

Top team ropers finish Monday as AJRA set to open

She rode in as president and could ride out as "Miss AJRA," but in the meantime Lari Dee Guy already has one title to take home. She's the age 16-to-19 World Champion Team Roper for 1989.

Guy, the current AJRA president, opened this year's version of the AJRA National Finals

Rodeo by winning the team roping Monday morning at Scurry County Coliseum. The Abilene native is also one of six young ladies competing for the title of Miss AJRA, which will be announced Friday evening.

The rodeo, in Snyder for the 14th consecutive year, officially opens tonight at 8 o'clock. Shows run nightly through Saturday at the coliseum. General admission tickets are $4 for adults and $2 for children under 12. Box seats are also available for $6.

Anyone wearing a 1989 AJRA cap Tuesday will be admitted for half price.

Q — Has the city started seal-coating city streets yet this summer?
A — No. Current plans are to start later in August.

In Brief

Hearing opens

MORGAN CITY, La. (AP) — The Coast Guard today opened a hearing on the July 24 accident in which a floating oil rig overturned in rough Gulf of Mexico waters with only four apparent survivors among its crew of 14.

"We will be interviewing survivors of the accident and owners of the rig in an attempt to find out what happened," said Cmdr. Richard E. Ford, the Coast Guard officer presiding over the hearing.

Ford said rig owners would testify first.

Hurricane Chantal was forming in the Gulf and the rig Avco 5 was heading for shore to avoid the storm when it overturned. A fishing boat and helicopter rescued four survivors.

Divers for Chevron, which leased the rig from Avis Bourg Co. of Folsom, later recovered four bodies. The Coast Guard and Chevron abandoned the search with six still missing.

Hail storm

MORRISON, Colo. (AP) — A violent hail and lightning storm struck during a youth prayer service at the Red Rocks Amphitheatre, sparking a panic which resulted in 130 people being treated at area hospitals, mostly for hypothermia.

Two adults were admitted to St. Anthony Central Hospital, but the rest were treated and released from 13 area hospitals, said Pat Conroy, medical coordinator for the five-day Lutheran national youth conference in which the youths were participating.

Interstate fire

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — A fire closed a section of one of the nation's busiest highway interchanges and officials tried to persuade motorists to take mass transit instead of their vehicles to work.

"The rest of the week is going to be a disaster," said Debbie Lawler, spokeswoman for the Department of Transportation. "It's going to take a while for people to find the best alternative route for them, and it's going to take a while for them to be convinced to take mass transit."

American shot by Arab gunman

JERUSALEM (AP) — An Arab gunman who infiltrated from Jordan shot and wounded an American and held an off-duty soldier hostage for four hours today before being killed by Israeli troops, the army said.

The siege ended when soldiers stormed a hut on the Kibbutz Lotan collective farm, 12 miles north of the Israeli port city of Eilat and less than a mile from the Jordan-Israel border.

Shuttle blasts off today

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Columbia, NASA's oldest shuttle, returned to space for the first time in 3½ years today, rocketing into orbit with five military astronauts on a secret mission to send a spy satellite aloft.

The 125-ton winged spaceship blazed away from its seaside launch pad at 8:37 a.m. after a black-out countdown and darted northeastward.

"We're tracking it right down the middle of the pike," the flight guidance officer said about four minutes into the flight.

Nearly nine minutes after liftoff NASA announced that Columbia was in orbit more than 100 miles above the Earth, streaking along at more than 17,400 mph.

"We had a completely clean and smooth ascent. There are no problems whatsoever to report," said launch commentator Brian Welch.

The space agency then imposed a news blackout. Apart from brief periodic status reports during the five-day mission, silence will be broken only if there is a major problem, NASA said.

SHS search near end

The search committee charged with employing a new principal at Snyder High School is expected to have a recommendation for the full school board by Thursday.

The board's regular August meeting is due at that time and the employment of a new SHS principal is listed as an agenda item.

Superintendent Dalton Moseley, a member of the five-person search committee, noted that no more interviews of candidates are now planned.

The committee interviewed five finalist applicants and has spent the past few days conducting additional interviews with co-workers, school board members and others, Moseley said.

"There's been a lot of hours and a lot of miles put into this thing," he commented.

The search committee also conducted interviews related to the junior high principal's job, and Moseley noted the field of candidates included some who interviewed for both jobs.

In all, he said, 18 individuals were considered for the high school principal's post vacated with the assignment shift of former principal Ray Courtney, who will assume the top administrative job at North Elementary next year.

Of the 18 applicants, Moseley noted seven were existing staffers with the district.

The normal reporting date for the principal's post for the new school year is the first week in August.

Regarding the list of finalists, Moseley noted, "We've got a strong bunch of applicants."

In addition to him, other members of the search committee have been Dr. Tom Scannichio, assistant superintendent for curriculum, and school board members Billy Bob McMullan, Ann Walton and Mike Jordan.

Councilmen delay benefit decisions

A quarter of the city's 78 employees listened Monday night as the city council postponed until a work session next Monday a discussion of policies concerning city employees' benefits.

Council members Paul Zeck, Joe Coronado and Jack Greene Jr. last week had proposed eliminating the staff's "bank" of sick leave days, cutting vacation time back to 10 days a year for most workers and changing the ratio at which the city pays into the Texas Municipal Retirement System.

The city now matches the employee's contribution on a 2-1 basis.

An estimated 20 city staffers attended Monday's meeting, but did not request to speak to the council.

Coronado said he wanted to hear back from the TMRS, whose assistant director made a presentation on the system last week, and then try to reach a decision on all of the personnel matters that have been broached recently.

