Final bus arrives at unit, pushing inmate total to 926

The last bus of Texas Department of Corrections inmates arrived at the Price Daniel Unit Thursday afternoon and pushed the inmate population to a total of 926, Warden Les Woods said Friday.

The unit's capacity is considered to be 950, and Woods said the only buses to come here now will be the regular transfer buses that will run between here and Huntsville, where new inmates are assigned to units after the 30-day diagnostic process.

The long white buses ran here in groups of several a day for the last few days with an average load of 47 inmates each as the Daniel Unit was being filled.

Whereas visitors enter the unit through the south gate, the inmates were brought in through the north gate and were ushered into the unit's gymnasium, where they laid out their belongings in bags and met prison officials who described the unit and what it offers.

Woods said Friday that the unit's furniture plant is scheduled to be completed by the end of September and that 150 to 200 inmates will be employed there.

Others will be involved in Woods' plan to seed the grounds with grass and get lawns growing as soon as possible.

Windham School will offer classes in various subjects, and the inmates will also be encouraged to get involved in recreational activities.

"They say they're glad to be enjoying the West Texas climate again after being in the humid East Texas corridor," Woods said. "They claim they sleep a whole lot better at night."

Local Jaycees staff Labor Day rest stop

Concerned about the high number of traffic fatalities that are traditionally associated with Labor Day, the Snyder Jaycees will operate a motorists' oasis in a former service station outside Hermleigh for 72 hours this weekend.

The restrooms have been put back into operation at the old Chevron station owned by Richard Dolliver of Snyder, and the Jaycees will be there with coffee, soft drinks, donuts, pastries and other snacks from 6 p.m. Friday to 6 p.m. Monday.

The Jaycees' Rudy Garza is chairman of the event, and Jackie Hall of the chamber of commerce is co-chairman.

Among the groups and organizations providing food and materials for the project on the east side of U.S. 84 are Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home and Hillside Memorial Gardens, which are supplying awnings for travelers to picnic under.

Site visit is delayed

A Texas Department of Corrections site review team scheduled in Snyder this week has postponed its visit until Tuesday afternoon or Wednesday morning.

Roy Baze, chairman of the chamber's Economic Development Committee, received a call Thursday afternoon advising of the delay.

Larry Kyle, director of TDC industries, will head the team due to visit the proposed site for the construction of a second 1,000-bed facility in Scurry County.

Other members of the three-man staff team are Bart Ewald of the agriculture division and Ron Howell of the facilities division.

The local committee had been told Tuesday that the team would be in Snyder either Thursday or Friday. Seven teams are visiting throughout the state, and one team has already visited in Lamesa, Andrews, Odessa and Fort Stockton.

Reports from all the teams are due in Huntsville by noon next Thursday. Kyle was the team leader in 1987 when a site team visited Snyder prior to making the short list and prior to Snyder's being selected as a site for the 1,000-bed unit that opened here last month.

A total of 46 communities are seeking new prisons and all 46 towns will be visited, Kyle said. Snyder's application calls for a 1,000-bed unit to be located on a 579-acre section donated to the TDC in December, 1987.

The process for selection, as outlined previously by the TDC, calls for a short list of 28 towns based on the site visits by the TDC staff.

Towns on the short list will be further investigated by two committees to be formed from the new Texas Criminal Justice board.

The Department of Criminal Justice was approved by the Texas Legislature and will see expanded responsibility for not only TDC, but Pardons and Paroles, Probation and the Texas Youth Council.

Following site tours by board members, a final decision is expected at the board's regular meeting in November. Funding for the proposed units is subject to a state-wide amendment election to authorize the sale of bonds for prison construction. The election is Nov. 7.

'Snake Doctor' helps reduce swelling by breaking down protein in venom

By WENDY BARNETT
SDN Staff Writer

Snake bite victims may be in for more than one shock if they go to the Cogdell Memorial Hospital Emergency Room. The facility is now equipped with The Snake Doctor, a device which delivers approximately 25 KV of electric DC current into the point of contact.

Protein in the snake venom is what promotes swelling, but the electric shock breaks down the protein and dramatically reduces swelling, according to Emergency Room RN Susan Musgrave.

Musgrave acquired the device through an individual for $50, but is unsure how individuals would purchase the product. She said there have been articles about The Snake Doctor in "Outdoor Life" magazine.

When it does hit the market, and she's sure it will, individuals must remember the importance of following up the shock with the anti-venom. The sooner a patient can be shocked, the better the chances of the shock working, but it will not work alone, according to head ER nurse Teresa Graves.

Musgrave said, "They (bite victims) shouldn't just shock it, then forget it. They still need to come in to receive the anti-venom."

Even though the ER staff administers medication prior to shocking a patient, Musgrave said it still hurts, but then pointed out that it would be worth the pain to save a finger or a toe.

Doctors at Cogdell had heard tidbits of information on the Snake Doctor, but really had not pursued it until the need arose in the emergency room. Musgrave said Dr. Paul Thompson was on call when a snake bite victim came in. They borrowed the Snake Doctor from Jerry Early, DVM, and the swelling went down immediately.

Musgrave said they have also used the device for treating wasp bites. "One woman had been bitten by five different wasps, but both times successfully. While a person treated with the Snake Doctor may only spend one day in the hospital, or none at all, another person with the same type of bite may remain in the hospital for weeks, Musgrave said.

Advertising for the Snake Doctor claims that it has been successful in treating brown recluse spider bites, bee stings and fire ant bites.

Using the Snake Doctor is simple. One electrode is placed directly on the bite, while the other is placed on the skin around the bite for use as a ground. A button is pushed to release current, and it is held down for two seconds. It is released for 10 seconds, then the second electrode is rotated around the bite and the victim is shocked five times, in the same manner.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Education comes from studying and wisdom comes from living."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

Larry Crabtree, in the Vernon Daily Record, has come to doubt the old saying that "It's a man's world."

He asks, "Is it really a man's world?" Maybe, but compare these frequently heard descriptions of a male and female.

"If a woman is short, she's petite. A short man is a runt. Lacking bravery, a woman is timid while a man is a coward."

"A woman who is inept at earning a living is the domestic type, but a man who is inept at earning a paycheck is a ne'er-do-well."

"An unworshipful girl is innocent while an unworshipful man isn't dry behind the ears. The woman with a job in a masculine field is a pioneer while a male fashion designer is a sissy.

"A girl stays single because she prefers a career, but a man stays single because he is egotistical and selfish. A woman who jilts a man is merely exercising a feminine prerogative, but a man who drops a woman is cruel and heartless. "When a couple gets married, a girl is considered set for life, but the man gets hooked."

Walter Buckel, in the Lamesa Press-Reporter, says he has come across the origin of the sandwich. It dates to the time when man discovered that he could not live by bread alone.

O.G. Nieman, in the Hereford Brand, says the following was posted on a bulletin board in a lake's bait shop:

"Wanted: A good woman who can cook fish and dig worms, sew and who owns a good fishing boat and motor. Please enclose photo of boat and motor."

New computer system okayed by SISD board

Snyder school board approved the purchase of a new IBM AS/400 computer system Thursday, amounting to a cost of $56,809 including software.

Board members discussed the current computer system used by SISD, which is about five years old. The board determined that the computer system, which would cost $21,080 to upgrade now, will have to be replaced in the near future.

That discussion led to a vote to purchase a new IBM AS/400 at a price of $43,935. Necessary software is $12,874. All board members voted affirmatively except Ann Walton, who was absent from the meeting.

The system will be purchased directly from IBM.

Lee McNair, SISD business manager, said the school budget will have to be amended to include the computer system. It will not affect the tax rate, set at $1.04 per $100 valuation. The money will be taken from the fund balance.

McNair said the board will determine how it will pay for the system — in one payment or over a period of time — at the next meeting, scheduled for Monday, Sept. 18.

In Brief

Jobless rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate remained at 5.2 percent in August as the resurgent economy created more than 200,000 jobs, the government reported today.

