County considers building purchase from Diamond M

The county commissioners court is looking for office space to house the Texas Department of Human Services and the State Board of Pardons and Paroles, and a Wednesday meeting has been scheduled on possibly buying the Diamond M Museum of Fine Arts building at 909 25th St. Representatives of Western Texas College and the Scurry County Museum, entities which have submitted a bid to acquire the museum's art collection, will also take part, said County Judge Dolly Goodwin. The two state agencies will need at least 3,000 square feet of floor space, and the Diamond M would be ideal, Goodwin said, with its 9,000 sq. ft. and plentiful space for expansion. The Department of Human Services is moving out of the Senior Citizens Center on Ave. M to give the center more room, and the Board of Pardons and Paroles is establishing a new office here, primarily in connection with the July opening of the Price Panel Unit of the Texas Department of Corrections. Diamond M board members met recently in San Angelo to hear proposals from WTC and the Scurry County Museum and a San Angelo entity to acquire the Diamond M art collection, which See BUILDING, page 8

Holiday has lake drowning

For the second Memorial Day weekend in a row, Lake J.B. Thomas has recorded a drowning victim.

The body of 19-year-old Eddie James Young of Snyder was recovered by lake officials around 10 p.m. Sunday. Dragging operations had begun shortly after 8:15 p.m. and the time of death is now guessed at 7:45 p.m., according to Lake Superintendent Richard Halfmann.

Young and his wife were reportedly floating on an inflatable raft approximately 60 to 70 yards off shore.

High winds caused the raft to "get away from them," Halfmann said. Both began the swim back to the bank and Young apparently drowned in the effort.

The incident occurred on the south side of the lake near a newly developed area called White Island Park.

Reportedly, Young's in-laws were also in the area fishing from the bank when the accident occurred.

Services for Young were scheduled through Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home.

Last Memorial Day weekend, a 37-year-old Big Spring man drowned also. The body of Hilario Silva was recovered four days

Holiday death toll claims law official

By The Associated Press

The Young County sheriff was killed in a two-vehicle head-on collision, pushing the state's Memorial Day weekend death toll to at least 22, authorities said.

Sheriff Ed Shield, 50, who had held the post since 1985, was trapped in his car about two hours Sunday night after the accident on U.S. Highway 380, 10 miles west of Graham.

His car, a personal vehicle he used in his job as sheriff, collided with a pickup carrying two men and an 11-year-old boy at about 10:30 p.m., Department of Public Safety officials said.

The three in the truck suffered injuries, and the driver was taken by medical helicopter to Harris Hospital-Fort Worth.

Earlier Sunday, 79-year-old Allie Mae Talbott of Olney was killed when her car collided with a tractor-trailer rig hauling wheat. The accident occurred in the Olney city limits about 3 p.m. at the intersection of Texas Highway 79 and Mockingbird Lane.

The truck swerved and tipped over, spilling wheat onto the road. The truck driver suffered minor injuries, authorities said.

Also Sunday, three people were killed in a far West Texas car crash.

The accident took place at 1:45 a.m. on U.S. 90 about six miles east of Valentine in Jeff Davis County.

Authorities identified the victims as two elderly Saragosa men, David B. Rodriguez, 69, Manuel B. Carranga, 78, and Jose Espinosa Najar, 20, a sailor on the USS Vancouver.

Also killed early Sunday was Ricardo Ramirez Jr., 18, of Wink, officials said. He died and two were hurt at 1:40 a.m. as a car sideswiped another on Texas 18, 3 miles north of Wink.

Special session likely due to worker's comp

AUSTIN (AP) — Key lawmakers negotiating a reform of the state workers' compensation system said today a special legislative session likely will be needed to reach a compromise between House and Senate proposals.

"Workers' comp chances right now are slim and none," said Sen. Ted Lyon, chief of the Senate team that has been meeting with House members in a conference committee.

"We haven't even reached agreement on the fundamental issues," said Rep. Richard Smith, the House leader on the issue.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, House Speaker Gib Lewis and conference committee members met behind closed doors late Sunday trying to reach a solution, but were unsuccessful.

Lyon, D-Rockwall, said the differences between the House and Senate proposals are "very, very deep and very philosophical, and I anticipate that will result in a special session of the Legislature that will deal with the workers' comp issue."

But both Lyon and Smith held out a slim chance of resolving the issue that has vexed lawmakers for the 140-day session, which ends today.

"It's a long shot. We're not that close," Smith, R-Bryan, said. Smith said even if the House and Senate reached agreement there may not be time to push the legislation through both chambers.

The major controversy is over how to resolve disputed claims between injured workers and insurance companies.

The Senate proposal has retained a provision that would allow a dispute to be heard in a jury trial. The House proposal would abolish jury trials in workers' comp disputes.

Business interests claim high jury awards and the threat of litigation are driving up employer-paid workers' comp insurance premiums. But labor and attorneys, who represent injured workers, blame unsafe working conditions, on the increased rates, and claim a jury trial is a constitutional right.

The event is being sponsored by the eighth grade parents.

Admission will be $2 to cover expenses and students attending are asked to bring refreshments.

Burglars ransack rural home here

A Scurry County family that had been in Lubbock to attend a soccer tournament returned home Sunday to find their China Grove Rd. home had been ransacked by burglars.

A sheriff's deputy said the home of Jay and Donna Roemisch, five miles south of Snyder near the China Grove Rd.-U.S. 84 intersection, was entered when a utility room door was forced open.

Among the stolen merchandise listed as missing was a Whirlpool washing machine, $800 in jewelry, two RCA television sets, an RCA VCR, a clothes hamper, a homemade quilt, a Panasonic cassette player-recorder, a Remington 20-gauge shotgun, a 257 Roberts high-powered rifle with a four-power scope, a Remington .22-caliber semi-automatic Nylon 66 rifle, $30 worth of frozen meat and other items.

Sheriff Keith Collier said Monday that the burglary was possibly the work of drug users who sell such merchandise to support their habits.

Collier said he has been concerned that summer would bring such criminal activity into the county.

College sets class signup

The summer term for Western Texas College will get underway Tuesday with a one-day registration on campus.

Summer registration will be from 8:30 until 11:30 a.m.; from 1:30 until 4:30 p.m.; and from 6:30 until 8 p.m.

The signup for all students will be in the Learning Resource Center.

Day classes will meet for six weeks, with the session ending July 7. Evening classes are scheduled for nine weeks and will end on July 28.

There will be no classes on Fridays through the summer but See COLLEGE, page 8

Senior parents set 'safe' senior party

Senior parents have again planned after-graduation activities for the Class of 1989 which will offer Snyder grads a "safe" method of enjoying themselves in a drug-free, alcohol-free environment.

This year's senior activities are being called Operation Fine for '89.

As incentives to the graduates, donations have been solicited from local businesses and merchants which will materialize in the form of prize giveaways at an all-night party planned at the Western Texas College athletic complex.

The first activity following Tuesday's graduation will be a dance for seniors at the coliseum.

The all night party at WTC will begin at 1:30 a.m.

