High Plains cotton acreage said dry

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Mid-May is the High Plains' optimal time for planting cotton, but a lack of adequate planting moisture is forcing many area farmers to watch the skies and wait.

The lack of rain ultimately could jeopardize the area's economic mainstay, with more than half the three million acres across the High Plains to be planted with cotton extremely dry, say crop experts.

Plains Cotton Growers Inc., a trade association of cotton producers in the 25-county area surrounding Lubbock, reported that as of last week, 60 percent of 4.2 million acres of the area's cotton acreage is classified as powder dry. That means that dryland farmers, those who do not irrigate their land, are unable to plant until rain comes.

About 60 percent of High Plains cotton acreage is not irrigated.

The best time for planting cotton in the area is early May through early June. However, the usual spring rains on which farmers depend to furnish seeds have yet to come this year, and a dry fall and winter failed to replenish the subsoil moisture needed for the summer growing season, said James Supak, Texas A&M extension service agronomist.

The city of Lubbock has gotten 2.4 inches of rain so far this year, compared with normal rainfall of 4.02 inches, said Bill Alexander of the National Weather Service, said surrounding areas are similarly dry.

Although sporadic showers fell across the area over the weekend, they did little to help, Supak said.

"Overall, it hasn't set the stage for cotton planting," he said. "So far the rains have been very scattered and the amounts haven't been enough."

Dryland farmers are faced with the possibility of a so-called dry planting, which means planting seed without adequate moisture for germination, according to Supak.

Even if the prospects for a dryland crop seem bleak, farmers must plant to receive a price deficiency payment.

Q — Is school ending later this year?

A — Not appreciably later than it has for the past several years. Going back to 1985, however, Snyder public schools dismissed classes on May 17. In 1986, this moved to May 30 and it has stayed at or near the end of May since.

In Brief

Meet masses

BEIJING (AP) — Mikhail and Raisa Gorbachev worked the crowds in Beijing today but stayed clear of much larger crowds of student demonstrators.

The Soviet leader, on his way back to the state guest house after lunch with China's senior leader Deng Xiaoping, stopped his car and got out to shake hands with pedestrians, the official Xinhua News Agency reported.

The people shouted "Welcome, welcome" and cheered when Gorbachev announced that Sino-Soviet relations, strained for three decades, had been normalized with his visit.

"Gorbachev told the masses that the Soviet and Chinese peoples enjoy a very good friendship," Xinhua said.

It said Mrs. Gorbachev signed a card handed to her by a Chinese woman and posed for pictures.

Road's paving mulled

County-city seek state aid

City and county officials Monday night laid plans to go to Austin on May 24 and ask the highway department to pave the landfill road which will ultimately serve as a link from U.S. Hwy. 84 to TDC's Price Daniel Unit.

In a 1½-hour work session involving most of the city council and county commissioners court, the officials discussed various aspects of the project but decided to concentrate in Austin on persuading the highway department to make its commitment on building the road.

"Once we get the state to say they'll build the thing, then we'll go do what we have to do to get it done," said Pct. 2 Commissioner Tommy Pate, adding that the indication is the highway department is eager to proceed.

County Judge Bobby Goodwin earlier had said, discussing right of way acquisition, that the county "will buy or, if we have to, condemn" to get the necessary 100 feet of right of way on the road, which currently has only 40 feet of right of way.

The road is in Pct. 4 which is headed by Commissioner Ted Billingsley.

Billingsley, who did not attend Monday's meeting, said last year that he would not ask the state to build the road because a landowner alongside it would not sell and he would not seek a condemnation. Earlier this year, he said the landowner had reversed himself, clearing the way for the project.

Pct. 1 Commissioner Duaine Davis told city council members Monday night that the court has actively been pursuing right of way acquisitions and that landowners on both sides of the road and along the middle of its two-mile length have still not made agreements.

Davis said he is optimistic, however, that accommodations can be made with all or nearly all of them.

Pct. 3 Commissioner C.D. Gray Jr. also took part in the meeting, which ended with agreement for Goodwin, Mayor Troy Williamson and others from the two governmental entities to attend the May 24 meeting at which the project will be considered.

State Rep. David Counts of Knox City is scheduled to make an appearance on behalf of the 34 memberships added at chamber

The Snyder Chamber of Commerce added 34 new memberships to its rolls during last week's three-day membership drive, chamber directors were told Monday.

The list included 25 new businesses and nine individuals.

A competition was held between the 12-member chamber board and the chamber Goldcoats to see which group could gain the most new members, and chamber directors were named the winner of that contest Monday.

Based on a point system, the board of directors garnered 2,857 points compared to the Goldcoat's 1,647.

A separate competition was held for the individuals recruiting the most new members, and the chamber staff earned this prize. Nine members were credited to Jackie Hall and Sally Lake.

