Jurors deliberating in QAnon follower's Capitol riot trial weight things to everyone "Davis said, "Apparently," By MICHAEL KUNZELMAN

Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Iowa man was "weaponizing" rioters who joined him in chasing a police officer up a staircase during one of the most harrowing scenes from a mob's attack on the U.S. Capitol, a prosecutor told jurors on Friday at the close of the man's trial. Douglas Jensen had a folding knife in his pocket and was wearing a T-shirt expressing his adherence to the QAnon conspiracy theory when he joined the rioters who stormed the Capitol on Jan. 6, 2021. One of the videos that went viral after the siege captured Jensen at the front of the crowd that followed Capitol Police Officer Eugene Goodman up the stairs. "The defendant wasn't just leading the mob. He was weaponizing it," Assistant U.S. Attorney Hava Mirell said during closing arguments for Jensen's trial. "He knew he had the numbers, and he was willing to use them." Jurors began deliberating in the case against Jensen, a construction worker who is among hundreds of people charged with federal crimes for their conduct at the Capitol on Jan. 6. Jensen's shirt — which depicted a large "Q" and a bald eagle along with two QAnon slogans — made him stand out from the crowd of rioters.

Defense attorney Christopher Davis said the shirt was a symbol of Jensen's adherence to QAnon, which centered on the baseless belief that former President Donald Trump was secretly fighting a Satan-worshipping cabal of "deep state" enemies, prominent Democrats and Hollywood elites. During Trump's time in the White House, QAnon spread beyond the internet's fringes to influence mainstream Republican circles. 'The (COVID-19) pandemic did weird things to us. It did weird things to everyone," Davis said. "Apparently, Mr. Jensen was one of them."

Jensen believed the conspiracy theory's apocalyptic prophesy that "The Storm" was coming and would usher in mass arrests and executions of Trump's foes, including Vice President Mike Pence. Before the riot, Trump and his allies spread the false narrative that Pence somehow could have overturned the results of the 2020 election.

After scaling the outer walls of the Capitol, Jensen climbed through a broken window to enter the building. Prosecutors said Jensen learned from a friend's text message that Pence was about to certify the election results. "That's all about to change," Jensen replied.

Pence was presiding over the Senate on Jan. 6 as a joint session of Congress was convened to certify President Joe Biden's 2020 electoral victory. Photographs showed Jensen with his arms extended as he confronted a line of police officers near the Senate chambers. "Go arrest the vice president," Jensen told one of the officers, according to prosecutors. "This was a terribly confused man on Jan. 6," Davis said of

The defense lawyer urged jurors to judge Jensen by his own actions and not by what others did at the Capitol. "Jan. 6 is not sitting at that table. Douglas Jensen is," Davis said, pointing to his client. Jensen didn't testify at his trial, which started Tuesday. Goodman was a key witness for prosecutors.

Before running upstairs, Goodman approached Jensen and

Novelist Gayl Jones is among National Book Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Novelist Gayl Jones is a fiction nominee for the National Book Award, the rare established name on a list of 10 that features eight debut works of fiction.

Jones was cited Friday for "The Birdcatcher," an exploration of race, art and marriage in which a Black American writer journeys to the island of Ibiza and stays with her married friends, one of whom is trying to kill the other. Jones, 72, is herself the author of one of the most acclaimed debut books in recent memory, the novel "Corregidora," which came out in 1975. She has published sporadically in the decades following and last year broke a 20year hiatus with the novel "Palmares," a finalist for the Pulitzer

The National Book Foundation, which presents the awards, announced long lists of 10 earlier this week for young people's literature, poetry, literature in translation and nonfiction.

The competitive categories will be narrowed to lists of five on Oct. 4, with winners announced during a Nov. 16 ceremony that will include honorary prizes for cartoonist Art Spiegelman and for Tracie D. Hall, executive director of the American Library Association.

The lists are judged by panels of authors, critics and other members of the literary community.

Among the books bypassed by fiction judges: Jennifer Egan's "The Candy House," Lydia Millet's "Dinosaurs," Andrew Sean Greer's "Less Is Lost" and Yiyun Li's "The Book of Goose." Besides Jones, Jamil Jan Kochai is the only nominee who had previously published fiction. He was cited Friday for the collection "The Haunting of Hajji Hotak and Other Stories."

The fiction list also includes two filmmakers: Fatimah Asghar, author of "If They Come for Us," is the writer and co-creator of the Emmy-nominated "Brown Girls"; Ramona Emerson, who wrote and directed the documentary "The Mayors of Shiprock," is a National Book Award nominee for "Shutter."

Three of the debut books are story collections: Leigh Newman's "Nobody Gets Out Alive," Marytza K. Rubio's "Maria, Maria & Other Stories" and Jonathan Escoffery's "If I Survive You," an interlinked series of stories.

The other nominees are Sarah Thankam Mathews' "All This Could Be Different," Tess Gunty's "The Rabbit Hutch" and Alejandro Varela's "The Town of Babylon," released by Astra Publishing House, which was founded just two years ago.

Early Streisand nightclub recording remastered for release

NEW YORK (AP) — A series of 1962 performances by Barbra Streisand at a Manhattan nightclub before she became a superstar have been remastered and will be released this fall.

"Barbra Streisand — Live at the Bon Soir" features songs from a three night stint at the Bon Soir nightclub in Greenwich Village. The singer-actor was and the sessions led to her first record deal. Columbia Records and Legacy Recordings announced Friday that the remastered sessions would be released on Nov. 4.

