Mattox set to enter campaign

AUSTIN (AP) — After more than a year of fund-raising and other preparations, Attorney General Jim Mattox is ready to make it official.

Mattox said Tuesday he plans to formally begin his campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination next month.

In a two-paragraph statement released by his campaign office, Mattox said he would launch the bid in his hometown of Dallas, plus Houston, San Antonio and Austin, on Oct. 10.

A two-term attorney general, former congressman and former state legislator, Mattox has raised some $4 million for the race. The primary is March 13.

State Treasurer Ann Richards began her campaign for the Democratic nomination in June, and she held a substantial lead in a poll published Sept. 17 by The Dallas Morning News and Houston Chronicle.

That survey of 1,024 registered voters showed Ms. Richards with 35 percent support, former Gov. Mark White with 23 percent and Mattox with 8 percent.

White, governor from 1983 to 1987, has said he is considering the race but hasn't yet decided whether to run.

Mattox's announcement Tuesday came as controversy continued over remarks published Sunday by The Dallas Morning News, which reported that Mattox said alcoholism would be an issue in the gubernatorial race.

Ms. Richards, 56, was treated for alcoholism in 1980 and has openly discussed her recovery from the disease.

Mattox was quoted by the newspaper as saying, "I think the concept of wellness should be an issue in every campaign. We will make it an issue in our campaign ... The alcoholic will tell you, of course, that there is no such thing as a recovered alcoholic. There are recovering alcoholics. And I don't know (see MATTOX, page 9)

Low production expected...

Drought, insects hurt cotton

The 1989 Scurry County cotton crop was overmatched from the start by everything nature could have hindered it with — hail, drought and insects — so it comes as no surprise that expectations for its production and profitability are low.

Farmers planted almost 60,000 acres in cotton last spring, before hail knocked out some fields around Fluvanna and Loyd

Mountain, and then settled in for a long summer of fruitlessly awaiting rain.

"Drought was the biggest problem," said Joe Hefner, manager of the United States Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, announcing that the ASCS will offer a disaster program in addition to federal crop insurance benefits this fall.

The agency will make subsidy payments to producers whose yields are substantially less than original expectations, Hefner said, agreeing with County Agent Marvin Ensor's estimate that the county will produce only about 17,000 bales this year — a considerable drop-off from the 55,000 that were turned out here last year.

Ensor, who conducted an Extension Service Ag Tour in the Inadale area in southeastern Scurry County Tuesday, said probably 8,000 acres have already been "adjusted out," or written off for insurance claims.

"We'll have from practically none to a bale and a half," Ensor said, explaining that some fields, primarily in the eastern and southeastern parts of the county, caught enough rain to produce a good crop.

"Where it is really weak is to the northwest and, especially, the western part. Some of the rains we did receive were very isolated."

The county agent said there were "lots of insect problems for those that did get rain," primarily with bollweevils and some with bollworms, with those farmers having to use pesticides extensively to save their crops.

Temperatures dropped to as low as 30 degrees, according to some reports, as the county experienced its first frost of the season last Saturday night.

Ensor said the tops were killed in some cotton, especially in low-lying areas around Hermleigh and Ira, but it was by no means "a complete kill." He said the frost probably helped some cotton that was nearing maturity but hurt some late-developing plants.

During the Ag Tour, Dr. James Supak of Lubbock, an Extension Service cotton specialist, discussed improving the quality of cotton at harvest time with the use of stripper modifications and harvest aid chemicals.

Dr. Jackie Smith of Lubbock, an Extension Service economist, outlined the use of futures contracts, or going through a broker to remove some of the risk of price fluctuations.

He noted that some cotton is currently being contracted for at 68 cents per pound.

About 20 producers toured the Steve Moore and Red Campbell farms near Hermleigh.

Battle over teaching evolution may have national implications

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A renewed fight over the teaching of evolution and creationism in California will have a crucial test this week in a battle that has national implications.

The focal point is the upcoming adoption of a new science curriculum framework, a detailed statement of what should be taught in California and how it should be taught.

The framework doesn't mandate course content, which is determined by the state's 1,030 local school boards, but it sets standards and goals that historically have been nearly as effective as mandates.

In 1985, California education authorities drew national attention by successfully demanding that publishers devote more space to evolution. The revised textbooks are now being used in schools across the nation.

The new proposal would strengthen the teaching of evolution.

If adopted, it would be a "national victory for science over dogma," said Michael Hudson, western states director for the Washington-based People for the American Way, a 270,000-member advocacy group for civil and constitutional liberty issues.

The teaching of evolution is so entrenched in California that fundamentalist Christians who support creationist theory aren't trying to exclude it. They hope to persuade the state to recommend that students hear differing views on evolution.

"Material should be included in the textbooks by various scientists who say that evolution ... cannot be substantiated. If credible competing views are not discussed, and evolution is spoken of as a theory with no critical information provided, the textbooks will present evolution dogmatically," said the Rev. Louis Sheldon, chairman of the Traditional Values Coalition.

Testimony has concluded in district court trial here

District Judge Gene Dulaney and trial attorneys were working on jury instructions near midday today in the felony DWI trial of 40-year-old Lelton N. Hoyle of 2101 Ave. K.

Testimony had been concluded in the 132nd District Court trial, in which Hoyle is accused of a subsequent DWI offense last July 21.

Hoyle is being defended by Snyder attorney Marvin Sentell.

The prosecutor is Assistant District Attorney Dana C. Cooley.

A punishment phase will follow the guilt-or-innocence phase if Hoyle is found guilty of the third-degree felony charge, which carries a possible penalty of two to 10 years in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

Testimony opened Monday afternoon following selection of the six-man, six-woman panel.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "You have to wonder about a society that believes God is dead, but Elvis isn't."

Sometimes meeting up with old friends at a class reunion results in not knowing exactly what to say or what to talk about.

At one SHS class reunion, the following question was overheard:

"Tell me, was it you or your brother who died?"

Several months ago, U.S. Education Secretary Lauro Cavazos, former president of Texas Tech, called for a crackdown on the number of defaults on federal student loans.

Some institutions were cited for having extremely high defaults on such loans, but there are some bright spots.

The Texas Aggies have been cited for having a remarkably credit-worthy student population. Of the 40,000 students who have obtained guaranteed loans, the university has a default rate of only 4.4 percent.

The rate is the lowest in Texas and among the lowest among 2,600 institutions in the U.S. which participate in the program.

And that's no Aggie joke.

It was probably Aggie grads who were trying to outdo each other with their crops. One morning the first Aggie farmer sent his son to borrow his neighbor's cross-cut saw. "Tell him I want to cut up a watermelon."

On returning, the boy replied, "Bubba said he couldn't possibly let you have the saw until tomorrow. He's only halfway through a potato."

