Bush's European visit called 'success'

PORTSMOUTH, New Hampshire (AP) — President Bush arrived home today after his foreign policy debut on the European stage, leaving U.S. allies cheering his leadership at the NATO summit and bringing "a message of hope" for the American people.

"We have a great and historic opportunity to shape the changes that are transforming Europe," the president said. "In this period of historic change, the NATO alliance has never been more united, never been stronger."

On his return from London, Bush was greeted at Pease Air Force Base by a crowd of about 2,000 people including hundreds of flag-waving schoolchildren.

Buoyed by positive reaction to his disarmament proposals, Bush told the crowd: "I am now returning from Europe with a message for the American people — a message of hope."

"We must get to work now to end the Cold War. The world has waited long enough," he said.

Bush will spend the weekend at his oceanside retreat near here at Kennebunkport, Maine, returning to Washington late Sunday.

The president arranged separate meetings Monday with his Cabinet and with Democratic and Republican congressional leaders to assess the results of his week-long tour of Rome, Brussels, Bonn and London and the prospects for negotiated reductions in conventional NATO and Soviet-led Warsaw Pact forces.

"We will spare no effort to achieve agreements that will reduce the risk of war and strengthen the foundations for peace," White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said before the president's departure.

Emerging from dinner with Mrs. Thatcher at 10 Downing Street on Thursday night, Bush declared, "NATO is strong."

As Bush's black limousine pulled away, Mrs. Thatcher approached reporters and said, "We're very much together."

Storm targets Fluvanna area with heavy rains, wind, hail

From Local, Wire Reports
A storm system pounded the Fluvanna area just after 6 p.m. Thursday, but apparently dissipated in intensity as it traveled southward across Scurry County.

Rainfall amounts ranged from a reported 4.8 inches near Fluvanna to .25 of an inch at Ira. Snyder's official rain tally was .76 of an inch.

The outlook for Friday included a 30 percent possibility for more of the same.

Saturday, the Snyder area is predicted to be partly cloudy with a 30 percent chance of mainly afternoon thunderstorms, some possibly severe.

From the Thursday evening storm, hail classified as golf-ball size and larger was reported in and around Fluvanna. Substantial hail damage inside the community was noted as well, including what was expected to be heavy damage to the roof of the Fluvanna post office.

Mike Toombs reported uprooted trees southwest of Fluvanna and limb damage to trees and broken windows were noted throughout the community.

Winds were so heavy when the storm hit, witnesses said, the rain which accompanied it appeared to be "falling horizontally."

Other rain amounts for Scurry County included 2.2 inches at Hermleigh, where some hail and high winds were reported also, 2.5 inches at Dunn, 1 to 1.3 inches at Lake J.B. Thomas and 1 inch at Loyd Mountain.

Thursday evening saw stormy weather experienced in neighboring counties to the west and south.

Tornadoes were reported near Colorado City, Lamesa and Big Spring Thursday night and early Friday.

The tornado at Colorado City blew out the windows of some homes and power lines were downed at Lamesa.

Splash Day set at pool

The Towle Park Pool's biggest crowd of the summer is expected Saturday, when the annual "Splash Day" opening will offer free admission.

Pool manager Pete Rodriguez and his staff of five lifeguards will be operating the Olympic-size pool until school starts again in September, with hours of 2 to 7 p.m. every day except Sundays, when it will be open from 2 to 6 p.m., and Mondays, when it will be closed.

Admission is $2 for swimmers 18 years of age and older and $1 for those 17 and younger.

The pool ranges in depth from three to 10 ft., and it has three diving boards, one high one about 10 ft. off the water and two offering about a 4 ft. drop.

At Big Spring, some cars were washed off a road after more than an inch of rain fell in about 20 minutes.

Forecasts called for the possibility of thunderstorms over most of the state through Friday night except in South Texas and in extreme West Texas. Some of the thunderstorms may linger through Saturday, forecasters said.

