose its force. Familiarity in this case will breed not contempt but better understanding of thinking machines' true capacity to think — which is no more than men give them."

ONCE IS ENOUGH
Lightning may or may not strike twice in the same place but folks with experience say once is enough. Lightning caused fires each year destroy farm buildings, rural homes and stored feed valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars. It also kills more than 400 people and injures another 1,000. Many of these losses could be prevented, says W. S. Allen, Texas A&M University Extension agricultural engineer, through the use of a properly installed lightning protection system.

Tributes To Carl Estes

(Editor's Note: Tributes continue to be published, editorials continue to appear and members of the family are receiving personal letters daily about the late Texas publisher and industrialist, Carl Estes. Neal Estes, editor of The Stanton Reporter has received copies of resolutions, and many, many editorial clippings and personal messages. Some of them appear below.)

Chief Hospital Corpsman James A. Ishan, fighting in Vietnam wrote: "I was reading the Stars and Stripes tonight and noticed the article concerning the death of Col. Carl Estes. I send my deepest sympathy to the family. I enjoyed his editorials so much and read them through the years. As Governor Connally said: 'he will be missed by all of us.'"

AUGUST DATE IS PLANNED — Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Innes, Perryton, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Cheryl to Mr. Tommy E. Bullard of Hereford. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Bullard, Route 4, Hereford. The couple is planning an August wedding in the First Methodist Church of Perryton. Miss Innes is a sophomore student at West Texas State University. Mr. Bullard is engaged in farming and attended WTSU.

WM. A. BLAKELEY of Dallas: "I would like here to express my deep appreciation for the acquaintance and friendship Carl Estes found it possible to give me during his time. With his distinguished position and his unusual ability and effective execution of purpose, he came to my side on more than one occasion and I know that his assistance and influence had an important part in some of the major events of my life." (Mr. Blakeley once served as U. S. Senator from Texas.)

For Gov. Arthur H. James of Pennsylvania wrote: "We have just learned of the death of Carl. Our deepest sympathy to you all. It was my good fortune to have had an intimate relationship with Carl for five years, and he was a great help and strength to me. The Good Lord must have destroyed the pattern when Carl was born. There was none like him."

A fine editorial tribute was prepared and published in The Gilmer Mirror, a small city near Longview, by Georgia Lashinger. The Gilmer editor wrote how her city was benefited by the industrialization of Longview. The same thing could happen in West Texas. As the hub-city of the Permian Basin, Midland's growth could well contribute to jobs for many Stantonites. And the more industry the entire area gets, the better the area community. This editorial appears elsewhere in the paper.

Charles K. Devall, publisher of the Kilgore Herald, and a newspaper neighbor in Gregg County wrote an editorial '30' For Carl. Devall and his wife were long-time friends of the Estes newspaper brothers. His tribute appears elsewhere in this issue of the paper.

The Southern Newspaper Publishers Association Bulletin had the following tribute to the Longview newspaperman. "For many years Carl Estes was prominent in state and national affairs. For many years Carl Estes was prominent in state and national enterprises and spearheaded numerous campaigns to bring new industry to Texas, especially East Texas. His activities for the betterment of the area brought him many honors and wide public recognition. The most recent was the naming of a segment of State Highway 149 for him. Estes Parkway was the first state highway ever named for a living individual or for a deceased one. The Texas Legislature passed a unanimous resolution naming the highway for Col. Estes and Gov. John Connally attended the dedication rights recently held in Longview. He was also cited by the Board of Realtors for work done on their behalf in the state. He served in both World Wars. Though he was past the age of active service at the time of World War Two, he entered the Navy and saw active service in the Pacific and returned to civilian life thrice decorated with the rank of full Commander. He served with Admiral Michener command in the Pacific."

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Riordan of Lubbock expressed their sympathy to the family. Riordan is the public relations director for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company in this area of West Texas. He has been a long time admirer of the late publisher and a close friend of the editor of The Stanton Reporter.

The officials of the West Texas Press Association sent this message: "The newspaper profession lost one of its finest in the death of your brother, Carl. We extend sympathy to the family." The message was sent by Bob Craig, president, and Violeta Mahood, secretary of the association.