Q—Is it true cable television will soon be offered in Ira and Hermleigh? If so, will it be only in the immediate towns or in outlying areas also?

A—A spokesperson for Snyder Cablevision said preparations for installing cable in Hermleigh are almost complete and individual houses will be hooked up soon. The cable is being installed in the community only and not in the outlying area. There are no plans to provide cable television in Ira at this time.

In Brief

Back in court

HOUSTON (AP) — A judge has set an Oct. 27 trial date for the father of two boys who are missing school for a second straight year because they refuse to cut their hair.

Pretrial motions to delay the start of the trial were denied by Harris County Criminal Court Judge J.R. Musslewhite on Tuesday.

Dub Wilkinson was fined $25 last November for keeping his 15-year-old son, Travis, out of Northbrook Senior High School.

Dying town

SIERRA BLANCA, Texas (AP) — This West Texas village hopes to revive business by spending $32,500 for highway signs to beckon motorists to stop, but first it must raise money to buy the signs.

"We haven't done too well so far," said Ruth Love, owner of the Silver Spike Bar and chairwoman of the association's finance committee. "I guess we've made about $185 so far."

State board approves 0.8 percent increase

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Board of Insurance approved increasing property insurance rates, but Chairman Paul Wrotenbery said the board's decision to allow insurance companies more latitude in writing less expensive policies will offset the increase.

The Insurance Board on Tuesday approved a 0.8 percent increase in residential property insurance, which includes homeowners' insurance. New rates take effect March 1.

The increase, approved unanimously, was more than had been requested by the insurance industry.

The board also decided to let insurers write policies for up to 30 percent under the maximum rate. In the past, the board has allowed companies to sell policies up to 25 percent less than the maximum rate.

Wrotenbery said that action should allow more competition. "Competition is taking care of the pricing," Wrotenbery said.

"I cannot see at this point, based on what we know today, that there will be a substantial change," in the cost of property insurance, he said.

Wrotenbery noted that in 1988, 86.8 percent of the homeowners' insurance market was written at rates lower than the board-set maximum. The average deviation from the maximum rate, statewide, was 17.2 percent, he said.

But Kay Doughty, general counsel of the state Office of Consumer Protection, said she was unhappy with the board's decision.

"I'm disappointed that they went higher than anyone recommended," she said.

The Texas Insurance Advisory Association requested a 0.2 percent increase for residential rates and a 0.9 percent increase in homeowners' insurance.

Ms. Doughty's office recommended a 10.2 percent decrease in homeowners' insurance and a 10.5 percent overall decrease in residential lines. The board's staff recommended a 0.5 percent increase in homeowners' and all residential policies.

Ms. Doughty said many consumers are unaware that companies can deviate below the maximum rates. "We're going to watch very carefully if the companies are deviating. If not, I'll be back here," she said.

She also warned that companies may compete themselves into insolvency.

Woman's Lifetime of Pain Is Still Sore to the Touch

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When I was 4 or 5 years old, I was sexually abused by my stepfather. I told my mother, but she wouldn't believe me. This went on until I was 9 years old. After that, he went to some kind of sanitarium. I never really knew what kind of place it was, but I do remember that he was locked up.

I am reading so much about child molestation now, but in those days it was all hush-hush. I'm married now and have grown children, but I have always had terrible hangups about sex and never could be the kind of partner I should have been. I thank God every day for the understanding, patient man who married me. I never told him how repulsed I was by the touch of a man — even a decent one such as himself.

You keep telling people who have been molested as children to tell someone — anyone. I wish I had! You always say in your column, "Get counseling and join a support group. It will do you a world of good."

Is it too late for me? I'm 49 years old.

something a person is born with — like the ability to sing or compose music. Some people have it and others don't. If I'm wrong, please tell me.

WRONG-WAY HOUSEWIFE

DEAR WRONG-WAY: No one is born with a "sense of direction." Your husband is right — it's simply a matter of paying attention to where you are and deciding how to get where you're going. But first you must care enough to chart your course, and then concentrate on staying on it.

By allowing yourself time to get lost, you are setting yourself up to get lost. Obviously, getting lost is not a problem to you, but it can be an inconvenience to others. Try harder.

DEAR MRS. H.L.: So do I. But I was stumped when a St. Paul reader asked, "How should I respond when I'm asked how many children I have? I had a baby out of wedlock when I was 16. I can never forget my first-born, whom I gave up for adoption to be raised by another. Should I not count her as one of my children?" Readers?

Security increased

DALLAS (AP) — The man directing security at this year's 24-day State Fair of Texas said police will do everything they can to make the Dallas fair a safe place, but added there is only so much they can do.

"If someone is looking to do violence," said Dallas police Capt. Dwight Walker, "there's no guarantee, even if you have officers standing shoulder to shoulder. You can't prevent that."

Possibility of parole protested

AUSTIN (AP) — The November parole eligibility of convicted baby killer Genevieve Jones is bringing complaints from across the state.

Karin Armstrong of the State Board of Pardons and Paroles said more than 575 letters had been sent to the board since the case was publicized last week on the syndicated television show "Gerald."

"That's a lot of letters. It's as many as any of us can remember," a second board spokeswoman said Tuesday.

Ms. Jones first becomes eligible for parole in November after being sentenced to 99 years in prison for killing a 15-month-old girl by fatal injection.

Chelsea McClellan died Sept. 17, 1982, after suffering mysterious seizures while in the care of Ms. Jones, who worked as a nurse in a Kerrville pediatrician's office.

Her eligibility for parole under state law doesn't mean that she will be released, Ms. Armstrong said. A board member is scheduled to interview Ms. Jones next week and file a report for a three-member panel to make a parole decision.

"She's dangerous," said Kerr County District Attorney Ron Sutton, who prosecuted the 1984 case.

Sutton said the board hadn't yet notified him of the November consideration but he "definitely" will object.

"She never has admitted her guilt in this thing. For that reason, I consider her extremely dangerous," Sutton said. "I'm going to protest the parole. I think she's dangerous and I think she's got sociopathic tendencies."

Ms. Jones, then 33, didn't testify during her trial. She did take the witness stand briefly during the punishment phase, however, and told jurors she'd never been convicted of a crime before.

According to evidence presented at the trial, there was a history of problems at the pediatrician's office. From Aug. 27 to Sept. 27, 1982, six children — including Chelsea McClellan — suffered unexplained seizures while in Ms. Jones' care.

Cancer treatment 'hopeful'

NEW YORK (AP) — A genetic abnormality that appears to play a role in many common cancers has been solidly linked to lung cancer, raising hopes of improved diagnosis and treatment, scientists say.

Researchers examining lung cancer tumors discovered a series of abnormalities in the so-called p53 anti-cancer gene, according to a report Tuesday by Dr. John Minna of the National Cancer Institute-Navy Medical Oncology Branch in Bethesda, Md.

