

China expels 2 newsmen...

Students said under arrest

BEIJING (AP) — Authorities today announced the arrest of two of 21 student leaders wanted for roles in the pro-democracy movement and ordered two Western reporters expelled for their reporting on the martial law crackdown.

Given three days to leave were John Pomfret of The Associated Press and Voice of America bureau chief Alan Pessin.

The British Broadcasting Corp. in Beijing initially reported that Brian Barron, its Far Eastern TV correspondent also was ordered out, but later said "it was just a mistake."

The expulsion order came as authorities intensified criticism of the United States and pressed on with a nationwide clampdown on dissent that has already netted more than 1,000 arrests.

Communist authorities have criticized VOA, whose short-wave broadcasts are an important source of information for Chinese, as spreading "distortions." They have also condemned Washington for sheltering Chinese dissident Fang Lizhi and his wife, Li Shuxian, at the U.S. Embassy.

Authorities also announced today the arrest of 32 participants in pro democracy protests, which ended June 3-4 with a military assault on Beijing's center in which hundreds of unarmed civilians were killed.

The Communist Party newspaper, the People's Daily, warned the United States in a harsh front-page editorial today to "stop interfering in China's internal affairs and not do anything to harm bilateral relations."

Texas flooding reported

By The Associated Press

A 50-year-old earthen dam crumbled under raging floodwaters and at least two bodies were found in separate flooded areas as the second straight day of heavy rains pummeled parts of Texas and raised levels of already swollen waterways.

Rainwater rushing from the Sabana River washed away the dam on a private lake near Gorman, about 80 miles southwest of Fort Worth.

"It started going over the dam evenly all the way across — about 8 to 12 inches," said Kay Watson, whose home is near the felled dam. "It held longer than I thought it would, but then it started eating away in the middle."

Once the dam started weakening, the lake was lost, she said. "It turned into a river, going 80 or 90 miles per hour," Watson said. "It was tremendous, phenomenal. It began snapping trees — 40- and 50-foot cottonwoods — just like you were snapping your fingers."

She said no one was threatened because homes near the lake are on a hill.

Residents downstream were watching a second earthen dam on Leon River, where the runoff headed.

The body of Duane Pinkston was pulled from Mary's Creek in Benbrook Tuesday morning. He had disappeared Monday while he and four others were trying to retrieve a raft from rushing creek waters.

Also Tuesday, the body of Joseph Trobaugh, 69, of Indianapolis, Ind. was found at 1 p.m. in Palo Duro Canyon in the Panhandle. He and his wife were trying to drive across a low-water crossing when their car was swept away. Officials found Trobaugh's body about 6 miles downstream from where the accident occurred.

A 12-year-old girl was in critical condition in an Amarillo hospital. She was pulled from a park channel unconscious and with no pulse, but was revived by rescuers. A nurse who helped in the rescue estimated the girl spent 20 minutes underwater.

The heavy rainfall delayed flights at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport for as much as two hours. "When you have that lightning and thunder, you have some potential for weather situations. Not only rough riding, you have to be careful for microburst and wind shear and things like that," said Jim Brown, a spokesman for American Airlines.

LIFEGUARDS — Towle Park Pool manager Pete Rodriguez and his staff of lifeguards have had some slow days lately as rainy weather has persisted, but they expect the large crowds that typically inhabit the pool to return when the sun comes back out. From left are Kathy

Eckerd Drug now being refurbished

An extensive remodeling project for Eckerd Drugs, the first since the store opened in Varsity Square Shopping Center in January of 1978, is now underway.

The work is expected to be completed within the next few weeks, according to assistant manager Kevin Boyd.

He said the local project is part of a nationwide effort by the drug store chain, the second largest in the U.S., to renovate all of its outlets.

Labor and material for the project here is estimated at $90,000, he noted. The work is being completed by a Dallas-based contractor.

The conversion will see the front of the store "opened up" to allow customers easier access to the aisles of merchandise.

The height of the store shelving is to be increased also some 18 inches.

This will allow for an expanded line of products and greater in-store stocking of existing lines.

"What we now carry, we'll be able to stock more of it," Boyd said.

The store's cosmetic department is to be extensively redone also, he said, to allow for an expansion of products available.

While all departments will basically remain in the same areas of the store, he noted the pharmacy area would be completely refurbished as well.

The staff office space will also be renovated and a break room will be added for employees.

To avoid inconvenience to customers, he said the work, which began Monday, is being completed a section at a time.

Manager for the local Eckerd Drug is Terry Thames.

Sales tax remains slightly over 1988

Sales tax returns for Snyder, considered an up-to-date economic indicator, continue to run slightly ahead of last year, despite a one month decline for the most recent report.

For the year-to-date, Snyder has received $378,166 from the 1 percent tax on sales inside the city. This is a 1.9 percent improvement over last year, when $370,829 had been received through the year's first half.

With the June report, however, the monthly return dropped 5.3 percent when compared to last year. This reflected sales made during April.

The most recent monthly return equaled $51,379 as compared to $54,258 one year ago.

Across Texas, the state comptroller's office noted the returns are running at a plus 14.2 percent for the first half of 1989. City allocations totaled $512.5 million compared to last year's payments of $465.9 million.

Checks totaling $66.3 million were sent this month to the 875 cities which impose the local sales tax at either 1 or 1 1/2 percent.

Snyder charges 1 percent. In addition, Scurry County charges an additional 1/2 cent for sales made throughout the county.

This has generated a return to date of $216,926, monies which See SALES, page 11

Art show again due with July 4th events

In conjunction with the 26th Annual July 4th Celebration, the Snyder Palette Club will host an art show in the Scurry County Barn in Towle Park July 3 and 4.

The entry day will be July 1 from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. All artists in Scurry County and the surrounding area are eligible.

Paintings and photography will be judged and awarded separately. A Best-in-Show Rosette and $10 cash will be given in each division. Ribbons in 1st, 2nd, 3rd and honorable mention will be given in qualifying categories.

The categories will include landscape, still-life, portraits and contemporary. Five entries per artist in each category will be accepted. Original and copy-classroom work will be accepted and judged in respective categories.

The three divisions of participants will be professional (teachers), amateur and students through high school. The fee for each entry will be $3 for adults and $1.50 for students.

Artists may price their work for sale with 10 percent of sale going to the Snyder Palette Club.

All entries should be framed and wired for hanging (no sawtooth hooks). Entries should not be over two years old and should not have been previously shown in a Palette Club Show.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Times do change. Rather than rearing children, some parents simply finance them."

Two Snyder preachers recently found one thing in common. They both had a hook shot into the homes facing the WTC golf course.

Bill Looney, associate minister at 37th Street Church of Christ, was playing in a three-some that had been slowed on the 5-par seventh hole.

While waiting on the tee box, the trio was joined by SNB President Rex Robinson and Steve Smith, minister of Snyder's First Presbyterian Church.

When the fairway cleared, Looney stepped up and promptly hooked one across the street into the bank president's open garage.

Robinson teased, "That's okay, Bill, I'll pick it up when I get home."

Smith countered that he had a better deal. "If I hit one into Mal Donelson's yard, Mal and I have an understanding. He shows up at church and puts it into the collection plate."

Smith then stepped up to the tee box and, as you might guess, hooked it into Mal's front yard.

A guy in the coffee shop says he hopes the minimum wage for students isn't increased. Even the current level makes it difficult for a student to find summer employment.

The same guy says kids need to learn how to work, and he cited a telephone call he made home recently. His teenage son was sprawled on the sofa watching TV when the telephone rang.

The father asked to speak to the boy's mother, but the son explained that she was out weeding the garden.

"What!" barked the father. "Your mother isn't as young as she used to be, so why aren't you out there helping her?"

"I can't," explained the son. "Grandma's using the other hoe."

