New Traffic Laws Effective Monday

A new set of ground rules for the state's 5 1/2 million licensed drivers will go into effect August 28 when a major portion of the new traffic safety laws become effective. After that date, conviction of driving while a drivers license is suspended or revoked will carry with it a jail sentence of 72 hours to 6 months plus a fine of $25 to $500.

Motorists who do not bother to get a driver's license will be faced with fines up to $500 plus the possibility of jail sentences ranging from 72 hours to 6 months for habitual violators. These are the teeth in the driver license law that have been needed for a long time."

Robert F. Miller, President, Texans for Traffic Safety, said in commenting on the new laws. He added: "A person who is unwilling to be licensed or drives while his license is suspended deserves severe treatment. The safety of all other users of the streets and highways demand it. Without effective licensing, how can we be sure that motorists are capable of operating a motor vehicle?"

New minimum driver licensing ages will become effective August 28. After Monday, 18 years will be the minimum age for a regular drivers license unless an approved course of driver education has been passed by the applicant. With driver education, operators licenses can be issued at 16.

There are two exceptions to this provision. A license may be issued at 16 if an approved course of driver education is not taught at the school regularly attended by the applicant. This exception was put into the law to give the schools an opportunity to offer driver education to all Texas teens and will remain in effect until June 1, 1969. A drivers license may be issued at 15 when certain, severe hardship conditions exist.

Provisional drivers licenses will be issued to all persons under 21 years of age. These licenses will be clearly designated as provisional permits to drive. The new law permits the Department of Public Safety to have re-examined any person believed to be incapable of safely operating a motor vehicle. A drivers license may be denied to a person with a physical or mental disability, or disease, that prevents him from exercising reasonable or ordinary control over a motor vehicle. A license may not be issued to a person unable to understand highway wording or direction signs in the English language.

"These new laws will not be worth the paper they are written on if they are not vigorously enforced in every town and county in the State," Miller said. "Well trained policemen in sufficient numbers to patrol the streets and highways must be on the job. We must remember that 3,406 human beings were killed in Texas as traffic accidents last year and another 208,319 injured. Traffic law officers can help prevent accidents. Municipal and state budgets must be large enough to provide for the protection Texas needs."

"When the time comes that there is enough manpower on the streets and highways to enforce these laws, there will be fewer accidents, fewer traffic killings and our State will be recognized as the one place where realistic values are placed on the worth of a human life," Miller stated in urging all-out enforcement of the new laws.

Veterans Administration

(Editor's note: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.)

Q — I have been hospitalized in a VA Hospital for more than 21 days for treatment of a service-connected disability. I have been granted two 30 day leave periods with 24 hour hospitalization between periods of leave. I am to be readmitted to the hospital after the second 30 days leave. Will my temporary total rating continue?

A — No. A second pass or authorized leave of 30 days will be regarded as the equivalent of hospital discharge and will interrupt hospitalization effective on the last day of the month in which the 30th day of such absence occurred.

Bible Comment— Church And Home Worship Blend

Today, there is great resurgence of emphasis on religion in the home. And this is a good thing. But we must never forget the vital role of the church. The two, home and church, ought to go together in the life of every family that would be in any real sense Christian. Family religion, fine as it can be made, is not enough in itself. A family religion, divorced from the church and lacking the full expression of Christian fellowship, could not be in any real sense completely Christian. The family needs the church as much as the church needs the family.

Philosopher Takes Dim View Of Scientists Wanting Farmers To Grow Square Tomatoes

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw examines some new ideas in farming this week, more or less.)

I was in town yesterday buying another nickel tractor bolt for a quarter and a friend handed me a copy of Time magazine and said "Here, there's an article in this about farming you might like to see."

I'm not sure. According to it, vast progress is being made in agriculture these days, and almost undreamed-of new ideas are being studied.

For example, plant scientists are trying to develop a square tomato. That's right. They want a tomato that grows square instead of round, because, for one thing it would fit better in a sandwich.