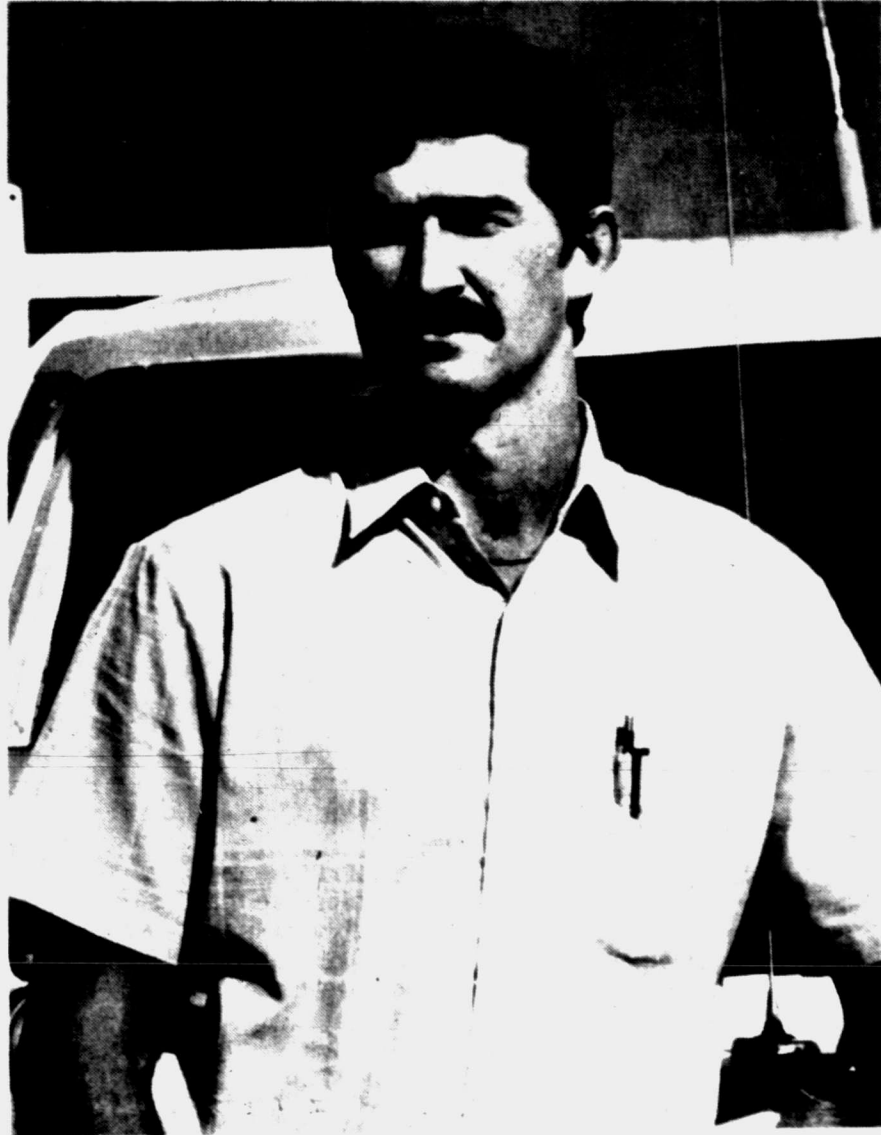

Scattered thunderstorms were reported before dawn Friday across southwestern portions of the Texas Panhandle and the northwestern two-thirds of the South Plains.

Scattered showers were reported along the upper Texas coast and widely scattered showers were reported over the southern low rolling plains and northern sections of the Hill Country early Friday.

It was mostly cloudy over northern and northwestern portions of Texas and partly cloudy over the rest of the state.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 60s and 70s, ranging from the upper 50s in the South Plains to around 80 in South Texas. Extremes ranged from 58 at Lubbock to 80 at Palacios, Del Rio and Corpus Christi.

Other early morning temperatures around the state included 62 at Amarillo, 67 at Wichita Falls, 73 at Fort Worth, 75 at Waco and Austin, 73 at Houston, 76 at Corpus Christi, 77 at Brownsville.

WTC said pleased with state funding; increases minimal

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor

Western Texas College officials say they expect the institution's state funding to increase over the next two-year funding cycle, but that the additional monies will not be of a significant amount.

"Given the economic condition of the state right now, I think it's as generous as they could afford to be," commented WTC President Dr. Harry Krenek.

He was responding to information about statewide college funding received at the close of the state legislative session.

"Just the fact that we're not facing decreases is good news to us," he said.

He characterized the reasons behind the increase as, "a combination of enrollment increases and a bit more state funding."

In net figures, WTC is expected to receive approximately $46,000 more each year of the two-year cycle.

The increase is not considered substantial since each penny on the local property tax rate at the college generates in excess of $990,000.

As an aside, Krenek noted that the increased teaching load WTC will assume beginning in the fall associated with the building of the state prison will not be reflected in state funding for the next two years.

The state monitors universities and colleges every other year for enrollment totals, a key element in the formula for state funding. The recently completed school term was a "funding year," and the state will not sample enrollment again until the 1990-91 year.

Because of this, the addition of TDC inmates as WTC students won't receive state funding credit until that time. When it does occur, however, Krenek noted it should have a marked influence on state-provided funds.

CRMWD set to build salt holding reservoir

The Colorado River Municipal Water District, in an effort to decrease the amount of natural salt affecting water at Lake Spence, has approved plans to create an "evaporation reservoir" in neighboring Mitchell County.

A dam 65 ft. high and one mile long will impound an area of 1,470 acres in an area southwest of Colorado City. This will result in some 2.5 square miles.

When filled, the area should hold some 28,000 acre ft. of salt-charged water which will be diverted through existing pipelines connecting both the Colorado River and Beals Creek.

Lake Spence water, already known for its salty taste, recently experienced an unprecedented runoff which caused Natural Dam Lake to spill thousands of acre feet of highly salt-charged water into Beals Creek which flows down the Colorado River and Spence.

"This unfortunate chain of events demonstrated that we had to take steps to prevent it from happening again," said CRMWD District Manager C.H. Irie.

CRMWD directors gave a go-ahead for the project Wednesday.

Directors authorized management to file a reservoir permit with the Texas Water Commission, also to proceed with engineering and with purchase of land. The price tag may exceed

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

Times change, sometimes for the better, but James Roberts of the Andrews County News says a shift in attitude about the word "stigma" is anything but progress.

"The dictionary says the word means 'a mark of shame or discredit.' In yesteryear, communities usually used social stigma to keep everybody in line.

"Perhaps what this country needs more than a five-cent cigar is a return to the use of first-class stigmas. We can remember a time when a stigma was attached to a man who loafed so much that he failed to provide for his family. He was called a bum.

"A drinking, carousing husband who went off on periodic toots and ignored the needs of his family was relegated to the backwaters of the community by the descriptive term of poor white trash.

"Failure to pass from one grade to another in school carried a certain stigma that was not overcome by popularity, athletics or social prowess.

"Shame and dishonor was to be avoided by each and every family member—it was not something to be worn like a badge or an award.

"...we imagine that the disintegration of the family unit can be traced, to some extent, by the lack of the application of social pressures through the grim but determined use of stigmas to keep everyone on the straight and narrow.

"The cloud of dishonor was a potent force at one time in this country."

While on the subject of personal responsibility, Hereford's O.G. Nieman says, "The more you talk about your troubles and who caused them, the harder it is to find someone who'll listen."

Q — What is the current level at Lake Thomas?

A — The lake level is now 2,229 ft. above sea level. This is 29 ft. below the spillway. The highest the lake has been in recent years was June of 1987, when it rose to 2,241 ft. above sea level.

In Brief

Arson arrest

DALLAS (AP) — A man arrested on burglary and arson charges has told authorities that he set a fire that destroyed the Dallas Gay Alliance offices and several other businesses to cover up a burglary, a fire official says.

Dallas Fire Department Capt. Randy Sanders said Dale Wesley Biddy, 26 of suburban Carrollton, told authorities he had been involved in about two dozen Dallas-area burglaries, including five in which he set fires in attempts to cover up the burglaries.

"It seems to be a strictly for-profit motive," Sanders said of the Feb. 23 fire at the Gay Alliance office. A computer and two printers were taken during the burglary that preceded the fire that caused an estimated $750,000 damage, Sanders added.

Steady & slow

DALLAS (AP) — Texas saw a drop of slightly more than 1 percent in its unemployment rate in May when compared with last month and last year, continuing a slow, but steady economic recovery, analysts said.

Nic Santangelo, chief economist with the Bureau of Labor Statistics in Dallas, said 5.9 percent of the state's employable people were jobless in May, compared with a 7.4 percent jobless rate in April.