The performances were intended to become Streisand's first album, but instead many of the songs were redone as studio recordings and released as her Grammy-winning self-titled debut album in 1963.

Streisand kept the recordings in her personal collection and she approved the release after engineer Jochem van der Saag used technology to improve their quality, according to a news release. The nightclub's acoustics were not meant for professional recording, but modern techniques allowed van der Saag to separate Streisand's vocals from the instrument sounds.

The release will allow listeners "to witness 20-year old Streisand at the dawn of her unparalleled career," Friday's announcement said.

"I had never even been in a nightclub until I sang in one," Streisand said in a statement, noting the release comes 60 years after the Bon Soir sessions.

Welcome To Autumn

Some people say autumn means the end of summer and all the fun, time to get serious and go back to the ordinary. Others look forward to fall, saying it's colorful and energizing me fall is foreboding, dark and mysterious. But I try to be positive about it, know-

It's the active time of year when big things happen: the world series, football, symphony concerts, county fairs, long walks, evenings around a fire pit, family gatherings, Halloween, Thanksgiving, the rush toward Christmas. School buses are everywhere taking kids to school and other events. There seems to be more traffic, more coming and going, people doing things and going places.

Nat King Cole's "Autumn Leaves," along with Ella Fitzgerald and Louis Armstrong's rendition of "Autumn in New York," are the top two songs about fall. They lighten up the season.

In autumn the days get shorter. The nights get longer. The sky gets darker and the sun is lower in the sky, creating shadows in new patterns. At full phase, the fall moon is a big round orange circle when it rises on the eastern horizon. There is no doubt that trees are a colorful spectacle in the fall. It's kind of nature's final act of the year, like it's been saving it up all year so it could unleash it at the proper time. Someone said autumn has more gold than any other season. We look forward to cooler weather and get out grandma's quilt anticipating winter's chill. Light and colorful summer clothing is replaced with darker, heavier wear. A warm breakfast takes the place of cold cereals. Fall is a time of pumpkins, cinnamon, candy corn, pecans and red apples. It's a time of serenity, nostalgia, reflection, harvest and planning. Birds begin their annual migration. Some go away, others come in. Some just stay.

The puffy white clouds of summer change into long, thin, wispy streaks. And under that sky, with all the activity of the season, there is a stillness, a silence, a reverence that makes us stop and look around and listen to the harmonious rhythm of the changing season.

The autumn equinox occurs the first day of fall when the sun crosses the equator and the day and night are of equal length as autumn moves out summer with a gentle nudge.

Happy fall, y'all!

Letter to the Editor of the city. Those who continugle street in this town: that sit

I was present at the City Council meeting last Tuesday, September 13, 2022. I would like to applaud our new mayor for all of the good works he's begun since taking his position. At the meeting they voted to begin the eviction process of tenants who failed to upkeep their properties. My question is, when do we start to worry about the properties that litter every sinempty, rundown, burnt out, and overgrown with weeds. Why are we not starting with the propertiesthat sit empty for years? Why are we not focused on removing those properties first before coming after those with residents living in them? I'd also like to know how Code

Enforcement is handling those who blatantly disregard the laws ously park in their yards, what is the process of making that stop? Are they not being sent letters after the first time? They continue to do it becuase there are no consequences. How do we fix this? We can't "Keep Big Spring etter From the Editor I haven't always been a widower.

I moved to Colorado City in 2001 because I met

Shirley Marie Wyrosdick Limones, a divorcee 11 years my senior.

We met online through one of those dating sites that were ubiquitous in the late '90s and early aughts. After several long phone conversations, I made the trip from deep South Texas - Weslaco, if you know it - to C-City. I was no stranger to Wolf Town. My grandmother was Betty From Weslaco and moved to Colorado City. I got another newspaper job at a slightly larger town nearby, and we got married Sept. 22, 2001.

Shirley was a lab tech here in Big Spring, at Scenic Mountain Medical Center.

We had some great times together. We traveled all over the western United States during trips to visit my brother Marty in Seattle, and to see the Grand Canyon, just because. We frequently used to drive to Midland to partake at a restaurant or take in a Anyways, such thoughts came to mind recently during visits to two of the most remarkable new American tourist attractions. They are much discussed, awash in remarks like, "We've got to go back!" I reference The Creation Museum in Petersburg, KY, and a sister attraction 40 miles away in Williamstown, KY. The latter is called The Ark Encounter, its centerpiece a life-size replica of the one Noah built to provide the "start-over" deliverance God provided humankind that hinged on Noah's obedience. That he took on such a serious task to construct a huge boat to accommodate "two-by-two" boardings before the Great Flood was itself remarkable. That he persevered during ridicule extended daily by others added to the miracle. Laughter faded on board, of course, as the craft successfully stayed afloat for 40 days before a dove returned with an olive branch in its beak. Its return was more welcome than discoveries in the 1849 gold rush....

Enough of my observations about "then;" I'm determined to focus on "now." My wife and I spent a total of three days at the two attractions, realizing too late that each one provides information, displays, lifelike biblical figures and other features meriting much longer visits.

The Creation Museum is near the Cincinnati Airport, just across the state line in Kentucky. It book: Don Newbury, was built 15 years ago, and when The Ark opened about seven years later, attendance doubled. Many details and photos are available online....