New businesses joining the chamber were: Y-Z Industries, Pizza Inn, Nolan Electric, A&B Construction Co., Axelson Inc., E.L. Farmer Trucking, Amoco Pipeline, Polynesian Gardens, Saddle Shed, AJ's Ultimate Silk Screens, Lyle Heating and Air-Conditioning, Elkco Wireline, Energy Electric, Sweet's Shop, Cooper Appliance Air-Conditioning and Heating, Valente Construction, College Ave. Coin Laundry, E.D. Rainfall forecast for area Tuesday

From Local, Wire Reports Snyder has a 40 percent chance for thunderstorm activity Tuesday night with some heavy rain said possible.

Rain chances of from 20 to 30 percent have been in the forecast almost daily since May 8 but have, to date, produced little moisture.

Tuesday's 40 percent change is the best listed since the recent cycle of thunderstorm activity began. The Snyder area forecast for Wednesday indicates a 30 percent chance of thunderstorms.

Across North Texas early Tuesday, severe thunderstorms forced evacuations of about 100 people in Gainesville which received as much as seven inches of rainfall.

Phillip Herbst, Dallas DPS communications supervisor, said he had received a teletype from the Emergency Management Coordinator in Gainesville asking for assistance in evacuating about 100 people.

Interstate 35 was closed temporarily near Gainesville, but reopened within about an hour.

Gainesville and Cook County authorities were not immediately reachable because telephone circuits were consistently busy.

Areas west of Gainesville in Cooke County also were pelted with baseball-size hail.

A tornado warning was issued just before 6 a.m. for Lamar County as forecasters reported that a funnel cloud was moving in the direction of Paris.

Paris Police dispatcher Dahl Rosson said spotters sighted the funnel cloud about 10 miles southwest of Paris, but it moved back into the clouds accompanying the storm system.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Folks shouldn't stop playing when they grow old, 'cause they grow old when they stop playing."

Ken Branam, minister of the First Baptist Church, hasn't lost his love for a good practical joke. And when he leaves Snyder, we won't miss his Baylor Bear plaques.

Branam just completed a term on the Snyder school board, but withdrew in his race for reelection because of an impending move.

At his final school board meeting, Branam had a little fun. On cue, a wheelbarrow was rolled into the board room. It was piled high with stacks of papers that turned out to be memos, policy statements, regulations and advice sent to the board member during his three-year term.

Branam noted that this vital information was for the benefit of new board member Sam Robertson. It was almost to suggest that Robertson might need to order a new filing cabinet.

But it was Robertson, former band director turned insurance peddler, who got off the best line. "Ken, you can keep the papers, I want the wheelbarrow."

While on clergy, there's an old story about a preacher who felt more like playing golf than giving his regular sermon. He called in sick and headed for the links.

His first drive off the tee sailed into the rough. A bird flew down, picked up the ball and dropped it into the hole for an ace.

An angel, watching from above, asked another angel why the preacher was being rewarded when he had skipped church.

Mused the guardian angel, "But he can't tell anyone about it, can he?"

Cowboys' new owner...

Jones' daughter has congressional job

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 22-year-old daughter of new Dallas Cowboys owner Jerry Jones is making $60,000 a year as an aide to a congressman who lists a personal loan of at least $100,000 from Jones among his liabilities.

Less than a year out of Stanford, Charlotte Jones holds three titles on the staff of Rep. Tommy Robinson, D-Ark.

Her father has been a friend of Robinson since childhood and a financial backer of the congressman's political career. Jones became a multimillionaire in the insurance, oil and gas businessman's staff as a $31,000 constituent caseworker after graduating from Stanford last June with a degree in human biology.

"I cannot deny that I'm here because of my father," she said. "But it's not the money, it's the motivation that he encouraged in me."

Ms. Jones described her meteoric rise since then to the three-title position she now holds — administrative assistant, office manager and press secretary — as more of her own doing.

"I have a different kind of access to him that makes it easier for me to interrupt him or intervene with him on behalf of somebody else," she said of Robinson. "I think he feels secure with me being here."

"We've had a close, honest friendship since I was in high school and did a paper on him when he was sheriff. He knows that when he's not here that I or somebody in the office is not going to go off and do something he doesn't approve of or that gets him in political trouble."

Robinson could not be reached Monday. But he has defended the arrangement earlier, saying Ms.

Jones has performed her tasks "in an exemplary way" and adding, "You don't really expect me to hire one of my enemies, do you?"

"I like people with no experience because they're not opinionated and you can train them the way you want them to be trained," Robinson told The Arkansas Gazette, which first disclosed Ms. Jones' salary.

Ms. Jones said Monday she tried to discourage Robinson from boosting her pay from $51,300 to $60,000 in March after raising it from $31,000 just two months earlier.

In February, he purchased the Cowboys football franchise for an estimated $140 million.

According to Robinson's 1987-88 financial disclosure form, he and Jones are partners in a farm in Arkansas. Robinson listed among his liabilities a personal loan from Jones of between $100,000 and $250,000.

