Judge McCoy Gets Report From Austin

County Judge Jim McCoy has received the letter published below from Austin concerning the recent appearance of a Martin County delegation before the Texas Highway Commission.

October 4, 1968
Honorable Jim McCoy
County Judge
Martin County
P. O. Box 683
Stanton, Texas 79782
Dear Judge McCoy:

This has reference to the appearance of the Martin county delegation on September 30th before the Highway Commission, requesting certain entrance and exit ramps be added to Interstate Highway 20 in the vicinity of Farm to Market Road 829, in Martin County.

This request was discussed at length by the Commission in a subsequent session. The Commission was quite sympathetic to your request and have directed the staff to submit schematics showing these two ramps to the Bureau of Public Roads, to determine if Federal approval can be secured. As you probably know, entrances or exits cannot be made to the Interstate System without the approval of the Federal Highway Administrator. We will be back in touch with you after we have been able to determine the attitude of the Federal Government on this problem.

The Commission sincerely appreciated your bringing this matter to their attention and they were particularly pleased to see the ladies included in your delegation.

Sincerely yours
J. C. Dingwall
State Highway Engineer.

Stanton Loses To Coahoma 22-8

Stanton sent the Buffaloes to Howard County Friday night and they dropped the first game they have lost this season to Coahoma's Bulldogs 22-8.

The Buffs were riddled with injuries and despite desperate efforts the power punch was not forthcoming. The local lads definitely felt the injuries.

Stanton fumbled seven times in the game and lost three of them with two leading to touchdowns by Coahoma. Coahoma fumbled five times and lost all five of them, but only one contributed to Stanton's only touchdown late in the fourth period.

Coahoma fumbled the ball over to Stanton early in the game, but Stanton returned the favor two plays later. Two 24-yard runs by Ricky Evans and Dean Richters put the ball on the Stanton four. Quarterback Kenny Clanton drove in for the first score with five minutes gone in the game.

The second period TD followed a 49-yard Coahoma drive with the help of a 15-yard penalty. To climax the drive, Richters sped 19 yards to score. Clanton hit his end, Lynn King, for the two-point conversion.

A 15-yard Coahoma penalty gave a punt return a boost and Stanton had the ball on the 27. But the possession was short-lived as the invaders again fumbled the ball to the home team. Three plays later, Clanton hit end Billy King with a 23-yard touchdown pass. Evans ran over the conversion with :25 left in the third period.

David Jones, Stanton's biggest ground-gainer with 102 of his team's 162 yards, scored Stanton's only touchdown in the fourth quarter and ran the fourth quarter and ran the conversion. Buffalo Jim Webb recovered a Coahoma fumble at the 13. On the first play from scrimmage, Jones sped around end for the score.

Stanton put on a remarkable display of goal line tenacity in the fourth period when the Buff defense stopped Coahoma three times inside the five-yard line. The first time was when Evans broke through and made 39 yards before being hauled down on the five. The Bulldogs got to the two and fumbled with Tooter Harrell recovering for Stanton.

The second time resulted in a pass interception by Buff Alan Gregston at the three, which was line of scrimmage. The third time came with just 16 seconds left in the game, and saw Clanton fumble and Frank Arguello recover for the Buffs at the two.

Jones had a hard time finding his receivers and had four (Continued on page 8)

Donald V. Jensen conducts the 40-minute program sponsored by Texas A&M and Oak Ridge Associated Universities.

Using student terms, Jensen will describe structure of atoms, radiation, reactors and fusion. Special equipment will show radiation sources, how nuclear energy is harnessed for electrical power, diagnosis and treatment of diseases and life process studies using radioisotopes. (Continued on page 8)

125 Cotton Producers In Stanton Meet

Some 125 cotton producers and interested persons attended a boll weevil meeting held at the Cap Rock auditorium in Stanton on Tuesday, October 8, at 8:00 p.m.

Charles Need, area entomologist from Ft. Stockton, with the Agricultural Extension Service, discussed the boll weevil situation in Martin County, and recommendations for control. Ken Lindsey, area agronomist, also with the extension service, discussed defoliation and desiccation of cotton.