The Ark--located just off Interstate Highway 75--looms in the largest sense of the word. Huge against the horizon, it spellbinds. I'll spare you the cubits--units of measure Noah followed--but insist on providing numbers that impress. The replica weighs 2,500 tons. It is 510 feet long, 85 feet wide and 51 feet tall (five stories.) It will hold 5,000 people.

The whole facility is well-planned, with buses at the ready to deliver visitors from parking lots to The Ark. There are numerous vendors with food and soft drinks, strategically-placed benches and even electric-powered carts for folks who may not be up to walking. (Yes, The Ark has elevators.)

Special attractions are planned throughout the year. During our visit, there were "40 Days and 40 Nights of Gospel Music." Come Oct. 4-6, a conference for pastors and church leaders (open to all) is scheduled....

There's far too little space to describe The Ark's interior. Suffice it to say that it is a work of art, staffed by folks who are knowledgeable and helpful, determined to make everyone feel welcome. A few days prior to our arrival, floods struck several regions of Kentucky, and word was out that environs at The Ark were flooded. Ark communicators had to interrupt usual tasks to get the word out that the rumor mill should grind to a stop concerning the attraction. Had it been true, the replica may well have risen to the occasion.

We hear often about tourist destinations being "for the whole family." The Creation Museum and The Ark Encounter "measure up," in cubits or otherwise. And so does the Cincinnati Airport Hilton where we lodged.

Earlier, I urged consideration of visits to these Kentucky points for automobile vacations. It is a point worth repeating. It is notable that the Cincinnati Airport is within an hour's flight of 60% of folks living in the USA....

Above, action from the Steers JV game against the Snyder Tigers Thursday afternoon in Snyder. The Steers JV squad would fall to the Tigers with the final score being 22-10. came out fired up.

The Big Spring Steers JV team hit the road to battle against the Snyder Tigers Thursday afternoon in a non-district matchup.

The first two quarters belonged to Snyder as the Tigers found the end zone three times. In the final minutes of the first half the Steers pushed, trying to make their way through the Tiger defense, but found themselves unsuccess-

The West Texas heat continued to beam down as the Steers collected themselves and rediscovered their fight. At the start of the second half the Steers

The Steers made the necessary adjustments as they scored a touchdown and successfully converted the two extra point attempt to put 8 points on the board. The JV Steers were starting to find their rhythm in the second half but the Snyder defense was relentless.

On the Steers next possession they found themselves knocking on the door to score another touchdown thanks to a successfully completed long pass play. However, the Steers would hit a roadblock on the next play as the Tigers intercepted the pass attempt with 3:17 left in the third quarter.

The Steers defense would respond back though, and in a big way. Soon after the Tigers took over, the Steers ended up getting safety making the score now 22-10 with three minutes left in the Third Quarter.

Headed into the fourth quarter Snyder still held the lead at 22-10 with Steers having possession of the ball.

Still in the lead with a little over four minutes left in the game, the Tigers began to run the clock down to secure the win. The Steers defense however continued to give their all, pushing back and holding the line.

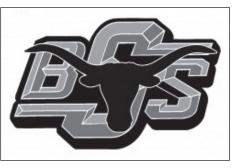

With 2:42 left in the fourth quarter a time out was called. Following the timeout, both the teams took to the field again with Snyder still in possession. Big Spring's defense came up with a huge play regaining the ball off a fumble on the ensuing play. The momentum was short lived as Snyders defense would answer back. The Tigers intercepted the ball off of a long Steer pass to regain possession. With 2:14 left in the game Snyder would run down the clock to secure the win with the final score being 22-10.

Despite the loss, the Steers JV team showed heart as they held strong and prevented the Tigers from scoring after the first quarter.

KICKING UP A STORM IN WEST

TEXAS

Javon Jackson finished the game passing for 129

In this 40-mile radius we have two of the state's best (if not the nation) high school kickers. That being Greenwood's Rance Purser and Forsan's Nolan Park.

Both are seniors and both are sons of coaches. Rance is the son of Greenwood head football coach Rusty Purser and Nolan is the son of Forsan assistant football coach Dave Park.

Last week in Greenwood's win over Shallowater, Purser kicked a 61-yard field goal. It was one yard shy of the state high school field goal record of 62 held by three players - Odessa Permian's Russell Wheatley (1975), El Paso Irvin's Ralph Heaton (1992) and Midland High's David Leaverton (1995).

"He's a little bitty kid," said coach Purser of his son. "Last year he stood about 5-foot-7 and weighed 135-pounds. He's been kicking on the varsity since his sophomore year. This past year he worked hard in the weight room and got a lot stronger. He had some wind behind him and I felt like he had a chance to kick it. He's pretty consistent between 50 and 55 yards. " coach Purser added.

The week before in a game against Andrews, Rance kicked a 52-yarder.

Grade

Michael Morris also had 2 tackles for a loss.

McDonald.

Cooper also ran the ball for 101 yards with 2 touch-

Second Time Around

Three weeks ago in Forsan's win over Post, senior Nolan Park booted a 54-yarder. It was no fluke. I've personally seen him just miss a field goal that would have been good from 55-yards.

Of his 24 kickoffs this season, 19 have gone for touchbacks. Park also punts and averages more than 40-yards per kick.

The 6-foot-1, 215-pounder is also an all-state offensive guard. Perhaps Park was meant to be a kicker. He played youth soccer at an early age and a few years later he constructed a field goal post out of PVC pipe and put it in his back yard.