This is what I'm talking about. Why put all the burden on the farmer. It seems to me it'd be a lot simpler to just make round bread and use the tomatoes we've already got.

It sure was lucky that table plates originally were designed round instead of square, or you know what kind of eggs scientist would be trying to get hens to lay. For years agricultural experts have been telling me how to raise feed that's more palatable and nutritious for cows, whereas I'd like to see them working on cows that can thrive on the grass and weeds I've already got. Nearly every idea I head from the experts puts more work on me than my cows.

Another part of this Time

tion effective on the last day of the month in which the 30th day of such absence occurred.

Q — I am enrolled at the University of Arkansas under the GI Bill for the 1966 - 67 term. I plan to attend the University of Missouri for the 1967 summer session. What must I do to obtain VA educational assistance for the summer session?

A — Submit a request to the VA Regional Office for a change of program or school. This should be done early enough to permit the issuance of a Certificate of Eligibility prior to your enrollment in the new school. Q — I attend a business school under the provisions of the New GI Bill. Is it necessary that I continue to report my classroom attendance to the VA each month?

A — Yes, your certificate and that of an official of the business school is necessary each month to insure prompt delivery of your checks. Use the pre-punched IMB card mailed to you by the VA for this purpose.

E. A. Baugh Honored On 60th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Baugh were honored with a dinner celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary, August 27, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gilmore.

Attending were, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hughes, Bronte; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gilbreath, Lynn, Kerry, and Greg, of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Payne, Mike, Stacy, and Steve, of Odessa; Eugene Baugh, and Mrs. Martha Lambert, Debbie, Randy, Becky, and Doug, of Stanton.

pan or a bucket that for some reason stays in the back yard and throw it at the invader as he yells.

He did, and this was momentarily effective. But it was no more than a couple of hours before the regulars were back. I thought we had them pretty well stopped at what we call the demilitarized zone (some people might call it a fence). But one battalion of the enemy tunneled right under the zone. Most of the time, we had to fight aerial invasions—the dogs would go right over the four-foot chain link fence.

Now, if you have ever thrown either a bucket or a dog feeding pan you realize that, as missiles, both are short on distance and long on inaccuracy. This trouble meant, then, that we had to have more sophisticated weapons. At first, we opted for rocks. I laid in a fair number by the back porch (sort of a supply depot) and set a scout to watching for invaders.

The wait was not long. I let the dog walk straight into the ambush, then dashed out, grabbed up a few rocks and commenced firing. The dog fled, unhurt and unhurt, but with his ardor temporarily cooled.

The victory was tainted, however, for I quickly learned how our pilots feel when they are bombing around civilian areas. That is, a rock, if thrown with sufficient force, will continue past the original target and hit a window in a neighbor's house. Fortunately, my rocks only hit the neighbor's house. More fortunately, the neighbor wasn't home.

Nevertheless, a switch in weapons was required. So the supply officer came up with some squares cut out of two by fours. These served the purpose. I can throw them without worrying about seriously injuring the dog, and they make more noise when they hit the fence, thus providing more incentive for the dog to keep going.

One way to do the job would be to take a shotgun and thin out the dog population. World opinion would frown on use of such massive weapons.

Therefore, I am limited to conventional weapons. The enemy knows this, or at least suspects it, which is why he keeps coming back.

I can sympathize with President Johnson for he is battling a situation just like mine. I have one source of cheer that he doesn't have—my war with the invaders will be over in seven more days.

Red's Corner

By RED GIBSON

I did not fully understand the problems involved in keeping the Reds out of Vietnam until nature thrust an explanation upon me.

There is a great similarity between the Gibson household and Southeast Area. Our dog, Josephine, is currently attracting admirers from far and wide, as she does every six months or so. She represents the South Vietnamese people and crops. The rest of the neighborhood dogs represent the Viet Cong or the North Vietnamese regulars.

Two dogs who live across the street can be considered home grown products, the Viet Cong guerrillas. They are known on the street and no one pays them any attention. They can get right up to my house without my worrying about them — or they could if I weren't especially on guard these days. These are the Viet Cong.

