School board...

Hobbs students, bids for 2 buses on agenda

Snyder school board of trustees is expected to approve the transfer of students from the Hobbs school district and okay bids for two 71-passenger school buses during a 7:00 meeting at the school administration building tonight.

The board will also hear a curriculum report from Jim Erwin, principal at East Elementary, and from Classmates In Action, a student organization pledging to stay drug free.

Other items on the agenda include formal approval of a boundary change which would move the boundary separating the Northeast and Central school districts from 18th St. to 20th St. This is being done to balance the number of students in the schools' four-year-old program. Also, the board will approve a textbook committee for 1989-90, hear a request to hire a music teacher for West Elementary, approve payment of bills and review the upcoming calendar of events.

The transfer of students to Snyder schools is expected to be a formality. Hobbs recently closed its school, which included only grades K through 6. The decision was made to close the school after only 13 students were enrolled this fall.

The students will transfer to Roby, Rotan and Snyder.

The Snyder ISD has received 11 bids from four companies for school buses, ranging from $32,860 to $39,028.

Coast holds up well despite sudden turn of Hurricane Jerry GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Hurricane Jerry surprised weather forecasters and coastal residents Sunday, turning from a mild tropical storm to a hurricane that killed two, knocked down apartment balconies, blew cars onto sidewalks and spawned at least six tornadoes.

But the mayor of this Southeast Texas island city said today that things could have been worse.

"I think that we did very well," Mayor Jan Coggeshall said. "I think we're going to find some damage, but I don't think it's going to be as significant as it could have been."

City officials, who earlier described damage as minimal, boosted their damage estimates to $25 million following reports from survey crews who canvassed the area after daybreak.

City Manager Doug Matthews said inspection teams reported roofs blown off, cars damaged and windows shattered in cars and residences.

Trees were downed and the (see HURRICANE, page 8)

