VOLUME 64 BURKBURNETT, WICHITA COUNTY, TEXAS 76354 THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1972 NUMBER 25

Editor's Viewpoint

RAYMOND GREENWOOD

I'm sure that many of you have noticed the funny looking posters around town that are advertising the Miss Hardin Pageant to be held Friday night. It seems that the President of the Hardin PTA talked several of the local "beauties" into entering the pageant.

If you have never seen C.J. Lippard or John Gill, or yours truly dressed as three of the sexiest females that ever came to Burk Burnett, then you'll want to make the pageant.

I've heard rumors that someone was circulating a petition to have Tiny Tippa Toenailer (Joe Gillespie) represent Burk Burnett in a state beauty pageant for candidates for the Miss America contest.

Who knows, if he's selected they might let him accompany the President when he visits the Dark Continent next year (or where ever our President will be traveling).

One thing's for sure, it'll give the people of the foreign countries a true insight of the beautiful (girl's????) that can be found in America.

One authority of immigration stated, "They should send the winner of the Miss Hardin Pageant on a world tour; this would definitely curb the immigration rate to the United States and would probably set up a reversal trend."

With the weather occasionally turning to "golfing weather" I was reminded of the ardent golfer who was on the putting green when suddenly a woman came running up the fairway dressed in a wedding gown.

"How could you do this to me?" she cried.

"Listen," he said, never taking his eye off the ball, "I told you, only if it rained."

If I had been born 10 years later in life I may have never married.

Back when I was growing up and into my teens when I started taking second looks at the girls, television was sort of hum drum when it came to commercials.

Now every time I look at television commercials I learn that women are anemic, have stringy hair, large pores, are overweight, and have rough hands!

Speaking of women, I heard of a youngster, reading about King Arthur, asked his father what a charger was. The father's answer: "In the old days it was what a man rode on--today, it's something he married."

"Til next week, Thanks for reading the Informer/Star."

Annual Jr. Livestock Show Begins Saturday

A larger number of animals than usual is expected for the Jr. Livestock Association's annual show, which is to be held Saturday in the Ag building at the high school.

Local Ag teachers James Easter and Jake Fite, reported Monday that entries were heavy and that one gilt class, four burrow classes and at least two sheep classes were to be expected. In addition to this, there will be a steer class that will include a half dozen prime beefs.

Livestock judge for the occasion will be Chris Bailey, who is the Vocational Agriculture teacher at Vernon.

A three division foods class will also be held at the show. The foods will be divided into meats, vegetables and desserts.

The annual show is open to all FFA and 4-H members who are students in the Burk Burnett Independent School System.

The show will be held in the new Vo-Ag building at the high school or just outside the building if the weather permits.

Competition in the show is expected to be keen, as several youths have held their animals over from earlier livestock shows, where they placed well, to show them in this show.

It is hoped that this will be the last year that the show will have to be held somewhere other than the "Show Barn". A lease for a site to construct such a barn by the Burk Burnett Jr. Livestock Assn. was signed Wednesday morning in Wichita Falls.

The 99 year lease from Wichita County is located near the rail road track on the truck route west of town.

The proposed 120' x 60' building is to be constructed of pipe with sheet iron covering. It will also include some two dozen sky lights to provide as much natural lighting as possible.

The association currently has one-half the funds to build the show barn.

"Don't forget," stated Jake Fite, "Saturday morning, foods judging and Saturday afternoon at 1:00 the livestock judging begins on the annual Burk Burnett Jr. Livestock Association Show."

Womanless Beauty Pageant At Center

Fifteen beautiful young "ladies" will compete Friday night, February 25, for the coveted title of Miss Hardin 1972.

This is the first contest of its kind in Burk Burnett since 1963 when the vivacious Briney Bee Saltwater, better known in social circles as Lloyd Bloodworth, was crowned and bestowed with the dubious honor.

The Hardin PTA has taken this means, which is an all-male satire on the Miss America Pageant, as a last resort to raise money for their ever-present goal of air conditioning the Hardin School. Dale Lewis will emcee the affair and Jerry McClure, Jack Aaron, and other highly-qualified professionals of the glamour world will judge the contestants. As stated before, all proceeds will go to Air Conditioning Fund of the Hardin PTA.

The winner of this contest will not be allowed to win by just dazzling the judges with her beauty, charm, and poise, the young lady must also present a short, but dynamic display of true talent.

The girls that have entered the pageant are Prunell Pruneface (John Gill), Tiny Tippa Toenailer (Joe Gillespie), Greta Girdelstuffer (C. J. Lippard), Bernice Bustleworthy (Brack Preston), Geraldine Gumpopper (Bob Carpenter), Desperation Jones (Albert Dillard), Nettie Nell Kneecap (Raymond Greenwood), Idiota Brainstrainer (Bob Carter), Hannah

Stewart Makes Re-Election Bid

State Representative Vernon Stewart has filed for re-election with Wichita County Democratic Chairman.

In a statement to the Informer/Star Tuesday, Stewart revealed his reasons for seeking re-election.

Said Stewart, "A large number of citizens from over the County have expressed concern with the diminished influence of Wichita County in our Legislature that has resulted from re-districting. A large part of our County has been placed in a district with three other counties.

They have urged that I continue to use my fifth ranking seniority and 20 years experience in state government to work for the people of Wichita County in passing needed legislation and in helping our citizens with their particular problem involving state boards and agencies.