The specialists, after making a survey of the cotton producing areas of Martin County designated the southeastern part of the county as the "hot spot" that needed immediate attention. This would include cotton south of a line drawn parallel to the railroad track and two and one-half miles north. Producers should also be on the lookout along the eastern part of the county, up to the Andrews - Big Spring highway.

Recommendations are that all producers in the "hot spot" area should defoliate or desiccate the cotton as soon as possible and put insecticide in with material to kill all adult weevils to keep them from overwintering. The insecticides recommended will mix with all defoliants or desiccants, except chlorates.

If it is late cotton and not enough is ready to kill or de- (Continued on page 8)

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT — Rhonda Reid, four feet 11 inch Tarleton State College student from Stanton, provides an interesting contrast to 6 feet 9 inch John Mauney. Both are freshman tuba players in the TSC band. While the tuba is a rather large horn (just nearly as large as she is), Rhonda is an accomplished player. She was named Outstanding Bandsman at Stanton High last year and does a fine job with Tarleton now. Rhonda has been manhandling the tuba for four years. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Juil Reid of Stanton. Mauney doesn't have to work quite as hard to carry the horn around. Anyway, he says he's used to it after six years. A native of Goldthwaite, he was named to All-District and All-Region Bands last year.

Representing the senior class will be Nancy Hursh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Hursh. Nancy is a four year member of the pep squad, and is currently serving as the group's vice-president. She has served on the student council, and has participated in the choir the last two years. She was recently elected as secretary - treasurer. Nancy's mother is a graduate of Stanton. Nixon Says His Opponent Should Clarify Statement

Richard M. Nixon said today Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey should clarify his position on terms for halt in U. S. bombing of North Vietnam lest Hanoi interpret it as an offer of "a concession in January which they could not get now."

HOPE

The Republican presidential nominee said if the Communist negotiators in Paris read Humphrey's Monday night speech as holding out hope for an eased U. S. stand should Humphrey win the White House, this could undercut the current peace talks.

"It is possible," Nixon told a news conference. "I do not change it."

Nixon said Humphrey's nationally televised speech had produced confusion as to what Communist moves he would seek as the price for a bombing pause.

Nixon said U. S. negotiators hold as their "trump card," the U. S. bombing of the north.

He said if that card is played by a presidential candidate "it means that all chance for these negotiations to succeed will evaporate."

Nixon said Humphrey talked of accepting the risk inherent in a bombing cessation, but he said the risk would not face U. S. fighting men in the demilitarized zone.

He said he will not indicate what posture he would take as president should the current peace negotiations fail.

Nixon quoted Humphrey as saying earlier in the campaign that North Vietnam must understand that the race for the White House will not produce war policy concessions outside the negotiations.

AGREES

Nixon said he agrees with that posture.

Bible Comment—

There Is No Place In Religion For Hate

A plausible philosophy of life has said, "Be good and you will be happy."

But if happiness consists in being free from danger and immune from pain, the sufferings of good men have revealed how false is that easy adage.

A deep mystery of life is that the innocent have suffered with the guilty. It is that mystery of the Cross and the suffering and sacrifice of Christ Himself.

The hostility that Jesus aroused in His prejudiced, fellow townsmen as he began His ministry in Nazareth continued on the part of many throughout His ministry.

Strange to say, it was the finest things that He did that aroused the most violent opposition.

Religion ought to make men humane, kind, considerate, ready and eager to help one another. But, unfortunately, it has often made them bitter and full of hatred. It was not unnatural that the claims of Jesus should be questioned by some, as they had been by His own brothers. But why should His pronouncement of the forgiveness of sin have aroused such hatred?

If He had no power to forgive sins, the sins, would not be forgiven. To question His authority was one thing — to hate Him was another.

The opposition of certain Scribes and Pharisees and official religious authorities had some justification. They were the official representatives of religion, as Jesus Himself said, they "sat in Moses' seat."

The mistake that they made was in ignoring the actual words and deeds, in being blind to the authority of goodness, and in hating one whom the people heard gladly.

Are we wiser than those of old? Is religion our response to the goodness of God, or is it dominated by prejudice and bigotry?