Comptroller to send tax expert here

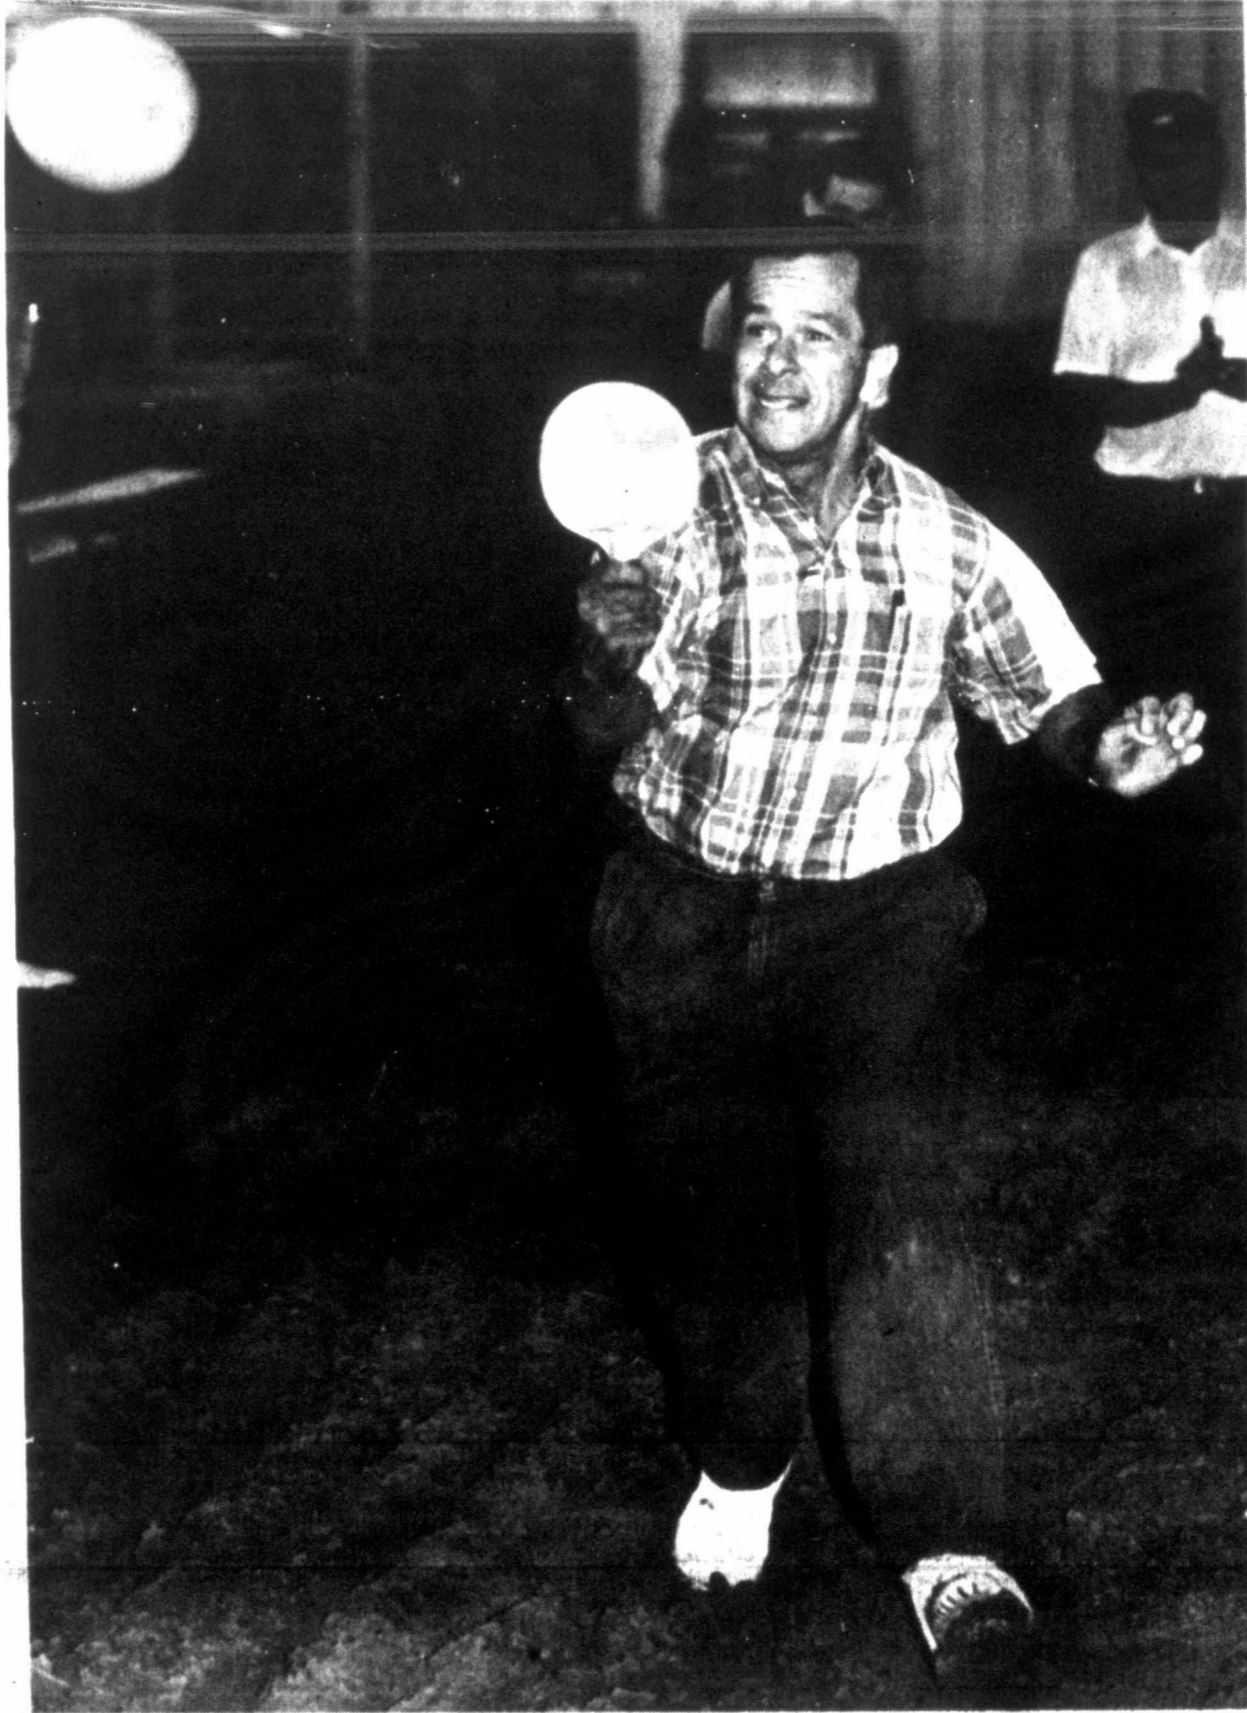

Sam Rendleman, enforcement officer from the State Comptroller's field office in Lubbock, will be at the Scurry County Courthouse from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m. Wednesday to answer questions about Texas taxes and assist taxpayers with paperwork and problems.

There is no fee for the service, which will take place in the commissioner's courtroom.

"I don't want to see state taxes turn into a burden for folks who can't get to a field office," said State Comptroller Bob Bullock. "Our visits are a service we're happy to provide to Texas taxpayers."

Snyder area taxpayers who can't attend the courthouse visit can still receive individual tax assistance by calling the comptroller's toll-free number, 1-800-252-555, from anywhere in the state.

The Lubbock office, headed by David Cain, serves 19 counties, including Scurry.

But do not hear from protest group...

Commissioners support resolution; discuss conversion of tennis courts

Scurry County Commissioners Monday morning voted to sign a resolution supporting proposition 8 on the Nov. 7 ballot and heard from Glenn McCathern in an off-agenda discussion concerning converting tennis courts to volleyball courts.

But by midday, the court has not heard from a tax protest group which had indicated it would file a petition seeking a roll-back election on county taxes.

The petition, which has been circulating for several weeks, calls for a roll-back of the county tax rate from 39.80 to 34.75 cents per $100 valuation. A spokesman for the group said Saturday that the petition includes in excess of the 902 signatures, would be turned in Monday.

Proposition 8 would authorize the issuance of general obligation bonds to repair and rebuild correctional institutions, mental health and mental retardation institutions and law enforcement facilities.

McCathern was inadvertently left off the agenda, but agreed to an off-agenda discussion in which no decisions could be made.

He said that the church volleyball league played last year at the National Guard Armory, but that the facility does not accommodate the need. Some 15 teams are expected to participate in the league and the armory can facilitate only one game at a time.

McCathern's suggestion was to convert one or all three of the county-owned tennis courts located in Towle Park to multi-purpose courts, extending the poles about six feet to accommodate a volleyball net. The transformation would also include painting volleyball boundary lines on the courts.

County Judge Bobby Goodwin questioned the effect the poles would have on tennis games. Realizing that the poles could get in the way, Goodwin suggested that adjustable poles may be an alternative. Commissioners Duaine Davis and Ted Billingsley agreed that the proposal should be to use adjustable poles.

SDN staffer's daughter hurt in fatal accident

LUBBOCK—Five persons were killed and six injured in a two-vehicle collision south of Lubbock Sunday night.

In stable condition at Lubbock General Hospital is Paige Campbell, 6. She is the daughter of Snyder Daily News staffer Bob Campbell.

The youngster was one of nine persons in a van driven by her mother, Jamie Aaron Hall, 28, of Seminole who was pronounced dead at the scene at 9:58 p.m. Three other passengers in the 1983 Chevrolet van were also killed. They were Mrs. Hall's husband, Guy Layne Hall, 28, of Seminole who was ejected from the vehicle, and Darla Aaron Tubbs, 31, of Littlefield. The third was Brandon Berry Bell, 4, of Lubbock who died at 4:16 a.m. Monday at Lubbock General Hospital.

The fifth victim was Roy Albert Pinkert II, 18, a student at Ropesville High School. He was passenger in a 1981 pickup driven by Cody Lee Pinkert of Lubbock. Driver of the pickup was in serious condition with cuts and abrasions after being ejected from the vehicle.

Other van passengers injured included Donna Bell, 27, and George Bell, 30, both of Lubbock. They are listed in critical condition with internal injuries. Also injured were Shady E. Hall, 7, of Lubbock and Joshua Bell, 2, of Lubbock. Both are listed in critical condition at LGH with head injuries. Only the driver of the van was wearing a seat belt, investigators said.

The mishap occurred in the eastbound lane of FM 1586 and FM 1730. The van was traveling east on FM 1586 when it was hit from the left side. The van overturned three-fourths of a time and came to rest against a utility pole.

The pickup truck veered into a playa lake and caught on fire, trapping the passenger. Emergency crews used the jaws of life and cut off the top of the van to free four persons trapped inside.

The accident was investigated by DPS trooper Freddie Salazar.

Proposed Amendment No. 5

Below continues the series outlining the 21 proposed constitutional amendments which will be offered for voter ratification on the Nov. 7, 1989, general election ballot.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION 11: would add a new section 1-j to exempt from ad valorem taxation goods, wares, merchandise and other tangible personal property (other than oil, natural gas and other petroleum products) that are imported into or acquired in Texas for assembling, storing, manufacturing, processing, or fabrication and that are exported from Texas within 175 days after importation or acquisition.

Additional Information
A county, school district, junior college district or municipality may override the exemption and continue taxing the property by official action of its governing body taken before April 1, 1990. (see AMENDMENT, page 8)

Q—An article in the paper recently said Snyder residents pay $1.99 per $100 valuation in taxes. How does this compare to area towns.

A—The rates depend on the taxing entities included, which in this case for Snyder would be county, college, school and city. Citizens living in the following communities and paying roughly the same entities (no college for some, separate water and hospital for others) would include Howard County, $2.31; Mitchell County, $2.21; and Nolan County, $2.24.

In Brief

Oppose plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Turkey's lobbyists, with some surreptitious help from the Bush administration, are working furiously to drum up opposition to a Senate measure marking the "Armenian genocide" 75 years ago.

The resolution, introduced last month by Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., threatens to damage the close ties between Washington and Turkey, a NATO ally which hosts American military bases.

"It is the most offensive thing that Congress can do to U.S.-Turkish relations," said Daryal Batibay, the deputy chief of the Turkish Embassy.

Passage of the measure could seriously damage the future of the alliance, he said. It will be considered Tuesday by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Helms back

WASHINGTON (AP) — There was Jesse Helms one recent night, rolling one of his trademark legislative hand grenades down the aisle of the United States Senate and waiting cannily to watch his colleagues scatter in fear.

But instead, freshman Sen. Barbara Mikulski handily defused the Helms bombshell — an amendment barring U.S. aid to Poland from going to communist-controlled enterprises.

Invoking her own Polish heritage, the Maryland Democrat asserted that "Poles everywhere ... know that the heart and soul of Poland lie with democracy." She argued Helms' amendment would cripple a fledgling economic reform movement and "once again slam down the iron curtain." The move was killed, 74-25.

Escape routes discovered in gorilla's habitat

DALLAS (AP) — The real gorillas were not watching Sunday afternoon as people aped them.

Good thing. It could be a case of "monkey see, monkey do," and that might mean a 400-pound gorilla or two lumbering around Dallas.

Dallas Zoo officials tested the $4 million future home of the zoo's four lowland gorillas and members of the Texas Mountaineers climbing club found it was little challenge to escape.