However, the little brown dog that comes around so often is surely an invader from the north. He is like a North Vietnamese regular, sent by Ho Chi Minh. There are others like him.

The similarity to Vietnam's problems does not end there. When we first began noticing that there were extra dogs in the area we immediately brought Josephine into the house. This was sort of a pacification program. We wanted to make sure she wouldn't go over to the enemy. Our initial reaction to the visitors was to send Marty, the 6-year-old boy who lives at our place, to shout at the intruders.

He shouted well and accomplished a little good, but it was soon apparent that he needed an adviser. I stepped in and taught him some tricks I had learned in past wars. The main thing was surprise, preferably from up close. A dog that is 75 or 100 feet away isn't going to run far when you yell at him, although he will probably clear out of the yard.

After a time, however, these tactics weren't enough. We needed to escalate the fight. So Marty's adviser taught him to pick up a dog feeding

The Battle For Inner Space

By G. B. SHELBURNE, JR.

Among the nations of the world there is going on a great battle to control outer space. We hear a great deal about satellites, space ships, space travel, and the effort to put a man on the moon. All of this is very interesting, but "the battle for inner space"—the battle to control the minds of men—is far more important to all of us.

The great battle to control the minds of men has gone on since Eden, and it continues in the world arena today. We see it manifest in the press, in books, in speeches and discussions, and in the various communications media. This is what is behind all of the great disturbances that convulse our

The Vital Nature Of This Struggle

There are many passages of Scripture that show the vital nature of this struggle. We read, for instance, in Proverbs 23:7, "For as he thinketh in his heart, so is he." In Proverbs 4:23 this advice is given: "Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life." In writing to the Philippian Paul said, "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things" (Philippians 4:8).

Whether one succeeds or fails in life depends ultimately on whether he learns to control and direct his thoughts in the right way—whether he wins or loses the "battle for inner space." Paul expresses it in these words: "For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after the flesh (for the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strongholds), casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought of the obedience of Christ." (2 Corinthians 10:3-5).

The mind is the most potent and dangerous part of us. Uncontrolled, it broods over hatreds, anger, envy, wrongs, injustices, and discontent. It can rage more furiously than the most destructive fire or flood. Its heat can turn into a feverish illness that will destroy us.

Given over to false ideologies, the mind can bring disaster on a global scale. We have seen this sadly illustrated in the case of a wiry little German by the name of Adolph Hitler. The world has seen it in the terrible consequences of godless Communism. We saw it dramatically illustrated on a street in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963, when the diseased mind of an assassin brought about the sudden death of the President of the United States. The awful results of uncontrolled minds are seen in scores of American cities torn with riots, destruction, and bloodshed.

Without doubt, controlling and directing the minds of men is the world's greatest unsolved problem. We have learned to travel faster than sound, to hurl space vehicles into outer space at unbelievable speeds, and split an atom and to unleash undescrivable power. But in the realm of controlling and directing the human mind we are very far behind. Herein lies our greatest peril. General MacArthur warned, following World War II, that if we do not have a moral and spiritual resurgence, our nation is doomed.

What We Can Do About It

We may be thinking that all of this is interesting, but we might ask, "What can I do about it?" There might not be much that we can do on a national and international scale immediately, but each one of us can do something about this on the personal level. After all, if this great battle is ever won, victory will have to begin on the personal level.

Each one of us can resolve that, by God's help, we shall learn to think rightly, and thus to act rightly, in the family circle, in the community, in the work that we do, in our every-day dealings with people, and in the whole field of personal relations. If we "let the word of Christ dwell in us richly," as Paul recommends (Colossians 3:16), we shall come to have the right basic philosophy and outlook on life. We shall learn to live by the Golden Rule, doing unto others as we would have them to do to us. We shall learn to love even our enemies and to do good to those who hate us.

