AFSA drive begins

The Air Force Sergeant's Association begins its annual membership campaign Sunday.

Chief Master Sergeant Steve Greenwell, Chapter 1068 President and Membership Chairman, announced the beginning of the campaign and pointed out that AFSA membership is nearly 155,000. According to Chief Greenwell, membership in AFSA is entirely voluntary. "AFSA represents enlisted active duty and retired Air Force, Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve members of all grades," he added.

This year's drive is an official Air Force drive and has been sanctioned by all command levels from the Chief of Staff down. In Chief Master Sergeant of the Air Force Jim Binnicker's letter he states, "When it comes to protecting your pay and benefits, the Air Force enlisted corps has no greater friend than the Air Force Sergeants Association." He goes on to say, "And that's exactly why I strongly encourage every enlisted man and woman, airman basic through chief master sergeant, to join me as a proud member of the Air Force Sergeants Association. AFSA truly is our association, and by supporting it, you're putting money in your pocket." The Air Training Command Senior Enlisted Advisor, Chief Bobby Renfroe has also provided support and is acting as the command Membership Chairman.

"Locally, strong support has already been provided by CMSgt. Coy Martin, 64th Flying Training Wing Senior Enlisted Advisor, and the command staff," Chief Greenwell said. Chapter 1068 provides strong support to the local community, over and above the benefits gained just by membership in the national organization. Some examples of that are the strong financial and professional support provided to the Honor Guard Recognition Programs, the sponsorship of the Leadership and Management Award for each NCO Leadership Class, and financial and manpower support for nearly every fund raising activity.

Members of the local chapter raised over 500 dollars recently for the Muscular Dystrophy Association through a Bowl-a-Thon; they manned telephones for hours during the Labor Day Jerry Lewis Telethon which broke all previous records both locally and nationally in the amounts raised for Jerry's Kids. "You too can participate in these worthwhile and professional activities, merely by joining and becoming active with Chapter 1068," Chief Greenwell said.

Membership in AFSA is open to all active duty and retired enlisted members of all grades of the U.S. Air Force, Air Force Reserve, and Air National Guard.

History repeats itself

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (AFNS)—The world's first sonic boom will be reenacted during an Open House and Air Show at Edwards AFB, Calif., Nov. 8 by the man who performed the original earth-shaking feat 40 years ago.

Retired Brig. Gen. Chuck Yeager, flying an F-4 Phantom II fighter, will reenact the sonic boom of Oct. 14, 1947, at the Mojave Desert site.

Then 25-year-old Captain Yeager broke the sound barrier—the world's first supersonic flight—on the ninth flight of a Bell X-1 rocket aircraft. He achieved Mach 1.06, a speed that skeptics said would cause the aircraft to disintegrate or blow up.

General Yeager and four others closely associated with the historic X-1 flight also will be featured at the anniversary.

Scheduled to join General Yeager to discuss the background and significance of the X-1 high-speed research project are:

•Bob Cardenas, now a retired Air

Force Brigadier General who was the project pilot for the B-29 mother ship that took General Yeager and the X-1 aloft.