County 4-H Clubs Marking Big Event

Martin County 4-H members are this week joining more than three million fellow club members in observing National 4-H Club Week.

What is 4-H? It is a youth organization where young people learn to work and plan together under skilled leadership. Any boy or girl between 9 and 18 years of age, may join a 4-H Club by agreeing to work on a project and follow 4-H ideals and standards. The main requirement is willingness to learn by doing, and "to make the best better" — the club motto.

These groups of young people carry on a wide variety of projects in agriculture, home economics, citizenship, safety, electric, recreation, public speaking, photography, management, organization, and personal development.

Adult leaders advise and encourage 4-Hers in planning and carrying out projects. They teach them new subject matter, attend club meetings, and most important, have a genuine interest in boys and girls.

Activities add interest to the 4-H project program and teach 4-H members to enjoy working together. Demonstrations, judging, illustrated talks, camps and cook-outs are a few of the many county activities. Programs and events held outside the regular club meetings, also contribute to the development of youth.

Martin County 4-H members have opportunities to participate in county, district, state, and national events. These events include: dress revue, food show, method demonstrations, livestock show, record contest, camps, county, district, and state council, leadership lab, and 4-H Round-Up.

Grassroots Opinion
AZTEC, N. M., INDEPENDENT • REVIEW: "People should be warned not to get too excited about this talk of turning the Post Office Department over to a private-enterprise-like corporation. In the first place there isn't any such thing, either government stays in control with the resultant breakdown of service, or private enterprise is given an opportunity to show what it can do with no government strings attached. . . . private enterprise can do anything government can do, do it better and at far less cost, at the same time contributing tax money to government instead of costing taxpayers for government operational cost."

TOWANDA, PA., REVIEW: "Of all the manifestations of public ingratitude few surpass the growing practice of attacking firemen in the performance of their duty. This is no localized phenomenon. It occurs in cities across the country. Bronx and Brooklyn firemen in New York City have been the latest targets of bricks and bottles and occasionally bullets. Firemen willingly take the risks that go with their hazardous calling in order to save lives and property. What savagery prompts bystanders to attack them while so doing is a matter better left to the alienists."

County Agents Column

Farm - stored grains often need a protective fumigation six weeks after they are put in bins, reminds County Agent Billy Reagor.

One annual fumigation is generally sufficient where grain is stored under ideal conditions, but inspections are a must. Reagor recommends that grains be checked at least monthly during the fall months. Stored grain pests are generally more active during the warmer months, he adds.

Take the temperature of the grain in the bin by fastening a thermometer onto the end or of a long stick and thrusting it vertically into the grain. When hot spots are detected, Reagor suggests taking samples from the infested portion of the grain. A standard grain probe is a convenient sampler.

Sift the sample through a screen to detect any insects which might be present. If stored grain insects are found, immediate fumigation is suggested.

The technique of fumigation is simple, but the use of precise recommendations is very important. This is probably the number one cause of poor results, and too many Martin County farmers fail to use good application techniques, Reagor says.

What is the proper technique? Simply this: apply the correct amount of fumigant in such a way as to obtain an even, uniform distribution over the surface of the grain. First, level the surface of the grain. This allows access to the entire area and will allow an even distribution of fumigant, emphasized Reagor.

Second, apply the fumigant as a coarse spray over the surface of the grain. Apply heavier in areas where severe infestations are known to exist. Control will not be obtained unless the entire area is covered. Most liquid fumigants are heavier than air and the vapors penetrate downward and without too much lateral diffusion. This is why application technique is so important.

What is the best equipment to use? An ordinary garden sprayer is satisfactory for small operations. Spread the opening of the spray disc to the diameter of an 8-penny nail, or remove the nozzle and substitute a nozzle made of one-quarter inch pipe that is six inches long. Reagor also suggests flattening the spray end. For larger operations use the power pump which will take the fumigant directly from the container in which it is purchased.

Apply the fumigant from outside the bin, close it up and do not enter for at least 24 hours, emphasized Reagor.

A number of liquid fumigants are available, such as 80-20, 75-25 and others. It requires more of some mixtures than of others, but don't skimp on dosages, advises the county agent.

