Snyder fails to make prison short list

Snyder's hopes of having a 1,000-bed expansion of the Price Daniel unit were dashed Thursday with the release of the long-awaited "short list."

Several West Texas communities were on the 26-town list, but Snyder was told it was eliminated in a Thursday morning call from the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

"It's a hard landing," said Roy Baze who has spearheaded Snyder's prison project this year and also the 1987 successful application. Baze added, "I'm sure Snyder will pursue future prison construction programs."

One town, Woodville, was selected in 1987 and was also named to the short list. Towns on the short list will be visited by board subcommittees in October with the final selection due by the TDCJ board on Nov. 13.

West Texas towns making the short list were Abilene, Breckenridge, Big Spring, Childress, Dalhart, Eastland, Lamesa, Pampa, Seymour, Stamford, Fort Stockton and Wichita Falls.

Others on the short list were Angelina County, Beeville, Bell County, Dilley, Eagle Lake, Freestone County, Hondo, Jasper, Jefferson County, Karnes, Polk County, San Jacinto County, Starr County and Woodville.

Says Moseley...

Court mandate impact tough to predict now

Snyder public schools superintendent Dalton Moseley said Wednesday that the impact of the Texas Supreme Court's mandate for the Legislature to re-organize the statewide system of public school finance is hard to foresee, but that he hopes it will not result in the loss of any more funding for Snyder schools.

Moseley noted that the Legislature in its regular session earlier this year cut Snyder's funding by $200,000 to give more money to poorer districts.

In its ruling, the court set a May 1, 1990 deadline for the Legislature to set up a new system for rich and poor districts to be more evenly funded, and Gov. Bill Clements said he will call a special session in the spring for the court mandate to be addressed.

"I don't know of any superintendent who would know what it would do to them," Moseley said. "As the Legislature begins to work through this, we will begin to know how it will affect us."

"There will be more money put into education. That's for sure. And I hope it will not come from the ad valorem tax because the property owners have stood all they can stand."

In a unanimous 9-0 decision, the Supreme Court justices in Austin said the state's richer districts have an unfair advantage over poorer districts because their property values are much higher and their property taxes produce much more revenues at lower tax rates.

Moseley said he has some hope that the court's order will mean that "maybe the property owner will get some relief."

"With a state tax, everyone would be paying a fair share," he said.

Following the court's Monday decision, various legislators said they had expected such a ruling and were relieved that the Legislature will be allowed to deal with the situation, rather than the court's taking its own action to revamp the system of public school finance.

United Way officials say effort is on target

With a week behind them, Scurry County United Way officials are optimistic after noting that 25 percent of their goal for Pacesetter division companies has been met.

United Way president Barbara Figueredo said Wednesday that the amounts reported are about what can be expected during the first week. In the meeting, she praised United Way volunteers.

"We've never had a volunteer response like this before," she said.

Something new this year, offered in recognition of businesses or individuals donating $100 or more, are United Way signs. Snyder Signs and Mobil Oil of Snyder donated the signs to the program. Signs can be displayed outside businesses to acknowledge that they are supporting United Way.

With packets handed out at businesses throughout the community, Figueredo stressed it is important to reach the goal since some agencies are totally reliant

Fly-in, races among events set for White Buffalo Days

The White Buffalo Days celebration, sponsored by the chamber of commerce, will feature several new activities this year.

The annual event is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 14, and is in connection with the Scurry County Museum's 15th anniversary. The museum will be open at specified hours both Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 14 and 15.

A Fly-In at Winston Field will open White Buffalo Days on the 14th. Breakfast will be served from 7:30 a.m. until 10 a.m. by local Jaycees at a cost of $3 per person. The local pilot's association will offer airplane rides during the day for $5.

The White Buffalo Days parade begins at 9 a.m. and will follow a route from the Lawrence IGA supermarket parking lot north on College Ave. and around the downtown square. Following the parade, activities get underway at Scurry County Coliseum and the annex.

The main floor of the coliseum will offer arts and crafts booths, Pete Snyder's store and a number of food booths featuring hamburgers, sausage on a stick, nachos, home baked goods, ice cream, hot dogs, barbecue sandwiches, tamales and buffalo burgers.

At noon, the Mayor's Cup Race begins in the ag-complex. The team competition includes a water bucket race, a backward race, a balloon race and more.

The same location will be used for the Buffalo Chip Throwing Contest at 1:30 p.m. The event features competitions in four divisions: men, women, senior citizens and politicians.

Other events include a BB shoot, turtle races, a stick horse rodeo, face painting, Buffalo Bill-Calico Cutie Contest, a putting contest and a radio controlled car race.

