Progress reported in workers' comp

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislative leaders, during a late night meeting, took strides to settle one of the major obstacles in the controversial workers' compensation debate, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said today.

House and Senate members have been at odds over how to resolve disputed workers' comp claims. The House, backed by business, wants to limit the right to a jury trial in workers' comp disputes, while the Senate wants to allow contested claims to go before a jury.

Hobby said lawmakers late Tuesday reached a "pretty general agreement" on a way to resolve disputed workers' comp claims. He did not provide details about the agreement, which he said was reached after a five-hour meeting.

A House-Senate conference committee on workers' comp planned to meet later today.

Sen. Kent Caperton, co-chairman of the conference committee, said today lawmakers were close to resolving the issue.

"I don't think we have a deal, but I think we finally are close to it," Caperton said.

State Rep. Richard Smith, the House leader on the issue, said of last night's meeting, "I would characterize it as major progress."

Leaders on both sides of the issue said the conference committee needs to adopt a plan by Friday to give lawmakers time to consider and vote on the bill before the special legislative session ends July 19.

Lawmakers have been wrestling all year over the workers' comp system, which has been criticized for hitting employers with high insurance rates and employees with low benefits.

The House proposal, supported by business, limits the right to a jury trial in disputed workers' comp claims. The Senate plan, backed by labor and trial lawyers, would allow appeals to a jury trial.

Business claims the threat of litigation in workers' comp disputes has increased benefit awards and in turn employer-paid comp insurance. Labor and trial lawyers say Texas employers' poor job-safety record is to blame for the rising insurance costs.

Caperton said the Senate would See WORK COMP, page 9

Value protests to close

The three-member review board for the Scurry County Appraisal District was expected to end its sessions Wednesday related to protests of taxable values.

At noon Wednesday, the board was hearing questions raised regarding real estate values in the county. Chief Appraiser Ray Peveler said he expected all of the cases going before the board to be heard on Wednesday.

A third session has been scheduled "if needed" for Thursday.

All protests of value regarding oil properties were settled Tuesday without requiring board decisions, Peveler said.

Adjustments were made to the tax roll, but no figures were available as of noon Wednesday.

The review board has received some 21 requests to question taxable values on real estate property and these meetings were ongoing Wednesday.

Members of the district's review board are Harold Lack, Walter Stirl and Ross Carroll.

MEDICAL SCREENING — Mary Ann Lopez tests Tim Prather before he gives blood Tuesday at the drive jointly sponsored by Cogdell Memorial Auxiliary and the advisory committee for United Blood Services of Lubbock. The "Dog Days of Summer" was the theme for Tuesday's effort. (SDN Staff Photo)

Drive garners 156 pints

Some 163 persons registered to give blood Tuesday with 156 pints ultimately drawn.

Included in the 163 were seven medical deferrals. There were 36 first time donors.

Olin Bunch and Lois Rodriguez received pins for donating one-gallon of blood at previous blood drives.

Two-gallon pins went to Marvis Hendrix, Davis Spikes, Sam Robertson, Glen McGuire and Debbie Alford.

Kim Hines was awarded for donating three gallons and Jeff Mason was presented a pin for four gallons.

Jim Pollard and Manuel Garcia received pins for donating five gallons at previous blood drives.

Wal-Mart employees won the contest between the local discount variety stores by having the largest percentage of employees to donate blood.

Workout times will change daily, but the Cowboys have a telephone number to call to announce the next day's time. The number is 805/493-3500.

In Brief

Protest filed

AUSTIN (AP) — Efforts by Delaware North Companies Inc. to win a greyhound racing license on Galveston Island suffered a serious blow when the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission filed protests against renewing the company's mixed drink licenses at several Texas airports.

The protests involved licenses at Houston Intercontinental, Houston Hobby and the San Antonio and El Paso municipal airports.

"I really have to compliment somebody for the political timing on this," said Stan Phillips, executive vice president of Delaware North, headquartered in Buffalo, N.Y., after the protests were filed Tuesday.

Boy is bitten

AUSTIN (AP) — A rattlesnake bit an 8-year-old boy in the ankle, seriously injuring him, authorities say.

Mickey Kinman of Marble Falls was in stable but serious condition at the Children's Hospital of Austin at Brackenridge today after being bitten by the western diamondback.

The boy was bitten Tuesday morning near bushes at a heavily weeded lot near a friend's house in the Travis Peak area, about six miles west of Lago Vista. The boys had gone to the lot to pound some nails in a tree house.

Towle Park Road will be closed to traffic Wednesday night and all day Thursday. The road was to receive a coat of prime oil on Wednesday and the first application of asphalt on Thursday.

The final asphalt application and road completion is scheduled Friday.

Media law gains repeal in House

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas House today approved a bill to repeal a new law allowing police to withhold the names of felony crime victims.

The bill, which includes a provision to protect crime victims from commercial harassment, is a substitute for a Senate version that simply would have repealed the law.

The substitute bill, which adds the prohibition on using crime victim information for business solicitation, returns to the Senate for consideration of the House change.

The confidentiality law raised a furor among news organizations after a number of law enforcement agencies began withholding information they previously made public. The law was passed in the regular session that ended May 29.

Some law enforcement agencies used the law to withhold information on missing children and accident victims, said George Irish, San Antonio Light publisher, when he testified this week at a House committee. Irish represented Texas Media, a first amendment and freedom-of-information coalition of seven Texas news media organizations, in urging repeal of the new law.

The House version of the bill, in addition to the repeal, would prohibit using crime victim information obtained from law enforcement agencies to solicit business from the victim or a family member of the victim. The law would apply to victims who were physically injured in a crime or whose home was illegally entered.

2nd quarter deposits decline

Total deposits and loans declined in Snyder during the second quarter, according to figures reported by four of the five financial institutions here.

Total deposits at three banks and one savings and loan association were $199.6 million. This figure is down $3.8 million from last quarter and $2.1 million from the second quarter of 1988.

Snyder National Bank reported the greatest deposits with $79.4 million, a decrease of $400,000 from March 31, 1989, but equal to the second quarter of 1988.

West Texas State Bank also showed a decline in deposits. Their $73.6 million total deposits is $2.7 million less than last quarter and $300,000 less than 1988 midyear.

American State Bank reported $18.7 million total deposits, up $300,000 from last quarter, and down $1 million from the second quarter of 1988.

Snyder Savings and Loan reported total deposits of $27.9 million, a drop of $1 million when compared to last quarter and an $800,000 decline from June 30, 1988.

The combined loans at all four institutions were $104.7 million, a drop of $2.5 million from last quarter and $4.8 million from the same period last year.

Snyder National Bank had total loans of $48.1 million, compared to $48.3 million at the end of last quarter, a decrease of $200,000. SNB total loans were equal to last year's second quarter figure.

Total loans at West Texas State Bank were $31.1 million, down $2 million from last quarter and $3.2 million from last year's second quarter.

Loans at Snyder Savings and Loan were $21.6 million, a $400,000 decrease from March 31, and a $1.4 million drop from $23 million reported June 30, 1988.

Olney Savings operates a branch here, but does not report individual deposits.

WTC seminar slated for 'success'

Western Texas College will host its second 1989 Summer Success Seminar Thursday for entering freshmen.

New fulltime students at the college should attend either Thursday's session or the final seminar of the summer planned Aug. 1.

Students may make reservations for both by calling the admissions office at 573-8511.