I was well pleased that Burk Burnett remained part of my district. In fact, I specifically requested the city in each re-districting plan presented to the Legislature. I am proud of the citizens of Burk Burnett and their tremendously progressive spirit. I want to continue to help them in their efforts to improve their community.

I was delighted to have been able to have had a part in saving the Burk Burnett depot, in providing appropriate markers in and near the city

Municipal League Meet Here Tonight

Gary Weber, Dallas tax attorney, will be the guest speaker for the regional meeting of the Texas Municipal League tonight at the Civic Center.

Those attending the 7:00 p.m. dinner meeting will hear Weber speak on the subject of a valorem tax problem.

Final plans for this meeting were completed at the regular monthly meeting of the Burk Burnett City Council Monday night.

City Manager Gary Bean reported to the council that a representative of the State Building Commission was in Burk Burnett recently checking various businesses and buildings, and that he had found that some changes must be made in the new Civic Center to concur with state regulations.

It seems that the law stating these new policies dates back to June of 1970, but that it has come to the attention of very few architects, builders and contractors. Bean told the group that there were several buildings either constructed since that date or being constructed in Wichita Falls and other nearby towns that would also have to undergo change.

"It seems to me that they just didn't get the word of this change out to the architects, etc. very well," stated Bean.

The changes that are to be made in the Center will accommodate invalid and handicapped people.

Handrails must be placed in the rest rooms with one commode in each rest room 20 inches in height. In addition to this, one drinking fountain must be lowered, as must the pay telephone. Also, a well lit and audible exit sign must be placed over each doorway leading to the outside.

It appears that the state will force the City to adapt to what amounts to 1/3 of its rest room facilities and more of other facilities at the Center especially for the handicapped. Bean reported that the number of such handicapped persons might be as low as one in 1,000 or even less.

The new Center was totally built with local funds, there was no state or federal aid of any kind given the City of Burk Burnett in the construction of the building.

The council approved the second reading of an ordinance granting Texas Electric Service Co. a six percent across the board increase. Final reading of the ordinance will be at the March council meeting.

Bill Vincent, local Texas Electric Service Co. manager came before the council to answer any questions that members of the council might have concerning the recent freeze placed on utility rates by the Federal Wage Board.

Vincent told the group that the Wage Board put the freeze on all the utility companies because the Board was getting so many requests for raises that they didn't have time to study them all. In other words, they are more or less stalling for more time to properly review each case.

"The proposed raise in rates here," stated Vincent, "will go into effect the same time as in Wichita Falls and the seven towns surrounding Wichita Falls, but not until the Federal Wage Board lifts the temporary freeze."

"The temporary freeze imposed by the Board will last longer than 30 days," stated Vincent when asked when he thinks the Wage Board will lift the freeze.

City Manager Bean presented the council with a review of the condition of the city sewer collection system. Bean told the group that a new line and an additional sewer plant in the south area of the city will be needed with in the next five years.

The council was brought up to date on the city's request for a $20,000 grant from Texas Criminal Justice Council for the renovation of the town hall into offices for the police department and corporation court. The rejection of the application by the justice council on the basis that the city was not in need of financial assistance has been brought to the attention of the governor, reported Bean.

Permission was granted to the Boomtown Chapter of American Business Women's Association to hold a carnival March 9 - 18 on the vacant lot across from Parker Plaza.

The corporation court showed fines totaling $420, including 58 traffic violations.

Heading the list of traffic violation was "driving too fast for conditions." A relatively new law pertaining to keys being left in an unattended automobile also received notice as several citations were given for this offense.

The budget and revenue reports and the payment of current accounts in the amount of $8,013 was also approved by the council.

One of the highlights of my tenure in office was being invited to dedicate the new Burk Burnett Library. I was successful in convincing the state to designate this library as a depository of state documents. Since that time, with the help of interested local citizens, the library has become an outstanding source of information for local school children. The major issue in this now is which candidate can most effectively represent this district. There are those who are, for the first time, campaigning for better ethics for officials in public office. The voters should ask these politicians why they did not come forward to help us in 1948 and in 1965 when a group of us passed strong ethics bills out of the House, but only to see them die by inaction of the Senate.

The all-school production, "We've Got a Lot to Give," was a very big success. The production, which was held at the new Community Center, was a variety show in which over 150 Burkburnett high school students took part.

Hogwash (Gene Bankhead), 5658 77 (Jack Mathis), Bessie Bell Hunderpooop (Lester Yates), Quagmire Cabin-wrecker (Don Pate), Angela Angelpuss (Jim Hollis), Ker-sena Torchbearer (Clark Gresham), and, of course, the reigning Miss Saltwater (Bloodworth).

Entertainment for the evening will be by "Coyote and the Howlers." This event may not come to Burkburnett again for another nine years, so everyone is urged to buy their tickets early at various businesses around town or from the PTA members.

I don't believe that the voters will be misled by such demagoguery. I am convinced that our citizens are more concerned about who will be their strongest, most effective voice in the Legislature. My record of successful bills passed such as the Mid-western University Bill, my seniority which has resulted in my appointments to the major committees such as the Chairmanship of Committees on Oil, Gas, Mining, Juvenile Crime and Delinquency, and Commerce and Manufacturing, and my experience in state government which has helped me obtain many things for Burkburnett and Wichita County, I feel will not be ignored by the concerned and informed voters of this district.

college scholarship. A complete set of Encyclopaedia Britannica will also be awarded to her school by Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc. The second-ranking girl in the state will receive a $500 educational grant.