The Labor Department's official figure for non-farm payroll expansion last month was 110,000 jobs. But strikes reduced the job totals by about 108,000 — meaning that without the walkouts the new-job total would have been some 218,000.

The government also revised its July job growth figure upward to 184,000 from 169,000, a sign the economy continues to expand at a pace that will keep it out of recession in the short term.

The unemployment report is the first comprehensive look at economic performance in August, and the numbers bolster recent predictions that the record-long expansion seems in no danger of ending.

Indeed, the jobless data come on the heels of a revised report on the gross national product that said the economy grew at an annual rate of 2.7 percent in the second quarter of 1989, up from the 1.7 percent rate in a preliminary report.

Racial attack

NEW YORK (AP) — A march protesting racism and the slaying of a black youth produced a violent clash at the Brooklyn Bridge on the same day an 18-year-old suspect surrendered and was charged with murder.

Police estimated Thursday's protest drew 7,500 people — by far the largest demonstration since Yusuf Hawkins, 16, was killed during a racial attack in Brooklyn on Aug. 23.

"This was an absolute success!" proclaimed Sonny Carson, a protest leader. "This will make the city wake up. This will let the city know that there are young black people who will not take this any more."

The march was orderly until those at the front reached barricades police erected to keep demonstrators off the bridge's roadways during the evening rush hour. Demonstrators threw bottles and bricks and police responded with nightsticks as marchers shouted, "Take the bridge, take the bridge!"

Twenty-three police officers were injured, none seriously, police said. An unknown number of others were injured.

Four people were arrested for disorderly conduct and harassment; two also were charged with assault.

Boston hosts 47th writers convention

BOSTON (AP) — Sex on other planets, fearless vampire killers, gonzo fantasy and questions such as "Are There Any Really New Monsters?" are among the topics being kicked around at the 47th World Science Fiction Convention.

More than 5,000 writers, scientists and fans assembled Thursday for a long weekend of late night "filking" and confabs on the future of sci-fi, and the word is that cyberpunk is out. Enthusiasts from science fic-tion's fandom began flocking to the Hynes Convention Center clad in Star Trek uniform tops, propellor-beanies and T-shirts festooned with buttons.

"At its best, fandom is far less discriminatory against people who are different," Andi Schecter, a prominent Boston fan said during a panel discussion on fandom. "At its worst, we're a bunch of nerds."

Heated, long-running debates are characteristic of these conventions, whether they're over the proper rotation of a space station around a manufactured sun in a novel from the '50s or over the general worth of filkers, singers who rewrite folk songs with space-age lyrics.

This year, the filkers are staying at a different hotel.

"At times, fandom has all the dynamics of a fourth-grade playground," Schecter said.

The conference also features the presentation of the coveted Hugo awards for outstanding science fiction writing, as well as a brunch with Isaac Asimov, appearances by authors Andre Norton and Frederik Pohl and publishers Ian and Betty Ballantine, founders of Bantam Books and Ballantine Books.

While fans come to meet old friends and gawk at rare sci-fi books and paraphernalia such as space-age wigs and tiny, futuristic acrylic cities, those active in the industry come to make new connections and find out what next year's hot topics will be.

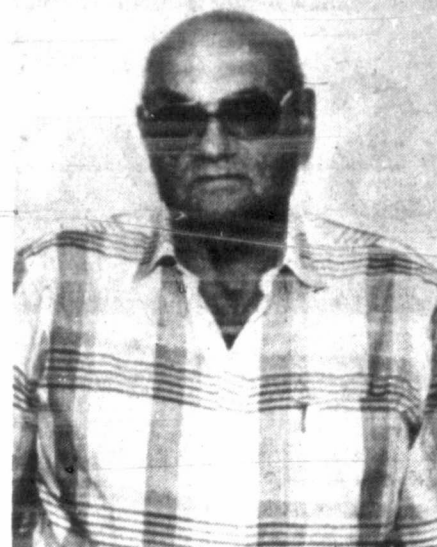

Chuq Von Rospach, a Hugo nominee who publishes Other Realms magazine, said he sees writers tending toward bringing fantastic events into the real world, rather than setting off for worlds of fantasy.

Von Rospach and others also said that cyberpunk — the controversial sub-genre that took hackers and the technologies of the information age into the future, with protagonists physically entering computer systems through their personal computers — was waning in support because it was overused.

Organizes are looking beyond fantasy. They've invited Marvin Minsky of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Nobel laureates Sheldon Glashow and Rosalyn Yalow to deliver papers on such topics as radiation and society and artificial intelligence.

Accurate scientific information is important to hard sci-fi writers because "coming across glaring scientific errors turns people off," said Bart Kemper, an army specialist who took vacation time to come to the convention.

Moorman sales rep has retired

Howell leaves after 21 years

C. W. Howell of Snyder retired August 15 as a sales representative for the Moorman Manufacturing Company, Quincy, Ill. He began working for the company on March 25, 1968, giving him over 21 years of service at the time of his retirement. In his last position, Howell served under district manager Harvey W. Williams and state sales manager Max B. Frazee.

A Rule native, Howell was the youngest of three children. He and his family moved to Abilene when he was a freshman in high school. He later graduated from Abilene High School and attended Hardin Simmons University. Howell joined the Marines in December of 1942 and was stationed on Johnson Island and Maui in Hawaii.

Howell and his wife of 43 years, Helen Joy, have two children. Their daughter, Mrs. Dan (Ginger) Rose and her family live in Abilene. The Howells' son, Rickey, and his wife, Kathy, live in Coleman. The Snyder couple also has four grandchildren, Misty and Heather Rose, Wesley and Kailey Howell.

Howell has been an avid supporter of FFA and 4-H, having received several plaques from both organizations over the years. He has raised hogs for 30 years and thoroughly enjoys this part of his life.

An active member of the First Baptist Church in Snyder, Howell serves as a deacon. For the last eight years, the Howells have taken two weeks out of each summer to help build churches in other states. Besides being a Moorman sales rep, Howell is also a qualified electrician.

In retirement, Howell plans to do more golfing and spend more time with his grandchildren. He and his wife also plan to travel and just slow down in general, taking time to "smell the roses."

Howell extends a "thank you" to all of his friends and customers with whom he has had the opportunity to work during his 21-year career with Moorman.

New vistas will open for you in the year ahead. Because you'll discover how to use to your advantage obstacles which previously worked against you. What was once negative will now be transformed into the positive.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Usually you're not stingy towards people who historically treat you in a generous fashion, but today this characteristic might surface. Don't let it tarnish your image. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Family members will respond to you today in the same manner that you treat them. If you are demanding or hypercritical, they'll show you areas where you lack perfection as well.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your ability to focus on positive aspects of issues is numbered among your greatest assets. Today, however, you might zero-in on the negative instead of the positive and thereby impair your judgment.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Friends with whom you'll be socializing today won't be too eager to pick up your end of the tab. It will make you look rather petty if you fail to pay your fair share.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you hope to achieve your objectives today, you will have to be resilient and thick skinned. If you are too soft or sensitive, you'll get knocked out of the fray in the early rounds.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Realism is essential in order to do well in commercial matters today. Be logical without being a defeatist and don't dwell on shadows where they do not exist.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) An enterprise in which you are presently involved could be subjected to unnecessary delays if you bring a non-contributor into the act. Limit participation to contributors.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) In an area where staunch allies are required today use your best judgment to determine how much actual support you truly have. Don't proceed if you are uncertain.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your imagination will be in high gear today, but unfortunately you might use it only for finding clever excuses and rationalizations to set aside duties that you should be attending.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Poking your nose into matters that do not directly concern you could prove to be a sorry mistake today. It might end up penalizing you socially or monetarily.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Unresolved family issues could turn out to be problematic for you today. Try not to say anything that could be interpreted as offensive and, above all, let sleeping dogs lie.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This is one of those days when you may not accomplish anything of real significance. Your goals might be too scattered and you could have a hard time bringing objectives into focus.