Defects in the gene also have been linked to colon cancer, to an uncommon bone cancer called osteogenic sarcoma and to chronic myelogenous leukemia, Minna said.

"Obviously, everybody is going to be looking for it in everything else," Minna said.

Bert Vogelstein of Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, who identified p53 abnormalities in colon cancer, said: "From what I've heard of Dr. Minna's work, it seems quite clear that the p53 gene will play an important role in lung tumors."

"Current evidence suggests that p53 is likely to play a role in many common cancers," including breast cancer, ovarian cancer and bladder cancer, he said.

During the past few years, researchers have found indirect evidence that defects in at least six genes can contribute to lung cancer, which afflicts an estimated 150,000 Americans a year.

The new study has pinpointed chemical changes in one of those genes. That should be useful for identifying people at high risk of getting lung cancer, or for predicting how deadly a particular case of lung cancer will be, Minna said.

"One thing you could do would be to take people's tumors, see how many (genetic) lesions they have, and determine how virulent they are," Minna said.

Tuesday in a telephone interview from Toronto, where he presented his findings at the Bristol-Myers Cancer Research Symposium.

Vogelstein has found that the more genetic abnormalities a colon cancer tumor has, the more virulent it is, Minna said.

Minna said he is beginning studies to determine if the same thing is true in lung cancer.

Determination of a tumor's virulence could lead to better decisions on treatment, he said.

Minna also said screening for genetic abnormalities in people who don't have lung cancer could reveal those who are about to get cancer — that is, people who have some, but not all, of the genetic changes needed to produce a tumor. Such people could be followed closely for the appearance of tumors, he said.

The protein made by the p53 gene, located on chromosome 17, normally protects the body against cancer. If the protein is defective, the protective effect is lost and one step has been taken toward the formation of a tumor.

Minna explained. The gene is called an anti-cancer gene because it normally protects against cancer.

Minna said that although only six genetic abnormalities have so far been linked to lung cancer, there may be as many as 10 or 20.

Most of the evidence for the six abnormalities already found consists of studies with genetic "signposts" called restriction fragment length polymorphisms. These studies show the approximate location of the abnormalities on chromosomes.

Officials ready for grackles

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — City officials in San Antonio already are firing the first shots this year in what is becoming an annual battle with birds that bombard passers-by with unpleasant surprises, a newspaper reported.

"We think if we can catch them early this year, we could break the pattern," Assistant City Manager J. Rolando Bono said Tuesday.

Officials estimate a half-million great-tailed grackles gathered last winter in downtown San Antonio, and many are just beginning to return.

Last year, the birds filled the skies and plastered sidewalks and vehicles with their droppings, leaving city officials desperate and willing to take almost any measures — short of poisoning or killing the birds — to rid downtown of the feathered menaces.

Taking the offensive this year, city workers are deploying an arsenal of bird bombs, firecrackers, plastic owls, scare-eye balloons and an orchard spray truck to frighten the birds away, according to The San Antonio Light.

Bono said city officials are well aware they are in for a long struggle and have learned they will have to frequently change tactics. "The one thing we learned last year is any one thing will lose its effectiveness over a period of time," Bono said.

The orchard sprayer is the city's new secret weapon in the war against the birds. Although the sprayer must be towed by a truck and cannot be taken along the River Walk, officials hope the large blasts of air it produces will frighten the birds away from the downtown area.

"The wind is great enough to shake branches in the trees and disturb the birds," said Richard Hurd, who is in charge of River

Walk operations for the city's Parks and Recreation Department.

But Hurd told the San Antonio newspaper he considers bird bombs the most-effective anti-bird weapon being used. The loud-popping devices are fired from modified starter pistols. Few people complain about the noise, Hurd said.

"Once they find out what we're doing, they would rather have the noise than the debris the birds leave behind," he said.

City Manager Lou Fox found out just what a problem the birds were last January when he slipped on grackle droppings while jogging along the River Walk.

Jeff Perry, bird supervisor at the San Antonio Zoo, said although many studies of the birds' habits have been undertaken, no one quite understands why grackles choose a particular winter roosting site.

"It's the annual phenomenon that occurs every year," Perry said. He speculated the downtown area's large trees, particularly along the river, attract the birds.

The famous feud between the Hatfield family of southern West Virginia and the McCoy's of eastern Kentucky broke out in 1882. By the time the feud ended, about 100 men, women and children had either been killed or wounded.

One step too far

By James Jacoby

To do a complete job of counting the hand, sometimes you have to dig a little. West led the king of spades. East overtook with the ace and returned a spade. When West played a third spade, declarer ruffed in dummy with the 10 of diamonds. Next declarer played the queen and jack of diamonds. Everyone followed, so West had started with six spades and two diamonds. South cashed dummy's A-K of clubs, discarding a heart, and ruffed a club. West followed to the third club. At this point, it was known that West could not hold more than two hearts, so the right play in any event was to play East, the hand with greater length in hearts, for the queen. But declarer decided to really count out the hand. He played a diamond to dummy's king and ruffed dummy's last club with his ace of diamonds. When West followed, showing that he originally held four clubs, it was a sure thing to play to dummy's king of hearts and back to his jack.

Lesson: Declarer did more than was necessary. When he played to the king of diamonds and ruffed the last club, he was placing himself in a losing position if West had started with only three clubs. That would make it possible for West to hold Q-x of hearts. It would still be the right percentage play to finesse against East for the queen, but remember, declarer is now out of trumps. If he loses to a doubleton heart queen in the West hand, he will go down an extra trick, since West will have a good spade to cash.

Mustangs take 17-1 victory from Tigers

Snyder's tennis team took only one match, a girls' singles win by Kathy Ogburn over Sweetwater's Debra Reed, in a 17-1 district loss, Tuesday as the Tigers hosted the Mustangs.

The boys' team, which was 5-1 versus Ft. Stockton last weekend, was shut out, as were the doubles squads.

Ogburn's win over Reed was a 7-6, 6-3 affair to give SHS their victory on the evening.

On the girls' side, Teri Lawdermilk lost, 6-3, 6-4, to Sweetwater's Beth Bartlett, Racheal Wilson lost to Lestella Morris in three sets, 6-4, 4-6, 7-6, and Gayle Henderson fell to Rosita Aguilar of Sweetwater, also in three sets, 6-4, 5-7, 7-6.

Snyder's Diana Espinosa was a 6-4, 6-2 loser to Mustang Misty Brown and Heather Rawlings of Sweetwater beat Robin Cave, 6-3, 6-2.

The boys didn't fare as well, as the closest they could come to a win was Marcus Best's three set loss to Lance Hughey, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2.

Brandon Martin lost for Snyder against Stephan Peiser, 6-2, 6-0, John Griffin was defeated by Sweetwater's Derek Daniel by a score of 6-1, 6-0, and Bill Vestal was shut out by Christopher Lewis in a pair of 6-0 sets.

