"We do it every year as part of Keep Texas Beautiful," said KBSB representative Liz Hafley. "It's one of their projects they do every year. Yeah, we'd like to get as many people as we can out there. I've been doing it eight years, and it started before I got here." Hafley said volunteers should gather outside the Dora Roberts Community Center on the west side. Trash bags and grabbers will be provided by Keep Big Spring Beautiful, although volunteers can also bring rakes, gloves, or other equipment if they would like to do so. "We have plastic gloves, they're not like the garden gloves," Hafley said. "Some people want to dig in there and get under the trees and pick up that trash. Other people want to pick up along the side of the road. Either way is fantastic."

Hafley said the event will focus on the Historic Spring and the shores of Comanche Trail Lake.

"The spring is where we're going to focus on, but this is one that draws a bigger crowd because the refinery comes and helps, and we actually have a Cub Scout group coming the week before and cleaning around Kids' Zone. No matter where the trash is, in the park it sometimes just goes to the water, and that's part of Love Our Lake...keeping the trash out of the water.

DPS: Put safety first during Child Passenger Safety

Special to the Herald

Child Passenger Safety Week is Sept. 18-24, and the Texas Department of Public Safety (DPS) is reminding drivers to make sure your young passengers are secured properly in order to save lives.

Motor vehicle crashes continue to be the leading cause of death among children. On average, two children under the age of 13 were killed, and an estimated 374 were injured, every day in 2019 while riding in passenger vehicles according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHT-SA). While most people believe their children are properly buckled up, NHTSA estimates about half of all car seats are misused.

DPS offers the following tips to ensure children are properly restrained while riding in a vehicle:

 When selecting a car seat for your child, ensure it fits in your vehicle properly before purchasing it. • Avoid purchasing a car seat if you are not aware of the history (i.e. yard sales, social media platforms, etc.).

• Model good behavior to young passengers and make sure you are wearing your seat belt so your children will know it's the right thing to do.

 Infant car seats should always be rear-facing, and never used forward-facing.

• Be sure to check the maximum height and weight limits of the car seat so children may be properly transitioned to the

 For older children who are using booster seats with lap belts, ensure the belt is across the pelvic area and the shoulder belt strap is placed across the shoulder. It should never be placed along a child's neck or abdominal area. It should never be used under the arm or behind the back as it could cause severe injury in a crash.

• Texas law states all children younger than 8 years old, unless taller than 4'9", are required to be in the appropriate car seat wherever they ride in a passenger vehicle. The car seat MUST be installed according to the manufacturer's instruc-

• Children 8 years and older must be in a seat belt, if an adult hasn't properly restrained a child, they can receive a $250

If you have questions, please request installation assistance from a National Child Passenger Safety Technician at one of our local DPS offices. Additional information is available at the DPS website.

Special to the Herald

As another Texas summer with record-breaking heat ends and the beginning of the Fall season approaches, many people will be looking to get out and enjoy themselves at various events across the state. Residents may be planning on watching their favorite sports team compete this season or attending a concert featuring a famous musician. John Harvey Kennemur, 81, of Big Spring, passed away Monday, Sept. 19, 2022, at his residence. The family will receive friends from 5 p.m. until 7p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 21, at Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home. Graveside services will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 22, at Trinity Memorial Park.

He was born July 9, 1941, in Big Spring, to Dorothy and Noble Kennemur. He grew up in a farming household in the Elbow/Forsan community and was a 1959 graduate of Forsan High School. He attended Howard County Community College. He married his sweetheart, Winnifred Norrel June 24, 1961, in Big Spring.

He started to work for Pioneer Natural Gas March 1, 1963, as a laborer with a shovel. When a strange looking piece of equipment called a backhoe was delivered, he asked how and who was going to operate. He was given the keys and told to figure it out. He continued to advance with the company as Pioneer became Energas and Energas became Atoms Energy. He retired from Atmos July 31, 1996, as a District Supervisor overseeing operations from Lamesa to New Mexico and 280plus employees. John was a 3rd generation Elder at the 1st Presbyterian Church.

His parents took annual vacations to Rockport and Port Aransas. He continued that tradition for many years with his own children. He loved watching the cargo ships going through the channel, fishing from the dock and walking the beaches collecting buckets of seashells. He also enjoyed hunting and softball. He never missed a Texas Rangers game on TV. He maintained Martin houses and kept the Cardinals as well as the sparrows in his neighborhood well fed. It became an annual Christmas tradition for his sons to give Mom and Dad a Santa figurine. Those will now return to John and Paul.