Kidnappers believe in retaliation right

NEW YORK (AP) — Captors holding U.S. hostages in Lebanon are motivated by a personal vengeance that will be more difficult to overcome since Israel kidnapped a Moslem cleric, says a U.S. Moslem leader who claims to have met with the hostage-holders in Beirut.

Mohammed Mehdi, secretary-general of the National Council on Islamic Affairs, said Thursday the kidnapping of Sheik Abdul-Karim Obeid worsened the prospects that the "exceptionally bitter, exceptionally paranoid" kidnappers will free the hostages.

"They feel the right to retaliation is sacred, and any questioning of that is illegitimate," said Mehdi, who claims to be possibly the only person in the United States who has met with the kidnappers in Beirut.

Obeid — who is affiliated with Hezbollah, the pro-Iranian extremist group believed to sponsor hostage-holders — was abducted from his home in south Lebanon July 28 by Israeli commandos.

Israel, saying Obeid was involved in terrorism, has refused to free him.

The pro-Iranian Organization of the Oppressed on Earth claimed July 31 it retaliated by hanging U.S. Marine Lt. Col. William R. Higgins, who was abducted while on U.N. duty in Lebanon. U.S. officials said they believe Higgins was killed, but some reports say the killing occurred months earlier.

Joseph Cicippio, one of the seven other U.S. hostages, was threatened with death, then given a reprieve.

Mehdi claims to have met with people responsible for holding Cicippio and Terry A. Anderson, chief Middle East correspondent of The Associated Press, during a February 1987 visit to Beirut to appeal for the hostages' release.

He said he was led blindfolded to the meeting in a dimly lighted room in Beirut. The captors he met with — four men ranging in age from about 20 to 25 — bore personal scars from the fighting in Lebanon, Mehdi said.

The man who claimed to be in charge of holding Anderson, the longest-held hostage who was kidnapped in 1985, said his entire village was destroyed by U.S. bombs dropped in retaliation for the bombing of the U.S. Marines' headquarters in Lebanon, when 241 servicemen were killed.

"He is so damn bitter he is ready to drop such shells on New York, on Washington," Mehdi said of Anderson's captor, who lost his wife, children and grandparents when his village was bombed.

The captor responsible for holding Cicippio, who was kidnapped in September 1986, told Mehdi his children had been burned by American napalm dropped from an American-made airplane piloted by an Israeli. Three of the captor's five children died, Mehdi said.

Although Americans consider the kidnappers to be terrorists, Mehdi said, the kidnappers perceive themselves differently.

Candidate questions eligibility of her GOP primary opponent

AUSTIN (AP) — On her first official day as a Republican candidate for attorney general, Pat Hill said she's not certain her GOP primary opponent is eligible to run for the office.

The four-term state representative from Dallas on Thursday became the second Republican to formally enter the attorney general's race. State Sen. J.E. "Buster" Brown of Lake Jackson kicked off his second campaign for the office on Monday.

Ms. Hill, 43, said Brown will face the same questions about his eligibility this time that he did in 1986, when the Texas Supreme Court ruled that he couldn't run.

The Texas Constitution prohibits mid-term legislators from seeking another state office if the Legislature has raised the salary or "emoluments" for that office.

Because the Legislature in 1986 had raised the attorney general's salary, Brown was declared ineligible.

But Ms. Hill said the 1989 Legislature voted to raise retirement benefits for the attorney general, thus raising Brown's eligibility problems again. Since her term in the House expires next year, she wouldn't have the same problem.

"There is a serious question of Sen. Brown's eligibility," Ms. Hill said. "This year there wasn't a pay increase, there was a retirement increase. I would like Sen. Brown to seek appropriate legal determination of whether or not he can be running." Asked about the situation earlier this week, Brown said he had no concerns.

"The state Legislature did not give pay raises to statewide elected officials," he said.

Three Democrats also are running for the office expected to be vacated by incumbent Jim Mattox, who is preparing to seek the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. They are Houston lawyer John Odum, San Antonio state Rep. Dan Morales and U.S. Rep. John Bryant of Dallas.

Ms. Hill, 43, charged that Mattox's two terms had raised doubts about the office's integrity that require a Republican to be correct. No Republican has served as Texas attorney general in this century.

"The attorney general should be the lawyer for the people — not for his friends, not for his cronies, and not for those who make $10,000 contributions to his campaign fund," Ms. Hill said.

"We can no longer afford an attorney general in this state who's known more for his strong arms and weak character than for his legal representation of the people of Texas," she said.

As most of other candidates have, Ms. Hill pledged to be tough on crime and to wage a battle against illegal drugs.

She cited her sponsorship of a bill to impose the death penalty on mass murderers and pledged to create a Texas Justice Task Force to recommend ways to reform the attorney general's office, which primarily is concerned with civil law.

ABC films Austin students

AUSTIN (AP) — Going back to school this year has meant possible national exposure for some students at Bryker Woods Elementary School.

An ABC News crew spent Monday and Tuesday talking with 40 students at the Austin school and all day Wednesday talking with several children about their hopes and dreams for the future.

"It's taken them all day to film six children," said Mary Kinkel, the proud but slightly harried principal at Bryker Woods.

ABC is producing six 30-second public service announcements hoping to raise public awareness about problems facing young people. Austin is one of three cities selected. The other cities, chosen for geographical reasons, were Wilmington, Del., and Minneapolis.

Matthew Zucker, director of the office of communications for ABC News, said he chose Bryker Woods Elementary out of several schools suggested by education officials in the city and KVUE-TV, Austin's ABC affiliate.

The spots are part of a campaign, in collaboration with several national youth groups, to call attention to problems such as teen pregnancy, illiteracy, school drop-out, delinquency, drug abuse and unemployment. ABC News is focusing on the youth crisis in a special program with Barbara Walters on Sept. 14.

"We were looking for kids who felt comfortable, who were articulate and open about their dreams," Zucker said. "Some wanted to learn to fly, to be an astronaut, to be president. One wanted to clean up pollution. Another wanted to be a truck driver, but he said that might take him away from home too long."

set him. Since the spade king might have been with West, declarer should not be castigated for playing low from dummy at trick one. However, East won the king and switched to the club eight. Declarer covered with the club nine. West won the jack and played another club, ducked by declarer. East played the third club. Declarer won, discarding a diamond from dummy. Declarer could now give up a club to East, and that would give him eight tricks. He would still need the diamond finesse to succeed for his ninth trick. Is there a proper play for the contract?

This is a deal that cannot be played from a newspaper diagram. Instead, the declarer must back his judgment at the table. If he thinks it likely that East also holds the diamond king, he must cash the queen and ace of spades and three rounds of hearts ending in his hand. He then throws East on lead with a club. If East has nothing left but diamonds, the contract is made. But if East has a fourth heart, he will cash that trick for down one.

More than 20 years ago, Bee Schenken, many times women's national champion, did take the play of cashing out her major-suit winners before throwing East on lead with a club. That was the winning play.

Forms will verify status

The Veterans Administration has begun mailing out forms to verify the status of dependents of veterans receiving compensation and the unmarried status of surviving spouses in receipt of Dependency and Indemnity Compensation (DIC), E. H. (Dan) Dever, Jr., Scurry County Veterans Service Officer, said.

Compensation is paid for service-connected disabilities, Dever noted, while pension is paid for non-service connected disabilities. The forms pertain to only compensation and not pension.

VA Form 21-0538, Status of Dependents, will be mailed to all veterans in receipt of additional compensation for a spouse, a child under 18 years of age or a helpless child. VA Form 21-0537, Marital Status Questionnaire, will be mailed to all surviving spouses in receipt of DIC. The veteran and surviving spouse will have 60 days to respond from the date of the request and failure to do so will result in the reduction or termination of benefits.

Non-campaign...

Speaker suggests pay raise may be answer to spending

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Texas House Speaker Gib Lewis says political campaign contributors don't expect their donations to be used entirely for campaigns. Politicians reach into their gift coffers for such things as buying pigs at an auction or to pay for food and a baby sitter when lawmakers show constituents around town, he said. "Many people who contribute realize that they are contributing to the campaign and also to defray the expense that that member of the Legislature incurs by serving in the Legislature because there is a tremendous amount of expense the constituency demands," Lewis said Thursday.

