County roundup...

Prison, victims' rights issues pass

Scurry County residents overwhelmingly favored amendments dealing with jury information, crime victim's rights and correctional and mental health and mental retardation facilities, but said "no" to seven proposals including lawmaker's raises in Tuesday's state constitutional amendments election.

With the issue of legislators' pay raises apparently increasing voters' interest, the turnout was good for a constitutional amendments election — 12.6 percent here and 14.2 percent statewide.

County Clerk Frances Billingsley today said the turnout here was "fairly good," with a similar election four years ago attracting only about half that many participants.

A total of 1,139 of the county's 9,028 registered voters took part — 157 at Snyder-Scurry Health Unit, Pct. 1; 235 at the county library, Pct. 2; 415 at Towle Park Barn, Pct. 3; and 188 at the Senior Citizens Center, Pct. 4. There were 144 absentee voters.

Statewide, only two of the 21 proposed amendments failed and both of those dealt with salary increases for state representatives and state senators, the lieutenant governor and the speaker of the House.

Scurry County citizens, however, rejected seven propositions, including No. 3, which dealt with agricultural venture capital; No. 6, the creation of 4-year hospital board terms; No. 12, permanent school fund proposal; No. 14, which dealt with the election of a district attorney in Fort Bend County; and No. 18, which would eliminate time limitations relating to the issuance of agriculture water conservation bonds.

In two close "no" votes, the permanent school fund failed 554-530 while the agricultural water bonds proposal was rejected 533-511.

By a wide margin, 811 to 286, county voters were in favor of

Proposition 10, which would permit courts to inform juries about the effects of sentences imposed (see COUNTY, page 8)

CONCENTRATION — Kathy Tyler of Snyder was giving the state's proposed constitutional amendments the concentration they required Tuesday afternoon at Towle Park Barn, where 415 people cast ballots — the biggest turnout among the county's four polling places. (SDN Staff Photo)

Miss Texas featured at Saturday pageant

Leah Kay Lyle, Miss Texas, will be a featured guest and performer at the Miss Snyder Pageant, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Worsham Auditorium on the high school campus.

Miss Lyle represented Texas at the 1989 Miss America Pageant and was named a semi-finalist. She performed a piano rendition of the Ginastera: Sonata No. 1 Opus 22, 4th Movement" which was considered a highlight of the pageant.

Lyle will meet with Miss Snyder candidates at Willow Park Inn on Saturday afternoon and will perform in the evening pageant, along with the current Miss Snyder, Rhonda Jo Horn. Lyle will also appear at Colonial Hill Baptist Church on Sunday.

Prior to being named Miss Texas, Lyle was employed as a research associate for the Texas Legislative Council in Austin. She graduated from Baylor University in 1988 with a degree in communications.

Lyle, the daughter of Paul and Linda Lyle of Plainview, plans to attend law school and possibly go into politics or lobbying, ultimately combining a career with marriage and a family.

She has studied piano for 16 years, including post-graduate piano study with Dr. David Stokan at the University of Texas at Arlington, and with Ovid Youn, concert artist.

Representing the Haltom-Richland area of northeast Tarrant County, Lyle was named Best Musician at the 1989 Miss Texas Pageant and Preliminary Talent Winner prior to being named Miss Texas.

State roundup...

Pay increase rejected

AUSTIN (AP) — The leaders of the House and Senate said defeat of a pay raise for lawmakers doesn't mean Texans are demanding ethics reform, but others in and out of government say that's exactly what the voters meant.

"The defeat of Proposition 1 shows that Texans want reform before raises," said Tom Smith, director of the government watchdog group Public Citizen.

In final unofficial returns, the pay-raising Proposition 1 was defeated by a staggering margin of almost 2-to-1. About 63.4 percent were opposed.

Lawmakers had sought to more than triple their pay, from $7,200 a year to $23,300, and to eliminate the need for voter approval of future raises.

But several lawmakers and citizen groups said revelations that lobbyists spent nearly $2 million this year to entertain legislators — along with tricky ballot wording — doomed the amendment.

"It's a good thing there wasn't

The pay raise — and its companion Proposition 11 to raise lawmakers' daily expense lower," said state Sen. Chet Edwards, D-Duncanville. (see STATE, page 8)

Lamesa and Abilene chosen for short list

AUSTIN (AP) — State prison officials today picked 12 locations as finalists in the high-stakes race for new state prisons.

Abilene, Childress, Freestone County, Lamesa, Pampa and Wichita Falls were chosen as proposed sites in the northern half of the state.

Angelina County, Beeville, Bell County, Dilley, Jefferson County and Polk County were selected as proposed sites in the southern half of Texas.

The Texas Board of Criminal Justice will select six winners next week for three proposed 2,250-bed maximum security units and three proposed 1,000-bed medium security units.

A board subcommittee for the northern sites reached its decision after meeting in a 30-minute closed-door session. The southern half panel nominated sites in public and then voted on each of the nominees.

Voters on Tuesday approved a $400 million bond proposal for prison construction, and mental health and juvenile detention facilities.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Don't worry about today's kids. They may not be able to tell time, but they can set digital watches."

We missed it. We read recently that a consulting firm in Washington was running a contest to find the messiest desk.

The prize was to be a $415 course on time management—billed as a course in cleaning off one's desk and one's mind.