The national and state colors will fly from the county, city, and other places displaying the flag in Longview for a period of 30 days honoring the memory of Publisher Carl Estes of the Longview Daily News, Daily Junior, and other publications controlled by Estes.

President Johnson's telegram to the Estes family read: "Lady Bird and I share your grief today and join you in mourning the loss of our beloved friend. Carl lived with so much zest and so much constructive work in the community he loved, and we know how keenly he will be missed in Texas and especially East Texas. You are in our thoughts and in our prayers."

Governor Connally said in a message to the family: "I will be forever proud that Carl Estes was my friend. I know I speak for all Texans when I say he will be profoundly missed by us all."

Senator John Tower said: "East Texas will be forever in his debt for having a major role in stimulating the growth of the area and the tremendous progress it has made over the last few years. Carl possessed all those qualities in intelligence, courage, and high sense of public duty that made him one of the towering figures of our time. Those of us who knew him can think better of ourselves for having had the privilege of associating with Carl Estes."

Congressman Wright Patman said: "Carl Estes was one of America's great and most outstanding public-spirited citizens. Few people in the world have made such public contributions to human welfare and economic good for so many people."

R. G. LeTourneau, internationally known industrialist and Christian layman who operates major manufacturing facilities, said: "I have come to know Carl Estes as a man who stood high among men in leadership ability, in vision, aggressiveness, and concern for the welfare of his community. I owe a great personal debt to him for his effort in making possible our location in Longview. The industrialist said of his close, personal friend of the past 22 years, "From the day when, together we flew over the Longview area to view it, and he worked so diligently to secure us, he has not failed to be an interested and effective supporter of our company and college." Le Tourneau announced he was setting up a memorial fund to further honor his friend.

Southwestern Natural To Try For Completion

By JAMES C. WATSON
Southwestern Natural Gas Inc. of Midland will try for completion from the Dean-Wolfcamp in No. 1-8 Mabee, Martin County workover operation on the east side of the Mabee (San Andres) pool. It is 2 1/4 miles northwest of Stanton.

Midland plan No. 1 Fryer as at 9,000-foot Pennsylvanian explorer five miles east of Knott in Howard County. It is 2,200 feet from south and 890 feet from east lines of section 27, block 33, T-2-N, T&P survey, mile east of the lone producer in the Bond (Spraberry) pool.

Outdoors In Texas

Texas has a new lake to be proud of. Sam Rayburn Reservoir in Tarrant County. It was completed just a little more than a year ago and already is filled with water and fish. This is the largest of all man-made lakes in Texas. It covers 114,300 acres of surface at power-pool level and 144,300 acres at flood-stage level.

Sam Rayburn Reservoir is located in the colorful Angelina National Forest. It is surrounded by such towns as Nacogdoches, Lufkin, Zavalla, Broadus, San Augustin, and Jasper.

The lake is named in honor of the late Sam Rayburn of Bonham, who served as speaker of the lower house of Congress for some 20 years. He died in 1961 before completion of the impoundment.

In a state that boasts of more inland water than any of the 48 states, this one is being developed as a real recreational center. It will be a play spot of the entire southwest... especially Texas, Louisiana and possibly Oklahoma.

Its proximity to metropolitan Dallas and Houston means it will have heavy traffic from both of those places.

Sam Rayburn is a beautiful lake. Situated as it is... in Forest service and Corps of Engineers, which built the dam at McGee Bend, will provide recreational features not presently found in any other lake area of the state.

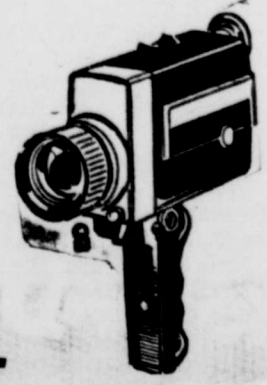

Already some 20 recreational sites are being developed and more than 50 are planned around the lake.

Question-And-Answer

(This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.)

Q — I own a small business and had to file several tax returns. I just got a refund check and I'm not sure what it's for. How can I find out?