Ronnie Gee of the Mustangs beat Kevin McMillan, 6-2, 6-4, and Damon Kennedy lost to Chris Boyd in two 6-2 sets.

Martin and Griffin teamed up in the doubles, losing to the Mustang duo of Peiser and Lewis, 6-4, 6-2. Snyder pair Best and McMillan fell, 6-2, 6-1, to Daniel and Gee and Hoover and Montgomery beat SHS duet Vestal and Kennedy, in twin 6-0 sets.

Ogburn's luck in singles did not carry her through the doubles competition as she and teammate Lawdermilk lost to the Sweetwater tandem of Bartlett and Brown, 6-3, 7-5.

Henderson-Espinosa lost, 6-3, 6-4, to Sweetwater's Reed-Morris and Harden and Wilson were defeated by the team of Aguilar and Rawlings in three sets, 3-6, 6-4, 6-4.

The Snyder netters are in action again Saturday as they travel to Pecos for matches beginning at 11 a.m.

Spikers victorious...

SHS beats Big Spring

Snyder's Lady Tigers volleyball team came back from a 13-15 defeat in game one of their match against Big Spring, to win the last two games and up their district record to 3-3 on the year.

"The first game was real close," said SHS coach Patty Grimm. "We had a hard time on offense. We made some errors that allowed them to get ahead." "The second game," she continued, "they were ready. They came out and put them away in less than one rotation. I was really proud of them after losing the first game and having the determination to come back and play that hard in the last two."

Country Club hosts tourney

Snyder Country Club recently hosted their annual Men's Club Championship tournament with winners being crowned in three flights.

"Pop" Kidd took top honors in the Championship Flight with a two-round total of 144.

He was followed by a pair of 145's from Alton Patterson and Larry Anderson. Patterson finished second on a scorecard decision.

In First Flight competition, Jim Blume's 151 was good enough for first place. Second went to Dutch Stehley with a score of 157 and Ralph Lewis carded a 160 to end up in third place.

A 170 on two rounds was Glenn McGuire's first place score in Second Flight play. He was followed by Gene Steakley with a 172 and Bill Jacoby with a 173.

In the closest to the pin competition on hole number nine at the country club course, Pete Greene was declared the winner.

He was awarded a gift certificate worth $25 at the pro shop for his effort.

The next event scheduled at Snyder Country Club is the Oct. 1 Turkey Shoot. The tourney is for couples and begins at 1:30 p.m., Sunday.

Six-man poll

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Fort Hancock and Christoval enjoyed a week without challenges to their positions atop the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal high school six-man football poll, but No. 3 May wasn't as fortunate.

May outduled No. 5 Zephyr 48-26 and retained its position right on Christoval's heels in the balloting by a panel of West Texas sports writers. Fort Hancock and Christoval had open dates last week.

Fort Hancock, the defending state champion, garnered five of six possible first-place votes and totaled 59 points. Christoval was second with one first-place vote and 52 points, and May logged 50 points.

Zephyr dropped to the No. 8 spot.

Jayton bopped Borden County 68-19 and remained in fourth place.

Cherokee climbed from ninth to sixth and McLean went from eighth to seventh. That was made possible by Lohn, which tied Aquilla 26-26 and forced the Cougars out of the top 10.

Strawn was No. 9 and Newcastle took the No. 10 spot.

Here is this week's Lubbock Avalanche-Journal high school six-man football poll of West Texas sports writers with records, first-place votes in parentheses, total points (tabulated on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis) and last week's ranking:

1. Fort Hancock (5) 2-0 59 1
2. Christoval (1) 2-0 52 2
3. May 3-0 50 3
4. Jayton 3-0 40 4
5. Loraine 3-0 27 5
6. Cherokee 3-0 25 9
7. McLean 3-0 23 8
8. Zephyr 2-1 21 5
9. Strawn 2-1 16 10
10. Newcastle 3-0 10 NR

Other teams receiving votes: Bosqueville 3, Aquilla 3, Panther Creek 1, Rule 1.

Houston quarterback Ware and UA's Anthony Cooney honored by SWC

HOUSTON (AP) — A certain feeling comes over Houston quarterback Andre Ware when the Houston Cougars' run-and-shoot offense is really cooking.

It is akin to a transformation into the Incredible Hulk.

"The adrenalin gets to flowing and it's like we can beat anybody and we can conquer anything," Ware said. "Just put anybody on the field with us. Once we get going, we're hard to stop."

Johnson says 'Pokes will work at faster pace

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Jimmy Johnson admits he may have overestimated his team because of a good preseason showing.

"I may have overestimated players in some areas," said Johnson, referring to Dallas' 3-1 exhibition record.

Johnson, who was highly successful at the University of Miami, still is looking for his first NFL victory.

He's 0-3, frustrated, and getting booed.

Johnson said he can deal with boos his team received in a 30-7 whipping by the Washington Redskins "because eventually we will get the job done, no matter what it takes."

The sellout crowd turned on the new regime in the second half as Washington inflicted the third consecutive loss on the Cowboys, who are playing their first season without Tom Landry as coach.

Johnson said he got mad because "I want it to happen sooner than it's happening. I just don't want us to forget the hurt and disappointment of losing. If we accept the loss now, then it will make it easier to accept losses in the future. That's why I got upset. I don't like to lose. We'll just press harder."

Johnson, who had 52 victories in five years at the University of Miami, stands a chance of losing another game on Sunday, according to odds-makers. They have Arizona State couldn't stop the 14th-ranked Cougars Saturday, losing 36-7 amid a record-shattering display by Ware and the Houston offense.

Ware completed 41 of 69 passes for a Southwest Conference record 503 yards and two touchdowns to earn The Associated Press Southwest Conference Offensive Player of the week honor.

The Cougars beat Arizona

State despite a league record 236 yards in penalties and four interceptions. Ware sometimes has to watch film the next day to be convinced of what the Cougars accomplished.

"You are in awe because you don't realize they are happening at the time," Ware said. "I wouldn't have believed I'd thrown 68 passes if they hadn't told me on the sidelines."

Ware set SWC records with 488 total yards, 41 completions in a game and 503 passing yards, breaking his own records.

Further evidence of the Cougars' prowess are recorded in the NCAA statistics. Ware leads the nation in total offense, averaging 439 yards per game.

Houston leads the nation in scoring offense, total offense and passing offense.

Houston receiver Manny Hazard leads the nation in receptions with 21 and Verlon Brown, who suffered a season-ending injury against Arizona State, ranks second with 20.

The power of the offense became so intoxicating against the Sun Devils, it got Ware in trouble on several passes.

"Andre got on such a role he thought he was indestructible," Coach Jack Pardee said. "He made some throws he probably shouldn't have made. He started scrambling and ad libbing and you can't do that."