On 24 counts...

Bakker convicted

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — TV evangelist Jim Bakker was convicted today of fleeing his followers of $3.7 million so that he could surround himself with everything from Rolls-Royces to gold-plated swan-shaped bathroom fixtures.

A federal jury deliberated a day and a half before convicting Bakker on all 24 counts of fraud and conspiracy for overselling time shares, or "partnerships," at his ministry's resort hotels to loyal followers of his PTL empire.

The 49-year-old preacher could receive up to 120 years in prison and $5 million in fines. A sentencing date was not immediately set.

Prosecutors said Bakker diverted the money to live in high style, buy fancy cars, lavish homes, Rolex watches, diamonds, an air-conditioned doghouse and furnishings ranging from gigantic walk-in closets to motorized bedroom drapes.

"The prosecution did an excellent job. We kept looking for something from the defense and we never saw it," said jury foreman Ricky Hill.

"His testimony did not weigh on me one bit," the foreman said.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The secret of success these days seems to be rise early, work late and win the lottery."

We always suspected those Baptists didn't really believe in forgiveness. Now we're sure of it after the Baylor Bears gave Texas Tech an old-fashioned licking last Saturday.

Those Bears were still riled up about last year's loss to the Red Raiders. You might expect a football team to have a long memory, but we figured a Baptist preacher would rather turn the other cheek—especially if he had moved out of town.

Ain't so. Ken Branam, who left the Snyder First Baptist Church earlier this year for a larger church in Irving, didn't waste any time getting in his digs about the embarrassing Tech performance.

For a number of years, the preacher and the editor have had friendly discussions about our alma maters. It was early on that he gave us two Baylor plaques, one in Red Raider colors, to prominently display in our office.

Last year, for the first time, we were able to remove those plaques. We sent him a cactus with a card which read: "May the Red Raiders always be a thorn in the flesh."

Wednesday afternoon, just before prayer meeting, the flower shop delivered—not a cactus—but a cactus garden with the following card: "May B.U. always be your thorn in the flesh."

Branam added: "I expect those plaques to remain prominently displayed."

He'll likely even send a spy around to make sure. But remember Tech's fight song: "Wait 'til next year!"

Fatal blast

SABINE PASS, Texas (AP) — A National Transportation Safety Board team today began its investigation of a boat accident this week that left three people dead, three hurt and eight others missing when the fishing vessel struck a submerged gas pipeline and exploded in the Gulf of Mexico.

The team today was huddling with Coast Guard officials at the Marine Safety Office in nearby Port Arthur and likely would head out later to the burned wreckage of the "Northumberland," Coast Guard spokesman Mark Simpson said.

Bush surgery

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush will undergo minor surgery on Friday at Walter Reed Army Hospital to remove a cyst from his right finger, the White House announced today.

Presidential press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said the president, who is left-handed, would be given a local anesthetic for the procedure, expected to take about an hour.

Fitzwater said the president's doctors were confident that the growth was benign.

Nurses back

ANDREWS, Texas (AP) — County officials have reacted to a two-day walkout by Permian General Hospital's nurses by starting a study of the nurses' wages and benefits to see if they can be improved.

About 60 members of the nursing staff called in sick Monday and Tuesday to call attention to what they consider insufficient wages and benefits at the Andrews County-run hospital, said former nursing director Maria Routzahn.

Local

Hospital board

Cogdell Memorial Hospital board of managers will meet at noon Friday in a called meeting.

Items on the agenda include the election of a vice chairperson to replace Janet Hall, who has resigned; approval of September accounts payable and approval of medical staff privileges for Sherman Merritt, radiologist.

Killer sneers at jury's verdict

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Night Stalker" Richard Ramirez sneered at a jury's verdict that he die in the gas chamber for his 13 satanic murders, muttering: "Big deal. Death always went with the territory. See you in Disneyland."

The black-clad killer, unrepentant to the end, made his comment in an underground garage as he was taken back to jail moments after a jury recommended the death penalty for his gruesome crimes.

His Disneyland comment apparently referred to the plea for mercy that had marked his attorney's closing argument.

"Mr. Ramirez will die in prison," defense attorney Ray Clark had argued, insisting that a life sentence was sufficient punishment.

"Life imprisonment without possibility of parole means he will never see Disneyland again," said the lawyer. "He will never be free again."

But the jury voted 19 times for death on each of the special circumstances attached to his 13 murder convictions. Ramirez also was convicted of 30 felonies including burglary and sex crimes. Those felonies and the crime of multiple murders constituted special circumstances warranting the death penalty.

