Wright case reaches its critical point

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House ethics committee is deciding whether to dismiss charges against House Speaker Jim Wright in a volatile atmosphere where anything less than a win for the speaker could doom his career.

Students create magazine

For the second year in a row, Snyder High School students have created their own literary magazine, a 40-page work entitled "Impact."

The publication features 51 poems, essays and short stories illustrated with original art work and photography—all student generated.

In addition to the copy and feature art, the page layout and design was completed by students as well.

The works used in Impact were chosen by a nine-member student selection committee which screened some 120 items submitted, according to faculty adviser for the publication, Drew Bullard, English teacher at the high school.

The result is a mix to include student's observations on such serious subjects as death, racism, alcoholism and drug use. Other material features lighter fare such as pet hamsters, the want to be speaker." Wright has discussed such a possibility before, but his latest comments came with his situation at an especially critical point. Pressure is mounting on his Democratic colleagues, who are torn between loyalty to the speaker and concern that his political troubles may be unresolvable.

"The political pressure is so intense that until this matter is resolved the House of Representatives is paralyzed," said Rep. Bill Richardson, D-N.M.

The ethics panel, in a rare televised session, heard arguments Tuesday from lawyers representing the speaker and from the team of investigators whose report led to 69 allegations that Wright violated House rules.

It was meeting today in closed session on Wright's motion to dismiss, on legal grounds, the two most serious groups of allegations against him: that he used bulk sales of his book repeatedly to evade rules limiting outside income, and that he improperly took gifts from a developer friend who had a direct interest in legislation.

The speaker's lawyer, Stephen Susman, argued that the committee was stretching House rules in charging the speaker. Special outside counsel Richard J. Phelan countered that ethics should not be judged on narrow legalisms.

Susman said today on ABC's "Good Morning America" he believes Wright can prevail "if he gets his day in court, if he can get on the witness stand and put Mrs. Wright on the witness stand to testify what she did to earn her keep.

"Whether he's politically a dead man or not I don't know," Susman said.

Q — Will the community-wide prayer breakfast started here last July 4 be held again?

A — Yes. Planning for the event is currently underway. It is again scheduled the morning of July 4 in the Scurry County Coliseum.

In Brief

Hartland wins

HOUSTON (AP) — Republican Charlie Hartland edged out Democrat Kevin Bailey to win a vacant District 140 Texas House seat in a special election runoff.

Hartland won Tuesday's race by capturing 2,107 votes, or 50.64 percent, to Bailey's 2,054 votes, or 49.36 percent, in 18 precincts.

The House seat representing north Houston was vacated last month when Rep. Weldon Betts, a Democrat, died of lung cancer.

Hartland, 38, a homebuilder, took 45.6 percent of the vote to lead a field of five in a May 6 election.

Rain helps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rain has helped take the edge off persistent drought conditions in the central and southern Great Plains and has slowed field work in the eastern Corn Belt and the Delta region, say government crop watchers.

But despite the rain, the outlook for winter wheat in much of the plains continues to be poor. Harvest is under way in several states, including Texas and Oklahoma.

On Capitol Hill, lawmakers are putting together a 1989 version of last year's huge $3.9 billion drought aid package. Although no firm cost estimate has been tied to the current package, it would contain many of the financial aid features of last year's measure.

Jetliner lands

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Continental Airlines twin-engine plane with 103 passengers and crew members aboard made an emergency landing after an engine had to be shut down because of an oil pressure problem.

The McDonnell-Douglas MD-80 was able to taxi to a Cleveland Hopkins International Airport gate Tuesday under its own power, airport spokesman Mark Courtney said.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "If opportunity came disguised as temptation, one knock would be enough."

This spring, a high school senior filed suit against her prom date because she was stood up. This may create a whole new legal specialty.

We're surprised that some lass hasn't gone to court over mums. There seems to be an obvious discrimination in corsages. At homecoming, mums sell from $10 to $150—all depending on the

If your date happens to be economically deprived, then your mum may be more conservative. No wonder kids are turning to vices—a little mum is enough to make your face break out.

That, of course, is another possibility for litigation. A target of a teen suit could be chocolate bar makers and soft drink manufacturers. No where on the label are needed warnings that this product may cause pimples and other mind-warping situations.

And if your date picks you up in a pickup truck, that should be grounds for a suit. Everybody should be able to date in a vehicle with climatic air, a high-tech sound system and power seats.

And if you run out of gas—see Exxon. Everybody else is. Besides, you could have afforded more gas if the mum hadn't been so costly.