In April, the 51 Betty Crocker Homemakers of Tomorrow representing every state and the District of Columbia--each accompanied by a faculty adviser--will join for an expense-paid educational tour of Colonial Williamsburg, Va. and Washington, D.C.

To be chosen through personal observation and interviews, together with the earlier state-level judging results, they will be awarded scholarship increases to $5,000, $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000. In addition to the grants awarded state and national winners, a $1,000 National Nutrition Scholarship has been added to the Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow this year.

All judging and selection of winners in the Betty Crocker Search is conducted by Science Research Associates, Chicago, which also constructed and grades the written examination.

More than 650,000 senior girls in over 14,500 of the nation's high schools were enrolled in this year's 18th annual Search. Total enrollment since the program's inception in the 1954-55 school year stands at over eight and one-quarter million young women, and, with this year's grants, scholarship awards will total nearly $2 million.

Two Accidents Investigated

Two accidents were reported by the Burkburnett Police with no injuries.

Thursday a 1964 Ford Falcon driven by Joel A. Rupard of 815 Easy was traveling north on N. Ave. D when it was hit by a 1963 Ford driven by Ben F. Rush of 405 Kelly.

The Rush vehicle was traveling East on 2nd St. when it failed to yield the right of way to the Rupard vehicle.

In a Feb. 13 accident, John W. Hacker, Jr. of 311 Ellis St., driving a 1970 Dodge stopped for a dog as he was traveling north on Ave. D and was hit in the rear by a 1965 Rambler driven by Steven D. Blackney of 803 Chestnut.

Special Work Day Saturday

A special work day has been scheduled for Saturday at Hayes Field to help get the baseball diamond in playing shape in as short a time as possible.

Burkburnett High School baseball team and the Little League teams will share the diamond this year and "warm bodies" are needed to help get the diamond in good condition, stated J.E. Larson. Larson also stated that to date over 180 boys have registered for Little League Baseball and that others interested may still register if they contact him or Dink Hudson.

A REPORT TO TEXANS: U.S. Forces Should Stay In Europe

By Senator John G. Tower

Recently, I participated in the annual Western European defense seminar known as Wehrkunde and held in Munich, Germany. I also visited with the U.S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean; with NATO command headquarters for Allied Forces (South in Naples; U.S. Naval Headquarters (Europe) and the 3rd Air Force and 20th Tactical Fighter Wing in Upper Heyford, England, and with members of Her Majesty's Government in London.

As a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, I feel it is important to gain a first-hand assessment, to the extent that it is possible, of the need for our NATO commitment and for the needs of our servicemen who are fulfilling that commitment. My attendance at the NATO seminar and with our naval air force personnel did much to aid me in judging these needs.

There is continuing concern on the part of our European allies that there will be substantial reductions in American force levels committed to NATO at a time of growing Soviet threat on the NATO flanks. The Norwegian Sea has become virtually a Soviet lake and the Soviets are continuing their naval buildup in the Mediterranean.

I have returned to Washington even more convinced that any U.S. force reductions in the European Theater would be manifestly unwise. Such action would be contrary to our own national interest if indeed it is in our national interest to maintain a position of global influence that makes us a major factor in the preservation of a peace characterized by political stability, free commercial intercourse and a climate in which developing nations may pursue self-determination.

It is essential, at a time when the Soviets have taken the initiative in convoking a European Security Conference and when there is movement toward talks aimed at mutual and balanced force reductions between NATO and Warsaw Pact forces, that the U. S. presence be maintained at least at present levels. If we should withdraw U.S. forces from NATO now, then the Warsaw Pact nations will have little incentive to agree to mutual reductions on both sides.

In my mind, our NATO forces should actually be augmented. We should give serious consideration to the possibility of improving our naval capability in the Northern Atlantic. In the Mediterranean, our anti-submarine warfare capability should be improved and the deployment of additional fixed base aircraft is also desirable.

My conclusion is that the modernization of our total armed force is required. We should modernize our navy, keep production lines open for sophisticated aircraft, increase our research and development efforts, and take steps to encourage our military personnel to remain in the services. If we do not follow this course, we shall fall behind the Soviets both quantitatively and qualitatively in a short time. Additional defense expenditures, in the range of 5 to 6 billion dollars over this fiscal year, is warranted for next fiscal year and my committee will be considering such an increase this calendar year.

It should be apparent to all that the Soviets are bent on becoming the single world super-power. Over the long pull, it is clearly not in our own national interest for that to be accomplished.

To reiterate an old but accurate theme, there is no substitute for a credible American presence in Western Europe and on its flanks. Our allies should be encouraged to face up to the reality of Soviet power, to understand the magnitude of Soviet ambitions, and at once be convinced of American determination well known, our allies, out of apprehension, will be moved toward unilateral accommodations with the Soviets. Such actions would weaken the West and weaken the United States.

I would like to add a word about economic matters. Unfortunately, a delay in my departure forced me to abandon my plans to visit the trade negotiations in Brussels. However, I did discuss these negotiations with some of the Europeans I visited. I have felt that the United States should obtain improved trade arrangements in return for dollar devaluation. Some progress has been made with the Common Market through the Brussels talks and I feel that we have done about as well as could be expected under the circumstances. In addition to these short-term arrangements, I believe that all of our major trading partners are willing to go into extensive long-term trade negotiations next year. It is now time for the Congress to proceed with dollar devaluation, and that legislation will soon come before the Senate Banking Committee of which I am a member. I will keep you abreast in the future.

