Philosopher Finds A Great Idea He Thinks In New Gadget City People Are Using

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw has an odd but typical idea this week).

Dear editor:

I found a newspaper wedged in the back door to keep it shut, I've been meaning to get around to fixing that latch and will as soon as the Paris peace talks are over, and pulled it and propped the door shut with the brick I've been using for years and got out of ear shot and immediately read an article that gave me an idea.

According to it, life in many big cities has become dangerous. It's awful. People can't walk the streets at night, parks are useless even during the day unless there's a cop every 15 or 20 feet, houses are being broken into regularly.

In fact, it's got so bad that city people are going to great extremes to stay safe in their homes.

Some people are putting three locks to the door, double barring the windows, keeping floodlights on all night, buying extra watch dogs, installing electric-eye beams to set off alarms when a prowler shows up, carrying a c a e in their purses, etc.

But the gadget that set me to thinking is an inflatable dummy, for use when you're driving alone in your car.

You blow it up, it looks just like a big, husky man, and you put it on the front seat next to you. This is supposed to scare off a highwayman or thug hunting for some one driving alone.

I wish you'd find out where I can buy one. I know the stores in Stanton don't stock them, there's no market for them in a civilized town like this, but I'd like to get hold of one if the price isn't too high.

What I want it for is to blow up and set on my tractor seat, its hands on the steering wheel, with the tractor parked on the far side of the field, away from the house.

Then I'm going to get in a comfortable position some place and read. A glance from the house will lead one to believe I'm on my tractor and hard at work, and other people can attend to their own business.

PLAN CONSIDERED

Ability May Be Basis For Paying Pastors

The traditional Protestant system of paying pastors is under heavy attack in the United Methodist Church.

Support is building for a new approach under which a minister's income would be determined by his ability, training and experience rather than by the financial resources of the congregation he serves.

Proponents say this not only would be more equitable, but also would enable the church to send its best men to the places they're needed most.

Salary Is Fixed

At present, in the United Methodist Church and most other Protestant denominations, a minister's salary is fixed and paid by the congregation he serves. If the congregation is large, wealthy, or generous, he may get upwards of $15,000 a year. If it's small, poor or stingy, he may have to struggle along on less than $4,000 a year.

The weaknesses of this system were outlined by a prominent United Methodist pastor, the Rev. C. Ebb Munden of Lincoln, Neb., in a recent issue of the denomination's magazine for ministers, Christian Advocate.

Dr. Munden (who has no personal ax to grind, since he's the well-paid pastor of a large and prosperous church) argued that as things now stand, "We are often unable to put our best men where they are most needed."

He said ministers of exceptional ability are clearly needed in many situations where the people being served have little or no ability to pay. He cited, as examples, churches in inner city poverty areas; churches in rural areas with declining population; and college chaplaincies.

"Under our present system no minister can for long remain in these places of critical need without sacrificing his opportunity for professional advancement and jeopardizing his family's security," he said.

Dr. Munden proposed that ministers be given salary classifications, similar to those of the federal Civil Service, based on ability, training, and experience.

Each United Methodist Conference (a regional division of the church roughly comparable to a diocese or prebtery) would determine annually what salaries would be paid to all ministers in each classification, regardless of their current assignment.

Salaries Apportioned

The total cost of all these salaries would then be apportioned among the local churches according to the same equitable formula by which other conference budget expenses are allocated. The individual minister would get his pay check from the conference rather than the local congregation.

The Christian Advocate reports it has received a deluge

Bible Comment— God Intends That We Be Better Than We Are

What God intends us to be is undoubtedly something better than we are. Regardless of whatever we have attained, the law of the Christian life is to grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.

But if we could think of man as starting from scratch, of with an unformed life, what does God require?

First of all, honesty and uprightness: righteousness is the very foundation of the godly life.

"Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good." For Jew or for Christian: in fact for those of any religion, in any time or place, the essential of the good life is the same.

But the Christian life, what God intends us to be, is not all found in personal goodness. The Christian life is a life of relationships.