Zeck, Coronado and Greene have proposed cutting employees' annual accrual of sick leave days from 12 to five, but council member Vernest Tipples said that while she would not oppose the elimination of the sick leave bank, she would prefer to leave the annual total at 12.

Members Mike Thornton and Ralph Williamson did not indicate what stance they might take.

With personnel matters excluded, the city's new $5.4 million budget was approved on first reading.

The second reading is scheduled for Aug. 28.

Other business in the two-hour meeting included approval of a 20-percent hike in water, sewer and sanitation rates.

A resolution supporting the highway department's widening and paving of the landfill road, south of the Price Daniel Unit, was unanimously approved, as was a new ordinance on first reading regulating the operation of taxicabs.

The taxicab ordinance requires the payment of a $100 annual fee for a franchise, of which there may be more than one in the city, and the payment of a $15 annual fee for each driver.

AJRA folks invited to Ranch Breakfast

The line will begin serving at 7 a.m. Wednesday as another in a series of Ranch Breakfasts is held here—events which double as information seminars for local stock producers.

The breakfasts are sponsored by the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District. Wednesday's event will be at the W.C. Hart Ranch 3½ miles south of the Scurry County Coliseum on State Highway 208.

A special invitation has been issued to those visiting in Snyder this week as part of the AJRA National Finals Rodeo. Signs will be posted to help attendees find their way to the ranch and all activities should be over by 9:30 a.m.

Ezell-Key Grain Co. and W.C. Hart of Snyder will be providing the breakfast and Jerry Baird will be in charge of the meal. The menu will include sausage, bacon, eggs, gravy, hash browns, cowboy coffee and juice.

Speaker topics will include "fact and fiction" regarding the use of growth promotants in beef cattle and using yeast culture in rations for receiving cattle and performance horses.

Also, there will be talks on the nutritional requirements for re-breeding crossbred cattle and estrous synchronization and nutrition programs for improved artificial insemination results.

Beginning the program will be Dr. Rodney L. Preston, holder of the Thornton Distinguished Professor Chair in the Department of Animal Science at Texas Tech University. Preston will give facts about the benefits of using

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "It's a false feeling to think the whole world is against us. Nobody is that important."

When it seems there is nothing but bad news, it is always refreshing to have a bit of good news surface. Sunkist Soft Drinks recently did a nationwide survey to find what is trendy among teens—and the results were a welcome bit of good news.

According to the survey, rebellion is no longer considered cool. And "totally uncool" is to bad mouth your parents.

The soft drink corporation decided it needed to know what is on the minds of today's youth in order to expand its market through brand awareness. The company invaded 250 schools in 45 states looking for what is considered neat or nerdy.

In an essay, students were asked to describe the trend they felt will become most popular among high school students. One suggested that our nation will go back to the future.

The company also learned that black is the favorite teen color, that leather is the top fabric and that a convertible of any brand is the favorite choice in wheels.

Most of the contestants still love pep rallies and proms. TV is not as important as once thought and teens are spending less time on the telephone.

But hang onto your dentures. About 70 percent believe their parents are both cool and wise. And parents are their most admired adults, and after that come teachers.

Only 12 percent think parents to be old-fashioned while seven percent believe them to be too strict and out of touch with reality. But only one percent were considered nose or boring.

Most adults hope this isn't just a phase.

Corporate America is wanting more cool-headed employees. More firms are turning to interviews designed to determine an applicant's ability to remain calm under fire.

An applicant might be asked to tell what they did the last time they became angry. A good answer might include taking a walk to cool off.

A bad answer would include yelling, pushing, shoving or hitting.

Councilwoman's dog missing

HOPKINTON, R.I. (AP) — Kelly, mother of seven litters and beloved golden retriever of Town Council President Sandra Johanson, is missing, the victim of what looks like a political dog-napping.

It started as nothing more than a lost dog story.

But Kelly's disappearance turned sinister after 12 hours when a man telephoned Mrs. Johanson's home and said:

"Get off the council and you'll get your dog."

Monday, one week after Kelly's disappearance, Mrs. Johanson calmly retold the mysterious story, weary from grief-stricken appeals on radio and television and a week of sleepless nights.

Ginger and Chris, Kelly's daughter and former mate, respectively, are upset, Mrs. Johanson said.

"The entire family is devastated. We haven't been right for a week," she said.

It all began the night of July 31. That was the last time anybody saw Kelly. The 7-year-old canine had been let out for her nightly cavort with Ginger to range over the Johanson's 64 acres in this community of chicken and dairy farms and plantations of sod for suburban lawns.

At 9:15 p.m. Ginger came home — alone.

Mrs. Johanson, a republican housewife and lifelong resident of this town of 6,700, 45 miles south of Providence, said the apparent dog-napping is the work of a sick mind rather than a political foe. Rumors have sprung up nevertheless.

The 48-year-old Mrs. Johanson entered politics five years ago by running for the five-member town council. She quickly moved to the top to become the first woman chief executive in this town, incorporated in 1757.

"I shouldn't have any enemies," Mrs. Johanson said, cradling one of Kelly's latest puppies from a litter of nine.

But it has been widely speculated that Mrs. Johanson's missing dog is somehow related to the controversial firing last November of the town dump custodian and the highway supervisor. The latter was later reinstated, then resigned.

Mrs. Johanson refused to comment about this, saying only that her vote for dismissal was just one of five unanimous votes and that the matter is the subject of a court suit over alleged mismanagement of town property.

Judge says CEO must appear in person to enter guilty plea

SEATTLE (AP) — A chemical company's chief executive will answer questions about a toxic spill this week in a court case that environmentalists and legal experts say could set a precedent for punishing corporate negligence.