Jones' daughter said Monday she did not know how much Robinson still owes her father but that monthly payments on the loan are being made.

She conceded in an interview that her father's relationship with Robinson was instrumental in getting her a job on the con-

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I was the project officer for Operation Dear Abby in Korea for the 1966-1968 holiday season. During this time, about 75,000 pieces of mail were sent to our servicemen and women in Korea. The 55 military chaplains in Korea handled the distribution of those letters, and we tried our best to make sure every letter was personally handed to a U.S. servicemember.

I want to thank all the Dear Abby readers who responded so generously. Many of the servicemembers "traded" letters, and some of those letters became separated from their envelopes and addresses were lost. So, those who write should have their names and addresses on both the letters and envelopes.

Don't wait for Christmas. Please keep those letters comin' any time of year. They are great morale boosters!

GEORGE W. BEARDEN, CHAPLAIN (MAJOR) U.S. ARMY

DEAR MAJOR BEARDEN: All right, you asked for it. Readers, write to a lonely servicemember. There are women as well as men in the service, you know. Address your letters to: OPERATION DEAR ABBY, AMERICA REMEMBERS, U.S. FORCES IN KOREA, APO SAN FRANCISCO 96202.

DEAR ABBY: I'm in shock and really need your help. My brother just called from out of state, telling me that he is retiring this month, and he and his wife want to come and stay with my husband and me for three weeks! Abby, I love my brother dearly, but I am 71 and my husband is 76, and I just can't handle it.

I am active in my church, do volunteer work at the hospital two days a week, have church choir, plus my regular housekeeping chores, and I cannot cook for houseguests every night.

But how do I put this into words without sounding inhospitable? Just the thought of having houseguests sets my head to spinning! Our guest room is filled with things we're not using, and I'm just not up to the job of cleaning it up right now.

My husband is a dear and reasonable man. He's retired and is not in the greatest of health.

Please help me find the courage and the words. COUNTING ON YOU

DEAR COUNTING: The courage you must find yourself, but perhaps I can help you with the words.

Call your brother and tell him that you love him dearly, but you cannot handle having houseguests for three weeks. Tell him that your husband has not been in the best of health and your guest room is being used for storing things, and much as you would enjoy seeing them, you are unable to accommodate them. Then offer to make reservations for them at a nearby motel — and quote the rates.

Sign off with: "My how time flies! Can you believe that your sister is now 71, and her husband is 76?"

DEAR ABBY: My friend and I have a $10 bet. She insists that Phil Donahue is bald! She said she saw him on his own show and he was totally bald — he didn't have even one hair on his head. She swears she saw it with her own eyes.

Abby, I am sure Phil Donahue is not bald, but I can't convince my friend. Can you please find out for sure. If you say so, she will take your word for it. Please help me with this bet. I know I can count on you.

K. KEE IN TRAFFORD, PA.

DEAR K: Phil Donahue bald? Absolutely not! That lush white thatch you see on his head is human hair — and it's all his!

I watch the Donahue show every day, and I recall the show your friend is referring to. It dealt with baldness, and in it Phil donned a skintight, flesh-colored rubber cap that gave him the appearance of being totally bald. The effect was amazingly realistic. Your friend owes you $10.

Is your social life in a slump? Get Abby's booklet, "How to Be Popular" — for people of all ages. To order, send your name and address, plus check or money order for $2.89 ($3.39 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Popularity Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054.

Government study shows less cholesterol in eggs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — New testing methods and improved farming practices have led government researchers to conclude that eggs have 22 percent less cholesterol than previously believed.

A study released Monday by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the industry-supported Egg Nutrition Center found the average large egg has 213 milligrams of dietary cholesterol.

The government has said since 1976 that eggs contained 274 milligrams.

Extra large eggs have about 230 milligrams of cholesterol, and medium eggs about 180 milligrams.

The study was welcomed by the egg industry, which has seen sales plummet $1 billion during the past five years after warnings about the risks of heart disease associated with the fatty substance.

"It confirms what we've been saying all along, that eggs are an important source of nutrients and should not be eliminated from diets," said Cathy McCharen, vice president of the Egg Nutrition Center in Washington, D.C.

The change is due to better testing methods and different feed, husbandry and breeding practices, according to Gary Beecher, chief of the USDA's Nutrition Information Service. The new figures will be included in updated versions of the USDA's handbook on the nutrient composition of foods.

The fat content of the eggs also was slightly lower than previously reported, with an average of 5 grams total fat per large egg.

The study also confirmed that eggs are a low-calorie source of protein, Vitamin A, riboflavin, Vitamin B-12, iron, zinc, phosphorus, calcium, potassium and other nutrients. The average large egg had 75 calories.

The American Heart Association has recommended that the average adult each day consume no more than 300 milligrams of cholesterol, a substance found especially in animal fats that helps block blood vessels.