Last May, 7.2 percent of the Texas workforce was without a job.

"This is the third consecutive month of significant change in the series," Santangelo said.

Tenneco fine

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston-based Tenneco is paying the Department of the Interior a $5 million fine today for deliberately destroying 1 billion cubic feet of natural gas at a Gulf of Mexico drilling platform and then trying to conceal the action to avoid paying government royalties.

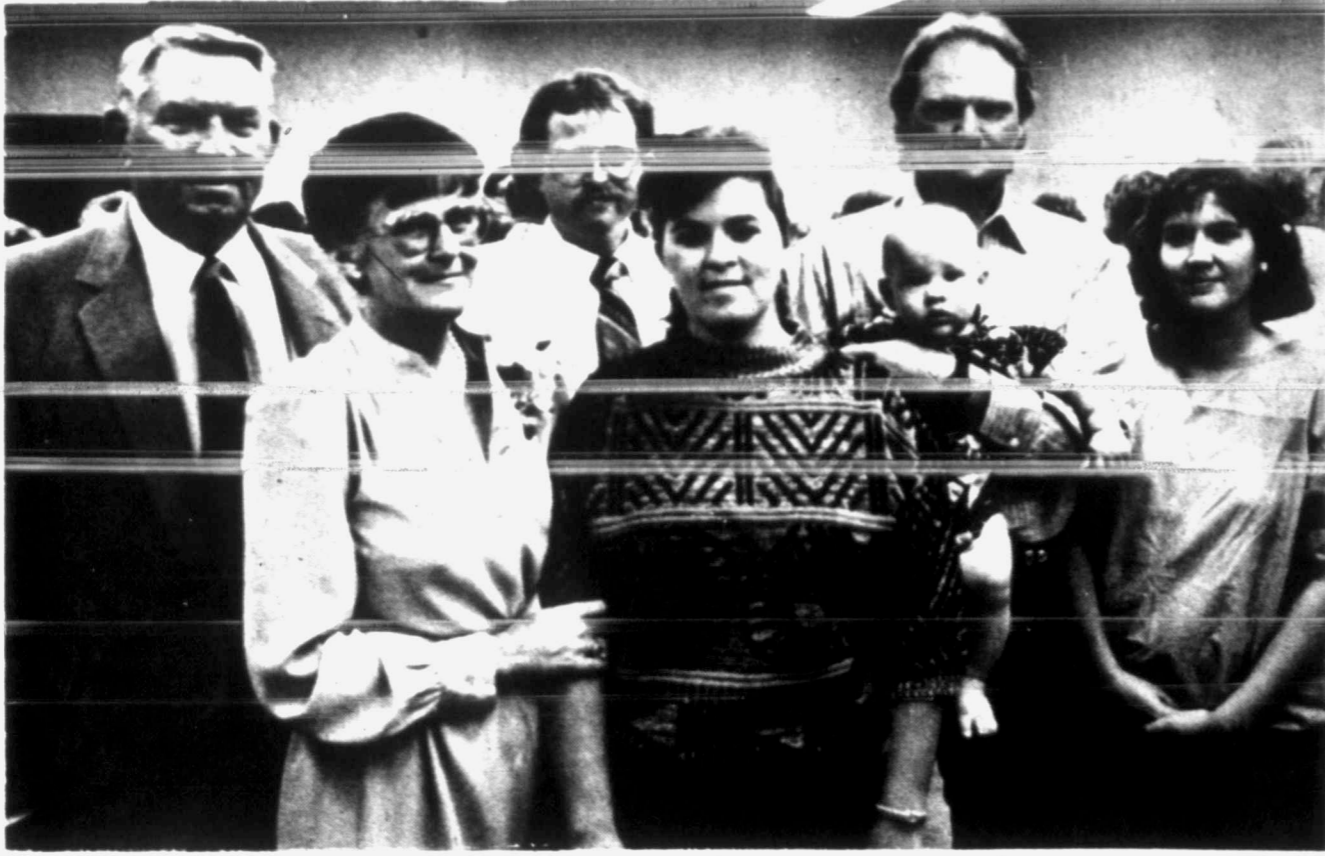

The payment, to be made in New Orleans, is described by the department as the largest such settlement ever collected.

"This is a matter of cheating the American people — first by wasting an important natural resource and second by not paying America for using it," Interior Secretary Manuel Lujan said.

Accountant arrested in 1971 slayings of family

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — John E. List's first life as a church-going accountant ended 18 years ago when he disappeared after the slayings of his mother, wife and three children in their Victorian mansion.

His second, almost parallel existence ended Thursday when FBI agents arrested List in an accounting office in Richmond, Va., wrapping up a search that had led to all 50 states, Europe and South America.

The arrest came 11 days after Fox television network's

"America's Most Wanted" program broadcast details of List's case.

The show re-enacted the slayings, and displayed photos of List from before the killings and a sculptor's bust of how he might look today. One viewer called to say a man resembling List was living in the Richmond suburb of Midlothian, the FBI said.

"I don't know what a guy who's killed five people is supposed to look like, but he was not that person," said Pat Ferguson, who lives two doors away from the man she knew as Robert P. Clark but who agents said was List.

"He worked hard in his yard, went to work every day, went to church every Sunday. The guy was so average."

List is accused of shooting to death his mother, Alma, 85; wife, Helen, 45; and their three children, Patricia, 16, John Jr. 15, and Frederick, 13.

Their bodies were found Dec. 7, 1971, in the family's 18-room mansion in Westfield, 10 miles southwest of Newark. Police said they found a confession written by List and addressed to his Lutheran minister on the dining table.

"Nobody believed he could do something like that," said Frank Chenitz, who lives a few houses away from where the mansion stood. It was destroyed by fire in 1972.

"I say give him a fair trial, because we've only heard one side of the story," said Chenitz. "But the things he's accused of, if he did them, then he deserves the worst. They were atrocities."

After the slayings, investigators found that List had two mortgages on his house, was failing as a financial consultant and had been siphoning money from his mother's $200,000 savings account.

Since 1971, List lived most of the time in Denver, where he met a woman at a Lutheran church function in 1977 and married her eight years later, authorities said.

Authorities said List's new wife, Delores, was unaware of his past and was shocked by his arrest. She has helped agents piece together some of List's movements since 1971.