Survivors include his wife of 61 years, Winnifred; his sons: John (Cindy) Kennemur and Paul Kennemur; four grandson's: Quinton, Toby (Bailee) and Kendrik, all of Big Spring; and Brent Sisson and family of Anchorage, AK and one brother Danny Kennemur, of Big Spring.

He was preceded in death by his parents, a sister and brother-in-law, Nancy and Terry Hale and his daughter-in-law, Monika Kennemur.

PCCA Announces Year-End Cash Distributions of $19.48 Million to its Grower-Owners

LUBBOCK -

Today at its 69th Annual Meeting, Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Cooperative Association announced further fiscal year-end cash distributions to its grower-owners totaling $19.48 million. The distributions, to be completed this month, consist of $9.40 million in cash dividends and $10.08 million in stock retirements. PCCA's President and CEO, Kevin Brinkley, commented on the cooperative's efforts for future business transformations.

"PCCA has been on a journey for the past three vears to transform the company into a marketing cooperative of the future," Brinkley said. "We started in 2019 by completely overhauling our risk management policies. We followed up that work with a top-to-bottom review of PCCA's mission. vision, and strategies. I'm pleased to report rapid progress on several initiatives that were developed through that work. While it takes time to implement changes at a large organization like PCCA, our membership has been supportive of introducing new and better products and services for our grower-owners, customers, and other stakehold-

In other business, Directors for the following PCCA districts were re-elected by the membership: Clint Abernathy, District 1; Kody Carson, District 2; Dean Vardeman, District 6; and Dahlen Hancock, District 7.

Founded in 1953, PCCA is a Lubbock-based marketing cooperative owned by farmers in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, and New Mexico dedicated to supplying sustainably-grown, high-quality cotton fiber around the world. In addition to cotton marketing, PCCA also owns cotton warehouse facilities in Texas, Oklahoma, and Kansas and develops and offers software programs and networks to local co-op gins that help add value to their grower-owners' cotton.

Astros clinch AL West for 5th time in 6 years, beat Rays 4-0

By DICK SCANLON

Associated Press

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The Houston Astros clinched their fifth AL West title in six years, getting a leadoff home run from Jose Altuve in a 4-0 victory over the Tampa Bay Rays on Monday night.

"It's been a great start to the season," third baseman Alex Bregman said. "This is a first step in the right direction for this ballclub. We've just got to stay focused and know what a tough task is ahead of us."

Headed to the postseason for the sixth straight season, Houston won for the eighth time in nine games and improved the AL's best record to 97-51. "This is the start of it," manager Dusty Baker said. "You've got to get to this point first, and then you get to the next point and the next point and the next point. You've just got to appreciate where we are right now, and get back to work tomorrow."

Houston has led by the division by nine games or more since June 15.

"Even though we expected to be here, it's never something I take for granted," pitcher Justin Verlander said. "I've been a part of a lot of teams that made the playoffs, but I've played with guys who played 10 years and never experienced this. All those things kind of run through your head in these situations." Luis Garcia (13-8) won his fifth straight decision, giving up two hits and four walks in five innings while striking out four. Hunter Brown pitched three innings and Héctor Neris finished the five-hitter, the Astros 16th shutout this

"It was a fun ride and we've got to enjoy it," said catcher Christian Vázquez, who was acquired on Aug. 1. "This is the first step and if we continue to do our thing, we're going to be fine."

Tampa Bay (82-65) is in position for the second of three AL wild card berths, one game behind Toronto (83-64) and a half-game ahead of Seattle (81-65). After the three-game series that ends Wednesday, the Rays host the Blue Jays in a four-game series.

José Ramírez had three of the Rays' five hits.

Drew Rasmussen (10-6) gave up four runs and six hits in six innings. He has allowed four runs in consecutive starts and giving up three runs or fewer dur-

"I thought I did a better job of executing pitches today, but their refusal to strike out came up big for them," Rasmussen said.

Altuve hit his 25th homer on the fifth pitch of the game, his 11th leadoff homer this season and 32nd of his career.