Man does not live alone. He has privileges and duties in relation to his fellowman as well as to God, in its reality and integrity, is, in fact, determined largely by what man is toward his fellowman.

"If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother he is a liar; for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?"

This is plain and very specific, and also very applicable to our present-day world of racial, religious, and sectional prejudices, jealousies, and hatreds.

What a long way we have to travel before we attain to that state in which God intends us to exist!

Right To Advertise

Do you have a right to advertise whatever you please in your local newspaper, so long as you are willing to pay for the space?

No. As a matter of fact, ads worth millions of dollars are rejected annually by the nation's press, usually on grounds of bad taste or dishonesty.

To the advertiser who is turned down, this may seem to be an unlawful exercise of power on the part of the newspaper. One merchant, whose ads were found unacceptable, raised that issue in a court test.

"A newspaper," he argued, "performs a public service. It has a duty to make its advertising space available to one and all."

But his complaint was denied. The court said that, since a newspaper is not a public utility, it has the same privilege as any other private business to turn down a customer.

That doesn't mean there are no limits at all on a newspaper's right to reject advertising. Suppose, for instance, that the rejection is part of a scheme of competition and set up an unlawful monopoly. In such circumstances, the United States Supreme Court has ruled, the newspaper is violating the anti-trust laws.

What about the news and editorial columns? Could a person insist on being mentioned in those sections? Again the newspaper has a broad discretion as to what it will publish.

In one case, a reader went to court to complain that his letter - to - the - editor had never been printed. He based his complaint on the fact that the newspaper had invited its readers to write in.

However, the court said the newspaper's invitation for letters did not amount to a promise that it would print them all.

In another case, a political candidate sought damages from a newspaper because it of mail from ministers and laymen who are enthusiastic about the proposal. Little opposition has been expressed.

Turkeys Head April Food Pentifuls List

Turkeys, perhaps America's most festive birds, are featured on the April plentiful foods list, according to the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Current cold storage holdings are large and prices reasonable, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, so you'll find it a good time to include turkey on your shopping list.

Other items on the April "pentifuls" list of USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, include prunes, canned and frozen green beans, and sweet corn, onions, rice, dry beans, and peanuts and peanut products.

Last year's rice production broke all records, and ran 18 percent above 1967. Estimated dry bean production figured at 17.7 million hundredweight, or 16 percent more than last year. At present, pinto beans are in best supply, but others include pinks, blackeyes, and baby lima beans.

Dwight D. Eisenhower

Of all his virtues, the word stability best describes the nature and contribution of Dwight David Eisenhower, military leader and 34th president of the United States. He died as he had lived, tenacious but firm and calm in time of crisis.

Few in our history have stepped forward even once as the man of the hour. But twice the time and the circumstance converged upon this native son of Texas.

A grim, resolute but troubled free world, engulfed in the uncertainties of global conflict, turned to Gen. Eisenhower for leadership. That over-wide mouth pulled to one side in determination, he led the crusade that was to salvage from bombed-out rubble a Europe with new leases on freedom and self-confidence.

In 1942 a nation reeling from "corruption, communism and Korea" sought him out once again. America did more than just like like, it loved him as an older brother. The broad grin promised that things would turn out all right despite the mistakes of the moment. His lack of polish by professional political standards, marked him as a man of the people.

Most of all, the nation in that worrisome hour longed for the stability born of battlefield judgment and command decision. It craved a leader who would station himself at the front gate and defend the family against one and all — a counselor whose unembroidered advice was steeped in experience.

Not long ago Eisenhower gazed back into hower what for him was the recent past and told his old running mate, Richard Nixon, that 1968 resembled 1952. "The people of this country genuinely want a change. They're tired of the way the Democrats have been running the government. I think they want the Republicans to have a chance at things now."

When Eisenhower, the military victor, was called upon to be Eisenhower, the political savior, the nation was dizzy from the New Deal, the Fair Deal and their legislative binges. The voters wanted a breather—a time to sit down and assess what had come to pass.

The activists, who see legislation as the one and only cure-all, impatiently labeled Eisenhower a do-nothing president. The label is patently ridiculous.