The childless couple lived in the Richmond area for about a year, authorities said.

Neighbors Joseph and Jacqueline Stefano said the Clarks were good, hardworking people who did not like to talk about their past.

The families did odd jobs for each other and exchanged books and videotapes, Stefano said. Clark often called up to recommend a movie or television show, Stefano said. One of his picks was "America's Most Wanted," but Stefano missed the program the week List was featured.

In his confession, List said he believed his family was drifting from the church and was upset that his daughter wanted to be an actress, investigators have said.

At a federal court appearance Thursday in Richmond, the suspect denied being List and signed an affidavit as Clark.

The FBI said it identified him as List from fingerprints in his Army records.

A magistrate ordered him jailed pending a bond hearing Monday.

List is charged with five counts of first-degree murder and fleeing to avoid prosecution.

State judge delays PUC order

AUSTIN (AP) — A state district judge on Thursday issued a temporary restraining order that delays a Public Utility Commission order forcing GTE Southwest Inc. to refund more than $128 million to its customers.

Judge Joe Hart issued the order after GTE filed a lawsuit on Thursday challenging the PUC edict that also called for a rate cut of $59.2 million.

The PUC had maintained that GTE owes $128 million plus interest to its customers because of overcharges on state and federal taxes since Jan. 1, 1987.

But GTE contends in the lawsuit filed Thursday that it would suffer "material and irreparable harm" because of the PUC decision.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Federal officials are looking into an Oklahoma City-based company that allegedly has been shipping contaminated cattle feed to major feedlots in Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle.

Since 1985, Rio Arriba Minerals Inc., a New Mexico corporation doing business as Big E Industries in Oklahoma City, Durant and Amarillo, Texas, has received inedible oils and toxic products from out of state, officials said Thursday.

Those unauthorized products — including pesticides and PCBs — allegedly were blended with other fats and oils at plants in Durant and Amarillo, then were sold to unsuspecting feedlots and stockyards as "blended feeding fat," a safe cattle food, said Gerald Vince, district director of the federal Food and Drug Administration.

Big E Industries operates under a number of names, including Action Trading Co., Galleria Ltd., Earles Enterprises, Molex Chemical Co. and United Western Ener Corp.

All the companies are allegedly owned and operated by Harvey L. Earles of Oklahoma City, officials said.

Earles said Thursday he has "complied with everything they (the FDA) have asked me to do." He declined to discuss details of the FDA's allegations and would not say where his feed was being shipped.

Although no tainted meat has been discovered, the FDA considered the potential for dangerous contamination so great that it asked a federal judge Wednesday to issue an injunction forcing the company and all its operating companies to stop the shipments.

U.S. District Judge Lee West did not act on that request Thursday.

The FDA's main worry is the potential danger to animals who ate the feed and to humans who ate contaminated beef, Vince said.

"We advised the U.S. Department of Agriculture of our concern and if they had found quantities of any significance they would have notified us immediately," he said.

In addition to PCBs, some shipments were contaminated with dieldrin, a pesticide, officials said. Others contained mixtures resembling commercial diesel fuels, Vince said.

PCBs, or polychlorinated biphenyls, are cancer-causing compounds once used as cooling lubricants in electrical transformers.

U.S. Agriculture Department officials said Thursday that no sign of contamination has been found in meat from animals produced at the feedlots that received the allegedly tainted feed.

The FDA refused to identify those feedlots.

DR. GOTT PETER GOTT, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.
 © 1989 NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.
DEAR DR. GOTT: I have had rheumatoid arthritis for years and can't tolerate pain-relieving drugs. I'm currently on Tylenol, and it isn't effective. Have you any suggestions?
DEAR READER: Without knowing precisely which medicine you cannot tolerate, I am unable to give you a definitive answer to your question. However, many drugs are available for the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis.

in one way or another, all these compounds act by reducing inflammation.
 Aspirin remains a mainstay of therapy. Despite its tendency to cause stomach upset and gastric bleeding, it is a simple and inexpensive first-line drug. Aspirin is available in plain pills or liquid, buffered form, coated capsules and tablets that don't dissolve until they reach the intestine. These special types are designed, by coating or by containing antacids, to reduce gastric irritation. They are available without prescription.
 Tylenol (acetaminophen) is, in my experience, not strong enough to relieve the discomfort of rheumatoid arthritis.

Non-steroid, aspirinlike prescription drugs are often useful in treating this disease. These include Motrin, Indocin, Anaprox, Naprosyn, Meclomen, Nalfon, Clinoril, Rufen, Orudis, Feldene and Zorprin. I have been impressed with a newcomer to the field, Voltaren, which underwent extensive successful testing in Europe before being introduced in the United States. Also, Ansaid, a new drug related to ibuprofen, shows promise.

Like aspirin, most of these medications can cause gastric upset and bleeding. To counteract this, a brand-new drug (Cytotec) has recently come on the market; the purpose of the medicine is to prevent gastric irritation. As a general rule, almost all patients can be helped by taking one of the above drugs, with or without medicine to control stomach problems.

Gold is also useful in controlling the inflammation of rheumatoid arthritis. It is available by prescription in injections or pill form. Because gold can adversely affect the kidneys, the skin and the blood cells, it should be used cautiously, under close medical supervision.

The anti-malaria drug Plaquenil is also helpful in treating rheumatoid arthritis.
 Penicillamine, a chelating agent usually used for removing excess copper from the body, has been shown to have definite anti-rheumatoid benefits. However, it can produce severe, unwanted side effects — such as fever and allergic reactions, bone marrow depression and peptic ulcers — so it must be used with caution only by practitioners who are familiar with it.

Cortisone and similar drugs have been prescribed for years to patients with severe rheumatoid arthritis. However, they should be considered a last resort because, although extremely effective in reducing pain and stiffness and swelling, they carry the risk of serious side effects. These include cataracts, diabetes, bone brittleness, changes in facial characteristics and interference with the immune system.

Finally, many orthopedic surgeons are now replacing immobile, diseased joints with artificial ones. Although prosthetic joints are not appropriate for all patients with rheumatoid arthritis, the operation can result in miraculous improvement when specific joints cause chronic pain in selected patients.

