FROM BLUE SHIELD

Soap and Water

Soap and water is the best antiseptic treatment for small cuts and wounds. You don't need strong antiseptics to cleanse minor cuts. In fact, strong antiseptics sometimes cause chemical burns that may aggravate the wound. Wash minor cuts and wounds with plenty of soap and water and apply a sterile bandage to keep the wound area clean. Also, remember to keep a cut finger out of your mouth. Your mouth contains bacteria that may cause infection.

Rest Your Feet

Do your feet tire easily? Kick off your shoes and relax in your favorite easy chair or sofa. Elevate your feet to hip level or higher, if possible. This position will improve circulation, relax pressure on your feet and give them a chance to cool off so that swelling is reduced. It will also give you a chance to rest before you face another task.

Safety Pins

Mothers, do you hold safety pins in your mouth while changing baby's diaper? If so, you're courting trouble. Babies love to imitate and when they see their mother put safety pins in her mouth, they assume that's what they are for. For your child's sake, avoid holding pins in your mouth. Instead, keep a small pin cushion near the crib and use the cushion to hold the pins. Be sure that the pin cushion and pins are out of the baby's reach at all times.

Philosopher Worried About What To Do With 50,000 People Fired By Space Agency

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw, reviews the space exploration situation this week, more or less.)

Dear editor:

According to an article I read in a newspaper that fell out of my neighbor's mail box and landed on the running board of my car—if you remind me cars don't have running boards anymore—I'll suggest you attend to your business. I'll put the paper back, regardless of where it landed—Nasa, the space agency, is letting off 50,000 workers, due to a slowing down in future moon landings and other space shots.

I knew this was going to happen. Practically everybody in the world watched the first moon landing, only about a third as many watched the second, and others went to bed figuring they'd see it on tape some time the next day. The third shot will attract even fewer.

It's like discovering the North Pole. The first man that did it was a hero, the second was acclaimed too, but now flying over the North Pole is about as eventful as flying over Lenora.

The moon just doesn't have enough to offer to keep man's interest, and therefore his money, up very long. It's so dead it doesn't even have any germs worth inventing a vaccine against down here on earth. The rocks brought back have made a lot of geologists happy, but geologists must have been doing something before they got the moon rocks.

Getting there and getting back is the big adventure, and since we've already proved we can do that, future trips may become about like mountain climbing—exciting mostly to the people doing the climbing.

Now I've almost gotten away from what I started to say. It's about those 50,000 workers being let off by the space agency.

Here's a fine set of workers, trained and skilled and eager to stay busy, and we've got to find something truly beneficial we could use them for.

I intend to spend the next few days figuring on this problem, and next week will report on any ideas I've come up with.

Yours faithfully,
 J. A.

Texas Community Improvement Program—As of now, Reagan Brown, extension sociologist, says 220 community-wide improvement program. He advises community organization officers they have until January 31, to file their entries. Final enrollment is expected to exceed 300, he said.

Second Annual—The Texas Conference on Insect, Plant Disease, Weed and Brush Control, will be held February 24-26 at Texas A&M University's Memorial Student Center. Its an opportunity, says Wendell Horne, extension plant pathologist, to get the latest information and control measures for economically important insects, plant disease, and weeds and brush. The three-day program is action packed, and is designed to answer many of the questions asked throughout the year on the subjects to be covered. Horne says.

Safe and Effective—When properly handled and applied, pesticides provide an effective and inexpensive means for minimizing and controlling the damage and discomfort caused by insects in the home. Proper and safe use, points out Jack Price, extension agricultural chemicals specialist, depends upon the pesticide user's basic knowledge of the materials being used, including the chemical, formulation equipment, application, handling procedures, storage and disposal of containers.

Final 1969 Screwworm Count—Screwworm cases in the Southwestern States for 1969, totaled only 219 against 9,268 confirmed cases in 1968. The past year was described by officials of the eradication program as the test in the history of the program from the standpoint of confirmed cases. Stockmen are advised to keep checking animals and when worms are found, to submit samples to the laboratory at Mission for positive identification.

Scripture Teaches Importance Of Home

The history of America's way of life is full of the records of men who were reared in Christian homes. From humble homes all over the land have come sons and daughters nationally known for their greatness of character and achievement.

All too often, we have not always given proper credit to the home as a prime influence in moulding these, the great women and men of our times.

Among many other lessons to be found in the Scripture, are the ones which exemplify the importance of good homes and Christian family life.

The two instances of this emphasis are to be found in the 16th chapter of Acts.

Lydia, the devout seller of purple, was baptised with her whole household; and when the jailer, about to kill himself because he supposed his prisoners had escaped, asked Paul what he must do to be saved, Paul answered: "Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved and thy house."

And the prime example of all, is the life of Jesus with Mary and Joseph, as he grew to manhood in the archtype of humble Christian homes.

The influences expected by truly Christian homes, is the same today as it was then, and we can only hope, and pray, that more and more homes return to a truly Christian concept of living.

HILTON KADERLI of Tulsa, Oklahoma, was an office visitor the past Friday. He is the son of the late distinguished Stanton citizens, MR. and MRS. W. D. KADERLI and was reared in this city. HILTON, a very successful person, is proud of his heritage and of his home town. He expressed appreciation, devotion to the community that cradled him in his pre-teen days and love for the ones he has admired throughout his life, many who still live in this county. I was very happy to be enumerated among the friends of the elder KADERLIS and have often said that no finer couple added anymore encouragement to a county editor than the late MR. and MRS. KADERLI.

