We have reached the point in this country where right is on the defense. Why? Because the law is on the side of protecting the rights of the offender. Recent Supreme Court decisions have been equal to giving a crook a courtesy card in crime. And yet, in this governor's race, we have one candidate devoting a major portion of his time making an issue of crime increase. Of course crime is increasing and it will continue to increase until some of the decisions of the higher courts are reversed in favor of the rights of the people. The candidate mentioned above can do absolutely nothing about crime in Texas. This candidate has devotedly supported the administration of the man in Washington who has contributed more crack-pot ideas to the attempted remaking of this country than any other leader in the history of this nation. With the appointment of such men as THURGOOD MARSHALL and ABE FORTAS to the Supreme Court conditions are not going to improve in any area of society because they were personally motivated political appointees. The people must demand that the Supreme Court be taken out of politics. Until this happens all the candidates for governor in the world can't do one thing about bringing about the decrease in crime. This is true again because even if you have the best trained law enforcement officers in the land on the job they cannot get the job done with their hands legally tied.

San Angelo residents resented a recent visit of an inspection team from HEW—Health, Education and Welfare Department—out of Washington. The team was sent there to investigate integration in the public schools. HEW found the system not up to snuff and left some criticism behind. San Angelo schools were integrated long ago at the high school level and peacefully without coercion. The school system today is integrated at all levels, again without any fuss or bother. But HEW sent a patrol in anyway and a test resulted. The test was not satisfactory to HEW's policemen. Board members in San Angelo cannot be responsible for the low score the students made on the tests. School officials can bend over backwards, make all requirements and regulations equal, but they cannot create instant intelligence. Equal educational advantages such as class size, curriculum and duplicating facilities can be provided but the background—the home surroundings—the characteristics of the colored people, can never be changed to suit HEW. So why criticize the San Angelo school system for not being able to overturn the original plan of God.

Editor's Opinion

Voters in both Democratic and Republican primaries next Saturday, May 4, will be asked to cast preferential votes on three legislative questions. The results of the voting will be only advisory to the Texas Legislature, but if they get good affirmative majorities they will probably become law later. One of the questions concerns liquor by the drink, by local option. Another concerns the creation of a dairy commission to regulate the price of milk. The third question deals with pari-mutuel betting on horse racing. As the editor of this family newspaper, and personally, I am opposed to liquor in any form for sale, whether by the drink or by the bottle. The use of alcoholic beverages will lead only to the breaking of health, happiness, homes, and hearts. I never was a gambling man and I hope the day never dawned in Texas when the lure of race track gambling is dangled as bait for the coming generation. As for the question about the creation of the dairy commission, I must confess I really don't know whether price fixing would be good or bad for the public. This I do know, however, milk is good by the drink and you can bet on that!

Texans Set To Make Trek To Polls Next Saturday

Texans in 254 counties will journey to the ballot boxes Saturday, May 4, to cast votes for their favorite candidates.

The voting area will embrace offices at all levels. Precinct races are on tap and ten men are seeking the governorship. Texans will have one of the widest choices in history in the gubernatorial contest.

A runoff seems certain in the multiple Democratic field and the two high men would be subject to an election on June 1. The successful runoff Democratic candidate will face one of three men running on the Republican ticket in November. Probably about 50 per cent of the total eligible electorate of just over four million will decide the outcome Saturday, May 4.

The Democratic candidates are: Waggoner Carr, Don Yarbrough, Preston Smith, John Hill, Dolph Briscoe, Eugene Locke, Alfonso Veloz, Johnnie Mae Hackworth, Edward L. Whittenburg, and Pat O'Daniel.

Republican candidates for governor are: Paul Eggers, John R. Trice, and Wallace Sisk. Another hard fought contest on the Democratic ballot is that for the lieutenant governorship. Don Gladden, Ben Barnes, and Gene Smith are the runners.

There are two State Supreme Court races in the Democratic primary. Matt Davis faces Sears McGee for Place 1 and James K. Denton opposes Tom Reavely for Place 2.

On the local level, four candidates for the county commissioner's job in precinct three, will vie in the Democratic primary Saturday. They are: Raymond Pribyla, Eldon A. Welch, Floyd Martin, and Woodrow (Bud) Stewart.

All other Martin County candidates escaped opposition for the office they seek. Martin County voters will cast ballots in only four boxes this year compared to nine places in the county in years past.