As you can see, there is available a wide variety of treatments for rheumatoid arthritis. If your doctor has been unable to discover a suitable form of therapy for you, I suggest you request a referral to a rheumatologist, a specialist in inflammatory joint disease. Such a physician should be able to work with you to find a satisfactory solution to your problem. To give you additional information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Consumer Tips on Medicines." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Nuclear plant is finished

BAY CITY, Texas (AP) — Almost 16 years to the day of announcing its plans to build a twin-reactor, 2,500-megawatt nuclear plant, officials of Houston Lighting & Power Co. today are dedicating its completion.

The plant, estimated to cost at under $1 billion with completion in 1980, is being dedicated today under a big tent staked in the shadow of the plant where the costs ballooned to $5.8 billion and continues to be the source of controversy even as it produces electric power.

"A lot of people said we're never going to get it finished," utility spokesman Floyd LeBlanc said. "Well, it's finished."

Numerous state and federal officials, including at least two congressmen, Tom Delay and Greg Laughlin, are expected to attend the ceremonies along with executives of the utility and companies involved in the construction.

It was June 6, 1973, when Houston Lighting & Power officials and their counterparts from Central Power and Light Co. of Corpus Christi announced they would build the plant south of Bay City in Matagorda County.

In those 16 years, public utilities in San Antonio and Austin joined in the project. Austin has been trying to get out for years and the dispute now is being heard in a Dallas court.

The design engineering firm, Brown & Root, of Houston, was fired and was sued for $6 billion. Brown & Root then quit as contractor. That dispute eventually was settled for $700 million.

And federal licensing board proceedings, which began in 1981, did not end until August 1986 when the utility finally was awarded an operating license for the first of two reactors.

On March 8, 1988, Unit 1 received its full-power operating license. Unit 2 has been operating at 75 percent in recent weeks with full power expected to be reached early this month. After 100 consecutive hours at full power, the second reactor, which received a full-power license in March, will be declared in commercial operation.

So far, Unit 1 has produced 6.7 billion kilowatt-hours of power, which Houston Lighting & Power says is the equivalent of 4 million tons of coal or 11.2 million barrels of oil.

Unit 2, meanwhile, has produced 151 million kilowatt-hours of power, equal to 91,000 tons of coal or 250,000 barrels of oil.
 Austin officials contend the utility mismanaged construction of the plant and breached a participation agreement. They are seeking to recover their expenses from Houston Lighting & Power — at least $340 million — in a lawsuit trial now entering its fourth month.

A tentative agreement in which Austin's 16 percent share of the nuclear plant would have been exchanged for a 28 percent share of a conventional power plant was found by the Texas Public Utilities Commission to be not in the public interest.

Meanwhile, Houston Lighting & Power has made the quality of the plant a key issue in its request to the commission to raise rates by $446 million and two later rate increases.

The utility has said the plant in the long run will save its customers in South Texas $24 billion when compared to other energy sources, and its 1,650 plant employees will add more than $200 million to the South Texas economy.

In trouble being brilliant

By James Jacoby

Special bids spawn special treatments in the fast-moving world of competitive bridge. Consider the weak two-bid, defined as an opening bid of two diamonds, two hearts or two spades, showing about 6-10 high-card points with a six-card suit. When it was first invented, the responder's raise of a weak two-bid was invitational. But today most players believe that the raise should just be getting further in the opponents' way. So East bid three hearts, just to make it harder for South to compete.

Because South suspected what was happening, he took his life in his hands and bid three no-trump. True, East had been simply pre-empting further. And North had nine high-card points, enough to make three no-trump. But if West leads a heart, East will later win the ace of diamonds and lead another heart through declarer, killing the contract.

Unfortunately West had a monkey on his back. He thought South was looking at the king of hearts and a long running club suit. And he decided to deprive South of a trick with the heart king. So he led the jack of spades. Declarer won the queen in dummy and took a club finesse. He played clubs a second time before switching to diamonds. East won the ace of diamonds and played a heart, but declarer still had a stopper.

The blame must go to West for trying to be brilliant on opening lead. He should be willing to give up a heart trick to declarer to ensure defeating the contract whenever East can get on lead before declarer makes game.

Woman faces $25 million in fines

DALLAS (AP) — An Arlington woman has been indicted by a federal grand jury in Fort Worth on charges of embezzling more than $2.5 million while serving as an escrow closing agent under contract to a federal housing official.

Reba Louise Lovell, 36, faces fines up to $25.75 million and up to 1030 years imprisonment, said FBI spokesman Woody Specht.

A 79-count indictment accuses Ms. Lovell of keeping the proceeds from the sale of 55 residential properties owned by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development and making illegal banking transactions in an effort to hide the funds.

The National Military Establishment was renamed the Department of Defense in 1949.

Dear Abby

Wife Hurt That Mother-in-Law Thinks 'Her' Kids Aren't 'Ours'

By Abigail Van Buren

© Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: With all the stepfamilies in today's society, maybe your answer can benefit others with the same problem.

"Ira" and I have been married for seven years. When he married me, I had two children, ages 2 and 3 years old, from a previous marriage. Ira is the only father my children have ever known.

Now, my problem: Whenever we are with my mother-in-law and she introduces us to anybody, she says, "This is my son, Ira, his wife, Mary, and Mary's two children," emphasizing the fact that they are my children, but not Ira's.

These children are her grandchildren; they call her "Grandma." I have told Ira that I am hurt and offended by his mother's behavior, and since he has been a father to these children since they were infants, he should ask his mother to please refer to them as "our" children, which is the way Ira refers to them.

Ira says his mother doesn't mean anything by it, and I am being too sensitive. Meanwhile, she continues to hurt me this way every chance she gets. What do you suggest?

MARY

DEAR MARY: Ask Ira to please be more supportive. But don't you permit this to become a divisive issue in your marriage.

What's wrong with saying: "Mother, you hurt me when you emphasize so emphatically that these children are mine. Ira has been a wonderful father to them, and he refers to them as his children. I wish you would too."

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating this perfectly wonderful man steadily for more than two years. I am 30 and divorced (no children) and he is 38 and has never been married. He tells me he loves me, and I have fallen head over heels in love with him. He treats me like a queen and we are perfect for each other.

The problem: He does not want to make a commitment. He says he was hurt eight years ago and is afraid of being hurt again, so he refuses to make any kind of commitment.