To all customers of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company:

Public Notice

On March 14, 1989, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas an application which proposes to revise its Toll Restriction Tariff in Section 21 of the General Exchange Tariff. The Commission received the application as Docket No. 8700.

The application proposes to reduce the monthly rate for Toll Restriction residence service from the current $15 a month to $5 a month per residence access line. This proposed application will affect approximately 2,487 residence customers who presently subscribe to toll restriction. It is estimated that the proposed rate schedule will reduce the Company's annual revenues from this service by approximately $298,000, which is less than one percent of the Company's total intrastate revenues. If the application is approved, the effective date of the rate reduction will be set according to the Commission's Order.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A deadline to file motions to intervene has been set for May 30, 1989. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas at 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Don't concede too soon

Suppose you have all the tricks but one. Perhaps you think it polite to concede a trick to the opponents. Not so. It is always right to play the hand out. First, a card you think is a loser may actually be a winner. Second, an opponent may discard carelessly to give you a trick. Finally, an advantageous end position may have developed without your realizing it.

North guessed better than I would have when he passed three spades. West led his singleton club. Declarer cashed dummy's spade king and led a heart. East won the jack and gave West a club ruff. Back came the queen of diamonds, ducked by declarer. A second diamond to East's 10 was ruffed, and declarer played A-J of spades, shedding a diamond and a heart from dummy. West won the spade queen and played another heart. Declarer ruffed and now conceded that he would have to lose a club. That was much too charitable. Here is the layout:

NORTH: Spades —, Hearts Q, Diamonds K 9, Clubs A
EAST: Spades —, Hearts A, Diamonds A, Clubs J 9
SOUTH: Spades J 10, Hearts —, Diamonds —, Clubs 10 6
WEST: (immaterial)

South leads the jack of spades, throwing a diamond from dummy. East must keep his red aces, so throws a club. The club ace now drops the jack, and declarer ruffs back to his hand to win the 10 of clubs and make his contract.

Angry when tackle fails to show...

Johnson says he will trade Brooks

DALLAS (AP) - Attendance at a three-week Dallas Cowboys mini-camp was supposed to be voluntary, but new coach Jimmy Johnson flashed his tough-guy image to the players after learning defensive tackle Kevin Brooks was a no-show.

"I told them that I expect players to be on time, I expect people to play hard for me," Johnson said Monday at the opening of the camp. "I told them if they lay it on the line for me, they will be taken care of. If not they won't be around."

Brooks' absence came a day after veteran free-agent quarterback Steve Pelluer demanded to be traded. Johnson announced that the Cowboys would make an immediate attempt to trade Brooks, the returning starter at left tackle and their No. 1 choice in the 1985 draft.

Brooks, who last July signed a new four-year $1.21 million contract, said Monday that he has been having marital problems and needed time to take care of personal matters. He said he tried Friday to contact Johnson but failed.

"This has nothing to do with football or the coaches," Brooks told The Dallas Morning News.

"I like the coaches."

Brooks tried to make peace Monday afternoon, calling Johnson to say he would report to camp today.

But he apparently failed to calm the first-year coach, who wouldn't back down from the trade talk.

"He was still kind of hot," Brooks said.

Brooks agreed that a trade might be best. He made a similar request late last season after the being reprimanded for not receiving treatment for an injury.

"I've always wanted to get out of Dallas, that's no secret," Brooks said. "I might want to try someplace else, because a change would be good."

Johnson delivered much the same message Monday to those players not interested in playing by his rules. It was in sharp contrast to his first meeting with the team, when he told players he wouldn't saddle them with a lot of rules and regulations and labelled as mandatory a beer-and-barbecue party.

"He definitely got the message across," offensive tackle Dave Widell said of Monday's fiery speech.

Ailing Bucks exit playoffs; Pistons await Bulls, Knicks

MILWAUKEE (AP) - For the Detroit Pistons, it's a time for waiting. For the Milwaukee Bucks, it's a time for healing.

"All I'm going to do now is sit back, relax and enjoy the time off and not think about anybody," Isiah Thomas said Monday night after his 17 points, 13 assists and 10 rebounds helped the Pistons eliminate the Bucks from the Eastern Conference semifinals with a 96-94 victory, completing a four-game sweep.

"I think that the key to this series was the fact that we defended well. And in the last part of the second game, our offense finally kicked in," Thomas said after the Pistons overcame a 21-point second-quarter deficit, then hung on in the final minute.

The Pistons, who've won all seven playoff games, will play the winner of the other Eastern Conference semifinal between Chicago and New York as Detroit aims for a return trip to the NBA championship series. Chicago can advance with a victory in New York tonight.

"Detroit has a good chance to win the title as do the (Los Angeles) Lakers," said Ricky Pierce, one of the few Bucks still standing after an untimely rash of injuries. "But in the playoffs, you never know."

Meanwhile, the Bucks can only hope their injured players get well.