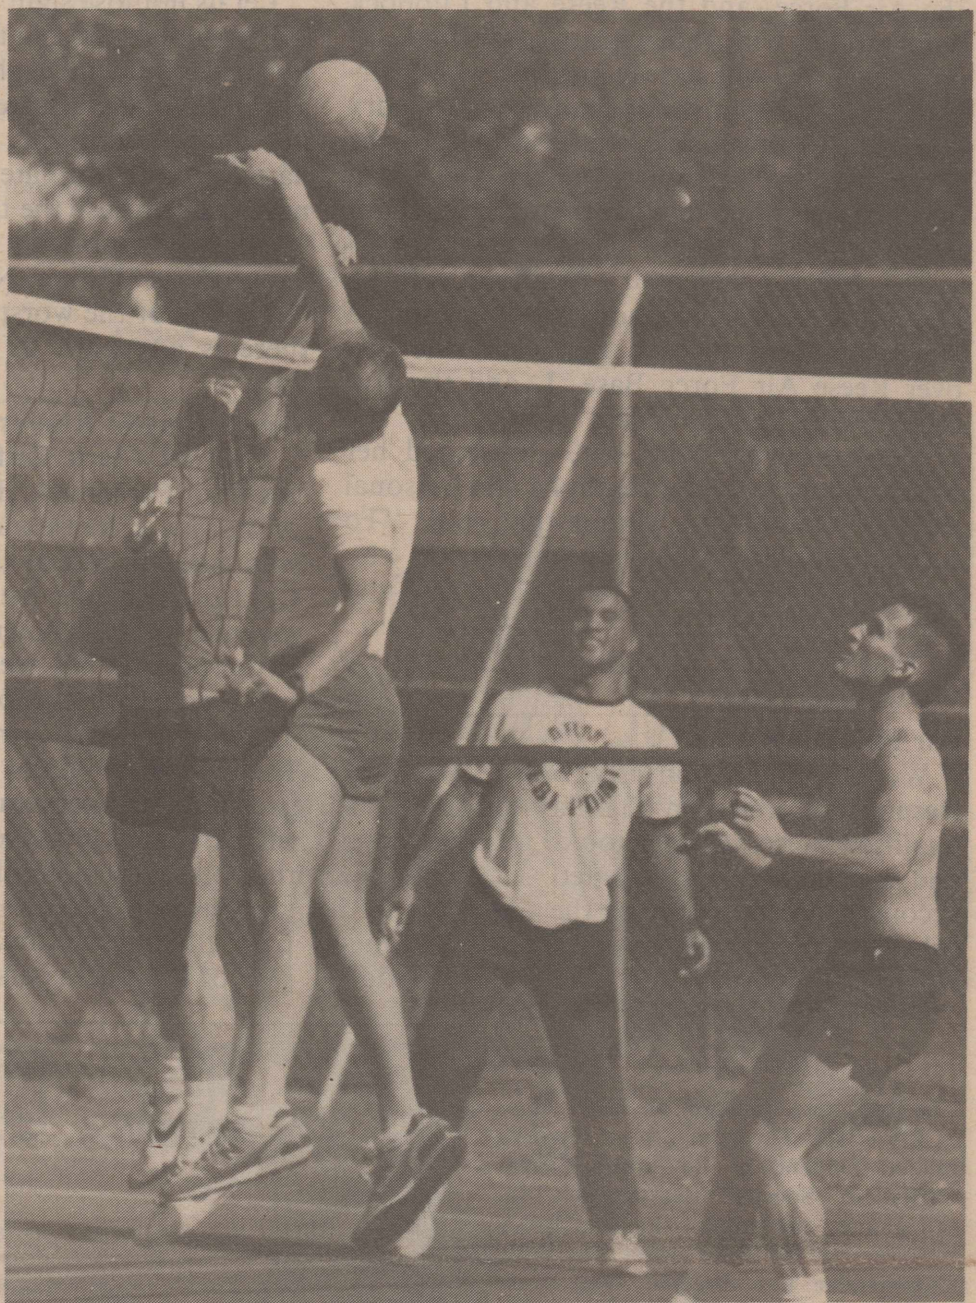

•Jack Russell, X-1 Crew Chief.
•Dick Frost, Chief X-1 Project Engineer from Bell Aircraft Company and chase aircraft pilot.

•Robert Hoover, then an Air Force lieutenant, back-up X-1 pilot and also a chase aircraft pilot on the flight.

The X-1 project is considered a milestone in aviation history. Until that time, the fastest speed reached in controlled flight had been Mach 0.8.

The X-1 is now on public display in the National Air and Space Museum in Washington, D.C.

Advance tickets to the Symposium can be purchased at $5 each from the Flight Test Historical Foundation, Post Office Box 57, Edwards AFB, Calif., 93523. For more information contact Doug Nelson, Museum Curator for the Air Flight Test Center, at (805) 277-6050.

Taking advantage of the remaining nice weather, Undergraduate Pilot Training students play a game of volleyball, filling their requirement of physical activity. UPT students are required to perform one hour per day in their first three weeks, one day a week the following four months, and twice a week in the T-38 phase of training.

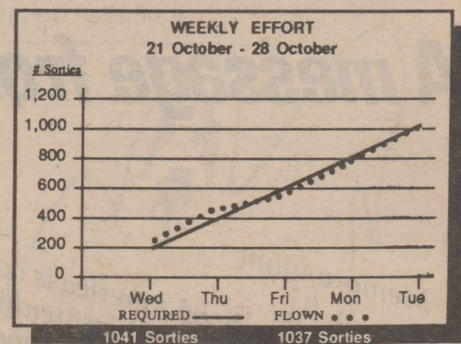

CFC update

As of 28 October, $119,613 has been donated to the 1987 Combined Federal Campaign.

1987 Goal: $134,000
Total raised: 89%

Mission Milestones

The 64 FTW finished only slightly below the weekly effort. A bit of bad weather last Friday pulled us below the goal.

Maj. Per A. Korslund
Chief of Operations, 64 CES

Last week the 64th Civil Engineering Rocker Council donated a check for $250 to the base combined Federal Campaign.

This money was raised throughout the year by hamburger sales organized by Rocker Council members. The Rocker Council is dedicated to promote the morale and welfare of Civil Engineering personnel, but as the Rocker Council President, SMSgt. Dann E. Barnes, said: "We felt the Combined Federal Campaign is such a good cause we wanted to do our share for the base.

At the same time other councils on base are encouraged to get involved in the campaign." The CFC is our one consolidated effort to support local, national, and international agencies that perform vitally needed services ranging from our own Youth Center here on the base to institutions dedicated to finding cures for many dreaded diseases such as cancer and heart disease.

The Air Base Group goal is $29,000 or 22 percent of the base goal. So far $24,890 has been raised for 86 percent of the goal. Many organizations within ABG have done well in their efforts: The 64th Security Police Squadron has collected 144 percent of their goal; the OSI, 118 percent; and the Chapel, 108 percent.

Bits and Pieces . . .

A Fond Farewell to Eleanor Dobkins . . .

Tomorrow, upon the retirement of Eleanor Dobkins, Reese is losing one of its very finest people. She has faithfully served her country, the Air Force, and the Reese and Lubbock communities with thirty years of distinguished service. We will greatly miss her warm personality, caring attitude and extraordinary talents. Her invaluable contributions to the success of the mission over the years can never be measured or quantified and will not be forgotten.

The wing presented Eleanor with a beautiful, wooden shadow box with an American flag enclosed that flew one day over Reese Air Force Base. I, and the five other wing commanders who had the privilege to work with her, presented her with a montage of photographs and personal letters surrounding a plaque that read, "To Eleanor Dobkins, a warrior and patriot, who has provided us with faith, courage and wisdom . . . in our finest hour." To a friend . . ., May God bless, God speed and good luck. We will miss you.

For Practice Only . . .

We held our quarterly Major Accident Response exercise on Tuesday and it was a qualified success. Great job to all of the men and women who participated. I thought the accomplishment of all of the checklists and subsequent actions were performed in a timely, efficient manner. I believe that with additional practice and preparation, we can assure ourselves of a flawless performance on the up-coming Mission Capability Inspection.

Let us not lose sight of the real reason as to why we are practicing these exercises. It is important to remember that our quick, accurate response to any disaster is paramount to saving lives, minimizing injury and collateral damage. Our ultimate goal, of course, is to never have to use the team, but if we need it, we must be absolutely prepared and ready. It is our duty. William Nevens stated it clearly, "It is one of the worst errors to suppose that there is any path of safety except that of duty."

Our Strongest Resource . . .

Colonel Clark Griffith, Deputy Chief of Staff for Personnel, Headquarters Randolph, AFB, visited Reese on Monday. Once again I was made proud of the folks here at Reese. Col. Griffith told me that "the attitude and genuine interest shown by the people at Reese is the best he has seen." During his visit he ate lunch with the personnel branch chiefs and our military personnel superintendent. He met with family service volunteers and social actions personnel. He walked through the personnel branches and met directly with the folks, discussing his personal philosophy and fielding questions. He really came away from the interaction with an excellent impression of the Reese personnel. Again, my hat is off to those of you who continually impress our visitors with your pride and caring.

Honorable Mention . . .