Eisenhower's service as president is best symbolized by the painting which hangs in many a doctor's office. The dim light is casting long shadows. The young patient lies grovelly ill, and the doctor sits at bedside, ostensibly doing nothing.

But to view this picture is to believe instinctively that the patient will recover. The strong hand extended in comfort can be all-conquering therapy.

Eisenhower sat up with America, and when morning dawned health had prevailed over sickness, inner strength had triumphed over fatigue.

Stability is strength. Stability was Eisenhower. —The Dallas News

Great Eisenhower Popularity Found In Public Opinion Poll

Dwight D. Eisenhower's great popularity is fully documented in the annual of public opinion research.

Yearly since 1946, the Gallup Poll has asked the American people what man in the world they admire most. Eisenhower has ranked among the highest three every year since this time and has topped the list 11 times. Through these 22 years his nearest competitor for this honor has been Winston Churchill.

In a worldwide survey he was voted the "outstanding personality" of the 1950s.

As president, Eisenhower enjoyed high popularity. In a total of 70 national surveys during his years in the White House, Americans were asked to rate his performance as president. His average "approval" score was 64 per cent. The highest approval score for Eisenhower was 79 per cent; the lowest was 49 per cent.

In terms of public "enthusiasm" using the more refined technique of a 10-point scale called the Stapel Scale, Eisenhower set another record. Several months after his re-election in 1956, Eisenhower was given a "highly favorable" rating by 71 per cent of Americans, a score no president or public figure has come close to matching in the last 17 years.

Estimates indicate that weeds cost U. S. farmers $5 billion annually, since they increase the cost of labor and equipment, reduce yield and

Ike Eulogized As Texas Son

Texas members of Congress, who considered former President Eisenhower a son of the Lone Star, Friday eulogized him as a Texan who became a world leader.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough said, "As soldier, as president, Eisenhower always earned the admiration and love of his fellow man. This high esteem of others stands as a tribute to Eisenhower, the man. The peace he won stands as a tribute to Eisenhower, the soldier-statesman. Eisenhower was a general at war, but a man of peace who worked to end wars and to prevent wars."

Republican Sen. John Tower called him, "a son of Texas, a guardian of liberty, a leader of America, a man of the world."

something of everybody," Tower said "He belonged a little bit to all of us . . . we needed him. We learned from him. We loved him. We will miss him."

Rep. Ray Roberts of McKinney, whose congressional district includes Denison, Eisenhower's birthplace, said, "I know I speak for the residents of Denison, as well as all of the fourth district, in expressing admiration of his tenacity and courage and for his dedication to our country."

"The true heart of courage . . . the true heart of compassion," said Dallas GOP Rep. Jim Collins of Eisenhower. He served under the general in World War II and worked with President Eisenhower on the White House Regional Conference for Youth.

Dallas Rep. Earle Cabell added, "The loss of President Dwight Eisenhower is such a personal thing for me that I can speak only for myself. I can assure you that his abilities to bring opposing factors together in peace and in harmony will be one thing that this nation will miss most desperately in these trying times."

"Both in war and in peace," said Rep. O. Clark Fisher of San Angelo, "he was one of the truly great men of this age."

Fisher, one of many Democrats who supported many of Eisenhower's policies, said, "All Americans and, indeed, all freedom-loving people throughout the world owe an everlasting debt of gratitude to the last president."

CORNED BEEF

Originally, a corn was any small substance, especially a seed or kernel. When beef was as he approached the stage. A hush settled over the room. Then came the announcement. Dwight D. Eisenhower was dead.

Eisenhower had won fame in a war these young lions knew from their father's souvenirs and memories.

Their war, Eisenhower himself once said, was so complex that he himself would not have felt competent commanding the U. S. forces.

laid in brine to cure, it was sprinkled with corns of coarse salt. The process came to be known as "corning" the beef.

Ike Coached In San Antonio

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower once was a football coach in San Antonio.