The Bucks, already without starting forwards Larry Krystkowiak and Terry Cummings, backup center Paul Mokeski and swingman Paul Pressey, activated rookie Mark Davis before the game to meet the NBA playoff minimum of nine players.

But when Rickey Green couldn't dress because of a hip pointer, the Bucks had to get permission from Commissioner David Stern to go with eight players.

And eight was not enough, even though Fred Roberts scored a career-high 33 points in the absence of Cummings, sidelined with a bad ankle, and Krystkowiak, who faces knee surgery after being injured in Game 3.

But while the Bucks were short of personnel, they weren't pushovers.

"They were outmanned, but they came out on fire," Pistons coach Chuck Daly said.

The Pistons, down by 21 with 7:33 left in the first half after a 26-6 spree by the Bucks, battled back. They used a 13-2 run featuring three straight 3-pointers to whittle the deficit to 10 by the half.

Led by Thomas, Joe Dumars and Bill Laimbeer, they opened the second half with a 25-9 tear and outscored Milwaukee 32-17 to build a five-point lead they never lost.

Dumars led the Pistons with 22 points and Laimbeer had 17, but the Pistons' most important play was made by Thomas with 22 seconds to go when he grabbed a long rebound on a missed 3-pointer from Laimbeer. Thomas was fouled and made one of two free throws with eight seconds left, giving the Pistons a 96-93 lead.

Pierce, who had 16 of his 21 points in the first half, was fouled with two seconds left. He made one free throw, but his intentionally missed second shot bounced into the backcourt as time expired.

"We were a long rebound away from winning the game," said Bucks coach Del Harris.

Gaston takes over for Jays but he won't be there long

TORONTO (AP) - The fourth black manager in major league history may not have his job for long.

Hours after firing Jimmy Williams and naming Cito Gaston as his temporary replacement Monday, Toronto general manager Pat Gillick all but dismissed Gaston's chances of keeping the job on a permanent basis.

"We're not going to choose anyone from this coaching staff," Gillick said. "We don't feel it's an easy transition to make from coach to manager on our ballclub."

Gaston made a successful transition from batting coach to manager Monday night, guiding the Blue Jays to a 5-3 victory over Cleveland. But Gillick said earlier there was a 99 percent chance Gaston wouldn't even be considered for the permanent post, which will be filled within 10 days.

"We think one of the problems was with Jimmy making the transition from the coaching staff. That's why we would prefer someone with managerial experience," Gillick said.

"We feel it was a pitfall and we don't want to make the same mistake."

And what if the Blue Jays win seven or eight in a row under Gaston? Would the team feel obligated to give him the job, as Michigan did for fill-in coach Steve Fisher after he led the Wolverines to the NCAA basketball championship?

"We'd have to evaluate that, but we're still going to proceed," Gillick said.

Among those said to be in the running are former New York Yankees manager Lou Piniella and Bob Bailor, manager of Toronto's top farm team and a former Blue Jays player.

"We are looking for someone who can work with the modern-day player, someone with the ability to communicate as well as motivate," Gillick said.

Gaston, 45, joins Frank Robinson, Larry Doby and Maury Wills as the only blacks to manage in the major leagues. Gaston played 10 years in the majors with San Diego, Pittsburgh and Atlanta, where he roomed with home-run king Hank Aaron. His best season was 1970, when he batted .318 with 29 homers and 93 RBIs for the Padres.

"Cito is a talented man," Gillick said. "He's been around baseball for a long time and he has respect for the players and I think they have respect for him." Gaston, the Blue Jays' batting coach since 1982, said he wasn't bothered by his temporary title.

Oil-injured otters returned to Prince William Sound

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Seven otters pulled from oily Prince William Sound nearly two months ago have been returned to the waterway tagged with radar clips for monitoring.

The otter release came as commercial fishermen opened the halibut season Monday and a day before today's start of hearings into the nation's worst oil spill.

The tanker Exxon Valdez ran aground March 24 on a charted reef 25 miles south of Valdez. It leaked nearly 11 million gallons of oil, polluting hundreds of miles of shoreline and killing countless birds, fish and marine mammals.

The four male and three female otters were freed Monday into Simpson Bay, about 25 miles northwest of Cordova.

"That's something very measurable," said Coast Guard Vice Adm. Clyde Robbins, the federal cleanup coordinator. "Everybody can see that and understand that, and that's why I like it."

The first otter was released at the shore of a shale- and shell-covered beach. She waddled into the water, turned around and lifted a paw as if to wave at the 30 onlookers, who cheered at the sight.

The animals had been undergoing treatment at an Exxon-funded rehabilitation center in Valdez where 45 other otters remain under observation.

"It's the happiest day for the otter rescue center," Director Randall Davis said.

Simpson Bay was chosen because it was untouched by oil, has a stable food source and has a large otter population, Davis said.

Despite the radar, tracking won't be easy, biologist Chuck Monnett said. The signals can be picked up only while the flippers are out of the water, but wildlife watchers hope the flippers' movement during swimming will provide an adequate signal.