"There's no punishment that could fit this crime," Judi Arnold, whose parents Maxon and Lela Kneiding were butchered, said tearfully after Wednesday's verdict.

"I have to live the rest of my life seeing my parents and what Mr. Ramirez did to them."

Some jurors said their dreams were haunted by the grisly details of the murders.

"I have nightmares all the time about the crimes," said juror

Cynthia Haden. "I'll get over it. But I'll never be the same. I'll never look at people the same way."

She and others said they were horrified when they learned that victims' throats had been slashed and one woman's eyes had been gouged out.

The 29-year-old Ramirez, a drifter from El Paso, Texas, was impassive as Superior Court Judge Michael Tynan read the word, "death" 19 times in announcing the jury recommendations.

The slender, shaggy-haired Ramirez, wearing a black shirt and black slacks but minus his usual dark glasses, rocked back and forth in his chair and craned his neck to peer at spectators.

Tynan will formally sentence Ramirez on Nov. 7. He has the option of reducing the sentence to life without parole.

"He got what he deserved," said Deputy District Attorney P. Philip Halpin who spent four years prosecuting Ramirez. He had described the defendant as "a miserable human being" who killed for self-gratification.

Defense attorney Daniel Hernandez said he was saddened at the verdict.

"I think all human beings are deserving of our sympathy and should not have their lives taken in the streets, in the courts or in the gas chamber," he said.

At least two jurors felt sympathy for Ramirez, said the jury foreman Felipe Rodriguez who disclosed there was an initial 10-2 split on the death penalty. But he said sympathy for the families of victims was powerful enough to sway the holdouts.

"It was the heinousness, the brutality," which convinced them to vote for death, said juror Alfredo Carrillo.

The panelists, who spent a year serving on the trial, said they were shaken by the unrelated slaying of a fellow juror during their deliberations in the guilt phase of the trial but insisted it made no difference in their decision.

"It was a loss, a definite loss," said Rodriguez. "A lot of us came to realize how life really is — one day you're there and one day you're not."

Juror Phyllis Singletary was found slain at her home Aug. 15. Her live-in boyfriend committed suicide a day later and left a note admitting he had killed her.

Defense attorneys sought a mistrial, but Tynan appointed an alternate juror and deliberations resumed. Defense lawyers said Wednesday the slaying would become a key point of their ap peal, claiming jurors were too upset to reach a dispassionate verdict.

On Sept. 20, the jury decided Ramirez was the "Night Stalker" killer who broke into homes through unlocked windows and doors in the summer of 1985.

Satanic symbols were left at some murder scenes and some victims were forced to "swear to Satan" by the killer.

At an early court hearing in the case, Ramirez held up his hand inscribed with a pentagram, a symbol of devil worship, and said, "Hail Satan."

After his conviction, he flashed a two-fingered "devil sign" to photographers and muttered a single word: "Evil."

Sufferer of Mosquito Bites Is Itching to Know About AIDS

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1989 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I just finished reading your article stating that the AIDS virus cannot be transmitted by mosquitoes. Needless to say, I was relieved, as I live in Minnesota, where the mosquito is sometimes jokingly referred to as our state bird. However, you did not cite the source of your information. I would also like to know how your experts arrived at their conclusions.

RELIEVED IN MINNESOTA

DEAR RELIEVED: My source is Dr. Merv Silverman, president and spokesperson for the American Foundation for AIDS Research. His conclusion was based on current data compiled by the World Health Organization and the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta.

Studies of more than 100,000 infected individuals clearly show that insects are not a problem.

In Africa, those infected with the AIDS virus are in two age groups: (1) from birth to 5 years old, and (2) from 15 to 65 years old. Obviously, mosquitoes do not abstain from biting people who are between 5 and 15 years old.

The first group is infected before birth, and the second through sexual activities, intravenous drug use or blood transfusions.

"In short," says Dr. Silverman, "not one of the over 250,000 cases of AIDS worldwide has been attributed to the bite of insects. If they were a factor in the spread of this disease, tens of millions worldwide and many millions in the United States alone would have AIDS today."

DEAR ABBY: I recently went to a local medical clinic for a routine physical checkup. I was given an examining physician I had never seen before.

I have carried a scar on the inside of my left wrist for 30 years and no doctor has ever questioned me about it. Then all of a sudden this doctor asked, "What's this?"

When I told him I had had a ganglion tumor removed many years ago, he said, "Oh, I thought perhaps you might have tried to take your life some years ago."