There will be a charge of $15 for each student attending a seminar. This includes the fee for the ASSET test if it is required and lunch for the student and their parents.

Registration for the seminar will begin at 9 a.m. in the student center and students are to be there at that time.

* Students may pre-register for the fall semester at the seminar. Those attending the Thursday meeting will be billed in August.

Placement tests will be administered and academic advisors will be available to help with the selection of classes.

Construction in June reaches some $72,000

Almost $72,000 in new construction permits were issued through the city building inspector's office in June, a month which saw mobile home move-ins account for the majority of activity.

Despite the relatively slow month, which totaled $71,919, the year-to-date total is still running ahead of last year. This fiscal year, the city has issued permits totaling some $1.6 million compared to last year's figure at the end of June equaling some $1.3 million.

Exact figures for each are $1,627,358 and $1,340,771 respectively.

The mobile home setups during June accounted for more than $50,000 of the overall total. Three permits were issued, to Carl L. Plock, 2511 26th St.; Paul Williams, 2400 O'Neil; and Edward Flores, 2405 Merrill.

Snyder ISD also received a permit to construct a greenhouse facility to be used by students at the Humble-Smith campus. Its estimated value was set at $15,769.

Other permits issued during the month included five carport projects and a storage building with a total value of $5,950.

Carport additions were permitted for Frank Pinkerton, 708 27th St.; Marcelino Medrano, 2407 Ave. I; Alfonso Ramos, 1500 Ave. I; Frances Brown, 2507 Ave. I. See PERMITS, page 9

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "An expert is a person who will know tomorrow why the things he predicted yesterday didn't happen today."

It's been busy in Scurry County with the traditional July 4th activities and getting the Price Daniel prison unit ready for operation.

For some time we've been convinced that prisons are the growth industry of the future, and Scurry County is postured to take advantage.

Just think how many prisons we'll need if charges are filed against everyone who ever fibbed about their age. Take for example the Alvin city councilwoman who knocked 10 years off her age on an election form.

A member of the city council for 10 years, another council member blew the whistle on her. He said his actions were motivated by the fear of citizens thinking the city might be involved in a coverup.

On the ballot application, the woman had said she was born in 1940, making her 48 years old. However, she was really born in 1929, making her 59.

The issue went to the district attorney who took it to the grand jury to determine if she committed perjury by misstating her age. If somebody goes to jail for lying, we'd better get those prison construction crews ready.

We can think of all sorts of things—false teeth, hair pieces, women's padded shoulders, hair color....better build more prisons.

Speaking of prisons, the Lone Star Book of Texas Records reports that in 1872 a soldier was sentenced to three years in prison for "worthlessness."

He was found by the military court to be "totally unfit in deportment and character for a soldier due to general worthlessness and by lying, stealing, drinking intoxicating liquors and other persistent meanness."

Scandal drained HUD funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Housing Secretary Jack Kemp says abuses and mismanagement at his department have been stopped but agrees with an estimate putting the cost of the scandal at $2 billion.

The losses to the government came from a handful of programs in the Department of Housing and Urban Development, which is under investigation by Congress, the Justice Department and the agency's own inspector general.

Kemp agreed with the estimate during his testimony Tuesday before the House Government Operations subcommittee on housing and employment. Rep. Charles Schumer, D-N.Y., based his estimate on potential losses from bad loans, inflated costs passed along to the government and outright theft that has occurred at HUD.

"It's a ballpark figure," Kemp said. "I think $6 billion would be too high, $1 billion would be too low."

Kemp was to testify about the scandal today before the House Banking subcommittee on housing.

"We are getting a handle on this," Kemp said Tuesday. "We have stopped the hemorrhaging."

Kemp made clear he held his predecessors responsible for the mess he found, although he did not mention former Housing Secretary Samuel Pierce Jr. or former President Ronald Reagan by name.

"Frankly, any administration has to be held accountable and is accountable to the American people and to the pages of the history books for their stewardship," Kemp said. "I think that speaks volumes about previous administrations — plural."

The department is under investigation for influence peddling, in which well-known

Republicans or former HUD employees used their connections to get government funds for specific housing projects.

In addition, the Justice Department is investigating the theft of as much as $20 million by private closing agents who sold HUD property and kept the money, and other investigations are focusing on loan programs in which questionable deals were made leading to high default rates.

Kemp, who was a congressman from New York before being appointed HUD secretary by President Bush, got a warm reception from his former House colleagues, who were just as eager to praise his efforts to clean up the department as they were to blame his predecessors for fouling it up.

As they groped for ways to express themselves, the metaphors got thick.

Rep. Tom Lantos, D-Calif., referred to Kemp's former career in the American Football League, calling him the "quarterback" at HUD who has been "blitzed" by the scandals but nevertheless is not one to "punt."

Rep. Marge Roukema, R-N.J., called HUD "Humpty Dumpty," although she said she thought it could be put back together again.

Schumer called HUD a "swamp" and housing in the United States a "desert," then praised Kemp for fixing the "leaky hose" at the department.

Kemp, who first called HUD a swamp a few months ago, had enough. "I'm sorry the swamp thing ever got used," he said.

French Bicentennial observed by people all over the U.S.

By The Associated Press

Let them decorate cake in Chicago, storm the Bastille in Louisiana, sprint while balancing bottles of sparkling water in Boston: vive la revolution en Amerique.

New York, home to an estimated 15,000 French citizens, has been a flurry of activity this year to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the French revolution. There have been French films, an opera written by philosopher Jean-Jacques Rousseau, dance and music concerts.

The French consul general, Benoit d'Adoville, will be host of a reception on Friday, the day the French celebrate the storming of the Bastille, the prison that was a symbol of autocratic oppression.

In California, the Sacramento Symphony is holding a champagne dance Friday, followed two days later by the "Le Tour de San Francisco" bike race. The French government estimates that 25,000 French expatriates live in the Bay area.

Emmanuel Gagniarre, a French consulate spokesman in New York, says he's at a loss to list all the U.S. events planned to commemorate the French revolution.

"In the United States, there are so many things," he said. "There are so many historic events and values linking the two nations," he said.

Gagniarre noted that the U.S. Bill of Rights was presented to Congress in 1789, the year the French Declaration of the Rights of Man and Citizen was promulgated. Thomas Jefferson was U.S. envoy to France at the time.

On Boston Common, a site important to the history of the American Revolution, waiters carrying bottles of sparkling water will compete in a Bastille Day footrace.

New Orleans, ever proud of its French heritage, plans a two-mile cross-country race. The first 100 finishers will be awarded a bottle of wine.

Coast guard patrols for cocaine deliveries

PORT O'CONNOR, Texas (AP) — There's more than trash and seaweed washing up on Texas beaches as bundles of cocaine continue to arrive from what some officials believe was a smuggler's cache lost in a tropical storm.

The largest find to date was a $2.5 million package that washed ashore here Monday evening and was turned in to authorities by a man who found it while walking along the sea at Crystal Beach, officials said.

Coast Guard boats are patrolling desolate stretches of beach regularly, hoping to intercept any more packages.