"This will be an excellent opportunity to learn more about the animals' behavior once they are returned to the wild," biologist Gary Sonnevill said.

The seven otters were selected because they appeared fully rehabilitated. "Blood samples appear normal, and the otters' fur once again will fully insulate the animals," Davis said.

The first 24-hour halibut season of the spring opened with Coast Guard pilots guiding fishermen away from oil.

"Very few areas where halibut fishing takes place had any free floating oil and it looks good," Coast Guard Cmdr. Mike Donohoe said.

State and federal inspectors will check the catch to ensure no tainted fish wind up on anyone's table, said Bob Trumble, a biologist with the International Pacific Halibut Commission in Seattle.

The number of halibut fishing periods set by the commission depends on how many fish are caught; the yearly quota could be caught in just three openers. More than 60 million pounds of the large, flounder-like fish were caught off Alaska last year and sold for $74.5 million.

Because of the pollution, the state earlier canceled or postponed herring, black cod and shrimp harvests in the sound, and closed some herring fishing grounds.

Mild weather helped more than 125 workers finish cleaning up Green Island in time for the sea lion calving season there.

Monday was the deadline for Exxon to clean oil from rookeries on the northwest corner of the island.

"It looks a lot better than last week," Robbins said after viewing the area, which was cleaned with peat moss and absorbent pads.

"I'm very pleased with the peat moss," Robbins said. "It absorbs the oil that's under the rocks. It washes off and is biodegradable."

In Anchorage, officials gathered for a week of hearings by the National Transportation Safety Board.

Crewmembers of the Exxon Valdez were the first scheduled to testify before a panel that includes representatives from the NTSB, the state, Exxon, Coast Guard and Alyeska Pipeline Service Co., a consortium of oil companies that runs the 800-mile trans-Alaska oil pipeline.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Recently my doctor gave me a shot of cortisone in each knee for arthritis. It helped but now I have hair growing on my body. My doctor says the two are not related, but I want a second opinion.

DEAR READER: Then by all means obtain one from another physician who can examine you.

Cortisone, when injected into a joint, reduces inflammation and does not have appreciable effects on the body as a whole. In such small doses, it will not promote hair growth.

On the other hand, large doses of cortisone taken internally may produce a growth of fine hair, especially on the face.

I'm afraid you will have to find another reason for your troublesome problem.

To provide you with more information on arthritis, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Understanding Osteoarthritis." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 3-year-old grandson has started toilet training. If I put him on the toilet he will accomplish elimination. The problem is, he refuses to tell me when he has to go.

Where as parents and grandparents are we failing in this communication?

DEAR READER: Views on toilet training have changed in the past few years. Experts are now no longer enamored with early training; it often causes more problems than it solves. I doubt that your grandson is being failed by you or his parents.

More likely, he is simply not mature enough to be able to identify and verbalize his need to eliminate. You can encourage him to have a bowel movement on the toilet, but don't make a big deal out of it. When he understands that this is acceptable behavior and he becomes tired of soiling himself, he will train himself.

Insisting that a 3-year-old "perform" in the bathroom is premature. In a few months, he will do fine. And he'll be a much happier child if the adults in his family will lighten up a bit in their demands.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm concerned about the electricity in my body. When I remove my panty hose, they practically do a cha cha when I try to put them on my chair. Now that my blood pressure is extremely high (I'm on Minipress), I'm wondering if too much electricity could be the culprit.

DEAR READER: Static electricity is harmless. It is the build-up (and discharge) of electrical charges on objects within our environment.

For example, when you walk on a rug and then touch a metal object, you may experience an unpleasant spark; this is the discharge of static electricity that formed from the friction between your shoes and the rug, and then jumped to a grounded object.

In dry weather, the friction of clothing-fabric will tend to cause garments to cling or to wrinkle. Try a humidifier in winter if this bothers you.

CRMWD agenda outlined

SPRING — Consideration of additional steps to enhance and protect water quality will head the agenda for Colorado River and Municipal Water District directors when they meet at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

The Long Range Planning Committee will meet at 10:30 a.m. on the same date for reports which may result in recommendations to the board. Also, the Personnel Committee will meet in the morning to consider bringing the policy statement in conformity to federal requirements.

Several supplemental appropriation are anticipated. One will add $45,391 to the weather modification program of the past two years. The district has suspended the 1989 program after 18 consecutive years but the board will be asked to petition the U. S. Congress for funds for a scientific evaluation of weather modifications.

An additional $14,674 will be asked for the rising of the 1,500 ft. of the 36-supply line across the Buzzard and Sulphur Draw arms of Natural Dam Lake, which has had its maximum non release level raised nine feet. Had the line not been raised, it would have been subject to inundation. Cost of the project was $239,674.

