Seeds From The Sower

By Michael A. Guido, Metter, Georgia

A diner asked suspiciously, "Why do you call this 'enthusiastic stew'?" "Because," explained the waiter, "the cook put everything he had into it."

A king cooked up a big stew in his day because he "put everything he had" into worshipping the Lord. He said in Psalm 86:12, "I will praise Thee, O Lord my God, with all my heart; and I will glorify Thy name for evermore."

He had the right attitude. Half a heart is no more good than a half a lifeboat or half a parachute. If the Lord is to be praised at all, it must be with all the heart. Praise that is not wholehearted is worthless.

He had the right action. In his heart the Giver, not His gifts, was the all-important fact. While it is right to be grateful for His benefits, one should see beyond the benefits to the Benefactor.

He had the right aim. To glorify His name means to direct attention to the One of that name. For the glory of God comes through the manifestation of His nature. It signifies "showing forth." How was God shown forth? By His Son. When the Christian is Christlike, he glorifies God by showing Him forth.

If you are a Christian, be Christlike; not a carbon copy of the devil!

Philosopher Claims Computers Are Amateurs At Prying Into The Private Lives Of People

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his grass farm on Mustang Draw examines the computer age this week, we suppose).

Dear editor:

I don't know about the rest of you but I've never understood what goes on inside a computer, oh I know it can figure out at what angle and what speed to fire a rocket from the earth to land at a given spot on the moon but hasn't been able to figure out how to get a letter from Midland to Stanton on time, but exactly how it works is something I leave to the scientists.

What got me started on this was an article I read in a newspaper last night about an international conference of 400 lawyers called in Brussels to examine the effect of computers on human beings.

According to them, the computer can become "a horrifying tool for prying into the affairs of the individual." They said it can become a "threat to the individual and his private life due to the great mass of information about private lives that can become a 'threat to the individual and his private life due to the great mass of information about private lives that can be assembled and called up instantaneously."

I think those lawyers are getting excited over nothing. What I mean is, information about private lives has been stored up in some human brains long before computers were even dreamed of, and most of the time it has been released not only instantaneously but repeatedly.

I never have heard of a town yet that didn't have some people who could give you down to the last detail a full report on the private lives of 90 per cent of the population, and they were working on the other 10 per cent.

I'm not saying it is always 100 per cent accurate, but when it comes to finding out and storing up a great mass of information about private lives, the amount of detail they have assembled out—computers a computer ten to one, and they can be switched on any time of the day or night without electricity. In fact, if they aren't switched on, they turn themselves on automatically. Those lawyers ought to realize that a computer can't hold a candle to people when it comes to finding out what other people are doing privately.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

New Arrivals

Congratulations are in order for Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Dillard on the birth of a boy, Lance Edward, born September 28 in a Midland hospital. Young Lance weighed eight pounds, 12 1/2 ounces, and was 21 3/4 inches long.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Dillard of Millersview, Texas, and maternal grandmother is Mrs. W. E. McDuffie of Denton.

You think it can't happen to you, so thought Mr. and Mrs. Danny Ray Smith of Window Rock, Ariz. Their son was born in the back seat of a Volkswagen at 12:30 a.m., Oct. 7, on their way to the hospital. Glenn Ray Smith weighed in at five pounds, six ounces, and both mother and son are doing fine.

Mrs. Smith is the former Dorothy Lawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Lawson, Stanton.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Smith, Bronte. The Smiths have two other children, Johnnie Allene, 6, and Roger Lee, 4.

Personals

SP 4 Carlis G. Martin spent last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wes Morgan. He also visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pinkerton, and other relatives. Martin is in Company C, 518th M. P. BN., in Ft. Hood, Texas.

Bible Comment—

All Power To Prosper Comes From God

The fundamental fact in all that concerns the Christian in relation to his possessions and his economic relations is to be found in two verses from the eighth chapter of Deuteronomy.

This basic fact is that it is God that "giveth thee power to get wealth."

It is this fact—that no matter how great, successful and seemingly all-powerful and self-sufficient a man becomes, he depends upon something outside of himself and beyond his control — which Jesus emphasizes so pointedly.

In the parable of the successful farmer, He tells of the man whose fields brought forth plentifully, and who planned to pull down his barns and build greater ones. He had built up a great heritage, but the farmer had left out of account the most important thing of all — his own life.

God said: "This night thy soul shall be required of thee."

The farmer was typical of many who think chiefly of their own success, and who are not, in the words of the parable, "rich towards God."