In Brief

Titan launch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Titan 4, America's newest, most powerful unmanned rocket, roared into space on its maiden flight today, reportedly deploying a $180 million satellite designed to provide instant alert of a missile attack.

It was the most expensive unmanned space mission ever by the United States, with the $220 million rocket, a $45 million satellite booster stage and other costs raising the total pricetag to close to half a billion dollars.

New hand

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A 10-year-old whose hand was crushed in last year's Soviet earthquake was able to wave goodbye to the United States after a four-month stay in which surgeons grafted two toes onto the end of his arm.

Karen Kocharian, who underwent surgery at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, had arrived here with little more than a swollen ball of tissue at the end of his right arm.

Banks seek bankruptcy ruling for firm

DALLAS (AP) — Lone Star Technologies Inc. says it was surprised a group of banks is asking a judge to declare its steel subsidiary bankrupt almost three months after it failed to repay $43.8 million in bank debt.

"We were very surprised by the timing," Lone Star spokeswoman Judith A. Murrell said Tuesday. "We went into default on March 31, April went by and May went by and half of June, almost, and we felt we were making progress" in continued discussions with the creditors.

However Lone Star has been warning about possible bankruptcy actions since mid-March, when it realized it could not meet its obligations.

The eight banks, which hold $124.38 million in debt, filed a petition in U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Dallas seeking involuntary bankruptcy action against East Texas Steel Facilities Inc., which accounted for about 70 percent of Lone Star's revenue last year and more than 65 percent of its losses.

The door was opened for the filing in March when Lone Star failed to make more than $2 million in interest payments during the month, then missed a $43.8 million principal payment at the end of the month, although Ms. Murrell said the company paid the accumulated interest and has continued to meet those payments since.

She said East Texas, which until January had been called Lone Star Steel Co., will continue to operate while it prepares an answer to the petition, which only applies to East Texas and not other Lone Star subsidiaries.

One of those responses, which are due within 20 days, could be the company's own voluntary petition, asking protection from creditors while it develops a reorganization plan.

Lone Star Technologies has been trying to scale back and restructure its oilfield pipemaking operation for years as the demand for drilling equipment has fallen.

That restructuring has included numerous layoffs, reducing Lone Star from the largest private employer in North Texas, a distinction it had held for four decades. Most of the company's steel operations are located in the town of Lone Star, a town built by the company to take advantage of the ore-rich soil about 140 miles east of Dallas.

The company also has ventured into Texas' troubled thrift industry, establishing American Federal Bank last year to purchase failed S&Ls under the so-called Southwest Plan.

Earnings from the bank last year helped reduce Lone Star's losses by $6.7 million, but it wasn't enough to overcome a $26.4 million loss at East Texas. Overall, Lone Star Technologies posted a $40.2 million loss, its fifth deficit in the last six years. Also last year, Lone Star's debt increased threefold to $360.4 million, much of it to buy slab steel used to manufacture pipe.

But uncertainty over oil prices caused a virtual cessation of pipe purchases last year, and inventories have built up, the company has said. "As a consequence of recent and current market condition, (East Texas) continues to suffer significant operating losses and has a severe cash shortage," Lone Star said in a filing earlier this year with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Mother swan tilts at pedal boats to protect her cygnet

AUSTIN (AP) — A mother Australian black swan on Town Lake has earned the name Swan Quixote, as she tilts at boats full of people to protect her cygnet.

"She almost stands on the water and flaps her wings, really makes a ruckus," said Lou Wojnaroski, a semiconductor designer for Motorola Inc. and lake visitor.

Mayo selected 'outstanding'

Sheri Lyn Mayo, daughter of Dan Smith of Colorado City and daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Mayo of Snyder, was selected as Outstanding Young Women of America for 1988.

Now in its 24th year, the OYWA program is designed to honor and encourage exceptional young women between the ages of 21 and 36 who have distinguished themselves in many fields of endeavor, such as service to the community, professional leadership, academic achievement, business advancement, cultural accomplishments and civic and political participation.

The young women listed along with other outstanding young women throughout North America, were selected after 115,000 nominations were received from political leaders, university and college officials, clergymen, business leaders and other civic groups and organizations.

Each young woman chosen will be represented by her biographical entry in the annual awards publication.

Sheri and her husband, Jay, live in Brownwood where she is a senior at Howard Payne University planning to be a CPA. She also works as a salesclerk in a department store.

hormones, the swan protects her cygnet from all who pass by her territory.

Her victims are Wojnaroski and others who row racing shells, along with unwary renters of pedal boats.

The swan has "bitten five people I know of," said Casey Milligan, who rents pedal boats on the lake. The swan "grabbed the keys of one woman and threw them off into the water."

Rowers are amused because the offspring she protects is nearly as large as she is.

The nearly grown cygnet is from a brood of three hatched in early spring. The parents were the first to breed of the eight Australian swans and eight white mute swans donated to the city in February 1988 by photographer Gray Hawk.

John Chatfield, the San Marcos man who bred the Town Lake swans, is not surprised the swan is protecting her young. "They'll go into the boat" after intruders, he told the Austin American-Statesman.

University of Texas professor Bob Twombly, president of the Austin Rowing Club, said the swan "puts her breast against (a boat) and pushes and pushes and pushes, trying to push you out of there."

The sound she makes, said Twombly, "is like a goose inside a sleeping bag." Wojnaroski describes it as "a little swan trumpet."

Wojnaroski, however, is no longer harassed when he rows through the swan's territory.

"I've found that talking to the swan produces the best results. Now I start talking when it comes out (to attack), and it goes back in," he said.

Dear Abby

Fifth Wheel Makes Longtime Friendship Screech to a Halt

By Abigail Van Buren

Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am an older woman, living alone in a small apartment. I recently invited a couple I'll call Mary and John to my place for dinner. Mary told me her brother was visiting her from out of town, so I made him welcome, too.

I have a small table in my dining area that seats only four people comfortably. I have service for only four in china, crystal and silverware, as well as a set of four hand-embroidered place mats.

I prepared four shrimp cocktails, four porterhouse steaks, four baked potatoes and four baked Alaskas.

An hour before my guests were due to arrive, Mary phoned to say that "Cliff," a friend of theirs whom they know I dislike intensely, had dropped in on them, and could they bring him along to dinner?

I told Mary that I could accommodate only four at my table, and not to bring Cliff. She stammered a bit and said she'd call me back in a few minutes.

A few minutes later, my phone rang. This time it was John. I couldn't believe my ears when he said, "If we can't bring Cliff, we'll have to take a rain check." I told John that bringing Cliff was out of the question, and with that I canceled my dinner.

Abby, after a friendship of more than 30 years, Mary and John are no longer speaking to me.

Do you think I was wrong to have refused to let them bring Cliff? It would have been terribly inconvenient on such short notice, and besides, I really don't want him.

END OF FRIENDSHIP

DEAR END: You were not wrong. You do not need the friendship of people who would attempt to pressure you as did Mary and John. Let them cash in their "rain check" when it hails in the Sahara.

DEAR READERS: I recently received a poster that will soon be seen in the halls of all the public high schools in Indiana. The poster pictures six typical high school students — boys and girls, hanging around their lockers, talking to one another. The banner across the top reads: "Six Reasons to Say No to Sex." Then it lists the reasons:

1. Getting caught
2. Getting a bad reputation
3. Getting pregnant, or getting her pregnant
4. Getting V.D. or herpes
5. Getting AIDS
6. After that — there's no getting better

This courageous educational campaign was developed by Dr. Woodrow Meyers, director of Indiana's Department of Public Health. I applaud the efforts of Dr. Meyers, and would like to see every high school in the nation display this poster.

DEAR ABBY: I recently had an interesting discussion with a friend concerning this question: Would it be in poor taste to take a friend out for dinner on her birthday and use a two-for-one coupon? (Buy one dinner, get the second dinner free.)