Altuve singled leading off the sixth, Jeremy Peña walked and Yordan Alvarez hit an RBI single. Bregman followed with a broken-bat, two-run double.

Hurts, so good! Eagles QB dominant in 24-7 win over Vikings

By DAN GELSTON

AP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jalen Hurts rolled to his right, scampered down the sideline and stutterstepped to the 5-yard-line, where he was wrapped up by a defender with another in pursuit. Hurts twisted his body, lowered his head, dragged two defenders with him and powered his way in for an adrenaline-filled 26-yard touchdown run that about broke the game open.

Just maybe, or so the Eagles can hope, there are many more plays like that one ahead.

Hurts had 301 total yards in the first half in the breakout game of his young career, finishing with three total touchdowns as he led Philadelphia to a 24-7 win over the Minnesota Vikings on Monday

"Big-time performance on a big-time stage," Eagles coach Nick Sirianni said.

Trying to prove he can play like the best franchise QBs in the NFL, Hurts looked downright unstoppable from the opening drive.

Hurts hit five receivers on 5-for-5 passing — highlighted by a 19-yard strike to A.J. Brown — and finished the drive himself with a 3-yard scoring run. In the opening win against Detroit, Hurts failed to complete a pass on five attempts and the Eagles turned the ball over on downs on the first drive of the game.

Turn the ball over on downs?

That seemed like just a rumor against the Vikings. The TD was just the liftoff for the 24-year-old Hurts throwing, running, imposing his will with all his available tools against a Vikings defense that could not solve him in his 21st career start. He finished with 333 yards passing and a touchdown, and 57 yards and two scores on the ground. "Another outstanding performance. He threw some unbelievable balls. He made a lot of plays," Eagles center Jason Kelce said. "This was a really great, well-rounded game for him."

On the first play of the second quarter, Hurts connected with a wide-open Quez Watkins for a 53-yard TD and the 14-0 lead. "It always comes with time and as time goes on, you find more comfort with what you're doing,' Hurts said. Darius Slay, who had two interceptions against a hapless Kirk Cousins, had called each of the Eagles' trio of talented receivers Batman.

There was, Brown, the "swole" Batman who had five catches for 69 yards; DeVonta Smith was the "skinny" Batman who had seven for 80 yards; and Watkins was the "fast" Batman who had the burners on for the easy score (and 69 total yards receiv-

Why are they all Batman?

"No Robins. We've got no sidekicks," Slay said. Hurts dazzled with the 26-yard TD with 1:58 left in the half and Jake Elliott still had time to kick a 38-yarder and the Eagles took a 24-7 lead into half-

"I don't think it matters how we score as long as we're putting points on the board," Hurts said.

In a Week 2 full of improbable comebacks, perhaps it wasn't wise to count out the Vikings.

But Cousins and wide receiver Justin Jefferson - famously passed over by the Eagles in the 2020 draft — never got anything going of substance against the Eagles and maligned defensive coordinator Jonathan Gannon. Slay had his second interception of the game in the fourth quarter as the scoreboard soon flashed "Big Play Slay."

"It felt at times, me included, like we pressed a little bit," Vikings coach Kevin O'Connell said.

Hurts had 50 yards rushing and 251 yards passing in the first half. Cousins finished the game 27 for 46 for 221 yards and three interceptions. His lone TD was on a 2-yard pass to Irv Smith in the second quarter. Jefferson had six catches for 48 yards a week after he had 184 receiving yards and two TDs in a win against Green Bay.

"I take no matchup lightly, but he is one of the best in the world. I am one of the best in the world, too. I was looking forward to the matchup," Slay said of Jefferson.

PHILLY CELEBS

Bryce Harper (wearing an Eagles hat), James Harden (who was handed the ball by Slay after his first interception) and Bradley Cooper (wearing an Allen Iverson T-shirt) were among the jam-packed and fight-song singing crowd at the Eagles' home

Harden waited in the tunnel for Slay to autograph the football. Harden good-naturedly told Slay he should have had even more interceptions.

"He was shocked that I gave it to him," said Slay, who noted he kept the ball from the second pick.

FAMILIAR RING

Dick Vermeil received his Hall of Fame ring at halftime. In his third season in Philadelphia, the coaching great led the Eagles to their first playoff appearance in 18 years. He guided the Eagles to their first Super Bowl appearance in the 1980 season only to lose to the Oakland Raiders, 27-10.