Lewis, D-Fort Worth, said constituents visiting the state capital usually expect to be taken to dinner at politician's expense. Moreover, he said, legislators are expected to entertain nearly every night.

Lewis has suggested a pay raise for lawmakers might reduce the need to tap campaign funds for such expenses.

Lewis made his latest pitch for a pay increase Thursday night in Amarillo at a fund-raiser to defray the campaign debt of state Rep. Rick Crawford, R-Amarillo.

State allows lawmakers to tap their campaign chests to pay for non-campaign expenses.

Lewis said the costs don't stop in Austin. Politicians have to reach into their pockets when they return to their hometowns, he said.

"I'm not invited, I am commanded to attend every 4-H auction," Lewis said. "And if I don't bid highest on a steer, I have not fulfilled my obligation. I have bought more steers and more pigs and lambs. Of course, you just, give it back to them. But

Responsibility denied by ex-head of bankrupt mine

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Emilio Ocampo Arenal, the Chilean-born former director of the bankrupt Cananea copper mine has denied his guilt of charges of defrauding the company.

Ocampo, during his Thursday arraignment in Mexico City's Northern Penitentiary, said that confessions he had made earlier to federal agents were obtained under pressure. Ocampo alleged that authorities threatened his family unless he confessed to fraud in the operation of the mine.

The attorney general's office said in a statement Wednesday that Ocampo had admitted "to illegally authorizing contracts to obtain personal benefit of 5 percent of authorized sales" from 1983 through this year. These sales were conducted to companies in Japan, Spain and West Germany.

Ocampo is accused of embezzling the equivalent of about $3 million. He is one of 33 company officials arrested in the investigation of the mine's operations and is not eligible for bond.

The government has said that 34 witnesses have given evidence against Ocampo. In a statement during his arraignment, Ocampo said he always ran the mine with honesty and professionalism.

Attorney General Enrique Alvarez del Castillo said Thursday that his office will not investigate the mine's full administrative council, saying that Ocampo's actions did not involve the administrative council.

Diuretics may lead to impotence

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 62-year-old male. Ten years ago, my doctor put me on hydrochlorothiazide pills for edema. I've since experienced impotence and have heard the medication may be causing my problem. Please explain.

DEAR READER: Many medicines, especially those used to treat hypertension and fluid retention, can cause male sexual dysfunction. Hydrochlorothiazide, a mild diuretic, is such a medicine. Although it usually does not cause impotence, some men are affected. The reasons for this are not known. Ask your doctor to prescribe a comparable drug, such as triamterene or furosemide, that may not affect your sexual functioning.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Impotence." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have arthritis in my knee and was given a shot of cortisone. Within 24 hours, I developed an infection caused by Serratia. Surgery was performed, I developed thrombophlebitis, and 18 months later I still have swelling in the knee. How did the bacteria get into my knee to begin with? Could it have happened while receiving the cortisone shot?

DEAR READER: Yes, it could. Whenever doctors stick things — such as needles — into patients, infection may be introduced at the same time. In addition, because cortisone reduces the tissue's resistance to infection, the use of this drug increases the risk of bacterial contamination, which can progress to serious infection.

Serratia are an unusual type of bacteria that can cause abscesses and extensive tissue damage. Fortunately, they are easily killed by many of the newer antibiotics. However, as you discovered, the consequences of the infection — such as blood clots (thrombophlebitis) and chronic swelling — can persist long after the infection has been eradicated. It sounds to me as though you suffered an uncommon complication of a relatively simple procedure.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I had prostate surgery 12 years ago and now have a problem with hematuria. What's your opinion?

DEAR READER: Hematuria (blood in the urine) is the first sign of many urinary-tract disorders, including infection, growths and irritations (such as stones). I cannot conclude that your previous prostate surgery is the cause of your hematuria. This complaint should be addressed by a physician. Schedule an appointment with your surgeon, who must be familiar with your case. You'll need a complete examination, urine culture (to rule out infection), an IVP (a kidney X-ray to check your upper-urinary tract) and, probably, a cystoscopy during which the doctor will examine your lower-urinary tract with a lighted tube. These test results will help your doctor identify the cause of your hematuria and suggest treatment.

Famous people have also been sent to facility

BUTNER, N.C. (AP) — When Jim Bakker was sent to the Federal Correctional Institute in Butner for psychiatric evaluation he joined a list of other famous people who have been sent to the facility.

Although his defense attorneys argued that Bakker should be sent to a private hospital, U.S. District Judge Robert Potter ordered Bakker sent to Butner for evaluation Thursday. The move came after Bakker's attorneys said their client was hallucinating and could not assist in his own defense.

Stun guns might help Austin police

AUSTIN (AP) — After a three-month test, it appears that Austin police will become the first in Texas to again carry stun guns, which didn't work out the first time.

Police will practice using the restraint devices on each other, and also will have to buy their own $150 stun gun, since the equipment is optional.

"They're unbelievable — I can't say enough good about them," said Officer Gene Parker, who tested a new version of the device, which is made by an Austin firm, on his beat this spring.

Police Chief Jim Everett says he plans to approve the use of an updated stun gun. The department three years ago found an earlier stun gun unreliable.

Those officers who use the guns will enlist in a 10-hour training program next week, which will include officers using stun guns on each other.

Officers who have been on the receiving end of stun guns during training sessions describe the pain as intense, but short-lived.

"It hurt when it was applied to my skin, but it quit hurting when it was taken away," said Senior Sgt. Robert Pulliam, who added that the shock on his leg brought him to his knees.

Complaints about earlier stun guns used in the early to mid-1980s ranged from inadequate battery power to jolts that were either too weak or too strong.

Everett said he is not aware of any other Texas cities that have renewed the use of stun guns.

Richard Abena, executive director of the Texas Civil Liberties Union, said he would withhold his judgment until he learns more about the new low-amperage device, which is about 6 inches long with a lithium battery at one end and two electrodes on the other.

Everett's approval of the Nova Spirit Police Special followed what he called the "very positive" test program in which officers used the device 37 times.

The device failed to subdue a subject in only one case, Pulliam said. In that case, Pulliam said, a man who was struggling with officers apparently was too numb from drugs and alcohol to be aware that he was being shocked.

Assistant Police Chief George Phifer said the stun gun has proven in repeated medical tests to be safe, even when used on persons who have pacemakers.

MIKE SPIKES

Spikes here as rep for Motorola

Mike Spikes is the new Motorola Communications and Electronics representative in Snyder.

He comes to Snyder after attending a four-month training school at the company's headquarters in Chicago. The school is like college, according to Spikes. Future representatives are tested weekly.

Spikes mainly makes service calls to people or companies with existing accounts. He said that there are already so many clients in the Snyder area, he has to make few new sales calls.

Farmers and ranchers have made use of the two-way radios. Spikes said it saves them time over the alternative, getting on a horse or in a pickup and searching for hands.

Spikes called Motorola the leader in electronics and radios because "that's all they deal with."

Motorola does research on cities for possible expansion. Spikes said, "They (Motorola) see a real big future in Snyder or they wouldn't have put me out here."

Female elephants are more vocal than males, both using an effective long-distance communication system of low-frequency rumbles that humans cannot hear, says National Geographic.

INS can't deport foreign crewmen

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Efforts to deport foreign crewmen accused of violating a law that prohibits them from spending more than 29 days in the U.S. without leaving or docking at a foreign port have been put on hold.

A federal judge postponed a hearing Thursday on whether immigration officers may deport crewmen of the gambling ship Le Mistral, keeping in place a temporary restraining order preventing the action.

A hearing in U.S. District Judge Filemon V. Vela's court in Brownsville was continued until Sept. 8.

U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service records show foreign crewmen on the Le Mistral have remained in port longer than 29 days, officials said.

INS officials had warned the ship's owner, Islander Cruises of Port Isabel, to comply with immigration laws.