At the athletic complex, seniors will be offered food and refreshments plus the use of all the facilities there to include swimming in the indoor pool.

Twenty four different games of chance are being set up at the WTC gym where seniors can win play money. This "money" can then be used for one of several other activities planned during the night.

Ask Us

Q. — Is this year's number of seniors smaller than normal?

A. — No. At 171 seniors, the class is actually the second largest to graduate from Snyder High School in the past five years. In 1987, there were 198 seniors. The lows would be 1985 and 1986, when both classes had around 150 graduates.

In Brief

Trains collide

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — A freight train en route to Chicago with California fruit rammed 30 parked railroad cars as it slowed at the Amarillo city limits, killing the brakeman and conductor and injuring two others on board, one of them critically.

The impact of Sunday's early morning accident hurled one of the parked cars into a coal train traveling in the opposite direction on an adjacent track. But nobody aboard the 110-car coal train was injured, said Wayne Beigle of the state Department of Public Safety.

Beigle said investigators determined the 35-car train that slammed into the parked cars was traveling at 20 mph and the brakes had been applied when the accident occurred.

House rejects

AUSTIN (AP) — Although they won over Gov. Bill Clements, backers of a proposal to cut the state's share of pari-mutuel racing wagers lost a stretch drive to convince the House.

After a day of behind-the-scenes wrangling that included a meeting with Clements, Rep. Hugo Berlanga, D-Corpus Christi, Sunday night sought permission from the House to amend a racing bill.

Backers of the idea wanted to trim the 5 percent tax collection from each dollar wagered, saying extra money was needed for the tracks and purses to build the top-notch facilities envisioned for the state's largest cities.

Governor likes $47 billion budget

AUSTIN (AP) — A $47.4 billion state budget for 1990-91 approved by lawmakers without a tax increase also will mean a tax cut when $500 million in temporary taxes expire, says Gov. Bill Clements.

Clements, whose signature is required on the plan to increase spending 12 percent, applauded state lawmakers' work.

"This budget was built on a foundation of fiscal conservatism, by settling longstanding lawsuits and because of a significantly stronger economy," Clements said Sunday.

Despite a projected $300 million to $600 million shortfall announced this month, lawmakers balanced spending with revenues and said a proposed increase in the state cigarette tax wasn't needed.

Since January, legislators have said new taxes wouldn't be needed and Clements has said he would not accept a budget with tax increases.

"Not only will there be no new taxes, but this budget will allow the temporary taxes now in place to expire," Clements said. "That translates into more than a $500 million tax cut for the people of Texas."

Clements referred to increased corporation franchise taxes and a 20 percent insurance surtax and added professional fees that were instituted in 1987.

"It's a good budget. We're proud of it," said Rep. Jim Rudd, the central budget writer for the 150-member House, after lawmakers approved the spending plan with only four opposed in a non-record vote.

"We found some extra money ... and we've moved that money around to better utilize it," said Rudd, D-Brownfield.

Sen. Kent Caperton, the Senate's chief budget writer, said the proposal was the best that could be done with limited state revenues.

"We can't really puff our chests ... but we don't have to hang our heads," the Bryan Democrat said.

The budget calls for increased spending in all major areas of government — education, health and human services, criminal justice — but because of increased revenue projections and one-time bookkeeping maneuvers, the spending plan will not require a tax increase.

Two House members who voted against the budget said the state was running out of tricks — such as payment delays and fund transfers — to balance the budget.

"It's going to bring on a state income tax or a grocery tax, or an increase of some kind," said Rep. Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline, who said he opposed using bonds to pay for state services.

Rep. Talmadge Heflin, R-Houston, said he also feared future tax increases would be needed.

"The neat little tricks we've turned to be able to fund it ... the money's not going to be there next time, without some extreme growth in our economy, and I'm concerned that it won't be there," Heflin said.

The budget calls for increasing public school spending by 6.4 percent, or $655 million, with $450 million of that going toward equalizing funding to poor school districts. Poor schools have sued the state, saying Texas' school financing method is discriminatory. The case is pending before the Texas Supreme Court.

In health and human services, lawmakers expanded Medicaid programs for the poor; raised the income eligibility requirements to qualify for Medicaid for nursing home care; and allocated $18.4 million for AIDS services, a $15 million increase from the last two-year budget appropriation.

The budget calls for increasing criminal justice spending by 21 percent, or $1.8 billion, for prison expansion and reforms to divert inmates from the state prison.

Police probe three deaths

DALLAS (AP) — The body of a 27-year-old woman and her two young sons were discovered in what police speculate may be a double homicide and suicide, authorities said.

The names of the victims, who appeared to have been shot several days ago, weren't released because relatives hadn't been notified, police said Sunday. The bodies were found Saturday night.

"It appears to be a double homicide and suicide, although it hasn't been ruled as such," said an official in the homicide division of the Dallas Police Department who asked not to be identified.

Dallas police detective Rick Silva said a gun was found near the woman's body. The bodies of the woman and her sons, ages 1 and 2, were discovered in a middle bedroom of the woman's duplex.

The three were discovered about 10:15 p.m. by a neighbor who told firefighters answering an unrelated call that something was amiss.

There were no signs of forced entry at the duplex, Silva said.

A neighbor said the woman had appeared "always nervous, very scared and nervous" since she moved to the neighborhood in February.

The woman also said the young mother had complained that a man from whom she had bought used furniture had scared her.

agree on the frequency of dosage. What's your opinion?

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 60 year-old woman who is very concerned about my increasing loss of memory. It's really frightening. Is there a vitamin or medication I can take to help me? Is this hereditary?

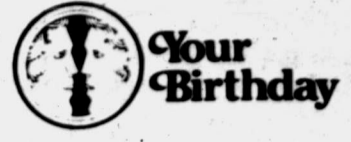

DEAR DR. GOTT: There are many causes of memory loss. Some are inherited and more serious than others; many are treatable. For example, the normal aging process is associated with loss of short-term memory. Some neurological conditions, such as Alzheimer's disease, cause profound and progressive memory loss, as well as deterioration of other mental processes, such as judgment. Many medicines — for instance, those used to treat heart ailments and Parkinson's disease — will contribute to faulty memory, as will alcohol and tranquilizers.

Whether your memory loss requires attention and treatment is a decision best made by you and your doctor. Vitamins usually will not help, unless a vitamin deficiency is present. Medicine may help you. Or medicine that you are currently taking may have to be changed or reduced.

I suggest you seek your doctor's advice. He or she may refer you to a neurologist, a specialist in brain afflictions, if your memory deficiency is truly more of a problem than age-related forgetfulness. To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Alzheimer's Disease." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. DEAR DR. GOTT: Last February our son entered the hospital for an appendectomy. Instead, his doctor said he had Crohn's disease, and he removed a 12-inch section of my son's intestine. He also painted a very bleak picture for the future. Two doctors have now agreed on the necessity of B-12 injections but they couldn't even

You should be rather fortunate in the year ahead in both your career and social relationships, yet, from time to time when you may be required to make a major decision, you'll be left on your own.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Things should run rather smoothly for you today regarding relationships with people that you seldom have differences with. Conversely, frustrations are likely from those who have caused you problems previously. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Something about which you have been dubious looks like it will work out OK for you today, but it might be wise not to raise your expectations to optimum levels.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) People you consider your peers are likely to be treated in an amicable fashion today, but the same might not be true when dealing with individuals you feel are beneath your station.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Early in the day you might feel like everyone is ganging up on you to impede your progress. By afternoon, however, you'll discover your biggest impediments have been negative thoughts.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your desires for recognition from others may not be forthcoming today until you go home from work and find how much your mate and family appreciate you. Who needs the outside world?