SSgt. Billy Windley is yet another shining example of one of our troops who are a cut above, and who are willing to go the extra mile to get any job done. SSgt. Windley spent a lot of time this past week recovering four broken jets at Roswell, New Mexico. The extra time and effort are appreciated. I am willing to bet that he had a great deal to do with the excellent results the Aero Repair shop earned recently. Great job to you folks—thanks for helping to keep the Reese Winning Spirit kindled.

The Readiness Question of the Week
SCENARIO: There have been terrorist related incidents in the Lubbock area. Office of Special Investigations intelligence indicates that military resources are the likely target. The Wing Commander has directed that Reese AFB go to a single point entry throughout the base; 100 percent identification check, increased vigilance and for everyone to be alert for any suspicious activity. Shortly after this directive, Amn. Kirby Early in Base Operations witnesses an individual carrying a suspicious object near his work area. Question of the Week: What steps should Airman Early take to report this sighting? (Answer on page 8)

Members receive many benefits including a monthly copy of Sergeants magazine and low-cost group insurance programs.

Membership dues are $15 per year, $24 for two years, $34 for three years, or $250 for life membership. A life membership in AFSA is a bargain, the entire amount is returned to the member's estate upon his/her demise, and installment payments are available.

Chapter 1068 President Chief Steve Greenwell said, "those interested in joining AFSA should contact me personally at 3445 or at home at 791-5173."

The following chapter officers may also be contacted: Vice President Chief "Ski" Wilchenski, 1958th Communications Squadron; 1st Trustee MSgt. Roy Prince, 3500 Mission Support; 2nd Trustee Sgt. James Bush, 1958th Communications Squadron; 3rd Trustee SMSgt. Jim Grimmer, 64th Supply Squadron; 4th Trustee A1C Victor Fulton, 1958th Communications Squadron; Secretary MSgt. Bob Winslow, 1958th Communications Squadron or Treasurer TSgt. Al Rucker, 1958th Communications Squadron. You may also contact Chief Coy Martin, 64th FTW Senior Enlisted Advisor or any First Sergeant.

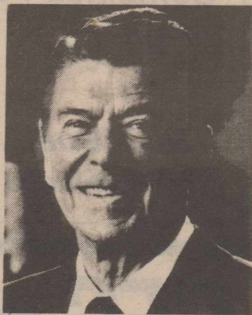

A message from the President

Memorandum

The promise of America is contained in our Constitution whose bicentennial we celebrate this year. Let us take the opportunity provided by the 1987-88 Combined Federal Campaign to help all Americans participate in our Nation's promise.

Your history of increasing generosity over nearly three decades of voluntary giving demonstrates your continuing concern for the needy in the United States and around the world.

You have a record of unselfishness and concern for others that is unsurpassed. I am proud of you all. I am confident that your outstanding past performance will continue in this year's Campaign. While the decision to give is personal and voluntary, I encourage each of you to join me in wholeheartedly supporting the 1987-88 Combined Federal Campaign.

How can you have safe fun?

Halloween is a time*for ghosts and goblins and fun with your friends, right? That's right. Almost everybody is nice, but sometimes a few people play mean tricks on kids at Halloween—like putting dangerous things in their candy and treats. Take a tip from me, McGruff the Crime Ghost . . . er, Dog.

Play it safe this Halloween. Follow my advice in the quiz below.

Place a check beside the answer you feel is best.

1. Someone gives you candy that is not wrapped and sealed by the candy company. You should:

- A. Eat it anyway
- B. Save it for a rainy day
- C. Throw it away
- D. Give it to your dog

2. One of the treats you were given has something "suspicious" sticking out of it. Your mom should:

- A. Bite into it to see what it is
- B. Call the police
- C. Put it in the refrigerator
- D. Scream

3. The safest way to go trick-or-treating is:

- A. Alone
- B. Late at night
- C. On roller skates
- D. With an adult you trust.

4. The best place to go trick-or-treating is:

- A. Across town
- B. In a neighborhood you know
- C. Where the most houses are
- D. Where there's a pumpkin in the window.

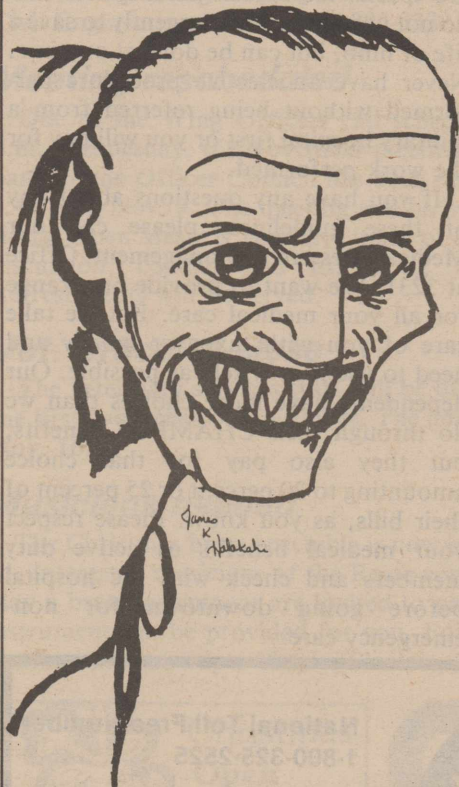

Answers

1. C, Throw it away. McGruff says, unsealed candy could have dangerous things hidden inside.

2. B, Call the police, they can help keep you and other kids in your neighborhood safe.

3. D, With an adult you trust. Try to go out in daylight. If you go out after dark, wear a light costume and carry a flashlight.

4. B, In a neighborhood you know. It's safer to accept treats from people you know.

Trick or treat scheduled

Trick or treating in Reese Village is from 6 to 8 p.m. Saturday evening. McGruff, from the 64th Security Police Squadron will be on hand at the Haunted House, 342 Harmon, from 7 to 10 p.m. to check trick or treat candy with a metal detector for harmful objects.

Health Alert: A Safer Holiday

The USAF Hospital, Reese, Department of Radiology will offer a fluoroscopic screening of children's Halloween treats. This service will be offered from 7 to 9 p.m. Saturday, this service is for all members of the Reese Community. Please enter through the North, or Emergency Room, entrance. A complete description of what can and cannot be detected will be available in the X-ray Department.

Halloween disco planned

Get your halloween costume and make-up ready, it's time for the Enlisted Open Mess Halloween Disco, Saturday night beginning at 9 p.m.