Diggs scores 3 TDs for Bills in 41-7 rout of Titans

By JOHN WAWROW

AP Sports Writer

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (AP) — If the Buffalo Bills are making some sort of loud statement by opening their season with consecutive routs, quarterback Josh Allen isn't about to raise his voice.

As he did following a 31-10 win over the defending Super Bowl champion Los Angeles Rams, Allen dismissed questions about the message the Bills sent by throttling the Tennessee Titans 41-7 in Buffalo's home opener on Monday night.

"When we execute how we know we're supposed to execute, success typically leads to success," Allen said. "We're just trying to be the best version of ourselves."

It made no difference to Allen whether the Bills earned some vindication against an opponent that had defeated them in each of the past two

"It doesn't matter who it's against. Like, that's a good team that we played," he said. "For us to go do that was great."

Allen threw four touchdown passes, including three to Stefon Diggs, and the Bills' defense did the rest, containing Derrick Henry and the Titans. Buffalo forced four turnovers, including linebacker Matt Milano returning the second of Ryan Tannehill's two interceptions 43 yards for a touchdown.

Buffalo never trailed and blew the game open by outscoring the Titans 24-0 in the third quarter. The surge began in the final minute of the second quarter when Buffalo went ahead

17-7 on Allen's 4-yard touchdown pass

Allen topped 300 yards passing for the 15th time of his career, completing 26 of 38 attempts for 317 yards, and sat out the entire fourth quarter. Diggs had 12 catches for 148 yards. He has exceeded 100 yards in each of his first two games, a feat accomplished previously for the Bills only by Hall of Famer Andre Reed.

"It was a lot left on the bone, really," Diggs said with a shrug. "We had a lot of points. I think we had one punt and I think it came back to us. But just doing your job, and at this point we're doing OK I guess." The Titans, coming off a 21-20 season-opening loss to the New York Giants, opened 0-2 for the first time since 2012. The two-time defending AFC South champions face numerous questions about a defense that gave up 313 yards passing a week after allowing 238 yards rushing.

Meantime, their offense mustered 187 yards, managed 12 first downs and had two of 11 drives finish in Bills ter-"We got our (butts) kicked, plain and simple," coach Mike Vrabel said after the most lopsided loss in his four-plus seasons coaching the Titans. "They outplayed us and they outcoached us, and that's the definition of it. We're going to go back to work and try to figure out how to win a football game."

While Tannehill was benched after throwing his second interception, the Titans' Henry-led running game conwas limited to 25 yards on 13 carries while scoring on a 2-yard plunge.

"I pride myself on making plays and being a playmaker for this team. And I didn't do that tonight," Henry said. "They were the better team tonight in all three phases, the whole game. We just weren't good enough. At all."

Injuries affected both teams, the most serious involving Bills cornerback Dane Jackson, who hurt his neck in a troubling collision with a teammate and was taken to a hospital for evaluation.

The Bills said Jackson had full movement in his limbs.

Coach Sean McDermott said Jackson was still awaiting test results. The entire Bills team gathered around Jackson as he was loaded into an ambulance on the field.

"You go from being a coach to just a human. That's a real moment," Mc-Dermott said. "Just praying for him. It's an unfortunate situation." Tannehill finished 11 of 20 for 117 yards and was benched following Milano's interception with 3:49 left in the third quarter. Rookie Malik Willis took over, and if Tannehill continues to struggle, Tennessee fans will want to see more of the young backup. Vrabel stressed he benched many of

Kentucky school shooter says he's still hearing voices

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP) — A Kentucky man who killed three students and wounded five more in a school shooting 25 years ago told a parole panel on Tuesday that he is still hearing voices like the ones that told him to steal a pistol and shoot into a crowded high school lobby in 1997.

The two-person panel hearing Michael Carneal's testimony deferred a decision until Monday, when the state's entire parole board will meet and could decide to grant his parole request, defer his next parole decision to a later date, or determine that he must spend the rest of his life in prison.

Carneal was a 14-year-old freshman on Dec. 1, 1997, when he fired the stolen pistol at a beforeschool prayer group in the lobby of Heath High School, near Paducah, Kentucky. School shootings were not yet a depressing part of the national consciousness, and Carneal was given the maximum sentence possible at the time for someone his age life in prison with the possibility of parole. A quarter century later, in the shadow of Uvalde and in a nation disgusted by the carnage of mass shootings, Carneal, now 39, tried Tuesday to convince the parole panel he deserves to be freed.