The marketing director for the contest reminded that, "A cluttered desk is a cluttered mind." Symptoms of an unorganized desk include multiple calendars, too many pink phone messages scattered around, reminders on scraps of papers, leaning tower in-boxes and open files atop the desk.

The course was designed to help people organize not only their desk, but their day. It touches on how to keep co-workers and visitors from interrupting your work flow.

The company says there is a misconception among workers that a clean, clear desk says the worker has nothing to do. "You've got to look busy, busy, busy. We say there's nothing to be ashamed of about a clean desk."

We guess that's why we're in the newspaper business rather than in time management. Cluttered desks have been a part of the newspaper tradition even before that famous editor encouraged young men to "Go West."

We would have entered the contest, but the clipping got mislaid. We found it under a stack, but the deadline has since passed.

On a boring TV night a few weeks ago, we took a driver's test. According to the TV, we can't see and shouldn't be driving.

A survey by an oil company says that most motorists moan about the other guy but rank their own driving skills high.

The survey says 37 percent found their own driving to be excellent while two percent felt other drivers need improvement. It's hard to see when you fall asleep.

Q—Why wasn't there anything in the paper about the prison escape this week?

A—Because there was no escape. Warden Les Woods was asked about the apparently widespread rumor, and he said some weekend radio traffic about electrical problems at the Price Daniel Unit could have confused some people who monitor police radio scanners.

Court decides responsibility does not have to be shared

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP) — The Vermont Supreme Court, following a poetic premise by Robert Frost, says good neighbors needn't help keep up good fences.

The five justices on Tuesday found unconstitutional a 1790 law making a livestock owner and neighbor equally responsible for maintaining the fence between their properties.

The ruling came 75 years after Frost, Vermont's and the nation's late poet laureate, published "Mending Wall."

In the poem, Frost questions the springtime ritual of helping his neighbor fix the stone wall between their properties, only to have the old farmer respond, "Good fences make good neighbors."

Frost wrote in part: "... Before I built a wall I'd ask to know

"What I was walling in or walling out

"And to whom I was like to give offense ..."

In Tuesday's case, offense was taken by Ernest and Louise Choquette of Newport when adjoining landowners, Robert and Rose Perrault, refused to help pay for a fence built to keep the Choquettes' cows off the Perraults' land.

The Choquettes sued the Perraults for the amount the town fence viewer ruled the Perraults owed under state law: $316.

Two lower courts ruled in the Choquettes' favor, but the Supreme Court said the Perraults don't have to pay.

The high court's ruling turned on the question of whether the public good outweighed the state Constitution's ban on giving special breaks to special groups — in this case, landowners with livestock.

The court found it made sense in the 18th, 19th and early 20th centuries to say the public good outweighed the no-special-interests clause.

"The land was predominantly open and farmed, and rural landowners were also livestock owners," Justice Ernest Gibson III wrote.

Without the fence law, livestock owners would be solely responsible for keeping their animals from damaging their neighbors' property, and solely responsible for the fence, the court said.

But, Gibson wrote, "As a result of changing land-use patterns, the law more and more often applies to landowners without livestock. In such situations, the fence law is burdensome, arbitrary and confiscatory, and therefore cannot pass constitutional muster."

2 prison escapees caught

MARSHALL, Texas (AP) — Two escapees from the Ramsey II Unit of the Texas Department Corrections were captured following a wild bullet-punctuated chase on Interstate 20 near Marshall in East Texas.

A manhunt was underway on and around the interstate highway early today for a third man who was accompanying the men as they fled in a car stolen from a TDC employee at the prison unit near Rosharon in Brazoria County.

Authorities said they apprehended escapees Curtis Sanders, 47, and James Lee, 38, both of Harris County, at the end of a wild chase late Tuesday in which a car driven by the escapees was pursued by Harrison County deputies at speeds in excess of 100 mph.

The men were being held in the Harrison County Jail at Marshall early today.

The chase began when two men attempted to rob a Texaco service station at Waskom, Harrison County officers said.

Officers said the men turned around on Interstate 20 at Hallsville and a gunfight ensued.

The men were captured by a group of Marshall-area officers, including Hallsville City Marshal Jerry Stone and Harrison County deputies Bill Morris and Phil Walter.

Officers used dogs from Smith County and the Coffield Unit of the TDC and a Texas Department of Public Safety helicopter to search for the third man who was believed to have been wounded when officers shot out the rear window of the fleeing car.

The identity of the escapees was not learned following their capture until authorities traced the vehicle number on the car to a car stolen from a records clerk at the TDC Ramsey II Unit.

Sanders had been serving 25 years for aggravated robbery and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle from Harris County and Lee had been serving a 25-year prison term for theft and burglary from Harris County.

TDC spokesman Charles Brown said the men escaped about 7:45 p.m. on October 31.

Dallas County judge takes stand

AUSTIN (AP) — A Dallas County judge testified in his assault trial that the badge he flashed at an Austin police officer, then later refused to surrender, was a gift and not an official form of identification.

Criminal Court Judge George Shepherd Jr. took the witness stand Tuesday to dispute charges that he intentionally struck Austin police Officer Bill Thompson outside an appliance store last March.

According to earlier testimony, Shepherd left A&B TV Inc. after having a loud disagreement with store owner Mike Webb, during which Webb called police.