Texas Highway Map Is Better Than Ever

AUSTIN-- Gleaming new stretches of Interstate highways, more miles of four-lane divided facilities, several new lakes and a new National park make this year's 1972 Official Highway Travel Map better than ever.

The free map, published by the Texas Highway Department, is a perennial favorite with Texas motorists. Projections for 1972 call for distribution as high as 1.4 million.

This year's map includes the addition of Lake Fairfield in Freestone County and Decker Lake in Travis County. Lake Palestine, located in Henderson, Smith, Cherokee and Anderson Counties, has been on the map for several years. This year, however, the water impoundment has been enlarged considerably.

The new map reflects construction, realignment and improvement of many types of highway facilities in the State-maintained system.

The publication shows that about 130 miles of Interstate highways have been added to the State's highway network. Texas now has 2,922 miles of Interstate highways open to traffic. When the national Interstate system is complete, Texas will have 3,776 miles of I routes.

The map shows that several important gaps in the State's Interstate system have been closed.

The '72 map shows that some 265 miles of divided highways have been added to the State system. This gives Texas 5,695 miles of four-lane divided facilities. Four-lane divided highways are an important safety measure in an effort to cut down on head-on accidents.

The new map will reflect a new U. S. Highway 380 designation from Greenville in Hunt County, westward to near Old Glory in Stonewall County. In addition, the map will show the new boundaries of the Guadalupe Mountain National Park located in Hudds-peth and Culberson Counties.

Visitors will find expert assistance in planning travels in Texas at 11 tourist information bureaus operated by the Highway Department, including the Roy Bean Visitor Center and Cactus Garden at Langtry and in the Capitol in Austin.

The other tourist information bureaus are located at key highway gateways at Anthony, Laredo, Orange, Waskom, Texarkana, Denton, Gainesville, Wichita Falls and Amarillo.

Each bureau and information center is operated by trained travel counselors who assist more than one million visitors annually.

Other features of the '72 map include listings of Highway Department district offices, Department of Public Safety Offices and State Parks. A handy conversion table turns kilometers to miles and liters to gallons.

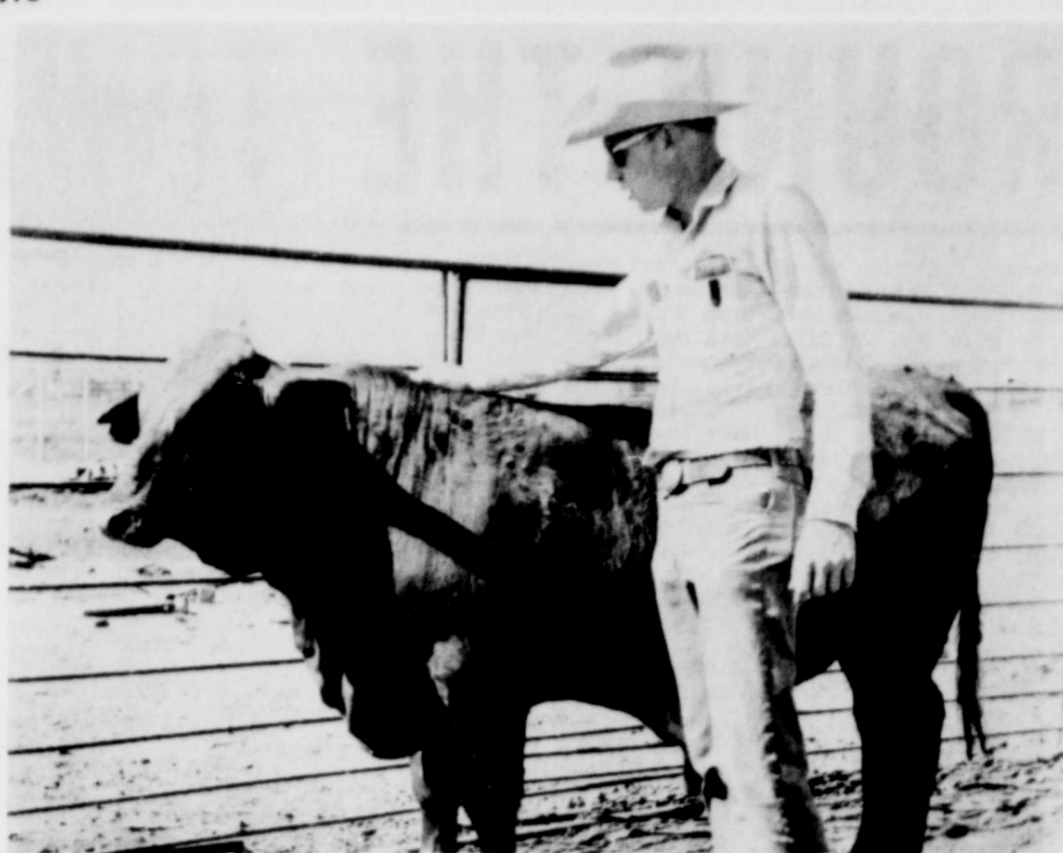

Safety rest areas are designated on the map with a small blue dot, comfort stations with the familiar blue square.

The Texas Highway Department provides approximately 1,100 safety rest areas, roadside parks and scenic turn-outs for the safety and convenience of highway users in Texas.