Ken Kaemmerer, the zoo's curator of mammals, said 18 volunteers found "10 to 15 escape routes, and many, many more handholds and footholds" in the new Jake L. Hamon Gorilla Conservation Research Center.

"Obviously, one escape route is too many," he said after watching the experienced climbers scale their way out of 11- to 13-foot-high textured concrete walls.

"We fully expected some escape routes to be found," Kaemmerer said. "One of our zoo keepers even got out, and he's not a climber."

A representative from a Seattle architectural firm that designed the center watched the test and will meet Tuesday with zoo and construction officials to discuss solutions, Kaemmerer said.

All weak spots found in the textured concrete walls were marked with large pieces of chalk. Construction workers later will smooth down the spots so the gorillas cannot get a handhold or foothold once they inhabit the center next spring.

"Beyond that, we'll probably have to raise the wall a couple of feet in some places and pitch the wall so that there's an overhang," Kaemmerer said.

The climbers' discoveries won't delay the scheduled April 1990 opening of the center nor will it add any cost, said zoo spokeswoman Dawn McDonough.

Climbing club spokesman Cliff Begnaud said he expects gorillas would more than match humans in climbing ability because they have longer arms, much greater strength and more agile toes.

The two-acre habitat is a hilly island surrounded by a dry moat-like ditch. The exhibit is part of a $32 million expansion that will nearly double the size of the Dallas Zoo.

Kaemmerer said officials hope to acquire about eight more gorillas from other zoos once the exhibit is complete.

Right now, the zoo's two males and two females are housed in a concrete facility with iron bars built in the 1960s.

Kaemmerer said the gorillas should be much happier with the change.

But no matter how much they like their new home, it shouldn't be long until they start looking for a way out, he said.

Parents taken to court over children's absences

WACO, Texas (AP) — Public school officials here are hoping that the thought of jail time for parents will scare truant children straight back to class.

During the past month, the Waco Independent School District ordered to court the parents or guardians of about 40 students, citing a law that requires school attendance of children between 6 and 17 years old.

"We don't want to be at odds with parents. We want to work with parents. But we've got a job to do," said Jay McCullough, school district coordinator of student activities, told the Waco Tribune-Herald.

"We want to educate these youngsters and we have to have a body in class in order to do that," said McCullough, who is charged with improving attendance.

The law says youngsters have to be in school at least 170 days out of the 175-day school year and it makes parents responsible if children miss class.

Peace Justices Alan Mayfield said he can force parents to escort their children to school or even to class.

Mayfield said he took one unrepentant youngster to the county jail to show him where his mother would spend time if he didn't go to school.

"The kid had been through juvenile probation before and he didn't care if he had to go back to detention," Mayfield said. "So I took him to the jail and asked him what his mother had ever done to him that he would risk her going to jail if she couldn't pay a fine."

The youngster now regularly attends classes, Mayfield said.

McCullough said a 1 percent increase in district attendance could mean as much as $300,000 more in state funding.

After three unexcused absences, school officials file an affidavit with the McLennan County district attorney's office alleging violation of the attendance law.

Prosecutors then issue a legal notice to the parents, ordering them to appear in justice of the peace court to answer the charges.

McCullough said the old policy of waiting until a student had 10 unexcused absences before taking action was ineffective.

"We want to try to get students into school before they've gotten to a point where it's hopeless," he said.

Parents face penalties of more than $100 per day, as well as jail time, and court costs.

Leader lauds setbacks for anti-abortion groups

DALLAS (AP) — Groups seeking to ban abortions "have been slapped back into reality" after a week of setbacks, said the leader of a group that claims 100,000 members.

"Public opinion is not ready to accept an outright ban on abortion," said Bill Price, president of the Dallas-based Texans United for Life at a weekend fund-raiser.

Price said anti-abortion forces might temporarily shift their sights. A new priority in Texas will be concentrating on requiring teen-agers to gain parental consent before being able to obtain abortions.

The Texas group began reassessing its immediate goals, he said, following congressional defeat last Wednesday over federal funding of abortions and Florida state legislators' refusal to increase restrictions on abortions.

U.S. Rep. Henry Hyde, R-Ill., who was leading an effort to retain restrictions on federally funded abortions for the poor, told the Dallas group that the defeat was only temporary.

"I expected to win earlier in the week, and I was surprised that we didn't win," he said. "I think it just is a call for the right-to-life movement to get up and start swinging."

Hyde told those at the fund-raiser that he hopes President Bush will carry out his threat to veto the spending bill, which was expanded to provide federal money for an abortion in case of rape, incest or danger to a mother's life.

Price took a verbal swipe at Dallas lawyer Tom Luce during the fund-raiser, noting that he had been invited to speak at the banquet but declined.

"We are very disappointed that he chose not to be here tonight," Price said Saturday.

It was the first time the group has been snubbed by a Republican candidate for governor, its member said.

"I think it's a mistake," said Price, who has said the abortion issue will rate high on Texas voters' minds. "The Republican who wins (the primary) is going to have to reach out and include this coalition of people in his campaign."

A spokeswoman for Luce said he had a family obligation and would like to address the group's members at a later date.

Pat Gray offers collision repair service

The Kansas Jack Magna Rack III. What does this mean to you?

"When your car is in a collision it can mean a great deal," says Pat Gray, owner of Pat Gray Body Works, 700 N. Owens, Big Spring.

The Kansas Jack Magna Rack III is a revolutionary collision repair system for unibody cars that literally reverses the collision action by pulling it out the way it went in, then squares and aligns each section of your car in relation to the rest of the car - the way it was meant to be.

"When your car is out of commission, you're just thinking about one thing: get it fixed. You want it fixed right - the first time - and you want it fixed quickly. That's why we invested in the Kansas Jack," says Gray.

With its advanced gauging and analysis system the machine aligns each vehicle as a single unit. This means each section is aligned in correct relationship to the rest of the vehicle in conformance with the manufacturer's original specifications.

Unibody cars are built with more precise dimensions, explains Gray, because they're designed to be light, durable and reliable and at the same time roomy. The body parts may be asymmetrical to pack in the most features possible. "There is little margin for error in unibody repairs," according to Gray, who says the Kansas Jack can achieve repair results that are correct within one or two millimeters.

Pat Gray Body Works features an exclusive alignment machine for front-wheel drive vehicles and four-wheel drive vehicles. This machine applies a sensor on each of the four wheels so they can be adjusted individually, especially important for independent suspension systems. Computerized analysis is printed out on a screen.

Customers don't have to wait till they've had a collision to utilize the alignment machine, said Gray. If your car has a non-adjustable suspension and you notice excessive or uneven tire wear or "pulling" it would be a good idea to bring it in.

Castor and camber adjusting kits are now available for installation on Ford, Chevrolet and Dodge trucks, says Gray.

Pat Gray Body Works is the only body shop in the immediate area to feature the Blowtherm Ultra spraybooth oven for factory-perfect paint jobs on vehicles following body work.

"When you start shopping around for collision repair, alignment or refinishing service you have the right to demand the best," says Gray. "With our equipment, trained technicians and our commitment to quality, we believe we offer the best."

Posh restaurant relaxes dress code for actress

DALLAS (AP) — The maitre d' of a posh Dallas restaurant not only didn't snicker at the sneakers actress Cybill Shepherd was wearing, he gave her a table as if nothing unusual was afoot.
 The decision came last week at The Mansion on Turtle Creek, which has an extremely rigid standards for dining attire. Ms.

Shepherd arrived for dinner at 9 p.m. wearing a hunter green tunic-topped pantsuit and white Reeboks.
 "Our dress code says 'coat and tie, no denim allowed,'" said maitre d' Wayne Broadwell. "It doesn't mention Reeboks."
 There was only one minor delay for Ms. Shepherd's party last Tuesday.
 "We did have to lend a tie to her friend," Broadwell explained.
 For dinner, Ms. Shepherd had lobster tacos, tortilla soup and steamed vegetables.