Shepherd said he showed Thompson a badge, identified himself as a Dallas County judge and ordered the officer to arrest Webb for "criminal consumer fraud."

After being told the policeman couldn't handle his complaint,

Shepherd said he decided to leave. When Thompson repeatedly asked to see the badge, Shepherd refused and began to drive away, the judge testified.

"He reached in and grabbed it out of my hand. I reached and grabbed it back," Shepherd said.

Charges may be dropped in old case

DALLAS (AP) - A missing file may force prosecutors to drop a murder charge against a 64-year-old Chicago man who was tracked down and jailed in the 29-year-old slaying of a Dallas woman.

Norm Kinne, chief prosecutor for the Dallas County district attorney's office, said Tuesday they may have to dismiss the charge against Robert Mitchell, 64, who is being held in Chicago pending extradition to Texas.

Mitchell was arrested in Chicago last Friday in connection with the Sept. 20, 1960, shooting death of Billie Marie Redmon Phillips, his ex-girlfriend.

Mitchell was located by Dallas County deputies who were searching through old warrants.

Kinne said the file may be impossible to locate because the district attorney's office has been moved twice since 1960 and the case file has probably changed hands among more than a dozen assistant prosecutors over the years.

"I don't know that we can find the file, let alone the witnesses or evidence to go to court," Kinne said.

The prosecutor asked for a copy of the file from Dallas police detectives late Tuesday afternoon. Detectives plan to search the city's archives today for the file.

Deputy Chief Ray Hawkins, head of the department's violent crime detectives, said that even if the file is found, it may not contain enough information to be helpful.

"The truth of the matter is that the further back you go the less documentation we find,"

Hawkins said. "Back then, much of the investigation was kept in personal notes that detectives take with them when they leave."

"It's no secret that time is not on the side of prosecution when it comes to these cases," he said.

Kinne said it will probably be a week before he decides whether he can prosecute the case.

"If it were a theft, a burglary or some other non-violent charge, then it would be easy to say, 'Well, this guy's turned his life around, and we'll just let it go,'" he said. "But this is a murder case. We'll have to find a copy of the file and take a look at the evidence, whether we can still find the witnesses and everything else before we make a decision on extraditing him."

After the slaying, Mitchell took the name of Billie Jackson. He moved to Chicago, married, worked 17 years at a steel mill, reared five children and now has three grandchildren.

C-5 aircraft burns at U.S. Air Force Base

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Kelly Air Force Base officials today were assessing damage to a C-5 cargo plane and searching for clues in the second fire to cripple a military aircraft here in less than four months.

Six people, including a base firefighter, suffered smoke inhalation in the Tuesday blaze, said Kelly spokesman Lt. Dave Ebner. The firefighters were taken by ambulance to Wilford Hall Medical Center.

Another firefighter was admitted for observation after complaining of chest pains and five maintenance workers were treated for minor smoke inhalation, officials said.

It was not immediately known what sparked the fire at 5:05 p.m. that damaged the upper rear fuselage of the C-5, the world's largest cargo plane.

"It'll take an appointed board of officers to determine the cause. A thorough investigation is being conducted by Air Force officials," said Gary DuPriest, Kelly spokesman.

Authorities placed support devices beneath the aircraft Tuesday night to keep it from collapsing.

Two 60-ton jacks are being placed under the tail section, and two jacks (are being placed under each wing," Ebner said. After the plane began to burn, base officials evacuated nearby Building 375 before the fire was brought under control in about 25 minutes, according to Ebner.

San Antonio Fire Department dispatcher A.C. Henley said the base contacted his department at 5:18 seeking help in tapping out the blaze.

"Kelly called San Antonio for aid for a ladder truck, so we dispatched a ladder truck and an assistant chief," Henley said.

The C-5 is believed to have been delivered to the Air Force sometime in 1971-72 and belongs to the 433rd Military Airlift Wing at Kelly. It arrived for maintenance in June and was scheduled for return to the airlift wing within two weeks.

A case of show and tell

By James Jacoby
 With favorable vulnerability you can get into the bidding with a long suit, but you may give away more about your hand than you gain, particularly if your opposing declarer is internationalist Sally Horton. West gave information when she belatedly came in with four clubs, perhaps suggesting a save against four spades.

West led a heart; the 10 was played from dummy and the jack from East, and South won the queen. Three rounds of diamonds followed, on which Horton discarded two hearts. West ruffed the third diamond and led another heart. Declarer ruffed and led the king of clubs. West took the ace and played still another heart. Declarer now ruffed and considered the bidding. West had shown up with three hearts and two diamonds, and had come in with a four-club call. If that were a seven-card suit, West had started with only one spade. Furthermore, if West had more than one spade originally, he might have led a spade after winning the club ace. So Sally ruffed a club with a low spade, ruffed a diamond from dummy with her spade 10, and then ruffed her last club with dummy's queen. East overruffed with the ace and led the last heart, but Sally had prepared for this end position when she used her spade 10 earlier. She ruffed with her seven of spades, overruffed in dummy with the spade eight, and now dummy was on play. East had the J-5 of trumps, but declarer was playing behind East with the K-9.

Perhaps declarer would have done as well without the West four-club butt-in bid, but it would not have been easy.