I said I thought it would be extremely tacky because the hostess would not really be treating her friend to dinner if she got the dinner for free.

My friend says, "It doesn't matter that a two-for-one coupon was used. It's the thought that counts."

What do you say, Abby?

Cliburn set to resume public career in Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The lights will come up once again Monday night on the public career of Van Cliburn after an 11-year silence that was as startling as the Fort Worth pianist's sudden fame 31 years ago.

With two tentative forays back into the role of performing musician behind him, both at private gatherings, Cliburn will appear at a benefit dedicated to two late and close friends.

The setting will be the Mann Music Center in Philadelphia's Fairmount Park, where up to 12,000 people are expected to gather in seats that cost up to $125 each or on the grass for a $12.50 hillside view.

"He could have gone anywhere in the world but he decided to do it here and we are, to say the least, delighted," said Helen Martin, executive director of Mann Music Center.

Cliburn will be accompanied in Lizt's Piano Concerto No. 1 in E Flat major and Tchaikovsky's Piano Concerto No. 1 in B Flat minor by the Philadelphia Orchestra under the direction of guest conductor Stanislaw Skrowaczewski.

The concert marks the beginning of the Philadelphia Orchestra's regular summer season at the Mann, a gift to the city that offers 10,000 free general admission tickets to each of the 18 other concerts.

The music will be dedicated to Eugene Ormandy, who died five years after his retirement from a 44-year career as music director of the Philadelphia Orchestra, and to Frederic Mann, a former U.S. ambassador who ran the center renamed in his honor from 1949 until his death in 1987.

The proceeds will help finance continuation of the summer concerts.

At age 23, Cliburn exploded on the music scene after he won the gold medal at the first Tchaikovsky International Competition in Moscow in 1958. Just weeks later he made his Philadelphia Orchestra debut under Ormandy's baton in Amsterdam.

Cliburn's close association with the orchestra included a number of appearances in Philadelphia at the Mann and with Ormandy at the Academy of Music.

His last concert in Philadelphia was on July 24, 1978, the year the pianist decided to end his public appearances after 20 years of trying to juggle a frantic schedule.

The Philadelphia association included several recordings, the Lizt he will play Monday night among them, that have just been released on compact discs. The Tchaikovsky number was released on disc earlier.

The response of Philadelphia audiences also played a role in Cliburn's decision to play here, according to Ms. Martin.

"There has always been a wonderful, very special, relationship between Van and Philadelphia audiences," she said.

A fundamental principle of bridge play is to use high cards judiciously. You use aces to capture picture cards so that your side's intermediate cards will reach winning rank. And surely, with a K-Q located behind an opponent's ace, you prefer to take two tricks. Jerry Graham of Palm Springs, California, found the right circumstance for violating this principle in a recent tournament.

North had minimum opening-bid values when West pre-empted with three diamonds, but his classic shape with four-card support for any suit partner might bid persuaded him to make a takeout double. South bid only four clubs, taking the underbid because he disliked his 4-3-3-3 shape.

After winning the king of diamonds, West played his singleton 10 of hearts. Winning the heart ace would lose the contract right away, since East surely held the spade ace along with the K-Q in hearts, so declarer gave the defenders a chance to make a mistake. He played low from dummy. Jerry Graham was now on the spot. It goes against any bridge player's grain to waste a heart honor needlessly, but Jerry realized that the best chance for the defense might rest with that heart 10 being a singleton. So he overtook his partner's 10 with the queen and led back the heart king (suit preference, showing the ace of spades). West ruffed and led a spade to East's ace, and another heart ruff set the contract two tricks.

KEVIN STREETY

Kevin Streety honor revealed

The United States Achievement Academy announced recently that Kevin Wayne Streety has been named a United States National Award winner in English, history and government.

He has also received the All-American Scholar Award. This award is given to students who have excelled with a grade point average of 3.3 or higher.

The criteria for these awards are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, aptitude and dependability.

Streety will appear in the United States Academy English and History yearbooks and the All American School yearbook published nationally.

Streety is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Streety of Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barnes of Midland.

He will attend Potet High School as a freshman where he will continue to take honor courses and participate in the Potet High School Honor Band.

Wife's disguise revealed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Their marriage was made in law school. And when Morgan Lamb failed his state bar exam, he sent his pregnant lawyer wife masquerading as a man to take the test for him. She passed.

Now, the California Supreme Court is considering whether to disbar Laura Beth Lamb, who scored ninth highest on the exam, then was rushed to the hospital to deliver her baby.

The State Bar says she should be disbarred for undermining the exam process and foisting on the public an unqualified lawyer, her ex-husband.

Her lawyer, Tom Low, implored the court Tuesday to choose a suspension rather than disbarment. He said his client was an abused wife who participated in fraud to save her life and the life of her child.

Low said that Lamb, who owned a gun, had threatened to kill his wife, the fetus and himself.

"There is not one shred of evidence that Laura Lamb is an evil person or an unethical person," Low argued. "She became overwhelmed. She thought that her baby would die. She thought she would die."

During her pregnancy, Mrs. Lamb, a diabetic, suffered from hypertension, kidney failure and complications that threatened her with blindness, Low said.

She took the three-day bar exam for her husband in July 1985 while seven months pregnant. Then, she was rushed to the hospital and placed in intensive care until the birth of her daughter 10 days later, he said.

"It's astonishing to me," said Chief Justice Malcolm Lucas, "that she was able to pass the bar and get the ninth highest grade."

Car accident kills 3 attending orientation

TYLER (AP) — Three teenagers attending freshman orientation at Tyler Junior College were killed and a fourth was injured when the car in which they were riding collided with a pickup.

The students were killed about 11:40 p.m. Monday, when their car slid across a center line on a curb and collided with a pickup about five miles from campus.

Two of the teens were thrown from the car in the collision, police said.

"It is a tragedy for the families and the college," said Lt. Tim Jayroe.

The three killed were driver, Craig Thomas Whagester, 19, of Friendswood; Staci Jill Bratcher, 18, Dallas and Phillip E. Passafuma Jr., 18, Tomball. All three were not wearing seat belts.

Cynthia Born, 18, who was wearing a seat belt, was in good condition Tuesday at Medical Center Hospital in Tyler, her mother, Priscilla Born, told the Dallas Morning News.

The driver of the pickup, Joe Dick Smith, 31, Tyler, also was taken to Medical Center and was treated and released, a hospital spokeswoman told the Tyler Morning Telegraph.

The freshman orientation sessions were scheduled to end Tuesday.

"From what I've been able to gather, they'd been at the lake all day and were real unfamiliar with the territory," said Justice of the Peace Bill Beard. He said the car left at least 200 feet of skid marks.

An accident report said the car was speeding and out of control when it struck the pickup.

The four teen-agers had met one another Sunday.

Miss Batcher was head of the North Garland High School drill team and had planned to try out for the Apache Belles drill team at Tyler Junior College, said her stepfather, Ron Krugjohann.

Whagester and Passafuma were to attend the college on football scholarships, said football coach Charlie McGinty.

Cardinal Albino Luciani of Venice was elected the 264th Pope of the Roman Catholic Church in 1978, following the death of Paul VI. The new pontiff took the name Pope John Paul I.

Records reported banned

DALLAS (AP) — Months before a Texas record distributor began restricting the sale of some albums to minors, officials in Dallas investigated the company for selling a sexually explicit music cassette to a 13-year-old boy on a church trip.

Dallas County assistant district attorney Howard Blackmon told the Dallas Times Herald that he believes an investigation by his office and Dallas police prompted the Amarillo-based Western Merchandising chain to change its sales policies.

The record restrictions came even though a grand jury declined to indict the firm which operates 117 Hasting's Records and Tapes stores, the Times Herald reported.