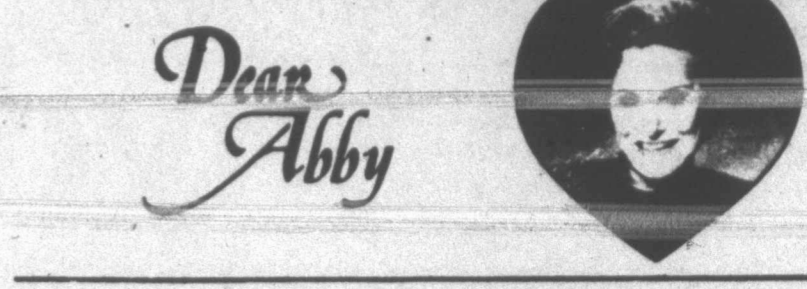

"If anybody finds any of it, I hope nobody opens the package," said Coast Guard Petty Officer James Gutknecht, at the Port O'Connor station. "This cocaine is pretty potent stuff."

Gutknecht said officials aren't sure exactly how many packages have washed up so far from what some believe is cargo from a drug smuggler's shop that went down in Tropical Storm Allison three weeks ago.

"We've had seven in the Port O'Connor area," Gutknecht said. "They all weighed about one kilo each."

A Coast Guard boat on beach patrol found another 2.2-pound package on Tuesday near Matagorda Peninsula. Coast Guard boats are patrolling the area around Port O'Connor about five hours daily, Gutknecht said.

Strict Time Limit at Day Care Is No Care to Many Readers

By Abigail Van Buren

© Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: This is regarding "No Nonsense in N.W. Jersey," the day-care professional who said, "Any child not picked up by 6:30 p.m. will be taken to the county social service facility for children."

Your answer to her was, "Most parents are on time, but I'll wager not many parents are tardy twice when faced with this kind of penalty."

Is that the best response you could come up with? Abby, that lady should be working in a factory making clocks! Her responsibility to the child far outweighs any spite she may feel toward inconsiderate parents. The person she is hurting is the child. She has no business being in the day-care business — and less business calling it "day care." There is no care. She should advertise: "Day storage: We are not responsible for items left after 6:30 p.m."

Can you imagine what it must do to small children to be taken by someone they are supposed to trust and dumped with strangers in a strange place? At that age, they can't understand what's happening. They can't even be sure that their parents will come and get them. In their minds it can be nothing short of abandonment, and it must be terrifying.

Your letter "No Nonsense" got off without letting her have it with both barrels shows that you aren't in the child-care business. Thanks for hearing me out.

DISGUSTED IN VIRGINIA

DEAR DISGUSTED: You're right. I should have come down much harder on her. But I didn't get away with it. It would have done your heart good to see all the negative mail I received.

DEAR ABBY: I just had to write after reading the letter from "Fuming in Ontario," the man who was angry when people cut in ahead of him in line.

I, too, used to get angry and fume about this. Actually, I was more angry at myself for not having the nerve to say something to them at the time. Then I decided to be more assertive. (I discovered that one need not be obnoxious to be assertive.)

I learned to say, politely but loudly, "Perhaps you didn't notice that the end of the line is over there, and I'm sure you won't mind waiting your turn like the rest of us have." It works every time.

ASSERTIVE IN URBANA, OHIO

DEAR ASSERTIVE: Good suggestion. Here's another one:

DEAR ABBY: Whenever someone tries to get in line ahead of me, I say, loudly, "I don't mind letting you in ahead of me, if all those people behind me don't object." Then I address the people in line with, "What do you say, folks?"

Naturally, everyone in line is "thumbs down" on the idea, and they start yelling, "Nothing doing! No way! Go to the end of the line like we did!"

NO CUTTING IN IN PHOENIX

DEAR ABBY: I've been a delivery person for many years, and you could help all of us in the trade by impressing upon your readers how important it is to be specific when giving an address. It may seem rather unimportant to indicate whether it's street, avenue, boulevard, road, drive, court, lane or whatever when specifying a delivery address. Given how most metropolitan areas may have a 24th Street as well as a 24th Avenue, or an Elm Street, Elm Place, Elm Drive, etc., there are a lot of important documents, parts orders, blueprints and pizzas needlessly heading off in the wrong direction.

Thanks, Abby!

GREG PALMER, OAKLAND, CALIF.

DEAR GREG: A misdirected pizza is merely an inconvenience, but an ambulance, fire truck or police car heading off in the wrong direction can be a major catastrophe.

Readers, pay attention when you give your address. And by the way, is your residence clearly marked and visible at night in case an ambulance, fire truck or police car has been sent there?

Everything you'll need to know about planning a wedding can be found in Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send your name and address, plus check or money order for $2.89 ($3.39 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

Squad disbands when they can't find missing women

OVERLAND PARK, Kan. (AP) — With a final airborne check for three missing Johnson County women, the Metro Squad disbanded Tuesday night and turned the investigation over to the Overland Park and Lenexa police departments.

The high point of the squad's investigation came Friday when 28-year-old Richard Grissom Jr. was captured in Dallas. Police questioned him about the disappearances, but he has not been charged.

Although the 20-officer squad never accounted for the missing women, it will turn over several theories and leads to the Overland Park and Lenexa police departments.

Detective Larry Keller, a squad spokesman, said police think that if the women are dead alone; the bodies are in or close to the metropolitan area; and the bodies are not all in the same place.

Missing are Joan Butler, 24, of Overland Park, and Lenexa roommates Theresa Brown and Christine Rusch, both 22. Also, Grissom is considered a suspect in the June 7 murder of Terri Maness, 25, of Wichita.

Ms. Butler has been missing since June 18. Ms. Rusch and Ms. Brown were last heard from the morning of June 26.

Detectives on horseback Tuesday searched an area in Johnson County that they had searched previously.

Pickens' reaction revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Corporate raider T. Boone Pickens Jr. told Congress the Japanese are resisting his foray into corporate ownership there to prevent him from exposing a closed, monopolistic economy.

The millionaire Texas oilman, known for his often hostile raids on U.S. companies, purchased a 20.2 percent stake in Koito Manufacturing Co., an automobile lighting company, for $800 million.

But he was rebuffed two weeks ago at a shareholders' meeting in Tokyo when he sought three seats on Koito's 20-member board.

Pickens said Tuesday he poses no threat to the company's management because the web of interconnected stockholders, including Koito's customers, can easily outvote him.

"They must want to exclude me so that an American won't see how their cartel works. They don't want their system exposed for what it is," Pickens told the Senate Committee on Commerce, Science and Transportation.

In fact, he said the Japanese may be exporting their system of close links between companies and suppliers when they build factories in the United States.

"American suppliers are already complaining that they cannot get a piece of the action," he said.

Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., chairman of the panel and a strong advocate of an aggressive trade policy, praised Pickens for having given the committee a "wonderful understanding" of the barriers Japan erects to outside investment.

"This is a matter of policy. ... They try to finesse it with the word 'culture.' They've got the same culture you and I've got — money talks," Hollings said.

Pickens' testimony came as the committee considered a bill, sponsored by Sen. Tom Harkin, D-Iowa., and Rep. John Bryant, D-Texas. It would require foreign investors to register with the Department of Commerce when they purchase more than a 5 percent stake in a U.S. company or real estate valued at more than $5 million.

According to a report issued by the Commerce Department in June, foreign holdings in the United States have tripled since 1980 to $1.79 trillion, $533 billion more than Americans own abroad, making the United States the world's largest debtor.

Great Britain held the largest stake in the United States, followed by Japan and the Netherlands.

Harkin said under the current system of tracking foreign investment it is often impossible to determine the true ownership of individual companies and properties. Ownership is often cloaked through shell corporations under the current system of tracking and Harkin said he fears some of the investment represents recycled drug profits.