DENNIS THE MENACE

TOUGH UNDER THE BASKET — Kenneth Critton, 54, goes up for a WTC rebound in action Tuesday night. Critton and the Westerners defeated Ranger Junior College, 108-103, to give the Blue and Green a 2-0 season mark heading into this weekend's WTC-McDonald's Men's Basketball Tournament. ## Final score 108-103... Westerners beat RJC

A furious comeback effort with three minutes left in the game fell short for the visiting Ranger Junior College squad as they fell to Western Texas in basketball action 108-103 Tuesday.

The Westerners took a 59-41 advantage into halftime and stretched the lead to as far as 92-71 with 7:41 left in the second half before Ranger began their rally.

A basket by Charles White of Ranger closed the score to 102-98. White was fouled by Cedric Mason and he tacked a free throw to the total to bring RJC within three points with 1:40 left on the Scurry County Coliseum clock.

David Smith got a follow-in hoop for the Westerners at the :56 mark after a Lester White score that gave WTC a five-point lead with only nine seconds left to ice the contest.

"This was like our first game all over again," said WTC head coach Tony Mauldin.

"We had a two-and-a-half week lay-off since we played Southwest Christian and we played like it at times."

"We were glad to get the win, of course, but we should have played better defense and gone inside there at the end instead of the quick shots we were making," he added. "We really should have put them away earlier."

"We missed 13 first half shots in the paint," said assistant coach Don Clay.

"We could have been up on a pretty good Ranger team by 30 at the half."

Alfredo Porter led the Westerners cause with 19 points. Porter made seven baskets from the floor and went one of two from the free throw line.

In all, six WTC players ended up in double figures in scoring.

Allen Smith and Kenneth Critton each carded 13 points followed by David Smith with 12, Ray Johnson and Dominick Byrd with 11 each, Cedric Mason with nine, Lester White with eight and Tony Joyce with five.

Reg Davis of Ranger led all scorers with 41 points, including eight three-pointers.

The next action for the Westerners will be this weekend as they host the WTC-McDonald's Men's Basketball Tournament.

WTC's first game in the event will be against Cisco Junior College at 8 p.m. Friday.

The Westerners will see Ranger again as they tangle on Saturday at 6 p.m. in the tourney.

The other games in the classic-format event include Howard College at South Plains College at 4 p.m. Friday and South Plains College against Cisco at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The men's tournament will run in conjunction with the WTC Women's Classic this weekend.

Both events will be held at the Scurry County Coliseum.

Dusters dominate Ranger in Tuesday's 84-39 victory

The Lady Dusters of Western Texas College scrambled for a 36-20 halftime lead against Ranger Junior College Tuesday and fought to an impressive 84-39 victory.

Leading 27-18, coach Kelly Chadwick called a timeout at 4:10 in the first half to try to spark his squad.

They immediately responded with a defensive tenacity that resulted in a 9-2 run in favor of the Dusters to end the half.

Ranger was stymied even further in the second half as it wasn't until 7:39 left in the game that they scored their 30th point. By that time the Lady Dusters had a 35 point lead.

Western Texas galloped to a 63-28 advantage, a 27-8 stretch, that put the game away for good with eight minutes left in the contest.

The Rangerettes only flash of adequacy came in the second half as they shut down WTC's offense for almost four minutes before Carla Gladden popped the cords for a three-point goal.

"We played awfully good," said Chadwick following the game.

"Our defense, especially our man-to-man defense was really good."

"We don't have any shooting percentages available but I feel like the girls shot better tonight than at South Plains," he said.

"Our point guards, Vicky Jones and Carla Gladden had a good game. They played really well for freshmen. The whole team played hard," he concluded.

Leading the scoring for the Dusters was Tami Wilson with 21 points. Wilson hit nine shots from the floor and was three of five from the charity stripe.

Bobbie Jones trailed her closely with 16 points on six field goals, four from three-point range.

Gladden was also in double figures with 12 on five field goals and a one of two preformance from the free throw line.

Tracy Edmunds, Kelsey

Koester and Tammy Williams all poured in eight points followed by Jones with four, Jill Forrest with three and Dedra Brooks with two.

The win ups the Lady Dusters' record to 4-0 on the season.

Their next action will be Thursday as the WTC Women's Classic is slated for this weekend.

Thursday games include The Dusters against South Plains College at 8 p.m. following the 6 p.m. matchup featuring Cisco Junior College and Howard College.

On Friday the Dusters play at 8 p.m. again as they tangle with Cisco.

The action starts at 4 p.m. Friday as Howard and South Plains collide.

Saturday games in the event include South Plains and Cisco at 4 p.m. and WTC against Howard at 8 p.m.

The Women's Classic will be held at the same time as the WTC-McDonald's Men's Basketball Tournament.

The men's tourney, as well as the women's event, will be held at the Scurry County Coliseum.

Tiger players grab weekly grid honors

The Snyder football coaches have released the list of weekly award winners following last Friday's 12-10 loss at Pecos.

Linebacker-tight end Bart Morton received awards on several fronts as he recovered a Pecos fumble, trapped Eagle quarterback Monty Medanich three times, led the squad in tackles with 12 and graded out at 100 percent offensively and 83 percent on defense.

Jody Iglehart was another multiple honoree as he caused a fumble, recorded a sack of Medanich and snatched the Big Hit Award when he caused the Pecos signal-caller to fumble.