A — This year refund checks are identified by class and period of tax. For example, refunds on individual income tax are identified as TAX REF while corporation income tax refunds are identified as CORP RED. This identification appears at the right of the check just under the amount. Employment and excise taxes are also identified.

The period covered by the check, either a year or quarter, is shown at the left of the check under the date the check was issued.

A close examination of your check, therefore, will show which tax it covers and the period involved.

Q — I am planning to set up a neighborhood service business during school vacation this summer. I will mow lawns, wash windows, etc. Will I be taxed on what I make?

A — You will have to file an income tax return if your earnings are $600 or more for the year. You also may be liable for self-employment tax if your net earnings from the jobs you do are $400 or more. Keep a record of what you are paid and your expenses for equipment, supplies and so forth. This will help you determine whether you earned enough from this and other sources to be required to pay taxes.

Old Settlers Reunion Committees to Meet

The Old Settlers Reunion planning committees will meet again Friday night, May 16, at 7:30 at the Martin County Library. Everyone is urged to attend.

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service has issued its preliminary county by county report on 1966 Texas cotton production, showing 1,293,700 bales of 500-pounds gross weight produced in the 23 High Plains counties represented by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

This compares with 2,227,000 bale revised production figure for 1965. The huge reduction was a joint result of fewer planted acres and adverse weather conditions last year.

Under the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965 producers were required to reduce plantings by 12.5 per cent in order to qualify as "cooperators," and in addition were given the option to reduce up to 35 per cent and receive payments on all acreage diverted from production. High Plains producers cut plantings back an average of 32.5 per cent below 1965, from 2,170,400 to 1,466,300 acres according to the report.

The production cut however comes to 41.8 per cent. Weather worked two ways to bring the 1966 total down. First, losses to hail, sand and drought resulted in 5.7 per cent less acres being harvested than were planted. In 1965 such losses amounted to 5.3 per cent.

Second, wet, cold weather and an early freeze reduced yield per harvested acre from 519 pounds in 1965 to 449 pounds in 1966.

The High Plains crop last year figured 40.6 per cent of the 3,182,000 bales produced in Texas, considerably below normal. For the past several years this area's production has been between 45 and 50 per cent of the state total.

The following table shows planted acres, harvested acres, yields per acre and total production for the 23 High Plains counties in 1966, along with yields per acre and total production in 1965.

A dollar limit in government payments to individual producers of all farm commodities was again narrowly avoided June 6 when the House of Representatives in Washington voted on the Agriculture Appropriations Bill.

Amendments to the bill proposing that no farmer be allowed to receive more than $25,000 in government price support and diversion payments for all crops produced, was introduced by Representative Paul Findley of Illinois.

According to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., the measure was defeated only as the result of a strong effort by Texas' Nineteenth District Congressman George Mahon and other farm belt leaders in the House.

Johnson said: "Too many urban people and their legislators fail to recognize government payments to farmers for what they are—an inseparable part of the price received by the producer for his commodities, and a part without which in most instances such commodities could not and would not be produced."

He went on to say that limiting the payments that could be made to large producers would be rank discrimination against the agricultural initiative and drive which now feeds and clothes the people of the United States for a much smaller percentage of total income than in any other nation of the world.

"When consumers realize and admit this fact, there will be no more carping about government farm program payments. But until they do, the battle to prevent such limitations will be an unending battle, and one which PCG and other producer organizations in agriculture must be ready to fight at a moment's notice," Johnson stated.

The recent announcement by the Texas Tech Board of Directors that $500,000 would be allocated to a new building and additional equipment for the school's Textile Research Laboratories is hailed by Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., as a move which will mean much to the High Plains cotton industry.

The new building and equipment is expected to give Tech a top role in the investigation of blending possibilities of short staple, low and high micronaire and high micronaire cottons. An initial appropriation of $275,000 for this study has been approved by the House Agriculture Committee. The project is expected to be assigned to the Southern Regional Research Laboratory at New Orleans, but much of the work can be farmed out to Tech if its facilities are capable of carrying it out.