It is the Christian investment of all that we are and have that makes up or offerring in being rich toward God.

Only in this way of life, can we repay Him who owns all things, because all things come from Him.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

MARTIN-HOWARD-MIDLAND SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT

Conservation serves many people in different ways, reports the Soil Conservation Service.

Conservation benefits to farmers and ranchers may include: more convenient operations, more income, reduced erosion, better use of water and fertilizer, and recreation values.

The Soil Conservation Service gives technical help to plan and carry out farm and ranch conservation programs. These plans include such things as a soil map showing the different soils and the capabilities. Assistance is also available to help install and maintain conservation practices as well as federal cost-sharing on certain practices. City people can also benefit from conservation by direct assistance in selecting building sites, roads, septic tank locations, as well as erosion problems around their homes.

The Soil Conservation Service employees are charged to help you and your school system with conservation education. This may include help on arranging tours to conservation study sites, guest speakers, conservation films, and television tapes. Conservation also helps the sportsman by increasing wildlife habitat and preservation.

The SCS gives aid in building farm ponds, as well as stocking them with fish. Other practices help provide food and cover for wildlife.

Use and support your local Soil and Water Conservation District.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

A long time ago Congress decided to change the income tax law by adding the pay-as-you-go provisions. It didn't take most of us very long to find out about pay-as-you-go. Our employer gives us a very effective lesson every pay day. However, the self-employed taxpayer and the taxpayer with income other than his salary or wages, doesn't always seem to understand that Congress provided the benefits of pay-as-you-go for him as well as the rest of us.

Letter Of Local Woman Printed In Magazine

The Torch, a nation-wide Beta Sigma Phi magazine, printed a letter this week from Mrs. D. E. Ory, who along with Mrs. Wallace Kelly and Mrs. Jim Webb, spent two weeks on a European tour in June of this year. Mrs. Ory's letter was printed along with three other letters from members of the Beta Sigma Phi that took the trip.

In her letter, Mrs. Ory stated that she enjoyed the trip very much, but wished that they could have spent more time in Austria and Germany. She also said that she had taken 360 pictures of the points of interest in the various countries.

The trio toured the countries of Germany, Austria, Belgium, Italy, Switzerland, and France.

... direct from the manufacturer

Natural gas is the healthiest, most economical way to heat your house this winter. Gas is economical because it's the direct way to produce heat — you don't pay to convert heat to another energy source and then back to heat. And with gas you can afford to bring clean outside air into your home this winter instead of having to re-heat the same old stale air time after time.

So, if you're building or remodeling, be sure to specify gas heating. Gas is the "natural" fuel. It's like buying direct from the manufacturer. Call your heating contractor, plumber, or Pioneer Natural Gas.

The Launching Pad

By NEAL ESTES

One of the joys of living in a small town is the ability of one to really learn new and interesting things about his friends and neighbors. It is also a happy pleasure to share good conversation with a fellow who has something new to add to his string of accomplishments in life. The other day I was shopping in the grocery store owned by DWAIN HENSON and BOB COSTEY. DWAIN, the former Stanton High football star and presently a member of the Independent School Board, walked by me and said: "I have something back here I want to show you." I left the shopping cart parked in an aisle and went back to find DWAIN holding a pint of the clearest, purest looking honey I have seen in a long, long time. He is a beekeeper in addition to other active sidelines. DWAIN really got started in the bee business, a year or so ago. It's really his hobby—not a business—because he does not sell his honey crop for a profit. He has five hives at the present time and has robbed only one of them so far this season. The honey taken from this hive was 27 pints. And he advised us that a good portion of the honey was left for the bees. HENSON told me that when he was a small lad an uncle told him how to capture a swarm of stray bees and just recently he captured a swarm while visiting in Big Spring. He said he lured the bees onto a pasteboard box, put them on the rear seat of his car and drove them back to Stanton. DWAIN drove by JIM JOHNSON's place and obtained an extra container to house his bees and now he has bees swarming all over the place and they are making honey with no overhead involved. DWAIN is doing as he pleases with the premium quality honey—some of it has gone to friends who have been told by their doctors that honey is good for their ailments, etc. I have known DWAIN HENSON for a very long time and I never would have figured him for a guy following beekeeping for a hobby: Chalk up another point for the grocer. Beekeeping? I say!

My friend and business neighbor, CLAUD NOWLIN, has been a mighty sick man over in the HOGAN-MALONE FOUNDATION HOSPITAL the past ten days. CLAUD underwent surgery and complications caused a return trip to the operating table. MRS. NOWLIN has advised the editor that her husband now appears on the road to recovery and we can expect to have him back home in a few days.