And don't forget about possible action against mom and dad. Nobody should have to wear the same dress twice, and it's ridiculous in this enlightened times to have a curfew. If you happen to have a fair complexion and deprived of the popular dark tan, it's mom and dad's fault.

Boys also should be able to go to court. Sometimes the girls use deceptive trade practices. She makes you think she wants to go out with you, and at the last minute, opts for a larger mum.

The only answer is to sue 'em.

Vehicle refinish shop has new business site

A Snyder business with a new approach to automotive renovation has a new location as The Detail Shop moves to 1912 College Ave.

Owned and operated by Pruitt and Dee Jones, the business specializes in "cleanup work" of older vehicles to include refinishing exterior paint jobs to recover "90 percent" of the vehicle's original shine.

Another service stressed with the approach of summer involves tinting window glass. By reducing the amount of sunlight, owners cutdown on glare, reduce interior heating and help avoid damaging the vehicle's interior.

Jones noted the "Sun-x" brand of tinting used has a five-year limited warranty guaranteed not to fade or change color.

The cost of window tinting begins at $65.

Other windshield work offered includes the repair of rock chips and cracks. Also, the Jones offer carpet shampooing throughout the vehicle, cleanups of dashes and engine cleaning.

To make the outside of the car, pickup or van shine again, they offer either compounding or a special cleanup method to remove oxidized paint.

Offered with this service, which ranges from $60 for automobiles to $75 for vans and suburbans, is a wash and a wax plus an engine cleaning, interior shampoo and detailing and underbody frame cleaning.

The wax protection is good for six months, Jones said, noting the Testing staffer will retire

Bobbie Box is retiring from her job as testing coordinator for the Snyder school district and her role as a "second appraiser" for career ladder selection.

The 55-year-old Robert Lee native came to Snyder schools as an elementary school counselor in 1974. In addition, she has served the past five years as the district's at-risk coordinator, identifying probable drop-outs and encouraging them to stay in school.

IRS employees protest cutbacks

AUSTIN (AP) — Internal Revenue Service employees are protesting $40 million in cuts in enforcement programs and personnel they say will result in the loss of $200 million to the federal treasury and the loss of jobs of 850 seasonal employees at Austin.

More than 70 IRS employees chanted "honest taxpayers lose, tax cheaters win" as they marched along a sidewalk in front of the Federal Building Tuesday.

Anita Greenberg, president of Chapter 247 of the National Treasury Employees Union, which represents 6,000 workers, said cutbacks at the Austin regional center alone will mean a $95 million loss in tax collections.

The IRS began the year with a $360 million deficit and imposed deep cutbacks to balance its budget.

The additional $40 million in cuts, which the union is asking Congress to offset with supplemental appropriations, were announced in May, Ms. Greenberg said.

"Certainly we care about the loss of jobs," Ms. Greenberg said. "But we have a tremendous responsibility — we are the people who fund the federal budget. There are tax cheats out there and they're robbing America blind."

Those furloughed at the Austin center include 850 seasonal workers, about 600 hired to process tax returns, and about 250 at the Austin Compliance Center to check returns for compliance, according to Bob Branson, public affairs specialist with the Austin District IRS Office.

More releases of seasonal workers are likely, Branson said. "We're getting to that time of year when we normally let them off," he said.

Linda Valentine, who said she was promoted three times in eight months and has received awards monthly since March, was among the 104 employees furloughed last week at the Compliance Center.

"At 9 a.m. Tuesday, I was named employee of the month. At 1 p.m. they told me I was furloughed," Ms. Valentine, an IRS employee for 2½ years, said.

Ms. Valentine's job was to review tax returns of taxpayers who under-reported their income by $10,000 or more.

"I was being promoted so many times, they promoted me right out the door," Ms. Valentine said.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been diagnosed with Raynaud's phenomenon. Is there anything I can do to stop my fingers from going from yellow/white to purple and my nose from becoming so red? I do have a thyroid problem but my doctor says there's no connection.

DEAR READER: Raynaud's phenomenon is a vascular disorder characterized by a triphasic (white, blue, red) alteration of the fingers or toes upon exposure to cold. The nose may be involved.

Initially, as arteries constrict, the fingers (or toes) blanch because of lack of blood. This may be associated with tingling or numbness. As the fingers warm up and the arteries dilate, oxygen-poor blood circulates through the tissue, causing a blue tinge. Finally, oxygen-rich blood follows, producing a red blush.