Amount will vary with different grain storage conditions - wood bins vs. metal, high dockage vs. low dockage and high moisture vs. low moisture. The label on most fumigants provides adequate information to calculate the amount needed under your conditions.

Reagor encourages producers who are storing grain on the farm to come by the county extension office and pick up a copy of L-217, "Control of Insects in Farm - Stored Grain."

More than 6,000 medical research projects are under way at 146 VA hospitals.

Philosopher Comes To The More Or Less And Maybe, Of The Young People

(Editor's note: The Martin Philosopher on his Martin County grass farm on Mustang Draw examines the youth problem this week.)

Dear editor:
I don't know what I'd done for reading matter if it hadn't turned up. I was completely out of newspapers for the time being, but there it was, a copy of a high-brow monthly magazine stuck to the underside of a big fall and winter mail order catalog I found in my mail box. I don't know who it belongs to but if I did I'd forward it to him at once as I know that without it he won't know what to think for the month of October.

Anyway, I was flipping through it and ran into an article on the generation gap, a phrase I've never understood because as soon as young people close the gap on adults they're no longer young.

Anyway, this article was arguing that young people these days are smarter than previous generations of young people, citing as one example the fact that despite the fact college entrance requirements are said to be stiffer than ever before, there are more and more kids going to college. Why some colleges are so crowded now the football stadium isn't half big enough. College degrees are becoming so common you'd never guess

Next to finding oil on the old homestead, getting an oil lease bonus is about the nicest thing that could happen to you. IRS points out that an oil lease bonus payment will qualify for the 27½ per cent depletion allowance. The annual rental does not. (The annual rental is usually $1.00 per acre.) Most folks who have lease bonuses are not quite twice as nice as one. You have to restore the depletion allowance that you claimed back several years ago when you got your first lease bonus as income, and pay taxes. Your oil was not depleted during the lease, and the law requires you to give the tax deduction back. This is true regardless of whether you have a dry hole, get a new lease, or the oil people just go away. It hurts, but that's the way the law reads.

It is the oldest institution in the Western world and possibly the richest. Its collective wealth ranges from the gold in countless crosses and candlesticks, to its unmatched patrimony of art, to the pro of the Vatican.

Now the Italian government is determined to get a tax share of the earnings of the Roman Catholic church in this country. And though its fight seems hopeless, the Vatican is lashing back with denunciations and the veiled threat of economic reprisals.

NOT MUCH

On the surface, it appears that all the Vatican is really facing is the loss of up to $12.8 million in back taxes and up to $2.4 million a year thereafter. Not a gigantic sum for an institution of gigantic wealth. But the Vatican clearly sees a far bigger issue at stake—the very status of the headquarters of Catholicism in the land where for centuries the church was supreme and there was no secular power big enough or strong enough to interfere.

It is taken for granted that after next November the Vatican, by law, will be obliged to start paying taxes on the dividend income earned by its stock investments in Italy. This has been made plain by a majority in Parliament.

Premier Giovanni Leone, a Christian Democrat and a supporter of the church, has bowed to the inevitable by announcing that his government would not oppose the majority view. He will not introduce any bill to prolong the tax exemption that up to now has spared the Vatican from paying taxes as any other stock holder.

The Vatican, however, does not regard itself as comparable to any other stock holder. In an angry blast at Leone, the Holy See recently declared that paying taxes would diminish the money the church devotes to religious and charitable works around the world.

It asserted that lifting the dividend tax exemption would violate the 1929 Lateran pacts which restored to the church a special status in Italy after the state ended the church's historic temporal powers in 1870.

This is the crux of what is shaping up as the most serious church-state dispute in Italy since the Lateran pacts were negotiated under Fascist dictator Benito Mussolini in 1929.

By all indications, the Vatican is preparing the strongest bargaining position it can to protect most of its other privileges against the expected time when the Lateran pacts eventually will be revised. Parliament last year demanded the start of negotiations to revise them.

FORCE ISSUE

A big question is whether the Vatican intends to use its vast stock holdings to force the government to preserve most of the church's privileges. Some economists believe that through its holdings the Vatican can exert a profound influence on the over-all Italian economy.