Parole Board Chair Ladeidra Jones told Carneal after his testimony that the two members had not reached a unanimous decision and were referring his case to the full board, which meets on Monday. Only the full board has the power to order Carneal to serve out his full sentence without another

Speaking on a videoconference from the Kentucky State Reformatory in La Grange, Carneal told the panel that at the time of the shooting, "I was hearing in my head to do certain things, but I should have known that stealing guns ... was going to lead to something terrible." He said he has been receiving therapy and taking psychiatric medications in prison but admitted that he still hears voices. As recently as a couple of days ago, he heard voices telling him to jump off the stairs.

Jones told Carneal that his inmate file lists his mental health prognosis as "poor" and says that even with mental health services, he is still experiencing paranoid thoughts with violent imagery.

Asked how the board could be assured that he would not act on those thoughts, Carneal said he has learned to ignore them and hasn't acted on them for many years. He said there are days that he believes he deserves to die for what he did, but other days he thinks he can still do some good in "It doesn't have to be something grand," he said.

'Every little thing you do affects somebody. It could be listening to someone, carrying something. I would like to do something in the future that could contribute to society." Carneal attributed the shooting to a combination of factors that included his mental health and immaturity, but added that it was "not justified at all There's no excuse for it at all." Killed in the shooting were 14-year-old Nicole

Hadley, 17-year-old Jessica James, and 15-year-old Kayce Steger.

Carneal said he knew all of his victims.

"Nicole was a very good friend," he said. "Some of them I knew more than others, but it was a small school and a lot of these people were in band with me. I'd went to several of them's birthday parties. ... None of them do I have any negative memories

He ended with an apology.

"I would like to say to you and the victims and their friends and families and the whole community that I'm sorry for what I did. I know it's not going to change things or make anything better, but I am sorry for what I did."

Watching from her home in Kirksey was Missy Jenkins Smith, who was paralyzed by one of Carneal's bullets and uses a wheelchair. Her friend Kelly Hard Alsip, also wounded that day, and their children and other relatives were crowded onto a large sectional sofa.

They scoffed as they heard Carneal say he had not targeted the prayer group but simply shot at random. They also reacted with disbelief when he said he had heard voices just two days ago.

After the hearing, Jenkins Smith said she doesn't like having to wait another week to find out what will happen, but "at least he's not being released."

She had testified to the parole board panel on Monday that she believes there are too many "what ifs" with Carneal. What if he stops taking his medication? What if his medication stops working?

"Continuing his life in prison is the only way his victims can feel comfortable and safe," she said.

She also said it would be unfair to the girls he killed and their loved ones for Carneal to be re

"They will forever be a 17 year old, a 14 year old and a 15 year old — allowed only one full decade of life. A consequence of Michael's choice," she said. Also testifying Monday was Christina Hadley El-legood, whose younger sister Nicole was killed in the shooting. Ellegood has written about the pain of seeing her sister's body and having to call their mom and tell her Nicole had been shot.

"I had no one to turn to who understood what I was going through," she said. "For me, it's not fair for him to be able to roam around with freedom when we live in fear of where he might be."

The two-person panel of the full parole board only has the option to release him or defer his next opportunity for parole for up to five years. They could not agree on those options and sent the case to a meeting of the full board next Monday.

Hollan Holm, who was wounded that day, spoke Monday about lying on the floor of the high school lobby, bleeding from his head and believing he was going to die. But he said Carneal was too young to comprehend the full consequences of his actions and should have a chance at supervised release.

"When I think of Michael Carneal, I think of the child I rode the bus with every day," he said. "I think of the child I shared a lunch table with in third grade. I think of what he could have become if, on that day, he had it somewhere in him to make a different choice or take a different path."