Point counterpoint

By James Jacoby

Although the widespread use of point count has made bidding more exact, players weaned on this evaluation method sometimes err in their competitive judgment. In today's deal an unnamed expert sitting North looked at his hand and saw 15 high-card points. He could not resist coming in with a takeout double after West had responded with one spade. East now made an "action" bid — he redoubled. He knew he had a fine hand for defense, and he wanted to encourage his partner to double the opponents for penalties. Sure enough, although South tried to bluster a confident two diamonds, West was happy to double. North had no place to run.

West got off to the best lead. Declarer won the spade king and led a heart to dummy's queen and East's king. East cashed the heart ace and K-A of clubs, and led a third club. South discarded a spade as West ruffed. The spade return was ruffed by East, and West still had two more diamond tricks coming. The contract was down three for 800 points — a nice result in view of the fact that East-West could not make more than a part-score.

What's the moral? If you're going to get into the bidding vulnerable against non-vulnerable opponents, have taking tricks and a decent suit, not points that may be wasted in the play.

Doobie Brothers cancel concert

WEEDSPORT, N.Y. (AP) — The Doobie Brothers canceled a concert scheduled for today and postponed three others because lead singer Tom Johnston has laryngitis.

The group canceled an appearance at the Cayuga County Fair in Weedsport, about 25 miles west of Syracuse, said fair spokeswoman Annette Lutz.

The Fabulous Thunderbirds will still perform as scheduled, she said.

Concern prompts call for action in combating crime

WASHINGTON (AP) — Increased concern about violent crime is producing an unlikely congressional coalition behind a plan to add 100,000 officers to police forces across the country by trading scholarships for service.

The idea behind the Police Corps Act of 1989 is to boost the strength of state and local police forces by up to 22 percent while creating a new brand of college-educated officers to cope with racial tensions, gang warfare and other special challenges.

An unusual group of lawmakers has formed around the bill, including Reps. Barney Frank, D-Mass., and Bob Dornan, R-Calif.

The outspoken, liberal Frank is rarely on the same side of an issue with Dornan, an equally combative conservative. "People who disagree on 90 percent of the issues agree on 10 percent," Frank said Tuesday.

Frank said he backs the measure because "It's a good idea to have college-educated people in law enforcement. We don't pay cops enough and don't give people enough incentive to be cops."

Participating students would get federally guaranteed loans for their education, then have up to $40,000 repaid by the government once they complete four years in the state police or a local police department in the sponsoring state.

The idea was developed in part by Adam Walinsky, a New York City lawyer and former chairman of the State Investigations Commission there. After seven years of lobbying, he believes the time is ripe for congressional action.

This year's version was being introduced today by Sens. Arlen Specter, R-Pa., and Jim Sasser, D-Tenn.

"It's taken unbelievably long," Walinsky said. "If we had been able to add the number and quality of police officers that this intended, we wouldn't be in quite the trouble we are today. But that was then and this is now."

Backers point to already-stretched local law enforcement budgets, and to statistics showing that the nation allocates to violent crime just one-sixth of the police power compared with 30 years ago.

Senator decries PUC staff recommendation

AUSTIN (AP) — South Texas' economic recovery is threatened unless the Public Utility Commission rejects Central Power and Light Co.'s rate increase request and orders the return of $51 million in excess collected taxes to customers, a state lawmaker said.

Because of a reduction in the maximum corporate income tax rate, the Corpus Christi-based utility "has in excess of $51 million on hand," said Sen.

Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi.

Truan said the PUC staff has recommended that the money be returned "over the 38-year remaining life span of the South Texas Nuclear Project." The nuclear plant in Matagorda County is co-owned by CPL, Houston Lighting & Power Co. and the cities of Austin and San Antonio.

"This is bad business, poor economics, lousy utility regulation and a slap in the face of the overburdened CPL ratepayers," Truan said in a statement.

The "fragile economic recovery" of South Texas is endangered unless the 16 percent rate increase requested by CPL "is rejected and the more than $51 million in unearned excess deferred taxes is returned to the utility customers, to whom it rightfully belongs," he said.

Jackie Bjorum, spokeswoman for CPL, said the commission staff recommendation "is just one of the many inputs to be considered in this rate case."

"We agree that the benefits of tax reform should go to the ratepayers. It's a matter of timing," Ms. Bjorum said.

Of the rate increase, she said the company presented evidence that South Texas would be more hampered by unavailability of electricity than a rate increase.

NEAR PERFECT GAME—Snyder pitcher Reagan Key led the Snyder Little League All-Stars to a 4-0 victory over Rotan Tuesday night in Area 2 play at Snyder's Logan Field. Key fanned 12 batters and allowed only two base hits. (SDN Staff Photo)

Snyder hurler Reagan Key fanned 12 batters and allowed only two hits in leading the Snyder Little League All-Stars to a 4-0 victory over Rotan Tuesday night in the Area 2 Tournament at Snyder's Logan field.

The tournament resumes Thursday when Hamlin and Rotan meet at 6 p.m. Stonewall-Kent faces Anson in Thursday's nightcap.

Snyder will continue its quest for the area championship at 8 p.m. Friday when the Stars host Colorado City. The 6 p.m. Friday game will see the winners of Thursday's game square off.

Key went the full six innings for the Snyder Stars and had a perfect game through the third frame. In the fourth Rotan shortstop Lee Yanez hit the first of two singles. It was the 12 strikeouts that prevented the Rotan offense from getting in motion.

The game was scoreless until the third inning when leftfielder Marc Sparlin advanced to first on a walk. Sparlin was able to score on a bases-loaded walk.

Snyder's other three runs came in the fifth inning. Centerfielder Curt Rinehart hit a one-out single. First sacker Craig Mitchell also singled and the runners advanced to third and second on the throw-in from the outfield.

Kyle Lewis then popped up to shallow right field and it was caught as a foul ball and an out.

However, Rinehart tagged up and raced home to score, giving Snyder a 2-0 edge. Mitchell went to third on the play. Lionel Aviles was next up and walked. He stole second and Mitchell scored when the Rotan catcher tried to throw Aviles out at second.

The final run came when Key singled and Aviles came home.

In Tuesday's earlier game, Colorado City raced to a 16-0 victory over Stonewall-Kent.

Frank Espinoza went the route for C-City and Gregg Anderson, who was relieved by Michael Willis, suffered the mound loss.

Colorado City pounded Stonewall-Kent pitchers for nine hits—including a first inning homerun by rightfielder Jeff Hill.

C-City started strong with five runs in the first inning. The victors picked up another run in the third, two in the fourth and eight in the fifth inning.

Lewis Martinez had a double for C-City while single-base hits were collected by Dusty Robinson, Eddie Martinez, Lewis Martinez, Stephen Payne, Jeff Hill and Michael Hoyle.

Stonewall-Kent single-base hits were tagged by Matt Frazier and Michael Willis.

Packers' top draft wants to be 'Poke

IRVING (AP) — Tony Mandarich says he would love to go to Dallas because of the flash, the dash and the cash.

The 6-6, 308-pound offensive tackle has not been signed by Green Bay and the Michigan State standout has dropped a broad hint that he would love to wind up in Texas.

Mandarich told The Dallas Morning News that he likes the Cowboys because of new coach Jimmy Johnson's aggressive style, the talent in the offensive backfield and because owner Jerry Jones "pays his people a lot of money. And I'm worth a lot of money."