Islander Cruises owner Tom Fowlkes said his crew members weren't cleared by INS upon their return from El Mezquital, Mexico, on their latest trip Monday because the cruise ship didn't dock there.

When your car feels like an oven, stay cool with Dr. Tan

WASHINGTON (AP) — When you climb into your sun-baked car in the shopping mall parking lot and crumple behind the wheel, gasping in a Saharan inferno, it's time for a few squirts from Dr. Domingo Tan's handy air conditioner in a can.

Tan, a Chinese-born physicist who lives in suburban Alexandria, Va., invented Instant Car Kooler, an aerosol spray containing 10 percent ethyl alcohol and 90 percent water mixed with a mint fragrance.

Those cardboard windshield "sunglasses" are no competition, Tan says.

To demonstrate, he opened the door of his aging Dodge sedan, which had been parked in the sweltering sun for a couple of hours with a cardboard sunshade in place. A large circular thermometer dangling over the front seat registered 122 degrees Fahrenheit.

Tan leaned into the car and pointed his can of Instant Car Kooler. "Psst-psst-psst."

Within half a minute, the therмомeter had plunged 42 degrees to a more bearable 80 degrees. He said the sunshade alone reduces heat by only 10 degrees to 15 degrees.

Tan, 57, began working on his invention about 10 years ago, when his young son complained frequently about the suffocating heat in the family car.

"From physics, I know that water absorbs plenty of heat. It is a good medium for moderating temperatures," Tan said. "I also thought that when it gets so hot, we pray for rain, and after it rains we know that the temperature drops."

Tan got his idea. "It's like making rain inside the car, but the difference is that we don't make the whole car wet. Instead of rain there are drops of spray so fine that they vaporize right away," he said.

He also observed a baby's fever is reduced when its body is rubbed with water mixed with alcohol. So Tan added ethyl alcohol, or ethanol, to the car spray to make the water vaporize faster and reduce the air temperature even further.

Born in Fukien, China, and reared in the Philippines, Tan obtained a doctorate in physics from the University of Oregon in 1968, taught college physics in Rochester, N.Y., and did laser research at the National Bureau of Standards in Washington until he entered private business in the 1970s. He and his wife run a jewelry and gift shop in an Alexandria shopping mall.

Tan received a patent for Instant Car Kooler in April, and began marketing the 16-ounce spray cans in mid-August. The retail price is $3.50 each.

Auxiliary to launch balloons

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary to VFW Post 8231 will join their counterparts in a special balloon project slated for noon on Labor Day.

Each auxiliary in the district is to release 100 balloons at noon on that day. The balloons will have a message inside asking people to write to their senators, congressmen, governor, president or the Supreme Court to protest the recent ruling regarding the burning of the flag.

Anyone finding one of these balloons is asked to send a card to the local auxiliary at P. O. Box 921, Snyder, TX 79549. Please indicate where and when the balloon was found.

Recently, the local auxiliary was inspected by Zoetta Struck of Eastland, District 8 president who informed the local group at that time that the Labor Day project had been adopted and was to include all auxiliary chapters.

Agassi and Chang win in U.S. Open matches

NEW YORK (AP) — Andre Agassi and Michael Chang, the established veterans of the tennis kiddie corps, already are looking over their shoulders.

Agassi, 19 and ranked sixth in the world, and Chang, 17 and rated seventh, easily won second-round matches in the U.S. Open on Thursday. They've already survived longer than Mats Wilander, John McEnroe and Brad Gilbert.

Not that they feel comfortable. Even though their best tennis is ahead of them — and even though Chang won the French Open this year — both teen-agers know losses to up-and-coming players like themselves always are lurking on the next court.

"It doesn't matter who you play, you can't take it lightly," Agassi said after beating Neil Broad 6-3, 6-2, 6-3. "I think we bring out the best in each other."

"It's kind of like what happened with Martina and Chrissie. They brought out the best of each other for a lot of years. When you have a lot of competition around you, it definitely brings your game to a whole different level."

Chang, who beat Thomas Hogstedt 6-1, 6-3, 6-3, brought his game to a higher level at Paris. He has catapulted from 30th in the world rankings, but he knows there are plenty of players who can duplicate his streak of success.

"I think that we are a really good group of young, good players, particularly because we grew up playing together and everybody pushed everybody to their limit," Chang said. "If you didn't work hard, you would basically be at the bottom of the group. Having that, everybody wanted to be the best in the group and everybody pushed everybody."

Other American members of the new wave include Jim Courier, 19; Pete Sampras, 18, who ousted Wilander Wednesday night, and David Wheaton, 20. The foreign contingent includes 10th-seeded Alberto Mancini of Argentina, 20; Nicolas Pereira of Venezuela, 18, and Goran Ivanisevic of Yugoslavia, still two weeks shy of his 17th birthday.

Agassi thinks the young Americans could be dominant in the 1990s.

"Chang has proven himself to be a great player," he said. "You have to be a great player to win a Grand Slam tournament."

"We've got Courier, Sampras. Sampras proved last night that he can play with the top players, and Courier has proven that.

"In the next year or so, we're going to be a real dominating force in men's tennis, providing that things go as well as they have so far. There's no doubt about it."

There are, however, a few "oldtimers" who might have something to say about that. Most notable, of course, are Ivan Lendl, the top seed who routed John Fitzgerald on Thursday

Cowboys and Oilers to face each other in all Texas tilt

HOUSTON (AP) — Chris Verhulst has played in one pro game but he's the most experienced tight end on the Houston Oilers' roster.

The Oilers lost Jamie Williams to Plan B free agency, and Calvin Magee, obtained from Tampa Bay in the off-season, retired from football before the start of training camp.

Just when Verhulst thought the starting job was his by default, fifth-round draft choice Bob Mrosko, a blocking wizard from Penn State, burst upon the scene. The pair will be battling for the starting job Saturday night when the Oilers close out their exhibition schedule against the Dallas Cowboys at Texas Stadium in Irving.

Both teams are 2-1 in preseason.

"I don't know if we're prepared to declare a starter, it's coming right down to the final game," quarterbacks coach Kevin Gilbride said.

Verhulst came to the Oilers as an outstanding receiver with few blocking skills, the opposite of what's expected of the tight end in the Oilers' four-wide receiver offense.

"Just looking at what we do with our tight end, blocking will always be the first priority and pass catching second," Gilbride said.

Verhulst worked hard in the off-season to upgrade his blocking.

"I knew that my receiving and Local squads see grid play

The Snyder Tigers, in preparation for the upcoming grid season, will host Colorado City in a scrimmage tonight beginning at 5 p.m. in Tiger Stadium.

Tonight's practice game will be the final chance for the Tiger coaches to assess the talents of their players before beginning the regular football season.

Snyder will entertain Lubbock Coronado's Mustangs in the season opener Friday, Sept. 8. District play begins Oct. 6 as the Black and Gold travel to San Angelo to tangle with Lake View.

Other local teams in action tonight include the Ira Bulldogs and the Borden County Coyotes.

Ira, hoping for a shot at post-season play, will be at home against Dawson for a 6 p.m. scrimmage this evening while Borden County plays Highland in Gail.

Both the Ira and the Borden County games will commence at 6 p.m.

Tennis group to begin play

Ladies interested in participating in the 10-week schedule of the Snyder Ladies Tennis Association should report to the high school tennis courts Sept. 11 for the opening of practice.

Sixteen slots are available on a first come-first served basis. Anyone signing up after the first sixteen will be placed on a substitute list.

Dues for the association will be $15 and will be payable on the first night of play.

For more information, or to sign up for the league, contact Debbie Dorff at 573-5212.

Rotan boosters hold trap shoot

The Rotan Booster Club has scheduled a trap shoot Sunday from 1 p.m. until dark at the Clay Fowler ranch.

The site for the event is three miles north of Rotan. The boosters of Rotan athletics invite the public to attend

SWC 75th season scheduled to start Labor Day weekend

The Southwest Conference begins its 75th year of football Saturday with Southern Methodist returning after a two-year absence and R.C. Slocum making his coaching debut at Texas A&M University.