Copies of the 1972 Official Highway Travel Map are available at Highway Department Tourist Bureaus and at Department district offices. The map is one of the most popular of the more than 7.3 million pieces of travel-oriented literature distributed each year by the Texas Highway Department.

The map may also be ordered directly by sending name, address and ZIP code to Texas Highway Department, Travel and Information Division, P. O. Box 5064, Austin, Texas 78763.

By Max Dowling, Pastor

LEARN THE WORD

During the month of February I have tried to stimulate your interest in the Bible as the word of God and to challenge you to memorize selected portions of his word. Our scripture verses this week are: 1 John 5:11-12-13 "And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life. These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe on the name of the Son of God."

"The Bible contains the mind of God, the state of man, the way of salvation, the doom of sinners and the happiness of believers. Its doctrines are holy, its precepts are binding, its histories are true, and its decisions immutable. Read it to be wise, believe it to be saved, and practice it to be holy. It contains light to direct you, food to support you, and comfort to cheer you. It is the traveller's map, the pilot's compass, the soldier's sword, and the Christian's charter. Here Paradise is restored, Heaven opened, and the gates of Hell disclosed. Christ is its grand subject, our good its design, and the glory of God its end. Read it slowly, frequently, prayerfully. It is a mine of wealth, a paradise of glory, and a river of pleasure. It will reward the greatest labor, and condemn all who trifle with its sacred contents. It is the Book of Books - God's Book - the revelation of God to man."

The Psalmist says - "Thy Word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my way ... by Thy Word I have known Thee ... by thy laws I have been established. I will teach sinners to incline their ear unto the Law of the Lord, and I will praise Thee forever. Thy Word is my portion ... my daily food."

THE INFORMED CONSUMER

BY CRAWFORD C. MARTIN
Attorney General of Texas

You have just purchased a brand new appliance. Along with your purchase you received a "fully written guarantee". You are assured by the salesman that in the unlikely event of a break down, you have nothing to worry about. Your guarantee will make good on anything that goes wrong.

Alas, your appliance fails to function properly. Armed with your guarantee you set out to obtain satisfaction. You go to the store that sold you the appliance and talk to the friendly salesman who was so helpful when you were buying the item. It is then that you discover, upon close examination of the guarantee, that the store did not guarantee the appliance, the manufacturer did.

The salesman and store manager refer you to the manufacturer's service center which nearly always is located in some distant city. You contact the manufacturer and he writes you a nice letter informing you that his company will be happy to inspect your appliance if you will send it back to them for examination at your own cost.

The service center then writes you back and tells you that the defective part was not guaranteed. Upon close scrutiny of your guarantee you find that the defective part actually is excluded from the terms of the guarantee. Occasionally the manufacturer even suggests that you may have abused the appliance thereby exempting his company from any future liability.

Perhaps you find that the part would have been covered by the guarantee if you had mailed in the card you received at the time of the purchase. Your failure to do so has invalidated the guarantee and you find that the company has no obligation at all.

Another problem may arise when the store itself guarantees your new appliance for one year, both parts and labor. Now what could be wrong with this? Nothing so long as the seller stays in business and stands behind his guarantee.

But if the seller goes out of business who will service your appliance under the guarantee?

Unfortunately, the average consumer in many cases has little legal recourse aside from pestering and persisting when he purchases a product that does not work. It is an old axiom but it is still true, "A guarantee is only as good as the person making it." Before you buy a guaranteed item, know the following terms of the guarantee:

1. What parts of the product are guaranteed;
2. Who is making the guarantee;
3. The guarantee is for what;
4. What will be required if warranty work is needed, that is, can you have it done in your local town or must it be sent off;
5. What steps must be taken to validate the guarantee, an example would be returning a card to the manufacturer;
6. What is your recourse in the event the item is defective, that is, will it be repaired or will it be replaced with a new item;
7. For how long is the guarantee; or
8. For whose lifetime, the product or the owner's; and
9. Does the guarantee exclude certain uses of the product which will invalidate the guarantee.

Remember, if you don't understand the terminology of your guarantee, ask questions before you make your purchase. Have a clear understanding at that time. After the purchase it may well be too late.

Gas Drying

Electric Drying

Either we're four times cheaper, or they're four times more expensive.

Gas drying is not only easier on your pocketbook, it also makes life a whole lot easier. For one thing, gas drying practically eliminates the need for ironing. The new gas dryers are so gentle that clothes come out almost wrinkle-free. Clothes are tumbled dry, then cooled, and gently fluffed. Automatically Pleats stay pleated. Creases stay creased.

All this for a cost of about a penny a load. (Or $2.00 a ton.)

Take a look at the new gas dryers at your gas appliance dealer. Then do something nice for yourself.

And your pocketbook.

Selection Guide To Schools Available

LUBBOCK--"Where Shall I Go To College To Study Advertising?" is the title of the recently published eighth edition of a booklet designed to answer that question for considerably more than 2,000 high school graduates across the country in 1972.

Co-editors of the annual publication are Dean Donald G. Hileman of the College of Communications of the University of Tennessee at Knoxville and Chairman Billy I. Ross of the Department of Mass Communications at Texas Tech University.

Ross points out that the business of advertising and its allied fields this year are expected to supply jobs for almost 2,500 graduates from 64 colleges and universities offering advertising education in more than 30 states.