Jones will pay UCLA quarterback Troy Aikman $11 million over the next six years to play NFL football, and Mandarich, who some scouts felt was the top player in collegiate football, wants something close to that.

Green Bay thinks that's somewhat high, so neither side has budged. Moreover, the Packers have said they're not interested in trading Mandarich to any team.

"I'd sit out at Green Bay, but I'd rather go to Dallas and crush people," Mandarich said. "They'd like my style there."

Tom Braatz, Green Bay's executive vice president, said after the July 7 supplemental draft that the Packers "have no intention of trading Mandarich, even though a quarterback is one of the No. 1 needs of this team. We'd still like to sign Mandarich if we can."

Bob Ackles, Dallas' director of player personnel, said he's delighted that Mandarich thinks so highly of the Cowboys. But he declined to speculate on the chances of trying to accommodate his wishes.

"Even though Tony hasn't signed, even though he's not under contract, he's still the property of the Green Bay Packers," Ackles said. "Therefore, I prefer not to say anything other than that he is an outstanding football player."

Bo Jackson, Nolan Ryan pace AL's 5-3 all-star victory

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Somewhere, there may be a baseball player who can hit a ball farther and run faster than Bo Jackson.

If there is, though, he sure wasn't at Anaheim Stadium Tuesday night for the All-Star Game.

Jackson drove in two runs, one with a 448-foot homer, stole a base and made a nifty running catch.

Jackson's heroics helped the American League and Nolan Ryan beat the National League 5-3. It is the first time since 1957-1958 that the AL has won consecutive All-Star Games.

"He's exciting," NL manager Tommy Lasorda said of Jackson, the game's MVP. "When the bat hit the ball on his homer, it sounded like he hit a golf ball. He's awesome."

Awesome was only one adjective used to describe Jackson's dominant performance in the 60th All-Star Game.

The game started at 5:42 PDT and the twilight was supposed to bother the batters. But they seemed to see things just fine.

The NL took a 2-0 lead in the top of the first off Dave Stewart and then it was time for the Bo Show.

Jackson hit Rick Reuschel's second pitch of the game into the batter's eye in center field, 448 feet away.

"I rarely turn and watch a home run," Reuschel said. "There was only one other time — and that was in spring training — when I watched because I was so sure it was going out."

Center fielder Eric Davis was watching, too.

"I really thought I might have a chance for it," Davis said. "I saw it climb and then there was nothing for me to do but watch it."

Reuschel might not have wanted to watch what happened next, though.

Wade Boggs homered to left-center field on a 3-2 pitch.

It was the first time in All-Star history that a team led off with consecutive homers and only the fourth time overall.

"Bo is scary," Boggs, a five-time batting champion, said. "He is redefining the game."

In the second inning, Jackson put the AL ahead to stay against loser John Smoltz with an RBI grounder. He also stole second in the inning.

The only other player to hit a homer and steal a base in an All-Star game was Willie Mays, in the second game in 1960.

"The twilight only effects mediocre hitters and there aren't any here," Lasorda said. "The early game didn't make a difference."

The last All-Star Game played at Anaheim was in 1967, and it took the NL 15 innings to squeeze out a 2-1 victory. By the end of the first inning Tuesday, that total had been surpassed.

Jackson, who also plays football in the NFL, is compared to Jimmy Brown when he's running for the Los Angeles Raiders and to Mays when he's hitting homers for the Kansas City Royals.

He doesn't care much for either comparison.

"I really hate it when people call me the next Willie Mays or the next Babe Ruth," Jackson said. "People should be judged on what they do, not what other people have done."

Ryan, 42, relieved Stewart and pitched two innings for the victory. No comparisons are needed for Ryan; he's one of a kind.

Ryan, who is nearing 300 victories and 5,000 strikeouts, is the second-oldest pitcher ever to appear in an All-Star Game and the oldest ever to win one.

He played for California from 1972-79, so this game was special. "It was my most meaningful All-Star Game," Ryan said.

The AL added two runs in the third inning off Rick Sutcliffe on RBI singles by Harold Baines and Ruben Sierra, who was 2-for-3, and got great pitching from Mark Gubicza, Mike Moore and Greg Swindell.

Senior club ends regular season with 8-5 triumph

SWEETWATER — Snyder Senior Teenage League squad wrapped up its regular season with an 8-5 victory over the Sweetwater Rangers this week.

The win put Snyder at 11-1. The Tigers wrapped up the league crown and a berth to the Aug. 1-6 state tournament a week ago.

Snyder's offense was led by a two home runs and a single from Randy Morris. Toby Goodwin punched one home run and two singles. Jason West, Ronnie Pruitt and Bart Morton also singled.

Morris opened on the mound and went five innings. Bert Merritt came in relief and picked up the win.

Snyder got the winning run when Goodwin singled and scored on an error. The Tigers got insurance when West singled and Morris followed with his second homer of the night.

Snyder will see action in the state tournament beginning Aug. 1 in Mt. Pleasant.

Watchdogs say tighter rules are called for

AUSTIN (AP) — Recent publicity about lobbyists buying legislators' vacations and a businessman distributing $10,000 checks to senators may make this the time for reform of the Legislature's ethics rules, a public watchdog group says.

"Members are extremely concerned about re-election, and they're willing to make strong commitments at this time because they see scandal brewing. When you've got scandal, it's time to push for reform," said Tom Smith, director of the group Public Citizen.

The public could help change the system by boosting lawmakers' salaries from the current $600 a month and linking that pay raise to reform, Smith suggested Tuesday.

"If they want a Legislature that works for them instead of special interests, they've got to ante up and pay the salaries. They've got to vote in November to raise salaries — and demand significant reform in campaign finance and lobbying," he said.

A referendum on the November ballot proposes tripling legislators' salaries from $7,200 a year to more than $23,000. It also would remove the constitutional requirement that voters approve all salary hikes by paying lawmakers 25 percent of the governor's salary — which the Legislature sets.

Smith suggested that as legislators ask voters for the raise, they should promise to reform the campaign finance system and ethics laws that have no restrictions on how much lobbyists can spend to wine, dine and take lawmakers on trips.

"I think there ought to be that kind of promise made by legislators around the state," Smith said. "And people should demand an answer from their representatives on whether they're going to vote for some limitations. They need to make it clear they want this system to change."

Another group, Common Cause, also seeks changes. Pam Fridrich, that group's executive director, agreed that citizens should tell lawmakers what they think.

"The public needs to be contacting legislators and telling them, 'We want you to disclose this information to us, we want campaign finance reform, and we want you to be above board with us,'" she said.

In the past two weeks, the Legislature has been embarrassed by two incidents.

In late June, news reports revealed that the Texas State Troopers Association helped pay for a lobby-funded ski trip for some lawmakers and gubernatorial aides. The association opposed a bill, eventually vetoed by Gov. Bill Clements, to require police groups to publicly disclose where they spend money raised through telephone solicitations.

Then late last week, two days before a Senate vote on a workers' compensation bill, East Texas millionaire Lonnie "Bo" Pilgrim offered $10,000 checks to one-fourth the members of the Texas Senate after telling them of his unhappiness with the current workers' comp law.

The checks — with the payees' names left blank — were intended as campaign contributions, said Pilgrim, who distributed several in the Senate chamber while a committee was meeting there. Most of the nine senators offered the checks rejected or returned them.

Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle said he is investigating.

Although lawmakers can't accept campaign contributions during regular legislative session, there is no prohibition during special sessions like that going on now.