"It changes how we call plays," said Phillips of Park's kicking prowess. If we get inside the 40, we feel we are in scoring position."

BIG SPRING RUNNERS IN STATE RANKINGS

The Big Spring cross country teams continue to show their mettle throughout the state. Not only are the Steers ranked third in the state as a team, they have two runners ranked in the top 50 individually.

Leading the way are seniors Adrian Solis and Isaac Gonzales. In the 5K Solis is ranked 40th (16:26) and Gonzales is 50th (16:39) in Class 4A per TX MilsSplit.

On the girls' side, freshman Bergan Pinkley continues to impress. She has a personal best of 21:05 in the 5K and has run season best of 12:37 in the

2 mile race. This week Big Spring will head north to Denton to compete in the TX Garmin MileSplit meet. The Steers will be off on Oct.1 but will host its Big Spring Invitational Fundraiser at Comanche Trail Park. HOW BOUT THEM STEERS?

Got to love the diversity of the Steers football team. Coach Cannon has got something brewing. Like the way they spread it around the field.

Last week Gavin Padron completed passes to seven different receivers. The offense is sending them all to the right open spots. They'll throw the ball and they don't mind throwing it from any part of the field.

The Kavien Ford fueled running game helps keep the defense honest.

I'M JUST SAYING

In professional football, I wouldn't mind seeing players not celebrating after every good play, whether it be a good catch, sack for a loss, or an interception.

Does anybody just hand the ball to the official and on to the next play. Too much is too much.

QUOTE OF THE WEEK

Best comment I've seen all week came from pro-linebacker Micah Parsons after recording two sacks in this past Sunday's game. He deflected praise by saying - "One lion can't do it by himself. You need a pride. If there's 10 hyenas and one lion, the lion is liable to lose." THOSE DILLINGENT BEAR-

KATS Talk about taking on the competition. Last week the Garden City Bearkats played the No. 2 May Tigers and lost 63-34 in May. This week the Bearkats will be on the road again against No. 1 ranked Westbrook. This will be No. 12 ranked Garden City's third consecutive road game, what a schedule! Garden City head coach Jeff Jones laughed and said "trust me, that's not the schedule I would have liked. We would have played Westbrook anyway. It's a close drive and they have sub-varsity teams which makes it a lot easier and it's always a good clean game between teams that have a lot of respect for each other. Oh well, it'll make us better. We just want to stay Against May, Garden City faced one of six-man's top quarterbacks in Kress Kenyon who has a terrific arm. This week they'll be facing perhaps the state's top running back in Cedric Ware.

healthy through the stretch."

Westbrook hasn't shied away from the competition either. They beat top ranked teams Jonesboro and Rankin in back-to-back weeks, Last week they got a bit of a breather against Spur, a 56-8 mercy rule victory.

GREENVILLE, Texas (AP) — A former police officer in a small Texas town was found not guilty of murder Thursday in the slaying of a Black man who offered a handshake as the officer arrived to respond to a call about a fight at

The Hunt County jury deliberated for more than five hours before acquitting Shaun Lucas of the death of Jonathan Price.

Lucas was an officer in Wolfe City where Price, who had played football for Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, was a city employee, personal trainer and bodybuilder with dreams of starting his own fitness center. Lucas was charged with murdering Price the night of Oct. 3, 2020, and fired from the police force five days later.

Wolfe City, about 70 miles (96 kilometers) northeast of Dallas and near the Texas-Oklahoma border, has a population of about 1,500 people.

It was never clear from witness testimony what triggered the fight between Price and another man. Nicholas Malone testified that he, his brother and Price had been drinking after the funeral of Malone's father when they decided to go to the convenience store to buy cigarettes. The three lingered at the store when Malone heard glass break, and he saw Price getting into a scuffle with another man.

"My brother and I tried to pull them apart," Malone said, adding that the argument went on "for a few seconds" before the two were pulled apart, and everyone seemed to calm down before Lucas arrived.

When Lucas, who is white, answered the report of the fight, Price greeted him with an outstretched hand and an apology for the broken glass. Lucas decided Price was drunk and tried to detain him, but Price resisted. Lucas used a stun gun when Price approached, then shot Price when he reached for the stun gun, according to a police affidavit.

Texas Rangers concluded that lethal force was not called for in the confrontation since Price was unarmed. Eleven witnesses at the scene testified that Price was not angry or aggressive in his reactions, prosecutor Steven Lilley reminded the Hunt County jury in Thursday's closing arguments.

"He's dead. He was killed that night," Lilley said of Price. "If it wasn't necessary, it was murder. Go back and find him guilty."

Defense attorney Robert Rogers contended that Lucas had no choice but to shoot Price in self-defense "because he was terrified. That's the only reason he fired his gun.".

Lucas had been with the Wolfe City Police Department for a little less than six months when he shot Price, according to Texas Commission on Law Enforcement records. His prior law enforcement experience had been working as a jailer with the Hunt County Sheriff's Office for about five months.

Hurricane Fiona roars by Bermuda, on route to Canada

By DÁNICA COTO

Associated Press

CAGUAS, Puerto Rico (AP) — Fiona, a Category 3 hurricane, pounded Bermuda with heavy rains and winds Friday as it swept by the island on a route forecast to have it approaching northeastern Canada late in the day as a still-powerful storm.