There will be a costume contest at 11 p.m. A $50 cash prize will be awarded to the winners of three categories to be judged: best couple, best male and best female costume.

Entertainment will be provided by featured D-J Jody Max "Hot 100."

Haunted House Opens

Tonight and tomorrow night, 243 Harmon will be visited by ghosts and goblins from 7 to 10 p.m. Admission is $1. For more information, call 3614.

Halloween safety tips

by Sheila Schulmeyer
Occupational Safety and Health Specialist

Have you ever wondered where the Halloween customs that we observe on October 31st came from? Now I know this is not the type of question that burns unanswered in our minds. I've only given the subject a couple of seconds thought from time to time, but in doing a little research, I found that the origins of the customs that we enjoy so much once a year were derived with one purpose in mind—to keep safe.

You see, in about 900 B.C. there were folks running around what is now known as Britain. Some of these folks were called druids, a group of priests who believed wholeheartedly in witches and demons and that spirits of the dead roamed freely on the earth.

To combat these terrible apparitions, whom the druids believed played mean tricks on the unsuspecting, they devised a plan to protect themselves. Offerings of good things to eat was one way, and disguising themselves so that the spirits thought that the druids belonged to their own evil kind was another. Indulging in these practices led the druids to believe that they would be safe.

Centuries later, the Roman Catholic Church set aside the first day of November to honor all the saints who had no special days of their own. This day was known as All Hallows' Day. The evening before them became known as All Hallows' Eve which was eventually shortened to Halloween.

Keeping safe was the premise used by the druids when they developed their customs so long ago. Keeping safe in our modern day celebration of Halloween should always be first and foremost in our minds as well.

Parents, here's a few tips you should remember to keep your little trick or treaters safe this Halloween:

- Make sure your little one's costume fits well and is made of light or brightly colored material. If not, put lots of reflective tape on the front and back of the costume. That way your children will be more visible to motorists. Also, make sure that masks don't severely restrict their vision. If possible, avoid masks altogether. Paint their little faces, it will serve the same purpose.

- Never let your children go trick-or-treating alone. Go with them if you can. If your child is older, and won't have you along, make sure he or she knows pedestrian traffic rules. Emphasize the use of crosswalks, and to look in all directions before crossing streets. Instruct them to use sidewalks and not streets for walking from house to house and to wait on the curb and not the street until it's clear to cross.

- Make sure your children know to wait until returning home before eating any candy. Check it first to be sure that it is safe. Discard unwrapped or poorly wrapped items, and beware of homemade goods unless you know their exact origin.

- Tell your child to beware of strange dogs or people that might not be from your neighborhood.

- Make sure your child carries a flashlight so that he or she can see what's ahead and to aid others in seeing them.

- Plan ahead by mapping out a route for your children to follow. When they arrive at the end of that route, make sure that they go back home.

Motorists, you too need to be extra careful on Halloween. As always, obey all traffic signs and regulations and slow down more than you normally would in residential areas. Watch for children darting from between parked cars. Be on the lookout for children in dark clothing walking down the road, on the shoulders, on the median, and everywhere else where you normally would not expect to see them. If you're chauffeur around a group of candy seekers, concentrate on the job of driving and don't allow yourself to become distracted by the noisy crowd of kids around you.

And lastly, in the home, prevent a fire hazard when preparing the family jack-o-lantern by using a flashlight instead of a candle to light up his grin.

Following these simple tips can make your children's Halloween a safe and pleasant evening and bring the little "druids" safely back home carrying their booty.

Commander's Column

Is it really an emergency?

Col. Roy L. Bobbitt
Commander, USAF Hospital, Reese

I've noticed recently that a lot of active duty folks go to doctors and hospitals downtown on their own without first contacting our base hospital. They then expect the base hospital to pay their bills. I need to remind all active duty personnel that we can only pay for true EMERGENCIES without prior permission from our hospital. Non-emergent civilian medical care can only be paid if it has been approved through our medical system before it is rendered.

In the past few weeks, we've been asked to pay bills for care received in civilian Emergency Rooms for such medical problems as sore throats, animal bites, lacerations, sprains, the flu and colds. These conditions are not emergencies. A question we ask ourselves, and you may consider when seeking civilian emergent care, is, "Does my illness or injury require immediate medical attention to prevent loss of life or limb?" The best policy is to contact our Emergency Room first, when feasible, or you may be paying the bill yourself. Let me give a little bit of background.

By law, medical care is provided by the government for all active duty personnel. Congress gives the services enough money to provide this care and the Air Force decides what type of medical care Reese Hospital will provide. What we can't provide at Reese for active duty personnel, we'll pay for downtown or at another military hospital. But, if we can provide that care at Reese, we will. However, it costs a great deal of money to keep our Emergency Room open while also paying for bills downtown. Here are some guidelines to use:

First, never compromise your, or your dependents', health or life. Serious injuries or illnesses, such as a possible heart attack, should be treated at the nearest emergency medical facility. Delaying treatment could endanger life and may constitute problems we would have to refer to another hospital anyway.

Secondly, call our Emergency Room, 885-3373/3284, if you have a question about where you should seek medical care. The provider will tell you if you should seek civilian emergency care, or come to Reese hospital. If you have a non-life-threatening emergency we will treat you at the Reese Emergency Room, and, if necessary, transfer you by ambulance, or refer you to the nearest hospital for further medical care.

Third, help us use our emergency room appropriately. If you have a non-acute medical problem, schedule a clinic appointment to have it treated before it progresses. If you can't get a clinic appointment, and your condition worsens or needs immediate treatment, please come to the Emergency Room. You will be seen by a provider as soon as possible, based on the urgency of your illness in relation to others seeking care. The provider has the medical responsibility of deciding which patients receive priority of care and the waiting period will depend on the nature and/or number of cases to be treated.

Fourth, if you or your dependents need a regularly scheduled appointment and can't seem to get one, call our Patient Affairs office before you go downtown for care. We will always be able to fit active duty personnel and most dependents into our schedules, but we can't pay for any non-urgent care downtown unless you contact us first. CHAMPUS beneficiaries may, of course, go downtown at anytime for outpatient care.