The Aggies play host to Louisiana State in a 5:30 p.m. nationally televised (ESPN) matchup at Kyle Field.

Slocum, who was A&M's defensive coordinator, replaces Jackie Sherrill who resigned last December.

At 7:30 p.m. football will be played at Ownby Stadium on the SMU campus for the first time in 41 years as the Mustangs play host to the Rice Owls, winless in their last 18 games.

SMU will be coached by Forrest Gregg, who starred for the Mustangs before achieving NFL fame as a player and coach.

The Owls also have a new coach, Fred Goldsmith, who was Arkansas' defensive coordinator last year.

In the other SWC game Saturday, Coach Jack Pardee's Houston Cougars will play at Nevada-Las Vegas.

On Monday night, Texas opens the season in a nationally televised (ESPN) game at Colorado.

LSU was a two-point favorite over A&M, Rice was a 13-point choice over SMU, Houston was a two-touchdown favorite over Nevada-Las Vegas, and Colorado was a 9-point pick over the Longhorns.

"We didn't think the day would ever get here but we're ready to line up against somebody with a different colored jersey on," Gregg said. "The players and the fans are ready, too."

Rice is a big favorite for the first time since "Moby Dick was a minnow," said Owls' public relations director Bill Cousins.

Slocum served as interim head coach against TCU last season when Sherrill decided to sit out the game in the wake of alleged NCAA rules violations. The Aggies beat Texas Christian 18-0.

Co-ed league hosts tourney

The Church Co-ed Softball League is sponsoring a double-elimination tournament Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 9 and 10.

Deadline for registration is Thursday, Sept. 7. Entry fee for participation is $30.

Teams will compete at Winston and North Parks.

Openings in the tourney will be limited to members of the church Co-ed league.

For more information or to register contact Ricky Hopper at 573-0398.

Fishing tourney set in Ruidoso

The Ruidoso Kiwanis Club is gearing up for their annual fishing tournament set for Sept. 16 and 17 at Alto Lake.

Prize money for the contest has already surpassed previous year's awards with a grand prize of $10,000. The lesser prizes consist of 90 other tagged fish totalling $3,000 in prizes, ranging from $25 to $100.

Fishermen may pre-register by sending an application to Kiwanis Fishing Tournament, 1009 Mechem Drive, No. 3, Ruidoso, N.M., 88345 or P.O. Box 1107, Ruidoso, N.M., 88345.

Tickets will be mailed up to Sept. 12. Applications received after that date will be set up at a "will call" table at tournament headquarters.

Fishing hours for the event are 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

running was up to par for this league and it was the blocking that had to come around," Verhulst said. "I can feel improvement every day."

"The preseason work going against first-teamers has helped. Going against second- and third-teamers, you don't know the level you need to play at."

Mrosko came from the woodwork to a possible starting assignment as a fifth-round pick.

"It's hard to look inside of a player and tell what kind of player he'll be," Gilbride said. "I don't know that he really jumped out at us because of his athletic

Rangers drop contest to Minnesota's rookie

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A change in Minnesota rookie David West's pitching delivery appears to have raised his fortunes if not his arm.

"I'm just trying to take what I've learned out to the mound," West said after leading the Twins to an 8-6 victory over the Texas Rangers Thursday night. "When you drop your arm, the ball flattens out. If that's the difference, I'm just going to keep doing it."

Twins manager Tom Kelly liked what he saw in West, who had been working with pitching coach Dick Suck on his throwing form.

"If you're watching, you can see that he tends to get down under the ball," said Kelly. "He's not going to be perfect. What's important is that when he makes a mistake, he checks himself out there. He knows what to do."

Chip Hale, another rookie, contributed as well to Minnesota's victory. His first major league RBI scored the go-ahead run and West, 2-0, went seven innings to win his second straight start.

Hale's sacrifice fly in the fifth broke a 3-3 tie and he added an RBI single in the seventh. He also

Notre Dame trounces UVa in season opener

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Lou Holtz is one of the best storytellers of all time and the Notre Dame coach told a whopper before the Kickoff Classic.

He said the defending national champion was lacking in a lot of areas and wasn't even worthy of being in the Top 20.

Nice try, Lou. But the story just isn't true.

Notre Dame is for real again. And the Irish might even win a second straight national title if they learn to harness what they showed in the opening 25 minutes of Thursday night's Kickoff Classic against outmanned and overmatched Virginia.

With Tony Rice at the helm and the offensive line opening holes at will, the second-ranked Irish scored touchdowns on their first five possessions, opened a 33-0 halftime lead and defeated Virginia 36-13 in college football's annual season opener at Giants Stadium.

It was a performance reminiscent of Notre Dame's 34-21 victory over West Virginia in the Fiesta Bowl in January. The Irish jumped out early and were never threatened.

The only difference was this Virginia didn't have a West in front of its name.

Holtz didn't care for the comparison, and tended to focus on the final 35 minutes, during which Notre Dame was outscored 13-3.

"The first 20 minutes we were a top 20 team," Holtz said. "The rest of the game we played like a bottom 20 team. My biggest concern is the defense. We just weren't consistent."

Actually, the Irish didn't need to be consistent after the first 25 minutes. The game was over by then.

"Before the game the offensive line told me they'd open up some holes and they did," said Rice, who completed seven of 11 passes for 147 yards. "Basically it was easy for us because we made it easy for ourselves. The first team said we wanted to get the ball in the end zone and we did."

Snyder Soccer Association sign-ups are set for Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Bargain Time in Varsity Square Shopping Center.

Groups criticize Miller's party plans

AUSTIN (AP) — A storm is brewing over the "Biggest Party in History" with critics saying Miller Lite's promotion is encouraging youngsters to drink.

"After this weekend we will be no longer known as the Lone Star State. Instead, we will be known as the drunken state," Felicia Hawkins, a senior at Graham High School, said Thursday.

Ms. Hawkins is part of a coalition of nearly two dozen groups who say Miller Brewing Co. has been irresponsible in its $18 million advertising for the event.

For 16 months, Miller has promoted a party that company officials say will draw about 500,000 people in six Texas cities this Labor Day weekend.

Miller officials denied the charge, saying they have taken extra precautions to ensure no one underage at the parties drinks alcohol and no one legally of age to drink consumes too much.

But Beverly Watts Davis, coordinator for Texans' War on Drugs, said the group has tried unsuccessfully to get Miller Lite to state in its advertisements that persons under 21 years old will not be served alcoholic beverages.

"There has been no response from Miller Beer," she said, adding that Miller representatives did not show up at two meetings to discuss the proposal and did not return correspondence.

"It's just going to take one person to get in their car to put themselves at risk or anyone else on the highway at risk," Ms. Davis said.

John Shafer of Milwaukee, a spokesman for Miller, said the company did not add information about the legal drinking age in its commercials, because the law is uniform across the nation. "Everyone knows that," he said.

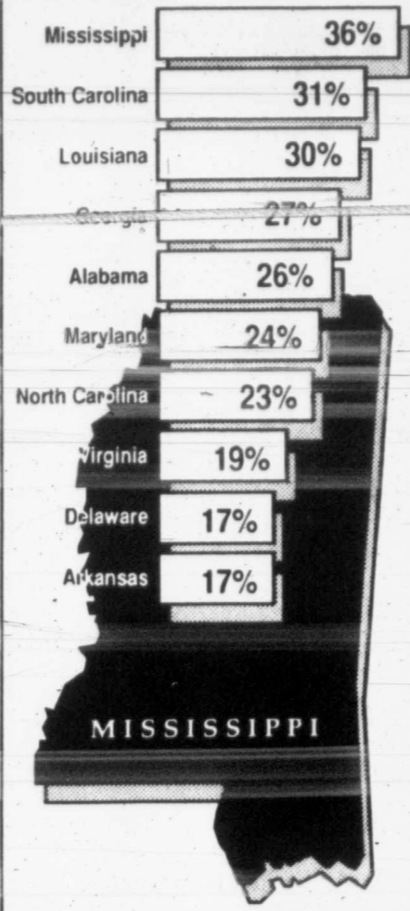

He said the company has devised a comprehensive security plan to prevent underage drinking and overconsumption. Those with proof of being 21 or older will receive a wrist band that carries the message "Think while you drink," he said. Only those with wrist bands can purchase beer, he said.