Scores of people were pleased as punch to point to the article in a recent issue of the internationally circulated LOOK MAGAZINE about JIM ALLISON, JR., and say: "I know him—he is my friend and one of us." JIM ALLISON, JR., is a former Midland newspaper personality. He is the son of Publisher and MRS. JAMES N. ALLISON, Sr., Midland Reporter-Telegram. JIM ALLISON has many friends all over the Permian Basin and is now serving the Republican National Committee as first deputy.

City councilman BOB DEAVENPORT has contributed some athletic articles to the paper this season. BOB is an avid admirer of the SHS Buffs. As a matter-of-fact, and one of his stories was so prejudicial he made it appear that the Bisons won the game. Let the record tell it. Here is a reprint of the lead paragraph of BOB's story: "The Stanton High Buffs turned in the best performance of the young season last Friday night as they gave a fine first half battle with the Frenship Tigers. The Buffs fought hard to go to the dressing room at half-time trailing 7-0." True enough, our youngsters have experienced some tough traveling to date. I played on a Commerce Tiger team one season that never won a game. I have a game picked out for Stanton to win. If they can pull a victory off most of us will be satisfied for the season. DEAVENPORT joins me in predicting that the Buffs will take the Badgers from McCamey here at Homecoming time.

Grassroots Opinion

MARATHON, N. Y., INDEPENDENT: "We have always admired men of courage. We admire men in politics who take crucial steps in their deliberations, knowing full well that what they might do, may well mean political disaster. A politician becomes a man when he votes his mind, his inner thoughts and lays aside expediency for the sake of true public representations. While we realize that the game of politics is not often played this way, we also realize that the people will admire a man who can stand up and say that 'this vote may well mean the end of my political career'."

BROOKNEAL, VA., UNION STAR: "In one of the trade magazines that comes into our office, we read about a fellow who got tired of those 'begging' letters that come in the mail addressed to 'Boxholder' or 'Occupant', asking for handouts for all kinds of charities or money-raising campaigns. He said he finally decided to do something about a particular one, so he wrote a check to the organization for $10,000 and signed it 'Occupant.' That'll teach 'em a thing or two, he commented."

INDIANOLA, IOWA, RECORD-HERALD & TRIBUNE: "The director of the National Highway Safety Bureau recently came up with an impressive statement regarding seat belts and shoulder harnesses. He indicates that no one wearing a combination lap belt and shoulder harness has been killed in a crash at less than 60 miles per hour. We would doubt if they have all the figures necessary to make such a positive statement, but apparently there is enough evidence of the effectiveness of such devices to make the odds extremely favorable if they are used."

BLYTHE, CALIF., PALO VERDE VALLEY TIMES: "Preservation of our environment is a very serious matter with most conscientious citizens, but its espousal by those seeking causes for which to demonstrate can have ironic and costly kickbacks. When the activities centered in Washington for the 'Earth Day's demonstration, much was preached about stopping pollution, cleaning up the world we live in. Shortly after, in protest to the Cambodian action, many of the same demonstrators were back, mixing anti-American obscenities with more pious commands to 'remember Mother Earth'. . . Officials estimate the total cost of de-polluting the antipollution demonstration may come to $200,000. As one Congressman put it: 'When the party is over, it is Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer who get taken to the cleaners'."

CORVALLIS, ORE., GAZETTE-TIMES: "Obviously there's a fortune to be made by anyone who can come up with a pollution-free, or at least low-exhaust, vehicle. But just to make sure engineers, manufacturers, inventors, and Rube Goldbergs are concentrating on the desired designs, two Senate subcommittees are pondering a plan for effective price subsidy. . . It suggested that licensing and taxing authorities should consider a fee discount or tax break for private owners of low-exhaust vehicles. In any transition period, the carrot rather than compulsion might be more successful in encouraging purchases of low-pollution automobiles."

TOWNSEND, MONT., STAR: "From time to time legislators attempt to insist on a requirement that all newspaper editorials and columns be signed by the person writing them. Actually most are signed but once in a while this old issue comes back to life. If this is a necessary requirement, then perhaps we should demand to know the name of a politician's speech writer, and even require judges to reveal the law clerks or attorneys who prepare their decisions."

PITTSBURG, TEXAS, GAZETTE: "One of the most likely uses of atomic energy seems to be the cooking of the world's goose."