"Apparently, they were not going to (restrict sales to minors) before they found out the police were interested," said Blackmon, head of the district attorney's pornography unit.

Western Merchandising officials disagreed, saying they imposed the restrictions out of a sense of social responsibility. Company spokesman Walter McNeer told the Times Herald that he was unaware of any investigation of Hasting's selling practices.

The investigation in Dallas was ordered after Terry Daniels, 13, of Winona, bought a tape on Nov. 19 at the Galleria mall store.

The album, "75 Girls Present Too Short" by rap artist "Too Short," was labeled "uncut, uncensored and X-rated" and contained lyrics about a man boasting of murdering a woman during oral sex, Blackmon said.

Blackmon told the Dallas newspaper he believes he was among the first to use Texas obscenity laws — generally aimed at adult book stores that sell items to minors — when he directed an investigation of the Galleria store.

SHANNA D'LYN LLOYD

Borden County girl awarded scholarship

Shanna D'Lyn Lloyd, daughter of Sue and Weldon Lloyd of Fluvanna, was awarded an $8,000, four-year Houston Livestock and Rodeo 4-H scholarship recently in special ceremonies at the Texas 4-H Roundup in College Station.

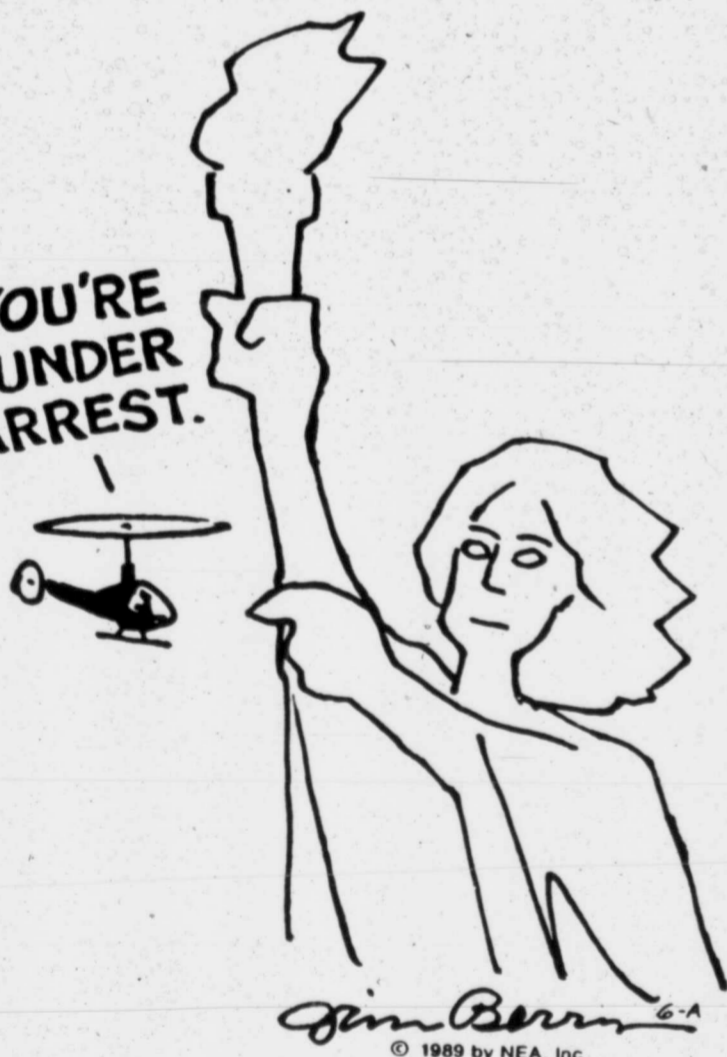

Lloyd graduated from high school with honors. As a 4-H member for the past nine years, she has attended Texas 4-H Round-Up and Texas 4-H Congress. She served her club and county council as president and was a member of the district council. She has also received the Gold Star Award.

While in high school, Lloyd was a member of the Beta Club and was a class officer. She spent five weeks in West Germany as an exchange student and attended the Government-in-Action Youth Tour in Washington D. C. She also participated in UIL academic contests and was named in "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

Lloyd plans to major in agricultural journalism at Texas A&M University, and was one of 50 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo 4-H scholarship winners honored.

Programs fail to halt drugs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interdiction efforts aren't keeping drugs out of the United States. Federal agencies say they will, someday. But officials say that even if the borders were sealed, the American people still would face a drug plague.

What's a government to do? William J. Bennett, director of the Office of National Drug Control Policy, says the United States must keep up the interdiction pressure on all fronts — air, land and sea.

But as Bennett works on a national strategy for combating drug abuse and the violence spawned by drug trafficking, he also is accepting that much more must be done on prevention, education and treatment.

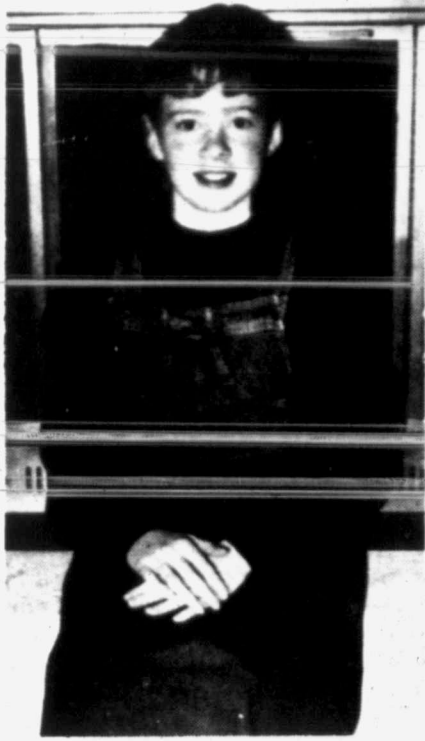

"You don't abandon interdiction just because drugs are somehow getting through," said Bennett spokesman Don Hamilton. "You have to do what you can to make the lives of traffickers more difficult."

"The whole strategy consists of doing everything, doing everything smarter and everything better," Hamilton said.

A report by the General Accounting Office, the research branch of Congress, says drugs were found on only 10 percent of the planes targeted for inspection through aerial interdiction, and that half of those were "controlled" deliveries in which intelligence agents knew in advance that the planes were bringing in drugs.

Arnold P. Jones of the GAO stressed during testimony last week before the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations efforts, the drug supply in the United States is increasing, illustrated by an increase in purity of drugs sold on the street, a decrease in price, and a hike in drug-related emergency room treatments.

Enforcement officials acknowledge that huge amounts of drugs are still getting through, but say the interdiction efforts have other benefits.

AMY WOODARD

Grandchild of local couple to be honored

Amy Woodard, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cole of Snyder, will be recognized Friday at a statewide ceremony at Trinity University in San Antonio for her academic achievement.

The ceremony is sponsored by the Duke University Talent Identification Program (TIP) to salute seventh graders from Texas who qualified in TIP's ninth annual Talent Search.

All students invited to the ceremony have earned scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or the American College Testing Assessment (ACT) comparable to college-bound high school seniors.

The students will receive certificates of distinction and the highest scorers will also receive scholarships and books.

TIP conducts recognition ceremonies in each of the 16 states it serves in the Southeast, Midwest and Southwest. Over 50,000 mathematically and verbally gifted seventh graders are identified by this program each year.

TIP offers additional educational opportunities for gifted students in seventh through tenth grades.

TIP is a non-profit organization established in 1980 with a five-year grant from The Duke Endowment. The program receives continuing support from student fees, individuals, corporations and foundations.

Amy is a student at Dobie Middle School in Austin. Her parents are Marjorie and Wayne Woodard.

Columbia's only appearance in a bowl game was in 1934 when the New York school upset Stanford, 7-0 in the Rose Bowl.