The company's newspaper ads also carry the "Think while you drink" slogan. Shafer also said the company has an advertisement featuring the rock band, The Who, encouraging people not to drink too much.

The Who will perform concerts in Houston and Dallas, sites of two of the Miller parties.

The Black Population States with the greatest proportion of blacks, 1985

Southern states have the highest proportion of blacks. Mississippi is the only state where the population is over one-third black.

Cancer risk-depression not related, study says

CHICAGO (AP) — Feeling down doesn't increase a person's risk of cancer, says a study that investigated the suggested link between mood and disease.

The study shows "a lot of speculation about the emotional component in (cancer) is just speculation," said Morton Bard, vice president for services and rehabilitation for the American Cancer Society.

The possibility of a connection between outlook and disease has been "periodically put forward since the beginning of history," Bard said.

He said the study's message is: "Hold on there. There is no answer yet." The study, by three researchers at the National Institute on Aging, challenges the theory that depression can increase vulnerability to cancer, but doesn't end the debate, said Alan B. Zonderman, one of the researchers and a psychologist and senior staff fellow at the institute.

"I think for the time being at least, the weight of the evidence is certainly that there's no risk of cancer from depression," said Zonderman, co-author of a report on the study in today's Journal of the American Medical Association.

The study is a 10-year follow-up on 6,403 people who took part in a 1971-75 survey by the National Center for Health Statistics, which gathered extensive data on psychology and medical risk.

The researchers updated the subjects' medical history.

Using the results of two psychological tests conducted during the earlier survey, they identified 1,002 as "down most of the time," Zonderman said.

Of those subjects, 110, or 11 percent, had been diagnosed with cancer or had died from it since the original study.

Of the 5,401 subjects who were considered not depressed, 527, or 10 percent, had been diagnosed as having cancer or had died of it. The 1 percentage point difference between the cancer rate for the two groups is statistically insignificant, the researchers said.

"We found that depressive systems didn't predict who was going to get cancer or who was going to die from cancer 10 years later," Zonderman said.

There was no difference in results when researchers adjusted the study to allow for other factors that could relate to cancer, including sex, age, marital status, smoking habits, family history of cancer, hypertension and cholesterol level.

Police work three wrecks

Police investigated three traffic accidents Thursday and early Friday, including one at 7 a.m. Friday involving a car and a bicyclist at 25th St. and Ave. M.

A 1973 Chevrolet driven by Leona Holloway of 2510 28th St. was in collision with a bicycle ridden by Mary L. Realzola of 106 Milburn St. The bicyclist did not require medical attention, officers said.

At 9:44 a.m. Thursday in the 2400 Block of 31st St., a 1988 Mercury driven by Kristi G. Wright of 4400 Ave. U, No. 2-B4, hit a parked 1989 GMC pickup owned by Neil Jackson of 2403 31st.

A chain link fence owned by Dewey Moore of 3810 Noble Dr. was damaged by an unknown vehicle and driver in a 4:59 a.m. Friday incident in the 1700 Block of 39th St.

U.S. continues its campaign against Noriega

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush today made formal the expected U.S. rejection of the new Panamanian government appointed by Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega and said he plans to tighten existing sanctions against that country.

As of today, the United States does not recognize any legal authority in Panama despite its role as one of the most strategically located countries in the world. The changed situation is the result of Panama's disputed election process last spring.

Bush said in a statement that the administration will "continue to take other steps ... to deprive the illegal regime of funds that belong to the Panamanian people." He did not elaborate.

He said the U.S. ambassador to Panama, Arthur Davis, called back to Washington last May, will not return to Panama and there will be no diplomatic contact with the new authorities in that country even though the U.S. Embassy will continue to function.

There have been no official dealings with the Noriega-dominated government in Panama for 18 months.

The highly unusual diplomatic situation arises a day after the United States denounced Noriega as a man of "shameless excess" with a fortune of up to $300 million from drug smuggling and other criminal activities.

"Noriega's greed, personal ambition and selfishness are the origin, core and sustenance of Panama's crisis," Deputy Secretary of State Lawrence Eagleburger told the Organization of American States on Thursday.

The political vacuum grows out of the decision of Panamanian authorities to void May's presidential elections after independent observers concluded that the anti-Noriega candidate, Guillermo Endara, had won by a landslide.

The administration was planning a statement today outlining the implications of the new diplomatic reality, but officials said no additional economic measures against Noriega are planned.

Speaking to the OAS, Eagleburger said Noriega's assets included a string of mansions and other dwellings in Panama and elsewhere, as well as various jets and three large pleasure yachts — "The Macho I, Macho II and Macho III."

An American lawyer for Noriega, Frank Anthony Rabino, said the case against his client, based on two 1988 Florida grand jury indictments, was politically motivated.

Rabino said the U.S. government is asking "you and me and others to use our imagination, to let our dreams run wild and maybe we'll find something evil in Gen. Noriega if we speculate ... long and hard."

Noriega's OAS ambassador, Jose Maria Cabrera, said of Eagleburger's allegations, "There is nothing new in this string of inventions."

The State Department asked for the special OAS meeting after a Panamanian diplomat demanded last week that the United States prove its drug smuggling allegations against Noriega.

In his speech, Eagleburger outlined a long list of criminal activities he attributed to Noriega, contending that he "protected cocaine shipments from Medellin, Colombia, through Panama to the United States."

Refusing to deal with Panamanian authorities has made it difficult for the United States to protect its interests in Panama, but there has been no apparent impact on the operation of the Panama Canal.

The United States is responsible for operating the world's most important inter-oceanic waterway. The country also is home to 10,000 U.S. servicemen.

Another anomaly became history Thursday when Ambassador Juan P. Sosa, a Delvalle loyalist who has declined for 18 months to surrender Panama's embassy in Washington to a Noriega appointee, shut down the mission.

With Delvalle's term expiring, Sosa said, he could no longer claim to be the ousted president's official agent in Washington.

Under the Panamanian constitution an "elected-president" was to take office today. With the May elections annulled, the Noriega-dominated Council of State on Thursday appointed as president Francisco Rodriguez, who has served as government comptroller for seven years.

Bakker in prison awaiting evaluation

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Jim Bakker spent his first night in prison after a federal judge ordered the fallen TV evangelist held for psychiatric evaluation.

U.S. District Judge Robert Potter suspended Bakker's fraud and conspiracy trial in its fourth day Thursday after being told by Bakker's attorneys that their client was covering in a fetal position with his head under a couch.

With the jury out of the courtroom, Potter heard Dr. Basil Jackson, a Milwaukee psychiatrist who has been treating Bakker for nine months, say the PTL ministry founder was depressed and hallucinating, seeing people as frightening animals out to attack him.

"If Mr. Bakker is handled gently and carefully he may be able to proceed with this trial," defense attorney George T. Davis said.

The defense suggested Bakker, 49, be put in a private psychiatric institution, but Potter ordered Bakker to the Federal Correctional Institute in Butner, N.C., for up to 60 days for evaluation. Marshals transported Bakker in handcuffs and leg shackles.

The operations officer on duty in Butner early today, Lt. R. Ellis, would say only that Bakker was "doing fine."

Assistant U.S. Attorney Jerry Miller argued before the judge that Jackson was a "hired gun."

"It's hard to interpret it any other way other than Mr. Davis has once again — this time he didn't summon his client up to pray — this time he summons a psychiatrist up to say that his client can't go forward with the defense, and it's awfully suspect," Miller said.

Jackson told the judge that Bakker began hallucinating Wednesday after a former PTL executive, Steve Nelson, collapsed on the stand while testifying for the prosecution. At the prompting of an attorney, Bakker knelt by Nelson's side and prayed. Nelson recovered later from what hospital officials said was dehydration from flu.