U.S. District Judge Jack Tanner twice has refused to accept pleas from officials representing Pennwalt Corp., a Philadelphia-based chemical company charged with polluting a Tacoma waterway in a 1985 toxic bleach spill, and requested the appearance of chief executive and board Chairman Edwin E. Tuttle.

"Who is this corporation?" Tanner asked in a hearing earlier this year. "I think the public is entitled to know who is responsible."

Tuttle was to appear in court Wednesday, a company spokesman said. Tuttle has declined to comment on his appearance.

The case is the first in which the U.S. government based its criminal investigation solely on corporate negligence, said prosecutor David Marshall.

"To my knowledge, this is the first case of a federal judge's ordering a particular individual from a corporate body to appear to plead the guilt of the corporate entity," said David Skover, professor of civil procedure and constitutional law at the University of Puget Sound Law School.

Skover predicted Tanner's tactic will be used again, possibly in lawsuits against Exxon over the 11 million gallons of oil spilled in Alaska's Prince William Sound.

U.S. Attorney General Dick Thornburgh has said that Exxon is the subject of a criminal investigation because of the March spill, the nation's largest.

"The device used by Tanner may prove very effective in alerting all corporations that the top executive will not be allowed to pass the buck," Skover said.

DR. GOTT

PETER GOTT, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My friend was hospitalized for shingles. Is there anything to be done for her?

DEAR READER: Shingles is a skin infection caused by the Herpes zoster virus. More specifically, it is an infection of the nerves that supply the skin. Because these nerves fan out in segmental strips up and down the body, shingles often appear as a well-defined collection of painful blisters on a particular area of the body, almost exclusively on one side. The zoster virus resembles the varicella (chicken pox) virus; indeed, the two may be the same virus, referred to by different names.

In its early stages, shingles appears as a random collection of pimples, associated with a burning or stinging sensation. In a few days, however, the characteristic pattern appears: a band of crusting blisters on the trunk. Sometimes, this band can form on the face and involve one eye. Because the varicella/zoster virus can cause severe eye infection affecting sight, local treatment with anti-viral eye-drops may be necessary.

By and large, mild shingles does not require treatment. After several days of discomfort, the infection regresses and the patient's skin returns to normal. However, about 10 percent of shingles patients develop a dreaded consequence of the infection: post-herpetic neuralgia. This is a poorly understood complication resulting in permanent electric-shock pain in the nerve distribution, long after the blisters have healed.

The risk of neuralgia can be lessened if, early in the disease, patients are given cortisone or acyclovir, an anti-viral drug. I routinely prescribe one of these medicines to zoster patients because no one can predict which cases will develop neuralgia, for which there is no treatment.

Ordinarily, Herpes zoster patients do not require hospitalization. Exceptions include eye involvement and a rare type, called disseminated zoster, in which patients with poor immune function develop widespread, severe infection.

Herpes zoster is no longer the dreaded affliction it once was; the use of modern drugs can speed recovery, reduce inflammation and prevent complications. Nonetheless, it is still serious and, in my opinion, should be aggressively treated under the supervision of a physician.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 25-year-old male with random tics within my flesh. I experience occasional burning sensations in my brain and on my skin. My own doctor says nothing is wrong with me. What type of specialist should I see?

DEAR READER: Random muscular twitches can be due to tics (harmless and brief contractions) or to fasciculations (more organized, permanent contractions). Fasciculations often herald the development of serious neurological diseases, such as multiple sclerosis. Since your doctor has dismissed your complaints, I urge you to seek a consultation with a neurologist. This specialist in nerve disorders will examine and test you to determine if your nervous system is normal or if you are experiencing the early stage of a nerve disorder.

Frankly, I am concerned about the sensations you feel; these, plus the twitches, may indicate a hidden problem that should be addressed. To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Multiple Sclerosis." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Your Birthday

Aug. 9, 1989

Financial opportunities could come your way in the year ahead through least expected sources. There's a possibility you might become closely involved with several people who are, at this point in time, less than friends.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Something mutually satisfactory can be worked out today regarding an old obligation you have with a friend. Lay the matter on the table and discuss it openly and frankly. Leo, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll have the support of your peers today, even though the methods you may use could be a trifle confusing. In order to be more effective, try to clarify your aims.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Guard against trying to talk yourself out of doing something today just because it looks difficult at first glance. Don't let the negative override positive thinking.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A touchy social dilemma can be resolved today if you are willing to take a firmer line. Face up to what needs correcting instead of trying to pretend it doesn't exist.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't waste time today involving yourself with associates whose objectives are not in harmony with yours. If you can't reach a compromise, proceed on your own.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You can't be too explicit with your directions or intentions today. Being clear and concise will avoid foul-ups and potential misunderstandings.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The gentle methods you're hoping to apply in business today might not work. In order to produce desirable results you may have to be pragmatic and possibly a bit hardnose.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Something constructive can be done today to mend a relationship with a valuable ally that has been a bit chilly lately. However, it will be up to you to take the initiative.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A helpful associate has all the facts, figures and information you need to get going on an important project. This person will be willing to share knowledge with you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) By placing less emphasis on your material goals and concentrating more on your esthetic and social interests, you'll come out better in the long run today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Although it might not make you too popular with certain family members, you may have to choose today between doing what is the most practical as opposed to what is the convenient.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your first thoughts might not be your best ones today, so allow yourself ample time to size up critical issues. Your judgment improves after you analyze things a bit.

Others join in court appeal

LAS VEGAS (AP) — NBC isn't alone in its appeal of a multimillion-dollar libel award to entertainer Wayne Newton: Some of the nation's top news organizations have joined the network's fight.

A jury in Las Vegas awarded Newton $19.3 million in damages over allegations that NBC libeled Newton by linking him to mob figures in the purchase of a hotel. A judge later reduced the award to $5.3 million.