Back in 1916, officials of St. Louis College, which now is St. Mary's University, a Roman Catholic institution, decided to break precedent by hiring a non-Catholic layman as football coach.

It was hoped that he might revive the school's lagging football fortunes.

The young man they hired, at a salary of $150 for the season, was a Ft. Sam Houston lieutenant named Dwight D. Eisenhower. He had been a halfback at West Point a year or so earlier. A broken leg had ended his promising football career.

Eisenhower was aghast when he first saw his squad. When he put 11 men on the field, only a few scrawny boys were on the bench.

The aggressive young lieutenant embarked on a recruiting program and every robust man on the campus was fair game.

Once he stuck his finger into one man's chest and barked: "Young man, we need football players! Why aren't you out for the team?"

"But lieutenant, how can I?" answered the startled man. "I'm a member of the faculty."

Eisenhower managed to field a fair team. The record was one victory and three losses and the men who played under Ike recalled that, contrasted to previous seasons, even in losing the club did not suffer the humiliation of overwhelming scores.

Lt. Eisenhower was a stern disciplinarian. One afternoon he caught the team captain and quarterback, Ernest Stecker, puffing a cigarette. The fact that young Stecker was the son of Eisenhower's commanding officer at Ft. Sam Houston didn't deter the lieutenant.

He seized Stecker by his shoulder, pointed to a distant building and declared firmly: "See that barn over there? If I ever catch you smoking again, we're going behind that building and I'm the only one coming back!"

Message From Director

Calvin Coolidge said, "It is the duty of a citizen not only to observe the law but to let it be known that he is opposed to its violation." An overwhelming majority of present-day Americans obey the law, but far too few indicate that they are seriously concerned with its violation.

We are living in a day when defiance of authority is becoming the norm. Violent crime and thuggery are taking their daily toll in injuries and loss of life. Fear and apprehension prevail in the streets of most major cities. Law enforcement is the citizen's only buffer between personal safety and the criminal jungle. Often, as we know, this is not enough.

Teachers Salary Raises Discussed

Since last summer's political campaigns Texas voters have been deluged with statistics on the teachers pay raise that this legislature apparently is ready to approve.

Much early talk centered on a $1,000 a year boost, which most candidates quickly endorsed.

Actually the pay increases proposed by the Texas State Teachers Association and the Public School Student Committee would give a superintendent in a small town increased earnings of $4,800 or more the next two years. Even a teacher with a bachelor of arts degree and five years experience would benefit by $2,900 in 1970-71 if the pay hike is increased.

This does not include the $900 to $1,600 per teacher added strictly from local funds in 81 school districts.

All these figures and many more will be bounced around at a House hearing scheduled April 10. Several hundred teachers plan to hear the Education discussion that likely will be mostly in their favor.

Of the 150 House members, 97 signed the bill as co-sponsors. With retirement increases, the pay raise bill would cost $220 million the next two years. The 1967 legislature voted teachers pay raises totaling $60 million, but TSTA said Texas still stood 33rd in the nation in the average classroom teacher salary paid in 1967-68.

The National Education Association said 68 per cent of Texas' classroom teachers in 1968-69 were paid $5,500 to $7,499, with 20 per cent being paid more than $7,500 a year. The over-all average salary for the instructional staff in Texas schools was $6,794, which the NEA noted had purchasing power of only $5,560 when compared to 1957-59 dollars.

Oragne; Mrs. Vivian Bowser, Houston; and Oather Raynes, Dallas.

Vice-presidential candidates are: Mrs. Jack Blackstock of El Paso, and Mrs. Edna Stephenson of Borger.

Miss LaVerne B. Wong of Waco, current president-elect of TCTA, will automatically assume the duties of president June 1.

Two speakers from the National Education Association will highlight the convention. Delegates attending the NEA Luncheon on Saturday, April 12, will hear Dr. Jack H. Kleinmann, director of the Office of Planning and Organizational Development. Mrs. Mary Condon Gereau, legislative consultant, Office of Legislation and Federal Relations, will be the principal at the concluding TCTA banquet.

Local arrangements are being handled by Mrs. Margaret Thompson, president of El Paso Teachers Association.