Astro-Graph

By Renice Bede Ozol

June 3, 1989

An active schedule of exciting experiences may be on the agenda for you in the coming year. The times ahead should be pleasant with new faces, new places and new interests.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A buzz of exciting news could make the rounds among your friends today. It might be a bulletin about something nice that has happened to you. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Confidential information from an unusual quarter could work to your benefit today, provided you respond promptly to that which you learn.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Lucky things could develop for you at this time through people you know socially. Make it a point to drop by your club today or touch bases with pals on your softball team or tennis league.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Conditions look more favorable than usual for you now in matters that affect your career or popularity, or perhaps both. It should be an interesting day for you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Although this may not be true of people with whom you'll be involved, things in general should work out to your ultimate benefit today. Lady Luck might single you out for special attention.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Someone you have been periodically helped over the past year or so has never forgotten your thoughtfulness. There is a chance of lavish reciprocation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Several of your associates might ask you to represent them in a matter of importance today. They selected the right person, because you'll be a skillful negotiator.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It looks like appropriate help will be available today pertaining to something you thought you would have to do unaided. This should make what needs doing easy to accomplish.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You could be rather lucky today in situations that have elements of chance, but this does not mean you should take gambles on people or things about whom you know little.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be optimistic regarding the outcome of important events today. If you think like a winner, you'll act like a winner and you'll do what needs doing in a successful manner.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There's a strong possibility you might meet someone new and interesting today. If this should happen, take immediate steps to cultivate the relationship, because it could turn out to be meaningful.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Good things you have presently going for you where your finances are concerned can be expanded upon and made even better. Capitalize on your opportunities.

NOW activists plan campaign to bring abortion pill to U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both sides in the abortion battle are squaring off over a "morning after" abortion pill that is available in France but not in the United States.

Officials of national Right to Life said they are prepared to encourage a boycott of products distributed by an American affiliate of the French manufacturer of the pill if there is an attempt to license the drug in the United States.

And on the other side, leaders of the National Organization for Women and the Fund for the Feminist Majority call such tactics "medical McCarthyism" and are preparing to lobby federal health officials and commercial drug companies to start American testing of the abortion pill.

The drug, called RU486, is now being used for about 15 percent of the elective abortions in France and is being studied for the treatment of certain diseases. RU486 has not been approved by the Food and Drug Administration for distribution in the United States.

NOW President Molly Yard charged at a Thursday news conference that the Right to Life organization is intimidating American pharmaceutical firms from attempting to license or test the drug in this country.

"It is a total insensitivity on the part of Right to Life to be working to keep this drug out (of the United States)," said Ms. Yard. "We intend to organize people to see to it that we get RU486 into this country."

Eleanor Smeal, president of the Fund for the Feminist Majority, said that a campaign against RU486 by the Right to Life organization has "put a chill on research" and caused American drug companies to avoid investing in the abortion pill.

"We intend to visit the pharmaceutical industry leaders and ask them to rise above this medical McCarthyism," said Ms. Smeal. "We believe it is their moral and scientific responsibility."

Car winner too young to drive yet

CHATSWORTH, Ga. (AP) — Ninth-grader Kevin Wooten's perfect attendance at school this year paid a dividend on the last day of class: a new car. The problem is he's too young to drive.

Murray County High School Principal Mickey McNeill announced early in the school year that students with perfect attendance each month would have a chance at winning a car at year's end.

Those who missed no school all year got nine extra chances at winning.

Wooten got the keys to a new Chevrolet Sprint Metro to kick off his summer vacation, thanks to contributions from businesspeople, individuals and a Chevrolet dealer.

But Wooten won't be old enough to drive the car — 16 — until September.

"I think they didn't believe it would be a reality," said McNeill, who added that he hasn't decided whether to use the same incentive next year. "But we've made believers of them now."

He said Thursday the car incentive was an idea to interest students in coming to school who would otherwise have poor attendance records.

McNeill said the school wanted to try "positive rewards rather than punishment" as an incentive for good attendance.

"We came up with what every kid wants — a car," McNeill said.

For Texas leaders...

Wright's loss may mean more work

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Texas influence in Washington waning as House Speaker Jim Wright prepares to leave Congress, the state's other powerful allies say they're ready for some heavy lifting to fill the void.

"Fortunately, Texas is blessed by having many spokesmen in Washington, including the president and Cabinet officers and agency heads," says Sen. Phil

Gramm. "So this is clearly a setback but if everybody works hard I believe we can still get the job done."

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen said Wright's loss means a heavier burden for him as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee because of its broad jurisdiction.

"Where I could count on Jim Wright to pick up that part over there on the House side, along with the members of the Texas delegation, he had an extra bit of muscle as speaker. So it'll be up to the rest of us to make up for that," said Bentsen, a Democrat who chairs the Senate's most influential committee.

The loss of Wright's influence will be felt when it comes to shaping legislation to benefit major projects like the $4.4 billion super collider and the space station, as well as the small grants that have a big impact in rural Texas.

"I'm talking about projects that range from the funding for the super collider to the decision to build a power grid in Monahans and the V-22 (aircraft)," said Gramm, a Republican.

"We've lost an important spokesman for our agenda which means the rest of us have to link together, work a little harder and make it happen," Rep. Jim Chapman, a Sulphur Springs Democrat, said Thursday.

Chapman says Texas will be losing the vigilant eye of someone who could spot and stop "the late hour mischief that can occur in this place, or the possibility of late hour mischief."

Wright also was able to restore a battered piece of Texas legislation to its original state as it neared a final vote in the House, Chapman said.

"The speaker has a tremendous influence in that process and can influence that process," Chapman said.

"Any time I would go to him with something for my district or Texas, I always had a friendly ear and that helped. He never turned his back. He always gave you effort and you felt it; not just a token effort, he swung hard when he swung," said Rep. Ralph Hall, a Rockwall Democrat.

Texans say they believe the delegation will still win congressional support for building the super collider in Ellis County, but the fight will be even harder without Wright.

Hall also bemoaned the loss of former Sen. John Tower of Texas, whose nomination as secretary of defense was rejected by the Senate amid allegations of conflict of interest, womanizing and excessive drinking.

In addition to Commerce Secretary Robert Mosbacher and President Bush, other Texans in power include Secretary of State James A. Baker III, Education Secretary Lauro Cavazos, House Agriculture Committee Chairman Kika de la Garza, House Judiciary Committee Chairman Jack Brooks, House Banking Committee Chairman Henry B. Gonzalez, and Rep. Mickey Leland, chairman of the House Select Committee on Hunger.