Abortion war...

Factions seek support of minorities

DALLAS (AP) — Leaders of state and local groups on both sides of the abortion issue say they are trying to persuade minorities — who have strong opinions on both sides of the issue — to join the public debate.

One of the most determined recruiters of minority forces is Karen Ashmore, who resigned as president of a North Dallas chapter of the National Organization of Women to form a "Rainbow" version of the group to attract women of all races to fight for rights, including abortion.

"The whole women's movement has been accused of being a white, middle-class movement," Ms. Ashmore said. "We've never gone into the community like this. What we've done with the Rainbow chapter is on the leading edge."

Experts estimate the percentage of minorities actively participating in the abortion battle is far less than their share of the U.S. population, the Dallas Times Herald reported.

The newspaper said no clear reason exists for the relative lack of participation, but said some observers suggest more pressing concerns such as poverty, unemployment and high dropout rates are taking precedence.

"If it's not one crisis, it's another," said Diana Orozco, a Dallas lawyer and former president of the Mexican American Bar Association.

"Historically, the agenda for the black community has been social justice, or after birth," said the Rev. Tony Evans of the Oak Cliff Bible Fellowship, which is predominantly black. "Our attention has been focused on that. We are in a survival mode."

But Evans said blacks must take a more aggressive role and he intends to push them toward a right-to-life stance.

Faye Wattleton, president of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America since 1978, has been one of the most notable black leaders in the abortion battle. She blames economics for a lack of minority participation.

"You have to have the privilege of time as well as money," Ms. Wattleton said. "Unfortunately, not many blacks and browns have that opportunity."

But Peter Johnson, director of the Dallas chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said abortion "has been a fact of black society."

According to 1985 statistics compiled by the national Centers for Disease Control, white women had 277 abortions for every 1,000 live births. The rate for blacks, Hispanics and other minorities was 472 for every 1,000 live births.

Nonetheless, several recent polls have shown the percentage of black Americans who oppose abortion is greater than the percentage of white Americans, the Times Herald said.

Last fall, in the most recent poll by The Gallup Organization in which respondents' race was noted, 28 percent of blacks said abortion should always be illegal. For whites, the response was 15 percent. There was no separate category for Hispanics.

"Time after time, polls show higher pro-life believes among blacks than the general population," said Douglas Johnson, legislative director of the National Right to Life Committee. "It seems that so far their pro-life sentiment hasn't yet been translated into political spirit."

Investigation begins into Sunday's crash at air base

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — An inquiry board of Air Force officers has begun interviewing witnesses and will study the wreckage of an F-16 fighter today as they try to learn what caused it to crash.

The jet, which had been on a training mission, went down Sunday morning at Carswell Air Force Base, killing both people on board, a base spokesman said.

The fighter crashed about 9 a.m. just 200 feet from "Bomber Row," a section of the airfield's taxiway where about 10 B-52s were parked. Three of them sustained slight damage.

The victims were identified as the pilot, Reserve Maj. Robert M. Tucker, 37, of Roanoke, Texas, and Marine Corps Capt. James T. Bourne, 33, of Dallas, officials said.

According to 1st Lt. Stephen Norton, a base spokesman, the crash site was restricted "pending cleanup of the fuel spill following the crash and of unspent ammunition which was on board the aircraft."

An unnamed Air Force pilot, who files the F-16, said there was definitely a danger of the 20mm ammunition carried aboard the fighter exploding, but Norton would not explain why the area was cleared and 1,000 base workers evacuated.

Officials said the fighter was making a simulated attack run on the base when the crash occurred. Witnesses said the fighter was 200 to 300 feet high when it rolled to its right, turned upside down and slammed into the ground.

The jet was assigned to the 944th Tactical Fighter group, Air Force Reserve, stationed at Luke Air Force Base near Phoenix, said Luke AFB spokesman Captain Joe Davis.

Norton said the $20 million aircraft was en route from Dallas Naval Air Station to Carswell on a training mission when it crashed.

When fourth best isn't best

By James Jacoby

Opening leads have been standard for a long time. Who doesn't know that you lead top of an honor sequence (K-Q-J, Q-J-10, J-10-9) and king from A-K, or that it is proper to lead the fourth best from a broken suit (Q-9-6-4-2, J-6-4-2, 10-8-6-3-2, etc.)? That is the way bridge has been taught for decades.

However, several expert partnerships have adopted different methods. Some players now lead ace from A-K by agreement; others lead queen from K-Q and jack from Q-J. Instead of fourth-best leads, many top players will lead third or fifth best. What does it all mean? Only that bridge, part science and part art, is evolving. Nevertheless, in this column we will remain faithful to traditional methods. But even when you are playing standard leads, there are times for exceptions. And that's the point of today's deal.

South got to four hearts after West had supported diamonds — his partner's opening-bid suit. Although the normal opening lead would be the fourth-best diamond, West departed from the norm by laying down the diamond king. He reasoned that there might be an advantage to holding the first trick. Sure enough, East played the deuce of diamonds, and a switch to the queen of clubs quickly netted the defense the first four tricks. With a low diamond lead, declarer would have had no trouble making his contract.

Testing for intestinal infections

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Since returning from Mexico recently, I've experienced an inordinate amount of discomfort and extreme flatulence within 20 minutes of eating that lasts until 1:30 a.m. A barium enema and sigmoidoscopy diagnosed me with irritable colon, but no medication has been prescribed other than antacids. Can you help?

DEAR READER: You need meticulous stool analyses, including fecal cultures, to see if you brought home more than happy memories from Mexico. In my experience, healthy patients who develop bowel symptoms after traveling to Mexico and other points south of the border almost always have picked up intestinal infections.

Such infections are caused by a variety of disease-producing bacteria, as well as by parasites. Although your distress and gas could result from a common condition such as irritable colon, I'd want to make sure that a treatable infection is not present. Ask your doctor to order the appropriate tests.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Irritable Bowel Syndrome."

Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: For the past six months, I've suffered facial pain on both sides of my face. It began after I had impacted wisdom teeth extracted. I was then treated by a neurologist for inflamed nerves, but there was no relief. Where do I go from here?

DEAR READER: Facial pain has many causes, ranging from neuralgia (pain from nerve irritation) and tumors to arthritis and infection. Dental infection and impacted teeth are common causes of facial pain, and — from your description — I'll bet that's your problem. Return to your dentist or request the services of an oral surgeon. You need a careful dental exam, with X-rays and — perhaps — a course of antibiotics.

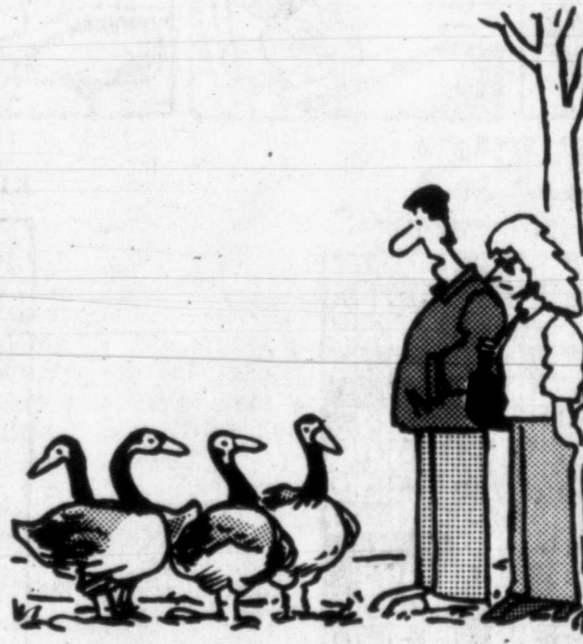

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm trying to find out about self-administered nerve blocks for relief of chronic pain. How many hours of relief can one expect from such injections? Where does a person buy the necessary equipment?