Authorities in Bermuda opened shelters and closed schools and offices ahead of Fiona. Michael Weeks, the national security minister, said there had been no reports of major damage. He urged citizens to stay indoors and off the roads, saying: ""We are not out of the woods yet."

The Canadian Hurricane Centre issued a hurricane watch over extensive coastal expanses of Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland. The U.S. National Hurricane Center said Fiona should reach the area as a "large and powerful post-tropical cyclone with hurricane-force winds."

"It certainly has the potential to be one of the most severe systems to have hit eastern Canada," said Ian Hubbard, meteorologist for the Canadian Hurricane Centre in Dartmouth, Nova Scotia.

Hubbard said the center of the storm is expected to arrive Saturday morning sometime between 9 am and 10 am locally, but winds and rains will arrive late Friday.

Authorities in Nova Scotia sent an emergency alert to phones warning of Fiona's arrival and urging people to say inside, avoid coastlines, charge devices and have enough supplies for at least 72 hours. Officials warned of prolonged power outages, wind damage to trees and structures and coastal flooding and possible road washouts

The U.S. center said Fiona had maximum sustained winds of 130 mph (215 kph) on Friday. It was centered about 250 miles (405 kilometers) north of Bermuda, heading northeast at 35 mph (56 kph).

Hurricane-force winds extended outward up to 115 miles (185 kilometers) from the center and tropical storm-force winds extended outward up to 345 miles (555 kilometers).

A hurricane warning was in effect for Nova Scotia from Hubbards to Brule; Prince Edward Island; Isle-de-la-Madeleine; and Newfoundland from Parson's Pond to Francois.

Fiona so far has been blamed for at least five deaths — two in Puerto Rico, two in the Dominican Republic and one in the French island of Guade-

Hurricanes in Canada are somewhat rare, in part because once the storms reach colder waters, they lose their main source of energy, and become extratropical. But those cyclones still can have hurricane-strength winds, though with a cold instead of a warm core and no visible eye. Their shape can be different, too. They lose their symmetric form and can more resemble a comma.

Bob Robichaud, Warning Preparedness Meteorologist at the Canadian Hurricane Centre, said at a news conference that modelling projected "alltime" low pressure across the region, which would bring storm surges and rainfall of between 10 to 20 centimeters (4 to 8 inches).

Amanda McDougall, mayor of Cape Breton Regional Municipality, said officials were preparing a shelter for people to enter before the storm arrived.

"We have been through these types of events before, but my fear is, not to this extent," she said. "The impacts are going to be large, real and imme-

Meanwhile, the National Hurricane Center said that a tropical depression in the southern Caribbean is expected to hit Cuba early Tuesday as a hurricane and then hit south Florida early Wednesday.

It was located about 615 miles (985 kilometers) east-southeast of Kingston, Jamaica. It had maximum sustained winds of 35 mph (55 kph) and was moving at 13 mph (20 kph). Before reaching Bermuda, Fiona caused severe flooding and devastation in Puerto Rico, leading U.S. President Joe Biden to say Thursday that the full force of the federal government is ready to help the U.S. territory recover.

Biden noted that hundreds of FEMA and other federal officials are already on the ground in Puerto Rico, where Fiona caused an island-wide blackout.

Gov. Pedro Pierluisi of Puerto Rico activated the National Guard to help distribute diesel fuel to hospitals and supermarkets. The force is also supplying generators used to operate potable water plants and telecommunications towers.

More than 60% of power customers remained without energy Thursday, though efforts to restore power were underway. Many customers were without water, while local officials said they could not say when service would be fully restored.

As of Friday, hundreds of people in Puerto Rico remained isolated by blocked roads five days after the hurricane ripped into the island.

Making a Vision a Reality

9th Annual Dove Hunt Honors Veterans for their Service

By AMANDA DUFORAT

Contributing Writer

One veteran's desire to have other veterans feel the honor he felt; one local family who believed in making that vision a reality; What is the result? Nine years of honoring veterans for their service.

There are no words that will ever fully express the right amount of gratitude that is owed for the sacrifices that have led to our freedom, but Howard County pulled efforts together to show this year's Dove Hunt honorees they are not forgotten.

The 9th annual Dove Hunt took place on Saturday evening at First United Methodist Church. This year's honorees include: Sergeant First Class Carlos Tafolla, First Sergeant Kenneth Terry Cox, Staff Sergeant Tommy E. Smith, and Lieutenant Colonel Pete A. Leija.

"For the past nine years we have had the honor of providing a weekend of relaxation, camaraderie, and healing for veterans who have sacrificed so much for their country. The men who have walked through here have not only felt appreciation from a community, but also received a bit of healing that can only come when surrounded by those who have first dove hunt event, but since that point Evelyn has bought them every year. That is 36 shotguns and in the beginning it was only going to be 20... The Holcomb family deserves our appreciation for helping get this off the ground and kicking me into making it a reality.'

Lieutenant Colonel Pete A. Leija served in the United States Air Force as Commander of the 317th Aircraft Maintenance Squadron at Dyess Air Force Base. During his time as commander, he was directly responsible for the health, morale, welfare, discipline and maintenance production efforts of 562 military and four civilian personnel. He served as an enlisted Aerospace Propulsion Technician for more than 13 years. Leija retired from the military in November 2020 with 32 and a half years under his belt. During his service he was awarded the Bronze Star Medal after serving one year in walked the same path you have walked," Mike Tarpley, Veteran and event organizer, said. The D.A.V. Chapter of Big Spring hosted the ninth annual Dove Hunt closing ceremony. Once again Al's BBQ hosted the Saturday meal. During the ceremony, each of the four nominees were presented with the following gifts: handmade wooden framed certificate, D.A.V. Dove Hunt Honoree cap, two flags that have been flown over the Nation's capital and the Texas capital, dove hunting bags, honoree yard signs, car decals with their respective emblems and two pocket knives. In addition to local businesses and community families offering these items of appreciation, before the conclusion of the closing ceremony, Tarpley presented each honoree with a Quilt of Valor.