"Losing Jim Wright is the loss of an effective ally on Texas issues," Gramm said. "But I believe Texas still has strong representation in Washington and if those of us representing Texas in Washington work harder, we can protect and promote the interests of our state, but it will be harder."

Astros keep string alive

HOUSTON (AP) — Mickey Hatcher was almost apologetic about breaking up Jim Deshaies' no-hitter in the eighth inning.

"I felt like calling up to the press box and asking them to give me an error," Hatcher said.

Deshaies pitched seven and two-thirds innings of no-hit baseball, leading the Astros to a 7-2 victory Thursday night.

He didn't allow a hit until Hatcher's grounder back to the mound glanced off Deshaies' glove for an infield hit.

Eddie Murray started the ninth with a single to right field and Hatcher decided to keep his hit.

"When Eddie got his hit the next inning, I decided not to call," Hatcher said. "He (Deshaies) was like a nightmare to me. I couldn't hit him with a tennis racket. The hit came and I felt like falling down."

"We got two donkey hits off him or it's a no hitter. He obviously does a great job against us all the time."

The victory extended Houston's winning streak to seven straight games and kept Deshaies unbeaten in his career against the Dodgers in the Astrodome with a 6-0 record.

"As soon as you think you have someone's number they are likely to jump up and tattoo you," Deshaies said. "I started to get my rhythm in about the sixth ining. I thought about a no hitter then."

Deshaies thought he caused his own downfall by going for the ball.

"I think if I'd have left it alone, it would have been an out, 'Raf' is good at those kind of balls," Deshaies said.

Although Deshaies lost his no-hit bid, he helped the Astros improve their home record to 11-17. They have a 17-7 home record, the best in the major leagues.

Now they're trying to improve before the home crowd.

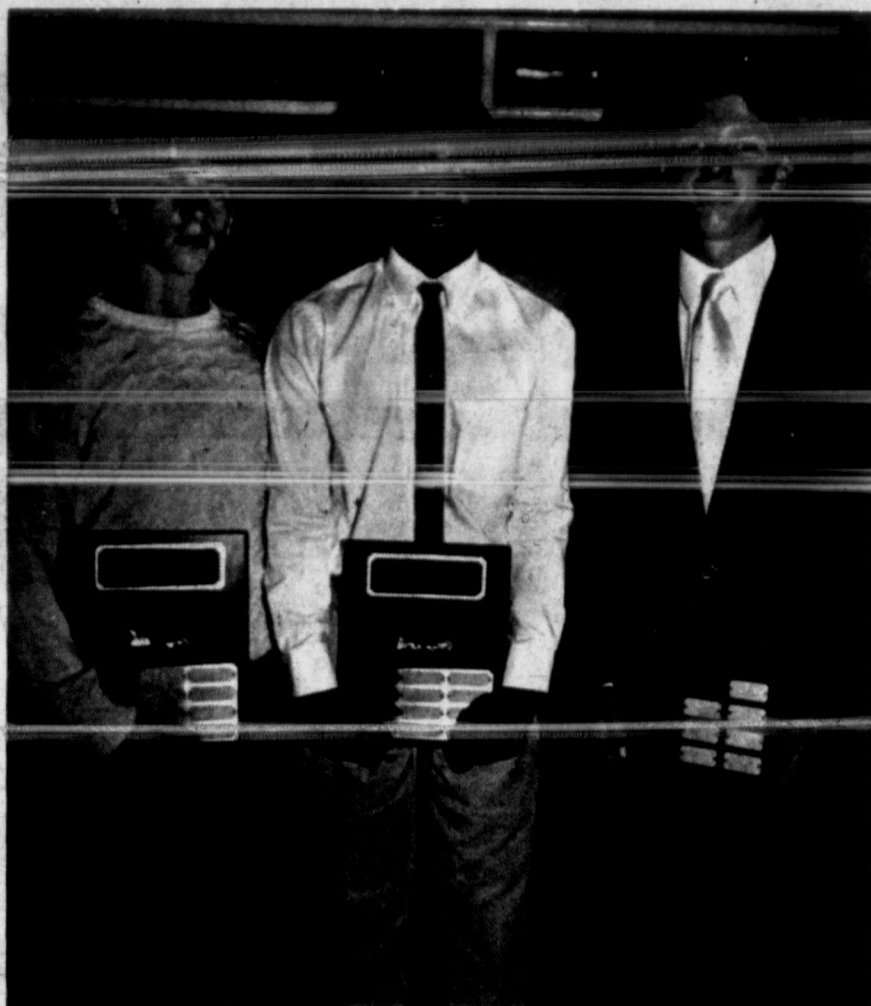

"Any time you get the first game in a series it's nice," catcher Craig Biggio said. "But we've got to come back tomorrow and the other nine games and get the job done."

"It's just a matter of time before we start winning here. We're doing it on the road and I'm sure we'll do it here soon."

The Astros scored two runs in the second on an error by catcher Mike Scioscia and a grounder by Biggio.

Bill Doran's single and a two-run single by Ramirez scored three more runs in the third. A sacrifice fly by Gerald Young and Biggio's homer in the sixth gave Houston its other runs.

A wild pitch by Deshaies and a sacrifice fly by Dave Anderson in the ninth inning provided the Dodgers with their runs.

9th inning homer derails Rangers

SEATTLE (AP) — Dave Cochrane said he wanted "to put the bat on the ball" when he stepped to the plate in the bottom of the ninth inning for the Seattle Mariners. He got more than he hoped for.

"That's as far as I've ever hit the ball," Cochrane said after his 417-foot home run lifted the Mariners to a 3-2 victory over the Texas Rangers.

Cochrane, a utility man who has been playing first base in place of the injured Alvin Davis, has struggled in the field and felt redeemed by his clutch hit. In the eighth inning, he missed Scott Fletcher's line drive down the first base line that went for a two-run double that tied the game 2-2.

"I'm proud of the way I can jump, but on that play I got off the ground about three inches," Cochrane said. "The umpire said I missed it a foot. I was no Michael (Jordan) on that play."

"I've felt pretty bad the way I've been playing. I just wanted to contribute. Fortunately, I put the bat on the ball," he said.

Seattle Manager Jim Lefebvre talked to Cochrane before the game.