In view of the micronaire and staple problems being experienced on the plains, this study could well lead to a breakthrough in utilization of this area's cotton which would be comparable if not exceed the 1967 discoveries on light spotted cotton," Johnson said.

Studies carried out by PCG through the Textile Research Laboratories at Tech in 1957 and 1958 led to the establishment of the "Light Spot" category in cotton grading, and has meant over $100 million dollars to High Plains producers through higher prices for each year's crop. The higher prices for light spotted cotton became effective, both in the textile industry and in the government loan schedule for the first time in 1959.

"It is to be hoped that this is the first step toward making the textile research facilities at Tech among the finest and most complete in the world, capable of researching every textile phase from fibers through finished fabrics," Johnson said.

PCG furnished the original $45,000 which made possible construction of the building which now contains the Textile Research Laboratories and has since given financial help to climate control in the building, as well as purchased several pieces of equipment which are now on loan to TRL.

"Whatever we have done to aid the Textile Department at Tech has been with an eye to potential dollar returns to our members many times the cash outlay," Johnson said, adding "We will continue to give full cooperation to college officials in their expansion program, because neither our objective nor our faith in textile research has changed."

Slated for immediate purchase by the college is new blending feeders which will facilitate work on low and high micronaire blending. The new building and its equipment will be for textile oriented chemical studies of bleaching, dyeing, resin treating and other phases of fabric finishing.

In charge of the chemical work will be Dr. William Martin, former Director of Research at the Institute of Textile Technology, Charlottesville, Va. He is expected to report to Tech about mid-August.

974 Texans Due July Call

Texas' July quota is 974 men for the Army, state Selective Service Director Morris Schwartz said today.

The national quota is 19,900, all for the Army. Schwartz said local draft boards will forward 5,016 men for pre-induction examination in July, up from 4,000 in June.

Schwartz said Texas received a quota of four doctors of osteopathy to enter the Army or Navy in July, August and September.

Now is the time to renew your subscription to the Ole Reliable for another year.

Texas Attorney General Crawford C. Martin visits with the graduating class of Masonic Home High School in Fort Worth following his commencement address. The Attorney General pointed out that state expenditures for public schools have increased 150 per cent since 1950. He said that 46 cents of every tax dollar in Texas is spent on education. ## Red's Corner

By RED GIBSON

From time to time this corner is dedicated to the proposition that the newspaper reader deserves a new twist on those old stories that continue to pop up.

There are the "human interest" stories that reappear in cycles, like locusts. They are pleasant, and people like them; this may be why editors are always hunting them. I don't propose that we change the formula, but a change in diet would be appetizing. Here are some examples of the way I would like to see these stories in the paper:

BROOKLYN — To the thousands of people he spoke to each day he was known only as "Irving the rag-picker." Irving, in his middle 70s, eked out what his friends supposed was a meager living by picking rags off Brooklyn's streets. Most people assumed he had no money to tide him over any financial trouble.

Irving died yesterday, and when friends went to his humble room behind the brewery they found they were right: Irving didn't have a cent to his name.

Or what about the one that goes like this:

PHOENIX — The bases were loaded and the Orange Caps were three runs behind last night when star batter Tommy Suggs stepped out of the dugout in the city Little League championship game.

Then the crowd gasped and the Orange Caps' future turned bleak — Suggs had stepped on a bat and turned his ankle. All other players except little Kenny Hanso had already been in the game. Kenny, the youngest and smallest member of the team, had not gotten into a game all season.

The coach knelt and gently gave instructions to his young batsman. Kenny stepped into the batter's box. The first pitch came whistling across. Strike one. Then another, Strike two.

Kenny rubbed his hands together and set his jaw. The pitch was on its way. Whack! The crowd shot to its feet. Kenny had hit into a triple play.

Or this: The lady stood behind the master mechanic as he worked over her car. For two hours he sought the source of her trouble. Timidly, she pointed to a loose wire and asked, "Could this be the problem?"

"Of course not, Lady," the mechanic replied. "That wire is supposed to be that way." Nevertheless, the woman reached over and gently touched the wire.

Nothing happened. That wasn't the trouble.