Pardee has been giving high praise to Ware for the past two seasons but now he's taken it to another level.

"Last year, Barry Sanders wasn't being considered for the Heisman Trophy until he broke very rushing record in the country," Pardee said. "Then he had to be considered. He was the obvious choice."

If Ware continues his present pace, there should be another obvious choice, Pardee says.

"I don't see how you could ignore a quarterback with those kind of numbers," Pardee said. "If he stays healthy and stays tuned in and eliminated those bad plays, he's got to be a contender."

Houston hosts winless Temple in the Astrodome Saturday and the following week hosts the Baylor Bears, ranked No. 1 in the nation in pass defense.

The SWC Defensive Player of the Week was Arkansas cornerback Anthony Cooney, who intercepted two passes against Mississippi including one that saved the Razorbacks' 24-17 victory.

"He's a senior who was there when he needed to be," said Arkansas Coach Ken Hatfield.

Cooney was modest about the interception that came after defensive coordinator Bob Trott called for man-to-man coverage, placing Cooney against Willie Green.

"I love those challenges," Cooney said. "I felt the ball was going to come my way because of the play before."

Calvin Murphy, the NBA record-holder with 78 straight successful free throws, was only 5-9 and 165 pounds.

Attorney claims...

Teen acted in self-defense

MARFA, Texas (AP) — The murder trial of a teen-ager accused of fatally shooting a Rio Grande rafter from atop a 300-foot cliff gets underway today with the youth's attorney claiming his client acted in self-defense.

Attorney Michael Rodgers said he will try to prove Michael Heffley, of Eastland, was firing at Enrique Pineda-Rodriguez, the 17-year-old defendant, when Heffley, his wife and their river guide were shot last fall.

Heffley was killed in the Nov. 17, 1988, attack and his wife, Jamie, and guide Jim Burr were wounded. Authorities say the shots came from a group of teen-agers standing on a cliff above Colorado Canyon while the trio was rafting below.

Pineda-Rodriguez, a resident alien, was arrested about two weeks later at his parents' home east of the Big Bend village of Redford.

Pineda-Rodriguez gave authorities two statements about the incident, Rodgers said. The attorney said he would use one of statements and "other evidence of self-defense to prove that he (Pineda-Rodriguez) was firing along with those other boys in response to Mr. Heffley shooting at them."

However, there has never been a news account or official statement that indicates Heffley had a gun.

Rodgers, a Dallas attorney, also said he will ask the judge, during pretrial hearings, to rule that the search warrant used to find his client was illegal.

Rodgers said the warrant was written to search for illegal aliens and forged immigration documents, but of the five people found in the home that was searched, three were resident aliens and one was an American citizen.

A finding that a search warrant was illegally obtained by federal agents through lies or misrepresentation could halt the trial or be used as grounds for appeal if needed later, the attorney said.

Richard Barajas, 83rd judicial district attorney, said Pineda-Rodriguez may have been entitled to be in the United States but he waded the Rio Grande to commit the shooting from Mexico, violating U.S. immigration laws and making the warrant legitimate.

He said Mrs. Heffley has been instructed not to speak with reporters.

The Heffleys and their guide were fired upon for 90 minutes last November. At one point, Heffley offered the snipers money to quit shooting, Mrs. Heffley has said.

Heffley was killed by a shot in the back as he threw his wife out of the line of fire.

Attorneys on each side list about 30 witnesses they intend to call during a trial that could last up to four weeks.

Barajas has negotiated with the Chihuahua, Mexico, state attorney for access to three other teen-agers arrested and held in Mexico in the case.

Court-appointed translators will be used because the defendant and many witnesses do not speak English.

Today and Thursday have been set aside for pretrial motions. A jury will be selected Friday and testimony begins Monday.

Senate spurns try at adding funds to 'Star Wars'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional negotiators will take on the defense budget with a strong vote from the Senate to keep next year's spending for Star Wars at about the same level as this year.

With two votes Tuesday night, senators rejected an attempt to restore $300 million to the Strategic Defense Initiative and accepted a plan to spend about $4.1 billion on the space-based defense program.

That would leave spending on Star Wars — $3.7 billion for the Pentagon's program and $355 million in Energy Department and military construction money — about $900 million short of what President Bush budgeted for the program in the 1990 fiscal year.

Members of the Senate Armed Services Committee, who are negotiating with House members on a final defense authorization bill, said the chamber's votes undermine chances that Star Wars spending will be higher than the $4.1 billion spent in fiscal 1989.

The House this year approved a defense blueprint that earmarks $3.1 billion for Star Wars.

"There isn't any question that SDI is extremely weak. It looks to me now that it will be under last year's level when we get out of conference," Sen. James Exon, D-Neb., said shortly after the Senate action Tuesday night on the $288 billion military spending bill.

By 66-34, the Senate rejected an amendment that would have restored money to the Star Wars program to a level closer to the $4.5 billion approved by the chamber in its authorization bill passed in August.

Then, by voice vote, the Senate adopted a spending total of about $4.1 billion for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

"It's continuing the downward pressure," said Sen. Tim Wirth, D-Colo. "There's an increase in the effort to make it a research program, where it belongs."

Lawmakers said the Soviet Union's announcement this weekend that it would separate Star Wars from negotiations on a treaty to reduce strategic arms may have taken steam out of the drive to increase SDI spending.

"SDI has now been cut loose," Sen. John Warner of Virginia, ranking Republican on the Armed Services Committee.

But some members said that since Star Wars was also one of several items in an $8.5 billion amendment to the spending bill.

Safety board blames pilot, co-pilot, but not second officer in Delta crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal safety officials are blaming the pilot and co-pilot, but not the third man in the cockpit, for a Delta Airlines crash at Dallas-Fort Worth airport that killed 14 people.

The Aug. 18, 1988, crash was caused by a lack of cockpit discipline, the crew's attempt to take off with wing flaps and slats in the wrong position, and failure of an alarm system to warn that something was wrong, the National Transportation Safety Board concluded Tuesday.

The board laid secondary blame on Delta for sloppy cockpit procedures and training and on the Federal Aviation Administration for failing to correct Delta's known deficiencies.

Board staff members, who conducted the year-long investigation, said Delta has since corrected the deficiencies.

Board member James Burnett dissented from the decision, saying the conclusion let Delta off too easily by citing it only for slow correction of problems during a period of rapid growth and merger and should have laid more direct blame on FAA failures.

"The responsibility here lies as much with the FAA and Delta as it does with the crew," said Burnett.

"I couldn't be more strongly opposed to that view," said James Kolstad, acting board chairman, who pushed to leave out any criticism of the FAA in the final statement of probable cause.

Delta conceded in July that errors by its flight crew in failing to set the Boeing 727's flaps and slats in the proper takeoff configuration led to the crash.

A Delta official attending the board meeting declined to comment on the board's decision.