The danger period is the white phase, when inadequate nutrition reaches the fingers. Tissue damage can occur, causing small painful ulcers to form at the tips of the digits.

Raynaud's phenomenon may be idiopathic (cause unknown, as in Raynaud's disease) or can be secondary to other circulatory disturbances, such as scleroderma, lupus, drug reactions, obstructive vascular disease or hypothyroidism.

Patients with any type of Raynaud's phenomena are well-advised to keep their fingers and toes warm and to avoid substances, such as nicotine, that can aggravate arterial spasm. Biofeedback and hypnosis may help reduce arterial spasm due to emotional upset. Vasodilating drugs, such as prozasin and nifedipine, are often useful. Underlying diseases, such as hypothyroidism (underactive thyroid function) should be treated.

In your case, a thyroid disorder could be the basis for your problem. Ask your doctor for a referral to a vascular specialist who can assess your need for thyroid medication or a change in its dose. To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my recent report "Medical Specialists." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My daughter is 41. When she's rushed or under stress, her right ear turns fire red and is hot to the touch. This has been happening for several months. What could cause this?

DEAR READER: When people become emotionally upset, they may experience blushing or flushing of a part of the body. The ears are commonly involved in this reaction, which is harmless and requires no treatment.

Three file lawsuit against Amoco

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Three carpenters are suing Amoco Oil Co. Inc. and Amoco Corp. for $45 million claiming they were exposed to toxic chemicals while working at an Amoco-owned refinery in Texas City.

In the lawsuit filed Tuesday in state district court, Cliff C. Waddell Jr., Dana E. Harmon and Eddie M. Altum claim they were exposed to toxic chemicals in an Amoco residue hydrotreating unit.

The workers said they began to experience health problems — severe headaches, rashes, pulmonary and respiratory problems and vomiting — after working in the RHU units. The three were told by physicians to cease work and they were promptly fired, the lawsuit says.

Amoco, the lawsuit claims, breached its duty to make the workplace safe by failing to ensure the three would be informed about and protected from the toxic residuum within the RHU units.

The three workers say they have been injured for actual and special damages in the amount of $3 million each. Additionally, the three are requesting punitive damages not to exceed $12 million per plaintiff.

Amoco officials were not in their office late Tuesday afternoon and could not be reached for comment.

The units require periodic maintenance to remove any residue build up and to repair minor structural damage and while the units were undergoing maintenance and repair at Amoco's direction, the three men were hired to construct scaffolding within the RHU units, the lawsuit says.

'Copter searches for missing deers

GRAND PRAIRIE, Texas (AP) — It was a most unusual deer hunt held Tuesday in this Dallas suburb — one with a helicopter and no guns.

But it was the only way that officials from International Wildlife Park could figure to find their five missing deer, who escaped during the recent flooding that ravaged the drive-through wildlife park.

Terry Gonzalez said the park had received numerous reports of deer being sighted in nearby business developments.

"We secured the services of a helicopter, and they're searching for the deer this afternoon," Ms. Gonzalez said.

The wildlife park, which abuts the Trinity River, was flooded following several days of heavy rain late last week. Two fences were knocked down, and zoo officials had to stand guard to keep animals in those areas, including several rhinos and hippos, from escaping. Despite their efforts, several hoofed animals bolted away to freedom.

Searchers on Tuesday afternoon spotted several deer from the helicopter but were not able to get close enough to shoot them with a tranquilizer dart.

"We're still trying to determine our losses," Ms. Gonzalez said. "A number of animals died."

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) — A human guinea pig says she made friends with mice and learned some English during her 130 days in an underground cave to help researchers study the effects of isolation.

Stefania Follini of Ancona, Italy, smiled and waved at reporters and well-wishers as she emerged Tuesday afternoon from Lost Cave, ending an experiment that began on Jan. 13.

Would she do it again? "Sure," said the 27-year-old interior decorator, who volunteered for the experiment.

Miss Follini, who lost 17 pounds during her solitude and now weighs 90 pounds, appeared healthy and happy as she answered questions from reporters.

Although she had no contact with humans, except through computers, Miss Follini said she didn't feel lonely during the experiment and adopted two cave mice as pets. She named them Giuseppe and Nicoleta.

"There was some difficulty in communicating with the mice," she said through an interpreter. "But I was always right."

The experiment was designed to resemble interplanetary travel. The University of Ancona in Italy, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and several U.S. universities took part in the experiment.