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) People are likely to bring their problems and gripes to you today to be worked out. Just when you'll feel like screaming someone might unexpectedly do something nice for you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your judgment in joint ventures is likely to be quite good today. Where you may fall short, however, is when you'll have to make decisions concerning your personal interests.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Kibitzers or associates may distract with their trivial interruptions today. Hold off on attempting serious work when they are in your presence.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) When socializing with friends today do not play favorites or give indications of partiality. Forgiveness isn't likely if you hurt a pal's feelings.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You could later have powerful pangs of spender's remorse if you go out with pals today and spend money on living it up that you had earmarked for something much more practical. Be prudent.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your ability to visualize workable concepts is likely to be extremely good today. However, where you could fall short is when you try to guess how others may react to your plan.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In your business arrangements today do not make impulsive concessions before you know what the other guy has to offer. You could commit yourself to something that doesn't serve your best interests.

Dear Abby

Wife Gets Too Much Attention From Sex-Addicted Husband

By Abigail Van Buren

Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My husband started out with girlie magazines, but now he's renting porno VCR tapes, and he is spending more and more time on this stuff. Abby, he is obsessed with this garbage, which turns me off more than it turns him on.

If there is such a thing as a sexual addiction, he has it. Can anything be done about it?

I love him, and I know he loves me, but I don't want to be an "accommodation" to his far-too-frequent demands.

FEELING "USED" IN BALTIMORE

DEAR FEELING USED: No woman (or man) should be an "accommodation." And yes, there is such a thing as a "sexual addiction," and your husband has it. I recommend Sexaholics Anonymous, a program for men and women who recognize that their preoccupation with sex is self-destructive.

You say you love him, and he loves you. Well, let him prove his love by giving this program a chance. Sexaholics Anonymous is based on the principles of Alcoholics Anonymous, and all one needs is sincerity to make it work. There are no dues or fees. Interested parties should write to: Sexaholics Anonymous, P.O. Box 300, Simi Valley, Calif. 93062. All inquiries are strictly confidential. This is a non-profit organization, so please send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a reply.

DEAR ABBY: I feel compelled to reply to a letter you printed from Tyler Foshe concerning a recent rock concert at the Santa Monica Auditorium. He compared his experience at that concert to the soccer game in Sheffield, England, on April 15 when 93 people were killed and more than 200 spectators were injured.

I have worked in the field of crowd management at public events since 1967, have been involved in hundreds of rock concerts, including the one Mr. Foshe attended, and have never experienced problems similar to the Sheffield tragedy.

The local fire department determines the safe occupancy load for the building for this type of event. Fire inspectors visit the concert to make sure the limit is not exceeded and the building has proper exits in case of emergency.

Mr. Foshe was contacted by telephone, and admitted that he had never attended a "festival" concert before, and his frightening experience at the Santa Monica Auditorium reflected his individual perspective. Security and fire personnel did respond to his concerns, but they did not see a dangerous situation.

Since you always try to present a balanced view, I hope you will be fair and publish this letter.

PETER C. KRANSKE, CONTEMPORARY SERVICES, LOS ANGELES

DEAR MR. KRANSKE: Consider it done, and thank you for your reassuring input.

Carole A. Curtin, manager of the Civic Auditorium, also wrote to say essentially what you have said.

DEAR ABBY: When my husband died a few months ago, Crystal, my 4-year-old granddaughter, attended the funeral.

After the church ceremony, we drove through the cemetery. The ground was covered with snow, and only the tips of the plastic flowers were showing.

Crystal remarked, "What a beautiful flower garden!"

Her mother said, "That's not a flower garden, honey; that's where Grandpa will be buried."

"Oh," said Crystal, "a buried treasure!"

vening overcall if they believe they can make a vulnerable game. Nevertheless, if West did hold four spades to the king, he might well surprise South, and the carnage would be fierce. Not this time. West bid four hearts, and North cannot be faulted for trying four spades, even opposite a partner who had originally passed. West doubled, on the theory that non-vulnerable opponents should never play an apparent sacrifice undoubled.

West switched to a trump at trick two, but declarer was in control. He ducked a diamond, won a second trump lead in his hand, and ruffed his other heart. Then ace of diamonds and a diamond ruff established two diamond winners in dummy. South drew trump and played a club toward the queen. That brought in four spades doubled.

An original trump lead might have defeated four spades, and the East-West side has no play for game, but East would have kept South out of the auction by bidding four hearts at his first opportunity. The rationale is that he may make it, and at the same time he will probably keep the opponents out of the way. If four hearts can't be made, North-South probably had the ability to make some high-level contract themselves.

Fainthearted heart bidder

By James Jacoby

Faint heart never won fair lady, and it doesn't fare too well at the bridge table either. It's true that East could not be sure of game when West opened with one heart, but look what misfortune fell upon East-West after East's invitational limit raise of three hearts. Stouthearted South stuck in a three-spade bid. He knew that vulnerable opponents usually do double an inter-

After weeks of discussion with cities, chambers of commerce and consumer groups across the state, Southwestern Bell Telephone today submitted its "Texas First" economic development proposal to the Public Utility Commission.

Under Texas First, Southwestern Bell would commit to no increase in the basic monthly rate charged for local telephone service for five years. During that same period, the company would undertake an ambitious network modernization program aimed at upgrading switching facilities in almost 200 Texas cities. The proposal also calls for elimination of four-party telephone service, reduction in two-party telephone rates, expansion of local calling scopes in some metropolitan areas and a reduction in rates charged to long distance companies in Texas with the intent that cost-savings be passed on to their customers.

The company will invest some $344 million and forego an additional $359 million in revenue to implement Texas First. In return, it is seeking the opportunity to earn 11 to 13 percent on its Texas investment, replacing the current regulated ceiling of 12 percent. If, after careful expense management and sales stimulation, the company surpasses the 13 percent mark, it proposes to share half the amount with its Texas customers.

According to Paul Roth, president of Southwestern Bell's Texas Division, the company's proposal has received support from diverse groups across the state. Roth said his company is aware of more than 780 letters and resolutions endorsing the concepts of Texas First. Included in that number are endorsements from some 127 cities, 169 chambers of commerce and economic development organizations, and 37 consumers and special interest groups throughout the state.

The Texas First plan, according to a leading economist, will not only launch widespread telecommunications modernization and improve the process of telephone regulation, it also will result in significant benefits to the state and to Southwestern Bell's customers.