The airliner, taking off with more than 100 people on a flight for Salt Lake City, was piloted by Captain Larry L. Davis, 48, with First Officer Carey W. Kirkland, 37, and Second Officer Steven Mark Judd, 30, in the cockpit.

Delta fired all three cockpit crew members when the company accepted responsibility for the crash.

The board's assessment of probable cause did not include actions by Judd, who board members said was the only pilot to perform professionally during the takeoff.

They noted that Judd failed to report a malfunctioning warning light but said monitoring the light was not his specific responsibility and he was performing all of his other duties.

Board members, in discussing the accident which destroyed the Boeing jetliner, criticized the presence of a flight attendant in the cockpit for 18 minutes just before the takeoff and said Davis and Kirkland had engaged in idle conversation when they should have been attending to takeoff

Eight-year-old tries to fly cross-country

DALLAS (AP) — An 8-year-old Dallas boy was to leave on the fourth leg of his attempt to become the youngest pilot to fly coast-to-coast after getting a hero's welcome from his third grade classmates.

Matthew McLendon had a bumpy landing at Addison Airport Tuesday evening after flying in for an overnight stay. He was to leave Dallas today for St. Louis.

Accompanied by his father, Bart McLendon, young Matthew is flying a single-engine Cessna P-210 from Long Beach, Calif. to New York City.

Matthew stopped in Dimmitt in West Texas about 3:45 p.m. Tuesday and stayed for 45 minutes, eating a sandwich and playing with other children while the plane was being refueled, before taking off for the Dallas suburb of Addison.

"He just looks like a little 8-year-old," said Rodney Miller, a pilot with Dimmitt Aerial Spray. "He's sitting on a little child's seat like they have in restaurants, and there are extensions on the controls so he can reach them."

The youngster, who turns 9 on Oct. 8, landed the plane well and handled media interviews with aplomb, Miller said.

"A TV reporter asked him, 'What do you think of breaking the world record?' and he said, 'I don't care,'" Miller said. "I guess it's his dad who cares."

The third-grader at Trinity Christian Academy in Dallas is accompanied throughout the flight with his pilot father, Bart McLendon, and a flight instructor, Ms. Beecher said, adding that neither pilot would touch the controls except in an emergency.

Matthew's attempted feat is gaining the same media attention that his paternal grandfather, the late Gordon B. McLendon, did in pioneering the Top 40 and all-news formats on his family-owned radio stations.

As the "Old Scotchman," Gordon McLendon captivated audiences from 1947 to 1958 with his recreated sports broadcasts on the Liberty Broadcasting System. His family owned stations in Texas, California, Louisiana and several midwestern states.

Ms. Beecher said her grandson became interested in flying after his father bought a computerized flight simulator.

"The little dickens, at 7½, sat down, after asking his father what the simulator was and started working with it," she said. "The next thing we knew, he was doing it, so my son decided if he was interested in flying, he'd encourage him."

Matthew's father and flight instructor knew the cross-country flying record is held by a 9-year-old, so "they thought they'd give Matthew a crack at it while he's 8," Ms. Beecher said.

Matthew's itinerary includes stops in St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Washington, Philadelphia and New York. His mother and two brothers are scheduled to ride with him Friday from Washington to New York, Ms. Beecher said.

Matthew can't fly alone until he's 16 and can't get a regular pilot's license until he's 17, according to Federal Aviation Administration rules.

Judge: number of witnesses in Bakker trial 'ridiculous'

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — An elderly PTL contributor called Jim Bakker the most underpaid man in America, while a judge tiring of a series of character witnesses asked defense attorneys to wrap up their case.

Marjorie Grey, who bought 32 of the $1,000 "lifetime partnerships" at PTL, testified in Bakker's fraud trial that she would gladly give money to the ministry again. However, her testimony was later disallowed because she had attended earlier sessions of the trial.

"I'd do it all over again," the 74-year-old Ms. Grey said.

Ms. Grey was one of four satisfied PTL partners to testify Tuesday. The PTL founder's attorneys have presented 34 witnesses — most of them faithful contributors or former Bakker employees.

U.S. District Judge Robert Potter called the number of character witnesses "ridiculous," and told defense attorney Harold Bender: "We'll go on a little longer, but I'm getting tired of it. I think the jury is, too, but it's up to you."

Bender said the defense could conclude its case Friday.

Bakker is accused of defrauding followers by diverting more than $3.7 million in PTL money to fund a lavish lifestyle. He could be sentenced to 120 years in prison and fined more than $5 million if convicted on all 24 counts of fraud and conspiracy.

In her testimony, Ms. Grey said she never had difficulty using her partnerships, which gave her the right to annual stays at the Heritage USA religious theme park.

Prosecutors contend the partnerships that were sold greatly ground beyond the runway and burst into flames. First reports from the control tower indicated the crash was "non-survivable," but more than 90 people crawled out of the wreckage and survived.

Delta, the board said, was lax in failing to modify operating procedures, pilots' manuals, checklists, training and crew-checking programs. It scored the FAA for a "lack of sufficiently aggressive action" in correcting Delta's problems and a lack of accountability in its air carrier inspection process.

The board concluded that the jetliner's takeoff warning system had an intermittent failure problem which was not corrected during its last maintenance and occurred again during the crash of Flight 1141.

The board, whose conclusions carry no force of law, recommended that the FAA check the cockpit procedures employed by carriers and develop improvements in takeoff warning systems.

It also called for a government-industry task force to make rules for establishing flight safety programs at major airlines.

The Air Line Pilots Association criticized the board for stressing actions of the pilots rather than the malfunctioning takeoff warning system.

The group said the board's conclusion that the pilots failed to set the flaps "is based largely on circumstantial evidence."

outnumbered those available. Prosecution witnesses had testified they had trouble getting reservations.

Under cross-examination, Ms. Grey said she did not mind that some of the partnership money would go for bonuses to Bakker.

"Oprah Winfrey gets $32 million for one TV show. He's the most grossly underpaid man in America today," she said of Bakker.

Also testifying Tuesday was Iva Mae Gravenar, who bought three lifetime partnerships. She also said she never had a problem getting a room at Heritage USA.

Much of PTL's former theme park at Fort Mill, S.C., has been closed permanently. Hurricane Hugo knocked out electricity and phones at the Heritage USA park, hastening the closing, said M.C. Benton, the bankruptcy trustee overseeing the property.

In Orlando, Fla., Bakker's wife, Tammy Faye, said the hurricane was an example of God's wrath.

"I said I believe the storm hitting Charlotte was a warning to Charlotte," Mrs. Bakker said in a telephone interview. "I said it had nothing to do with Jim and Tammy Bakker, but it did have to do with the way the people in Charlotte, North Carolina, have treated God's people."

Investigators continue to interview survivors

MISSION, Texas (AP) — Some of the federal investigators trying to determine the cause of a bus and truck collision that killed 20 students and injured 60 have been sent home.