"The shotgun presentation is pretty special. I was on a Purple Heart Hunt in Eden, Texas and came back to Big Spring pretty pumped up; why can't we do something like this in Big Spring ... Wimp Holcomb and Evelyn Holcomb talked to me about this. Wimp came to my shop and said we are going to have a dove hunt in Big Spring and I'm buying 20 shotguns," Tarple said. " ... He never made the security services. Lt. Col. Leija is married and has five children. He has also earned his Bachelor of Science Degree in Professional Aeronautics and Master of Arts Degree in Military Operational Art and Science.

"Everything you have done; every single one of you, I thank you from the bottom of my heart. Now I know it's more than just the time we did. There is so much more to it than that. I've known that for a long time. One other special group of people I want to make sure gets appreciated tonight is every spouse and family member to every military member ever because you sacrificed just as much," Leija said. Staff Sergeant Tommy E. Smith served in the United States Army after graduating from Fluvanna High School in 1967. He was drafted into the U.S. Army in January 1969. He reported for duty in June 1969 to Vietnam where he served in the Big Red 1, 1st Battalion 2nd Infantry Regiment, Black scarves.

He also served in the Inactive Reserve and National Guard until 1974. During his military career, Staff Sergeant Smith earned several awards including National Defense Service Medal, Vietnam Service Medal with three bronze service stars and Vietnam Campaign Medal with 60 device, as well as a Purple Heart, Air Medal and Army Commendation Medal just to name a few. He has also been a participant in the Permian Basin Honor Flight in 2015 and has since become a volunteer with the organization. He is also a member of the parking team at Stonegate. He is married and together they share four grown children, 10 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Sergeant First Class Carlos Tafolla served in the United States Marine Corps and the United States Army. He served five and a half years as a drug counselor and member of rifle and pistol teams while in the Marines: 1st Marine Division Camp Pendleton, CA, 2nd Marine Division Camp Lejeune, NC, 3rd Marine Division Okinawa Japan, 1st Marine Brigade KMCAS HI, and Marine Corp Recruit Depot in San Diego, CA.

He was discharged from the Marine Corps on Dec. 19, 1978. However, on Dec. 21, 1978 he filled out papers at the Army Recruiters Office. He officially joined the U.S. Army as an intelligence analyst on Oct. 1, 1980. After 22 years of service he retired in October 1993. His education includes, just to name a few, 1972 Marksmanship Instructor School in Okinawa Japan, 1973 Nuclear Biological and Chemical warfare defense KMCAS, HI, 1974 Marine Security Guard School Henderson Hall, VA, 1977 Individual Protective Measures Camp Pendleton, CA, 1981 Intelligence Analyst School Fort Jackson, SC, 1982 NCO school Berlin Germany, and 1989 101st Airborne

Campbell, KY. First Sergeant Kenneth Terry Cox enlisted in the United States Army on Nov. 18, 1986. While in the service he was assigned to Kansas, Germany, Oklahoma, and Korea. His combat experience includes Operation Desert Shield, Storm and Conferred, Division Air Assault School Ft.

Operation Iraqi Freedom.

He also participated in 12 NTC rotations, two 29 Pams California rotations, three Hons Field rotations, and five Graf Inver rotations. After 23 and a half years, he retired from active duty and now serves at the West Texas

"I just want to thank everyone. You just don't realize how much this means to each and every one of us, to be appreciated, to serve our lives and sacrifice and come home to be treated like this. It's appreciated," Cox

During his time in the service, he received numerous awards and decorations including Bronze Star Medal, Army Commendation Medal, Global War on Terrorist Medal, and more. During his time in Operation Iraqi Freedom 8 he served as the First Sergeant/ Operation Sergeant Major as a special aid to Commander of the United States Central Command Gen. Petraeus, David.

"All four of these men, just as the honorees before them, are well beyond deserving of our appreciation. They each have sacrificed for their country, for their family, friends and complete strangers. experiences these men have are moments that will live with them forever," Tarpley said.

"These men gave years our freedom. weekend is meant to show our appreciation for those sacrifices, allow good memories to be made and strengthen the brotherhood that offers us veterans support.' Donations to the D.A.V. of Big Spring were accepted at the ceremony and will benefit continued support and recognition of local veterans. Those attending had an opportunity to get a t-shirt from this year's Dove Hunt as well as their own copy of the book Tiger Bravo. In addition to Mike Tarpley being featured in the book, two of this year's honorees also have walked the same path that the book is detailing.

"There truly are no words to describe this ceremony, but if you haven't been, I strongly encourage you to take the time and attend at least one event. The atmosphere is humbling and the healing that it contributes to these men is well worth it. This is an event that started with a couple of people and has turned into a community effort. Next year will be our tenth year of honoring veterans," Tarpley said.