The government estimates that the Vatican holds stocks in Italian companies worth 100 billion lire — $160 million. This is an estimated 1 per cent of all Italian stocks, providing the Vatican a reported annual average of $4.8 million to $6.4 million in dividends. Unofficial estimates put the holdings many times higher.

In addition, the Vatican holds various construction and rental companies, land, farms, vineyards and chains of business and residential properties. Unlike the dividends, these holdings are tax-free for the church and this is a privilege the Vatican wants to keep.

A massive shifting of Vatican investments out of stocks into other areas to escape taxation could affect the stock market.

It could cause a flight of capital of the kind that posed a major economic problem for the government during a recession several years ago.

Rumors have begun to spread that in its fight with the state, the Vatican is considering such a move, on the basis that the church must protect its income for its own purposes.

The big unknown is how far the Italian Parliament, faced with a possibility of economic reprisals, would try to cut back the Vatican's other financial exemptions beyond forcing the payment of dividend taxes — and how far the Vatican might go to protect its other privileges.

Magazine Buys Kennedy Article For $40 A Word

A 25,000 - word article about the Cuban missile crisis, written by the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, has been sold to McCall's magazine for $1 million plus reprint and broadcast rights.

Norman Cousins, editor of chief of McCall's, announced the sale at a news conference. He said the cash price for the manuscript — $40 a word — was the largest ever paid for such material.

Cousins said the magazine containing the article would appear on newsstands Oct. 22, the sixth anniversary of the U. S.-Soviet confrontation over Cuba. He said the issue would have a normal press run of 8.5 million copies.

Theodore C. Sorensen, an aide to both Sen. Kennedy and his brother, the late President John F. Kennedy, said Robert Kennedy, then attorney general, had kept detailed notes on the crisis, which ended when the Russians dismantled their Cuban missile sites and took the missiles back to the Soviet Union.

If you haven't driven a Ford lately, you're one of the reasons we built this one!