Chief investigator Bob Barlett of the National Transportation Safety Board said documentation of the scene where the accident occurred last Thursday is nearly complete.

"We're starting to release various members of the team who have completed their work," Barlett said.

Investigators are finished with a detailed inspection of the bus and the area around the accident scene. On Tuesday, the water-filled pit into which the bus plunged after being hit by the soft drink truck was measured.

Data gathered during the federal investigation will be used to gain insight on making school buses safer, Barlett said.

Barlett said his team has interviewed 20 survivors, including 12 who met Tuesday with investigators at Mission Junior High and Mission High School.

"We'll probably be here through the weekend trying to conclude the interviews and other documentation," Barlett said.

Investigators plan to interview more students Wednesday and study the response of emergency personnel the day of the accident. "It's very important that we get to as many as possible (students) because we need to get a feeling from them to assist in the investigation," Barlett said.

Two students remained in intensive care at Mission General Hospital.

U. S., Soviet Union treaty said possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush said today there is "a good likelihood" that the United States and Soviet Union will be ready to sign a treaty cutting strategic nuclear arsenals by the time of a superpower summit in late spring or early summer.

Bush said the scheduling of the summit with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev "will serve as a catalyst for moving forward" on a treaty but that "it's not a given."

"It's not absolutely certain that that's going to happen but I would like to agree (there is) a good likelihood that might happen," Bush said in an interview with a small group of reporters in the Oval Office.

He also restated U.S. opposition to a ban on nuclear testing, saying it was important that the United States have the capability to test the weapons in its arsenal.

Asked about a report that Colombian drug lords had threatened to kidnap one of his five children unless granted amnesty, Bush said, "I have not heard that and I feel confident I would have if there'd been what I call 'hard' intelligence."

He confirmed that security had been increased around his four sons and one daughter but said it was not in response to what he called "a hard threat."

Expressing confidence in the Secret Service's ability to protect his family, Bush said, "I don't live in fear of anything like that ... I can't do my job if I get deterred by rumors."

On other subjects, Bush:

— Declined to support an expansion in the Head Start program for poor preschool children. Bush, who opens an education summit today in Charlottesville, Va., with the nation's governors, said the country is struggling with a huge budget deficit and "we're not going to quintuple spending."

— Refused to commit himself to increasing funds for Poland beyond the $219 million package of food and economic assistance. "The key thing is the Poles themselves," Bush said, adding that any further steps taken by the United States would hinge on an economic reform package being drafted by the Polish government. Earlier, in a speech to the International Monetary Fund, he said, "we must do more" to help the new, non-communist government.

— Defended anew his proposal for a cut in the capital gains tax on profits from sales of real estate, stocks and other assets — a plan that congressional Democrats are bitterly contesting.

"The issue has been distorted by those who try to maintain that it's a tax for the rich. They are wrong about that," he said.

Gunman opens fire on bus

DALLAS (AP) — A 12-year-old girl was in critical condition today after she was wounded by a gunman who opened fire on a DART bus in an attempt to shoot a man he had been chasing down a city street, authorities said.

A second student among about 15 people on the Dallas Area Rapid Transit bus from school to home was grazed by a bullet, but was not hospitalized.

LaToya Battee, a seventh-grader at D.A. Hulcy Middle School in South Oak Cliff, was listed in critical condition after surgery at Methodist Medical Center Tuesday night.

Police said Kenneth Phillips, 29, the man who jumped on the bus to escape from the gunman, sustained a minor head injury, but it was unclear whether he was shot or hit by flying glass, police said. No other injuries were reported.

Phillips was questioned by police Tuesday night, but no arrests were made.

The shooting began just as the bus had stopped in front of a convenience store to pick up some students.

"We were getting on the bus when we heard shooting," said Tonia Jackson, a 19-year-old Carter High School student. "We saw this man running toward the bus and another guy running after him with a gun. After the first guy ran onto the bus, he yelled, 'Please save my life,' and the guy with the gun started shooting."

Jackson said one of the first shots fired at the bus went through a window and struck the Battee girl in the forehead.

At least two and perhaps up to four shots were fired at the bus, which had two bullet holes in the windows, on the right side, and one exit hole in a window on the left side, police said.

Jackson said the gunman fired about five shots at the bus, apparently aiming for the man who had leaped onto the bus.

Bush said a vote against the capital gains tax cut in the House on Thursday "will be a vote for a tax increase."

Bush balked at a Soviet proposal to go beyond the plan he outlined earlier this week at the United Nations for deep cuts in superpower chemical weapon stockpiles.

Asked if he would accept the Kremlin's offer to eliminate all poison gas from U.S. and Soviet arsenals, Bush said, "No. Absolutely not. We need a certain sense of deterrence."

Bush has proposed an 80 percent cutback in the U.S. arsenal if the Soviet Union will cut back an equal amount. The president also is pushing for an international treaty to eliminate chemical weapons.

Hurricane devastation...

S. Carolina receives relief

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Tons of supplies, including food, tents, shoes and even diapers and dog food, are pouring into hurricane-ravaged South Carolina, where tens of thousands remained homeless for a sixth day today.

Authorities planned to distribute food and clothing throughout the city today. Officials in outlying areas also devastated by Hurricane Hugo, meanwhile, pleaded for help.

About 300,000 residences or buildings remained without power across South Carolina. An estimated 50,000 of Charleston's 65,000 residents were still out of their homes, said Mayor Joseph P. Riley Jr.

But officials were heartened by the relief effort across the nation. "The interest and concern and compassion and generosity of the citizens of our country is extraordinary," said Riley.

In Cincinnati, the Procter & Gamble Co. said it was sending 1.5 million disposable plastic diapers to South Carolina and Puerto Rico through the American Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

College football fans at six southern universities are being asked to bring canned goods to games Saturday to help storm victims.

"It is my hope that we can combine two of the South's finest traditions — college football and a desire to help our fellow man," said Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.

While most of the national attention centered on this historic port city, which took a direct hit from the storm Thursday, officials in outlying areas expressed concern relief supplies were not flowing to their communities.

"People are hungry. We are in desperate need of a whole lot of help," said the Rev. Frank Maddox of Sumter.

The Red Cross planned to open disaster centers in Williamsburg, Horry, Georgetown, Florence and Sumter counties today to provide for immediate needs such as food, clothing, temporary housing and medical supplies.

More assistance is needed. "We need money and we need people," said David Giroux.

Former top aid to Pierce refuses to testify today

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former top assistant to onetime Housing Secretary Samuel R. Pierce Jr. refused today to testify before a congressional panel about the scandals at HUD, citing his Fifth Amendment rights.

Lance Wilson, once Pierce's executive assistant, appeared under subpoena but refused to answer questions.