Two boxes will be located in Stanton. Precinct one voters will ballot at the Stanton Elementary School gym. Precinct two residents will vote in the basement of the Methodist Church. Precinct three voters will visit the Wolcott Gin and voters in precinct four will ballot at Bethel Church near Flower Grove Gin.

Republican voters will cast ballots in the District Court Room in the courthouse in Stanton.

Bible Comment—

Jesus Offered New Values For Old Concepts

One cannot read far into the New Testament without realizing the great extent to which Jesus challenged many of the attitudes toward living which now, as then, prevail.

Ambition, the desire to get ahead of others, the lust of power, all these motives that so strongly influence men were present even among the Twelve Apostles.

The rich farmer, whom Jesus described in a parable, was a typically successful man. He did what almost every successful man would do: planned for bigger things; planned to pull down his barns and build larger ones, planned to enjoy the fruits of all that he had built up.

But Jesus challenged such a conception of success. For one thing, he pointed out its false economy. The man had left out the most important thing of all, his own life. But he had also left out the more important spiritual factor — he hadn't been rich toward God. And such men are legion.

It should be noted that the challenges of Jesus to what might be called dominant worldly attitudes and ways are not negative. Over against these, Jesus sets positive, constructive conceptions of a more abundant life.

What Jesus' teachings emphasize is a set of different values. How great the values are, and how thoroughly the challenges of Jesus are vindicated can be seen in the lives of those who have been conspicuous in giving, in contrast with those whose chief aim has been getting.

It is indeed more blessed to give than to receive.

Philosopher Comes Out Fighting Against New Idea To Make Crops Grow With Music

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw gives the impression in his letter this week that he may not be a music lover.)

Dear editor:

Somebody from another state sent me a marked copy of a magazine calling my attention to an article on the latest discovery in agriculture, expecting I guess that it would arouse my interest. Actually it has only aroused my agitation. You ought to stop sending The Stanton Reporter out of Texas.

According to it, a woman scientist up in Canada, having heard that a corn farmer in Illinois claimed he increased his crop yield by serenading his plants with a piece of music called "Rhapsody In Blue" over and over again, and that an Australian fruit grower said he produced more and bigger bananas by constantly playing a phonograph record of a loud bass note among the trees, proceeded to test this strange idea out scientifically, and sure enough, she claims, by piping tones to one batch of wheat and not to another, she discovered the former produced more wheat.

I have given this long and thoughtful consideration and have decided women should stay out of science. They talk too much there too.

Have you stopped to think what the spread of this notion could do to farming?

Up to now, one of the main pleasures of living on this Martin County grass farm has been the peace and quiet of the place, but you let my neighbors hear about that woman scientist's new theory and there'll be juke boxes and radios blaring out in all direc-

Mrs. Ralph Caffey, Librarian

Library Hours: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, 1-5 p.m., Saturday, 9 a.m. - 1 p.m.

The emphasis on National Library Week, that has just closed here, was very successful. The contest sponsored by the Study Club among the elementary grades to see which room could have the most pupils visit the library, had a wonderful response. There were 94 children registered through the week, and many of these returned more than one time, but were allowed to register only once. There were 15 new library cards issued, and three renewals, with a total of 243 books checked out.

Mrs. Lile's third grade class won the contest, with 17 registered, and Mrs. Epley's fifth grade, was second, with 10. An appropriate award will be presented to Mrs. Lile's class. Every elementary room had at least one person in to register, with over half having five or more registered.

Beginning as soon as school is out, we will begin our annual Reading Club Program for the elementary students for the summer months.

The Falsehood Of Race Track Prosperity

THE FALSEHOOD: Race track gambling creates jobs, brings money into Texas and keeps Texas money in Texas.

THE TRUTH: Race track gambling is economically ruinous because it produces nothing and adds nothing to the welfare of the people.

Gambling is the biggest single cause of crimes such as embezzlement, and invariably brings in its wake, a mounting stack of unpaid bills, skipped installment payments, repossessed automobiles, appliance, furniture and lapsed insurance policies.

Gambling is one major cause of broken marriages, neglected children, poverty and sometimes even suicide.