Unlike federal law, Texas law places no limits on how much money individuals can donate to political campaigns.

Unlike some other states,

Texas also places no limits on how much money lobbyists can spend on legislators. Dinners, drinks, hunting and fishing trips, golf outings at exclusive clubs and other favors are common.

Smith said the time has come to change both campaign and lobbying laws.

He points to the current special session over workers' compensation reform — the system that pays benefits to workers killed or injured on the job — as an illustration.

"The workers' compensation debate has been a classic example of how the flow of money often determines how issues are resolved in the Legislature," Smith said.

"Since nobody makes any money off job safety, there's been nobody really trying to fix that problem. Everyone's trying to give the manufacturers and business community a break, but nobody's trying to address the real issue: worker safety," Smith said.

Bill ok'd to change 'hate crimes' law

AUSTIN (AP) — The House passed a bill to make sure that a new "hate crimes" law would apply only to the destruction or damage of property, addressing concerns expressed by anti-abortion activists.

Bill Price, president of Texas United for Life in Dallas, said Tuesday his group urged changes to make sure the bill would not apply to "people engaged in lawful, peaceful picketing and protesting."

"We're not in any way sympathetic toward people who destroy property," Price said. "But we didn't think people out picketing should have to be concerned about being arrested for a third-degree felony as long as they are otherwise obeying the law."

The law, approved in the regular session that ended May 29, makes it a felony beginning Sept. 1 to damage or destroy a place of worship or a community center that offers medical, social or education programs. The offense currently is a misdemeanor.

If the damage is less than $20,000, the maximum punishment is 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine. Greater damage carries a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Some groups afraid that the measure would apply to people who stand outside abortion clinics to discourage customers, if they cost the clinics money by turning away business, met with Gov. Bill Clements' staff. Price said his group telephoned and wrote letters.

Rep. Steve Wolens said he was told the governor might veto the bill, which was prompted in part by destruction at synagogues by skinheads, if changes were not made.

"The governor was seriously considering vetoing the bill for reasons that had no semblance of legitimacy, in my opinion," said Wolens, D-Dallas. "People were concerned about ghosts and hobgoblins."

World pays tribute to 'acting giant'

LONDON (AP) — Theater lights were dimmed and flags lowered as Britain and the world paid tribute to the incomparable talent of Laurence Olivier.

Olivier died in his sleep Tuesday at age 82.

But as Olivier would have wished, the shows went on and there was virtually unanimous agreement that his legacy would continue in playhouses worldwide.

The founding father of Britain's National Theater and two-time Academy Award winner left colleagues reaching for superlatives.

His public pondered the significance of a career embracing Shakespearean tragedy and Chekhovian comedy, the romantic and the elegiac.

"He had more magic on the stage than any actor I have ever seen. He was extraordinary — he was irreplaceable," said Sir John Mills, one of a generation of distinguished actor-knights. Of those, Olivier, Sir John Gielgud and the late Sir Ralph Richardson were considered the three finest.

Across London's West End, theater marquees dimmed their lights for an hour. In New York City, Broadway theaters followed suit, dimming their lights for one minute at curtain time.

Flags were lowered to half-staff outside the National Theater and the Royal Shakespeare Company in Stratford-upon-Avon, the birthplace of Shakespeare. The National's marquee said merely: "Lord Olivier: 1907-1989."

At the National Theater, which Olivier founded in 1963, veteran actor Michael Bryant told the audience following a performance of "The Voyage Inheritance": "I personally will not be lachrymose."

"I'll be thinking of things like the Crispin's Day speech; 'Now is the winter of our discontent'; his young, magnetic, handsome Heathcliff," said Bryant. He referred to Olivier's famed performances in Shakespeare's "Henry V" and "Richard III," and as the tragic film hero in the classic, "Wuthering Heights."

with a 130-1 vote. In other action, the House approved and sent to the Senate bills that would:

— Grant an exemption from weight-based registration fees and county road and bridge fees for people who have received Purple Hearts and pay a $10 fee for special license plates.

License plate fees for former prisoners of war and Pearl Harbor survivors would be reduced from $10 to $3. The $10 fee was established in a bill passed during the regular session to create special plates for Purple Heart recipients and Pearl Harbor survivors.

— Increase federal Medicaid matching funds for hospitals that provide large amounts of uncompensated charitable care.

— Allow hospital districts and emergency services districts with the property-taxing authority to also impose a local sales tax, with voter approval.

Merv Griffin hosts nostalgic visit

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Merv Griffin was up to his old tricks, playing TV host to a nostalgic visit for the days when big bands and bobby-soxers were the kings and queens of ballroom entertainment.

To the customers who've packed the Superstar Theater in Griffin-owned Resorts International casino-hotel for a chance to see him in person and have a crack at winning a car or cash, the combination variety-game shows were little more than a novelty.

But as chairman of Merv Griffin Enterprises, a subsidiary of Columbia Entertainment, Griffin sees the show as the foundation for a new nationally televised variety-game show originating from his casino-hotel on the Boardwalk.

"It's something that's never been done before, entertainment co-mingling with a game show," he said.

If the show does become go on television regularly, don't expect to see the 64-year-old Griffin install himself as host.

Report decries frequent flying

WASHINGTON (AP) — Globetrotting members of Congress took 1,053 overseas trips in 1987-88, some of them "mere junkets with no compelling purpose," a new study said today.

Congressional watchdog Public Citizen said the trips cost taxpayers at least $13.5 million. They included one journey to five countries by the House Rules Committee, which has no role in drafting legislation.

In another trip, 13 House members and seven staffers went to Australia for seven days to help celebrate the centennial of that nation's parliament, according to the report, "Free Flying Congress."

"There are many valid reasons for members of Congress to travel at taxpayer expense, but at least some of these trips appear to be unjustified excursions," said Joan Claybrook, president of the Ralph Nader organization.

The information on members of the 100th Congress, who served in 1987 and 1988, was compiled from figures furnished by committees and from military records.

Altogether, 306 House members took 827 trips abroad at a cost of at least $11.5 million, the report said, while 80 senators went on 226 trips costing more than $2 million.

Although commercial travel would be cheaper, the report said, lawmakers often used the Air Force's 89th Military Airlift Wing, which has most of its planes based at Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington and is used for congressional and executive branch travel.

The most "frequent flier" in the House was Rep. Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., chairman of the Asian and Pacific affairs subcommittee of the Foreign Affairs Committee. He made 14 trips during the two-year period, making 39 stops in foreign countries, the report said.

Other frequent travelers, with nine trips, were Rep. George Crockett, D-Mich., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs western hemisphere subcommittee, whose trips included 29 stopovers; House Armed Services Committee Chairman Les Aspin, D-Wis., with 20 stops; and House Agriculture Chairman E. Kika del la Garza, D-Texas, who had 13 stops.

The top Senate overseas fliers were Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations western hemisphere subcommittee, with nine trips and 19 stopovers; Arlen Specter, R-Pa., a member of the Intelligence Committee, with nine trips and at least seven stops (some of his stopovers were not revealed); and John McCain, R-Ariz., a member of the Armed Services Committee, with eight trips and 10 stops.

The most popular countries visited by the House members were West Germany, a stopover on 122 trips; France, which was visited on 111 trips, and the United Kingdom, 86 trips.

The study said there is little detailed reporting on the trips, making it difficult to learn the costs, purposes and accomplishments of the travel.