Finally, if you as an active duty person are home on leave or TDY away from Reese, the same guidelines apply. If a military hospital is reasonably nearby, you need to check with them first. If not, go ahead and seek care directly from the civilian source as needed. When you return to Reese, bring copies of the bills, including pharmacy receipts, and the medical record to our Medical Resource Management Office. We can reimburse you for any medical expenses incurred, or we can pay the doctor directly.

One final note—be cautious about elective procedures. Elective procedures are special lab studies or surgeries that do not need to be done urgently to save a life or limb, but can be done at anytime. Never have an elective procedure performed without being referred from a military hospital first or you will pay for the work performed.

If you have any questions about any of these guidelines, please call our Medical Resource Management Office at 3231. We want to provide or arrange for all your medical care. But we take care of you with taxpayer money and need to use it as wisely as possible. Our dependents have more choices than we do through their CHAMPUS benefits, but they also pay for that choice amounting to 20 percent or 25 percent of their bills, as you know. Please respect your medical benefits as active duty members and check with the hospital before going downtown for non-emergency care.

News Briefs

Black History plans begin

Black History Week for Reese will be Feb. 14-20, 1988. There will be a meeting for anyone interested in participating in Black History Week on Thursday at 10:30 a.m. in the Social Actions building (Bldg. 32). If you cannot attend the meeting, but would like to participate in the activities, contact 2nd Lt. Cecily Christian at 3410.

Barracks to be auctioned

The last of the all wooden buildings, built in 1941 for World War II will soon be gone from Reese.

The building that last housed the Morale, Welfare and Recreation offices will be sold to the highest bidder on Nov. 4. Ninety days later, it will be removed from the base.

The two-story building is 80 feet long and 30 feet wide, with 4,800 square feet of floor space. For information concerning bidding on the building, contact Civil Engineering Real Estate, 885-3329.

Meeting rescheduled

Due to the Wing Officers call scheduled for 4:45 p.m. Wednesday, the November meeting of the Company Grade Officer Council has been rescheduled for 4:45 p.m. Nov. 9. The meeting will be held at the Officers' Open Mess. If you have items of interest or for discussion, contact 2nd Lt. Doug White, 3806. Refreshments will be served.

Vet. office to close

The veterinary services staff will be on vacation for the first two weeks of November. The next clinic day is Nov. 16.

Musicians needed

The Christmas brass ensemble is now being organized. Interested musicians of the Reese community who play a brass instrument are invited to participate. An instrument can be provided for you. For more information, contact Capt. Charles Sinclair, 3536.

Attention joggers

The base running track is presently under construction, during the construction period and until further notice, all personnel are required to stay off the track and surrounding area, with the exception of applicable contract personnel.

Having a baby?

If you are E-3 or below and have a new baby, Project Stork of the Family Service Center has a free layette for your new arrival. For more information, stop by the Family Service Center, bldg. 6100 or call 3305.

Coupon savings help

If you are interested in saving some money on your grocery bill, stop by the Family Service Center, bldg. 6100 and browse through the coupon box. Family Services is open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Housing reminder

Air Force Regulation 30-15 requires all military personnel to report to Housing Referral Services before entering into any rental or sales agreement. This is to inform you of unsuitable locations in the Lubbock, commuting area or any rental agency with which there have been continuing problems. Also it is to advise you of restrictive sanction against establishment, if any exist.

Housing Referral Services has a listing of all suitable apartments in the city of Lubbock and several two, three and four bedroom duplex and single family houses for rent. Questions should be directed to Mr. Paul Young at 3601, or stop by bldg. 6100 between 7:30 a.m. at 4:15 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Early deadline reminder

Due to the Veterans Day holiday, the deadline for articles submitted for publication in the Roundup for the Nov. 13th issue is Friday, Nov. 6.

Dumpster reminder

Non compressible and oversized items should not be placed in the dumpsters on base, they should be placed in the two industrial bins located behind bldg. 2107. This includes grass clippings. The contractor will not pick up items that are placed beside the dumpsters on base. The monthly pick up of bulk refuse items for the base housing area is scheduled for Nov. 2. Items should be placed on the curb, not beside the dumpsters before 9 a.m. If you have any questions, contact the Quality Assurance Evaluator, 3929 or 6215.

New organization begins

Capt. William C. Gladish, a former navigator and current pilot is attempting to contact and organize a group of individuals who have been awarded both navigator and pilot ratings. Both sets of wings cannot be worn, a patch has been designed that reflects both ratings. Anyone interested in joining and organizing this guild contact Capt. William Gladish, R.R. 3, Petersburgs, In, 47567.

Ceremony scheduled

The Noncommissioned Officers status appointment day ceremony is this afternoon at 4 p.m. at the Enlisted Open Mess.

Jazz concert scheduled

The USAF Airmen of Note concert is Thursday, 8:15 p.m. at the Hemmle Recital Hall, Texas Tech. tickets are free and may be picked up at the Information Tour and Ticket Office located in the Mathis Recreation Center.

Upcoming graduation

Undergraduate Pilot Training class 88-01 graduates Nov. 6. The guest speaker for the event is Mr. James Miller, director, Office of Management and Budget.

Annual banquet nears

The Noncommissioned Officer Academy Graduates Association (NCOAGA) will host the Annual enlisted Awards Banquet Nov. 21, 1987, at the Officer's Open Mess.

The guest speaker for the event is CMSgt. Wayne L. Fisk, Director of Air Force Enlisted Heritage Hall, Senior Noncommissioned Officer Academy, Air University, Gunter Air Force Station, Ala.

The Wing's outstanding First Sergeant, Senior NCO, NCO and Airman of the Year will be announced at the banquet. Those selected will then compete at ATC and possibly become one of the Air Force's 12 Outstanding Airmen of the Year.

The NCOAGA sponsors this event annually through fundraising events. The project coordinators for the event are CMSgt. Leonard Minzer, 3446, and TSgt. Leslie Wallace, 3704.

AVIATION

THE $269.00 BEGINNING COURSE

Levelland Aviation has developed this course to serve as a meaningful solution to the biggest problem faced by individuals who have little or no exposure to flying—but have an inkling that they would like to learn to fly.