David Jennings pounced on a PHS fumble and Mark King scooped up two interceptions Friday night to bring Snyder's total turnover count to 19 on the season.

King received a grade of 96 percent for his efforts in the contest. Dewayne Cato rushed for 109 yards on 20 carries to lead the club and to claim the 100-Yard Club award.

Cato was also cited for getting 10 knockdowns.

Presley took out seven Eagles while linemen Kevin Murdock and Jennings claimed 13 and 12 scalps, respectively.

A knockdown is awarded to a lineman or back who takes a defender off his feet during a play. Linemen are recognized for a dozen knockdowns and backs are cited after seven.

Shelby Bufkin received the Great Fake award for three fakes that drew at least four defenders his way.

Ed Rios and Kelly McGaha were each honored for outstanding coverage on kick-offs.

Other special teams award recipients include Paul Anderson for his alert recovery of a Pecos on-side kick, Bay John Long for perfect snaps in kicking situations and kicker Bert Merritt for a 41-yard field goal and an extra point.

Offensive players receiving a coaches' grade of 80 percent or higher include Toby Goodwin with 93 percent, Rios with 100 percent, Anderson with 83 percent, Bufkin with 100 percent, Cato with 90 percent and Presley with 84 percent.

Terry Snyder graded out at 83 percent, Chad Fox at 93 percent, and Clint Haywood at 83 percent.

Members of the Tigers' defensive unit who received passing grades from the coaching staff are Hayward Clay at 92 percent, Bill Hodges at 91 percent, Terry Stephens at 91 percent, Hernandez at 100 percent, Damien Haywood at 86 percent, Clint Haywood at 83 percent, Merritt at 94 percent, Willie Garcia at 94 percent and Charlie Guynes at 91 percent.

The awards are given to players at a weekly motivational meeting.

Olson tabbed AL honoree

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gregg Olson's 1989 Rookie of the Year season was a series of small steps that led up to a final rush of success.

Olson did not win a spot on the Baltimore Orioles' Opening Day roster until the final weeks of spring training. He grew into the Orioles' closer over the first two months of the season.

And, as the Orioles battled to the final weekend for the American League East Division title, he finished with 21 consecutive scoreless appearances, a streak that clinched the award.

"Staying in contention as long as we did, that made the whole season fun," Olson said by telephone from Louisville, Ky.

Ruzek dumped

IRVING, Texas (AP) — A prolonged slump that began last year led to the release of kicker Roger Ruzek, Dallas Cowboys coach Jimmy Johnson said.

The Cowboys on Tuesday released Ruzek and replaced him on the roster with Luis Zendejas.

"Roger had been struggling with his kickoffs and his field goals," Cowboys coach Jimmy Johnson said. "He has been in a slump that was a carry-over from a year ago."

FOLLOW THE LEADERS

GE Mobile Communications

Use it as a mobile telephone or a two-way radio, or both. The decision is yours.

GE designed the TMX 8712 radio with built-in programming flexibility to be what you want it to be. You can use the TMX 8712 radio strictly as a mobile telephone or strictly as a radio. Or, if you need a mobile telephone and a two-way radio, you've got both. Your GE representative can easily program the radio to function as one or the other. That means you won't have to select radio or telephone call by call. If your communications needs change, your local GE representative simply uses a PC to re-program your TMX 8712 radio.

As a mobile telephone: The TMX 8712 radio makes doing business on the road easier than ever.

The TMX 8712 radio can operate as a mobile telephone with complete access to the public telephone system. So you can handle business across the road or across the country —without leaving your car. And with touch control buttons and state-of-the-art features, the TMX 8712 mobile radio is easy to use.

Mobile telephone features:

Full-duplex capability lets it operate just like your home telephone. Backlit keypad and numeric LCD are easy to read.

Autodialer stores and recalls up to 10 frequently used numbers, of up to 15 digits each.

Last number redial saves time and effort.

Sleek handset design complements today's vehicle interiors.

Defense says...

Truck driver is no murderer

CARROLLTON, Ky. (AP) — A man whose truck smashed into a bus, killing 27 people, accepts some responsibility for the nation's deadliest drunken-driving crash, but is no murderer, his attorney said on the eve of his trial.

Larry Mahoney, who authorities say drank as much as a case of beer the day of the fiery crash with a school bus carrying a church youth group, is charged with 27 counts of murder.

Jury selection was scheduled to begin today in Carroll Circuit Court in his trial on 83 charges. In addition to murder, Mahoney is charged with drunken driving and assault and wanton endangering counts connected with injuries to some of the 40 people who escaped the burning bus on May 14, 1988.

Defense attorney William Summers said he planned to argue that Mahoney, 36, of Worthville, isn't guilty of murder.

"He believes that he had a part in it, yes," Summers said. "He's not a murderer...."

"My defense will revolve around whether Larry Mahoney is a murderer or whether Larry Mahoney was involved in a traffic manslaughter," Summers said last week.