DEAR READER: Don't do it. Nerve blocks are tricky and, unless performed by an M.D. who is familiar with the technique, can result in nerve damage, infection or other serious consequences.

Nerve blocks for chronic pain are useful in determining whether the pain can be relieved by deadening a particular nerve. That is, the doctor injects an anesthetic around the nerve and, if the pain disappears, surgeons then consider severing the nerve to relieve pain permanently. This differs from the technique of injecting a substance near a nerve for temporary local anesthesia. Thus, nerve blocks help doctors learn if more permanent therapy would be appropriate. Ask your physician to refer you to a specialist, such as an anesthesiologist, who can advise you. But don't attempt nerve blocks on your own.

Oilers rally to beat Ditka's club, 33-28

CHICAGO (AP) — The Houston Oilers were down by nine points to the Chicago Bears with less than five minutes left on the clock. In the past, the Chicago defense would have dug in and preserved the Bears' lead to the end.

But that defense — decimated by injuries and age — sprang a leak that allowed Houston to score two quick touchdowns for a 33-28 victory Sunday.

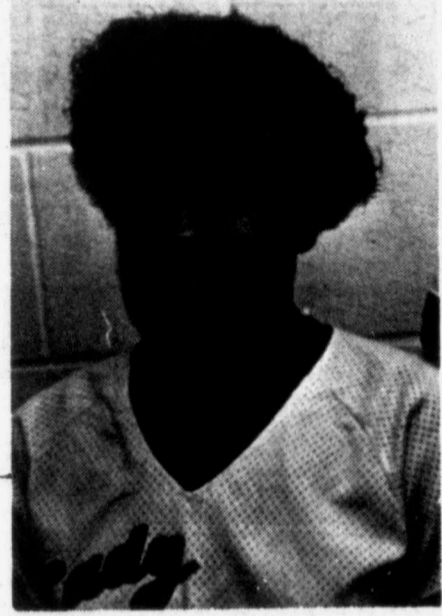

Warren Moon directed a 61-yard drive and scored on a 1-yard run with 3:38 left, and Allen Pinkett raced 60 yards to set up a 12-yard run by Lorenzo White for the winning touchdown with 1:46 to play.

White said despite falling behind, the Oilers gained confidence as the game progressed.

"We felt at anytime we could make the big play," he said.

Chicago's pass rush — weakened by injuries to veteran linemen Dan Hampton and Richard Dent and rookie Troy Armstrong — was practically non-existent. But Moon gave his line credit.

MEET THE DUSTERS — A sophomore transfer student from Panola College, Vicky Jones averaged 14 points, three rebounds and four assists at Ellison High School. As a college freshman, her averages were eight points, a pair of boards and three assists. She participated in basketball, track and volleyball while a schoolgirl, earning Honorable Mention kudos in volleyball twice and competing on the regional level in track. Her hobby is photography and Jones lists her reasons for attending WTC. "I enjoy the confidence the coach has for his players, which makes them great players." (SDN Staff Photo)

Spikers lose on Saturday

Snyder spikers were embarrassed by Ft. Stockton in District 4-4A action Saturday, 3-15 and 0-15.

Camille Thompson, Teena Brazier and Jennifer Pate each had a point to account for the Lady Tigers' scoring.

The junior varsity spikers beat the Lady Panthers, 17-15 and 16-14, to up their district mark to 5-4.

Freshmen volleyballers fought for three games before falling to Ft. Stockton, 11-15, 15-8 and 14-16.

Frosh break Ponies, 22-8

Snyder's freshman Tigers came from an 8-6 halftime deficit to whip Andrews 22-8, here in a Saturday contest.

Santos Gutierrez scored a pair of touchdowns, one on a 60 yard jaunt, the other on a 20 yard return of an interception, and a two-point conversion to pace the ninth grade gridirrs.

Wayland Harrison tacked on a 65 yard TD scamper followed by Jason Green's two-pointer to round out the scoring for Snyder.

"We played extremely well on defense," said SHS coach Milton Ham. "Our guys went in at the half and we had a little talk about what we needed to do and they went out and did it." he said.

Players drawing coaches praise defensively include end Payton Daniels, linebacker Jason Green, noseguard Heath Cowan and cornerback Mike Fields.

The Tigers, 4-1 on the season, have an open date this week to prepare for a trip to Sweetwater Oct. 26.

WTC at Dallas Arena

Westerners open with contest at Reunion

The Westerners men's basketball squad at WTC begins the 1989 campaign in style as they travel to Reunion Arena in Dallas to play Southwest Christian College Friday, Oct. 20 at 4:45 p.m.

WTC will take the floor prior to an NBA contest between the Mavericks and the San Antonio Spurs.

Western Texas boosters and coach Tony Mauldin report that tickets are available for the game by calling 573-8511, ext. 283. Tickets are $9 each and are good for both the WTC-Southwest Christian tilt and the Mavs-Spurs game.

It's not a big returning class but the five players coach Mauldin has coming back should be a strong, exciting nucleus for his 1989-90 Western Texas College Westerner basketball squad.

Kenneth Critton, Cedric Mason, Lester White, Tony Joyce and David Smith return with a year's experience as Mauldin maps out plans for the coming hoops season.

Vladimir McCrary, James Jones and Maurice Harris have elected not to return to the Westerner ballclub this season, Mauldin noted.

Critton, a 6-8 sophomore from Dallas, played only 23 games of the 31-game season last year after suffering an injury to his shooting hand. While in the lineup, Critton averaged 12 points with a hot 57.8 field goal percentage and pulled down 6.7 rebounds.

He had a high games of 37 points and 14 rebounds against Texas State Technical Institute of Waco.

Mason, from nearby Lamesa and a favorite of the crowd, should see plenty of playing time after being used sparingly as a freshman. The 6-1 former all-state talent averaged 4.7 points and 2.4 rebounds for the Westerners. He is solid from the line, hitting 73.7 percent of his free throws. Undaunted by his 6-1 height, Mason blocked nine opponent's shots last season.

The off-guard had 21 points against Garland City and six assists against Southwest Christian.

Also expected to get more playing time are Smith and White. Smith averaged 5.7 points and 3.5 boards an outing. The 6-4 talent from Garland is capable. He scored 18 points against Southwest Christian and had 11 rebounds and five assists against conference opponents Clarendon and Midland, respectively.

White averaged 2.3 points and 3 boards an outing in a limited role as a freshman. The former 4-5A Player of the Year yanked down 8 rebounds in a conference tilt with Frank Phillips. He is 6-6 and hails from Odessa.

Joyce, a 6-4 forward, averaged 70 percent from the charity stripe last season in a limited roll for the Westerners. Joyce appeared in just 17 games, scoring 14 points and snatching 19 boards.

He also slipped in four assists and four steals for '88-'89.

As a sophomore, the Morton native expects to see more minutes in the upcoming season.

Freshmen team members include Allen Smith of Baton Rouge, La., Ray Johnson of Muskogee, Ok., Lewis Wesley of Snyder, Alfredo Porter of Dallas and Jeff Shelley, also of Dallas.

Others are Dominick Bird of Ft. Worth, Jacoby Garmon of Huntsville, Damon Clay of Andrews, Doug Brown of Abilene and Brian Murray of Berkeley, Ca.

The Blue and Green participated in the Hardin-Simmons Jamboree recently. The event brings area juco and small university teams together to scrimmage against each other.

WTC knocked heads with Ranger Junior College and Cisco Junior College, pounding out wins in each game.