If you have missed your paper, please call and tell us. We deliver locally!

Here's the way the TSTA says some Texas teachers would benefit from the proposed increases:

The first year of the raises would give a beginning teacher with a BA degree a $666 raise for the nine-months school year, and a BA teacher with five years experience a $936 raise. The second year of the state's fiscal year would give the two groups added raises of $900 and $1,100 based on a 10-month pay period. The total increased earnings for the two-year period would range from $2,232 to $2,900.

Pay rates go up automatically as a teacher acquires more experience. A teacher with a master of arts degree and two years experience would get a $666 raise the first year, while an MA teacher with seven years experience would get $1,044. The second year raises would be $1,010 and $1,205. An MA teacher with 10 years experience would have increased earnings for the biennium of $3,275.

Teachers who become administrators get even more.

A principal in a school with fewer than 19 teachers with an MA and six years experience, would be raised from $8,126 to $9,536 the first year, and $10,549 the second year, or a two-year increased earnings of $3,333. As a principal gained experience he could get as much as $13,970 a year.

A superintendent of a school with less than 600 average daily attendance, which makes most of Texas' schools, and with an MA and 14 years experience would move up from the present minimum $10,680 a year to $12,672, then $13,512 the second year. His two-year increased earning record would be $4,824. Superintendents with more experience could earn as much as $17,580 after the second year.

Texan Nominated To Top P-TA Job

Mrs. Leon S. Price of Dallas, has been nominated to head the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. Price is current first vice president of the 11 million member organization.

Nine national officers, including four regional vice presidents, will be elected during the 73rd annual national convention, which opens May 18 in the Sheraton-Cleveland Hotel in Cleveland, Ohio.

If elected, Mrs. Price will succeed Mrs. Irvin E. Hendryson of Albuquerque, N. M., who has been national P-TA president since May of 1967. Mrs. Price has been a member of the national board of managers since 1953, serving as president of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, national chairman of publicity, national vice president of Regional VI, and national secretary.

The presidential nominee was a delegate and program participant in the 1960 White House Conference on Children and Youth, and has been active in civic affairs in Dallas.

The committee on nominations for national officers also proposed these candidates for election during the coming National P-TA convention.

A large number of common household stains do not require special treatment except for a 15 minute cool-water-soak period before garments are put in the washer, says Doris Myers, extension specialist at Texas A&M. For fabrics which can be bleached, the addition of chlorine bleach to hot sudsy water will remove many common stains.

5-AA's Jones Boys Named Crane's Tommy, Stanton's David Make All-AA Five

Tommy Jones, a 6-0 senior from Crane High, and David Jones, a 6-2 senior from Stanton, both from District 5-AA, were named to the Texas Sports-writer's Association Class AA All-State Basketball team Saturday.

Stanton High School News

By PUG DEAVENPORT

David Jones, star athlete at SHS, was notified Friday of his inclusion on the Texas Sports-writer's Association Class AA All-State basketball team.

The honor highlighted a fine senior year season for the six foot, two inch, SHS performer. David averaged 20.4 points, and hauled in 19 rebounds per game, for the Buffaloes.

Tommy Jones, the superstar from Crane, was the only unanimous pick on the AA team. Jones, who leads the Cranes to a district 5-AA championship over the Buffaloes, averaged 43.2 points a game.

Other members of the state's AA elite squad are: Robert White, Hearne; Curtis Robinson, Fort Worth Kirkpatrick, and Manuel Juan Escobar, Roma.

Another District 5-AA athlete, Boone McMarilyn, of McCamey, was given recognition. The six foot senior, was named to the third team.

The West Texas area producer still other outstanding performers. Also named to the school boy honors list on the five man squad is Robert White of Hearne, who averaged 31 points a game; Curtis Robinson, who averaged 13.2 points in leading Kirkpatrick to the state championship, and Juan Escobar, Roma, who averaged 24.3 points.

It is the third year in a row that Tommy Jones had been named to the coveted team, and this time by a unanimous decision of sportswriters who voted.