Grassroots Opinion

GRANDFIELD, OKLA., NEWS: "... predictions ... about farming operations by the year 2000 seem quite frightening to us. The frightening thing about it all is not the use of computers, or the automation to eliminate the back-breaking work, or even the partial control of weather to the growing of things on order of specific quality. The frightening thing is the apparent regimentation of human beings, the lack of individual decision making and the accompanying lack of any means of showing individual initiative, craftsmanship and ability."

Red's Corner

By RED GIBSON

One of the better inventions of the modern world is the three-day weekend. It soothes the tired laborer, boosts sales of gasoline, hamburgers and cemetery lots, and generally makes life more bearable. That's good.

Thus it is distressing that our congressmen are having trouble with a bill calling for four such holidays a year. This legislation is foundering upon the rocks of patriotism, religion and national heritage. That is, veterans groups want George Washington's birthday to stay right where it is, church spokesmen are reluctant to skip Sunday School, and the Italians and Scandinavians among us are arguing about Christopher Columbus and Leif Ericson, the co-founders of the Western Hemisphere.

Through the year's bills to rejigger the nation's holidays have had their detractors, starting long before Franklin Roosevelt messed around with Turkey Day. The current plan calls for these three-day weekends:

Washington's Birthday, this

Monday in February. Memorial Day, last Monday in May.

Columbus Day, second Monday in October.

Veterans Day, fourth Monday in October.

The keen observer will note this gives the calendar too much horsepower in the final months of the year — Labor Day, Columbus Day, Veterans, Thanksgiving, and Christmas, not to mention New Year's day only a week after Christmas.

We have nothing between Hangover Day and Memorial Day, except for Easter and a pair of birthdays, Lincoln's and Washington's and these birthdays are unhalted in some parts of the land.

George Washington always called Feb. 22 his birthday, and he might be surprised to learn that he was born anywhere between the 15th and the 21st, depending on how the Mondays fall. But the change would be for a good cause.

To appease outraged patriots, we could let Veterans Day move out of the shadow of Thanksgiving into its own month — from Nov. 11 to the second Monday in October.

This would make the day a neat stepping stone between Labor Day and Thanksgiving.

The Italians want that time slot for Columbus Day, but every time they push Chris forward the Scandinavians raise a cry for a national holiday honoring Leif Ericson.

Anyway, this takes care of the patriotic set, leaving us only the Italians and Scandinavians and the church lobby to worry about. The major complaint of religious leaders is that the three-day weekend cuts church attendance. It does. But there is one day a year in which churches are overcrowded. Jammed. Packed. And that's Easter. On Easter Sunday the churches are so full that women have to hurry or the services will be over before they can see what everyone else is wearing.

So why not combine Columbus Day and Leif Ericson Day (the old melting pot theory), calls it Discoverers Day, and then hang it right there behind Easter?

Discoverers Day would take some of the pressure off the Easter Sunday population explosion, would save the Italians' and Scandinavians' pride, and would provide a resting place for those of us struggling to get from George's birthday to Memorial Day, which can have the last Monday in May.

Thus you have something

Gail Coates And J. L. Daughtery Wed In Big Spring

The wedding of Miss Gail Coates and Jerry Lynn Daughtery was solemnized at 8 p.m. Friday at the Hillcrest Baptist Church in Big Spring.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Patsy Coates, Stanton, and W. J. Coates, 1006 W. 6th, Big Spring, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Daughtery, 613 Holbert, also of Big Spring.

Double ring nuptial rites were read by the Rev. Clyde Campbell as the couple stood before an altar graced with arrangements of yellow and white gladioli.

Miss Cindy Gressett of Big Spring played the organ accompaniment, as Miss Barbara Harrell sang "The Twelfth of Never." Miss Gressett played traditional wedding selections throughout the ceremony.

The bride was attired in a street-length dress designed in lace tiers over white satin. The slender dress featured long sleeves with ruffles to the wrists and a standup ruffled collar. A double row of satin buttons accented the bodice front, and her shoulder-length veil of silk illusion fell from a satin headband. She carried a bouquet of yellow Sweetheart roses on a white Bible.

Miss Nancy Madison of Stanton, aunt of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a yellow dress and matching hat and carried a nosegay of yellow and white carnations.

Oren Lancaster of Ackerly, uncle of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Arvil James Henry and Elbert Fannin.