In its appeal to the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, NBC said the award to Newton was "excessive and unsupported."

Joining NBC in friends-of-the-court briefs filed last month were CBS, Capital Cities-ABC, Fox Broadcasting, Gannett Co., The New York Times Co., Dow Jones & Co., Copley Press and Chronicle Publishing, according to Monday's editions of the Las Vegas Review-Journal.

Newton's attorney, Morton Galane, said he consented to the other media supporting NBC so the appeals court could hear "all possible arguments."

What You Don't Know Can Hurt You.

But not if you take a few minutes to learn about electrical safety around your home or business.

Here are a few safety tips worth remembering.

Overhead.

Never fly a kite, or raise an antenna or place a ladder where it can come in contact with a power line. Touching power lines with any object can result in serious injury or even death. Stay clear of all overhead power lines.

Underground.

Know before you dig. Some neighborhoods have underground power lines. If you don't know whether you have underground power lines, or if you need to know their location, call TU Electric.

Out and around.

Pad mounted transformers, large metal boxes that are usually green or cream colored, are safe when they are closed and locked. However, if one is opened or damaged, it can be deadly. Call TU Electric immediately to report the situation and warn others to stay away until the repairman arrives.

Be safe around electricity.

Being aware of the location of power lines can save your life or the life of a loved one. So take time now, before you start your next fix-up project, to learn the location of power lines near your home or business. Because what you know about power lines can make the difference between being safe or being sorry.

DON'T LET A POWER LINE BE THE END OF THE LINE.

You don't need a green thumb to create these watermelon slices. The sweet-tasting imposters come from the kitchen, not the garden. Serve the slices as a summer refresher with lemonade or iced tea.

WATERMELON COOKIES
2 cups all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons margarine or butter

1-3rd cup shortening
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
1 tablespoon orange juice or milk

1 teaspoon vanilla
Several drops red food coloring
½ cup miniature semisweet chocolate pieces

1 egg white
1 tablespoon water
Green colored sugar

Stir together flour, baking powder and salt. In a large mixer bowl beat margarine and shortening with an electric mixer on medium speed 30 seconds. Add ¾ cup sugar; beat until fluffy. Add egg, orange juice, vanilla and food coloring; beat well on medium speed. Add flour mixture, beating on low speed until combined. Cover; chill 3 hours or until easy to handle.

On a floured surface roll half the dough ¼-inch thick. Cut with a 3-inch round cookie cutter, dipping cutter into flour between cuts. Cut cookies in half; place on ungreased cookie sheet. Press a few chocolate pieces into each. Repeat with remaining dough.

SUMMER TREAT — Miniature chocolate pieces are the seeds and green colored sugar is the rind for these delightful Watermelon Cookies. (Better Homes and Gardens Photo)

Bake in a 375-degree F oven 8 to 10 minutes. Do not brown. Remove; cool on a wire rack.

In a small shallow bowl stir together egg white and water; brush the edge of each cookie with egg white mixture. Sprinkle sugar on edges. Dry on racks. Makes about 60 cookies.

Actress turns to coaching

Attorneys learn to establish credibility

MIAMI (AP) — To win a case before a trial jury, an attorney needs something that isn't taught in law school, says Iris Acker, a veteran actress and television producer.

She calls it "courtroom demeanor."

For years, Acker has been coaching lawyers on how to speak, dress and establish credibility with jury panels.

"In law schools, attorneys are helped with everything except their bad habits," says Acker, who began her show business career at age 11 in her native Bronx, N.Y.

"An attorney must have believability so no matter what you say no one will doubt you," she adds.

Teachers, Acker explains, rarely correct students for choppy sentences, cutting off words, swaying from side to side when they speak or for not looking at the person they address.

"If you don't look a jury in the eye, they won't trust you," says Acker, who produced a 13-week series called "The Jury Box" at WLRN during her five-year tenure at the public television station here.

Using a real judge and two practicing attorneys, the program put issues on trial with actors serving as witnesses and jury.

A lengthy career in the theater has given her the wherewithal to teach voice projection and modulation, not only to attorneys, but to celebrities who are to be interviewed on television.

At her studio in North Miami, Acker, who gives her age as 50-plus, also advises attorneys on courtroom attire.

"They should wear nothing that's disconcerting — avoid stripes, polka dots and wild ties," she says. "Nothing should detract from what you're saying."

A self-described workaholic, Acker is in demand for television commercials and acts in area theaters.

She often gets parts in movies made in South Florida and was most recently seen in "Cocoon II."

At her studio, she teaches aspiring actors how to audition for commercial work. She has made a videocassette and written a book on the subject.

This is her fifth year as producer-host of "On Stage," a weekly half-hour celebrity interview show on public TV that relates to the performing arts.

She became involved with attorneys when, several years ago, she was invited to a seminar at Nova University in Fort Lauderdale.

"It was for attorneys who wanted career changes and to get back to courtroom work," she says. The seminar included mock court trials.

his heart length, so it is better to determine a course of play that will limit your losers in hearts.

So you play ace of spades and a spade to the queen in dummy. West follows to both spades. If his unusual no-trump bid was honest, he will be left with no more than one heart. If West's singleton heart is the king, playing the ace of hearts will be a winner. If the heart singleton is the five, declarer will not be able to avoid the loss of three heart tricks. But if West holds the J, 10 or 9, the winning play is to lead the queen of hearts from dummy. East will cover, the ace will capture the lone honor from West, and subsequent heart plays will set up a heart trick for declarer to let him make four spades. Note that this play goes against normal percentages, but the defenders' bidding has made the right play clear.