The Westerners defeated Ranger, 77-70, and Cisco, 104-87.

Shelley poured in 14 points versus Ranger to lead WTC in scoring.

As a unit Western Texas shot 50 percent from the floor and pulled down 49 rebounds.

Against Cisco, Shelley again paced the Westerners. This time he scored 17 points. He was followed by Dominick Bird's 14.

The Westerners are ranked fifth in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference according to a preseason coaches' poll released earlier this week.

"Based on last year's teams and the people that are returning, I think that's pretty accurate," said Mauldin of the poll.

"South Plains may be a little ahead of the rest but everybody's tough. We saw NMJC beat Odessa in one half of their scrimmage in Abilene," the coach reported.

The rankings have Midland College at the top of the heap followed by South Plains College, Odessa College, Howard College and WTC.

The bottom half of the ratings include New Mexico Junior College in sixth position trailed by Clarendon College, Frank Phillips College and New Mexico Military Institute.

The Westerners' conference schedule begins with a trip to Midland College Nov. 30.

Oakland nabs two-game lead over Giants in World Series

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Roger Craig almost can't watch. His split-finger fastball has come back to haunt the Giants.

It's been scary, too. Real scary.

Oakland beat San Francisco 5-1 Sunday to take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-7 World Series.

On Saturday, Dave Stewart showed off his split-finger pitch and beat the Giants 5-0 with a five-hitter.

In Game 2, Mike Moore bedeviled the Giants for seven innings with his version.

"You got to give credit to the Oakland pitching staff," Craig said. "Every guy they've thrown out there has had a better split-finger than the other guy."

Craig should know. He's the guru of the split-finger.

The Giants manager has saved careers by teaching it, and even created stars. But all he sees now is a monster.

In losing the first two games, the Giants managed only nine hits in 62 at-bats, a .145 average, and were 0-for-11 with runners in scoring position.

Will Clark and Kevin Mitchell, known as the Pacific Sock Exchange, crashed, going 0-for-6 with runners in scoring position.

"Their pitching can't get much better than it has been," Craig said.

Oh, no? Bob Welch will pitch for the A's in Game 3 on Tuesday at Candlestick Park. The former Los Angeles Dodger is 19-4 lifetime against the Giants, 6-0 at San Francisco.

The A's broke a 1-1 tie in the fourth against Rick Reuschel on Dave Parker's RBI double and Terry Steinbach's three-run homer.

"I thought it was a good pitch when it left my hand," Reuschel said of Steinbach's homer. "I got him out on soft stuff the first time and then I tried to sneak one by him."

Moore had no trouble getting his split-finger by the jittery Giants most of the game.

He pitched seven-plus innings and allowed one run and four hits.

To make matters worse for Craig, Moore only recently discovered the split-finger.

"I picked it up this year and started using it six or seven starts into the season," Moore said. "I threw it on the side at first and then in games after I got more confidence with it."

Snyder netters take honors in tourney

Snyder netters travelled to Colorado City for a tournament there, claiming titles in boys' singles and doubles in the "A" division, first place in boys' "B" singles and first and second in doubles in the "B" category.

SHS tennis players Brandon Martin and John Griffin cut their way through the field to set up a face-to-face play-off for the crown.

The final match was not played in Colorado City, however, as the hour was late.

Coach Charlie Chrane said the players will square off soon to decide the winner.

The duo teamed up to defeat Tim Barnhill and Craig Gillen of Abilene High School, 6-1, 6-2, for the doubles title.

Jason Warren had a pair of wins, taking the "B" singles as well as teaming up with Chris Gayle to capture top honors in doubles.

Warren and Gayle won in the finals, 6-2, 6-4, over Snyder teammates Kiron Kemp and Andy Weaver.

Leslie Sandoval battled her way past four entrants before claiming first place in girls' singles in the "B" division.

Results from the tournament matches involving Snyder athletes are as follows:

Record Christmas tree season ahead

WASHINGTON (AP) — It looks like another record season for Christmas tree farmers, despite the preference of many Americans for artificial trees that can be boxed and stored until next year.

A record 34.3 million Christmas trees were sold in 1988, and an Agriculture Department report says the market is expected to exceed 35 million this year.

Economist Doyle Johnson said there are about 15,000 commercial Christmas tree growers in the United States. These producers have more than 87 million trees of all ages planted on about 1 million acres.

Last year, he said, Christmas trees had a wholesale value of about $680 million, putting the tree business ahead of a number of traditional agricultural commodities in terms of total cash receipts.

In 1987, for example, oat production was worth about $200 million; rice, $500 million; sheep and lambs, $600 million; barley, $800 million; sugar cane, $800 million; grain sorghum, $1 billion; and peanuts, $1 billion.

The report, which is scheduled for the November issue of Farmland magazine, said that 90 percent of the Christmas trees sold each year are U.S.-grown, with the rest coming from Canada.

Top producing states are Oregon, Michigan, Wisconsin, California, North Carolina, Washington and Pennsylvania.

"A few larger growers in the West and the Northeast harvest over 1 million trees each, but most operations are much smaller," the report said. "Many producers grow Christmas trees on a part-time basis or to supplement other farm-related activities."

According to USDA and industry analysts, the supply of natural Christmas trees may grow over the next five to seven years because of overplanting following 1988 drought losses and the entry of new growers.

Johnson said growers averaged about $12 per tree last year, while wholesale prices averaged about $20. Most trees — Douglas fir and Scotch pine — retailed for $3 to $3.50 per foot.

"Consumers generally buy trees that are 6 to 7 feet tall," the report said. "Spruce trees, the most expensive type, retail for $40 to $50. Pines are typically lower in price, especially in the South. Naturally, a premium tree commands a premium price, but usually requires longer to mature, and more labor."

Two other agency economists, Glenn Zepp and Boyd Buxton, said in telephone interviews that they didn't know of any overriding factor that would boost Christmas tree prices significantly this season from 1988 levels.

Fred Strathmeyer of Dover, Pa., president of the National Christmas Tree Association, said Christmas tree farming demands someone "willing to work year-round on a crop that might not be marketable for a good six years."

Depending on the species, it can take up to 15 years to grow a tree to a height of six feet, the average retail height. The average growth time is seven years; the shortest is four years in the deep South.

According to the association, there is a growing tendency for farmers to open their land to people who want to choose and cut their own trees. Currently, there are an estimated 5,000 of these choose-and-cut farms.

The trade association, which has been promoting Christmas trees for more than 30 years, says the industry has grown 2 percent to 2.5 percent annually for the last 15 years, at least twice the growth rate of the U.S. population.

But the industry had its greatest blow in the 1950s when the artificial tree was introduced, the report said. Made primarily in South Korea, Taiwan and Hong Kong, the artificial tree continues biting at the U.S. market.

The industry countered in 1988 with its first national advertising campaign, RealTree, featuring television personality Willard Scott.

"Following a $1 million advertising assault on 'fake' Christmas trees, preliminary retail reports were encouraging," the report said. "Retailers' sales were up 6 percent over 1987."

The choose-and-cut farms showed the biggest gains, with an average increase in sales of between 12 percent and 15 percent, the report said.

But the future is unclear. An increase in the number of family households of 16 million between 1970 and 1990 would indicate a growth market for real trees. However, a slow population growth of 1 percent a year, coupled with an aging America, could mean more demand for artificial trees.

"The older generation, middle-aged America, tends to buy artificial trees or forego a tree altogether," the report said. "The family unit consisting of mom, dad and about two kids is the backbone of the real Christmas tree market."

Strathmeyer said that in 1965 artificial trees held 20 percent of the available market for Christmas trees. By 1985, artificials held 47 percent and could add another 10 percent to 12 percent by the mid-1990s.