Wedding Trip
The couple left on a wedding trip to the HemisFair in San Antonio. For traveling, the bride chose a yellow and white long-sleeved A-line dress with yellow accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet. The couple will be at home in Big Spring.

Schools
The bride is a junior at Stanton High School, where she is a cheer leader and member of the volleyball team. The bridegroom is a senior at Big Spring Senior High School, and is presently employed by Hester's Sheet Metal and Refrigeration Company.

Reception
A reception was held in fellowship hall. Those in the receiving line were the bridal couple, parents, Mrs. Netha Coates of Lomax, grandmother of the bride; Mrs. T. A. Melton and Mrs. O. N. Lancaster, both of Knott, grandmothers of the bridegroom, and the feminine attendant.

A white lace cloth over yellow covered the refreshment table, which was centered with an arrangement of yellow roses. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with

The Launching Pad

By NEAL ESTES

I'd be more hopeful of winning the war on poverty if the managing agency weren't already nearly $350 billion in debt. Perhaps the homefront war strategy is to enlist everybody by bankrupting everybody, then we can all start at the bottom together again. Seems to me a pauper with nothing at all is somewhat higher on the economic scale than somebody that is $350 million in debt. Perhaps the poor folks ought to be helping their less fortunate Uncle, instead of vice versa.

I admire U. S. REP. WILBUR MILLS of Arkansas a great deal. But for MILLS, the administration would have imposed JOHNSON'S ten percent tax hike on the people a long time ago. The Arkansas solon is demanding that federal spending be cut before the tax increase is voted. He is so right. As long as MILLS holds the line for the little man the money cannot be appropriated and foolishly spent. Money for the war in Viet Nam must be made available in order for us to defend our honor as a nation and to keep the faith with our fighting forces there now, but the boondoggling, pork-barrelling, popycocking programming of money must stop at once. This country's monetary status today is evidence of how serious the situation has become under the present leadership in Washington.

It is a common joke among men and women we personally know now working in Washington, D. C. that the White House staff is so crowded they have to be introduced to each other over and over. The staff is acknowledged to be the largest in history. The staff is so large that even senior aides are unable to keep track of all the people called in to advise the President. It has been said that when the confusion caused by the multitude of advisers gets so complex it is unbearable that the President flies off to Texas to escape the battalion-like barrage of the windbags.

A man named TOM TURNIPSEED is serving WALLACE as his national campaign coordinator in his quest for the presidency. If GEORGE makes it to the White House this guy TURNIPSEED ought to be a natural for Secretary of Agriculture. Most of us might be returned to a menu of turnips and hog jowl if the tax load isn't lifted. What man should better direct the production of enough purple tops to go around than TOM TURNIPSEED?

Mahon Talks Compromise

Chairman George Mahon of the House Appropriations Committee, a key figure in the long congressional dispute over a proposed tax hike and spending cut, says he is open to a compromise aimed at settling the issue.

"The need for a reduction in spending and the need for a tax bill are so great," said the Texas Democrat from Lubbock, "that I'm open to some kind of compromise to break this log-jam."

Senate and House conferees have been working on a final version of the Senate-passed bill to impose a 10 per cent income tax surcharges, as requested by President Johnson, tied to a $6-million spending cut.

The administration has talked of a maximum $4-billion cut but shows signs of accepting a $5 - billion slash, says Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., one of the conferees.

The Appropriations Committee has been unable to agree on reductions. But after meeting with Treasury Secretary

Henry Fowler and Budget Director Charles Zwick, Mahon indicated a solution may be in sight.

He said a final decision is urgent because "we are in a very serious fiscal situation." Another influential figure in the year-long dispute repeated his contention that any tax hike must be accompanied by a spending hold-down.

Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark, of the House Ways and Means Committee, said he will insist on a cutback in authorized but uncommitted funds for future programs, as well as a lid on spending during the coming fiscal year.

Chairman William McClesney Martin, Jr. of the Federal Reserve Board came in for sharp criticism from a congressman for his statement that the nation is in its worst financial crisis since 1931 and must cut the deficit in the domestic budget as well as the international balance of payments deficit.

Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., told the House that Martin should justify his warnings of financial crisis or he would leave in question his fitness to hold the chairmanship.

Holifield said he agrees a tax hike is needed but "I cannot agree with Martin's tactics in pushing the panic button."

"Martin has shouted 'Fire!' in a crowded theater," he said. "He had better be able to show us the fire in terms more convincing than in his ad lib, off-cuff comments."