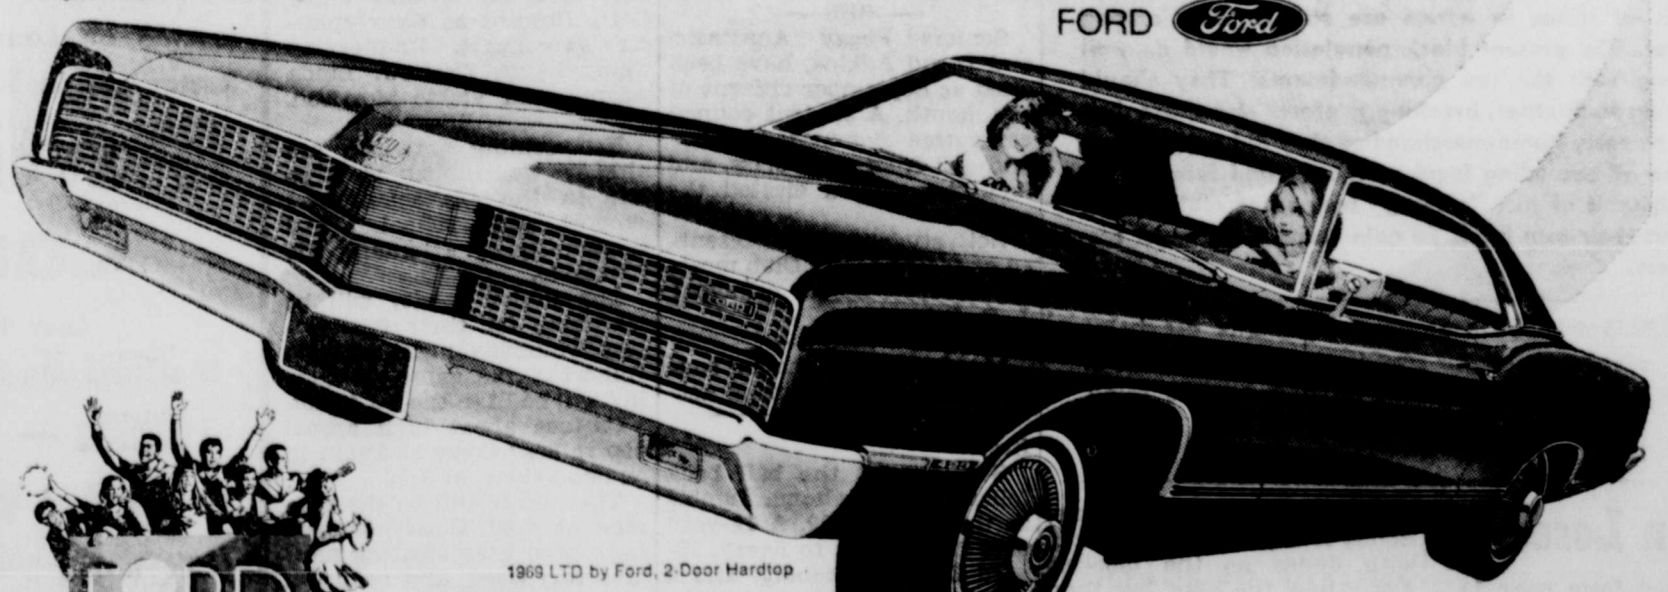

The '69 Ford is the car that's creating all the talk. You ought to know the reasons.

The '69 Ford hugs the road with a track as wide as Cadillac... smooths your ride with a longer wheelbase than Chevrolet. This '69 LTD is designed to ride quieter than the LTD that was quieter than Rolls-Royce. It has more front headroom, legroom and trunk space than cars costing hundreds of dollars more. Even with a longer wheelbase, it's easier to handle, easier to park.

This is a new luxury-size Ford at a very popular price. Big. Strong. Quiet. A great road car. Drive one at your Ford Dealer's now.

WHITE MOTOR COMPANY

The Launching Pad

By NEAL ESTES

Keep your eyes open and your ears cocked to the polls, papers and programs and soon, perhaps by the time you are reading this, inflated information will be made available to show HUBERT HUMPHREY picking up strength. NIXON and WALLACE will be pictured as falling behind during the next three weeks. Election time is less than 30 days away. In strict desperation, the Socialist - Democrats, led by LYNDON JOHNSON, et al, will start coming out of the woodwork. Don't believe the propaganda to come. The unions operating in the garment districts of New York, the hodcarriers unions in "Jaisey," and the longshoremen union on the coast will drum up a roar. Men of the blue check brigade will be out in Battalions. It wouldn't surprise me a bit if STOKELY CARMICHAEL popped up again and started supporting HUMPHREY. A last great blast for votes will be launched. But this time, properly warned and armed with the ballot, the people won't be "sucked in" by Socialist slush.

There's a professional circus ringmaster, AUSTIN MILES, who has asked that the press quit referring to the 1968 Presidential campaign as a "circus." He says, "Such a comparison gives the circus a bad name." Not only that, he says, but when the candidates are called "a bunch of clowns," the Clown's Club of America gets furious.

HUBERT HUMPHREY has reportedly secretly promised LBJ that he will not alter the course in the Vietnam war to the displeasure of the President. SENATOR EUGENE McCARTHY won't buy that promise. He has announced four conditions HUMPHREY must meet before he can expect his backing. Of course, not even HORATIO can do as the solon from Minnesota asks. JOHNSON and McCARTHY are as far apart politically as the planets.

LAWRENCE O'BRIEN, former wood-and-water boy for the late JOHN KENNEDY and more recently associated with DADDY BIRD JOHNSON as Postmaster General of the U.S.A., is supposed to be a big wheel on the stalled bandwagon of HHH. He has been helping try to get the spokes back in the Texas wheel but the calamity caused by the nomination of HUBERT in Chicago has been responsible for a lot of Democrats running at the local and state levels to get up off their custom tailored haunches and be elected on their own merits rather than those of HHH. Being associated with HUMPHREY is like exposing oneself to a political plague. You might not catch it. But, if you do, it could be fatal.