Miss Follini's only contact with the outside world was through computer terminals linked between her 10-foot-square plastic-enclosed underground habitat and the researchers' house trailer above the cave.

She had no clocks, her menstrual cycle stopped, and she lost track of how many days had passed. When she was told Monday the experiment was almost over, she thought she had been in the cave about 80 days. She tended to sleep about 10 hours and stay awake 20 to 25 hours.

Three video cameras and microphones monitored Miss

Follini constantly. Only the bathroom was out of sight of cameras. She said she didn't mind the lack of privacy.

"I rarely thought about it," she said. "Sometimes I felt it was a strong presence, but generally I was not bothered by that."

When Miss Follini climbed out of the cave into the midday sun, she appeared disoriented for a few seconds. But she quickly donned sunglasses handed to her, then grinned and waved at the 60 onlookers.

At the news conference, she said she thinks her isolation will make her more thoughtful, outgoing and decisive. And she said her outlook has improved.

"I consider myself more important," she said. "I love myself more and consequently I can love people and the world more."

Scientists plan to examine her intensively during the next few months to find out if her isolation affected her mentally and physically.

For example, project coordinator Maurizio Montalbini — who spent 210 days in a cave two years ago — believes the isolation will help Miss Follini's concentration. A NASA-affiliated research team at the University of Texas Medical School in Houston plans to test that Monday by monitoring Miss Follini's brain waves while she solves computer-generated problems.

Other scientists will be drawing blood and checking her immune system, bones, muscles and coordination. Some believe her immune system was suppressed, her bones lost calcium and her muscles weakened.

But Montalbini said he thinks Miss Follini might surprise researchers. He said she kept her strength and flexibility by doing calisthenics and judo and maintained her noise by keeping busy by reading and decorating her living area.

The researchers chose Lost Cave because it maintains a constant climate of 74 degrees and 99 percent humidity and is relatively close to Houston, home to NASA and many researchers.

A dream of a hand

By James Jacoby

Eddie Kantar is a bridge-expert writer with a sense of humor. His latest book, "The Best of Eddie Kantar," is a collection of amusing stories from his more than 35 years of competition. It is available from Granovetter Books, 18 Village View Bluff, Ballston Lake, NY 12019, at $13.95 postpaid.

Eddie was South in today's deal, playing rubber bridge. His overly exuberant partner placed him in seven spades, even though he knew his side was missing a king. But Eddie figured out a way to make the slam. He won the ace of clubs, played A-K and ruffed a heart. Did you notice that the Q-J-10 fell? Then he played ace and a spade to the queen. He now cashed the nine of hearts. West was void but also was out of trumps. Now Eddie came back to his hand with a spade and led out his last trump. West was down to the queen of clubs and J-9-8-7 of diamonds. What would you have him discard? The grand slam was made, with more than a little bit of luck.

Sorry, but it's not really true. In his book Eddie admits that the combination of cards needed to make seven wasn't there. If he reads this column, he'll have the fun of seeing the contract made, even if only in our dreams.

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Pharos Books. © 1989, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

Inmate executed for rape-slaying in 1981

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A Houston electrician was executed early today for participating in the rape and strangulation of a woman who was abducted after her car broke down on a freeway on New Year's Day 1981.

Stephen McCoy, 40, was pronounced dead at 12:25 a.m., seven minutes after a lethal mixture of drugs was inserted into his arms.

He had no final statement, although he smiled briefly to four friends he invited to the execution. He coughed and his chest heaved five times as the drugs began to take effect, then uttered two low and long groans before he stopped breathing.

McCoy lost a final appeal late Tuesday when the U.S. Supreme Court voted 5-4 to reject a request for a stay. The court's action was unusual since the appeal was McCoy's first to reach the high court and it has been routine for initial appeals to merit at least one review.

"The significance of this is the courts very clearly are indicating impatience with dilatory tactics within the process and they intend to expedite the process," said Attorney General Jim Mattox, who witnessed the execution.

McCoy was convicted in the slaying of Cynthia Johnson, 18, of Conroe, who was abducted by McCoy and two other men from her car which had broken down on a Houston freeway as she was returning home from a New Year's Eve party.

According to trial testimony, McCoy raped the woman and then held her legs down while two other men, James Paster and Gary LeBlanc, strangled her with an electrical cord. Testimony also showed Paster hammered a nail up the woman's nostril to make certain she was dead.

Miss Johnson would have turned 27 on Monday.