Directors also will consider two water sales contracts for 42,000 gallons of non-potable water per day for secondary recovery projects. Action is possible on a waste-water disposal contract with Fina Oil & Company at Big Spring.

President Bush different from candidate Bush on crime issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Bush outlined his anti-crime package in a setting reminiscent of his presidential campaign, but the president sounded very different from the candidate on gun control and he never mentioned prison furloughs.

Once again, when confronted with the realities and conflicting pressures of governing, Bush opted for compromise.

His speech Monday from the steps of the U.S. Capitol included echoes from his campaign, including his call for greater use of the death penalty, tougher sentencing and increased prison construction.

But on the touchy question of gun control, he sounded far different.

His calls for a ban on large-capacity cartridge magazines and for import restrictions on assault-style weapons were welcomed by gun control advocates. But while taking that action, the president declined to move against assault-style rifles manufactured domestically.

A month ago, White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater suggested — and it was nothing more than a suggestion — that a ban on domestically manufactured assault-style rifles could be part of the Bush crime package.

That change was never requested.

What Bush did request was a prohibition on manufacture and sale of magazines that carry more than 15 cartridges, a position that puts him on the same side as Democratic Sen. Howard Metzenbaum of Ohio.

But Metzenbaum also wants to ban sales of new assault-style weapons made in the United States. The Ohio senator argues that limiting imports only deals with about 25 percent of the weapons.

The day that Bush delivered his speech, the National Rifle Association ran a full-page ad that attacked Metzenbaum's bill.

"Do you honestly believe that banning some, or even all, semiautos will stop drug dealers, street gangs or any violent criminals from getting any gun illegally?" asked the NRA ad.

Some anti-crime proposals such as mandatory gun-related sentencing have a wide range of support.

The NRA ad suggested alternatives that were identical to some of Bush's key proposals, including barring plea bargaining for any felony committed with a gun, mandatory sentencing for crimes committed with a gun, and increased prison construction.

Metzenbaum also supports a 10-year mandatory sentence and more money for new prisons.

During the campaign, Bush took a no-compromise position on gun control.

Temporary census positions are now available

The U. S. Census Bureau has a number of temporary jobs open during the spring and summer of 1989 in some counties in Texas to help compile a master address list for use during the 1990 national census.

Temporary census workers usually will work two to eight weeks and be paid $5.50 an hour plus auto mileage where appropriate. Applicants for the jobs must be 18 years old or over, a U. S. citizen, and take a written test.

The work involves driving or walking to prepare a list of addresses of each dwelling unit in designated areas of the county.

Persons interested in applying for the temporary census jobs should apply in person at the Texas Employment Commission office, 2501 B College Avenue, Snyder.

Scare-owls don't phase NYC pigeons

NEW YORK (AP) — Down at the landmark Tweed Courthouse, city officials posted plastic owls to try to scare away the perill-dropping pigeons. But it isn't working.

"The owls are turning into pussycats," said Ed Barbini, a spokesman for the General Services Department.

The exterior of the marble building behind City Hall is in the throes of renovation. In December, officials strung up a dozen 18-inch-high plastic owls, hoping they would keep away the pigeons.

Austin update

Freeport exemption measure passed

AUSTIN (AP) — Parents would get help in keeping their children in school under a measure requiring school districts to develop parental involvement programs, says the sponsor of the bill.

The House on Monday tentatively approved a bill by Rep. Bill Arnold, D-Grand Prairie, that would require school districts to develop such programs.

But several representatives complained the program was another example of the state trying to control local schools.

"I'm concerned we're sending more responsibility back without money," said Rep. Talmadge Heflin, R-Houston.

Arnold, however, said, "We're saying it's an important enough issue to be incorporated in all the schools."

He also said the cost was insignificant compared with gains the program is expected to make in preventing dropouts. "We're not talking about big bucks," he said.

Under programs established by the measure — estimated to cost the state $74,000 the first year and $71,718 in succeeding years — parents would learn to teach other parents skills to help their children develop.

Labor commissioner resigns

AUSTIN (AP) — Caught up in a controversy over his reappointment, Commissioner Richard Morgan of the Texas Department of Labor and Standards has withdrawn his name as a nominee for that job.

Morgan on Monday submitted a letter of resignation to Gov. Bill Clements, who then asked the Senate to return the appointment.

Reggie Bashur, press secretary to the governor, said the resignation, effective at the close of business Monday, was accepted with regret.

Morgan, commissioner for 26 months, said in his letter he had learned that the confirmation controversy was "coloring" state budget decisions affecting the department, which regulates the mobile home industry, in addition to several smaller industries.

He said the controversy had diverted much of his attention from his job for three months, and certain initiatives were falling behind schedule.

Chamber lists new members

Kenneth Brumbelow. The membership drive report was given during the regular May meeting of the chamber.

In addition, chamber directors discussed at length the purchase of a computer system for the chamber operation.

The concept was proposed by director Joe Sentell, who made the motion that the board "investigate" the options associated with adding such an office system.