I was very indignant and said, "I beg your pardon, Doctor, but I am 56 years old, have been examined by many doctors, and never has any doctor suggested such a thing!"

He replied, "Well, we doctors have to be suspicious of every clue we come across."

I then said, "Excuse me, Doctor. This is not a 'clue' to anything, and I resent the insinuation."

He then proceeded to examine my other arm and noticed a faint mark on my wrist from my watchband. "Look," he said, "Here's another one — are you sure you never attempted suicide?"

Abby, a doctor should be able to tell the difference between a mark caused by a tight watchband and a botched suicide attempt. In any case, I considered his attitude to be unprofessional and cavalier, and I am going to report him to the head of the clinic.

I told a friend about this, and she said perhaps the doctor was trying to be humorous. What are your thoughts?

NO NAME OR CITY, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: Humor is inappropriate during a physical examination. But before you report this doctor, be aware that competent physicians routinely record all scars, their locations and causes, so don't fault yours for questioning you. P.S. I think your doctor could use a tact transfusion.

Variety given to eating in the breakroom

NEW YORK (AP) — Access to a refrigerator and a microwave can help add variety to your eat-in lunch at the office.

If you have access to a refrigerator, your lunch can include yogurt and fruit; cottage cheese and raw vegetables; tuna fish salad; brown rice salad with cubes of roast or stewed chicken; vegetables marinated in Italian or herb salad dressing; cold cooked pasta with pieces of raw or cooked vegetables.

With a microwave, you can bring leftovers from home and reheat them for lunch. Single servings of food left over from a meal, or planned leftovers, can be refrigerated and reheated. Some examples: macaroni and cheese; chop suey; pot roast and vegetables; spaghetti.

Freezing leftovers is a good way to avoid wasting larger amounts of foods. For easy reheating, store in single-serve containers that can go directly from the freezer into a microwave. For best quality, be sure to use frozen leftovers within 3 to 4 months.

No leftovers? Prepared foods include soups, hot sandwiches and frozen meals. Campbell's Souper-Combo is a line of eight, microwave-only soup and sandwich combinations including Vegetable Soup and Cheeseburger and Tomato Soup and Grilled Cheese Sandwich. Each selection can go from the freezer to the table in 7 minutes or less.

Griffith and baby are reported well

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Melanie Griffith was reported doing well after giving birth to a baby girl with husband Don Johnson present, a publicist said.

The girl, named Dakota, was born Wednesday in Austin, Texas, where Johnson is filming the Dennis Hopper-directed movie "Hot Spot," publicist Elliott Mintz said.

"Mother and baby are fine," she said.

Johnson, 39, star of the long-running TV series "Miami Vice," married Miss Griffith, 31, for the second time last June. They each have a young son from other relationships.

Two losers dwindle to one

By James Jacoby

North was so overwhelmed with his high cards and distribution that he simply asked for aces and bid six hearts. South, uncomfortable with an opening bid that had placed so much credence on the singleton king of clubs, awaited the appearance of the dummy with some trepidation. South had reason to worry. When the opening lead was made, declarer could see two losers — the ace of clubs and a spade. Because of the opening lead, there was some chance. (An opening lead of a club would have resulted in East's taking the ace and returning a red card; nothing would then have prevented the loss of a spade.)

So declarer won dummy's ace of diamonds, and cashed two high hearts and then the A-K of spades, making the queen of spades a winner in the West hand. Next came the king and queen of diamonds, followed finally by the queen of clubs from dummy. The contract was now made in a funny way. East knew that declarer was left with a losing spade and that he had started with only one club. If East won the club ace, he would have to play another club, which would allow South to shed his spade while ruffing in dummy. The only chance for the defense was for West to hold the club king. So East played low, and a surprised South won the king. That singleton king of clubs was worth something after all.

Annie comic had hidden messages

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — During the 1930s, the comic strip "Orphan Annie" carried a hidden message to untold numbers of Americans who were troubled by the liberalism of the New Deal programs, says University of Rochester historian Jesse Moore.

Unlike the strips of the early 20th century that were meant to be funny, strips of the 1930s began focusing on adventure and social commentary.

"The fact that Orphan Annie took care of herself and surmounted adversity on her own is significant," says Moore. "It implied that the government should not be taking care of an individual's problems."

Business and Professional Women...

Membership promoted

Business and Professional Women's Club is launching a membership drive. Club members suggest that those interested in good food and good programs visit a club meeting.

Career persons who are currently working or retired are eligible to join the active civic group. Dues are $1 per month or $12 per year. Frances Brown can be contacted at Jodi's for information or Fay McCollum can be reached at 573-9651.