From the time of their arrival to their departure, this year's honorees visited the following places: Moss creek Ranch for lodging, skeet shooting, rifle golf; Will Higgins provided a teal hunt; Wish Bone Ranch where they enjoyed a dove hunt, meal, and latter an orvx hunt; Martin Family and Howard County Republicans provided breakfast during their visit. The Howard Republicans County breakfast was started by Bo Fryer, according to Tarpley, the honorees are always ready for the sausage, gravy and biscuits. The Hill Family also provided a meal on Friday evening after a day of hunting activities and Al's Bar-B-Q provided meals as

"There were several people that came up to me and wanted to be a part of the event. The ones who have been a part over the years do not want to give up their slot. The only way we could add any events would be to add another day to the hunt," Tarpley said. "How many organizations have apologize for not being able to accept such heartfelt gestures? Thank you Big Spring and Howard county.

We can always use financial support to keep our events going and to help our local vets.'

• K3 (0255) "Mr. President"

Hev! My name is Mr. President. I am in K3 (0255) at the Big Spring Animal Shelter. I am a medium/large, male, 4-year-old Shepherd Pit Bull mix and I weigh 65 lbs. I am brindle colored, so I look cool like a tiger! I have been here since February 15th. I am here because I was surrendered with 9 other dogs by our previous owner. They tried very hard to take care of us but there were just too many of us to handle. This is also not my first trip to the animal shelter. Our fence wasn't very good so we would escape a lot through holes and areas that had fallen. Despite that, I am a very well-behaved and sweet boy. I walk well on my leash, and I know how to sit and shake.

My ears are kind of big for me, but I think it just makes me look cuter.

I am microchipped, current on all vaccinations and neutered. Please help me find my lasting home.

• C1 (0747) "Baby" My name is Baby! I am an 8-year-old female, Russian Blue cat. I am in C1 (0747) at the Big Spring Animal Shelter. I have been here since July 1st. I am here because my long-time owner sadly passed away. I had been with her my whole life, and she loved me so much. Her family just couldn't keep me due to having too many animals of their own. To try and find me a better home, they brought me to the shelter in hopes that I would find someone to love me just as much as my mommy did. I am a very sweet girl who loves to talk to you and enjoys being petted. I am an older though and set in my ways. I have been an only cat most of my life and like things quiet, so I'd prefer no young kids or dogs please. I am also a little cross-eyed. They say it gives me character! I am not microchipped, vaccinated or spayed yet so my new family will have to have that done. Please consider taking me home to be

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TPWD) is asking Texans to invite their friends and family into the outdoors to help celebrate the 50th anniversary of National Hunting and Fishing Day (NHF)

Hunters and anglers primarily fund the state's wildlife management programs through the purchase of hunting and fishing licenses and stamps, as well as through taxes paid on hunting and fishing equipment, motorboat fuel, firearms and ammunition. This generates millions of dollars for conservation programs that benefit both game and non-game species statewide.

The best way for Texans to have a great introduction into the outdoors is to accompany a friend or family member on an outing, said TPWD Executive Director Carter Smith

"This year, in honor of National Hunting and Fishing Day, I challenge you to share your passion for the outdoors with someone new by providing an opportunity for them to hunt and/or fish," said Smith. "Not only will you help make lifelong memories, but you will help pass along one of the greatest gifts we can give future generations, a love of the great outdoors.'

For many years, the proportion of people who hunt and fish in Texas has lagged behind huge increases in the state population. While Texas has experienced a recent pandemic-influenced surge in outdoor recreation, this hasn't created a significant long-term increase in the total number of people participating in hunting and fishing, which could spell problems for natural resource conservation in the future. Conservation is mostly funded by these participants.

In 2021, TPWD launched the Texas Recruitment, Retention and Reactivation (R3) Strategic Plan on this day to connect more Texans to outdoor recreation and carry forward these time-honored traditions to future generations. Increased participation in fishing, boating, hunting, and shooting sports brings funding for conservation agencies like TPWD to continue supporting efforts such as fish stocking, access and habitat improvements, and mentored hunting programs (to introduce new hunters to the sport in a safe environment).

In addition to conservation, TPWD endeavors to foster lifelong participants in hunting, fishing, boating, and shooting sports, and create a better informed public with more interest in conserving wild things and wild places in Texas and beyond. "Whether it be on the hunting field or on the water, sportsmen and women know they are not only enjoying the state's bounty but are helping to conserve it," Smith said.

To learn about hunting, take an online or in-person hunter education course. Visit https://tpwd. texas.gov/education/hunter-education. education certification is required for anyone born on or after Sept. 2, 1971 and equips them with the necessary tools and information they need to be safe in the field: basics about firearm safety, species identification, zones of fire and more.

TPWD also offers mentored hunting workshops (https://tpwd.texas.gov/huntwild/hunt/public/ mentored_hunting_workshops/) to introduce new

TPWD requesting ideas on freshwater fish habitat, shoreline-based angler access improvement projects for fiscal years 2024, 2025

Special to the Herald

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TPWD) Inland Fisheries Division requests ideas from angling organizations, local governments, non-governmental organizations, river authorities and tribal organizations on freshwater fish habitat and shoreline-based angler access improvement projects to be completed in public waters statewide during fiscal years 2024-2025.

Project ideas and recommendations inform development of a statewide plan for investing approximately $500,000 over that period.