Farm Bureau Chief Opposed To Commission

The president of the Texas Farm Bureau said today that creation of a state agency with the power to fix milk prices could prove harmful to the consumer as well as the dairy farmer.

Johnson Policies Criticized

Skeptics of President Johnson's Vietnam peace bid told an antiwar rally Saturday in Austin, that the war policy is a "business-as-usual" policy.

Donald Duncan of Los Angeles, former Marine Corps master sergeant in Vietnam, told about 500 listeners that the President "is trying to create the illusion of a bombing pause."

"We pretend to stop bombing one place (North Vietnam) in order to step up bombing in the south," Duncan said.

He said the same day that Johnson made his peace bid, he also called for 35,000 additional troops and $3.5 billion additional for the war.

"That's a funny way to de-escalate," Duncan said.

A similar theme was followed by other speakers, including Charles E. Cairns, assistant professor of linguistics at was a controversial issue during the regular session of the Legislature last year.

TFB President Sidney Dean of Victoria, said that delegates to the last annual convention of the Texas Farm Bureau voted to "oppose the establishment of a Texas Dairy Commission."

The farm leader said Farm Bureau opposes the authority to regulate dairymen and fix milk prices for three reasons:

(1) Price fixing cannot successfully substitute for competitive prices in determining consumer demand for any product. An artificial price set by government edict runs the risk of jeopardizing consumer supplies as well as making the producer dependent upon government for his income. A price considered "fair to the consumer might not assure an adequate return to the producer.

(2) A commission empowered to fix prices would necessarily be required to regulate the day-to-day business operations of dairymen.

(3) An artificial price of milk at the retail level could encourage the consumption of milk substitutes at a time when dairymen can ill afford unfair competition. Imitation milk and "filled" milk products already present crucial problems for dairy producers.

Veterans Administration

(Editor's Note: The Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.)

Q - I was retired from service for a disability and now the VA has awarded me compensation. Can I draw both?

A - Only if your retired pay is the greater benefit and you waive, that is give up, an amount equal to your disability compensation.

Q - If I attend school half-time for six months in an institution of higher learning, how much of my eligibility to G. I. bill education and training benefits will be charged against me?

A - Three months of your eligibility will be charge against you.

Q - May I borrow on my G. I. insurance to help pay college expenses for my son? How much may I borrow?

A - If you have a permanent plan G. I. insurance policy you may borrow up to 94 per cent of the cash value of that policy. The interest charge on this loan is 4 per cent.

the University of Texas in Austin.

He accused presidential candidates Robert Kennedy and Eugene McCarthy of trying to drain off the antiwar movement into what he called the deadend of establishment politics.

Cairns said the only real peace candidate is Fred Halstead of the Socialist Worker's party.

The speeches were made on the south lawn of the state capital following a march by the crowd 12 blocks through the business district.

Many of the marchers, mostly young people from the university, carried signs bearing anti-war slogans such as "wrong war, wrong time, wrong place."

Some wore the garb of the hippie movement - sandals, sun glasses, beads floppy hats and psychedelically colored clothing.

The march was staged by the University Committee to End The War in Vietnam.

Vets Urged To Update GI Insurance

Six out of ten veterans may need to change the beneficiaries listed on their government life insurance to make sure that the right person gets the money, Jack Coker, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco estimated today.

The VA must pay the proceeds of the insurance policy to the last beneficiary designated by the veteran even though it might be a divorced wife or a wealthy parent.

In far too many cases, the status of the original beneficiary is changed by marriage, divorce or death, and the veteran neglects to make the change in his insurance.

In a recent sampling it was found that six out of ten veterans probably need to update beneficiary information on their policies, Coker said.

Forms for this change may be obtained from any VA office or by writing directly to the VA insurance office where the premiums are paid.

Farm & Ranch Review

Opportunity — Hay supplies were tight at the end of the current winter season and now is the time to make sure the same situation doesn't happen again. The favorable statewide soil moisture situation, points out Neal Pratt, extension agronomist, gives hay producers an opportunity to make large tonnages of high quality hay this year. He suggests starting with a soil test; fertilizing according to the test recommendation and harvesting at the right growth stage.