Informative bidding

When you were on your way to four spades, West's jump to two no-trump showed length in both minor suits. North made a good decision to raise you to four spades after you had bid three. His spade queen and diamond ace were good working cards. If his heart queen was helpful, game should be there. So how should you play?

Certainly you win dummy's ace of diamonds. Although experienced players tend to run several rounds of spades in these circumstances, hoping that a defender will err by discarding a heart, the bidding has made it easy for the defenders to make the right decisions. East will surely know to save

LL All-Stars rained out in first round

The Snyder Little League All-Stars were to have begun competition in the state tournament in Waco Monday. The tournament was halted before play could even begin as the Waco area received over four and a half inches of rain on the opening day of the tournament.

Little League state officials issued a statement Monday afternoon stating that they hoped play could begin on Tuesday.

Further information gathered Tuesday morning has the tournament play beginning Tuesday at 10:00 a.m. The schedule of games will be pushed back one day to accommodate the rain delay.

Snyder's first game is to be against the Area 31 champion team from Hallettsville.

In other first round games Grainbelt will take on Pfeufferville, Lubbock Midwest will face Houston Northwest 45 and San Antonio McAlister Park will go against Robstown.

Carrollton North will play North Shore from Houston, Laredo Optimist will battle Groves National, Houston Westbury will play Pecos and Waco Lakeaire will face Angleton in other first round games.

The tournament is a single elimination affair.

Texas loses to Toronto 2-1

TORONTO (AP) — Pitching and defense win pennants and the Toronto Blue Jays got a lot of both against the Texas Rangers.

John Cerutti supplied the pitching, tossing a complete-game five-hitter, and Lloyd Moseby had what Texas manager Bobby Valentine called "the best game I've ever seen Moseby play defensively," as the Blue Jays defeated the Rangers 2-1 on Monday, reaching the .500 mark for the eighth time this season.

"We won this one with the little things today," Moseby said. "Just the kind of things a team has to do in a pennant race. Getting pitching like John threw today doesn't hurt either."

Cerutti, 9-5, won for the ninth time in his last 11 decisions, giving up only Steve Buechele's 12th home run of the season, a solo blast to left in the top of the fifth. Cerutti lowered his earned-run average to 2.39, second only to California's Bert Blyleven.

"I'm definitely in a groove right now," Cerutti said. "The fastball and the curve were working well for me. I hardly used the change at all today. But if anything, it's more of a mental thing for me, knowing I'm going to be out there four or five days from now."

Fred Manrique's two throwing errors in the bottom of the sixth, the Rangers' 12th error in the last five games, proved to be the difference as the Blue Jays took a 2-1 lead with a pair of unearned runs.

Manny Lee started the inning with an infield single to short. Manrique's throw to first was up the line for an error and Lee was on second with none out.

Tony Fernandez followed with a one-hopper to Manrique, who threw wide again for an error, allowing Lee to score and Fernandez to take second. Mookie Wilson fought off several tough pitches before moving Fernandez to third with a grounder to second and Kelly Gruber scored Fernandez with a line-drive sacrifice fly to right.

"That one-hopper is a tough play with Lee running," Valentine said. "On the other one he was just too strong with the throw."

The errors wasted a fine effort from Rangers starter Mike Jeffcoat, 5-5, who allowed only four hits over 7 1-3 innings.

"Hopefully, I'll be able to take this consistency back to Texas with me for my next start," Jeffcoat said. He struck out four and walked two.

Moseby, who's been much maligned for his lack of hitting and mediocre defense this season, twice raced into the alleys to track down potential

Fishermen set Aug. meeting

Lawyers file new motion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Pete Rose will suffer irreparable harm, especially in the eyes of America's youth, if his newest bid to delay baseball's disciplinary proceedings against him is rejected, Rose's lawyers say.

Rose lawyer Robert G. Stachler filed a 20-page motion on Monday asking U.S. District Judge John Holschuh to stay any disciplinary proceedings against the Cincinnati Reds manager while a dispute over jurisdiction in his suit against baseball is being resolved.

Pokes find Johnson's pet peeves

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys are fast discovering the item that heads new coach Jimmy Johnson's list of pet peeves. Johnson takes special note of players who miss workouts because of minor injuries.

Eight players who missed Saturday's scrimmage against the San Diego Chargers with injuries were back on the practice field on Monday.

"It is very interesting," Johnson said of the returnees after a 2 1/2-hour afternoon session of limited contact work against the Los Angeles Raiders. "I definitely take note of that when we cut down."

Among those back at practice were starting center Tom Rafferty, who has been slowed by a shoulder problem, and first-team guard Crawford Ker, who missed time with a back ailment.

Also returning were running backs Timmy Newsome and Darryl Clack, both of whom are in jeopardy of losing their roster spots.

Johnson expressed concern that wide receiver Kelvin Edwards remains sidelined with a knee injury.

"He could be really falling behind," Johnson said. "When he'll be back, no one knows but Kelvin."

Johnson wants his team to step up the intensity level as the Cowboys prepare for their first exhibition game Sunday afternoon at San Diego.

Gridders will begin workouts

Snyder High School football players are reminded that Wednesday will be the day to report for fitting shoes and helmets.

SHS head coach David Baugh reminds athletes to stop by the fieldhouse between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. Aug. 9 for the fitting.

Workouts are set to begin Aug. 14. The freshman squad will practice once daily beginning at 8 a.m. Varsity and junior varsity gridgers will work out from 8 to 9:30, from 2 to 3 p.m. and from 6 to 7:30 p.m. daily.

The 8 a.m. practice will emphasize defense, the 2 p.m. practice will see work done on the kicking game and the offense will get attention at the 6 p.m. workout.

Officials for the athletic department remind all potential athletes that a physical examination is necessary for seventh and ninth graders and for any athlete new to the Snyder school system.