Launched in fiscal year 2022, the Inland Fisheries Division's Habitat and Angler Access Program (HAAP) is currently implementing 21 projects throughout the state during its initial two-year cycle. These include fishing piers, kayak launches, shoreline stabilization, native vegetation restoration, aeration systems and fish attractors. Learn about each of the 21 active projects supported by the HAAP on the project website.

In preparation for the next two-year HAAP cycle, the Inland Fisheries Divi sion requests ideas on additional potential fish habitat and angler access improvements in public waters throughout the state. In order to be considered for the 2024-2025 cycle, project ideas and recommendations should be shared with TPWD through email at FishGrants@tpwd.texas.gov by Nov. 11, 2022.

Those sharing recommended projects should be prepared to provide the following:

- · Project name
- Project location (waterbody, city, county)
- Controlling authority (e.g., city or county parks department, river author ity, US Army Corps of Engineers, etc..) of the public waterbody
- Contact information for the partnering organization and a contact person
 - Brief description of the project
- Potential partner dollars and in-kind support

Visit the HAAP program website at https://tpwd.texas.gov/landwater/wa ter/habitats/habitat-angler-access-program/haap_rfp.phtml to learn more.

Trump allies create a new super PAC called MAGA Inc.

By JILL COLVIN

Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) — Top allies of former President Donald Trump are creating a new super PAC that's expected to serve as the main vehicle for his midterm spending and could become a key part of his campaign infrastructure should he move forward with a 2024 White House run.

The political action committee, called MAGA Inc., will supersede Trump's existing super PAC, Politico first reported. Paperwork for the new committee was filed Friday morning with the Federal Election Commission.

The buildout comes as Trump, a Republican, is under mounting legal pressure on multiple fronts. The Department of Justice has launched a criminal investigation into how hundreds of documents with classified markings ended up at his Mar-a-Lago club in Palm Beach, Florida, and state and federal officials are probing his efforts to overturn his 2020 election loss to Democrat Joe Biden. And in New York, Attorney General Letitia James filed a lawsuit this week claiming Trump's namesake company engaged in decades of fraudulent bookkeeping, padding his net worth by billions of dol-

News of the new super PAC also comes less than two months before the Nov. 8 midterm elections and as many Republican candidates have been struggling to raise money against well-funded

"President Trump is committed to saving America, and Make America Great Again, Inc. will ensure that is achieved at the ballot box in November and beyond," said Trump spokesman Taylor Budowich, who will serve as the group's executive direc-

Others joining the committee include Republican strategist Chris LaCivita, longtime Trump pollster Tony Fabrizio and communications aides Steven Cheung and Alex Pfeiffer. Until now, Trump's Save America leadership PAC, which must abide by far stricter fundraising and spending limits and has come under its own scrutiny, has served as his chief political vehicle. Super PACs can raise unlimited money and spend it freely but are barred from coordinating directly with campaigns. Trump officials declined to say how much the notoriously thrifty former president intends to spend on his midterm efforts or how much he might try to transfer from his Save America PAC, which ended August with more than $90 million. The Associated Press previously reported that aides had been discussing the possibility of moving at least some of that money to a new or repurposed super PAC, though campaign finance experts are mixed on the legality of such a move.

While Trump has been a prolific fundraiser since leaving office, vacuuming up small-dollar donations, his existing super PAC — Make America

Great Again, Again! — has not been a major mid term player.

Trump has been under growing pressure to open his war chest and start spending on midterm races as Republicans have been outraised by Democrats heading into the final campaign stretch. Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell, in particular, has urged candidates with Trump's support to ask him to open his wallet. In the meantime, candidates, including some who presented themselves as McConnell antagonists during their primaries, have had to grovel to him and the Senate Leadership Fund, the super PAC he controls, which had $100 million in reserve at the end of June.

Trump played a highly visible role during the GOP primaries, endorsing hundreds of candidates up and down the ballot, from Senate to governor to county commissioner. But some of those contenders are now struggling in their general election races, putting control of the evenly divided Senate up in the air.

idential run, but the timing of an announcement remains unclear. While he had once been keen to announce before the midterm elections, in part to try to stave off a long list of potential rivals who have been circling, some aides have urged him to wait, warning that announcing early could leave him open to blame if Republicans perform poorly in November.

Opening lead — three of spades.

It is certainly proper to make an opening lead away from an ace against a notrump contract, but it is much too risky and generally poor policy to do so against a suit contract. Most players are familiar with this rule and scrupulously abide by it on defense, but sometimes they fail to take advantage of it when they become declarer.

Consider this deal where West led a low spade against South's fourheart contract. Without giving the matter much thought, declarer played dummy's king, obviously hoping West had the ace of spades. But the direct effect of this play was that South went down one, losing two spade tricks immediately and a heart and a club later on.

Now let's suppose declarer plays low from dummy at trick one. East wins with the jack but has no effective return. Whatever he does at trick two, South is in full command.

Thus, if East cashes the ace of spades, declarer loses only two spades and a trump, with South's club loser eventually being discarded on dummy's king of spades. If instead East shifts to a heart or a diamond, declarer is on equally firm ground. He cashes the A-K of trump and A-K-Q of diamonds, discarding the K-7 of spades from dummy, and ultimately loses only a spade, a heart and a club. No matter how you slice it, South makes four hearts — provided he plays low from dummy on the opening spade lead.

Even if West is a player who sometimes underleads aces against suit contracts — whether from ignorance or calculated design — declarer is still best advised to play low from dummy at trick one. This one play virtually guarantees the contract against anything but a 4-0 trump division.