A total of 55 institutions offer a major in advertising or a program recommending a sequence of courses for the advertising student. Forty-two schools grant the master's degree and 14 the doctoral degree for students with a major interest in advertising.

Ross said there is a definite trend toward more master's and doctoral programs. In most cases these degrees are granted in journalism, communications or marketing with a "specialization in advertising." The number of schools offering doctoral work has doubled, he said, since compilation of data began.

There also is a definite trend toward changes in course offerings from "how-to" courses to the "why" approach, Ross said, "such as we are doing in the advertising section of our mass communications program here at Texas Tech."

Now is the time for homeowners to check for bagworms on trees and shrubs. Bagworms can now be easily detected while trees are bare. The insects can completely defoliate a tree next season if they are not controlled. Full grown worms or eggs may be found in the bags during the winter. On small trees, bagworms can be hand picked. Larger trees with bagworms should be sprayed in May or June with diazinon, carbaryl, or trichlorfon.

A Salute To Future Farmers Of America

By John C. White
Commissioner of Agriculture

It is with pride that I salute the Future Farmers of America during their week of special recognition. Even the name, "Future Farmers," is a proud one, for there is no more honorable an occupation nor a more indispensable one than farming. It is up to the farmers and ranchers of this great state and nation to produce the food and fiber to feed and clothe its people. You as Future Farmers and ranchers share, and will lead, in that responsibility.

The people who have preceded you on our farms and ranches have done a magnificent job of production. Within the past 20 years, our farmers and ranchers have increased production 130 percent. Our farmers and ranchers have produced so well that the consumer today spends less than 16.5 percent of his income for food, the lowest percentage in the history of this nation and the lowest ever in the world! Each farmer and rancher produces enough to feed himself and about 44 other persons.

You can see that production, for the present, is not the big challenge you will face; but there are challenges--opportunities, rather--for you on the farm and ranch. We must find some way to loosen the cost-price squeeze on the farmers and ranchers. We must find better ways of marketing what our farmers and ranchers produce, for they are not now receiving their fair share of the national income. We must also make it possible for people to live in the country, where congestion and crime pollution are not critical problems; we must provide for our rural people the conveniences and comforts that others enjoy. We must reverse the trend that is taking more of our people from the rural areas and placing them in the already over-crowded cities by giving them opportunities to make a living for themselves and their families. We must see to it that people in the rural areas have better schools, better medical facilities and better recreational facilities.

In helping solve these problems--just a few of those facing Texas farmers and ranchers--there are opportunities for all of you Future Farmers. Those opportunities are limitless, even though you might not actually do the farming and ranching in the future. There are opportunities for you in our rural areas as teachers, preachers, doctors, merchants, and industrialists.

The Future Farmers of America are to be congratulated on the progress they have made in their illustrious past. We rely on you to meet the challenges of rural America for the future.

Now Is The Time To Watch For Bagworms

COLLEGE STATION--This winter while trees are bare, homeowners should be on the alert for bagworms, advises Dr. Weldon Newton, entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Although bagworms are exposed when broad-leaved trees drop their leaves, they may be overlooked until a damaging infestation occurs. Complete defoliation can result next season when large numbers are present. In addition to broad-leaved trees, bagworms also feed on arborvitae, cypress and other evergreens.

Though fall webworms and tent caterpillars are often mistakenly called bagworms, they are really markedly different, points out Newton. Bagworms make individual cocoons from lightly woven silk. Leaves and twigs are attached to the outside of the

Check Prices Of Beef Items

COLLEGE STATION -- "Consumers continue to show a desire for beef. Considering the purchasing power behind this choice, the trend is likely to continue," said Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

So shop the beef counter carefully, and check the cost of each item before making a decision. Generally, items to check include chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks, some of the boneless pot roasts, ground beef and liver.

Pork prices are on the increase, but good values include Boston butt roasts, quarter loin sliced, rib chops, smoked hams, picnic hams and some brands of bacon.

According to the specialist, more fresh vegetable prices are higher than at the same time last year. This is the time to make price comparisons in fresh, canned and frozen vegetables to find economical choices. Supplies of green cabbage are plentiful and quality is excellent. Potatoes, carrots, dry yellow onions, bulk turnips, hard shell squash and rutabagas are among the most economically priced vegetables.

Newton recommends destroying any bags that may be found. Hand picking is very effective on small trees and those with only a few bags. Diazinon, carbaryl or trichlorfon can be sprayed in May or June on large trees with large numbers of bags in the upper branches, adds the entomologist.

Better Management Increases Profits

COLLEGE STATION - - Interested in picking up some additional profits from corn and grain sorghum this year? Then take a close look at your management practices, suggests Dr. Wendell Horne, plant pathologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Certain management practices can effectively reduce disease losses to corn and grain sorghum with little or no additional expense," says Horne.

An important consideration is crop rotation. Rotating with an unrelated crop will reduce populations of disease causing organisms in the soil and will keep actual disease losses to a minimum.

According to Horne, a key management practice is wise variety selection. "Many disease resistant varieties have yield capabilities equal to or greater than susceptible varieties."

The plant pathologist encourages producers to become familiar with the diseases of corn and grain sorghum so that they can be recognized.

Also, knowing which diseases are most likely to occur gives a producer a head start in planning preventive programs.

"Take time to observe and identify disease problems each year," urges Horne. "Then you can avoid the field with a serious disease problem in coming years."