The jury was not told Thursday about his condition or about Bakker's commitment.

"Something unexpected has come up," Potter told jurors, saying the trial would be delayed, possibly until Wednesday.

But the judge added: "I'm really not sure at this time how long."

There was no call for a mistrial in court Thursday, and prosecution and defense lawyers are under court order not to discuss the case outside court.

Bakker and other PTL executives are accused of diverting for their own use more than $4 million raised from followers. If convicted on all 24 counts, Bakker could be sentenced to 120 years in prison and fined $5 million.

Jackson said Bakker's condition worsened between Wednesday and Thursday, even after he was given Xanax, an anti-depressant sedative.

"To put it in lay language, the man is stressed out," Jackson said.

Bakker appeared distraught when he was led from his attorney's office by U.S. marshals to the courthouse for processing of the commitment order.

"Please don't do this to me," a sobbing, disheveled Bakker said. He curled up in a fetal position in the back seat.

Governor names eight to Criminal Justice Board

AUSTIN (AP) — Eight members of the outgoing Texas Board of Corrections were appointed today by Gov. Bill Clements to the new Texas Board of Criminal Justice, which will have authority over additional prison-related agencies.

"With these appointments, our system of justice in Texas enters a new era of reform," Clements said in a prepared statement.

He said the restructured criminal justice system, crafted earlier this year by state lawmakers, will streamline prison operations.

"Make no mistake, our criminal justice system will be further enhanced by this comprehensive reform," Clements said.

The new Board of Criminal Justice will consolidate the Texas Department of Corrections, Board of Pardons and Paroles and Texas Adult Probation Commission.

In picking members of the defunct Board of Corrections, Clements said, "My appointees bring invaluable experience and knowledge to the board — both key to our restructuring goals and to the completion of the largest prison expansion program in Texas history."

Voters on Nov. 7 will be asked to consider whether to issue bonds to expand the state prison system by more than 10,000 beds, in addition to the approximately 21,000 prison beds approved over the last two years.

Clements' press secretary Rossanna Salazar said the governor will make his final selection to the nine-member new board within the next few weeks.

Appointed today for terms ending Feb. 1, 1995 were Charles Terrell, 51, of Dallas; Jerry Hodge, 46, of Amarillo; and Allan Polunsky, 40, of San Antonio.

Terrell, former corrections board chairman, has been designated by Clements as the chairman of the new board. Appointed for terms ending Feb. 1, 1993 were F.L. "Steve" Stephens, 51, of San Angelo; James Eller, 57, of Bryan; and Mamie Moore Proctor, 59, of Houston.

Robert Mann, 58, of Waco and Ben J. Gallant, 55, of Corpus Christi, were appointed to terms ending Feb. 1, 1991.

Solemn tribute paid

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — Europe today paid solemn tribute to the millions of victims of World War II, which started 50 years ago on Sept. 1 when a German warship opened fire on a tiny Polish garrison.

Adolf Hitler's troops quickly overran Poland and the war spread around the globe. In the end, 50 million people had died.

By then the Nazis had shocked the world with the extermination of 6 million Jews and the United States had forever changed warfare by dropping nuclear bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki in 1945.

"We feel sorrow for the unspeakable suffering which was caused to human beings and nations in the name of the Germans and by the hand of the Germans," Chancellor Helmut Kohl told a special session of the West German Parliament in Bonn.

"We mourn for the many innocent victims from within our own people," Kohl added.

As he spoke, a group of young Poles sat in the visitors' gallery.

The group had been invited as a sign of reconciliation between West Germany and Poland, which suffered more than any other country from the Nazi atrocities.

Kohl made reconciliation one of the key points of his speech.

Sammy Smith and Western Texas will provide the stock. Joyce Kincheloe is the rodeo secretary. Bob Doty, assistant agriculture professor and rodeo coach at WTC, is the rodeo director.

Approximately 200 contestants have entered the rodeo.

Proceeds from the weekend event will go to the WTC rodeo scholarship fund.

Labor Day weekend

Continued From Page 1 The Senior Citizens Center and Reta's Cake Shop are donating food, and Snyder Signs is supplying a portable sign to let motorists know what is there.

Snyder Neighbors Sharing have provided plywood for signs that will be put on the roadside at long distances to the north and south.

Cots will even be offered for motorists who need a nap.

"That's a long stretch on 84 with not a whole lot on it, and they can stop and rest their legs, have coffee and wake up," Hall said.

"It's a community service for the public, to help reduce the fatality rate."

The Texas Department of Public Safety has estimated that 34 people will die as a result of traffic collisions during the Labor Day weekend.

Dear Abby

Overweight Daughter Feeds On Anger and Resentment

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1989 Universal Press Syndicate

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Abby is off on a two-week vacation, but she left behind some of her favorite letters taken from her best-selling book, "The Best of Dear Abby.")

DEAR ABBY: How can parents get rid of a fat 20-year-old daughter who refuses to look for a job? She says that we gave birth to her for reasons of our own, so we can keep her for the rest of her life.

Eating, sleeping, reading, listening to the radio, doing volunteer work at the local animal shelter and urging her little brother to hang himself is all she has done since graduating from high school 2 1/2 years ago.

Her skill with animals has brought her many good job offers from veterinarians, but she says she refuses to work for money as long as her brother is alive, and she fiercely resents not being an only child.

The police say they cannot help us because she is neither a criminal nor a lunatic. Two doctors have told us they cannot help us because they can't find anything "wrong" with her. So where do we go from here? We aren't millionaires and we're fed up with ...

FEEDING AN ELEPHANT

DEAR FEEDING: See another doctor! This time find a competent psychiatrist or psychologist. You certainly have enough clues to conclude that the girl has serious emotional problems. She desperately needs help in getting her head together. And the cost will be "peanuts" compared with feeding an elephant.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to thank you for saving my life.

In December 1973 I weighed 326 pounds. If my high blood pressure or heart trouble wouldn't have eventually killed me, I'd have done it myself. I lived with loneliness, depression and despair.

I was a heroin addict and a 23-year-old divorced mother of three on welfare. I hated myself enough to prostitute my body to get money for dope. I suffered humiliation after humiliation. (A 300-pound prostitute gets all the sadists and perverts no other hooker will take.) I had no self-respect, no hope, no God — no nothing.

I wrote to you, never expecting an answer. Your letter was the first word of encouragement I had had in years. You advised me to go to Overeaters Anonymous. I took your advice and went to a meeting in June of '74. I believed none of it. "These people are crazy," I thought. "I'm a fat, ugly junkie, and they're telling me I can get thin and regain my self-respect if I want to!"

"No way," I told them right out loud. No one threw me out. A beautiful, middle-aged man put his arm around my shoulder and said, "Come back and listen. Try us for 30 days. What can you lose?"

I didn't believe him, but I went back, and back, and back.

Today I've lost 121 pounds, and I'm still losing. I'm drug-free, and I'm learning to like myself. I have a responsible job, a belief in a power greater than myself, and the love and respect of my children and people who believed in me when I didn't believe in myself.

There is no scale at O.A. They don't shame you if you backslide. They are a group of loving, caring, supportive people who are there to help you because they have been helped themselves.

After sinking so low, O.A. gave me a chance to be what I've always wanted to be: a lady.

Thank you for sending me there.

"BORN AGAIN" IN CONNECTICUT

DEAR BORN AGAIN: You owe me no thanks. I merely threw you a lifeline. You caught it.

Drug funds will be used as pay

KINGSVILLE, Texas (AP) — The Kleberg County Sheriff has agreed to pay deputies' salaries in confiscated drug money rather than temporarily shut down the department for lack of funds.

Sheriff Adan Munoz said he was reluctant to use the drug fund because of a recent opinion by the state attorney general which said such money should not be used for salaries.

But the U.S. Customs Service said the money could be used to pay deputies. So, Munoz said he will build his September payroll with interest income from an account containing more than $1 million in seized drug funds.