Tommy led Crane to the state finals as a freshman, when he made the all-tourney team. Crane placed second in state that year, 1966. As a sophomore, Jones led Crane into the regionals at Lubbock, but the Cranes fell in their opener to Phillips.

In 1968, when Jones was a junior, the Cranes won the District 6-AA crown again, but were defeated by Colorado City, 77-75, in bi-district play. Jones ended the season with a 20.3 scoring average.

Last season, Jones had his biggest year, scoring a record-breaking 1,590 points in 37 contests, which also includes a 65-point game against Abilene high, and a 60-point game against Ysleta Parkland in bi-district.

Jones led the cranes to the regional at Lubbock, where he netted only 29 points in Crane's 61-57 win over Spearman, but scored 45 points in an 82-71 win over highly favored Dimmitt.

Crane lost to eventual state champion Fort Worth Kirkpatrick, 78-77, and to Hearne, 74-71, for a 27-10 season record, but Jones scored 91 points to earn unanimous selection on the all-tourney for the second time in his career.

Tommy Jones also has been named to the all-district football and basketball teams each year, and is earning a third letter as a trackster.

Tommy Jones grabbed more than 1,700 rebounds in his four years of playing.

David Jones led Stanton to a 21-6 season, and 5-3 in District 5-AA to tie Reagan County for second behind Crane's 6-2 mark. One of Crane's losses was to Stanton, 72-71, the other to Reagan, 76-66, in one of the toughest AA districts in the state.

David scored 552 points for the Buffaloes, for a 20.4 average. He netted 186 in district play, for a 23.25 average.

David also is a three-sport athlete, and holds some of the best times and distances in the sprints and broad jump in the district.

One of David's most coveted trophies, is the Most Valuable Prayer trophy he won at the Lubbock Caprock Invitational in spite of Stanton's loss in the finals to Dimmitt.

Stanton was in the small school division of the tourney, but David was chosen MVP for his division and the big school division, which had seven AAAA teams and one Class AAA team.

David was named to the All-District 5-AA as quarterback on the second team, and on the all-district cage team.

David also was named Most Valuable Player at the Stanton tourney, and was a member of the All-Tourney team at the Big Lake tourney. He

David Jones
... versatile Buff

averaged 19 rebounds per game for Stanton this year, too.

David is the second Stantonite to be named to the first All-State team in the last three years. In 1967, Allen Springer was an almost unanimous choice, and listed first on the team.

SHS's entry, "Riders of the Sea," was directed by Miss Wilma Martin. Cast members included: Miss Standefer, Alene McMillan, Denise Mitchell, Alan Gregston, Darla Dowden, Lynda Pate, Scotty Fisher, and David Saunders.

The play was presented to the student body Friday, during activity period.

The senior class met Tuesday, during activity period, for a business meeting. The class of 1969, chose juniors: Lynda Pate, LaWanda Glasple, Scotty Fisher, and Steve Stallings, to serve as their graduation ushers. The chrysanthemum was chosen as the graduate flower, and royal blue and gold, will be the class colors.

"Perhaps someday it will be pleastnt to remember these things," will serve as the graduation motto, and "Today," was voted class song.

Five cheerleaders will be chosen by the student body. The SHS student hand book states that contestants must be approved by the faculty, and all cheerleaders must pass all subjects at the end of each semester preceding the election, and after the election.

The student council met in regular meeting Wednesday, March 20. The group voted to hold a combination night meeting - banquet in the near future. Plans for freshmen orientation were discussed. HEY KIDS!!

BEKCO, The Clown, will be here All Day Saturday. If you get here before he runs out, you might talk him out of some Free Goodies.

As you all know, BEKCO is the clown from the land of bananas.

He will probably come here on his bicycle (if he can ride one) if he can't, he will walk. But he will be here, so come see him!

The Launching Pad

By NEAL ESTES

The world will mark Easter Sunday on April 6. It has been said that all Christian worship is a witness of the resurrection of Him who liveth for ever and ever. Because He lives, now abideth faith, hope, and charity.