In one of the most unusual scores ever posted in a bowl game, Fordham topped Missouri, 2-0, in the 1942 Sugar Bowl.

President confounds planners

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the snowcapped mountains of Grand Teton National Park in the background and the sun blazing down through blue skies, President Bush made a speech seemingly made for television about his plan to clean up the nation's dirty air.

"Nature needs our help," Bush said in the postcard-like setting Tuesday.

It was a beautiful picture but television producers were wringing their hands, despairing they could get it on the evening news.

The reason? It was a day late, 24 hours after Bush had unveiled his clean-air package in a speech in the East Room of the White House.

"It would seem they did it exactly backwards," said ABC-TV White House correspondent Brit Hume.

"He announced his plan and made all the news in Washington," Hume said. "Then the next day they staged the symbolic events which might have given his program a boost — but with the plan a day old and no news value."

On the surface, it did look as if the White House had goofed.

But White House officials, sensitive to criticism that their public-relations efforts pale beside those of Ronald Reagan, said their strategy went deeper than a colorful splash on television.

"The goal of the president's program is not to get a pretty picture," said David Demarest, the White House chief of communications. "The goal is to get something enacted."

Besides, he said, the pictures were so compelling that the networks would have to think twice about passing up a second day story. It turned out Demarest was right; the pictures did make the network news.

Media strategy aside, Demarest said the White House was more interested in cultivating rival interest groups, carefully building a foundation of support to push Bush's package through Congress.

To a large extent, the White House appears to have succeeded in that goal. There is a widespread belief that Bush's plan will turn out to be the framework for clean-air legislation that Congress is expected to enact this year.

Representatives of industry, utilities and mining were invited to the White House to tell Bush directly about their concerns about costly cleanup programs.

Environmentalists got the same red-carpet treatment.

Monday was the day for announcing the program, and Bush played to the audience — of industry officials and environmentalists rather than creating a media extravaganza that was a trademark of the Reagan White House.

EPA says plants in 45 states pollutes nation's waterways

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency says hundreds of industrial plants in 45 states must curb chemical releases into waterways because the waters nearby are becoming too contaminated with toxic substances.

The EPA on Tuesday released a list of nearly 600 stretches of lakes, rivers and streams that the agency said do not meet state water quality standards because of chemical emissions from nearby industrial plants and other facilities.

Rebecca Hanmer, the EPA's assistant administrator for water, said that while the poor quality of many of the waterways may be largely due to chemical runoffs from agriculture or mining operations, in many cases the industrial releases also are to blame.

The agency said toxic chemical releases from 879 industrial plants, city water treatment plants and other facilities are causing or significantly contributing to violations in water quality standards in 595 waterways across the country.

Ms. Hanmer said that in most cases the polluting plants are doing so legally because the releases are within state permit restrictions.

The EPA made no estimate on health risks from the industrial pollution, nor did it provide information on levels of releases into specific waterways.

Ms. Hanmer said that while the statistics are worrisome the agency could not speculate on the health effects on humans. She noted that the standards being violated are designed to protect aquatic life and the levels do not necessarily pose a health threat to humans.

The EPA has directed states to develop additional "control strategies" that will require the polluters to curb discharges of toxic chemicals so that the waters meet state standards by mid-1992. The EPA said only about 40 percent of the 897 polluters have submitted plans approved by the EPA to bring the toxic releases into compliance by 1992. The remainder have either submitted plans that were rejected or have yet to submit a compliance program, officials said.

The EPA report covered 126 toxic chemicals including a variety of substances believed to cause cancer.

Legislature ok'd over 70% of bills supported by TSHL

The Second Texas Silver Haired Legislature recently managed to get the 71st Texas Legislature to pass over 70 percent of the prospective bills they supported.

The number one priority was to raise the Medicaid income eligibility for nursing home care.

The bill passed raised the qualifying income from $715 per month to the recommended federal allowable of $1,104. It also raised the eligibility for aged and disabled community based care by the same amount.

According to Delbert Downing of Snyder, "Texas was lagging its feet in the Medicaid program, so we're most pleased we won this one."

The bill will make an estimated 5,000 more older Texans eligible for nursing home care, purchased health services and vendor drug payments in the next year and will increase to 8,000 by 1994, it was reported.

The SHL's second priority, expansion of in-home services for the elderly, was also passed.

A bill sponsored by Sen. Steve Carriker and Rep. Jack Vowell established an "Option for Independent Living" program to be administered by the Texas Department on Aging.

Efforts were successful in keeping legislators from changing the existing laws concerning the Texas Homestead Protection Act this session.

One bill, however, will allow the elderly to pay ad valorem taxes on their homesteads in installments. This is beneficial for most of the elderly since many are on low to moderate fixed incomes.

Other legislation passed that was a priority of the SHL was requesting the U.S. Congress to increase Medicare compensation to rural hospitals and reconsider the surtax provision of the Catastrophic Coverage Act.

The Texas legislation was also asked to require criminal history checks of certain facilities, organizations and individuals that serve the elderly and disabled.

Pro basketball championship...

Pistons sweep LA for title

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) - Mission accomplished.

From the final sorrowful day of last season to the final joyous day of this one, the Detroit Pistons dedicated themselves to winning the NBA championship.

Others might want the title, but the Pistons had to have it. It became an obsession. Coming close no longer was enough.

There was nothing close about the way they took the title from the team that had won it more than any other club in the 1980s. They dethroned the Los Angeles Lakers in four games with a triple-threat backcourt, a double-teamed defense and single-mindedness.

Sure, the Lakers were devastated by injuries to starting guards Magic Johnson, the NBA's most valuable player, and Byron Scott. And Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, at 42, was far from the player he was at 32 and 22.

All that made the Pistons' task easier. But their minds were just as tough as they became the fifth team to sweep a best-of-7 Final.

"They lost two key players and that was unfortunate," Detroit Coach Chuck Daly said after the Pistons completed a four-game sweep with a 105-97 victory Tuesday night. "Our guys are tough-minded and they believed they could do it all along."

"We willed this championship," said Detroit's Bill Laimbeer, who had 16 points.

"Last year, we sat around this locker room. Some of us cried, like myself."

The Pistons, an NBA member for 40 years but never a champion, led Los Angeles 3-2 in last year's NBA title series.

But they lost Game 6 on Abdul-Jabbar's two free throws with 14 seconds left. Game 7 also went down to the final minute.

Western Cowboys find mixed results Tuesday at Bozeman

BOZEMAN, Mont. -- The good news coming from Bozeman is more from history than current events.

Denny McLanahan in the bareback, Ray Brown in the calf roping and Jim Blain Kenney and Bryan Davis in the team roping were in good standing as the College National Finals Rodeo moved toward tonight's performance. All of those results came before Tuesday night, however.

The bad news came in the evening when McLanahan and Michael Gaffney bucked off in the bull riding and Clyde Himes took a no-time in the calf roping.

"The biggest disappointment was Michael in the bull riding. He had drawn a good bull and just bucked off," said Coach Bob Doty. "He's out again tonight and hopefully he'll have a real good score."

The bull riding event is about the only one where one solid ride can still get a cowboy to the finals since frequently 10 don't make two rides. The top 10 cowboys in the average (two head) qualify for Saturday's short-go. If 10 don't stay aboard their two bulls, then the next best scores make up the rest of the qualifiers.

Himes' no-time in the calf roping was a calculated move that went awry. He timed 18.2 on his first calf earlier in the week and knew he had to have a great run on his second calf. It didn't work out.

In other results from the evening, Kenny Taton moved into seventh place in the first-go of the saddle bronc riding with a 71 and Kenney took over 16th place with a 62.

As for those results from earlier in the week, McLanahan's 72 in the bareback has slipped to fourth place in the first-go, which concludes tonight. Also Brown is fourth in the average of the calf roping with 23.4 on two head.