That means Pierce and his two closest aides at HUD — Wilson and his successor as executive assistant, Deborah Gore Dean — have all refused to respond to questions by the House subcommittee probing allegations of influence-peddling, fraud and mismanagement at the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

whether it will have an impact on her performance in this campaign."

Mattox subsequently said he isn't singling out Ms. Richards, and a campaign spokesman said Mattox's comments were in reference to effects of drug and alcohol abuse on his family and friends.

"Jim Mattox has not made an issue out of her alcoholism thus far in the campaign, and Jim Mattox does not intend to make an issue of her alcoholism in the campaign," said spokesman Steve Levine.

Ms. Richards said only, "I'm very proud of being a recovering alcoholic, and I have no further comment."

Wilson read a brief statement saying "statements made by the subcommittee members ... convinced me the subcommittee had already prejudged me" and identified him as "a prime candidate for a criminal investigation."

Committee Chairman Tom Lantos, D-Calif., then posed a series of four questions to Wilson. Wilson refused to answer each one.

The panel also planned today to question Donald Marron, chief executive officer of Paine Webber, about the company's dealings with HUD. Wilson went to work for Paine Webber after leaving HUD and helped the company obtain HUD business.

Pierce, in a dramatic session Tuesday, appeared under order of subpoena before the House Government Operations subcommittee on employment and housing.

Lantos and other committee members responded today to Pierce's charge that he had been "prejudged" by the panel.

Boyfriend, mom are charged in child injury case

AUSTIN (AP) — The boyfriend of a South Austin woman who was accused last week of severely beating her two children with a shoe has been charged with injury to a child.

Robert Alvarez Jr., 31, was arrested Tuesday and jailed in lieu of $30,000 bail in the injury of the 5-year-old son of Marie Belen Gutierrez, said Travis County sheriff's detective Gary Cutler.

Cutler said Alvarez, an X-ray technician for a group of Austin urologists, was charged with injury to a child because he had witnessed beatings and failed to report them to the authorities.

The boy remains in a coma and was in critical condition with head injuries at Children's Hospital of Austin at Brackenridge, Cutler said. He also suffered broken bones in both feet and may lose two left toes because of gangrene.

The woman's 7-year-old daughter was in serious condition at Children's Hospital. Cutler said she had been beaten in the face and head, and some of her teeth had been knocked out.

Ms. Gutierrez, 26, was charged last week with two counts of injury to a child.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Treat all of your experiences philosophically today, even the good and the bad. This will enable you to properly cope with anything that might develop.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Keep in mind that a small profit is always better than none. You won't be disappointed today if your expectations are in line with what you are legitimately entitled.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Instead of side stepping difficult decisions today, face them courageously. Being indecisive or wishy-washy are the only things that can defeat you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Instead of merely doing only what is expected of you today, exert yourself and do a bit more. You're industriousness will not go unnoticed with the boss.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You'll be an enjoyable person to be around today, because you're not apt to take yourself or circumstances too seriously. Your demeanor will encourage others to do likewise.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you have any disagreements with your mate today, do not be overly insistent upon getting the last word in. Instead, let the matter drop so that it does not grow into something more intense.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your skills as a sales person will be very effective today. It shouldn't be too hard for you to come away with the order, regardless of how tough your prospect is to sell.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) In business or financial matters today small, but essential points that others may overlook won't escape your attention. This will give you an edge in your dealings.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In roles where you must exercise your authority today, underlings won't mind doing your bidding because what you'll ask of them will be voiced as a request rather than a command.

Dismissal of gag order is sought legally

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Morning News is asking a federal judge to rescind a gag order preventing jurors from talking about the trial of D.L. "Danny" Faulkner and six others.

U.S. District Judge Sam Cummings of Lubbock imposed the gag order on jurors after declaring a mistrial on Sept. 15 because jurors said they were hopelessly deadlocked.

The newspaper filed a motion Tuesday with U.S. District Judge Robert W. Porter of Dallas, asking him to remove Cummings' gag order. U.S. Attorney Marvin Collins and Faulkner's attorney have filed briefs arguing the gag order is necessary to ensure a fair retrial.

The motion argues that jurors have a right to speak about the case if they want, and the press has a right to report it, said Thomas S. Leatherbury, attorney for The Dallas Morning News.

Faulkner, fellow developer James L. Toler and the other defendants remain accused of conspiring to steal $135 million from five savings and loan associations through fraudulent land deals along Interstate 30 east of Dallas.

Jurors heard six months of testimony and deliberated more than 16 days before telling Cummings they were unable to come to a decision. The Wall Street Journal, The Dallas Morning News and the Dallas Times Herald have reported the FBI is investigating allegations of jury tampering.

After Cummings imposed the rare post-trial gag order, The Dallas Morning News petitioned the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals to rescind it. In a nine-page opinion, the higher court said the newspaper should appeal to Cummings first before seeking appeals court intervention.

The appeals court also said it probably would not uphold Cummings' order.

Spanish prince tours UT, given book

AUSTIN (AP) — Men in high places and an 8-year-old girl presented Spanish Crown Prince Felipe de Borbon with books on Texas and the Southwest during his stay in the Texas capital.

Don Felipe, on his first official trip to the United States, toured the University of Texas at Austin Tuesday before dining with Gov. Bill Clements and about 150 guests.

Clements' gift for the prince was a two-volume collector's edition of the James Michener novel "Texas." UT-Austin President

William Cunningham announced a present of 50 books to the royal heir "for placement in the library of your choice in Spain."

And after the prince toured the Benson Latin American Collection of historical works at UT, young Kristina Witt gave him a copy of "Coronado's Children," a book by J. Frank Dobie.

Asked whether she'd ever met a prince before, Kristina shook her head with a smile. She is the daughter of the Latin American collection's director.

Cunningham, at a lunch for the prince, said, "Never before has an heir to the Spanish throne visited Texas."

"Spain and Texas come together today not only for an enjoyable social occasion but also in observance of our shared historical ties in our rich cultural legacy," he said.

The tour is part of the prince's schooling, said Innocencio Arias, the Spanish undersecretary for foreign affairs. Arias is accompanying Don Felipe on his visit to New Mexico, Texas and Washington, D.C.

"He is supposed to have a broad education. It goes with the job," Arias said.

Don Felipe toured the Center for Electromechanics at UT's Balcones Research Center, and he saw a Gutenberg Bible and other historical documents at the school's Harry Ransom Humanities Research Center.

The electromechanics research facility specializes in the development of prototype hardware for high-energy electromagnetic systems. The research can be applied to defense systems. "He asked excellent questions. He obviously knew a great deal about at least the concepts of what we are doing at Balcones," Cunningham said.

The prince, 21, a law student in Spain, said he was "deeply impressed" by the research facility.

"Allow me to conclude these words with a 'Go, Longhorns,'" he told an appreciative luncheon audience.