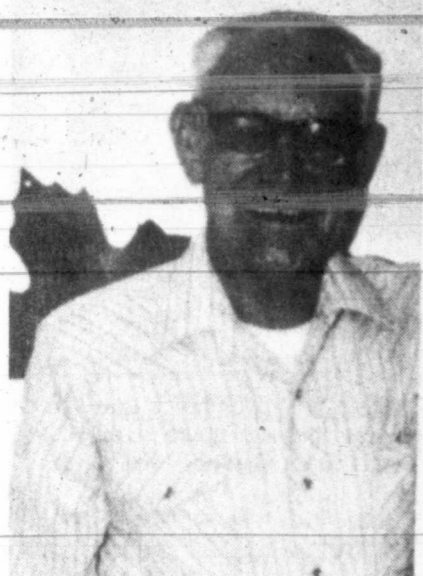

Authorities said Mahoney's pickup truck was traveling the wrong way on Interstate 71 outside Carrollton, near the Ohio-Kentucky line, when it slammed into the bus carrying members of the First Assembly of God in Radcliff. The dead, all victims of smoke inhalation, included 24 members of the youth group. The youngest victim was 10. Three adults also died.

Mahoney has pleaded innocent to all of the charges.

State Assistant Attorney General Paul Richwalsky was appointed to prosecute the crash, the nation's second-worst school bus wreck.

Summers said he expected most of the nearly 300 potential jurors to have heard of the case, which prompted a national debate.

Gramm-Rudman targets...

Texas would feel pinch of possible budget cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Congress decides to stick with across-the-board cuts to the federal budget, farmers, military personnel, space workers and defense contractors across Texas would feel the pinch, says a study by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen's legislative staff.

If the cuts remain through the rest of the fiscal year, Texas dairy farmers would see their annual crop payments, drop by $6,400, wheat farmers would lose $1,100, and spending by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in the state could be reduced by $40 million to $55 million, the study said.

Released Tuesday, the study also said the Gramm-Rudman cuts could cause a loss of 10,800 active duty military personnel in Texas, a reduction of $11.7 million for the super collider particle accelerator south of Dallas, and a $100 million cut for the space station, which is being built in part at Johnson Space Center in Houston.

The study also said the cuts could give Defense Secretary Dick Cheney the chance to kill the V-22 Osprey, a hybrid airplane-helicopter being built for the Marines in Fort Worth.

Bentsen, D-Texas, compared the Gramm-Rudman automatic spending cuts to a meat ax, "which doesn't distinguish between muscle and gristle." He and Sen. Phil Gramm, an author of the Gramm-Rudman budget cuts, said they would prefer reducing the budget deficit through selected cuts.

House-Senate negotiators, however, have been unable to pass a compromise budget-cutting bill. The Bush administration and key Republicans in Congress are now indicating they are prepared to accept as permanent the $16.2 billion in spending cuts imposed by Gramm-Rudman.

"If Congress has the will, it can avoid these cuts from going into effect. It will be complete abrogation of our responsibility if we don't. I hope that talk about accepting it in both Congress and the White House is just bravado," Gramm, R-Texas, said Tuesday.

State

allowance from $30 to $81 — were the only losers among the 21 constitutional amendments on Tuesday's ballot.

Nineteen other amendments were approved by voters, including a $500 million water bond issue that will provide $100 million to put running water and sewers in the substandard developments called "colonias" along the Texas-Mexico border.

Among amendments winning approval were four to toughen the state's criminal justice system. Those included $400 million in bonds for new prisons and mental health facilities, a victims' "Bill of Rights," and a truth-in-sentencing plan to allow judges to tell jurors the effects of good-conduct time and parole on sentences.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I was on insulin in the past, and it made me drowsy and weak to the point I could not walk. I'm on it again and have the same symptoms. Are there people who cannot tolerate insulin?

DEAR READER: No. Insulin is normally produced in the body and, in the proper quantity, does not result in intolerance. More likely, you are receiving an improper dose. It's often difficult to determine how much insulin a diabetic needs to take. Too little is ineffective, allowing the blood sugar to rise to unacceptably high levels. Too much insulin lowers the blood sugar, leading to weakness, faintness and sleepiness.

I believe your dose of insulin requires adjustment. This is easy to check. During one of your "spells" after taking insulin, obtain a blood-glucose reading at your local hospital or in your doctor's office. If the sugar level is low — below 50 milligrams per deciliter — you'll need either a reduction in the dose or a change in the type of insulin.

For example, long-acting insulin preparations may cause "tea-time hypoglycemia," a low blood sugar late in the afternoon, even when the sugar level has been normal all day. Reducing the long-acting product and adding short-acting, regular insulin solves the problem.

You should bring your symptoms to your doctor's attention. This is important. He or she needs to know how you feel, so that your insulin doses can be tailored to your particular requirements.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Diabetes Mellitus." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Lab work indicates my pituitary gland is not functioning. What medicine and treatment is necessary to activate the gland?

DEAR READER: The pituitary gland, situated deep in the brain, helps regulate many of the body's most important functions. The posterior (back) portion of the gland secretes anti-diuretic hormone (promotes conservation of water by the kidneys) and oxytocin (necessary for normal reproductive functioning in women).

The anterior (front) pituitary secretes thyroid-stimulating hormone (controls the thyroid gland), prolactin (necessary for lactation), luteinizing hormone and follicle-stimulating hormone (both vital for female reproduction), growth hormone (stimulates normal development), and adrenocorticotropic hormone (stimulates the adrenal glands to produce cortisone needed for normal metabolism and mineral balance).

Thus, an underactive pituitary gland will have an impact on many body systems: Growth, maturation, sexual characteristics, water balance, nutrition and immunity, to mention a few.