Filing testimony on the company's behalf, Dr. M. Ray Perryman lauded the proposal, saying it could save the average Texas household as much as $9.41 during its first year, and $39.77 in 1993. In terms of relative savings, low income families in Texas would realize the greatest savings under Texas First, Perryman said. The Baylor University economics professor also said construction work to upgrade central offices in the state under Texas First could create over 700 jobs in the outside marketplace and infuse some $260 million into the Texas economy over the next five years.

Besides submitting its Texas First plan, Southwestern Bell also responded to a Commission-initiated inquiry into the reasonableness of its current earnings and rates. According to financial data filed by the company, its return on investment for the twelve-month period ending December 31, 1988, was 12.39 percent, or 0.36 percent above the current allowed ceiling. The company indicated that although earnings were slightly above the allowed rate, they were substantially below the current cost of capital. Information submitted to the PUC also indicated that the company's return would drop below 12 percent if Texas First were adopted as proposed.

Calling Texas First a model for telephone regulation in the future, Roth contrasted the plan with the traditional rate-setting process.

The Commission filing to which Southwestern Bell responded asked the company to justify its earning levels. In its response, the company pointed to investments of similar risks, and indicated a fair return would be near 13 percent on investment.

"In today's traditional environment, some $292 million in rate increases would be needed for us to achieve that earnings level. That would equate to about $68 million per year increase in one-party local residential rates," Roth said.

Roth quickly stressed, however, that his company is simply responding to a Commission Staff inquiry and is not seeking a rate increase.

"We are not asking for a rate increase—not yet anyway," Roth said. "Under the current outmoded regulatory approach, we have been asked to put forth our best estimate of revenue shortfalls. That's what we've done

"But we're also saying there's a better way—one that offers us the incentive to improve our earnings, offers our Texas customers the promise of a first-class communications network at affordable rates, and maintains regulatory control. It's called Texas First," he said.

"Of course, if Texas First gets stuck too deep in the ditch, the only way out may be the traditional rate case tow truck," Roth said.

He expressed optimism however, noting company officials are continuing serious discussions with the PUC staff, the Office of Public Counsel and other interested parties. Roth said he is hopeful Southwestern Bell can begin Texas First, with conversion of digital central offices and implementation of expanded local metropolitan calling scopes by mid-summer.

Police chief makes easiest bust of career

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — It had been a while since Wichita Falls Police Chief Curtis

Harrelson had made a drug arrest. Now in charge of the entire force, he doesn't get out much.

But last week, he didn't need to leave his office to make the easiest bust of his career.

Harrelson said he arrested a man who came into his office and accidentally dropped two packets of marijuana on the floor as he took off his hat.

Outbattles Unser to finish line...

Fittipaldi races to 500 win

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - A new name reigns in Victory Lane at the Indianapolis 500, and it's not another Unser or Andretti. It's Emmo, as in Emerson Fittipaldi, self-made millionaire, world traveler and - ah, yes - lover of speed.

He looked the new generation in the eye Sunday, and the last time he saw it was in his rear view mirror.

First, Michael Andretti challenged Emmo, only to fall victim to the Andretti luck.

Then, Al Unser Jr. took up the task, only to fall victim to his own brand of bumper car racing.

Three miles from the finish, Fittipaldi and Unser locked wheels as they fought for position for the last-lap duel. It was the luckiest bump of Fittipaldi's career; Unser hit the wall and never made it to the finish.

"What a race! What a race!" said Fittipaldi, who could be Indy's first $1 million winner when the checks are passed out at tonight's victory dinner. "I cannot believe it. I dreamed so much of this ever since I was a little boy."

No one was within four laps of Fittipaldi or Unser, who still finished second. Fittipaldi, who led 158 of the 200 laps, finished at an average speed of 167.581 mph, second-fastest in Indy history behind the 170.722 by Bobby Rahal in 1986.

Of eight former winners, five were out before it was half over and a sixth lasted just a few laps more. The only two still running at the end, Mario Andretti and A.J. Foyt, finished fifth and sixth, but seven laps down. No other former winner was better than 23rd.

Roger Penske, whose team has won four of the last five Indys, six of the last 10 and seven altogether, had to settle for having the winning car - even if another team's driver was at the wheel.

Rick Mears, the three-time winner, defending champion and two-time record-setting pole winner, was 23rd. Four-time winner Al Unser was 24th, and 1985 winner Danny Sullivan was 28th.

Fittipaldi took the lead from Mears on the first turn of the first lap, ran consistently above 215 mph and set a race record with a fast lap at more than 221 mph. Except for his pit stops, Fittipaldi was never out of the lead and was never passed on the track until the 153rd lap, by Michael Andretti.

The Andretti luck - the bad breaks that have stopped Mario time and again since his lone victory in 1969 - struck Michael. Leading as he started the 162nd lap, his engine blew at the starting line and his day was done.

Raul Boesel, another Brazilian, finished third, followed by Mario Andretti, Foyt, Scott Brayton, Davy Jones, Rich Vogler and rookies Bernard Jourdain, Scott Pruett and John Jones. Fifteen cars were running at the end.

Lakers defeat Suns 122-117 to sweep Western Conference

PHOENIX (AP) - The Los Angeles Lakers are playing their best basketball at the perfect time and Tom Chambers says their latest performance was the ultimate as far as he's concerned.

"I've never seen a team play better than they played today - never," Chambers said Sunday after the Lakers held off his Phoenix Suns 122-117 to sweep the best-of-7 Western Conference finals. "I'm happy for them, they deserve to make the finals, they really do."

Chambers was pretty good himself, finishing with a career playoff-high 41 points and 13 rebounds. He scored 17 points in the fourth quarter when the Suns got 43. But it wasn't enough, mainly because the Lakers were a perfect 10-for-10 from the free throw line in the final 1:07.

"Every time we'd make a run, they'd respond," said Chambers, an eight-year veteran. "The way they played in the playoffs was an education for us. We still think we can beat them. We'd love to meet them again next year, too."

The two-time defending champion Lakers, winners of a record 11 straight playoff games and 16 overall including the last five of the regular season, thus qualified for the NBA finals for the eighth time this decade.

"Eight times in 10 years, that's pretty consistent," said Lakers coach Pat Riley, who won his 98th NBA playoff game, one short of Red Auerbach's all-time record. "I think we've opened a few eyes."

The Lakers, seeking their sixth championship of the 1980s, will face the Eastern Conference champion - either Chicago or Detroit - in the finals.

"We'll be ready to play whoever we face, we're just happy to be in the finals," said Magic Johnson, who scored 10 of his 21 points in the fourth quarter and also had 20 assists and six rebounds.

The Lakers got it going early Sunday, scoring the game's first 11 points. The Suns then scored 16 of the next 19 to take their only lead before a 10-0 Los Angeles spurt made it 24-16.

The Lakers led the rest of the way, although there were some anxious moments near the finish.

Jordan unstoppable; Thomas needs to be

CHICAGO (AP) - Isiah Thomas wants the Detroit Pistons to play the way they did in their third-game loss to Chicago rather than their Game 2 victory over the Bulls.