Club members met Sept. 26 in the home of Fay McCollum for their first meeting of the 1989-90 season. Elizabeth Beavers led the opening prayer before a buffet dinner.

Frances Brown, president, presided over the business meeting. Jimmie Cooper was elected program coordinator and members were assigned months to be responsible for the program. Ethel Mae Sturdivant reported activities of the group during the summer.

Correspondence included notices about the Home Extension Bazaar at the Senior Center Saturday and White Buffalo Days Oct. 14. Dues and yearbooks are scheduled for the Oct. 24 meeting.

Artists have workshop

Esme' Glenn of Abilene gave an experimental workshop with mixed media, texture and pastels with watercolor at the Snyder Palette Club meeting Sept. 28.

Glenn demonstrated how to take a "dud" picture (one you don't want anymore) and wash the watercolor off, then put gesso and marble dust on the paper and spray it with watercolor. After drying, the picture is brought to life with pastels.

Some 15 members were present for the meeting, hosted by Lila Guinn and Nettie Faye Gardner.

Members brought pictures to hang in the club's standing exhibits at Cogdell Memorial Hospital and Scurry County Library.

LaVerne Lee, vice president, invited anyone interested in art to meet with the club. "We have instructors in watercolor, oils and pastels lecturing through the year," she said.

For additional information on club meetings, call president Betty Youngkin at 573-0743 or Mrs. Lee at 573-2754.

Without their "soldiers" to defend them from many predators, huge colonies of samurai aphids, piled one on top of the other in dense mats of tens of thousands, could be devoured at will.

Latin America's construction sector grew by only 1.4 percent in 1987, says the Inter-American Development Bank. The figure includes an enormous range of experiences in the region, from an extraordinary 44 percent jump in construction activity in the Dominican Republic to a 20 percent decline in Trinidad and Tobago.

Most Texans vote to repeal insurance plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attempts to repeal catastrophic insurance coverage are now before the Senate, where Finance Committee Chairman Lloyd Bentsen is seeking to preserve the embattled program.

Only two Texas congressmen voted Wednesday to keep the insurance coverage for the elderly as the House decided overwhelmingly to repeal the law and then defeated an attempt to preserve a small part of the program.

Democratic Reps. J.J. "Jake" Pickle of Austin and Henry B. Gonzalez of San Antonio were among the minority attempting to keep the Medicare expansion in the face of a tide of public protest against the law enacted last year.

"This is not a proud day for this House," Pickle told his colleagues. "It has taken 25 years to pass a law to provide protection for older Americans against the catastrophic cost of either a lengthy acute illness or long-term care."

But Pickle was unable to sway his Texas colleagues or the rest of the House, which voted 360-66 to repeal the embattled program.

After the repeal vote, the House immediately considered a plan that would restore a small part of the program. However, that failed by a vote of 269-156.

Texans casting votes to preserve the program were Democrats Mike Andrews of Houston, John Bryant and Martin Frost of Dallas, Gonzalez, Solomon Ortiz of Corpus Christi, Pickle, and Charlie Wilson of Lufkin. Rep. Jack Brooks did not vote, and the rest of the delegation voted against the amendment.

Rep. Albert Bustamante, a San Antonio Democrat, said the financing mechanism was "just too burdensome for seniors."

"Something had to be done. Complete repeal of the act was the only alternative," Bustamante said after the vote. "We'll have to start over and come up with a better way to address the issue of catastrophic illness health care for the elderly."

About 6 percent of the 33 million people eligible for Medicare would have to pay a surtax of up to $800 this year to pay for the program.

More than half of those covered — as many as 60 percent of the 33 million — would not be subject to the controversial surtax at all, but would have $4 a month deducted from their Social Security checks.

Pickle said the House last year, when it voted 328-72 in favor of the program, realized the bill wasn't perfect — "but it was an important beginning — the first step to providing comprehensive protection for the elderly."

While Pickle said it was appropriate Congress consider changing the way the law is financed, including making participation in the program voluntary, "we will throw away the opportunity to preserve these benefits and to correct the financing if we vote to repeal the law today. We will take a giant step backwards and strip older Americans of protection which many are using today."

A Bentsen spokesman said the Texas senator also thinks it would be a mistake to repeal the program; "it would leave a lot of older Americans stranded out there if this program is repealed."

But Bentsen also recognizes the program won't avoid repeal without bipartisan support, said his spokesman.