Two morning daily newspapers — both distributed — you wouldn't see circulated, because their circulation is sparse indeed in Martin County, are up to their old tricks. Realizing they serve a conservative segment of the population their editorial and even news stories continue in that vein for months and sometimes years, but always in Presidential election years, both publications generally wind up trying to herd the readers into the Democratic-Socialist fold. They have started again this year. Editorially, one of the newspapers, the one published south of Stanton, said this week that "What would happen if GEORGE WALLACE won we don't even care to guess." Of course, they are supporting HUMPHREY — even in their headline writing.

A pet peeve of a lot of people is the manner in which sales managers of car agencies announce on television. The guys all shout. They sound like an oldtime medicine showman selling his wares on the sidewalks and from the town squares. If we must have our system shook up at breakfast time with the sales slush we prefer to get the pitch from a regular announcer — yeah, even from our "favorite" weatherman.

The crazy box, voice of one revolution, is embarking on another crusade. The idea of creating some sort of history for the black people surfaces from time to time. The Today program is good about sending up trial balloons. The truth is, as sad as it may be, that the black man actually has no traceable origin. His history is nil and nothing can be done about it. Even a Madison Avenue plan can't be put together and sold to the public on this history bit. The only solution is for the present members of the black race to build some history. The opportunities have been provided under the Great Society and it's up to the individual black boys and girls to do something about their history. It's tough to try and trace recorded history much less try and trace past history when a researcher has few places to start. The thousands of tribes in Africa are still fighting among themselves. The present black population would do well by starting with the ten commandments. They should stop knifing each other, breaking in stores and shops during riots to carry home merchandise they did not pay for, and above all receding legal marriages and forget their renowned habit of just "staying" instead of really living and loving their own kind. To gain respect one must respect others.

NEAL'S NUGGET: Stanton merchants are being constantly hit for contributions on all kinds of deals. Progress can be a dangerous thing. Especially, if you throw out the baby with the bath water.

(Continued from page 1) passes intercepted. Also, most of the fumbles occurred on the handoffs, which usually resulted in no gain and a loss of a down, if a Buff recovered it.

One outstanding play of the game got Stanton away from their goal line. On a fourth down at the Stanton nine, Benny Avery was back to punt with Jones as the blocker. Avery took the hike, but then quickly handed the ball off to Jones. Jones sped around left end and gained 14 yards and a first down at the 23 before being hauled down.

However, two plays later, Coahoma's Evans intercepted a Jones pass to put out the (Continued from page 1) dressed in their Sunday-best. On Tuesday, upper classmen enjoyed a sweat shirt day, while freshmen endured the torture of initiation. Each freshman was required to wear old slacks with patches, and an old shirt with the school song written on the back. They wore different colored socks, and carried a "Beat Post" sign. Girls were required to rat their hair, and not comb in down, while the boys had to part their hair in the middle.

Shoe shine rags they carried were put to use numerous times during the day, and many noses were skinned pushing pennies. Upper classmen enjoyed the luxury of having a slave between classes, and the seniors gloated in having freshmen bow to them. The faculty crew got in to the act with the freshmen issuing compliments to all teachers.

Wednesday was a labeled psych-out day. Bright colors and crazy designs were prominent with students wearing their wildest, most mismatched, or craziest outfits.

On Thursday, students will dress representing their favorite fictional characters for fantasy day.

Friday will be color day, with only the school colors permissible.

SHS — The annual bonfire will be held Thursday night. School will be dismissed at 2:30 Thursday afternoon to allow SHS students time to round-up wood and tires.

The pep rally for the homecoming game against Post, will begin at 2:30 Friday in the gym.

Following the pep rally, action will shift to downtown Stanton for the fourth annual homecoming parade. Decorated cars and bicycles, plus the SHS band will appear. Each class will be represented by a float. Cash prizes will be awarded to the winning floats.

Next on the agenda, will be the Exes barbecue at the high school cafeteria from 6:00 until 7:30.

Then it will be kick-off time at 8:00 for the Buffaloes of SHS. They will hold a 3-1 record going into the non-conference tilt with Post.

Following the game, the student council will sponsor a dance and party, and the exes will hold a reception and business meeting.