"I told him the only thing that would keep him from being a good player up here is his nervousness," Lefebvre said. "He can play all nine positions and hit with power from both sides of the plate. If he keeps things in perspective, he'll be an asset."

Mike Schooler, who has 12 saves in as many opportunities, was the winning pitcher, allowing one hit in 1 2-3 innings with two strikeouts and one walk.

Entering the game with two Rangers on base in the eighth, the 6-foot-3 right-hander, 1-0, retired Ruben Sierra on a grounder and struck out Julio Franco, who leads the American League with 44 RBIs.

"Schooler gave us a chance to win the game by getting us out of the eighth inning," Lefebvre said. "It was a very big win because of the way things went on the road trip."

The Mariners lost seven of nine games on an eastern road swing, before beating the Rangers in the opening game of a seven-game homestand.

Must game on tap for Bulls

CHICAGO (AP) — The fans see the Chicago Bulls down 3-2 to the Detroit Pistons and on the brink of elimination from the NBA playoffs, but Michael Jordan is concerned with the number 24.

That's the tally of Chicago turnovers in Wednesday night's pivotal 94-85 Pistons' home victory in Game 5 of the best-of-7 Eastern Conference championship.

Jordan, held to 18 points as his team lost for the second time in three nights, said the Bulls' playoff survival depends on his team holding on to the ball in Game 6 tonight at Chicago Stadium.

"We've got to come out and take care of the basketball," Jordan said after Thursday's practice at the Deerfield Multiplex.

In tonight's game — the first June contest in the history of the Chicago franchise — Jordan also is concerned with scoring more against Detroit's tough defense, which has been ganging up on the NBA's three-time scoring champions.

"Hopefully, I can break away from the double and triple teams and get some shots," he said. "I don't think it's in our best interests to force shots."

Detroit's Dennis Rodman said the Pistons have been happy to shut Jordan down, forcing him to dish off the ball to his teammates.

"If Jordan wants to pass, we'll let him pass — we'll let him do that all night," Rodman said.

On Wednesday night, Jordan and his teammates seemed to get colder from the field as the game went on.

"We took our shots in the first half and made them, but we couldn't down the stretch," Jordan said.

"We had the shots to win the ballgame," he said. "We just didn't hit them."

Craig Hodges, who topped Chicago with 19 points, said, "We had our chances. We just didn't execute."

Rodman likens the conference finals, which the Bulls once led 2-1, to a boxing match.

"This has been like two boxers giving each other every punch he has," said Rodman, whose 14 rebounds Wednesday night helped topple Chicago.

But he thinks Detroit has one big advantage.

"I think we tire them out because of our bench strength," Rodman said.

Indeed, The Detroit reserves outscored Chicago 26-2 Wednesday night.

Vinnie "The Microwave"

Johnson came off the bench for a game-high 22 points. He scored 16 points in the final quarter, giving star guard Isiah Thomas loads of rest.

Weibring has stroke lead

POTOMAC, Md. (AP) — If D.A. Weibring ends up winning the Kemper Open, he might want to give a portion of his check to the doctor who did some "cutting, injecting and sawing" on his infected left toe.

Weibring equaled a course record with a 7-under-par 64 Thursday for a one-shot lead over Fred Funk in the $900,000 tournament at the TPC at Avenel course.

Weibring, vying for his third PGA victory in 13 years on tour, nearly missed the tournament because of his ailing big toe. He withdrew Wednesday after nine holes of the Pro-Am, but received emergency treatment and was in fine shape by the time he teed off just over 24 hours later.

"I was thankful just to be able to play," he said. "I was told if I didn't get it taken care of yesterday, I would have been in the hospital today."

Weibring's bogey-free round overshadowed a hole-in-one by Donnie Hammond, who finished the round tied for third at 66 with Tom Byrum and Bill Buttnr.

Dave Barr was alone in sixth after shooting a 67.

Weibring, who turned 36 last week, had four birdies on the back nine in matching Greg Norman, Tom Kite and Craig Stadler for the lowest scores ever at Avenel. Weibring missed a chance to own the record alone when he botched a five-foot birdie putt on No. 18.

Hammond's ace occurred on the 147-yard, par-3 11th hole. Using an 8-iron, he put the shot about 10 feet in front of the pin and got a perfect roll. It was the first hole-in-one during the three years the tournament has been held at Avenel and Hammond's third in a PGA event.

Ex-president of Vernon S&L latest figure to be charged

DALLAS (AP) — The former president of Vernon Savings and Loan Association has been charged with conspiring with other senior Vernon officers to commit fraud in a scheme involving $55,000 in political contributions.

A federal grand jury in Dallas returned the 33-count indictment against Patrick G. King Thursday.

The scheme allegedly involved reimbursing Vernon officers approximately $55,000 for political campaign contributions to candidates for state and federal office, said FBI special agent Woody Specht.

The indictment charges that the scheme involved contributions in 1986 to Texas Republican gubernatorial candidate Tom Loeffler and the 1986 Texas Tribune, an organization that donated money to several politicians, including House Speaker Jim Wright of Fort Worth, U.S. Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., and U.S. Rep. Jack Kemp, R-New York.

But the indictment emphasized that there were no allegations whatsoever that any of the candidates or campaign organizations knew that the contributions were coming from Vernon or were otherwise illegal.

"The candidates knew absolutely nothing about it," Specht said.

Court of said county on the 31st day of May, 1989, hereby notifies all persons indebted to said estate to come forward and make settlement, and those having claims against said estate to present them to Hood Parker, Jr., 309 33rd Street, Snyder, Texas 79549, within the time prescribed by law.

Executed this 31st day of May, 1989.

 Independent Executor

The indictment, which charges King with conspiring with other senior officers to defraud the Federal Home Loan Bank Board and to misapply Vernon funds and enter false statements in its books and records was announced by the Dallas Bank Fraud Task Force.

The task force is a multi-agency group which brought the charges as part of the U.S. Justice Department's ongoing investigation of suspected fraud in the Texas banking and savings industry.

The task force has prompted prosecution against 45 individuals, 31 of whom have been convicted.

The indictment also charges King with misapplying Vernon funds and causing false entries to be made in Vernon's records.

"In effect, the indictment charges that officials contributed to campaigns but were then reimbursed through various methods like through payroll accounts, expense accounts," Specht said. "They were getting the money back."