Bentsen has taken no action on the catastrophic issue for over a week, when Senate Republicans refused to support a plan that had been worked out in the Finance Committee by members of both parties to reduce the surtax and benefits, while keeping the basic framework.

Bentsen considers it up to the Republicans to indicate acceptance of the proposal or to offer an alternative, his aide said. "As far as he's concerned, it's up to them to wrestle with."

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm interested in knowing more about breast cancer. I keep hearing about checking for lumps and the need to go to a doctor immediately. I know breast cancer is a killer, but how does it kill? Please give an account describing how a lump leads to death.

DEAR READER: Cancer cells are marked by two important characteristics: uncontrolled growth and loss of normal function. Each healthy cell in the body is under the control of chemical factors that stimulate it to grow (or to cease dividing) depending on the body's needs. In order to maintain health, cell growth must be turned on or shut off when appropriate.

Cancer cells don't behave this way. They grow rapidly and uncontrollably; they are immune to the body's growth-governing factors. In addition, malignant cells don't do what they're supposed to do. They stop cooperating with other cells. It's as though all their energy is directed toward one goal: growth.

Because of these characteristics, cancer cells usually kill patients by interfering with normal cells. They push them, squeeze them, steal their blood supply and — eventually — replace them; normal cell growth is no match for malignant growth.

Here is the sequence of events in a case of an untreated breast cancer:

The cancer begins as a single, mutant cell deep in the breast. For reasons no one understands, the body's immune system fails to recognize this cell as "foreign" and imperfect. (Early cancer cells are usually immediately destroyed by "killer cells" that are part of the immune system.) The cancer cell divides again and again in a rush of uncontrolled activity.

Most new cancer cells remain in the breast, eventually forming a lump or nodule. Others escape into the bloodstream and the lymphatic system, where they travel to the nearest lymph nodes (in the armpit and along the ribs). In the lymph nodes, they continue to divide, forming new nodules.

As the lymph nodes become saturated with cancer cells, more malignant cells spread beyond the nodes, via the lymph circulation. This hop-and-skip process is repeated until the cancer cells are carried to vital organs, such as the lungs or liver, displace normal cells and interfere with normal function. The lungs and liver become studded with masses of malignant tissue. After several months, the patient's organs fail as infection, such as pneumonia, sets in. Death ensues.

Treatment of breast cancer, as for other malignancies, requires therapy to remove as much diseased tissue as early as possible, followed by radiation or medicine to slow the growth of abnormal cells. Using modern techniques, such as cobalt and hormone therapy, specialists are often successful in killing cancer cells or retarding their growth, thereby enabling patients to live longer, more independent lives.

Therefore, it is important to identify breast cancer early — by examination and mammograms — so treatment can begin before malignant cells have spread (metastasized) to remote locations. To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Breast Cancer and Disorders." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Dalai Lama wins Nobel prize

OSLO, Norway (AP) — The Dalai Lama, the exiled spiritual and political leader of Tibet, won the 1989 Nobel Peace Prize today for his non-violent struggle to free his Himalayan nation from Chinese rule.

The Norwegian Nobel Committee praised the Dalai Lama's message of universal reverence and respect for all living things. China condemned the selection.

Though he preached peace, his followers repeatedly joined bloody clashes with Chinese authorities in Lhasa, the Tibetan capital, in the last two years.

The chairman of the Norwegian Nobel Committee, Egil Aarvik, said the selection of the Buddhist monk could also be seen as a signal of encouragement for the pro-democracy movement in China itself, which was crushed in June.

"If I was a Chinese student, I would be fully in support of the decision," Aarvik added, referring to the students who led the pro-democracy movement that was violently suppressed in Beijing in June 3-4.

The Chinese Embassy in Oslo denounced the Nobel committee decision as interfering in China's internal affairs and called the Dalai Lama a political figure intent on "splitting the

The trooper said the cow could not be found following the 3 a.m. Sunday mishap.

Tibet was independent from 1911 until the new Communist authorities in China regained control in 1950.

The Dalai Lama, born Tenzin Gyatso in 1935, had been nominated for the coveted Nobel Peace Prize for at least the last three years, NTB reported.

"It's certainly long overdue for someone who has genuinely worked for peace, not only for the Tibetan people, but he has strived to gain a genuine peace for the entire world," said Tinley Nyandak, a spokesman for the office of the exiled Tibetan government in New York.

In March, Chinese troops imposed martial law in Tibet following widespread rioting to protest the Chinese occupation. In 1987, 38 people were reported killed in fighting in Lhasa.

Nyandak said the Chinese broke up independence demonstrations by Tibetan monks in Lhasa as recently as Sept. 19 and Sept. 22. He said demonstrators were arrested, convicted and sentenced to long prison terms.