Paster, awaiting death for another slaying, received a life sentence for the Johnson killing. Last month he was caught with another death row inmate in an unsuccessful escape attempt. LeBlanc, who testified for the state, received a 35-year term.

"The death penalty was made for people like Stephen Albert McCoy to protect society from people like him and from people like James Paster," George Lambright, who prosecuted the case, said. "The fact that Paster went that extra effort to go ahead to drive a nail up her nose — although McCoy didn't do that, in my opinion, it typifies the defendants we're involved with. It was the coldbloodedness of the acts."

"If executed, justice will have been served," Miss Johnson's parents, who declined to be interviewed, said through Lambright.

"There was no remorse, no drugs, no alcohol, no real explanation for the violence except they were just mean," Mattox said.

McCoy insisted he was in another room when the woman was slain.

McCoy was in prison serving five years for burglary when he was charged with the Johnson slaying. McCoy, Paster and LeBlanc also were linked to a 1980 murder-for-hire in Houston and the rape and stabbing of a woman.

"It really ain't the question of dying," McCoy said. "We're all going to do that some day. I'm right with the man upstairs. I know this. He knows I'm innocent. It's not that that bothers me about dying. It's to die for something I didn't do and to look like a sicko doing it."

Even as Nolan Ryan beat the Kansas City Royals, Bo Jackson started to get even.

Ryan improved his record against Kansas City to 22-11 as Texas took a 10-0 lead in the fourth inning and hung on for a 10-8 victory over the Royals Tuesday night.

But the lasting memory for the fans at Arlington Stadium will be Jackson's 461-foot, three-run homer in the fifth.

"I wasn't throwing very well," said Ryan, 5-2, who struck out six to increase his major league-leading total to 79. "I lost the groove and never recovered."

Luis Aquino, 3-1, allowed six hits and six runs in 1 2/3 innings.

Julio Franco drove in three runs and Ruben Sierra had three hits for Texas.

Detroit wins, evens series 1-1

AUBURN HILLS, Mich. (AP) - The Detroit Pistons weren't about to get caught with their guards down twice.

Detroit's backcourt trio of Isaiah Thomas, Joe Dumars and Vinnie Johnson, who scored only 27 points on 11-for-45 shooting in the first game, combined for 69 points in Game 2 of the Eastern Conference finals as Detroit beat the Chicago Bulls 100-91.

The win evened the best-of-7 series at 1-1.

"Guards are our strength," center Bill Laimbeer said. "When they score big, we usually win the game. Our coach says, 'Run faster, jump higher, shoot straighter and you'll win.' Tonight, they just hit their shots, it's that simple."

The series now shifts to Chicago for Games 3 and 4 Saturday and Monday - and the Lakers find defense to open gap in series

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) - The Los Angeles Lakers usually win with their high-powered offense. But teams don't win back-to-back NBA titles by being one-dimensional.

The Lakers showed what they can do on defense Tuesday night, holding Phoenix to 14 field goals in 43 attempts during the second half of a 101-95 victory over the Suns.

The win gave Los Angeles a 2-0 lead in the Western Conference finals and was the ninth in as many playoff games for the two-time defending NBA champions, equaling the playoff record for consecutive victories they set seven years ago.

The Lakers went ahead for good by outscoring the Suns 30-12 over a span of 12:20 in the second half, turning a 68-60 deficit into a 90-80 lead with 4:35 remaining.

"James Worthy and the double-team was the difference in this game," Lakers coach Pat Riley said. "We dug it out. It was a case of staying with the defense, playing hard. They missed a lot of shots but a lot were contested."

Worthy scored 12 of his 19 points in the fourth quarter, but Riley was referring to the defensive job Worthy did on the Suns' Tom Chambers, who was just 8-for-23 from the floor.

"You have to give their defense the credit," Phoenix coach Cotton Fitzsimmons said. "We shot poorly, but they deserve the credit for a lot of our turnovers."

The series shifts to Phoenix for Games 3 and 4 Friday night and Sunday afternoon.

Byron Scott led the Lakers with 30 points. Magic Johnson had 22 points, 14 assists and nine rebounds and Orlando Woolridge came off the bench to get 10 points, five rebounds and three blocked shots for Los Angeles.

"Woolridge gave us life when we were struggling," Riley said. "Without him, we don't win."

Kevin Johnson led Phoenix with 22 points and 10 assists, but also had 10 turnovers and scored only four points in the second half. Chambers had 21 points and 10 rebounds and Dan Majerle and Jeff Hornacek each had 16 points.