Thomas, who scored 33 points in the Pistons' 100-91 win over the Bulls on Tuesday, had only five on 2-for-8 shooting in Saturday's stunning 99-97 defeat in which Detroit was outscored 33-20 in the fourth quarter.

Thomas believes the Pistons, who were to meet the Bulls in Game 4 of the best-of-7 series today, fare better if they don't have to rely on him to carry the load.

"Our offense was working where I didn't have to be the focal point," Thomas said before Sunday's practice at Chicago Stadium. "We were playing well without me playing the way I did in the second game. For 42, 44 minutes, we played the way we are capable of playing. Then for five or six minutes, we lost it."

Two other Pistons starters, Joe Dumars with 12 points on 3-for-8 shooting and Bill Laimbeer with four points on 2-for-9 shooting, also had subpar games.

"Isiah, Joe and I didn't have many points, but we were winning by 14 in the fourth quarter," Laimbeer said. "We were playing well. It doesn't matter who does it as long as someone does it."

Michael Jordan scored all of his 17 fourth-quarter points in the final 7:19 as the Bulls overcame an 86-72 deficit. He finished with 46 points, including an eight-foot bank shot with three seconds left, breaking a 97-97 tie.

"I don't know if the shock ever wears off," Pistons coach Chuck Daly said after what he admitted was a sleepless night. "We just couldn't control Michael. We let him get to the free-throw line 15 times."

Despite the loss, Detroit could regain the homecourt advantage with a victory in Game 4. Two of the three games after that are scheduled for the Palace at Auburn Hills, Mich.

Bethea home run puts UT in Midwest finals

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Steve Bethea's ninth-inning home run gave fifth-ranked and top seeded Texas an 8-7 victory over Oklahoma State and a spot in the championship game of the NCAA Midwest Regional.

The Longhorns, 50-17 were to play the winner of the Oklahoma State-New Orleans game Monday at 2 p.m. Oklahoma State, 13th ranked and second seeded, fell to 48-18.

Texas has now won 50 games or more 15 times in the 22 years Cliff Gustafson has been the coach and 11 years in a row.

The Longhorns took a 4-0 lead in the first inning on four straight base hits, including triples by Lance Jones and Art Butcher and a double by Scott Bryant.

But Oklahoma State exploded for seven runs and seven hits in the first two innings, knocking starter Shane Reynolds out of the game.

However Brian Dare came on in relief for Texas and shut down the Big Eight champions. He pitched shutout ball for eight innings, the longest stint of his career.

The sophomore left-hander, now 4-4 on the year, allowed the Cowboys five hits and no walks while fanning seven.

Texas began to chip away at the lead with a pair of runs in the sixth. The Longhorns tied the game in the eighth inning, setting the stage for Bethea's game-winning homer.

Bryant drove in one run with a double for his nation-leading 106th RBI of the season.

leading the Tigers to a 5-4 victory over Texas A&M Sunday night in the NCAA Central Region finals.

"Shock was my first reaction because I haven't hit in so long," Garrity said. "But he threw me a curve ball and got it up. I was just looking for something to put in play."

LSU had to beat the Aggies twice Sunday, coming out of the losers' bracket to advance to the College World Series in Omaha, Neb., for the third time in four years.

Pitcher Ben McDonald helped the Tigers to a 13-5 victory in the first game and set up the night-time showdown.

"I think this was the greatest accomplishment for a team I've seen in 20 years of coaching," Bertman said. "This was a tough assignment to come in here against a 58-5 team, play in their yard, in front of their fans."

Texas A&M had scored 65 runs going into the final day.

But McDonald struck out seven batters and held A&M to 10 hits in the first game and four LSU pitchers, including McDonald, held the Aggies to five hits in the finale.

The Aggies, ranked No. 1 in the nation for much of the season, were knocked out of the regional playoffs for the third straight year.

Curtis Leskanic, 14-2, the third LSU pitcher, pitched 4 1-3 innings and gave up three hits.

But when he walked Mike Witte with two outs in the 11th, McDonald returned to close out the game and got Kirk Thompson to ground out to third base ending the game.

Rangers 8, Minnesota 6

by The Associated Press

Jeff Reardon had no excuses. "I just didn't do my job. All I had to do was get one out," he said after giving up four consecutive hits with two outs in the ninth inning Sunday as Texas rallied for six runs and beat Minnesota 8-6.

Minnesota took a 6-2 lead when Randy Bush led off the eighth with his fifth home run of the season, the first homer for the Twins in 62 innings over seven games.

Obituaries

Mrs. 'Ho' Barnes

Graveside services for Mrs. Donnie H. "Ho" Barnes, 61, of Big Spring were held at 1 p.m. Monday at Trinity Memorial Park in Big Spring with Billy Patton, minister of the Birdwell Lane Church of Christ, officiating.

She died Sunday at St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock. She was born April 27, 1928 in Oklahoma.

She was a member of Birdwell Lane Church of Christ, the Howard County Lioness Club and the American Business Women's Association. She had lived in Big Spring since moving there in 1966 from Amarillo.

She was married to Donnie H. Barnes on July 24, 1950 in Amarillo. He preceded her in death on Aug. 25, 1984.

She is survived by a daughter, Ginger Massa of New Jersey; two sons, Mike Barnes of Ira and Scott Barnes of Dallas; one sister, Pat Barnes of Lubbock; and one brother, Charles Green of Arlington.

Memorials may be made to the Howard County Lioness Club or the American Cancer Society.

Eddie J. Young

Services for Eddie James Young, 18, who drowned Sunday evening in Lake J. B. Thomas, are scheduled for 10 a.m. Wednesday at Bell-Cypert Chapel with the Rev. Mark McMillan, pastor of First Baptist Church in Ira, officiating.

He was born June 10, 1970 in Temple. He was a Catholic and was married to Shelly Britton on Nov. 1, 1988 in Ira. She survives.

Young's body was recovered by lake officials around 10 p.m. Sunday. Dragging operations had begun shortly after 8:15 p.m. and the time of death is now guessed at 7:45 p.m., according to Lake Superintendent Richard Halfmann.

He is also survived by his mother and step-father, Margaret and Sherry Bradley of Austin; his father and step-mother, John and Dinah Young of Snyder; one sister, Audra Elizabeth Young of Austin; a step-sister, Teresa Weir of Dallas; one brother, John Young Jr. of Snyder; two step-brothers, Michael Weir of Waco and David Weir of Cincinnati, Ohio; his step-grandfather, Rupert Hill of Snyder; and his grandmother, Elizabeth Malina of Temple.

William Marcy Tweed, better known as "Boss" Tweed, was arrested in 1871 on charges of defrauding the government of New York City.

Roy Bonner

Services for Roy Hambright Bonner, 81, of Route 2, Snyder, will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at Bell-Cypert-Seale Chapel. Burial will follow in Pyron Cemetery.

He died at 3:15 a.m. Monday at St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock, following a lengthy illness. He was born Nov. 25, 1907 in Fisher County. He had lived in Scurry County since 1938. He was a farmer and stockman and a member of the Church of Christ. He was married to Dorothy Harmon on Sept. 14, 1932 in Fisher County. She survives.