SHS — The Buffaloes will meet the Post Antelopes at 8:00 Friday, for the homecoming game with only one loss on their record, last week's stinging defeat to the rival Coahoma Bulldogs.

The Bulldogs scored in the first three quarters to rack up their 22 points. The Buffs finally got on the scoreboard in the fourth quarter, when David Jones tore around right end for 13 yards. Jones keeper for the EP was good.

The final score showed Coahoma 22, Stanton 8.

Three boys were out of the Coahoma game with injuries and illness. These boys are expected to see more action this week are: Weldon Posey, Johnny McMeans, and Mike Curry.

The team has been working hard this week to prove itself against Post in the homecoming match.

SHS — At the pep rally preceding the Coahoma game, the cheerleaders presented a skit with the assistance of Paula Standerfer, George Dean, Doris White, Trudy Powell, Debra McMeans, LaWanda Gaspie, and Vicki Glynn. Speeches were given by David Jones, Mrs. Ruth Lewis, and Coach Boyd.

SHS — Seniors Peggy Anastasio, and David Adkins, have been cited as September citizens of the month. A student council committee nominated a boy and girl from each class, and faculty members elected the couple.

Both students were presented at recent Lion's Club meeting by high school principal, J. R. Dillard.

SHS — Members of the student council met Monday, during act-

Stanton got the ball back following a Coahoma fumble at the Stanton 39. A 12-yard pass from Jones to Avery, 15-yard Coahoma penalty and a couple of short blasts put the ball on the Coahoma 24.

Toby Green reached up and snared a Jones pass at the seven and ran it back to the 13, where two plays later, Webb fell on an Evan fumble. Jones scored for Stanton on the next play.

(Continued from page 1) foliate, the field should be sprayed once or twice for defoliation, then use insecticide in the defoliated or desiccant. After the cotton is out of the field, follow good farming practices of shredding stalks, destroying green bolls, and turning under all stalks.

All producers in the entire county are urged to get their cotton out of the field as soon as possible and follow good practices. Getting the cotton out early will prevent the migrating weevil from being able to store enough fat to overwinter up in the central part of the county.

A committee was appointed to start working on a future county boll weevil control for Martin County. The Western Production Credit Association furnished refreshments.

Abilene Classing Office Received 1,200 Samples

Receipts have increased considerably this week reports B. B. Manly, Jr., in charge of the U. S. D. A.'s Cotton Classing Office, Abilene, Thursday and Fridays receipts each were about 1,200 samples. Reports indicate thousands of acres are killed and ready or near ready for stripping.

Grades are good this season with 77 per cent in the White category, 62 per cent Strict Low Middling or better.

Staple ranges from 28 through 40 with 15 16 being the predominate length with 37 per cent. Other percentages were: 29, 10 per cent; 31, 18 per cent; 32, 17 per cent; 33, 2 per cent; 34, 4 per cent; 39, 2 per cent; 36, 8 per cent, and 2 per cent longer than 36.

Micronaire readings are very good with 94 per cent falling the premium range of 3.5 through 4.9. There were 3 per cent above 4.9 and 3 per cent below 3.5. So far, there is no indication immature cotton has been killed.

Strength tests are very good with 45 per cent above 85,000 P. S. I. (pounds per square inch). Only 5 per cent falls below 80,000 P. S. I. This is no doubt reflecting the improved varieties.

Over all, it appears we have a good quality, well matured crop. Staple is not as good as last season, but grade, micronaire, and strength are better. Only a few samples look as though they were harvested too soon after defoliation. So far, very little cotton is selling. Demand is slow for all varieties.

Samples processed by the Abilene Classing Office this week totaled 3,300 to bring the season total to 4,200.

The Abilene Classing Office is one of 30 permanent classing offices of the Consumer and Marketing Service. It serves counties, generally in an area surrounded by Dickens, Scriver, Midland, Howard, Coke, Schleicher, Concho, Brown, and Baylor counties. A sub-classing office is located within this area at Monday, Texas. It serves the counties of Haskell, Knox, Baylor, Throckmorton, and Young. It is opening October 9 with A. D. Peebles in charge.