"It looks like there are about 10 calf ropers left to go that have a shot to move him (further down)," said Doty. "It's still wait-and-see, but he could make the finals."

Brown racked up WTC's only points so far when he won second place in the first-go of the calf roping with a 9.5.

Kenney and Davis' 16.8 average in the team roping is in sixth place.

"They've got a pretty good shot to make it back," said the coach. "There's only about six teams that can move them out of it."

Only a few Western Texas College students are scheduled to compete tonight - Gaffney in the bull riding, Kenney in the saddle bronc and Russell Merchant in the steer wrestling.

Merchant, a freshman from Madisonville, clocked a 5.6 run in the first-go.

Odessa College is apparently doing well here, said Doty.

Shawn McMullan clocked a 9.7 to win third place in the first-go of the calf roping. He then turned in an 8.9 on Tuesday to lead the second-go and the average.

Teammate Ty Murry is winning the saddle bronc with a 79 and is third in the bull riding with a 74.

Former WTC student Mistri Davis, now competing for Eastern New Mexico, won the first-go of the goat tying with a 7.2.

President Bush wastes no time using veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush's swift veto of legislation raising the minimum wage gives him the upper hand in his first major policy showdown with Capitol Hill Democrats, who are promising a lengthy fight if their bid for quick retribution fails.

"There will be an increase in the minimum wage, if not today, then soon," Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said Tuesday after Bush upstaged congressional Democrats by vetoing the minimum-wage bill less than an hour after it was sent to the White House.

"All of our efforts now are devoted to overturning the veto and I would hope that the compelling justice that is at issue in this case would reach sufficient members so that we are successful," said Kennedy, D-Mass. "If we're not successful on this we will revisit this issue."

Kennedy and other Democratic leaders spoke at a news conference that had been called as a final attempt to persuade Bush to sign the measure, which would raise the hourly minimum wage from $3.35 to $4.55 by October 1991.

But even as they gathered for the event, word reached Capitol Hill that Bush had vetoed the bill aboard Air Force One while traveling in the Midwest.

"It is regrettable that this debate must end with a veto," Bush said in a message to Congress accompanying the first veto of his five-month administration.

The Democrats, however, said the debate was far from over.

New Speaker Thomas S. Foley promised a vote in the House today to try to override the veto.

"Hope springs eternal," was all Foley would say when asked if he had a realistic chance of picking up support from more than House members overnight — the additional support Democrats would need for a two-thirds override margin.

Even if Foley delivered the votes, more than enough Republican senators have vowed to side with Bush to sustain the veto.

Both sides view the battle as a contest for momentum in domestic policy.

Perhaps mindful of that, the Democrats made no predictions of winning the immediate fight but escalated their rhetoric in hopes of creating a political issue that will help them in the long haul.

While White House aides joked about the speed of the veto, Democrats characterized it as a sign of Bush's insensitivity to minimum wage workers who last got a pay raise in 1981.

"It is particularly offensive that the president would do this in this manner, demonstrating disdain for the poor working people of this country at the very time he is exerting the maximum effort to provide a $30,000 a year tax cut to the very wealthiest Americans," said Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell.

"What the president is saying is 'To those who have much we must give more. To those who have little we must give nothing,'" Mitchell said. "We think that's the wrong set of priorities."

Bush, however, said the Democrats' bill would hurt those it was designed to help.

"This bill would increase the minimum wage by an excessive amount and thus stifle the creation of new job opportunities," Bush said in his veto message. Democrats had hoped Bush would at least make a compromise offer but his veto message left intact his take-it-or-leave-it stance.

"Increasing the minimum wage is not an effective way to help the poor," said Bush, whose offer to boost the floor wage to $4.25 an hour by January 1992 stemmed from a presidential campaign pledge.

Federal judge said charged with racketeering

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal judge charged with racketeering is accused of doing favors for acquaintances who are felons, including going to other judges and seeking favorable treatment for them.

U.S. District Judge Robert Aguilar is the first federal judge charged with racketeering and the fourth to be accused of crimes in the last decade.

A federal grand jury issued an eight-count indictment Tuesday against Aguilar, 58, a 1980 appointee of President Carter. Conviction on the charges is punishable by 55 years in prison and $2 million in fines.

The grand jury also indicted Abe "The Trigger" Chapman, a self-styled former Mafia hitman and longtime acquaintance of Aguilar's, and Rudy Tham, a convicted embezzler for whom Aguilar allegedly interceded.

The judge, who is based in San Jose, declined to comment to reporters who went to his home in Campbell, near San Jose. Attempts by The Associated Press to obtain his telephone number were unsuccessful.

The indictment sought by the Justice Department accuses Aguilar of going to other federal judges on behalf of Tham and another felon, Ronald Cloud, a Nevada casino owner who was convicted of bank fraud. Aguilar has disclosed in financial statements that he accepted an interest-free, lifetime $12,000 loan from Cloud.

The judge also is accused of tipping off Chapman about a federal wiretap order; advising one of Chapman's lawyers to lie to the grand jury about Aguilar's activities; making false statements to the FBI; and helping his former secretary, attorney Vera Hoff, when she fled to Mexico after a tax conviction.

Unlike most cases brought under the federal racketeering law, Aguilar is not accused of benefiting financially from his activities. Instead, the indictment contends the judge used his $89,500-a-year job as a racketeer "enterprise" in multiple acts of "corruptly endeavoring to obstruct, impede, and influence the due administration of justice."

His lawyers, however, denounced the charges.

"The charges are bogus and phony, an attempt to go after judges like Aguilar to get rid of them and intimidate others," said lawyer Charles Garry.

Speaking before the indictment, Aguilar's other lawyer, Patrick Hallinan, said federal prosecutors sought the indictment because they "don't like the viewpoint of one judge."

Aguilar, the child of Mexican immigrants, has issued several rulings against the Immigration and Naturalization Service over its actions in factory raids. He has also restricted aerial raids on marijuana fields and has blocked the deportation of an Irish Republican Army fugitive, a ruling that was reversed on appeal.

The indictment was issued after Mrs. Hoff, who was arrested in March, agreed to testify against Aguilar in a plea bargain with the government.

Hallinan said Aguilar has arranged to turn himself in on July 12 or 13. He said he has asked the judge to take a leave from his job while the charges are pending, though not to resign from office; a federal judge can be removed only through impeachment by Congress.

Patient meets 'perfect match' marrow donor

DALLAS (AP) — Doctors had told leukemia patient Herman "Sonny" Moody he would die within a year, but now that his "perfect match" is in Dallas, they predict he could regain normal health.

On Tuesday, Moody met Eric Smekens, the Belgian man whose marrow has the same makeup as Moody's and flew thousands of miles to donate it.

"It's a pleasure to meet you. I appreciate your coming and doing what you're doing. You're a long way from home," Herman

"Sonny" Moody told Smekens, who works in a refinery in Brussels.

Moody, 47, presented Smekens a cowboy hat at Baylor University Medical Center. In return, Smekens presented Moody with a t-shirt from Belgium.

Moody lives in DeSoto and operates an import-export auto parts business in Dallas.

In the procedure Monday, Dr. Joseph Fay extracted about a liter of marrow from the right rear hip of Smekens, who was under anesthetic. The marrow was put in a solution to prevent it from clotting, then was frozen to await the actual transplant next week.

Other than some soreness, Smekens said Tuesday he felt fine.

"As you can see, I am up and about and joking," said Smekens, 27.

After a week of undergoing a powerful series of chemotherapy treatments, Moody will receive the marrow transplant in a relatively painless procedure next week. By then, Smekens will have returned to Belgium.

Until recently, bone marrow was taken only from a brother or sister of a leukemia victim because of the "perfect match" required for a marrow transplant.