Nine out of ten people from the above category never get started because they get all bogged down trying to make a big decision with very little information, and no guarantee that they will like flying or have the ability to learn. After much pondering these individuals usually decide to wait until some other time and, quite honestly, who can blame them?

The obvious answer to this problem is to be able to make a small commitment that will really provide the answer to the question.

"DO I REALLY WANT TO FLY?," AND ALSO "CAN I DO IT?."

The $269.00 beginning course is tailor-made to suit this purpose. It is not a fast sales-pitch or a quick one around the flight pattern. It is an integrated part—the beginning point of every program that we offer here at Levelland Aviation. It teaches the individual how to preflight an airplane, take it off the ground, fly basic maneuvers, and enter final approach for landing. In other words it teaches you how to fly.

So this time when you put off that big decision, do it by making the right small decision. Get started in the $269.00 Beginning Course!

This package consists of:

- 5 hours of flying with a Flight Instructor.
- 1½ hours of ground instruction.
- 1 Piper Operating Handbook.
- 1 Pilot Logbook.

The course is paid in advance, and the flight time is scheduled at your convenience.

New navigational system operational

Out in the center of the runways, there is a red and white checkered building that houses an important piece of equipment. If it weren't for the equipment, aircrews would have no idea of direction and distance from the base, being that it is the prime navigation instrument used by the aircraft.

It is called VOR/TACAN, short for Very High Frequency Omni Range (VOR) and Tactical Navigation System (TACAN). The system puts out a radio frequency that aircraft can use for direction of bearing and distance from Reese.

The 28-year-old system, made up of eight large equipment cabinets, is gone. The old system required a lot of time and money to keep it operational, and the age and cost of maintaining it made it logistically unsupportable.

The new system is more energy efficient, and has proven to be cost effective from the maintenance standpoint. The newly installed two-cabinet system was commissioned operational after a flight check Oct. 12, ahead of schedule.

Answer to Readiness question of the week; The first thing to do is stay calm and don't over react. Write down as much about the suspicious character and description of package as possible (height, weight, clothing, facial characteristics). Call the Law Enforcement Desk, 3332, immediately. Once you have made the call, use your own judgement to determine whether or not it is completely safe to try and detain the individual (for exercises, simply state "you are hereby detained"). If this action is not safe, then keep visual contact with the individual until help arrives. For more information, call the Security Police, 3615.

Commentary

Melting wax... or hardening clay

by Chaplain, 1st Lt. Jim Browning
64th ABG/HC 885-3237

Alfred Adler, an Austrian psychologist, tells an interesting story to illustrate the various ways people respond to trouble. At a railroad station, two men bumped into each other. One was poorly dressed and begged for money. His life story was one of an unstable mother and brutalizing father. "I couldn't be expected to do anything with my life against that background," he said.

The other man, whose background bore a striking resemblance, responded, "I took my background as a challenge to prove that I could manage life in spite of these deficits." As the men continued to talk they discovered the astonishing fact that they were brothers, separated by the trauma of war.

The same sun that melts wax also hardens clay. This saying reflects the observation that people do respond differently to similar circumstances.

Sooner or later, problems challenge everyone. No one is immune to disappointments and hardships. Some people rise above trying circumstances and engage life admirably while others are defeated.

Granted, anyone can encounter enough trouble to be broken by it. All of us have limits to our endurance. Nevertheless, what we do in response to problems is tremendously significant.

How we respond to problems ultimately points to a trust issue. Do you trust God to include in each experience some potential for good? This is not to say the experience in itself is good, but within each troubling experience lies an opportunity to grow.

May god help us to discover that opportunity and maximize its value.

Chapel Notes

Reese Chapel Center announces Friday School beginning Nov. 6.

The time has been expanded one half hour. Classes begin at 9:30 a.m. and end at 11:00 a.m.

Friday School is a program for preschool children ages 2 through kindergarten and is sponsored by the

W.O.C. notes

The Women of the Chapel Executive Board will meet on Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. Following the meeting at 10:30 a.m., a Chrismon framing workshop will be held in the Chapel Fellowship Hall. All W.O.C. members are invited to participate. If you are unable to attend, please return your Chrismons to Thelma Protestant Religious Education program.

The children are introduced to the skills of coloring, cutting, block work, music, and puzzles. Each week a Bible story, a craft, music, fingerplays, and a nutritious snack are part of the routine. Friday School is free of charge and is McGraw. Child care will be provided at the Chapel.

Currently the W.O.C. is working on quilt squares and dressing dolls for the Salvation Army. Anyone interested in helping should contact Sheryl Mitchell at 885-4682. All volunteers are appreciated.

an enriching experience for your child. We request that you bring your children no more than five minutes early and pick them up promptly.

Call Carole Gilpin at the chapel ext. 3237, Tuesday through Friday mornings to register your child. Registration is limited so don't miss the opportunity.

The next W.O.C. meeting is Nov. 17. Chaplain Rob Stroud will explain the meaning and purpose of the Chrismons. Members are being asked to bring such items as mittens, scarves, hats, socks, or receiving blankets for the warm fuzzy tree. These items are distributed to the needy and the Women's Protective Services.

Honor Guard members reap awards

The Honor Guard Member of the Month for the month of September is SSgt. Michael G. Nilsen. SSgt. Nilsen distinguished himself in the Honor Guard by performing 11 details in September and answering the most questions correctly on the Member of the Month board. SSgt. Nilsen works in the Radiology department of the USAF Hospital, Reese.

Honor Guard Member of the Quarter for the third quarter of 1987 is SrA Franz Zichy of the 1958 Communications Squadron. SrA Zichy has performed 23 details for the Honor Guard this past quarter and answered all of the questions on the Member of the Quarter board correctly. He is a member of the Reese Rifle Drill Team and performed an outstanding solo rifle routine at the TATTOO of the Plains Ceremony. SrA Zichy also won Honor Guard Member of the Month for August 1987.

On Oct. 23 the annual Honor Guard Awards Banquet was held at the Enlisted Open Mess club. A1C Jeffery Fagnant of the 1958th Communications Squadron and A1C James Kehoe of the 64th Civil Engineering Squadron performed a duo rifle demonstration followed by SrA Franz Zichy with a solo rifle demonstration.