Treatment of pituitary insufficiency involves two goals: to discover and treat the cause of the insufficiency, and to replace the missing hormones. Depending on which hormones are deficient, you will need to be given supplements; most commonly, this requires adrenocorticotropic hormone injections and the oral administration of thyroid and sex hormones. If the cause of the pituitary failure can be corrected — for example, by treating a pituitary growth with radiation — the gland can return to normal.

Territory reclaimed by 'silver state'

CRYSTAL BAY, Nev. (AP) — The Sagebrush War over the boundary between California and Nevada ended in 1863, but inside the Cal-Neva Lodge, it was only recently that the Silver State reclaimed some territory.

It turns out the red line painted down the middle of the hotel-casino on the north shore of Lake Tahoe was about 6 feet too far to the east.

"Basically, the border used to be painted in the middle of the fireplace in the Indian Room but somewhere along the line someone got cute and moved it over," owner Charles Bluth explained Tuesday. "We discovered it during the renovation when we were going through historical records."

Bluth, who's restoring the lodge to its 1937 appearance, recently had the line repainted where it belongs, farther west. It no longer goes over a boulder decorated with a blue-painted hole representing Lake Tahoe, but it still runs down the middle of the swimming pool so guests can say they swam from California to Nevada, or vice-versa.

The original boundary dispute was settled with gunfire and litigation that went all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Baptists pick new president Tuesday

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — The new president of Texas' largest religious denomination can be pretty funny, but he says he is serious about wanting to heal rifts in the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

As Phil Lineberger was beginning a news conference shortly after winning the presidential election Tuesday, a phone in the back of the room rang.

"If that's my mother, tell her I'm busy," the 44-year-old pastor of Richardson Heights Baptist Church of Richardson cracked.

Later, the University of Arkansas graduate commented on his endorsement by the Baylor Alumni Association as "a miracle almost like the parting of the Red Sea" because of the traditional rivalry between Baylor and his alma mater.

That endorsement by the moderate alumni association was evidence of the struggle between fundamentalist and moderate factions of the Texas Baptists, who count 2.4 million members in almost 4,000 congregations.

Lineberger said he wants to mend the strained relations with fundamentalists.

"I would like them to sit down with me and talk with me and tell me why they don't feel included and try to work out that problem," Lineberger said. "I think Texas Baptists need to get more to centering on things they have to be grateful for instead of concentrating on the problems."

He said Baptists "need to loosen up and not be so serious about each other."

While fundamentalists have controlled the Southern Baptist Convention for several years, moderates have retained control of the Texas Baptist Convention — to the increasing frustration of fundamentalists.

Lineberger defeated John Morgan, pastor of Sagemont Baptist in Houston and a fundamentalist leader, on the first ballot. Also running was H. Bailey Stone, pastor of First Baptist of Odessa.

The convention traditionally does not reveal the margin of victory; 4,761 ballots were counted.

Lineberger succeeds Joel Gregory, pastor of Travis Avenue Baptist in Fort Worth. Following custom, Gregory is stepping down after two one-year terms.

Delegates adopted a $68.8 million budget to pay for missions within and outside Texas, hospitals, homes for the aged and Texas' eight Baptist universities, including Baylor.

Fourteenth body said identified

PASADENA, Texas (AP) — Rescue crews were delayed Tuesday in their attempts to locate four missing workers in the rubble of the Phillips Petroleum Co. plastics plant when special equipment failed.

Meanwhile, officials Tuesday identified the 14th person killed in the Oct. 23 series of explosions at the polyethylene plant as James Edward Allen, 37, of Pasadena. An eight-year Phillips employee, Allen was a No. 1 operator at the plant, said Phillips spokeswoman Patricia Marshall.

Eighteen bodies have been recovered from the No. 5 plant, while a 19th employee died of burns at a Pasadena hospital. The Harris County Medical Examiner's office has been unable to identify the remains of five workers.

Dear Abby

Woman's Road to Romance Runs Smack Into Dead End

DEAR ABBY: The man I started seeing three months ago broke up with me, and I would do anything in the world to get him back. Here's what happened: Phil and I met through an ad I had placed in a newspaper. In the ad I said I was divorced when, in fact, I am only separated.

We "clicked" the first time we met. When we got to know each other better, he said I was the answer to his prayers, and I knew he was the answer to mine.

Then, on the phone one night, I let it slip that I was not actually divorced — only separated. He became very angry, saying that our relationship had been based on deception; I was a liar, he detested liars, and he wanted nothing more to do with me. He said goodbye and hung up.

Abby, I've had nothing to do with my husband for five months, and I consider myself divorced, but I haven't filed yet.

I've called Phil, and he won't even talk to me. I've written him letters of apology, but he returns them unread.

I realize I can't force him to talk to me or read my letters, but he won't even give me a chance to clear the air so we can pick up our relationship where we left off.

I am not a dishonest person. I didn't think it was all that important to tell him when we first met that I wasn't divorced, as I had indicated in my ad.

How can I get him to give me another chance?

SORRY, SORRY, SORRY

DEAR SORRY: I'm sorry, too. You blew it. I see no way for you to get back into Phil's good graces. Chalk this up to "tuition in the school of experience," and learn from it.