Improvement highlights 1989 season for SHS baseball team

Coach Albert Lewis said that although he was naturally disappointed his Tiger baseball team did not make the playoffs, he is encouraged by the improvement the players made over the 1989 season.

Snyder wrapped up its latest campaign with an 18-9 record and a tri-District 4-4A championship, along with Andrews and Fort Stockton. Snyder was eliminated from playoff contention with a post-season loss to Andrews.

"If you sit down and analyze it we had a good season, particularly from where we were last (the previous) season," said Lewis, who picked up his 250th career win along the way. "We cut down on a lot of mistakes and played super defense for the most part. We tried to improve and I felt like we did."

Lewis said support from the community, school and others helped the team.

"This year our practice facility was improved, the cheerleaders and the community really supported us and motivated us to do better. We had so many people pushing us and it was great," he said. "Coach (Mike) Montgomery, our JV and freshman coach, was a great help and it was a major benefit to have Roland (Herrera) back with us. He is a great asset."

Snyder will graduate players in positions most baseball coaches feel are vital to a team's success - pitcher, catcher, and short stop. All-district catcher and team MVP Tracy Odom will graduate, as will all-loop pitchers Lee Fletcher and Kevin Dollins. Snyder will also lose honorable mention all-district short stop Bert Otto and outfielders Mark Kuss and Israel Hinojos, and utility men Carl McClurg and Simon Gutierrez.

Eligible to return will be all-district players Randy Morris at third base and Jason West at second base, along with first baseman Toby Goodwin and outfielders Bert Merritt, Bart Morton, Tommy Lane and Lee Hamilton - most of whom saw considerable playing time. Lane was an honorable mention all-district choice.

Others returning include Les Rinehart, John Wright, Gilbert Hernandez and Jamey Morton. Another player who saw action and could return is Willie Garcia, who was the victim of a mid-season injury, and Prop 72.

"We've got to come up with people to fill those positions (where players are graduating) and find some infield depth," said Lewis of next season. "Right now we seem to be in pretty good shape in the outfield."

Lewis said the Tigers have some "real good arms" in pitching prospects Lane, Bart Morton, left hander Jamey Morton, Hernandez, Daniel Espinosa and Garcia.

Hamilton was the squad's back-up catcher this season and also played some short stop when Otto was on the mound. He will get an opportunity to start at one of those positions next season. Other potential catchers include Rinehart, and Blair Williams, who will move up off the junior varsity. Hernandez is another candidate at short stop.

"We'll just see what happens, but there is a lot of reason to be optimistic for next season," said Lewis. "We're going to find the guys who are willing to work hard and produce and we know we've got some."

Central Texas college bill is approved by state senators

AUSTIN (AP) — An overnight change of heart, or mind, resulted in the Senate erasing a key restriction on a bill that would create Central Texas University at Killeen in September 1994.

The bill to create the four-year university in place of two two-year institutions now located at Killeen was passed to the governor, 23-8.

But first the Senate on Tuesday stripped an amendment that would have required approval of the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board to establish the new school.

The amendment had been placed on the bill Monday by Sen. Kent Caperton, D-Bryan, on a 16-13 vote. Tuesday, the Senate through a series of motions voted again on the amendment, and Caperton got only 10 votes, with the amendment failing 10-20.

"I suspect each of you had visits yesterday, and each of you changed your vote because of somebody on the other side," Caperton said.

Taking the amendment off, Caperton said, means that "log rolling has reappeared and the old days are back, and you flex your muscles and you create a campus wherever you've got the strength politically."

The House sponsor of the bill is Rep. Stan Schlueter, chairman of the House Calendars Committee, which controls the flow of all legislation — including Senate bills — to the House. Caperton was asked if Schlueter's powerful position was the reason for the Senate vote change.

"Mr. Schlueter is obviously a very powerful and influential member. I'm not sure if it is as much the fact that he's chairman of calendars as his general stature in the Legislature," Caperton said.

Caperton said he would not say that the Senate had been "bullied," but he added, "I had it reported to me that he (Schlueter) was plenty hot and that he had visited" with some senators.

Schlueter, D-Killeen, said, "I don't want to talk about the allegations. I'm tired of talking about those ... I'm real happy" about the college bill passing.

He said he had not threatened to hold up Senate bills until the amendment was removed. "It's a little tough when every time I pass a bill I'm accused of using strong-arm tactics when I haven't have," he said.

Caperton said he hoped Gov. Bill Clements "will look very clearly, closely at this bill, and will veto it."