Coast Guard says shrimp boats won't be targeted

HOUSTON (AP) — Shrimpers face fines of $8,000 or more starting today if caught with nets that lack the controversial turtle excluder devices, but a U.S. Coast Guard official said he doubted many vessels would be out because of Hurricane Jerry.

Shrimpers, who had hoped that President Bush would grant a last-minute reprieve, complain that the devices, known as TEDs, cause them to lose nearly a third of their catch. Government studies have shown losses of 5 percent to 10 percent. TEDs allow endangered sea turtles to escape the nets.

"I doubt they'll be any out in the morning," Coast Guard Petty Officer Ron Chadwick in Galveston said of the shrimpers. The National Weather Service said all small craft along the Texas coast should remain in port as winds and high waves caused by Jerry linger in the Gulf of Mexico.

Jerry came ashore with 100 mph wind gusts at the west end of Galveston Island about 7:25 p.m. Sunday. The hurricane's maximum sustained winds reached 80 mph as it moved across the island and spawned at least a half dozen tornadoes.

By 11 p.m. Sunday it had been downgraded to a tropical storm and continued moving north at 14 mph.

Although shrimpers have been required to use TEDs since Sept. 8, until Sunday the federal government had forgiven the penalties — at first in whole and later in part — if a shrimper bought and installed a TED after being caught without one.

But beginning today, a shrimper can be fined $8,000 for a first offense and $15,000 for a second. A third offense could cost $15,000 and confiscation of the shrimper's vessel, catch, or both.

The change in enforcement won't change how the Coast Guard monitors shrimp boats, said Lt. Scott LaRochelle in Galveston.

"What we've been doing in normal law enforcement operations is stopping boats randomly while in the water," LaRochelle said. "If we happen to stop shrimp boats we'll check for TEDs."

Black leaders once again resume fight

SOWETO, South Africa (AP) — Anti-apartheid leader Walter Sisulu, resuming the struggle on his first day of freedom in 26 years, told an emotional crowd he's confident he'll see the day a black man can become president.

The government freed Sisulu and seven other aging black leaders on Sunday and the six who belong to the African National Congress held the guerrilla movement's first news conference in South Africa since it was banned in 1960.

"Our determination has never been weakened by our long years of imprisonment," said the 77-year-old Sisulu, a former ANC secretary general and the country's best-known black leader after Nelson Mandela.

"We have been strengthened by the developments in our country and our own clear vision of the future."

Some among the hundreds of ANC supporters packing the church hall where the news conference was held wept as the freed prisoners, raising clenched fists, led them in singing "God Bless Africa," the anthem of the anti-apartheid movement.

Gramm-Rudman cuts take hold today

WASHINGTON (AP) -- Automatic federal spending cuts totaling $16 billion take effect today, with a single stroke of President Bush's pen, following the failure of Congress and the president to agree on a deficit-reduction plan.

The cuts mandated under the Gramm-Rudman balanced budget law formally become permanent when Bush, as required, signs an order activating them.

The reductions, spread evenly across many defense and domestic programs, are expected to total about $8.1 billion for defense and $8.1 billion for domestic initiatives. That works out to reductions of about 4.3 percent in defense programs and 5.3 percent in domestic agencies.

The cuts are expected to be rolled back as soon as Congress works out a compromise deficit-reduction bill. The Senate approved its version of the measure late Friday, and House-Senate negotiators could begin their meetings this week.

But Richard Darman, director of the White House Office of Management and Budget, said Sunday it might be best if Congress left the spending cuts in place instead of rolling them back.

"This time, if it goes into effect, I think it would be good if people would live with it and say, 'don't restore the cuts,'" Darman said on the ABC-TV program, "This Week With David Brinkley."

Automatic budget cuts took effect in 1986 and 1987 as well, but Congress acted quickly to restore the lost funds, a process that Darman called "phony."

The reductions are not expected to be felt by many Americans, at least initially.

"It affects a relatively small number of people in our society, and affects them in a relatively small way," Rep. Bill Frenzel of Minnesota, ranking Republican on the House Budget Committee, said last week.

The automatic Gramm-Rudman cuts, when the law was enacted in 1985, were intended to seem so horrific that Congress and the president would be frightened into cutting the federal deficit in order to avoid them. It didn't quite work out this year.

The law requires a projected deficit for fiscal 1990 — which began Oct. 1 — of no more than $100 billion. If the projected shortfall exceeds the target by more than $10 billion today, the law automatically triggers cuts in spending of whatever is required to slash the figure to $100 billion.

Law officers arrest 20-year-old suspect

A 20-year-old Snyder man was arrested inside Mulligan's Mall at 2506 Ave. F early Sunday and was being held on a burglary charge at the county jail Monday.

The suspect was identified as Eric L. Pace of 207 Hickory St., whose bond was expected to be set Monday morning.

Police said an officer found that a front door had been forced open at the mall at 4:32 a.m. Sunday and then took the suspect into custody inside the building.

Other weekend arrests included a 31-year-old man who was arrested on several charges following a reported disturbance at 6:51 p.m. Saturday at a residence in the 3200 Block of Ave. K.

The man was arrested for unlawfully carrying a weapon, an illegal knife, resisting arrest and public intoxication.

A 32-year-old man was arrested for DWI at 2:07 a.m. Sunday in the 500 Block of 29th St., and a 39-year-old man was taken into custody on the same charge at 11:08 p.m. Saturday in the 1900 Block of Coleman Ave.

A 25-year-old man was arrested for DWI, driving with his license suspended and evading arrest at 11:58 p.m. Saturday in the 4500 Block of College Ave., and a 24-year-old man was arrested for PI at 1:25 a.m. Sunday in the 5000 Block of College.

A sheriff's deputy arrested a man for PI at 1 a.m. Sunday north of Snyder on U.S. 84, and state highway patrolmen took a man into custody for DWI at 12:10 a.m. today south of Hermleigh on 84.

A 13-year-old boy was arrested for operating a motor vehicle without a license at 3:46 p.m. Saturday in the 1200 Block of 28th St. He was later released into the custody of his parents.

island was littered with debris. Glass windows in an apartment complex on the west end were blown out, and several of the balconies were torn off.

"The winds blew through the glass of several of these apartments and blew the gutters down," said John Harsh, a resident of the complex who had been without power since 7:30 p.m. "Whole balconies came down. It just ripped them up from the bolts."

Officials were planning an aerial tour later in the day and said they then would decide whether to ask Texas Gov. Bill Clements to declare the area a disaster area.

Schools were open as usual today, although one elementary school was closed because of a power outage.

The bodies of a 24-year-old Coast Guardsman and his 2 1/2-year-old daughter were discovered about 11 p.m. Sunday on the rock jetties of the island's protective seawall, said Gary Stone, spokesman for Galveston's Emergency Operations Center.

Authorities say the victims could have been in a pickup truck that was found overturned at the base of the seawall shortly after daybreak today. They speculate that a third victim, believed to be another Coast Guardsman, also was in the truck. Authorities were searching.

Names of the victims were being withheld pending notification of relatives.

Matthews said he regretted seeing any fatalities in such a minimal storm.

"It was just sad to see any fatalities. As city manager, you just blame yourself, and wonder if we gave the community enough warning," Matthews said.

Jerry had seemed headed for the Louisiana coast, but it shifted to the west and was upgraded to a hurricane Sunday morning. It was downgraded to a tropical storm at 11 p.m. Sunday with winds at 45 mph.

At 5 a.m., the National Weather Service reduced the storm to a tropical depression.

Amendment

The proposed amendment would also amend Article VIII, Section 1, to clarify that property is not required to be taxed if another provision of the constitution allows the exemption. A special provision specifically states that the exemption applies to aircraft and aircraft parts in the state for not more than 175 days for maintenance and repair activities.