Master of Ceremonies for the banquet was 1st Lt. Nick Vite, Commander of the Reese Honor Guard. Colonel James L. Higham, 64th Air Base Group Commander was the Guest Speaker. Colonel Mark H. Lillard III, 64th Flying Training Wing Commander, presented the Honor Guard annual awards.

Receiving the Honor Guard Most Improved Award was A1C Reginald Green of India Flight, 64th Organizational Maintenance Squadron. A1C Green continually strived to be the best in the Honor Guard over the past year. A1C Green constantly sought improvement for himself and quickly became capable of performing most of the many duties that the Honor Guard does.

The Honor Guard Motivation Award was received by SSgt. Sharon Sharp of the 64th Field Maintenance Squadron for being the most highly motivated person. SSgt. Sharp is a former NCOIC of the Honor Guard and has been in the Honor Guard since 1986.

SSgt. Sharp also received a new award at the banquet called the "Extra-Mile Award". SSgt. Sharp earned this award for performing over 100 details with over 500 hours of total detail time. SSgt. Sharp has also previously earned both Member of Quarter and Member of the Month.

Winner of the Honor Guard Military Excellence Award was SrA David J. Fiori of the base contracts office. SrA Fiori received this award for displaying a highly professional attitude and military bearing at all times. SrA Fiori is also a member of the Rifle Drill Team. SrA Fiori consistently strives for perfection in all that he does.

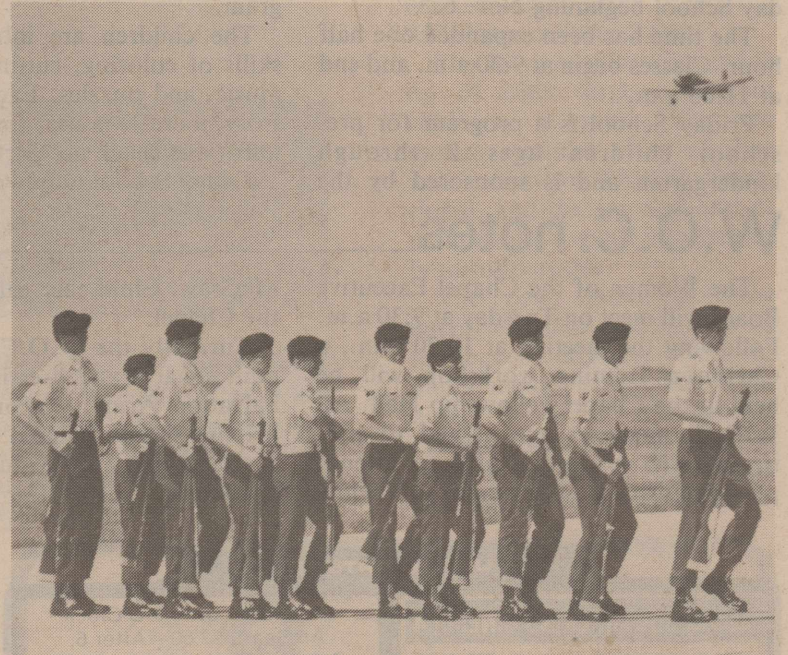

This year's Honor Guard Member of the Year Award went to Sgt. Michael Roberto of the 64th Field Maintenance Squadron. Sgt. Roberto has proven himself to be the best by possessing all of the attributes of the previously mentioned awards beyond any other Honor Guard Member. He was Honor Guard Member of the Month of July and Member of the Quarter for the second quarter of this year. He has also won both Member of the Month and Quarter once before and Member of the Year for 1985. Sgt. Roberto has won the weekly drill down 33 times and is also the present NCOIC of the Rifle Drill Team. He has performed numerous outstanding solo and duo rifle demonstrations. This award is the highest honor that the Honor Guard can give. Sgt. Roberto also received an "Extra-Mile Award" for performing over 100 details since he has been in the Honor Guard.

Also receiving "Extra-Mile Awards" were Capt. Thomas L. Yoder, Honor Guard Commander from June 1986 to August 1987 and Sgt. Paul R. Tashash for the job he did as NCOIC of the Honor Guard from March 1987 to September 1987. Sgt. Tashash has recently separated from the Air Force.

Over the past year, the Reese Honor Guard has performed 39 civic details, 42 on-base details, and 19 funerals. These details took 150 hours and 775 personnel to perform.

The cockpit of the future

by Tom Joyce

American Forces Information Service

One of the more recent gee-whiz technologies that has shown up in cars from Detroit and Japan are systems that talk to you. Some people become angry when a car tells them to "buckle up," because they can't talk back. So many people disconnect the distraction.

However, because of research that is expected to revolutionize fighter aircraft cockpits, one day you may be able to talk back to your car and have it do exactly what you tell it to.

That technology is being developed for the Super Cockpit, a program Dr. Thomas A. Furness III said will revolutionize the way human beings interact with machines. Furness, of the Armstrong Aerospace Medical Research Laboratory, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio, manages the program.

"The amount of information flowing into the cockpit of today is immense," said Furness. "Existing cockpits constrain the transfer of that information from the machine to the human. Cockpit displays act as two-dimensional 'peep holes' into the three-dimensional world in which the pilot must operate."

Furness uses the control stick on an F-15 jet fighter as an example: "There are nine switches on it," he said. "And some of those switches have six different functions. One can imagine how difficult it is for a pilot to remember what each one does and get it right by touch alone."

Of course, pilots do remember and perform these functions every day. Furness, however, wants the cockpits of the future to present these things as simply as possible at all times.

But the technologies that will run the system aren't simple. The super cockpit will actually be a helmet worn by the pilot that is connected to different sensors inside and outside the aircraft. The pilot will "hook-up" his helmet into the aircraft before taking off. He won't be able to see what is actually going on outside the cockpit. The super cockpit display is a see-through display. The pilot will be able to see the real world overlaid with symbolic information. But when the pilot must fly at night, in bad weather or where he must be totally encapsulated, the information, including terrain and cultural features, will be provided to him in three dimensions—sight, sound and touch—through computer-generated symbols.

Those symbols will not only display his altitude and speed, but will also show outside objects where they actually are. If an enemy pilot is over his left shoulder, that's where he will show up on the display. If a pilot's wingman is over his right shoulder, that's where he will show up. If his wingman talks to him, the sound of his voice will come from behind the pilot and over his right shoulder. The pilot won't have to turn his head to respond or act.