DEAR ABBY: Although I have already celebrated my 80th birthday, I do not consider myself elderly. However, that's not my problem. It's the matter of Christmas gifts. I was married at a very early age and promptly had babies — lots of them. They grew up and had babies. Their babies had babies, and now there are almost too many to count, and they are scattered to the far corners of the Earth!

I have given gifts to each and every one of them, even though I don't even know some of my "children-in-law" (if there is such a word), and I have never seen several of my great-grandchildren.

I would like to stop buying gifts. But how? Do I dare to stop — cold turkey?

How have others handled this awkward situation? I imagine some of those relatives would be just as happy not having to worry about what to get Grandma, or writing thank-you notes for gifts they weren't too crazy about to begin with. Thanks for your help, Abby.

GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: I have made this suggestion in previous years: Come Thanksgiving time, send notes saying: "I am thankful for family with whom I can be completely honest. I am not planning to send Christmas gifts this year — nor do I expect any — but please accept my love and best wishes for a healthy, happy, blessed holiday."

You'll be greatly relieved. And so will they. Trust me.

CONFIDENTIAL TO GETTING EVEN IN MILLBRAE, CALIF.: As the Duke of Norfolk said to the Duke of Buckingham in Shakespeare's "King Henry VIII": "Heat not a furnace for your foe so hot that it do singe yourself."

Problems? Write to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. All correspondence is confidential.

Whitmire wins her fifth term

HOUSTON (AP) — Kathy Whitmire, who led the nation's fourth-largest city through the economically tumultuous 1980s, received solid backing to steer Houston into the next decade with a resounding election win over former Mayor Fred Hofheinz.

"The campaign is over, tonight we have a victory," Mrs. Whitmire said Tuesday night as her 2-1 triumph became clear. "We need to move Houston into a great new decade that is only two months away. Our high priority in the 1990s is to make sure the economic recovery benefits all of Houston."

Mrs. Whitmire finished with 173,285 votes, or 63.2 percent, to 87,836 or 32 percent for Hofheinz. Four other candidates shared the remaining vote, which amounted to less than 5 percent.

Mrs. Whitmire's election to a fifth two-year term tied a city record for longevity.

"You have given me such a high honor," she told supporters. "I am so proud. You have placed your trust in me. My goal is to live up to that trust and to make sure our community is the greatest city anywhere in the world."

The loss for Hofheinz, 51, an attorney, snuffed his bid for a political comeback. The son of Roy Hofheinz, the colorful Harris County judge whose legacy is the Houston Astrodome, served as mayor for two terms in the 1970s.

"This is not the end of anything," Hofheinz said. "It is the beginning of something. A tremendous number of people went to the polls with our vision of 1990. I don't leave unhappy. We have accomplished something. This is not the end."

The two sparred in numerous debates throughout the campaign, but Hofheinz' assertions that Mrs. Whitmire had run out of steam after eight years on the job never appeared to take hold. After an initial spurt in pre-election polls, the incumbent grabbed a commanding lead and continued to build on it.

A tight race in the vote count never developed Tuesday, with Mrs. Whitmire grabbing an early lead and then pulling away.

Mrs. Whitmire, a 43-year-old accountant, took office at the height of the oil boom, but then had to deal with declining revenues and a shattered economy when oil prices collapsed. She touted her handling of city finances through the tough times and boasted that unemployment, which peaked at some 13 percent, is now around 5 percent.

When she first took office in 1982 as Houston's first woman mayor, incumbent Jim McConn was the loser. In her third-term race, she easily handled the comeback bid of Louie Welch, who now shares his record of five consecutive terms with Mrs. Whitmire. And with the victory over Hofheinz, she defeated another former mayor.

"It's been a long campaign but a fun campaign," she said. "We never knew exactly what to expect. We felt if we kept the campaign on a positive note, we'd win, and that's what we've done. I think there was a lot of mudslinging but I'm ready to put that behind us."

Investigators are unable to talk to police officer

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Police Department internal affairs investigators have been unable to interview an officer who shot and killed a Galveston woman after the two exchanged gunfire on a Houston freeway.

Officials planned to interview Alex Gonzales, 25, about the Oct. 31 incident, but Gonzales was heavily sedated. Gonzales was wounded in the chest in the exchange and remained Tuesday at Hermann Hospital.

Ida Lee Delaney, 50, was killed after she apparently cut off Gonzales and two other off-duty officers about 5 a.m. that day. The officers, who reportedly had celebrated a co-worker's birthday at a local nightclub, followed Ms. Delaney, honking their honk and flashing their lights.

After nine miles, Ms. Delaney, who was en route to work, pulled to the shoulder in front of a Texas Highways Department repair truck. She returned to her vehicle to get a gun and Gonzales got his service revolver from his trunk. Both emptied their guns at close range, officers said. Ms. Delaney was shot four times. Both the FBI and the police department acknowledged Gonzales had consumed nearly twice the amount of alcohol allowed by law before the shooting.

A police official confirmed Gonzales' blood tests — acquired from Hermann Hospital though a Harris County grand jury — revealed a .19 percent alcohol-blood content. By state law, a person is considered intoxicated with at least a .10 percent measure of alcohol.

Willie Shaw, Ms. Delaney's brother, said he met Monday with attorney Scott Sanes, who will represent the family should they elect to file a suit over the fatal shooting.

The two other officers refused to give blood samples when questioned by homicide investigators and both have been reassigned to desk jobs in the department.