Filling our hearts with the teachings of Christ will enable us to direct our mental energies into constructive channels. We shall put love for hatred and soften anger with understanding. We shall learn to destory envy with unselfishness and to substitute satisfaction for discontent.

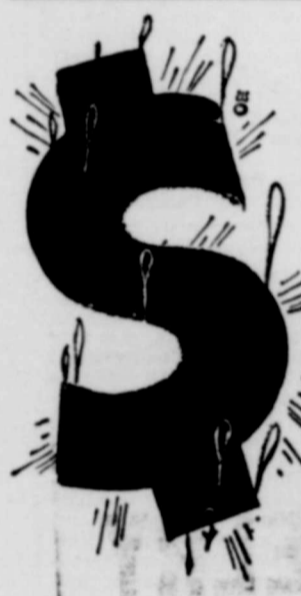

Thinking rightly and letting the mind of Christ be in us (Philippians 2:5) will enable us to bridle our rage and put it to work for us instead of against us. We shall think less of wrongs and more of rights. We shall look for justice in what seems unfair. We shall remember the rewards of conscientious labor and the benevolence of divine providence and thus be able to go calmly and patiently about life's duties.

The Wonderful Results That Will Follow

When we have turned to the teaching of Christ and have enlisted divine help in this "battle for inner space," wonderful results will follow in our lives. Our mind will no longer be a menace to ourselves nor to the well-being of our families and friends. But it will be a powerful influence for our own happiness and usefulness and for the welfare of others. We shall be able to live with others in peace, love, and brotherly kindness. Above all, God can use us for His righteous purposes, because we shall have cast down imaginations and every high thing that exalts itself against the knowledge of God, and shall have brought into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ. Then we shall have won the "battle for inner space." May everyone of us resolve that, with the help of God, we shall do just this!—one of us can do something about this on the personal

Say Vows In Stanton Rites

Double ring vows were exchanged by Miss Debra Lee Leonard and Airman I.C. Thomas L. Banks Sunday evening at the Reorganized Church of Latter Lay Saints in Stanton. The bride is from Bay City, Mich., and is the daughter of Mrs. C. L. Thornton of Madisonville, and J. E. Leonard, Sr., of Midland. The bridegroom is stationed at Holloman Air Force Base in New Mexico, and is the son of Mrs. Lial Banks of Bay City, Mich., and the late Lial Banks.

Elder Raymond Carson served as officiant. Mrs. Carl Leonard, Jr. was the organist, and Roy Koonce sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a formal gown of georgette over satin designed with the pea de sole silk slip was covered with an organza cage. Debby Stephenson of Shreveport, La., cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor, and Bill Waldrop of Canyon was best man.

Miss Linda Eaton of Midland was maid of honor. Miss Ellis Leonard of Madisonville and Miss Susan Eaton of Midland were the bridesmaids. They wore turquoise chiffon floor-length dresses and carried single white roses.

James Banks of Detroit, Mich., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Jimmie Leonard, Jr., Midland, and William Banks, Bay City, Mich.

The couple left on a wedding trip to the mid-western states and when they return, the bridegroom will be stationed in Thailand. Mrs. Banks will attend the Delta College School of Nursing in Bay City, Mich.

A reception was held in the church parlor. The bride and bridegroom, her parents, his mother, and feminine attendants greeted guests in the receiving line.

Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon cites the fact that the nation's trade surplus is at its lowest level since 1959 and that steadily declining U. S. gold reserves are the cause of mounting concern in the U. S. banking community and on Capitol Hill.

Buy in Stanton and save

It's often said that life insurance is paid for even when it's not bought. And that is true. It is paid for —

- by the widow who, after years of being a homemaker, has to find employment as a saleswoman or clerical worker.
- by the girl who rushes into an unwise marriage to escape the financial problems at home.
- by the boy who gives up the idea of further education and takes the first available job to pay his way at home.
- by the young woman who refrains from marrying because she has to support Mother.
- by the old man who isn't really able to work, but has to anyway.

There's an easier way to pay for life insurance — with a young man's dollars.