CHARLES (CHUCK) ELMORE called us one day recently to express his personal appreciation for the manner in which the pre-banquet publicity was held for the annual Martin County Chamber of Commerce. I never expect a compliment for doing the duty of an editor but it surely is nice to have a booster who lets one know his efforts have been appreciated in the promotion of a fine community event. Thanks CHUCK.

JOHN B. RANKIN, manager of the Permian Basin Baptist Encampment, located in Martin County, was the recipient of a grand honor recently. He was elected president of the Southern Baptist Assembly and Camp Managers Conference, in the annual meeting held at Waianae, Hawaii in early January. RANKIN was in the office to tell the staff he appreciated the manner in which the story relating his honor was handled last week, and while JOHN was with us the conversation led of news of his son being chosen chaplain of a Texas army post. That story appears in this issue of the newspaper. Congratulations on your recent tribute JOHN RANKIN and I know how proud you are of your worthy son.

REP. BILL HEATLEY, Paducah, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, has drawn opposition in his race for re-election. The wife of his opponent will be resigning as a precedent, according to JOHN HUTCHINSON of Texas A&M Extension Service. MRS. LEON WILLIAMS is the home demonstration agent at Vernon, Texas. The man-wife teams on public payrolls is frowned on in some instances. This election year promises to bring much attention to cases where more than the elected member of a family is guilty of eating from the taxpayers "boarding house" table. U. S. SENATOR RALPH YARBOROUGH'S nephew was forced out the other day in Tyler as the U. S. Dist. Attorney when he refused to follow political custom and resign following a change in national administrations. He was pulling down a salary in the thousands. It will be recalled that LYNDON JOHNSON bestowed a very lucrative paying job off on RALPH'S son, and as far as is known in these parts, he is still feeding at the public trough. RALPH'S wife was, at one time, on his payroll, and no announcement of her being off the payroll has been circulated. But YARBOROUGH is not the only state and federal official to have favored his family with monetary appointments. Texas Rep. BILL HEATLEY has been made glad by seeing a brother and two sons benefit from some state taxpayers salary money for jobs all three held at one time or another in Austin. There is another high office holder in Washington, D. C., who has a member or members of his family currently enjoying a government salary while he serves in a high position. I suspect close looks are going to be taken about the more than one in the family feeding at the taxpayers table before this election year is over.

REP. GEORGE MAHON of Lubbock, was PRESIDENT NIXON'S strongest supporter among Texas House members—Democratic and Republican alike—during 1969. A survey by Congressional Quarterly showed MAHON, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, voted 58 per cent of the time in favor of the position taken by the President on key legislation. This was a more pro-Nixon position than that taken by Texas's three Republican House members—GEORGE BUSH of Houston, JIM COLLINS of Dallas, and BOB PRICE of Pampa. The survey shows BUSH supported the President 64 per cent of the time, COLLINS and PRICE, 57 per cent of the time. The survey was based on roll-call votes which presented a clean-cut test of presidential support during 1969.

The attendance at the Livestock Show held on Friday and Saturday last week, registered an all-time high. Proceeds from the auction sale was a record setter. This show gets outstanding recognition from a wide area annually and this year was a real bellringer.

The hot and cold weather pattern is disturbing and a promise to bring more colds and flu into the community. Several residents are reported in the hospital here and in other cities suffering from colds, pneumonia, or some respiratory ailment. Our advise is to simply take care and follow the simple rules always prescribed for colds. By-the-way, avoid crowds if possible. When a lot of people gather in a closed area they are climbing in an incubator of walled up germs.

'Sell Martin County,' Elmore Challenges Residents Monday

Charles (Chuck) Elmore, who deals with member relations of Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, wants Martin County to improve its relation in general. Assuming the presidency of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce Monday evening, Elmore said the main objective this year would be to "sell Martin County." He also challenged fellow citizens to "do something. We're not the first community to be bypassed by an interstate highway, and we won't be the last. We just can't sit and wither on the vine."
Dr. C. L. Kay, assistant president of Lubbock Christian College, made his third appearance as a speaker and echoed similar challenges on a broader scale to come to grips with problems which beset the nation.
Citing the major problems as the Vietnam war, defiance of authority, crime, failure to act on the basis of right, increase in taxes, and inflation as major problems, he suggested three areas of personal responsibility: 1. Strive for self respect and self responsibility; 2. Acquire never-give-up attitude; 3. Love our country.

He cautioned that the nation must maintain a strong military capability, and projected films he took on a tour of various installations and military exercises.
Dr. Kay noted an increasing national concern, but warned that "we've got to do more than talk. We can do anything we want to do if we want to do it bad enough."
Among the problems he cited, was that of controlling the upward spiral of taxes, which he said now costs the average family of four $3,927 a year.

He also viewed inflation with alarm, citing these examples for the year 2000 if current trends are unchecked: $75 a day for a hospital room, $10 for a haircut, $112 per week for family's food, $9,900 for a new car, $270 for a suit of clothes, $86,000 for a modest home, $640 for a child's birth. A family will have to have $36,000 income per year just to stay even.
Jack Ireton, who turned over the reins to Elmore, stated the chamber has supported the University of Permian Basin proposal, backed the successful campaign for a 30-cent road tax, succeeded in keeping the T&P depot and station-