JUDGE JIM McCOY has loaned us a copy of a very interesting book, "6,000 Miles of Fence." It is the story of life on the XIT Ranch and was written by CORDIA SLOAN DUKE and JOE B. FRANTZ. In some future issue of the paper I will pass along in review some of the better excerpts from the book. One bronc is described in the book like this: "When you find a bronc that can go high in the air and come down with head where his tail was, you had better have your riding clothes on when you get on him. When you find a blue dun with stripes around his legs and a dark stripe down his back with the brand JB on his left shoulder and fire in his eyes, you had better divide your money, and put half of it in each pocket, then part your hair in the middle and get your earthly business all fixed up before you get on him, for a strawberry roan isn't in it to the side of old J. B."

America paid final tribute to GEN. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER, soldier, college president, and former President of the United States this week. Dubbed by many as the outstanding American of this generation, the friendly man with a flashing smile, was mourned by millions around the world when news of his death was announced. IKE was truly a son of the people—a favorite of the multitude. He was the only President in 48 years to keep peace flags up for the entire duration of his eight-year administration—those splendid months know as the EISENHOWER years. He stopped the war raging in Korea just as he promised in his campaign talks and then held on to the peaceful dove until he surrendered the office to another chief executive who almost immediately accelerated the Vietnam conflict into a full scale war. And the Vietnam war during the JOHNSON days was further accelerated and with battlefield deaths reaching the third highest in history, caused LBJ to refuse to seek a second term in the hope that another could stop the bloody struggle. RICHARD NIXON has inherited the task and with memories of EISENHOWER stirred again in his death, the world waits hoping that the one-time vice-president under the famed GENERAL IKE, can find a solution to the end of the fighting in Vietnam.

Before departure for JFK airport at 4:00, we visited the RCA Building, and the NBC Studios. Our flight back to Dallas was delayed for 25 minutes because of the very heavy air traffic. We arrived back in Dallas at 9:15 u.m. Tuesday, and drove back to Baylor at Waco.

We had a very successful, enjoyable trip.

Mr. Neal Estes
Editor
Stanton Reporter
Stanton, Texas
Dear Neal:

A group of interested citizens from the area is being formed to establish a Permian Basin Writers Collection, to be housed at Odessa College.

A brief statement of the purpose, criteria, what we hope to get in it and methods of acquiring is enclosed for your perusal.

We would like for you to serve as a member of the Governing Board of this worthwhile project.

I won't take your time recounting why this is a good thing for the Permian Basin, the student, the scholar, and our intellectual and academic image.

There aren't many things a person who loves books and who likes to read and write is called upon to do in our area.

You will enjoy this and besides we need your help. Without trying to oversimplify the responsibilities that

Farm & Ranch Review

Watch Out For Screwworms—Veterinarians in USDA's Agricultural Research Service anticipate one of the worst outbreaks in the 7-year history of the Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program. They hope the increased production of sterile screwworm flies may blunt a massive spring buildup. The resurgence is blamed on 17 months of ideal weather for the pests and on relaxed preventive measure by many ranchers. Ranchers are asked to carry on an intensive program in the months ahead. Herds should be inspected regularly, suspected larvae should be collected for identification and all wounds treated with approved smears.

Texas Crop Acreages—Texas crop acreage planted and intended to be planted for harvest during 1969, is expected to be approximately the same as last year. Increases in cotton, corn, oats, rye, peanuts, Irish and sweet potatoes, and sugar beets, more than offset decreases in wheat, barley, rice, sorghum, and hay acreages. Soybeans are expected to remain the same as last year. The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service also said March 1, prospects are promising over most areas of the state with moisture adequate in most sections.

Texas Community Improvement Program—A total of 303 communities are enrolled in the 1968-69 statewide Community Improvement Program, says Reagan Brown, extension sociologist. The selection of the top communities in Texas will get underway with the naming of county winners; then district winners, and finally the state winners will be selected in May. Brown encourages interested persons to visit communities in their counties and district during the judging to see first hand how organized communities carry on their improvement programs.