The school will pay for the exams if they are taken prior to Aug. 15. Students are urged to make appointments as soon as possible.

Doctors available for athletic physicals are Dr. Nelson Brice, Dr. Jim Burleson, Dr. Bid Cooper, Dr. Bill Pierce and Dr. Paul Thompson.

Athletes not requiring a physical are still required to turn in a medical history and UIL rules acknowledgement form by Aug. 15. Forms are available at the athletic director's office or the fieldhouse.

Volleyballers start practice

Girls' volleyball coach Patty Grimmert announced today that workouts will begin Monday, Aug. 14.

Returning varsity and junior varsity players are to report at 8:00 a.m. Freshmen will practice from 6:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

Equipment will be issued Saturday, Aug. 12 at 3:00 p.m. in the girls gym.

Coach Grimmert reminds freshmen that a current physical must be on record prior to beginning workouts.

Rookies are 'co-starters'

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Rookie quarterbacks Troy Aikman and Steve Walsh are listed as co-starters for the Dallas Cowboys' exhibition opener at San Diego, Coach Jimmy Johnson announced Monday.

In releasing the depth chart, Johnson said they will see equal playing time until he names a starter before the final exhibition game against Houston on Sept. 2.

The Cowboys travel to San Diego to play the Chargers on Sunday.

Aikman, who was considered the leader in the quarterback derby before the opening of camp, said he was not concerned.

Track coach seeks cross country men

Any high school student interested in competing in cross country track should contact coach Joe Granato.

Granato may be reached at 573-6301. Interested runners may want to stop by the high school or the athletic field house.

The coach reminds all athletes that a current physical examination is necessary for track, as in other sports.

Changes in career ladder cause furor

The Texas Classroom Teachers Association (TCTA) has filed a legal brief with Attorney General Jim Mattox in response to a recent opinion request by Commissioner of Education William Kirby. The controversy stems from recent legislation during the regular term of the 71st Legislative session which amends the teacher career ladder.

The legislation, known as H. B. 2566, amends the teacher career ladder to make the criteria for level three placement more difficult. In addition to other changes, the bill also provides for the use of current year appraisals for placement on career ladder levels. TCTA opposed the proposal in House and Senate committee hearings.

According to the enrolled version of the bill, signed by the governor, lieutenant governor and speaker of the house, implementation of the new level three criteria and use of current year appraisals for level three placement are delayed until Sept. 1, 1990. The opinion request by Commissioner Kirby is a response to a letter sent to him by the lieutenant governor, speaker of the house, and the authors of the bill, Sen. Carl Parker and Rep. Ernestine Glossgrenner, asserting that the delay was a clerical error and the disputed provision of the bill is to be given immediate effect.

The State Board of Education, which considered the issue at its July meeting, voted to request an attorney general's opinion to guide the board in determining how the bill should be implemented.

According to the Texas Education Agencies figures, approximately 30,000 teachers may be affected by the change in level three criteria. TCTA president Joan Brindley, said, "One of the primary problems with the career ladder is the constantly changing criteria. Every time a significant number of teachers get close to the "brass ring," it gets further away," she continued. "There are thousands of extremely skilled teachers who expected to be placed on level three this year based on the last three to five years of appraisals and criteria established by H. H. 72. They are now being told, based on a letter from four people, that not only are they not being placed on level three, but must now re-qualify under stricter standards. That is simply not fair."

Among other points, the TCTA brief makes reference to the Enrolled Bill doctrine, a line of cases indicating that the final enrolled bill is considered to be determinative. Brindley concluded by stating, "Fortunately for Texans, the "letter of the law" doesn't mean that four state officials, no matter how distinguished, can legislate by correspondence.

The Texas Classroom Teachers Association is an independent statewide teacher association representing over 25,000 teachers.

Bank employees leave, lock robber inside the bank

CHAPEL HILL, Texas (AP) - Suppose they had a bank robbery and no one stuck around for it except the robber. That's what happened Monday when a man claimed he had a bomb taped to his body and demanded $10,000 from the Chapel Hill Branch of the Arp State Bank.

Charges were pending today against a 44-year-old Tyler man who was arrested inside the bank.

Bank employee Terri Taylor was the first to confront the man, who walked up to her and asked that she wet a towel he was carrying.

"I told him he could wet his towel at the water fountain. He walked over to the fountain, wet his towel, then walked back over to me," Ms. Taylor said.

"He then told he was wired with an explosive, and so was his car parked outside, and he said he wanted $10,000."

One of the next people to confront the man was Bill Zeiss, advertising director of the Tyler Morning Telegraph, who was in the bank to conduct some business.

"I moved to assist him in sitting down as I thought he was having a heart attack or something," Zeiss told authorities. "As I got within about five or six feet of him, he said, 'Don't come any closer to me, I'm wired' and mumbled as if it were something to do with his heart."

While the man stood waiting, all the employees walked to the back of the building and out the door.

"First we pushed the alarm that signals the sheriff's department, then called our main office in Arp to make sure the alarm had gone off. We then left him standing there all by himself," Taylor said. "No one panicked, or anything like that. It all happened in about a minute, and we were out."

"This was my first time (for a bank robbery), and I hope my last," Ms. Taylor said. "But it was exciting. Nothing exciting ever happens around here."

Bank vice chairman Darrell Taliaferro said the man just sat down and waited when all of the employees left the bank.

"I guess he thought we went out to lunch," he said. The man offered no resistance when Smith County Constable Lloyd Waterman and Texas Department of Public Safety trooper Joe Don Abernathy arrived at the bank.

"As I got here no one else was here, so Joe Don Abernathy and I just walked right on in the front door and there he was," Waterman said. "He was standing there, looking kind of out of it."