Exact figures for the possible purchase are items still to be determined. A range of from $2,000 to up to $10,000 was mentioned.

In other reports, the board was informed that:

—A concert by the Maines Brothers is scheduled here June 10, the first offering under a new plan of the chamber's Cultural Affairs Committee to hold such events on a quarterly basis. Telephone ticket sales for the event are scheduled to begin soon.

—The Lawn and Garden Show held April 29 here will be repeated next spring, but at a date earlier in the year to coincide more closely with the start of planting preparations. Next year's show will be scheduled some time in March.

—A contract is being prepared by the city which would transfer ownership of the billboard signs advertising Snyder to the chamber. To finance an annual repainting of the signs, the chamber will sell advertising space at the bottom of the signs which will be offered to local businesses.

—Plaques will be handed out June 19 to this year's graduates of the Scurry County leadership class.

—This year's July 4th celebration will essentially be a "one day" event with most activities occurring on Tuesday the 4th. On the evening of July 3, the arts and crafts displays will be open and food booth participants will be given the option of opening that evening also.

—Chamber President Herbie Figueredo has made tentative plans for a chamber publication which would be printed every other week and would contain news regarding chamber activities. As outlined, the publication would be inserted in the Snyder Daily News as well as area newspapers. The name proposed by Figueredo was "Scene."

Directors attending the meeting included Figueredo, who presided, Joe Coronado, Eddie Williams, Gary Landes, Joe Sentell, Bill Davies, Cindy Banta and Fran Farmer.

Absent were Elizabeth Potts, M.L. Duke, Billy Huddleston and Harry Krennek.

SCHOLARSHIPS — Snyder Junior High School students Drew Wilson, left, Lindsey Northcott, Stephanie Fambro and Scott Bissett gave West Texas State Bank president Bill Parker a flag that was flown over the national Capitol on April 17 in appreciation for the bank's contributions of scholarships for them to visit Washington and New York City June 12 through 17. It's all part of a annual program which local students can participate in each school year. (SDN Staff Photo) issued during the morning for Nacogdoches, Panola and Shelby counties. There were no immediate reports of damage.

Flash flood warnings were also in effect in Delta and Lamar Counties.

A severe thunderstorm watch was in effect across North Texas until noon Tuesday as forecasters warned of heavy rainfall, damaging hail, high winds and dangerous lightning as the storm moved eastward across North Texas.

The thunderstorms, most of them reaching severe levels, developed during the night and early Tuesday along a stationary front that stretched across the state from Lubbock eastward to near Lufkin.

Forecasts called for partly to mostly cloudy skies statewide through Wednesday with a chance of scattered thunderstorms, some possibly severe.

Lows tonight will be in the 50s in the Panhandle and in the 60s and 70s over the rest of the state.

Highs Wednesday will be mostly in the 80s, ranging from the 70s in the Panhandle and in areas of heavy thunderstorms to the 90s in inland areas of South Texas.

Skies were clear early today in extreme West Texas and partly to mostly cloudy over the rest of the state.

Early morning temperatures were in the 50s in the Panhandle, the 60s over the rest of West Texas and in the 70s over the rest of the state. Extremes ranged from 58 at Amarillo to 78 at Brownsville.

On Aug. 25, 1944, Allied forces liberated Paris, ending four years of German occupation. The surrender of Maj. Gen. Dietrich von Choltitz, who had defied Adolf Hitler's orders to level the French capital rather than give it up, set off wild celebrations in the streets.

TORNADO Safety Rules

When a tornado approaches--your immediate action may mean life or death.

Seek inside shelter, preferably in a tornado cellar, underground excavation, or a steel framed or reinforced concrete building of substantial construction. Stay away from windows!

In Cities or Towns

In office buildings--stand in an interior hallway on a lower floor, preferably in the basement.

In factories--on receiving a tornado warning, post a lookout. Workers should move quickly to the section of the plant offering the greatest protection in accordance with advance plans.

In homes and small buildings--go to the basement or to an interior part of the lowest level (a closet, a bathroom, or an interior hall). Get under something sturdy.

Mobile homes are particularly vulnerable to overturning during strong winds. Trailer parks should have a community shelter. Appoint a community leader responsible for constant radio monitoring during threatening weather or during watch periods. Leave mobile homes or vehicles and go to a substantial structure. If there is no shelter nearby, lie flat in the nearest ditch, ravine, or culvert with your hands shielding your head.

In Schools

Whenever possible, go to an interior hallway on the lowest floor. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums or other structures with wide, free-span roofs.

If a building is not of reinforced construction, go quickly to a nearby reinforced building, or to a ravine or open ditch and lie flat.

Keep Listening

Your radio and television stations will broadcast the latest tornado advisory information. Call the Weather Service only to report a tornado.

REMEMBER: Tornado watch means tornadoes are expected to develop. Tornado warning means a tornado has actually been sighted.