Still another: DECATUR — The widow, facing eviction, put her last $2 on a horse in the Mexican Sweepstakes. She had dreamed of a skull and crossbones flag, so she bought tickets on a 1,000-to-1 shot named Pirate's Hope.

The next day, one hour before the landlord was to evict her, she heard a knock at the door. Hoping against hope that it was a Sweepstakes messenger, she opened the door.

Unfortunately, it was the landlord. His watch was an hour fast.

On second thought, maybe these stories are better the way they show up in the paper.

Sullivan, Ill., Progress: "After several years of inaction, government officials are suddenly becoming concerned about growing crime in our country. More important yet, they are suddenly aware that criminals are now receiving a lot of special benefits and protection as the result of recent rulings of the highest court of our nation. The court seems to have suddenly become more concerned with rights of criminals, than it is with the rights of all the other citizens. . . . Law enforcement officials . . . are getting discouraged — they put forth a big effort in solving cases and capturing criminals, only to see them go merrily on their way, unhindered and unconvicted on technicalities so vague that they often reach the point of being silly."

THE highest of distinctions is service to others.

DEATH, quick, sudden, eternal death, hit Martin County like a bolt from the blue Tuesday near noon. MRS. SOUVAL BRITTON lost her life and a young Dallas woman, returning from a vacation trip was killed instantly in a two-car accident five miles west of Stanton. Another young lady, also of Dallas, in the very bloom of youth, is reported in fair condition as a result of the sudden head-on crash. It is our hope and prayer that this young lady be spared to go on and live the useful life one of her years is entitled to on this earth. We end our sympathy, real sympathy, to the mourning members of the families of those women who died Tuesday at noon.

MANY years ago your writer edited a newspaper in Carthage. A fine little girl used to read our publication there. She grew up, married and moved to Longview with her husband. The following letter was in our mail this week from MRS. HARMON BROWN. "When I was a child and until I moved to Longview, the only newspaperman I knew was NEAL ESTES. Then, of course, upon moving here (Longview) in no time at all I knew of your brother CARL. Even though I never met him face to face, because of you I felt I knew him. His influence here quickly gained my respect and HARMON and I have always admired his straight forwardness on any and all matters. Without his efforts, I wonder where Longview would be. He was truly, 'Mr. Longview.' I think of you often and had wondered many times where you were. Hope you are well and contentedly situated." The young matron was the former AUGUSTA HOLT, a daughter of one of Panola County's finest families.

IT was real fine to witness the many flags displayed in Stanton Wednesday, Flag Day, 1967. All of us need to be reminded that this country grew great because of the vision and patriotism of men and women who pioneered the spirit of freedom and independence in the early day homes and on many battlefields. We gained our heritage because our forefather did not endorse the buring of draft cards, rioting in streets, illegal burglary by smashing other people's property, marching, shouting in jungle style on streets, and shooting policemen and firemen in gangster fashion. And now we find a nation run, managed, and operated by selfish politicians, holdovers of the old tax, tax, tax and spend, spend days of the "First Deal." May the Good Lord turn the thoughts and judgment of the free citizens of the U.S.A. back to the channels of genuine Americanism. May the display of Old Glory, serve to stabilize the strength of individuals everywhere who are done with a dilly-dallying leadership with no remembrance at all to the traditions of our Constitutional framers of our great land.

STAFF SERGEANT and MRS. HENRY GRAVES were in Garmish, Germany when they read of our brother's death in STARS and STRIPES, U. S. Serviceman's newspaper overseas edition. NITA and HENRY sent us the clipping about CARL'S passing. A note said: "This article appeared in our Armed Forces newspaper and I thought it sounded like one of your brothers. After rummaging through some old STANTON REPORTES, I felt sure it was. I'm truly sorry to read about this. I thought you might want the clipping since it appeared in a newspaper so far from home. You have our sincerest sympathy." It is a compliment to us that our friends who did not know our late brother drew the conclusion we were related because of the writing style they considered similar. Thank you NITA and SGT. GRAVES for your thoughtfulness.