The Senate also approved a bill that would create a state authority to grant a franchise for a private high-speed rail facility. The bill was sent to the House 28-3.

Senators returned another Schlueter bill, with Senate amendments, to the House, 31-0 vote. The bill would create a $100 million state fund to pay for cleaning up water pollution caused by storage tanks holding gasoline and other refined petroleum products.

The fund would be financed primarily through a fee on petroleum-product tankers, as collected by the wholesaler, of about one-half cent per gallon of gas.

Opposition to workers' comp changes appears to be 'dead'

AUSTIN (AP) — Employers would have the option of purchasing an insurance policy to replace workers' compensation insurance under a bill given tentative Senate approval. But chances of final passage of the legislation appeared dim.

Sen. Bill Ratliff, R-Mount Pleasant, said Tuesday his proposal would reduce workers' comp premiums, while protecting employees by enticing employers without coverage to purchase a private policy.

"All I'm trying to do is give them (businesses) a choice," Ratliff said.

But the bill's opponents charged it would undermine the state workers' comp system and leave seriously injured workers without hope of recovering adequate compensation for permanent disabilities.

"It sounds good on the surface," Sen. Chet Edwards, D-Duncanville, said, but told Ratliff, "I think you will jeopardize the whole system."

Several amendments by Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, were added to the bill against Ratliff's wishes before the measure gained tentative approval on a voice vote.

Parker then led the charge against the bill. On a critical roll call when 24 votes were needed, the bill was swapped 14-15.

One Parker amendment would require employers who do not carry workers' comp insurance to purchase insurance under Ratliff's plan.

Parker said the amendment was aimed "at that employer out there who doesn't give a twit for the workers of this state."

Texas, New Jersey and South

Carolina are the only states that do not require employers to carry workers' comp insurance. The Industrial Accident Board estimates there about 100,000 businesses in Texas without workers' comp insurance.

Joe Gagen, chairman of the Industrial Accident Board, said Ratliff's proposal would have "allowed parties to shift the cost away from the employer to the social benefit structure where the taxpayer pays for it."

Senate debate over the proposal came one day after the chamber passed an overhaul to the state workers' comp system that will likely be sent to a House-Senate conference committee in the final days of the regular legislative session, which ends Monday.

Dutchwoman wins title

CANCUN, Mexico (AP) — The new Miss Universe, Angela Visser of the Netherlands, says she hopes her stay in the limelight will stretch beyond her one-year reign.

Miss Visser, 22, a beautician from Rotterdam, today said she plans to use the title to advance a modeling career.

"The most important thing is for people to remember me after this year is over," she told The Associated Press in a telephone interview after she was chosen Tuesday night from among 76 contestants.

Radioactive antibodies fight cancer

Dear Abby

In-Laws Flunk Mom's Safety Test by Failing to Buckle Up

By Abigail Van Buren

Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My in-laws are wonderful grandparents to my 2 1/2-year-old son. They would do anything in the world for him, except take the trouble to buckle him up in his car seat. This is a big problem for me because I depend on them to baby-sit quite often. I can't afford to pay a sitter, and there's no one else.

I've tried several times to stress the importance of car-seat safety, but they think it's unnecessary since it's only a 10-minute drive from their home to mine.

My husband has been very firm with them, but twice I've caught them not using the car seat. I haven't told my husband because it would cause a family feud. His parents are very stubborn and don't take criticism very well.

Abby, I fear for my child's safety, but don't know what to do. Please print this letter and stress the importance of buckling up small children. Perhaps they'll listen to you. Thank you!

WORRIED MOM

P.S. My in-laws have their own car seat. We purchased one for them so they would always have it handy when our son is in their care.

DEAR WORRIED MOM: You have good reason to worry. There is only one solution to your problem. Do not trust your in-laws to drive your child. Their excuse, "It's only a 10-minute drive from their home to yours," means nothing. A large percentage of all automobile accidents occur within a mile of one's home.

DEAR ABBY: I know that many people share this problem. If you answer in the paper it will help not only me but also others.

Last week I went to supper at a friend's home. The hostess served a food that I had never eaten before, and I found that I didn't enjoy it, so I pushed it to the side of my plate and finished the rest of my meal.

In the future, how can I avoid this situation without offending my hostess?

Safety board blames airline for accident

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal investigators blame Aloha Airlines for an accident that ripped open an airliner fuselage 24,000 feet over Hawaii but they say lax inspection of aging 737s was an "industry-wide deficiency."