But, a review "reveals that some trips appear to be mere junkets with no compelling purpose," the report said.

Margaret Lawton, coauthor of the study, called for new guidelines "requiring complete disclosure of the purposes, cost and accomplishments of all foreign travel."

A House Rules Committee delegation of four members and four staffers visited Spain, Malta, Turkey, Kenya and Senegal over 12 days last December at a reported total cost of $84,112.

The stated purpose was "to acquaint members with various international issues as they relate to the foreign policy of the United States and to geopolitical issues which will affect international relations."

The committee's only function is to set the rules for floor debate on legislation.

A 13-member, seven-staff delegation to Australia lasted seven days in August 1988. The delegation reported transportation costs totaling $155,446, although round-trip commercial flights with coach seating were available for 40 percent less, the report said.

But the report noted that publicly listed costs can grossly underestimate the real amount that taxpayers were charged. In a July 1988 trip to the Philippines, South Korea and Japan by Reps. Marvin Leath, D-Texas, and David O'B. Martin, R-N.Y., and two staffers, the Congressional Record listed $21,297 for transportation costs.

However, U.S. Army documents for the trip list the military aircraft cost at $101,926, the report said.

offer the House new proposals today. "If we don't see progress (today), we'll be in trouble."

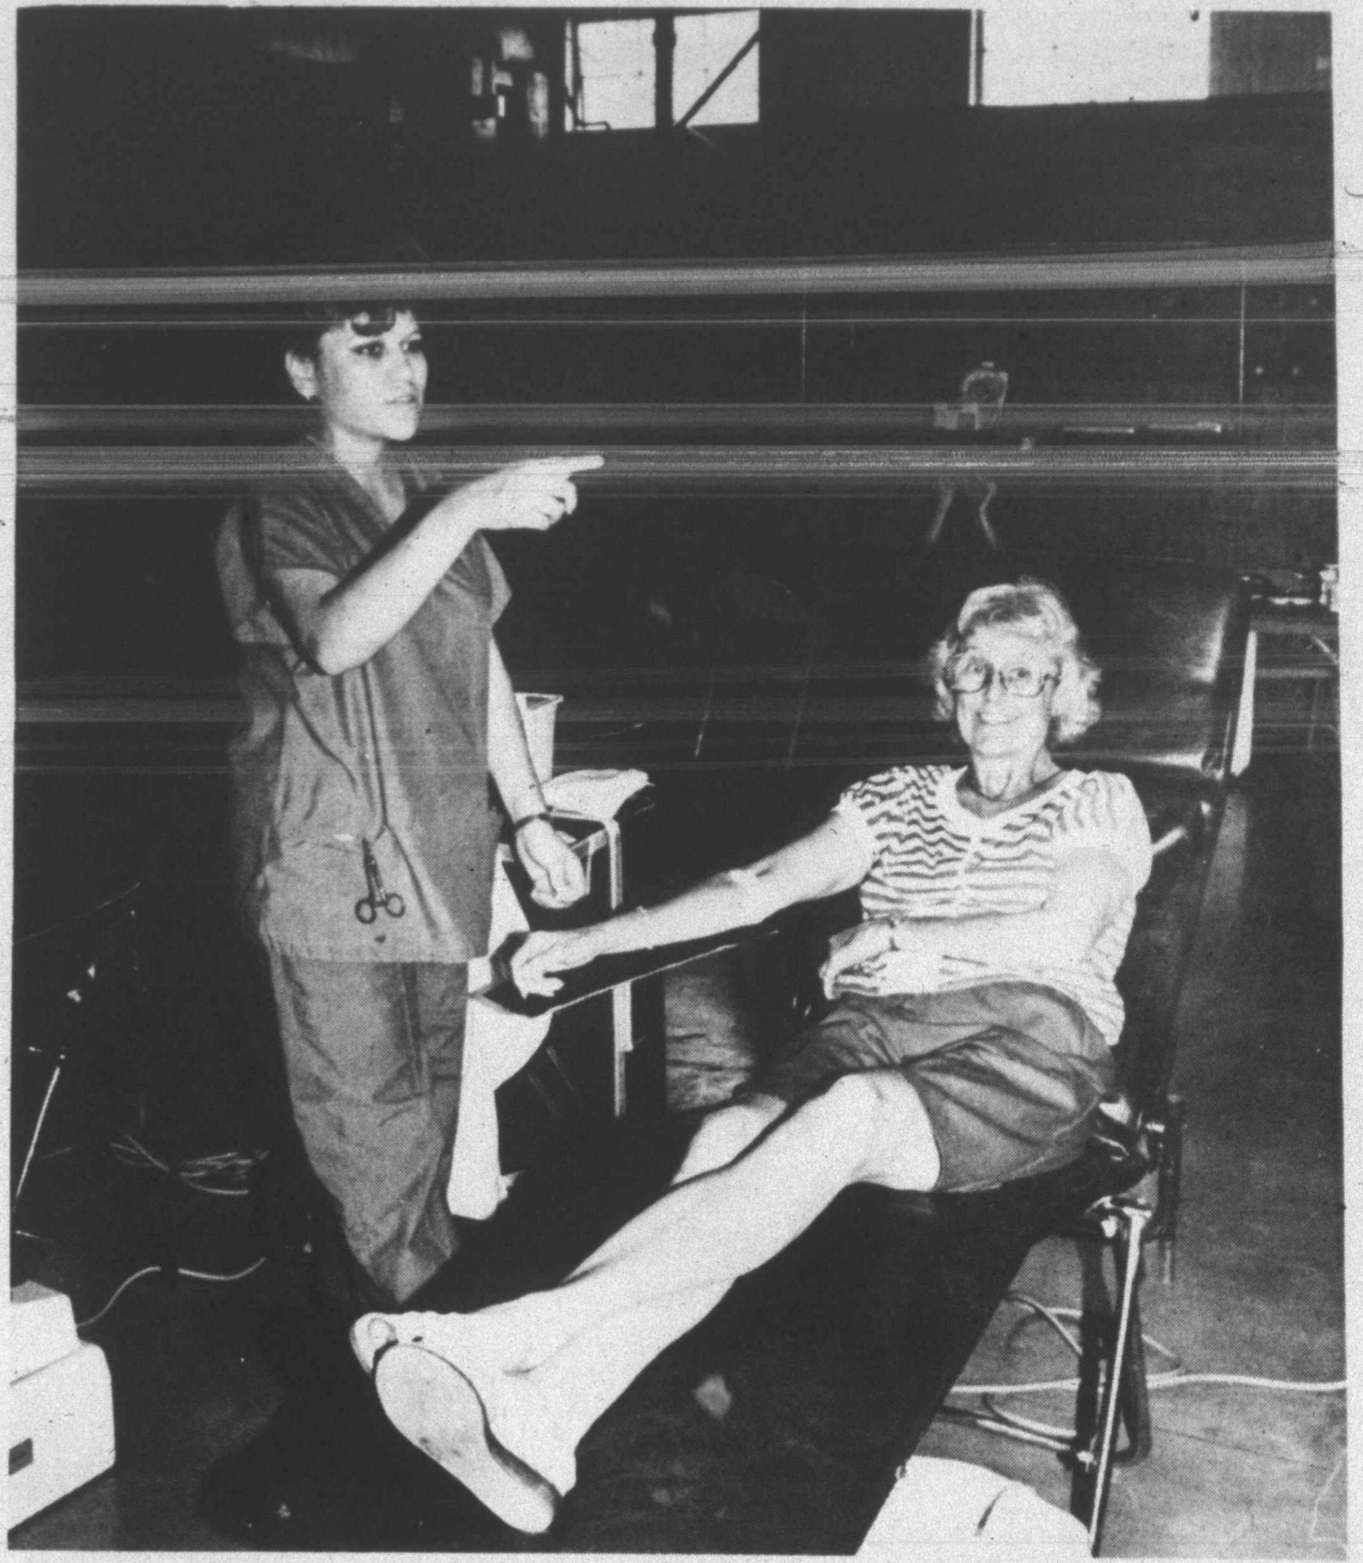

Gov. Bill Clements, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Gib Lewis met Tuesday at a governor's mansion breakfast, and Lewis, D-Fort Worth, said he and Hobby made a commitment toward trying to resolve the issue during the current session.