MARTIN LEROY (RED) GIBSON, son of JUDGE and MRS. MARTIN GIBSON, this city, wrote from Denton. RED has always been one of our favorite people. In his short communique he said: "I was terribly sorry to hear of the death of your brother. I know how much he meant to you and to the state he served so well. Men like him don't pass our way often—not nearly often enough. I know that you are grieved that CARL is gone. I know also that it will be a long time before CARL ESTES is forgotten."

AND here is a letter I will keep and treasure through the years. "Just a note to tell you how sorry I am to learn about CARL'S passing away. Certainly he was a great friend and inspiration to us all. Now sit down and write me a letter and let me know if there is anything I can do. You know this is a permanent offer and I mean it. Warmest personal regards. JAMES N. ALLISON, JR." JIMMY ALLISON is now serving as the administrative assistant to CONGRESSMAN GEORGE BUSH, Houston, in Washington, D. C. Jointly with CARL, LITTLE JIM ALLISON, has been responsible for what good I have been able to accomplish as a public servant in journalism and in life. JIMMY and CARL both taught me that truly, "The highest of distinctions is service to others."

NEAL'S NUGGET: There have been those of us who had some pro and con opinions about the question of the President's decision to run for another term. Following his actions this week in three decisions that effect this nation, there is no doubt in my mind but what LBJ would like to retire to the Ranch on the River Perdenales. I read his official appointive actions as a reaffirmation of his strong stand for that group that had no signers when the Declaration of Independence was passed among the patriots who framed it's text.

'30' for Carl

AN EDITORIAL

It's difficult for us to write a farewell tribute to an old friend, especially if he is a fellow-newspaperman. And for this writer their's only one way to do it—in a strictly personal way.

Lyde and I were in New Orleans at a newspaper meeting when our office called to tell us that Carl Estes had been fatally stricken with a heart attack. Immediately we began packing to return home and sent the following telegram to Mrs. Margaret Estes:

"Have just learning the shocking news about Carl. You have our sympathy in your grievous loss. Carl's dynamic leadership and dauntless spirit — expressed in person and in the columns of his newspapers—brought tremendous progress to our area. He had unique qualities of greatness which are not likely to be duplicated. May God bless and comfort you."

Our sympathy, of course, goes out to other members of the family and to the Longview News & Journal staff and in particular to Syril Parker and Ellie Hopkins, senior executives who have been on Carl's team since he came to Longview in 1934.

Although our newspapers shared the same basic philosophy, there were times when differences of opinion caused us to express sharp disagreement. Carl's first loyalty was to Longview, as it should have been, and our was and is to Kilgore. But never did we cease to be friends.

Looking back today, we treasure some wonderful but all too infrequent visits with Carl and Margaret, and we shall never forget them.

This newspaper has on several occasions recognized the vast contributions of our neighbor to this region, notably in our annual Oil and Progress Edition of 1965, which was dedicated to the Longview publisher and several other distinguished Gregg County citizens.

In that edition we honored Carl for "doing more than any one single person to develop the industrial potential of East Texas, and for his aggressive leadership in a variety of civic improvement activities.

The sudden passing of the man who is being widely mourned today, especially in his beloved Longview, came in a way which must have pleased him: he died with his boots on, while on a combined vacation and industry-hunting trip to California. And on that very day, a typical Carl Estes Memorial Day editorial tribute to the nation's heroic dead appeared over his signature on the front page of the Longview News.

Wouldn't that be Carl's way to write "30" for an action-packed career?

—CHAS. K. DEVALL.

Baylor Pays Honor To West Texas Pair

Baylor University Friday honored a pair of West Texans who became famous intellectuals without benefit of formal education.

Artist-author Tom Lea and book designer Carl Hertzog of El Paso received honorary Doctor of Literature degrees for their decades of what Baylor President Abner V. McCall labeled "major contributions to the culture of Texas and the Southwest." Lea, 60, is one of the nation's best-known artists and a respected writer despite his lack of any college training. An El Paso native, he is the son of a lawyer-soldier who served as that city's mayor. He first gained widespread notice as the illustrator of works of the late J. Frank Dobie.