The Dalai Lama, who lives in exile in India, was attending a conference in Southern California today.

Clark's grand slam aids in Giants' win

CHICAGO (AP) — Will Clark wouldn't rate his shower of destruction as his best game, although it stands out as "the most timely game I've ever had."

Clark put on a record-shattering performance Wednesday night, driving in six runs with two home runs, including a grand slam, a double and a single, in the San Francisco Giants' 11-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the opening game of the National League playoffs.

The Cubs finally figured a way to halt Clark by walking him in the eighth inning, only to have Kevin Mitchell, the other half of San Francisco's power tandem, follow with a three-run homer to complete the rout.

"We didn't play badly but they played real good and if they play like that again, this could be a short series," Chicago's Mark Grace said.

Grace and Ryne Sandberg each homered in the early innings to cut San Francisco's lead to 4-3. Clark delivered his first-pitch grand slam in the fourth inning, a shot that arched over the right-field bleachers and landed on Sheffield Ave.

"I got locked in tonight," Clark said, "but that doesn't mean I have this park or this pitching staff in my pocket. Anything can happen in a seven-game set."

Clark said he doesn't second-guess managers, but did wonder why Chicago's Don Zimmer didn't lift right-hander Greg Maddux with the bases loaded and the Giants slugger coming up.

Clark already had doubled in the first inning and homered in the third off Maddux. With runners on second and third and one out, Brett Butler was walked intentionally.

Robby Thompson popped out and Zimmer went to the mound to talk to Maddux.

"I knew they were trying to set up a double play by walking Butler," Clark said. "When he went to the mound for a conference, I thought he was going to take him out. When he didn't, I had to gather my thoughts about Maddux again."

"I just wanted to make sure we were together on how we were going to pitch to Clark," Zimmer said. "I got the answer I wanted but not the result."

Zimmer said he had indeed been looking for the double play with Thompson at bat. When Maddux retired Thompson, the manager decided to stay with his starting pitcher.

Soccer team bops Midland

The Under 12 Snyder Titans travelled Saturday for a pair of games with Midland.

The Snyder squad came away from the encounters with a pair of wins, 8-0 in the morning, and 7-0 in the afternoon.

The two teams will meet again Saturday, for two more games.

Race begins Friday... Loop squads to play

Action begins in earnest this Friday as District 4-4A member squads go head-to-head for the first time this season.

Snyder travels to San Angelo Lake View, Monahans is at Big Spring, Andrews Hosts Pecos and Ft. Stockton entertains Sweetwater.

Snyder heads into loop play at 0-3 on the season, following a pair of one-point losses at the hands of Littlefield and Levelland.

Lake View, also winless in three tries, is, statistically, the district patsy, averaging an anemic 169.7 yards per game on offense and allowing over 360 yards per outing on defense.

Tigers' defenders on the prowl have held opponents to just 206 yards in three football games, including the Littlefield tilt, when the Black and Gold limited the Cats to minus two yards through the air.

Offensively, Snyder's statistics are improving after the squad's performance in Littlefield.

Fullback Willie Garcia has vaulted into ninth place in the circuit with 126 yards rushing on 28 carries.

Tailback Paul Anderson, getting the start last week due to an injury to regular Shelby Bufkin, made the most of his opportunity gaining 115 yards on 15 carries scoring a pair of touchdowns.

Jayson Presley was outstanding at split end, Friday, snatching three Toby Goodwin aerials and translating them into 48 yards.

Altogether, Goodwin was 5 of 13 for 60 yards last week.

Lake View coach Mark Gesch will be leaning on running back Arturo Herrera who has gained 98 yards on 18 rushes this season. If Herrera is kept in check, the Chiefs' passing attack will be forced into action, which is bad for them.

The Lake View quarterbacks are a combined 20 of 61 for 258 yards, one TD and three interceptions.

Steven Cruz leads the Chiefs in receiving with 87 yards on five catches.

The Monahans-Big Spring contest pits a pair of post-season hopefuls that are near the top of most statistical categories after their non-district schedule.

The Lobos are currently in second position in team offense, boasting an average of 286 yards per game. They have pounded out a whopping 635 yards on the ground.

The Monahans ground attack is led by Roger Carter who has gathered 170 rushing yards on 29 attempts and scored twice.

Big Spring's defenders are second in the district, but they appear susceptible to the rush, having given up 485 yards of real estate.

The Steers are allowing just 60 yards per contest in passing, having claimed two interceptions and a fumble.