It takes a worldwide search to find a match with a non-relative, Fay said. The procedure is the fourth time in a year Baylor doctors have performed a marrow transplant involving someone other than a patient's brother or sister.

Smekens tried to donate his marrow five years ago to save the life of a cousin with leukemia. But the marrow was not the match required, and his cousin died. His marrow type was on record, and officials contacted him recently when they learned it was a perfect match with Moody.

Smekens said he agreed immediately.

"I'm a Christian, and it would be hard to go to church and hear the priest say we are all brothers and sisters and me not be willing to give in this way and maybe save someone's life," said

Smekens, who is unmarried.

Anyone who wishes to register as a possible marrow transplant can have his bone marrow typed as easily as giving blood, Fay said. It takes minutes for a blood bank to take a sample, then type the bone marrow and put the information into a data base for sharing with hospitals worldwide.

Moody's wife, Janet, and son Bart, 21, were with him at the news conference.

Clements hopes to decide fate of bills by Saturday

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements hopes to wrap up final decisions on the fate of more than 1,000 bills by Saturday, an aide says.

Some 1,300 bills were passed by the 1989 Legislature, which adjourned at midnight May 29, and Clements had signed about 300 by Tuesday, aides said.

Floodwaters kill two and topple dam

By The Associated Press

A 50-year-old earthen dam crumbled under raging floodwaters and at least two bodies were found in separate flooded areas as the second straight day of heavy rains pummeled parts of Texas and raised levels of already swollen waterways.

Rainwater rushing from the Sabana River washed away the dam on a private lake near Gorman, about 80 miles southwest of Fort Worth.

"It started going over the dam evenly all the way across — about 8 to 12 inches," said Kay Watson, whose home is near the felled dam. "It held longer than I thought it would, but then it started eating away in the middle."

Once the dam started weakening, the lake was lost, she said. "It turned into a river, going 80 or 90 miles per hour," Watson said. "It was tremendous, phenomenal. It began snapping trees — 40- and 50-foot cottonwoods — just like you were snapping your fingers."

She said no one was threatened because homes near the lake are on a hill.

Residents downstream were watching a second earthen dam on Leon River, where the runoff headed.

The body of Duane Pinkston was pulled from Mary's Creek in Benbrook Tuesday morning. He had disappeared Monday while he and four others were trying to retrieve a raft from rushing creek waters.

Also Tuesday, the body of Joseph Trobaugh, 69, of Indianapolis, Ind. was found at 1 p.m. in Palo Duro Canyon in the Panhandle. He and his wife were trying to drive across a low-water crossing when their car was swept away. Officials found Trobaugh's body about 6 miles downstream from where the accident occurred.

A 12-year-old girl was in critical condition in an Amarillo hospital. She was pulled from a park channel unconscious and with no pulse, but was revived by rescuers. A nurse who helped in the rescue estimated the girl spent 20 minutes underwater.

The heavy rainfall delayed flights at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport for as much as two hours. "When you have that lightning and thunder, you have some potential for weather situations. Not only rough riding, you have to be careful for microburst and wind shear and things like that," said Jim Brown, a spokesman for American Airlines. "It's a situation we're especially cautious of."

In 1985, a Delta jet crashed at DFW Airport when it flew into a violent thunderstorm as it attempted to land, killing 137 people.

DFW recorded 29.47 inches of rain Tuesday afternoon, just over the annual rainfall average of 29.46. "We're well on our way to a wet year, which isn't bad because

Pair caught at pool area

Two boys were arrested for criminal trespass inside the Towle Park Pool compound Tuesday night by a city policeman.

An officer reported taking the pair, 15 and 16 years of age, into custody at 10:40 p.m.

A county juvenile officer was called to the police station, where the two were subsequently released into the custody of a relative.

A 37th St. Skinny's convenience store clerk reported at 11:51 p.m. that a black woman had stolen a package of cigarettes, and an officer went to a residence in the 3200 Block of Ave. K and said he had found the suspect, arresting a 34-year-old woman there for public intoxication.

Medical fund effort expands

Additional medical funds to assist Bill McCright, formerly of Snyder, have been added to the one already set up at West Texas State Bank.

Donations may be made also to a fund at Snyder National Bank and at the American Legion. McCright is now undergoing treatment for cancer.

His parents, John and Rena McCright, still live in Snyder, as does his son, Tim McCright, a daughter, Pat Guynes, an adopted daughter, Brenda McCright, and a step-daughter, Beth Flemming.

we've had a bunch of dry years and kinda needed a wet year," said Skip Ely, a National Weather Service meteorologist in Fort Worth.

Delta and Southwest air lines at Love Field also reported delays.

In Denton, high winds ravaged the municipal airport, damaging hangars and overturning and crumpling airplanes that were tied down.

Winds measured more than 100 mph at 5 a.m. They blew away one hangar and demolished another, but left a condemned hangar unscathed.

The wind also dislodged a large hangar's large steel doors that weigh several thousand pounds.

Officials in Johnson County, southwest of Fort Worth, said Tuesday night that they had so much water over streets and highways that they ran out of barricades and were having to mark high water with highway flashers only.

Street flooding was reported at Diboll in East Texas and a portion of U.S. 59 was under water, Nacogdoches County authorities said. Several trees were uprooted in the county after high winds ravaged the area.

A gas well explosion in Henderson in East Texas was believed to have been caused by lightning. Firefighters had the explosion under control Tuesday night and no injuries were reported.

The National Weather Service issued a flood warning Tuesday for the west fork of the Trinity River, where it crosses the North Main Street Bridge in Fort Worth. The flood stage on the Trinity is 8 feet in Fort Worth, and the river was expected to crest near 8½ feet at mid-day.

The weather service blamed this week's rains on the combination of a high pressure system east of Texas and an upper level system moving across the state.

Baptists choose new president

LAS VEGAS (AP) — A conservative was re-elected president of the Southern Baptist Convention, dashing moderates' hopes that an election outside the Bible Belt would help their candidate.

Jerry Vines, the pastor of First Baptist Church of Jacksonville, Fla., won 56.5 percent of the vote Tuesday in defeating his moderate challenger, Daniel Vestal, pastor of Dunwoody Baptist Church in suburban Atlanta.

"I'm just convinced the joy bells are going to begin ringing in the Southern Baptist Convention," said Vines, who continued a conservative resurgence in the nation's largest Protestant denomination.

Vines received 10,754 votes to 8,248 for Vestal. It was the 11th straight victory for conservative candidates since 1979.

Vestal said he was disappointed, but already considering another run for the presidency at next year's convention in New Orleans.

"I fear a kind of militant partisanship in this denomination," he said.

But Vines said the appointment Tuesday of Richard Jackson, a Phoenix pastor who opposed Vines for the presidency last year, to the Home Mission Board was part of his effort to bring a "kinder, gentler denomination to pass."

More than 20,000 delegates registered for the three-day convention that opened Tuesday morning.

Parking lot wreck noted

The only traffic accident investigated by police Tuesday was at 10:40 p.m. in the Town & County convenience store parking lot off College Ave. in northern Snyder, where a 1981 Chevrolet driven by Virginia R. Hubanks of 2601 Ave. A had been in collision with a 1981 Pontiac driven by Melvin E. Wallace of 111 Peach St.

State comptroller certifies budget

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements, who has the authority to veto specific items from the state budget, has received the $47.4 billion spending plan.

On Tuesday, state Comptroller Bob Bullock certified the two-year budget as balanced and sent it to Clements with a note: "No new taxes Governor!"

Even with a 12 percent increase in spending, state lawmakers were able to balance the budget without a general tax increase because of projected revenue growth tied to the improving economy, and a series of tax adjustments and bookkeeping measures.

After signing a record $5.7 billion tax increase in 1987, Clements told lawmakers this year he would reject any new taxes.