Court names lawyers for official in Vegas reporter killing

Associated Press

LAS VEGAS (AP) — A local elected official got court-appointed attorneys during his arraignment on Tuesday in the stabbing death of a Las Vegas investigative journalist who wrote articles critical of him and his managerial

Robert Richard Telles, the Clark County public administrator, stood in court with shackles on his wrists, waist and ankles — but no longer with bandages on his forearms - while a Las Vegas judge told him he was charged with the unlawful, senseless and heinous murder" on Sept. 2 of veteran Las Vegas Review-Journal staff writer Jeff German. Telles spoke only to acknowledge that he understood the charge. He was not asked to enter a plea. Las Vegas Justice of the Peace Pro Tem William Jansen scheduled an Oct. 26 preliminary hearing of evidence to determine if Telles should stand trial in state court. A plea would be entered at that time. Clark County District Attorney Steve Wolfson has said he will determine in coming weeks whether Telles, 45, will face the death penalty. German was 69, and prosecutors added an age enhancement to the charge against Telles.

Edward Kane, a veteran deputy Clark County public defender, told Jansen that Telles would not immediately seek bail and that his office would determine whether Telles can afford his own attorney. The judge let Telles' previous attorney, Travis Shetler, withdraw from the case.

Kane and colleague David Lopez-Negrete declined to comment outside of Wolfson said after the hearing that he's seeking a court order to remove Telles from his elected position heading the county office that handles the assets of people who die without a will or family contacts. Such court action could take several weeks.

Wolfson said Telles, who has been jailed since Sept. 7, is "unable to perform his duties." Police said Telles was hospitalized briefly after his arrest for treatment of "self-inflicted" injuries to his arms.

Telles' term in office expires Dec. 31, but Clark County officials said he was been banned from county offices or property pending a review of his position as an elected official. Telles is accused in a criminal complaint of "lying in wait" for German, who authorities say was stabbed seven times. German lived alone, and his body was found the following day. The Clark County coroner ruled his death a ho-

Police allege that Telles shut off his cellphone and waited in a vehicle outside German's home until the attack. It was characterized as a planned response to articles that German wrote about "turmoil and internal dissension in Telles' office. Telles lost his primary bid for reelection in June after articles in May aired claims of administrative bullying, favoritism and Telles' relationship with a subordinate staffer. County lawmakers appointed a consultant to address complaints about leadership in his office.

German was widely respected for his tenacity, and his colleagues said he was working on follow-up reports about Telles and the public administrator's office when he was killed.

"The published articles ... ruined (Telles') political career, likely his marriage, and this was him lashing out at the cause," Chief Deputy Clark County District Attorney Richard Scow told a judge on Sept. 8. That judge, Las Vegas Justice of the Peace Elana Lee Graham, called the police report detailing the attack "chilling" and said it described German "fighting for his life." She spoke of apparent defense wounds on German's arms and said DNA believed to be from Telles was found under German's fingernails.

Police said a search warrant turned up items at Telles' home including blood-stained shoes and a straw hat that had been cut into pieces.

Police said they did not immediately find the weapon used to kill German.

Although police said security video showed Telles near German's home, Wolfson said authorities do not have video showing the attack.

East-West vulnerable.

The bidding: South West North East Pass Pass Pass Opening lead — queen of hearts. The fate of many hands is determined primarily by how the opponents' cards are distributed, rather than by the skill of the declarer. But before a declarer decides that the outcome is purely a matter of luck, he should make sure he has considered all of his options. Take this deal, where making five clubs appears to depend on the location of the ace of diamonds and king of spades. If West has both of those cards, declarer can make 12 tricks by taking the spade finesse and later leading up to the diamond king.

Alternatively, if each opponent has one of the critical cards, declarer loses either two diamonds or a diamond and a spade.

But if East has both key cards, it would seem that South must lose a causing widespread spade and two diamonds and go down one. Yet closer inspection reveals that, with proper play, declarer can make his contract regardless of how the adverse cards are distributed.

South wins the first heart, ruffs a heart in dummy, leads a trump to the ace and ruffs his remaining heart. The closed hand is then entered with a trump, and a dia-

In 1989, Hurricane Hugo crashed into Charleston, South Carolina (the storm was blamed for 56 deaths in the Caribbean and 29 in the United States). Twenty-one students in Alton, Texas, died when their school bus, hit by a soft-drink delivery truck, careened into a water-filled pit. In 1996, President Bill Clinton signed the Defense of Marriage Act denying federal recognition of samesex marriages, a day after saying the law should not be used as an excuse for discrimination, violence or intimidation against gays and lesbians. (Although never formally repealed, DoMA was effectively overturned by U.S. Supreme Court decisions in 2013 and 2015.)