He is also survived by a sister, Winnie Martin of Edgewood; and three brothers, Wilmer Bonner of Stephenville, Newsome Bonner of Abilene and Rice Bonner of Odessa.

Four arrested during weekend

Four weekend arrests were reported by police.

At 12:50 p.m. Saturday, a white male age 31 was charged with driving with his license suspended in the 900 Block of 25th St.

Shortly after midnight Saturday, a 21-year-old white male was arrested in the Anthony's parking lot on Department of Public Safety warrants issued out of Abilene.

He was charged with having defective brakes, a driver's license restriction charge and failing to appear at a court hearing.

At 3:47 a.m. Sunday, a 46-year-old Spanish female was charged with public intoxication in the 2900 Block of Ave. T.

The weekend's final arrest was Sunday at 2:56 p.m., when a 26-year-old white male was arrested for driving while intoxicated in the 4100 Block of Brick Plant Rd.

Auto shop hit

A local woman struck a mechanic's shop building Saturday, a minor wreck reported by police Monday.

According to reports, Tricia Adams of 3012 Ave. V struck the Ronnie Weber Automotive building around 4:52 p.m. She was driving a 1982 Buick.

Car fire doused

Fire units were dispatched to a car fire Monday a few minutes after midnight which was reported across the line in Howard County.

The vehicle was expected to be a total loss, local firemen said.

The incident occurred south of Ira on State Hwy. 350.

Yeltsin wins seat on Supreme Soviet MOSCOW (AP) — Communist maverick Boris N. Yeltsin, who was denied a seat on the Supreme Soviet over the weekend, won a position on the new standing legislature today when a Siberian professor resigned in his favor.

The Congress of People's Deputies allowed Alexei Kazannik to step down and give his seat to Yeltsin, who garnered the largest popular vote of any candidate when he won a seat on the congress in March. Over the weekend, the congress chose from among its members to form the Supreme Soviet.

Through a quirk in the election procedure, Yeltsin, the former Moscow party boss and populist candidate, finished last on a list of 12 candidates for 11 Russian federation seats in one of the two chambers of the Supreme Soviet. He was therefore defeated despite his having received more than 50 percent of the votes cast by his fellow deputies.

After Yeltsin and other prominent reform-minded deputies were defeated in their bids for seats in Supreme Soviet, tens of thousands of people rallied in Moscow to protest. The protesters charged that Saturday's vote by members of the congress was undemocratic, and television news said a poll found half the people surveyed to be dissatisfied with how it was held.

After Kazannik withdrew today, President Mikhail Gorbachev said: "Inasmuch as comrade Yeltsin received a majority of the vote, the open place can be filled by him. Naturally, it does not require a repeat vote."

Police report two minor thefts

Minor theft reports were investigated by police during the weekend to include a missing lawn mower and air-conditioner.

The lawn mower theft was reported Saturday at 2 p.m. by H.E. Lewis, 1111 26th St.

The missing air-conditioner was reported Sunday at 11:01 a.m. by Connie Fitzgerald, 1914 Coleman.

Also planned throughout the night will be drawings which will culminate with such prize offerings as a 13-inch Sony television, microwave oven, dorm room refrigerator, VCRs, luggage and a Sony jam box.

Some $1,100 in real money will also be given out during the drawings. In all, approximately 150 prizes will be given away also.

Senior parents say all seniors staying through the entire night will likely win one or more of the prizes.

The grand prize will be awarded at the end of the evening. Some senior will win a trip for two to Sea World in San Antonio to include air fare furnished through American Airlines and Premiere Travel of Snyder.

The senior activities will end at 6 a.m. with a free breakfast provided by McDonald's at the College Ave. restaurant.

Only a few deputies opposed a proposal by Estonian delegate Victor Palm to allow Yeltsin to take the seat. Gorbachev told Kazannik the congress "welcomed his initiative."

Earlier today, Gorbachev pushed his little-known choice for vice president through the Congress of People's Deputies after preventing competitors from being nominated. Gorbachev made clear from the outset today that he intended to have the congress confirm his choice of schoolmate Anatoly I. Lukyanov without allowing competing nominations from the floor.

But the Soviet president permitted almost four hours of blunt and cutting debate before putting the question to a vote.

Of the 2,250 deputies, only 179 voted against Lukyanov in a show of hands. There were 137 abstentions.

Yeltsin was dismissed as Moscow Communist Party chief in 1987 after saying that Gorbachev's reforms were not proceeding fast enough. He was given a position in the Construction Ministry. When he won a seat in the congress, he achieved one of the most stunning political comebacks on Soviet history.

There was no direct vote on selecting Yeltsin to fill the seat on the Supreme Soviet today, but the hall broke into applause after the controversial ex-member of the ruling Politburo was given a legislative seat.

Yeltsin walked out of the congress hall with Kazannik, smiling and met a horde of reporters. He said the decision showed the congress had fallen into line with the will of the people.

Communist Party Politburo member Yegor K. Ligachev, whose resignation Yeltsin has demanded after accusing him of impeding reforms, told reporters the decision was "democratic" and "normal."

During the questioning of Gorbachev's choice for vice president, historian Roy Medvedev told applauding deputies they needed to know more about Lukyanov before they could make him the country's No. 2 government official because policies change whenever the president leaves the Kremlin.

"When Gorbachev goes on vacation or goes abroad, the whole state policy ... changes 50, 60, or 180 percent," said Medvedev, whose studies of Stalinism were banned for many years.

Telman Gdlyan and Nikolai Ivanov, a pair of anti-corruption crusaders who have run afoul of Kremlin authorities, quizzed Lukyanov, who already serves as vice president, on the sharp rise in crime and his attitude toward a high-level investigation of the two outspoken prosecutors.

Lukyanov, a 59-year-old lawyer, originally was elected vice president in October by the old Supreme Soviet, which was a rubber stamp for the Kremlin leadership. He has been involved in government efforts to rewrite the legal code but is not widely known.

He told the deputies that much of the rapid increase in crime was due to the Soviet Union's poor economic condition, and said legal reforms would make great changes.

The constitution gives Gorbachev the right to appoint his own vice president, subject to confirmation by the congress, and several deputies complained that they did not have a choice.

"In the United States of America, they don't vote for the vice president," Gorbachev told the deputies as he pressed for a confirmation vote.

Hurricane forecasters worry about protecting the coast

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) — Forecasters preparing for Thursday's opening of the Atlantic hurricane season wish they could predict the arrival of new technological help they say may be crucial to ever-growing coastal populations.

The Air Force has agreed to fly hurricane reconnaissance flights for two more years, but has made it clear it plans to phase out the missions. And only one satellite is available for tracking hurricanes.

"We just have nothing right now to lean on," says Ken McKinnon, a spokesman for U.S. Rep. Tom Lewis of North Palm Beach, Fla., who has introduced a bill in Congress to keep hurricane hunters flying at least another five years. "We've got one satellite and they're telling us it'll do the job. If it blinks, how do you track weather?"