In A Race — Texas agriculture is in the midst of a fast, accelerating technological race, says W. E. Black, extension economist. New knowledge and skills are being applied daily to crop and livestock production by producers who assume that prevailing economic conditions and market relations are not exchange. But, he adds, changes are coming fast and economic and market relations are not exempt.

Underground Circuits Practical For Farm Use — Underground electrical circuits to farm buildings, light posts and other equipment are not only practical but eliminate possibility of wires coming down during wind and ice storms, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer. But adds the engineer, such wiring must be carefully planned and only approved materials used.

Conditions Favorable For Bitterweed Control — The poisonous bitterweed can be controlled by spraying infested areas with 1 pound per acre of 2,4-D or volatile ester. Application should be made, advises G. O. Hoffman, extension range, brush and weed control specialist, when the plants are growing vigorously and in the bud stage and when the temperature is above 55 degrees F. Since soil moisture conditions are good over areas of Texas where the weed is most damaging, Hoffman believes spraying this spring will pay good dividends. He suggests a visit with the local county agent for details on a spraying program.

Question-And-Answer

(This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. This column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.)

Q — I'm 59 and retired last year because of illness. Is my company pension taxable?

A — A pension received for retirement before normal retirement age because of sickness or injury may qualify as sick pay. In that case up to $100 a week may be excluded from income until you reach normal retirement age.

For details, send a post card to your district director and ask for Document No. 5016, Sick Pay.

Q — I filed my tax return over ten weeks ago. Shouldn't I have my refund by now?

A — Yes, if the return was complete and accurate. A return claiming a refund filed early in the year takes from 5 to 6 weeks to process. In most cases, when refunds are delayed, a letter explaining the delay is sent to the taxpayer.

If you have not heard from IRS, check the address you used on your tax return to see if it is the same as your current address. If not, send your new address to the Service Center where you filed your return. Lack of a current address holds up the delivery of many refunds.

If your address has not changed, contact your local IRS office or write to the Service Center where you filed. Give your name, Social Security number, address, date of filing, type of return filed and ask them for advice about your refund.

Q — I pay medical care insurance for my mother. If she qualifies as my dependent, can I use the new rules on medical care insurance deductions?

A — Yes, premiums paid for medical care insurance for yourself, your spouse and your dependents are covered by the new rules. Total all of these premiums you paid last year and deduct one-half of them up to $150 without regard to the three percent rule. The balance of the premiums should be included with your other medical expenses which are subject to the three percent limitation.

Q — My refund came last week and it is about $40 less than what I claimed. Why?

A — It could be that you made a mistake in arithmetic or used the wrong tax table. An explanation of why the change was necessary should be mailed to you shortly.

To avoid such mistakes in the future, double check your return before you file. If you are married and filing a joint return use the table for married couples filing jointly, not the one for married couples filing separately. Single taxpayers should not use the table for heads of household unless they meet the requirements described on page 3 of the 1040 instructions.

Q — My wife and I own stock which is registered in both our names. Are the first $200 in dividends we receive tax free?

A — Yes, if you file a joint return. If you file separately each may exclude up to $100 in dividends.

Q — How do I get the taxes back that were withheld from my wages last summer? This was my only income and I earned less than $600 for the year.

A — To obtain a refund of withheld income taxes an income tax return must be filed. You may use the short Form 1040A available at banks, post offices and local IRS offices. Be sure to include a copy of your withholding statement showing the wages paid and taxes withheld.

Q — I am employed as a painter and occasionally do some work on my own weekends. Do I have to pay self-employment tax?

A — If the net income from your part-time work is $400 or more you may be liable for self-employment tax. For an explanation of this tax send a post card to your district director and ask for a copy of Document No. 5047, Self-Employment Tax.

Q — I use my car for business. Is there anything I can deduct for its operation?

A — Yes, if the cost of its operation qualifies as an allowable business expense. In that case you may deduct your actual expenses in operating the car or a standard mileage rate of ten cents a mile for the first 15,000 miles of business use and seven cents a mile thereafter. Check your 1040 instructions to see if you qualify for this deduction.

If you use the standard mileage rate, a speedometer reading at the beginning and end of each business trip will establish the amount you can deduct. Tolls and parking fees are deductible in addition to the standard rate.

If you are reimbursed by your company for the use of the car, the deduction must be reduced by the amount of your reimbursement. Any excess of your reimbursement over the expenses should be declared as income.