The National Transportation Safety Board, ending a 13-month investigation Tuesday, blamed the accident on failure of island-hopping Aloha's maintenance program to detect broken bonds and fatigue damage in the Boeing 737's outer skin.

The board voted 4-1 to lay primary blame on the airline and said Federal Aviation Administration failures contributed to the April 28, 1988, accident that hurled the plane's chief flight attendant out of the airliner to her

DEAR CANADIAN: We all have our special likes and dislikes, so don't feel compelled to eat anything and everything that is served. Pushing food aside on your plate can be conspicuous, so next time, simply "rearrange it" and leave it.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem I can't cope with. I am a 25-year-old woman dating a 28-year-old man. Stan and I have dated for a year, and he is the one man I would like to spend the rest of my life with. He says he loves me, but he is having trouble breaking away from his ex-girlfriend. She lives four hours away, and he has gone to see her several times since he told me he loves me. She has also been here several times that I know of for sure — I suspect several times I didn't know about. In short, I feel very insecure. Stan insists he is not carrying on behind my back, but I just can't believe him.

I am fed up with his long, unexplained absences, and his disappearing into a telephone booth to make a "quick" phone call that lasts 20 or 30 minutes. I can't handle this stress.

I have no desire to see any old boy-friends. I have let go of my past, but Stan hasn't.

All my friends tell me I am crazy for believing him. Am I?

INSECURE IN IOWA

DEAR INSECURE: You have good reason to be insecure. If you want to buy a peck of trouble, continue your romance with a man you can't trust. Tell Stan it's over and date others.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Nuclear-tipped antibodies that seek and destroy cancer inside the body show promise of giving doctors a new way to attack tumors, researchers say.

The goal is to blitz cancer cells with huge doses of killer radiation. Doctors launch the attack with protein probes that hunt down the cancer deep within the body.

In initial experimental use, researchers found that the strategy wiped out all detectable cancer in people who were not helped by ordinary treatment. However, far more study will be necessary, before researchers know for sure whether this approach will cure cancer.

The findings were presented Tuesday by Dr. Oliver W. Press of the University of Washington to the annual meeting of the American Society of Clinical Oncology.

Press is one of several researchers around the country who are working with radioactive antibodies to combat cancer.

however, he said his group is using the highest doses of radiation yet tried.

"We're trying to blast them out of the water," he said.

Antibodies are natural hunters produced by the body to find germs, cancer and other dangerous invaders. Scientists can now produce large quantities of antibodies that look for cancer, and they have fitted them with powerful warheads of radioactive iodine.

With this strategy, doctors believe they can deliver far higher doses of radiation than would otherwise be possible and still spare healthy tissue from harm.

Press and colleagues have given the treatment to seven people with the blood cancer lymphoma. All had failed an average of four kinds of chemotherapy. The treatment wiped out all visible signs of the cancer in five of them.

"The percentage of patients responding is much greater than we would expect from conventional chemotherapy," said Dr. Bruce Cheson of the National Cancer Institute.

In other research presented at the meeting:

—Dr. Donald S. Kaufman of Massachusetts General Hospital reported preliminary evidence that a combination of three drugs followed by radiation can eliminate bladder cancer. If this approach works out, it would provide an alternative to surgical removal of the bladder, which is now standard treatment.

Many doctors are reluctant to give chemotherapy to women with early breast cancer, because most can be cured by surgery alone. Dr. Alexander Paterson of Cross Cancer Institute in Edmonton, Alberta, has found that those who relapse often carry multiple copies of an abnormal gene, known as an oncogene, inside their tumors. Checking for this gene may help doctors target chemotherapy to those who are most likely to benefit.

—Dr. Gastan Rivera of St. Jude

Children's Research Hospital in Memphis, Tenn., said a review shows that about two-thirds of all youngsters with acute lymphocytic leukemia, the most common childhood cancer, can now be cured. He attributed the improved outlook for this disease, which was once almost uniformly fatal, to continued improvement in chemotherapy.

—Dr. James D. Levine of New England Deaconess Hospital in Boston said a new treatment can overcome low levels of white blood cells, which are a common side effect of treatment with the drug AZT in AIDS patients. The therapy, called granulocyte-macrophage colony stimulating factor, prompts the body to produce more blood cells.

During the early hours of Aug. 5, 1962, actress Marilyn Monroe was found dead in the bedroom of her home in Los Angeles. Her death was ruled a "probable suicide" caused by an overdose of sleeping pills. Monroe was 36.