In 2001, Congress again opened the federal coffers to those harmed by terrorism, providing $15 billion to the airline industry, which was suffering mounting economic losses since the Sept. 11 attacks. In 2011, Josh Fattal and Shane Bauer, two Americans jailed in Iran as spies, left Tehran for the Gulf state of Oman, closing a high-profile drama that brought more than two years of hope and heartbreak for their families. The state of Texas executed Lawrence Russell Brewer for his role in the gruesome dragging death of James Byrd Jr. Ten years ago: People lined up to buy Apple's iPhone5 as it went on sale in the United States and several other coun-

WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 21, 2022

International Day of Peace

In a gesture of heart, the Leo moon forms an auspicious angle to Jupiter. It's a lunar irony, given the planet of luck resides in the sign of war on what has been declared by the United Nations to be an International Day of Peace. Though the humans of Earth seem far away from the ideal, the aspect offers hope that peace will indeed have its day.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). What sèems to be a complaint may actually be a cover-up, a brag or a cry for attention, or a gripe about something unrelated to its decoy subject. Listen deeper and see if you can hear what the underlying need might be.

(April 20-May TAURUS 20). The right-size challenge will take your life to new heights. If it's too small, you'll get bored; if it's too big, you won't progress enough to create some momentum. Success depends on the correct assessment of scale.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Sentimental possessions, by definition, are imbued with meaning and specialness. This is why there can be but a limited number of them. If everything is special, then nothing is. You'll use this criterion to lighten your load today.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). It is one experience to see yourself in a mirror and quite another to see yourself as others do. The view from farther away will teach you something and influence your decisions about what to do next.

mersed in a difficult task, it will cross your mind that there must be a better way to do it. Your intuition in the matter is absolutely correct, and investigating the hunch will be both lucky and fun.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You will experiment with goals, guidelines and rules that let you know your life is on track. One pertinent question is: How do you measure your progress? You don't have to use the same measuring stick as the others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). You never intended to tackle a project on your own, and yet now you seem to be the only one working on it. Perhaps it's because you're the one with an in-depth understanding of what it will take to finish. Teach help-

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). You're in no mood for encouragement, only because the cheerleaders feel unnecessary and distracting. The challenge itself is motivation enough to do your best. Tonight, the humorless will take you seriously, so joking is risky.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Avoid making assumptions about people you meet. If you think you already know where someone is coming from, you cut yourself off from making a true connection and learning all you might about

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). To own a thing, you must have a place for it, and to accomplish a thing, you must have a time for it. Put it on the calendar. Even a remote date is better than none because, without a specified time, things tend to happen "never."

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Im- AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb.

18). Just when you think you know what you want your life to look like, you discover you weren't being specific enough. Don't worry, you'll have as many do-overs as you need. Start making your wishes known.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). You'll start to wonder if you're following the right plan and if your efforts are really going to do what you need them to. For now, stay the course. If you start experimenting too soon into a process, you won't know what really works.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Sept. 21). Here comes a new, glorious, immersive project, requiring you to let go of time and energy drains that were not giving back to you. With the action centered on this new pursuit, your world becomes simultaneously limited yet open in exciting ways. In time, you'll consider this season of life to be a dream come true. Leo and Sagittarius adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 1, 22, 27, 16 and 9.

CELEBRITY PROFILES: Jason Derulo was a child prodigy, having studied opera and ballet and written songs for Diddy and Danity Kane when he was still a teenager. Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it

Official Game Rules:

Find this week's games between the merchant's ads on this page. Choose the teams you think will win, and fill in the official entry form on this page with your team choices. Clip the entry form out of the page and drop it in the Pigskin box at one of the listed merchants.

Do not drop your entry form at the Big Spring Herald office.

- *The entry with the most correct picks will win $50!
- You must be 18 to enter. No photo copies accepted.
- *In the event of a tie, the tie breaker will determine the winner. For the tie breaker, the entry with the correct team will win. If both entries have guessed the same team, the second tie breaker will be the one closest to the total points.
- *Decisions of the judges are final. *Employees and family of the Big Spring Herald are ineligible.
 - *All entries must be received at one of the participating
 - merchants by 1pm Friday of the week played. *Winners will be announced on the next week's
 - Pigskin Contest Page.