Monahans on defense is a statistical victim of their pre-season when they played a pair of 5A teams that really pushed them around. They have averaged giving up 325 yards per outing, almost 200 of that being via the rush.

Big Spring is directed on offense by Rance Thompson, quarterbacking son of head coach, David Thompson.

Thompson is leading the district in passing completing 29 of 60 tosses for 367 yards and two scores.

Andrews, the top team offensively, in District 4-4A, will entertain Pecos' Eagles, Friday.

The Mustangs have rolled up some pretty impressive numbers on the offensive side of the ball, averaging 315.3 yards per game, rushing for a total of 659 yards in 1989.

The Mustangs attack is led by running backs Richard Cornejo, with an 8.5 yard average and 213 total yards, and Zack Miller who has rushed for 197 yards in 42 attempts.

The Eagles' defense has allowed just 233 yards per game, about 172 of those yards being on the ground.

Pecos' ball-hawking defense has collected three interceptions and three fumble recoveries while the offense has turned the ball over four times on interceptions and three times on fumbles.

Pecos' offense has rushed for just 333 yards per game this season. On average, just 111 yards in a game. Their passing game has netted them 375 yards but turnovers have halted the Eagles seven times thus far in '89.

Andrews' defense is ranked sixth in the circuit giving up 268 yards per game. They have pulled down a pair of interceptions and recovered a phenomenal seven fumbles, while allowing just 51 total points and giving up only 44 first downs in three games.

Defending champion Sweetwater travels to Ft. Stockton to begin the district season.

On paper Sweetwater is a massive favorite, with a player leading the loop in rushing and tandem offense.

Tailback Patrick Villa leads the district with 303 yards on 46 runs. He also is the tandem offense pace man with 315 yards in receiving.

The Ft. Stockton defense is susceptible, but so is anyone against the Mustangs attack.

They have allowed 401 yards rushing and 401 passing in 1989 setting the Panthers fifth in the circuit in that category.

The Panther offense has managed nary a win, so far, on the season and is gaining just 175 yards per game.

Quarterback Shannon Beeles carries the bulk of the offensive load for Ft. Stockton, having pushed for 85 yards on the ground and passed for 197 yards.

His favorite target is Flo Garcia. Garcia has snatched nine passes from Beeles and gained 142 yards.

The Sweetwater defenders are currently ranked first, giving up a measly 211 yards per game.

The Mustangs have given up only 36 points and 21 of those came at the hands of Abilene High three weeks ago.

They have come away from the non-district schedule with four interceptions and a pair of fumble recoveries.

All Friday's games get under way at 8 p.m.

Oakland takes 2-0 advantage in LCS as playoffs move to Jays home field

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The acquisitions of Mike Moore and Rickey Henderson put a $3 million dent in Sandy Alderson's fast-expanding annual payroll. It seems smaller all the time.

Moore pitched a near-masterpiece Wednesday and Henderson turned the Oakland Coliseum basepaths into his own personal 360-foot track.

But the chief architect as the Athletics took a 2-0 lead over Toronto in the American League playoffs is the former Dartmouth ballplayer wearing rimless glasses who sits in the general manager's office.

In less than 24 hours, Alderson saw his investment hunches in the two veterans pay off in seven innings without an earned run, six stolen bases, three runs scored and one leg up on a return trip to the World Series.

"I felt that those two players were capable of this sort of contribution," the A's executive said, unable to contain a smile.

Oakland planned an afternoon workout today in Toronto's SkyDome. The Blue Jays, faced with the daunting task of having to win four of five games from the defending league champions, decided to take the day off before Friday night's Game 3.

"They are playing more aggressively than we are right now," Toronto outfielder Mookie Wilson said. "We're not going to panic, but the fact of the matter is we can't afford to give away any more ballgames."

Moore joined the Athletics from the Seattle Mariners last Dec. 6 for $3.95 million over three years when Alderson decided that even the league's strongest pitching staff could use another potential 20-game winner.

Henderson's price tag on June 20 was higher — left fielder Luis Polonia and two relievers, plus a $1.95 million salary that should climb significantly if the A's succeed in re-signing him. But he was the spark that ignited Oakland's batting order, weakened by Jose Canseco's first-half absence due to an injured left wrist.

Henderson had only appeared in a strike-year playoff in 1981, and Moore never knew postseason experience in Seattle. October baseball had the adrenaline flowing for both — Henderson clapping after his four thefts and pumping his fists animatedly, Moore's stomach churning.

Henderson had two singles and two walks, and has been on base seven times in nine plate appearances.