The Air Force doesn't want to be involved. "We have in the last few years examined our need for manned weather reconnaissance and feel there's no real compelling military reason," said spokesman Lt. Col. Darrell Hayes.

"We're not disputing that the hurricane center and the weather service need the data. We're just saying there may be more appropriate agencies to provide the information," he said, adding that the service had approached the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration about taking over the flights.

Besides the flights, forecasters depend on radar and satellite data.

The single working weather satellite wasn't intended to be alone. A second satellite failed, and a replacement for the failed craft was blown up in a mishap on the launch pad, forcing forecasters to make do.

There are new satellites on the horizon, says Bob Sheets, director of the National Hurricane Center.

On Memorial Day...

Widow of USS Iowa sailor remembers her husband

SWEETWATER, Texas (AP) — On May 1, Leasa Kimble received a short and simple letter from her husband, Edward, a young U.S. Navy seaman who had written during a routine training mission in the Atlantic. He usually wrote about how he loved his work aboard one of the world's largest warships. But on that evening he was bored and wanted more than anything to be with his wife, who was eight months pregnant with their first child. "I thank the Lord for all he has given me. I know it seems I always want more, but as long as I have you and our baby, I will have all I ever need." As he had foreseen in the letter, it left the ship on April 19th — the day he died. Twenty-three-year-old seaman Edward J. Kimble was among 47 men killed aboard the USS Iowa when an explosion ripped through one of the ship's gun turrets during a gunnery exercise near Puerto Rico. Leasa Jones Kimble gave birth to their daughter, Sarah Elizabeth, one month to the day after his death. Although Memorial Day is traditionally a time for Americans to honor those who died during wartime, for Mrs. Kimble the day belongs to her husband as much as to any soldier who died in combat. "He died for his country," she told The Dallas Morning News. Her eyes full of tears, she glanced down at the week-old baby girl sleeping in her arms. "He wanted a little girl. That's all he talked about. He said he wanted to help make the world a little prettier." In December, Leasa, four months pregnant, moved to Norfolk to live with her husband. They had lived together for barely four months when Edward shipped out aboard the Iowa. The day she heard about the explosion aboard the ship, Mrs. Kimble said she knew after talking with military officials that her husband had been killed. "I felt it. It was about noon. I knew he was dead," Mrs. Kimble said. "I was laying down on the couch and the drapes were closed," she said. "But there was this little crack in the drapes, and when I looked up, I saw a man in a white hat. We all ran to the door and there was an officer standing there. Then he asked, 'Mrs. Kimble?' I told him that was me." A wife, widow and mother all in the last year, Mrs. Kimble now lives with her mother in Sweetwater. Although she said she would like to take some classes at the local junior college, she hasn't decided what she will study or when she will begin. She said she ignores news reports about the ongoing investigation of the Iowa disaster. She said she's heard that the explosion may have been the result of sabotage, but she doesn't care. "To me, if somebody did it deliberately, they're going to pay for it," she said. "I'm not going to be bitter about it. The outcome would remain the same." She's concentrating for the time being on raising her daughter and remembering her husband. That won't be difficult, because all around her are reminders of their long-distance courtship and brief marriage — pictures, her wedding ring, Sarah. And his letters. Especially the last one, the one she pulls out of a zippered pocket in her purse, the one he penned as he laid down to sleep two days before he died. "Leasa, you are the perfect wife. I love you. Oh, how I miss you. It hurts inside. Goodnight my dear."

More than 5,000 brave heat to salute Mayor Cisneros

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — More than 5,000 well-wishers braved 100-degree heat to say goodbye to San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros. But his mother and a few others close to the popular politician were quick to remind some on Sunday that "see you later" probably would be a more fitting farewell. After eight years as San Antonio's mayor, Cisneros is being replaced on June 1 by former Mayor Lila Cockrell. His mother, Elvira Cisneros, said her son isn't ready to give up politics for life. "We will see more of Henry. I think he will continue with the will to work for the people of his country. This is not the end of Henry," she told the San Antonio Express-News. The mayor's father, George Cisneros, said Cisneros had not soured on his office duties. "He told me within five to seven years, he will be back, not to the mayor's office, but to a state office or something bigger," the elder Cisneros said. When San Antonio's city hall opened for the reception at 2 p.m. Sunday, throngs of waiting people began snaking inside. In a receiving line, they were given the chance to shake the mayor's hand and ask him to autograph posters bearing his likeness. "I am very proud of the city and proud of you," Cisneros told the crowd. "We have made more progress than I would have believed possible. When I came on the City Council in 1975, I would have said, 'That's a dream, a novel, a storybook,' if someone had told me what we would have accomplished. "But I still have three more days in office. Let's see how many new projects we can start — or how much damage we can do." John Taylor of the San Francisco 49ers, who scored the winning touchdown in the 1989 Super Bowl, also led the NFL in punt returns in the 1988 season.

Debt lingo at IMF said to be hard to understand

WASHINGTON (AP) — How to solve the Third World's $1.2 trillion debt problem? In the jargon of the International Monetary Fund, a prescription might go something like this: "The Enhanced Structural Adjustment Facility will maximize rescheduling potential for the least developed areas, while set-asides from debtor purchases of the fund's ordinary resources, in terms of special drawing rights, can be devoted to operations on the secondary market and a percentage of quotas will be available for interest support." What?

The experts tackling the issues of Third World debt really talk that way. Sometimes, it may be because they are so wrapped up in their specialty that the terminology seems natural. In other cases, someone may be trying to hide something. Robert J. Schaetzel, president of a private group known as the Council for U.S. International Trade policy, says even he often has trouble understanding what the experts are talking about.

"Banks have made unwise loans and don't want to admit it," he said. "They try to offload the responsibility, either on the borrowers or on creditor governments. It's a combination: there's pride in using words few people understand, and you don't bring so much criticism down on your head."

"The IMF's particularly arcane language is intended perhaps to create the mystique that surrounds an enigmatic oracle," said Richard Feinberg, vice-president of the Overseas Development Council. But Rodney Eldridge, professor of international finance at George Washington University, offered a defense of some of the jargon. He said new words have to be invented all the time to keep pace with financial developments. He cited "securitization," meaning the issuance of a new form of bond instead of making a loan. Some speculate the International Monetary Fund's language has something to do with the dignity of European bankers, which often exceeds that of American bankers. Since the fund was set up after World War II, it has always been headed by a banker from Europe. Its sister organization, the World Bank, has always had an American president. While it too uses jargon, the bank tends to go in for simpler language and rarely uses its official title: the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

Agency has very little control over upkeep of homes

HOUSTON (AP) — Hundreds of boarding houses across Texas are housing the mentally ill under substandard conditions with no regulations or licensing procedures to monitor them, and experts say state money and guidance may be the only path to improvement.

The problem exists throughout Texas, but mental health officials say it is most obvious in large metropolitan areas such as Houston.

The situation has pushed the staff of the Harris County Mental Health Mental Retardation Authority into a dead end when trying to place clients, officials said.