Bullock had proposed an increase in the cigarette tax that would have also attracted federal funds for health care programs for the poor, but legislators backed off the plan under the threat of a Clements veto.

Clements has until midnight Sunday to sign the appropriations bill, or it automatically becomes law.

"The staff is currently reviewing the appropriations bill and discussing various issues with the governor," said Jay Rosser, Clements' deputy press secretary. "The governor takes his constitutional power regarding the appropriations bill very, very seriously."

In 1987, after an acrimonious special session on the budget, Clements, a Republican, vetoed $167.4 million from the budget, including funds for several Democratic officeholders' air-fare budgets.

The budget before him now must be used to offset ad valorem taxes.

A sampling of sales tax returns for other area cities includes:

—Lubbock: plus 10.5 percent with $7.5 million returned to date compared to $6.8 million last year. The monthly return of $985,302 was a 3.8 percent increase over last year.

—Abilene: plus 5 percent with $3.9 million returned to date compared to $3.7 million last year. The monthly return of $470,618 was a 3.4 percent decrease over last year.

—San Angelo: plus 7.5 percent with $2.9 million returned to date compared to $2.7 million last year. The monthly return of $350,466 was a 6.3 percent increase over last year.

—Big Spring: minus 2.7 percent with $697,469 returned to date compared to $717,313 last year. The monthly return of $78,253 was a 16.4 percent decrease over last year.

—Snyder: plus 1.9 percent with $378,166 returned to date compared to $370,829 last year. The monthly return of $51,379 was a 5.3 percent decrease over last year.

—Sweetwater: plus 2.7 percent with $377,317 returned to date compared to $367,167 last year. The monthly return of $52,710 was a 6.8 percent increase over last year.

—Colorado City: plus 17.8 percent with $194,494 returned to date compared to $165,019 last year. The monthly return of $22,651 was a 13.8 percent decrease over last year.

—Post: minus 10 percent with $77,868 returned to date compared to $86,599 last year. The monthly return of $11,712 was a 29.8 percent decrease over last year.

represents a 12 percent increase from overall current spending and is 14.7 percent, or $3.6 billion, more in general revenue spending, which are tax funds.

Under the two-year budget, criminal justice spending would increase 21 percent, or $1.8 billion, for prison expansion and reforms to divert inmates from the state prison system, which is under a federal court order prohibiting overcrowding.

In health and human services, the budget would expand Medicaid programs for the poor and would allocate about $18.4 million for AIDS services, a $15 million increase from the last two-year budget appropriation.

The budget also calls for increasing public school spending by 6.4 percent, or $655 million, with $450 million of that going toward equalizing funding to poor school districts. Poor schools have sued the state, saying Texas' school financing method is discriminatory. The case is pending before the Texas Supreme Court.

State employees would receive a 5 percent pay raise and an increase in the state's contribution for employee group insurance premiums. Higher education faculty would receive a 5 percent pay raise for fiscal 1990 and three percent in 1991, under the plan.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I was held up at gunpoint by a man in 1988 while a second held a knife to my throat. I know I'm lucky to be alive, but I still suffer anxiety, apprehension, insomnia and memory difficulties. My doctor tells me I have a posttraumatic stress disorder. Should I take a mild sedative or anti-anxiety drug?

DEAR READER: After such a horrendous experience, I am not surprised that you continue to have symptoms. Posttraumatic stress disorder is the likely cause. You probably would be helped by occasionally using a mild tranquilizer or anti-anxiety drug, under your doctor's supervision and guidance. However, I think you also would be helped by counseling. In such a therapeutic environment, you could learn ways to cope with your unpleasant memories and apprehension. Ask your doctor about this.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been diagnosed with Kippel Trenay syndrome. My doctor isn't even sure of the spelling and knows very little of the disorder. Can you help?

DEAR READER: No, I cannot. You really stumped me on this one. Any help out there?

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 66-year-old male who has had a complete aorta replacement. What effect will these Dacron arteries in my abdomen and legs have on longevity, if any? My doctor says they will last as long as I do, which is really no answer at all.

DEAR READER: The Dacron prosthesis that replaced your own aorta will last almost indefinitely. Before the operation, the major artery leading from your heart, through your chest, down your abdomen, and into your legs was diseased. To permit continuation of adequate blood circulation to your lower body, the natural aorta had to be partially replaced by a synthetic substitute. This substitute is practically indestructible.

Nonetheless, arterial aging will continue to take place in your body. Fatty deposits (called atheromatous plaques) will build up on your arterial linings, eventually causing obstruction or blockage. For unknown reasons, these plaques can, with time, form on the lining of synthetic Dacron vessels, too. This could result in eventual re-blockage of the aorta. Therefore, you should follow your doctor's advice with respect to ways of retarding the rate of arteriosclerotic build-up. You may need to follow a special diet, stop smoking, exercise regularly and take certain medicines to diminish the chances that your new aorta will become plugged.

Your doctor's answer is correct, although it may seem on first hearing to be no answer at all. With care, your Dacron aorta will last as long as you do, meaning that you are at greater risk of getting into trouble from blockage in one of your other major arteries. The artificial artery will, if anything, extend your life by allowing an adequate flow of blood to your lower extremities. Hammack earns masters degree

ABILENE--James Michael Hammack, a Hardin-Simmons University student, has completed the requirements for a master of business administration degree and received a diploma during commencement exercises held last month.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hammack of Snyder.

The island volcano Krakatoa blew up Aug. 27, 1883. Tidal waves resulting from the cataclysmic explosions in Indonesia's Sunda Strait claimed some 36,000 lives in Java and Sumatra.

Seabrook starts its 1st atomic fission

SEABROOK, N.H. (AP) — After starting their first atomic fission reaction, officials at the long-delayed Seabrook power plant said they know how Thomas Edison must have felt when he lit the first electric lightbulb in 1879.

"We certainly haven't reinvented the lightbulb," Seabrook's top executive, Edward Brown, said Tuesday. "But we believe there is great significance in our success.

"Have we changed history? Some people are saying so," Brown said. "Seabrook Station has faced one of the longest, most convoluted licensing processes that any commercial nuclear power plant has ever encountered in this world."

The plant symbolizes the troubled state of the nation's nuclear power industry. Originally planned for commercial operation 10 years ago at a cost of $973 million, the plant suffered repeated regulatory delays and cost overruns that drove its price tag up to $6 billion.

The plant also became a focus of anti-nuclear activism. Protests since construction began in 1976 have resulted in more than 3,200 arrests, including 734 arrests in two days of civil disobedience earlier this month.

Despite its woes, the seaside plant was completed in July 1986 and last month won its low-power testing license, which allows it to conduct tests at up to 5 percent of full power.

Three faulty safety valves set back the start of fission by about a week, but at 5:23 p.m. Tuesday, Seabrook operators started an atomic chain reaction in the plant's 100 tons of uranium fuel.

At a news conference a half hour later, Brown said Edison's associates cheered when he turned up the voltage and the lightbulb grew brighter.

In 1873, radio electronics pioneer Lee DeForest was born in Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Why do insurance premiums go up? You're looking at one big reason. Auto theft. The number of auto thefts has gone up 32% in the last 10 years. And the average value of those thefts has gone up 181%.

With the value of cars going up, a professional thief can easily steal over $50,000 worth of vehicles in a single night. And guess whose premiums pay for replacing those cars? If you feel a pain in your wallet, you guessed right.

At State Farm, we believe that ways must be found to keep these thieves from forcing premiums to go up. That's why we work closely with the National Auto Theft Bureau to help stop car thieves, throw them in jail, and recover the cars they stole. And why we started a pilot program to etch vehicle identification numbers on key parts of theft-prone car models.

State Farm is there, every day. Finding more ways to help protect our policyholders from the causes of rising premiums. So we can keep insurance affordable.