FOR: The exemption of inventories temporarily in the state will encourage economic development by providing incentives for manufacturers and other industries that do business out of state. Tax incentives have been an important part of Texas' successful effort to attract several major industrial, technological and transportation facilities in recent years. Almost every other state exempts business inventories or freepoint goods from property taxes and Texas should adopt this exemption to compete.

AGAINST: Exemptions from property taxes shift the burden to other taxpayers. The proposed tax relief is not necessary to attract industry. The local option provision will result in inconsistent and unfair tax treatment from one taxing jurisdiction to the next. The provisions granting tax relief to aircraft and property used in maintaining or repairing aircraft are unfairly aimed at a special interest group.

C.D. Gray, Jr., precinct 3, and Tommy Pate, precinct 4, were absent.

Another option may be the tennis courts located west of the county jail, according to McCathern, but ownership of the courts has not been determined.

Judge Goodwin said he will find out who owns the courts so that McCathern can get on the commissioners court agenda and make a proposal. McCathern said, "I think volleyball courts would be used as much or more as the tennis courts."

Parents of Handicapped Baby Look Forward to Future Joy

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You recently published a letter from a reader asking how she should respond to a friend who had just given birth to a baby with Down syndrome. Coincidentally, three weeks before reading that letter, I had a little girl, "Anna," who was born with spina bifida.

To respond to your reader, we are absolutely delighted with our baby. True, she has a difficult road ahead and faces many hurdles, not least of which is paralysis of the legs. To us, Anna is a beautiful baby first and has spina bifida second.

I can't tell you how many Mass bouquets and sympathy cards we received — messages I consider totally inappropriate. I am still waiting to hear from friends whom I suspect also "don't know what to say."

We have never been disappointed — Anna fits right into our family environment and is loved and cherished as much as her sister.

To those like your reader who are unsure how to react, do everything you would have done had the baby arrived without a problem. Don't assume that the parents are distraught and disappointed. Handicapped kids very often bring with them enormous amounts of joy and rewards. We think Anna is extraordinary and feel privileged to welcome her into our family.

HAPPY MOTHER IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR MOTHER: Thank you for a very uplifting letter. Please read on:

DEAR ABBY: You recently printed a letter from someone who didn't know what to say to parents of a baby born with Down syndrome.

Our daughter just gave birth to a son with Down syndrome, and because she realized that many people would be as perplexed as your writer, she enclosed a letter with each birth announcement. And here's her letter:

Four balloonists share Ed as their same first name

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Ed is the name and balloon-chasing their game.

Four of the members of El Paso balloonist Paul Peacock's ground crew share that first name.

The connection began with Ed Wood, a longtime friend who began flying with Peacock about four years ago.

Wood, working for an El Paso television station, became acquainted with Ed Earing, a technician for The Associated

"Dear Friends and Family: Our second son, Matthew Noel, was born on July 27. And now we want to add a personal note to this announcement because we want everyone to know that Matthew was born with Down syndrome. There is no easier way to tell you this than there was for the doctors to tell John and me. We know that you had the same high hopes and expectations for our second child that we had, and this is a shock and disappointment to all of you.

"John and I had quite an adjustment to make in the last few days. We've experienced a lot of emotional pain and learned a great deal about how Down syndrome will affect our son and our family. Matthew is very cute and responsive, and we hope that you will accept him without pity or reservations.

"With God's help, we hope that our son will grow up strong and healthy. We want you to share in the joy of his progress along the road of maturity, even though he may travel that road a little more slowly and may not get as far as others.

"Please don't feel that you have to pretend that he is normal, and please feel free to ask any questions you may have about him.

"His name, 'Matthew,' means 'a gift from God,' and we know that in time we will enjoy the special gifts that Matthew was meant to bring to his friends and family. We hope that your prayers are with us. — Matthew's Parents"

Democrats seek to stifle mudslinging

AUSTIN (AP) — While the chairman of the Texas Democratic Party plans informal guidelines to assure fair campaigns, county leaders have created a "Code of Campaign Ethics" to guide statewide contenders.

They also plan to form a monitoring committee to watch those running for office in the March 1990 primary, according to The Dallas Morning News.

Party Chairman Bob Slagle of Sherman said that rather than urging the State Democratic Executive Committee to adopt the county chairmen's resolution, he will use a less formal effort.

Slagle said he will begin meeting with all statewide candidates in November and December, asking them to establish their own guidelines on what constitutes a fair campaign. But the agreements will not be in writing.

"We'll just have a discussion about what is fair and unfair and where the line ought to be. We'll reach some basic arrangements," he said.

Slagle said he relied on a similar pact in the 1982 gubernatorial primary.

"We had an informal understanding, and when one of the candidates felt like another was getting out of line, he would call me and I would call the candidate who was getting out of line," Slagle said. "It worked very well."

Ron Gay, chairman of the Democratic party in Brazos County, said the county chairmen's code is aimed at preserving candidates' strength.

"We've seen too many instances where Democratic opponents beat each other senseless and whoever comes out of the primary is so weak, they can't stand up to the Republican," said Ron Gay, Brazos County's Democratic Party chairman.

Some Republican consultants are worried as well about the need to rein in their candidates, the newspaper said. But GOP officials plan no formal action, saying they doubt the Republican field will hit below the belt.

Gay, president of the county chairmen's association, said he will ask all statewide Democratic office-seekers to sign a pledge to abide by the code. Those who "step over the line of fair campaigning" would be publicly reprimanded, he said.

The proposal is similar to a tactic used by Texas Republican officials in 1986. Then-state GOP chief George Strake made the three Republican gubernatorial candidates sign an agreement that they would follow the party's "11th Commandment" — speak no ill of another Republican.

But current Republican Chairman Fred Meyer said he does not see any reason for such a requirement in 1990.

"I don't think we're going to have the kind of primaries the Democrats are going to have," Meyer said. "We don't have people like Jim Mattox or Ann Richards involved in our primary. We don't have that kind of problem."

Political experts say the Democratic gubernatorial race will be the most explosive, with Mattox, Ms. Richards and former Gov. Mark White battling for the nomination.

Your Birthday

Oct. 17, 1989

The year ahead looks like it will be an extremely active one for you socially, careerwise and where travel is concerned. Pleasant adventures are in the offing, especially on your shorter junkets.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Today you might have to deal with someone who will be unappreciative of what you do, even if it costs you money and inconvenience in the process. Chalk it up as a lesson. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Something you've been wanting may come on the market at this time, but it might be wise for you to wait a bit to make sure the product is all they say it is before you buy it. The next model could be better.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) This should be both an active and enjoyable day for you. However, in your quest for having a good time, don't forget to first fulfill a promise you made to someone.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You may discover several effective ways to economize at this time that will give your budget a breather. Remember, however, to continue to earmark at least a little for relaxation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your restless spirit could be in need of some type of social diversion today, but this doesn't mean that everyone has the same requirements. Consider the feelings of others before making plans.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Whatever you do today, don't reveal a secret someone has told you in the strictest confidence. This could do more to tarnish your image than you can imagine.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're likely to be in a rather talkative mood when involved with friends today. This is great, but don't participate in catty discussions. Seeds of ill-will could germinate.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In order to keep your budget intact at this time, you must be able to distinguish between your needs and your wants. Don't let desires encourage extravagance.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your friends tend to take to heart what you'll say today, so be extra careful you do not unintentionally hurt a pal's feelings with a thoughtless comment.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If a task you have to do today requires a capable assistant, don't get involved with an individual who proved to be inefficient previously. History could repeat itself.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your friends will not appreciate it today if they think you're playing favorites, so do the best you can to treat everyone equally. Parity enhances your popularity.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) An objective you hope to achieve is reachable, but you mustn't let someone whose approval you're seeking curb your momentum. Keep moving forward regardless of what this person says.