By law, they cannot refer clients to boarding homes unless the buildings meet the agency's standards for cleanliness, medication storage, privacy and the ability to meet clients' needs.

"Our case workers are in situations where they have to decide either to leave clients under bridges or refer them to a facility that does not meet our standards," said Frank Fogel, MHMRA's assistant deputy executive director.

Most homes, the agency has found, do not meet these standards. And deaths that have occurred in such homes in the past two years have drawn increased scrutiny on their operations.

The Texas Adult Protective Services is investigating the sixth death of a resident of two Harris County boarding homes within a two-year span. And the starvation death of a mentally ill resident at an unlicensed home in the Central Texas town of Itasca last year prompted authorities to close the facility.

None of the Harris County cases has resulted in charges, although one home that provides licensed services has been ordered to get a license or close its doors.

The case still under investigation involves the death of Robert Lee Cantrell, a 36-year-old resident with a history of drug and alcohol abuse who died last November after taking an overdose of prescription drugs at Briardale Place in Houston.

Close cousins fall into creek and drown in Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Despite efforts by several neighborhood youths and the mother of one of the children, a pair of cousins described by relatives as inseparable playmates slipped into an Oak Cliff creek and drowned. The victims, who died Saturday, were identified as 8-year-old Kawanza Womack and 9-year-old Wykisha Johnson. "They were the best of friends," said Wykisha's mother, Regina Johnson. "They were just like two peas in a pod. Wherever one went, the other went.

Whenever you saw one, you saw the other." The girls' mothers said the cousins, Wykisha's three younger brothers and a friend had been playing beside a creek bank when the accident occurred.

Woman wins mayoral race

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Women are now the top officeholders in Texas four largest cities.

Suzie Azar of El Paso joined Kathy Whitmire of Houston, Annette Strauss of Dallas and Lila Cockrell of San Antonio on the list of big-city Texas mayors by swamping fellow City Council member Ed Elsey in Saturday's runoff.

When Mrs. Azar is sworn in June 12, she will be the first female mayor ever for this desert city of more than 500,000.

"One hundred seventeen years is a long time for El Paso to wait (for a woman mayor), and I'm glad they waited for me," Mrs. Azar said shortly after Elsey conceded defeat Saturday night.

The suspense was virtually over minutes after the polls closed, when results of the 19,000 absentee ballots were released: Mrs. Azar collected about 63 percent.

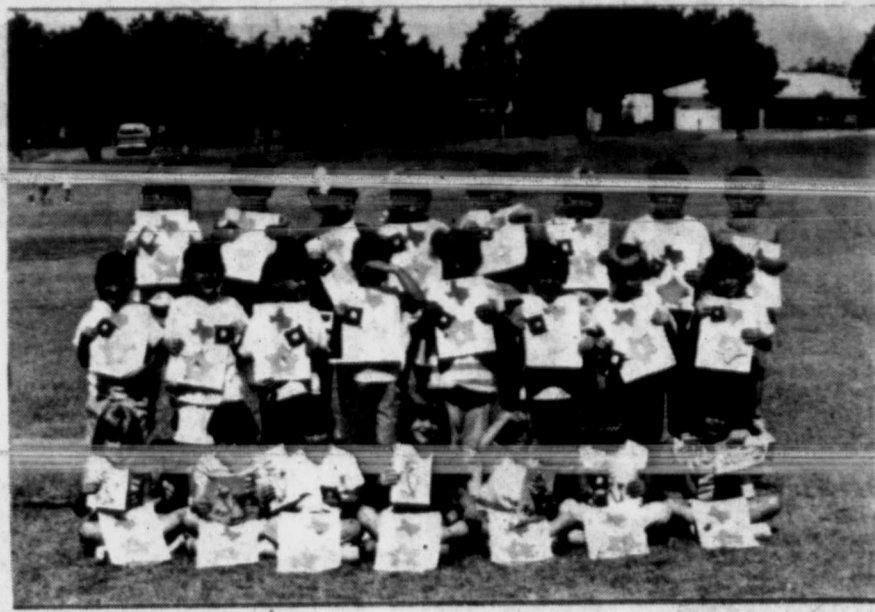

Final, unofficial vote totals had Mrs. Azar with 65 percent of the vote to 35 percent for Elsey. Mrs. Azar received 29,961 votes to Elsey's 16,218.

Shortly after Elsey and Mrs. Azar defeated four other candidates May 6 to make it to Saturday's runoff, Elsey likened himself to a coach and Mrs. Azar to a cheerleader.

He was criticized for that remark, but Mrs. Azar embraced the characterization Saturday night. About a dozen cheerleaders from various high schools kept their pompons shaking at Mrs. Azar's campaign headquarters. At one point, Mrs. Azar, 42, grabbed a megaphone to thank supporters.

Mrs. Azar said her first priority will be economic development — bringing higher-paying jobs to El Paso, one of the poorest cities in the United States. El Paso has a tax base of $10.4 billion — considered small for a city with a population of more than 500,000.

El Paso's problems are exacerbated by the city's cultural, economic and geographical isolation from the rest of the state.

KINDERGARTEN PROJECT—The morning and afternoon kindergarten students at East Elementary recently studied a unit on Texas. They made booklets as they studied. After finishing the booklets, the students enjoyed Texas cookies and punch. Morning students in Mrs. Henry's class include: Ryan Brazier, Cary Brown, Tiffany Brown, Kimberly Fisk, Jessica Martinez, Kim Moore, Scott Reston, Daniell Sharp, Tiffany Satter, Brooke Williams, Heather Woolsey and Devin Williams. Mrs. Massey's morning students are Stephen Dadson, Jamie Hayley, Amber Harbin, April Kubena, Matt Lovelady, Kay Lyles, Audra Reneau, Bethany Rinker, Laci Sullenger, Crissida Tyler and Sinclair George. Mrs. Henry's afternoon students are Shannon Carr, Lacey Crawford, Darin Davis, Melina Gilbert, Rebecca Hermosillo, Kelly Jasso, Jordan Northerns, LeAndra Wallace, Melissa Perez and Mario Fuentez. Mrs. Masey's afternoon students are Zack Allred, Chris Bilberry, Matt Coronado, Tyson Dever, Jennifer Garza, Rocky Jasso, Cameron Mackey, Valerie Pena, Heath Pinkerton, LaBow Rivers, Latisha Thamez and Adam Wood. Policeman killed with own gun

MUNDAY, Texas (AP) — For the first time in this Knox County town of about 1,700, a police officer has been killed in the line of duty. Perry Floyd Patton, 26, one of two officers in the town about 80 miles north of Abilene, died about 3 a.m. Sunday at Haskell Memorial Hospital, said David Wells, spokesman for the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Economy blamed for bond's defeat

AUSTIN (AP) — The lagging Austin economy is to blame for voters' rejection of a $151.8 million bond package, school district officials said.

The outcome of Saturday's election marks the first time in the 108-year history of the school district in which a bond package was rejected by voters, said Nan Clayton, an Austin Independent School District trustee.

"People obviously voted their pocketbooks," she said. For Results Use Snyder Daily News Classified Ads Call 573-4886