"He said he had a heart condition and showed us a piece of tape on his chest," Waterman said. "He then showed us a small box taped to his abdomen. I pulled the tape off his stomach and we took the small box, which also had a small antenna sticking out of it, outside and placed it in the grass."

"I really don't believe it was a bomb, but we were being careful just in case," he continued.

The man told officers he had been held hostage at a business in Tyler and some people taped the bomb on him and were forcing him to rob the bank.

"I don't think he knew what was going on at the time," Waterman said. "He was real confused."

Woman Lays Down the Law On Time Spent With Husband

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1989 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My wife, an attorney, seems more loyal to her profession than to me. I work at home, while she works downtown with her partner. We earn about the same income.

Here's the problem: My wife works six days a week. Her schedule leaves her so exhausted that she has created "rules" about the time we can spend together. I am not allowed to have breakfast with her, since she eats breakfast with her partner. She eats lunch downtown, and either eats dinner downtown or skips it. I am not allowed to plan any activities with her on weeknights, and am allowed one weekend activity, which cannot last for more than three or four hours. I do most of the housework, in addition to working full time. Don't ask about kids; we have sex every two or three months, if she's not too tired and doesn't have the flu or a backache.

On Sunday of our first anniversary, she stayed home so we could celebrate. But between 8:30 and 10 that morning, she had four phone conversations with her partner (who knew it was our anniversary). Although I told her I didn't like his constant intrusion, she refused to communicate any displeasure to him. Finally, I blew up, phoned him and ordered him to leave us alone for the rest of the day. Then she called him up and apologized for my behavior!

She refuses to make any change in her work hours; in fact, they are growing longer. I understand that her partner works long hours and demands the same of her. A reduction might jeopardize their partnership. But what about our marriage? Am I "inconsiderate" to resent her rules, and want more of her time and loyalty?

STUMPED IN SKOKIE

DEAR STUMPED: You are not "inconsiderate" to resent your wife's rules — I think her rules are inconsiderate. It appears that she is more concerned about her business partnership than her marriage.

You say nothing in your letter about love, sharing, caring, and all those things that make a marriage work — only a long list of "rules" telling you that you are not "allowed" to do.

If a couple ever needed marriage counseling, you do. Not all marriages are worth saving, and yours could be one of them — so I suggest you find out now, before either one of you invests any more time in this sad marriage.

DEAR ABBY: I trust your judgment. A while ago, I invited my grown niece, Janet (not her real name), to my home for a special dinner. I am a registered nurse and cooking is my hobby.

Well, Janet informed me that she was on a diet to lose weight, so if she comes to my home for dinner, I should not expect her to eat anything!

I was completely chagrined and disappointed, so I told her that since she did not intend to eat anything, there would be no point in coming to my home for dinner. Well, to make a long story short, she stayed home.

Afterward, I wrote to Janet, apologizing and explaining that I would have gladly prepared something she could have eaten, but she never acknowledged the letter.

I have felt terrible about this ever since. Tell me, Abby, what can I do to repair our relationship?

MADE A MISTAKE

DEAR MADE: On her birthday, or perhaps on Valentine's Day or Christmas, send an appropriate "Can't we be friends?" card. After that, the ball is in her court. Let's hope Janet mellows with time. In holding a grudge, she hurts only herself.

Dallas' newspaper war back in court

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Times Herald, locked in a bitter war with The Dallas Morning News, is asking a state judge to prevent the move of Dear Abby, Erma Bombeck, Doonesbury and 23 other popular syndicated features to its arch-rival.

Under an agreement announced last week, A.H. Belo Corp., owner of The Morning News, gained exclusive rights to the features carried by Universal Press Syndicate in the Dallas area.

In a lawsuit filed Monday in state court in Houston, the Times Herald claims the agreement would "inexorably harm competition in the Dallas market," where The Morning News has 60 percent of the daily newspaper circulation.

Belo President James P. Sheehan said, "We believe that their lawsuit is without merit and we intend to defend ourselves vigorously."

Belo, which also owns Dallas' largest television station among others, announced last week it had formed a joint venture with Universal Press Syndicate to explore television programming possibilities for some of the syndicate's features, which include such comic strips as Doonesbury and The Far Side, popular advice column Dear Abby and columnists Erma Bombeck and James J. Kilpatrick.

As part of that agreement, Belo acquired the exclusive rights to the syndicate's features in the market.

"The Belo company is attempting to unfairly increase its influence in the Dallas market, where it already operates the larger newspaper, the leading television station and seven community newspapers," Times Herald President L.L. "Ike" Massey said in a prepared statement.

"Now it wants to manipulate a newspaper syndicate against us."

The Times Herald sought neutrality in filing the suit in Houston, Massey said. "Both the Times Herald and the Morning News have loyal and dedicated followings in Dallas and we think it is best to hear this suit only on its merits," he said.

In a prepared statement, the Times Herald's Massey said, "We regret that it is necessary to go to the courts to protect our rights and those of our readers who have loyally followed these features in the Times Herald."

"We like competition and believe it is vital to the Dallas market, but we want to compete fairly and honestly."

"Three of the comic panels are amongst the top four favorite comics according to a readers' survey that's just a few months old," Massey said. "Something like 67 percent of our readers read Dear Abby frequently or occasionally."

Solons, officers push for amendment

AUSTIN (AP) — It is wrong to keep juries in the dark about the way parole laws affect prison sentences, say legislators and law enforcement officials who support a proposed constitutional amendment to give jurors such information.

The amendment on the Nov. 7 ballot is meant "to inject some degree of honesty, some degree of integrity, into the operation of our criminal justice system," Rep. Dan Morales, D-San Antonio, said Monday.