Another step in warding off disease problems in corn and grain sorghum in Johnson-grass is closely related to corn and grain sorghum and has almost all the diseases which affect these crops. It's an excellent host of maize dwarf mosaic virus (MDMV) and can carry the virus through the winter in underground rhizomes, explains Horne. In the spring aphids carry the virus from infected Johnsongrass shoots to corn and grain sorghum.

"Get the jump on costly corn and grain sorghum diseases," advises Horne. "Stop by your county Extension office for a color publication showing these diseases and providing additional information on management practices."

Be Economical When Shopping For Meats

COLLEGE STATION - - "Meats take a large share of our food money, so it pays to be economical when shopping for meat," said Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Watch newspaper ads for money-saving prices on cuts of shoulder roasts and steaks, quarter loin, loin roasts, liver, smoked picnics and ham portions.

"If you're thinking in terms of best, choose this week will be rib roasts, round steaks, Chuck roasts and ground beef," the specialist said. "Liver is a good choice for both economy and food value. Try a liver casserole with onions."

Frying chickens cost about the same as last week and continue to be a good value. Some stores will feature whole chickens this weekend. That's a good chance to buy and freeze for future use, according to Mrs. Clyatt. She reminded that when shopping for poultry, remember the label of inspection is a guide to wholesomeness. The USDA grade shield assures standardized quality.

Oranges and grapefruit--two of the best natural sources of vitamin C--remain in abundant supply. Apples are still a good buy, either by the pound or by the bag. Add a special treat to menus by using fresh strawberries now available at local markets. Bananas and pears are also good buys.

Fresh fruits and vegetables are important items in diets for persons of all ages. Choices in most plentiful supply include potatoes, green cabbage, hard shell squash, dry yellow onions, carrots and sweet potatoes. Moderately priced broccoli, eggplant, cauliflower and bell peppers lend variety to menus.

FFA-4H Invited To Career Day

COLLEGE STATION - - Future Farmers of America and 4-H Club members are being invited to the annual Texas A&M University College of Agriculture Career Day and practice judging session March 11.

Dr. H. O. Kunkel, dean of agriculture, said that in addition to the many career day displays, a special feature this year is a drawing for a registered Angus heifer. The animal is being donated by the Alamo Angus Ranch near San Antonio.

The dean said county agricultural agents, 4-H leaders and high school vocation agriculture teachers can bring an unlimited number of youngsters to take part in the practice judging.

"We would also like to encourage you to bring other students, their parents and friends who are interested in agriculture and desire to participate in the career day activities," he added.

Career day displays and information headquarters will be in the A&M Plant Sciences Building. Exhibits will illustrate the many opportunities available in the challenging field of agriculture, Kunkel said.

Dr. R. C. Potts, associate dean of agriculture, will be available to answer questions on degree programs and entrance requirements. Registration for the Angus heifer will be at the information headquarters. Kunkel said FFA and 4-H members must be present at the 12:30 p.m. drawing to win.

Judging will start at 8 a.m. and is expected to be finished by 10:30 a.m. Events include land, livestock, meats, dairy cattle, dairy products, poultry and range and pasture.

Farmers Still Less Well Off Than City Dwellers

Even though food prices are expected to go up four percent this year and net farm income is expected to set a record, the farmer still is less than three-fourths as well off financially as the city dweller, Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said.

White said charges that the farmer is responsible for the expected food cost increase "is sheer nonsense." He said parity--the measuring stick that shows how agriculture is faring in comparison with the rest of the economy--is at 72 per cent. "This means that agriculture will have to increase its income 28 per cent to just be even with the rest of the economy," he said.

Expected increases in net farm income this year "is welcome news, not just for agriculture but for the rest of the economy, too. Farmers are big spenders when they have the money to spend, and a dollar of farm income generates five to seven dollars in new spending throughout the economy," White said.

Some members of Congress have asked for a ceiling on prices paid for agricultural products. White suggested that farm prices be "rolled back to levels of 22 years ago." If that were done, he said, the farmer would be getting more money than he now is.

Livestock prices are as close to full parity now as any other commodity. Yet, livestock prices today to the producer are no higher than they were 22 years ago," he said.

In addition to West Texas people, the program will also feature some 15 other presentations on pork production, including a talk on Texas feeder pig production by Dr. Randall Grooms, area livestock specialist for East Texas.

Swine Course March 27-28

Two days of presentations on feeding, breeding, health and marketing will make up the 21st annual Swine Short-course at Texas A&M University, March 27-28, in College Station.

West Texas producers, scientists and educators will take part in the conference and also the meeting of the Texas Pork Producers Association, according to Dr. Gilbert R. Hollis, area swine specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Dr. A.M. Lennon, assistant professor at Texas Tech University, will report on research on weaning pigs at one day of age.

Hollis will moderate a panel of pork producers composed of Elmer McLaughlin of Fampa, Don Gray of Snyder and Harold Ham of Dumas. Roy Poage, of Slaton, president of the Texas Pork Producers Association, will head up the annual Pork Banquet on March 27. At that time, the winner of the Master Pork Producer Award will be named, and the Texas Pork Queen Contest will be conducted.

Feb. 27 To Be Heart Sunday

Introducing . . .

This Sunday has been designated Heart Sunday (February 27) and highlights the month-long Heart Fund Campaign to raise funds for research, education, and community service programs, and, at the same time, to educate the residents in this community in what they can do to reduce the toll of heart attack deaths.