Clements seemed surprised by Lewis' comments.

"He's changing his position up and down and sideways, so exactly where we're going to come out, I would hesitate to say," Clements said.

But Clements added, "I also need to say that at the end of breakfast both Hobby and Lewis seemed to be of one mind ... and hopefully we are going to get over this impasse that we are in right now."

The conference committee met for about five hours Tuesday, but did not vote on the differing proposals on resolving disputed comp claims and how to calculate comp benefits.

DR. GOTT PETER GOTT, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 185-pound, 5-foot-11-inch blond and have no facial hair to speak of. I shave about once a month. Everyone says I'm very fortunate. But at 35 I wonder if some hormones might help, or if I should just live with the problem.

DEAR READER: Some men are less hairy than others. Those who have to shave once or twice a day might consider your condition a benefit. Therefore, I cannot judge whether or not you have a "problem." This might just be a biological variation.

If your sex drive and muscular development are normal, you probably have enough hormone for your needs; the hair is secondary. However, if you are concerned about a possible deficiency, I suggest you see a doctor for an examination and blood test of hormone level. In the event your hormone is deficient, it can be replaced with pills or injections.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 71-year-old male. Every evening about 5 p.m. my face becomes flushed and my ears turn deep red for no apparent reason. My heartbeat becomes stronger and my pulse increases to about 85. This is uncomfortable and annoying, and I'm concerned about it. If I have a highball or a beer before this starts, they seem to have no effect. What's your opinion?

DEAR READER: You should see a doctor.

Certain types of growths, notably pheochromocytomas, are characterized by the cyclic secretion of substances that raise blood pressure and cause flushing. Although such a disorder would be distinctly uncommon, the doctor will want to question you, examine you and obtain certain blood or urine tests to rule out these tumors.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 52-year-old female. Menstruation ceased 18 months ago. My doctor prescribed Premarin 1 cc three times a week for the next 30 years. I've had fibrocystic breast disease and endometriosis, which required a D & C. I'm frightened by the Premarin package insert because I am symptomless, and my doctor becomes very agitated when I question his wisdom. I can't afford a second opinion.

DEAR READER: As yet, there is not a unanimous consensus that postmenopausal estrogen (Premarin) replacement is appropriate for all women. It seems to protect some women against heart disease or uterine cancer. But experts are still debating whether estrogen alone or an estrogen/progestin combination should be used. Moreover, many women object to the continuing menstrual periods that accompany hormone replacement. Until the issue is decided, I believe that doctors should have good reasons, which they must share with their patients, for prescribing estrogen. For example, postmenopausal osteoporosis (bone thinning) is often a good reason; in many cases, the hormone retards bone-calcium loss. However, each case is unique.

If your doctor becomes "agitated" when you ask questions, perhaps you should find another, equally skilled practitioner who isn't. In this day and age, patients expect and deserve to be included in decisions about therapy. Your doctor may have excellent reasons for insisting you use Premarin; if so, he should let you in on them and include you in the decision. If not, you will be better off finding a physician who will take the time to explain things to you.

Incidentally, you can afford a second opinion. If you consider the cost of 150 shots a year for 30 years, the price of a second opinion is inconsequential. To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Choosing a Physician." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-4469. Be sure to mention the title.

Rolling Stones will go back to the road

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rolling Stones are returning to the road after an eight-year layoff, but members of the self-proclaimed world's greatest rock 'n' roll band say they're not coming back to make a quick buck.

"That's The Who!" guitarist Ron Wood explained Tuesday in joining bandmates Mick Jagger, Keith Richards, Bill Wyman and Charlie Watts to announce a 29-city North American tour to promote a new album, "Steel Wheels."

"This tour is not historical ... I don't see it as a retrospective tour, I don't see it as a farewell tour. It's the Rolling Stones in 1989," Jagger told a media horde in Grand Central Terminal.

The band's last album was 1986's "Dirty Work," which was followed by three years of internal strife and a rumored band break-up.

Cuba wants drug case data

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Fidel Castro is accusing the United States of withholding information that could have helped Cuba uncover a drug trafficking network reached into the highest spheres of its military and government, the official news agency Prensa Latina said Tuesday.

"The North Americans had at least two names," he said.

Castro made the allegation in remarks Sunday to the Council of State, which upheld the death sentence of a war hero convicted of drug trafficking, treason and other crimes and 13 of his collaborators. All were high officials in the military or the Interior Ministry security service.

Excerpts of Castro's remarks were broadcast Tuesday night on Cuban television and reported by Prensa Latina.

Castro said Cuba had once discreetly informed U.S. officials about a plot against former President Ronald Reagan's life. The United States should have repaid the courtesy in the drug case, he said.

"We think it should be elemental to say something if you have information of this nature," he said.

Instead, he said, the United States opted for a propaganda campaign against Cuba that tried to discredit his brother and heir-apparent, Defense Minister Raul Castro.

Castro said he ordered Vice Foreign Minister Ricardo Alarcon to tell an unnamed U.S. official that "the people who are spreading these accusations are sons of bitches."

If U.S. intelligence officials had been frank and discreet, Cuba would have taken the charges more seriously and been able to expose the drug traffickers sooner, Castro said.

It was only after "friends of ours in Colombia" came forward with information about Cuban involvement in the drug trade that the allegations were taken seriously, he said.

Castro also said he did not influence the Council of State's unanimous decision to uphold the death sentences against Gen. Ar-naldo Ochoa and three other ex-officers accused of helping smuggle tons of cocaine and marijuana into the United States.

Castro said he asked each of the council's 29 members for their points of view but "I never said a word about what I thought."

But he also said Ochoa and his cohorts should be executed to bring home the seriousness of their crime, ensure discipline in the armed forces and restore Cubans' faith in the revolution.

The Council of State, which includes Raul Castro, was the final court of appeal, Prensa Latina said.

It did not say when Ochoa, ex-Col. Antonio de la Guardia, ex-Maj. Armando Padron and ex-Capt. Jorge Martinez would face the firing squad.

The council also upheld prison sentences ranging from 10 to 30 years for 10 other defendants, all former officers in the military or Interior Ministry.

Castro said it was "supremely grave" that "a member of the Central Committee, a Hero of the Republic, a general of a division, a man with the prestige Ochoa had" could become so corrupt.

He said that Ochoa and his cohorts "must have felt like the most untouchable people in the world."

Ochoa fought alongside Castro 30 years ago in the revolution that overthrew dictator Fulgencio Batista. He went on to become a trusted aide who carried out confidential missions for the president.

He is one of only five officers ever awarded Cuba's highest medal, the Hero of the Republic.