Proposition 10 would allow judges to inform juries about the effects that good time and parole laws have on the time a convicted person actually serves.

Sen. J. E. "Buster" Brown, R-Lake Jackson, and Morales head a coalition called Texans for Truth in Sentencing that hopes to raise and spend $25,000 to push for passage of the proposition. The two lawmakers sponsored the proposed amendment during the regular legislative session.

Morales has announced his bid for attorney general, and Brown is considering a run at that office.

"This proposition will take the handcuffs off the people and let the public join in the fight against crime," said Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle.

"To keep the public in the dark this way is a shame and a disgrace, and the result of this is the kind of crime rate that we see today," Earle said at a news conference with the lawmakers and representatives of the Texas Police Chiefs Association, Texas District and County Attorneys Association and police officers' associations from Austin and Houston.

Among those on the coalition's executive committee are representatives of the Combined Law Enforcement Associations of Texas, National Victims Center, district attorneys, sheriffs and police chiefs.

Brown said the proposal would not necessarily result in longer sentences. Some jurors now support harsher sentences because they believe they know how the parole law works, he said.

The Texas Department of Corrections is under a federal court order against crowding, and county officials have complained that their jails are stuffed with felons awaiting space in state prison.

To address the problem, lawmakers have approved construction of more prisons and creation of community alternatives to prison. If needed, more could be done at the receiving end of the criminal justice system, Morales said.

"But one option which we in state government simply cannot allow is for state government to go in and essentially fool juries into doing things that they don't want to do and don't know that they are doing," he said.

Even if the amendment passes, jurors would not be allowed to specifically discuss how the parole law would apply in the particular case they are considering, Morales said. It is meant to give them general background on how the law operates in all cases, he said.

"Admittedly, it is a fine line," he said.

The Legislature in 1985 passed a law allowing judges to tell juries about the parole law and the way they should consider it in determining sentences. But the Court of Criminal Appeals said the law violated the Texas Constitution.

Town wants same names

ADAMS, Mass. (AP) — Residents in this Berkshire Hills town have started their own numbers racket, complaining loudly about changes in local street addresses.

Selectmen ordered that the numbers be changed because the old system skipped homes and was out of order in sections, confusing firefighters and ambulance squads.

But many residents in the town of 9,000 people like their old numbers and have formed the Committee Against Numerical Tyranny, said Tony McBride, a funeral home director and a leader of the committee.

"People have been comfortable with their numbers for years. It's like taking something away from them," McBride said Monday. Many complain that they must change their number on everything from checks to credit cards.

Artists honored

WASHINGTON (AP) — Performer Harry Belafonte and actress Mary Martin are among five artists to win the annual Kennedy Center Honors.

The John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts said Monday that it will present the awards at a dinner Dec. 2.

The other winners: actress Claudette Colbert, dancer Alexandra Danilova and composer William Schuman.

Teen given 2 life terms

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas judge has sentenced a teenager to two consecutive life prison terms following his conviction in the brutal slayings of his mother and stepfather.

District Judge Tom Thorpe Monday sentenced Mario King Reid in the shooting deaths of his mother, Marie King Dials, and his stepfather, Robert Dials. The judge also ordered Reid to pay a $20,000 fine.

The consecutive sentence means that Reid will have to serve at least 30 years before becoming eligible for parole.

The woman's body was found in a trash bin last February. She had been shot once in the neck with a shotgun and the fourth finger of her left hand had been cut off.

The decomposed body of Dials was found last May stuffed into a crawl space beneath his home. He had been shot in the neck and torso with a shotgun.

"Everything is over," said Charlotte Dials, 23, a niece of Robert Dials. "We now feel we can go on and put our lives back together again."

Reid was apprehended at a shelter for homeless teens in New York City after the body of Mrs. Dials was found and before Dials' body was found.

Patrick Mankin, a social studies teacher at Dallas Carter High School, testified that during the spring of 1988, roughly a year before the slaying that Reid became very quiet and withdrawn.

"I got the impression that he was an intelligent person who was bored by school," Mankin said.

Mankin also described Mr. Reid as "a troubled individual" and recalled four or five times when Mr. Reid called him at home to talk about the teachings of Friedrich Nietzsche, the 19th century German philosopher, and to discuss several "bizarre topics."

Dr. Jay Crowder, a Dallas psychiatrist who was appointed by the court to examine Reid, testified that the black teenager told him he had interest in neo-Nazism and a white supremacist group known as the Skinheads, and that he seemed to admire Nazi leaders and mass murderer Charles Manson.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON TAX INCREASE

The (COUNTY OF SCURRY) will hold a public hearing on a proposal to increase total tax revenues from properties on the tax roll in (1988) by (20%) percent. Your individual taxes may increase or decrease, depending on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in the taxable value of all other property.

The public hearing will be held on (August 15) at (Scurry Co Courthouse)

FOR the proposal: Duaine Davis, Tommy Pate, C. D. Gray, Jr., Ted Billingsley

AGAINST the proposal: None

PRESENT and not voting: None

ABSENT: None

(Names of all members of the governing body, showing how each voted on the proposal to consider the tax increase and, if one or more were absent, indicating the absences.)

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the (EFFECTIVE RATE) tax rate that the unit published on (July 26, 1989)

( ). The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower, depending on the taxable value of your property.

	Last Year	This Year
Average home value	$50,000	$50,000
General exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	(20%) 10,000	10,000
Average taxable value	40,000	40,000
Tax rate	.2966	.4105 (proposed)
Tax	118.64	164.20 (proposed)

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would (increase) by $ (45.56) or (287) percent compared with last year's taxes.

Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would (increase) by $ (.1139) per $100 of taxable value or (287 increase) percent compared to last year's tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.