A pilot using the super cockpit will fly safely in the "virtual world" with the aid of five basic controls. Each of these controls represents the end product of what is expected to be more than 500,000 lines of computer programming.

Head-aimed control: When a pilot moves his head, the virtual display he sees in his helmet adjusts also. This is a challenging area, said Furness, because the end product has to move in real time.

Voice-actuated control: When the pilot speaks, the aircraft responds. A pilot could use the term "fire" to launch an air-to-air missile. Or he might use "identify," which would be a signal for the sensors to identify aircraft.

Touch-sensitive panel: By placing his finger on a touch-panel area, he will be able to call up other cockpit switching functions.

Virtual hand controller: In this mode, the pilot moves his hand in three dimensions. He can identify and perform tasks simply by touching an area on this display. Furness likened using this function to placing one's hand into a bowl of pudding.

Eye-control system: Working with other systems, this function will allow pilots to activate switches simply by looking at them. For instance, a pilot's armaments may be displayed in his helmet. By looking at a missile, it could arm itself.

The super cockpit also uses a "fish bowl" that sits in the pilot's lap. This, said Furness, will give him a "God's-eye view" of the world around him. By using a voice command, the super cockpit will provide a pilot with a view of the outside world as might be seen from a satellite orbiting the earth.

"The biggest advantage of the super cockpit is its ease of use," said Furness. "Today, if you want to change some avionics in a fighter, you have to take out the guts of the plane. With the super cockpit, you need only to change the software."

"Since the super cockpit is a system that the pilot wears, it's extremely portable," said Furness. "He can also train with the system and actually fly his mission before he ever gets in the aircraft. This way, he can make changes before he flies."

The super cockpit is also sensitive to the pilot's condition. "Systems today are geared towards the pilot being aware of the system," said Furness. "If a pilot becomes unconscious, it will be detected and the system will take control of the aircraft."

Furness said he expects the super cockpit to be deployed by the year 2000, but that some of the technologies will occur before that.

When you donate plasma, you're helping thousands of young children suffering from burns, shock, or a rare and serious medical condition called hemophilia.

Your plasma can help these children. It can help them live longer, better lives. And it can help in important medical research that could one day cure hemophilia forever.

You benefit by giving plasma as well. Because our plasma center pays you, in cash, every time you donate. And you can donate twice a week.

If you care about helping children—and need extra cash—call or come in to our plasma center today.

Please be aware that all plasma donations are done with sterile equipment, which is destroyed immediately after use. Therefore, it is virtually impossible to contract AIDS or any other disease from donating plasma. Thank you.

International holiday mailing dates for '87

For those with relatives in the armed services stationed overseas, and those who wish to mail holiday greetings and packages to others living in foreign countries, now is the time to plan for holiday mailings, according to the U.S. Postal Service.

Parcels sent to military personnel in the Far East and Southeast Asia have to be mailed by October 16 if shipped by surface mail, the least expensive form of shipment.

November is the month when most parcels shipped via Parcel Airlift Mail (PAL) should be sent. PAL packages are airlifted domestically to a gateway facility, then airlifted on a space available basis from the gateway to the APO (Army or Air Force Post Office).

Packages up to 30 pounds and 60 inches in combined length and girth may be sent by PAL. Mailers pay the regular third- or fourth-class Parcel Post rate, based on weight, to the U.S. exit port or from the port of entry plus a fee for air service. The air service fee is 30 cents for parcels weighing two pounds or less, 60 cents for parcels weighing more than two pounds but not exceeding three pounds, 90 cents for parcels weighing more than three pounds but not exceeding four pounds, and $1.20 for parcels weighing more than four but not exceeding 30 pounds.

November mailers can also ship military parcels by Space Available Mail (SAM). Items shipped by SAM are transported by surface means in the contiguous 48 states and flown on a space available basis from the U.S. to the overseas destination for from the overseas destination to the U.S. Packages weighing 15 pounds or less and not exceeding 60 inches in combined length and girth may be sent by SAM for regular Parcel Post rates to the U.S. exit port or from the U.S. port of entry.

When mailed from a military post office outside the 48 contiguous states, the weight of any piece not mailed as SAM or PAL cannot be more than 70 pounds and the size cannot exceed 100 inches in length and girth combined.

The Postal Service said it also offers a new service for later mailing of holiday messages and parcels to military bases overseas. The new Express Mail Military Service is available to over 200 APO/FPO military addresses. The same rates as domestic Express Mail service apply for this two-day service: $10.75 for up to two pounds and $12.85 for over two pounds and up to five pounds. The weight limit is 70 pounds.

And for mailing to non-military addresses, the Postal Service's quickest method of shipping items abroad, Express Mail International Service, is available to 69 countries.

Here are three calendars of suggested mailing dates to assure parcels and greetings will arrive on time. More information on international mailings is available from postmasters or post office window clerks, and Administration Communication Section, 3252.

Make gym reservations

Attention intramural basketball coaches: Monday, the Physical Fitness Center will begin taking court reservations for intramural team practice. Call 3783 to reserve your court times.

Looking for instructors

Morale, Welfare and Recreation activities are always on the search for instructors and classes that can be offered within the Reese community.

Do you have some great ideas or know of a new program that all Reese personnel could enjoy? Why not share your talent and make new friends at the same time?

The Physical Fitness Center is on the lookout for instructors with various athletic talents, including: racquetball; tennis; karate; weight, lifting; gymnastics; and tumbling.

Have you ever thought about becoming a basketball official or score keeper or time keeper? The 1987-88 Intramural Basketball season begins in November and the center could use your skills. For more information, call SSgt. Gary Grant, 3783, or bounce over to the center and sign up.

The Mathis Recreation Center is also looking for instructors for all kinds of classes.

Closing reminders

The Physical Fitness Center

Basketball Court will remain closed until Monday. All Racquetball Courts will be closed until November 16. These activities are having the floors resurfaced at this time.

Meeting announced

The Intramural Basketball

coaches meeting will be held at the Base Library today at 1 p.m. All coaches are asked to attend. Don't forget Intramural basketball coaches can make reservations for Intramural team practice beginning Monday by calling the Physical Fitness Center at 3783.