This year the grim facts of heart attack will be felt in homes throughout the country

Six Flags Will Open In March

SIX FLAGS Over Texas today announced the earliest spring opening in its eleven-year history. The big theme park will begin the 1972 season on March 25.

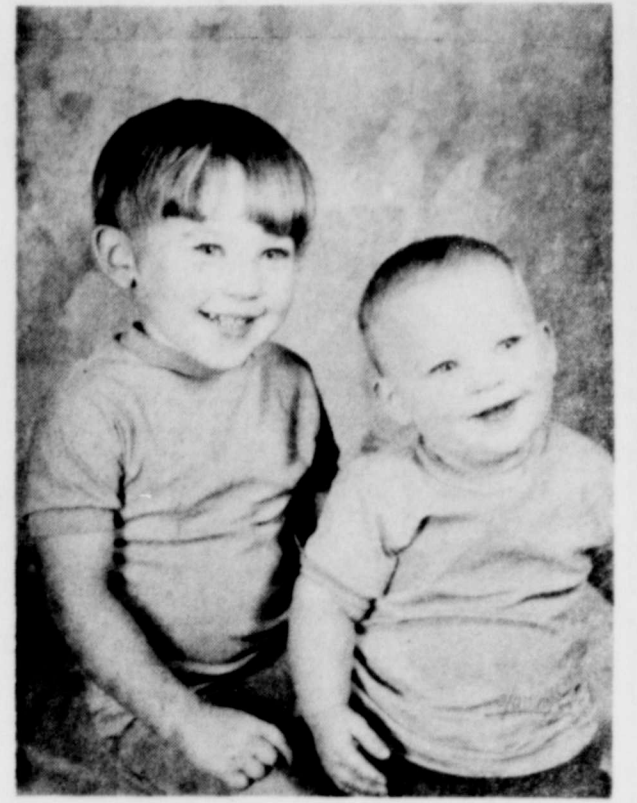

SIX FLAGS General Manager R. W. Freeman said the early opening date was chosen to give families a chance to visit the Park during the Easter vacation period. He said the Park will be open daily from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. from March 25 until April 2. After that SIX FLAGS will be open on Saturdays and Sundays only until late May, when daily operation begins.

The entire facility is now getting its annual face-lifting. All of the rides are being overhauled and all rides and buildings are being repainted. Thousands of flowers have been planted during the winter months to provide a blaze of color for the opening week. Since the Park opened in 1961, more than 18,000,000 persons have passed through the gates. Some 2,000,000 are expected this year.

as an estimated 670,000 lives are claimed by America's number one killer. Research has made tremendous strides in the control and prevention of many heart and blood vessel diseases. But, heart attack continues to cause thousands of needless deaths through failure by the public to know the warning signs of heart attack and to act promptly when symptoms occur.

Minutes count when heart attack strikes, warns the Wichita County Heart Association, and thousands of lives could be saved if individuals acted promptly in obtaining medical treatment. This is one way the Heart Association is asking the public to "Beat the Big One-Heart Attack." Another way all of us can help is to give generously to the Heart Fund.

Contributions will support the Heart Association's efforts to control this nation's leading health enemy. It has also been stressed that All Heart Fund volunteers wear identification badges as they call on residences this week.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Sue The Weatherman

"Fair and warmer," says the weather man's morning forecast, and you dress accordingly. But during the day a cloudburst hits town, drenching—and ruining—your clothes. You might feel a distinct urge to sue the weatherman for damages. Or, to be more technical, to sue his employer, the United States Government.

Could you win such a lawsuit? A quick answer would be no, because a weather forecast is only an educated guess, not a guarantee. But what if the weatherman was not only wrong but also guilty of negligence in making his prediction?

That complicates matters. Consider this case: A hurricane was bearing down on a coastal city, and the weather bureau issued a series of warnings. But the winds and flood waters arrived several hours ahead of the predicted time. A woman, caught on low land, was drowned.

Later, her husband demanded damages from the government. "I realize," he told the court "that weather predicting is not an exact science. But this was worse than just a mistake. It was outright negligence. They had discovered that the storm was coming in ahead of schedule, but they failed to pass the word along to the public."

Nevertheless, the court turned down his claim. The judge said the government cannot be held liable for broad, generalized activities like forecasting the weather because this would place too heavy a burden upon basic governmental functions.

But that may not apply to weather forecasting in a limited, specific situation. Thus: The weather bureau at an airport, although aware of air turbulence near the ground, failed to warn the pilot of a private plane that was just taking off. The plane crashed, the pilot was killed, and the government was sued for damages.

This time, the government was indeed held liable. The court decided that in a particular, localized situation like this, the government ought to pay the penalty for its negligence—just like any other wrongdoer.

"HELP YOUNG AMERICA" CAMPAIGN GETTING CELEBRITY AID, STARTING AT WHITE HOUSE

A "Help Young America" Campaign to distribute a quarter-million dollars to five leading youth organizations through a national balloting by the American public is getting the help of a number of the nation's top personalities, starting with the White House. Mrs. Richard Nixon calls it an "innovative and sweeping approach to the encouragement of constructive youth activities."

The "Help Young America" Campaign will divide a quarter-million dollars among the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts Boys Clubs of America, Girls Clubs of America and the Camp Fire Girls in proportion to the number of votes each receives by March 31. The free voting ballots have been distributed nationally in stores and in magazines.

The "Help Young America" idea was conceived by the Colgate-Palmolive Co., whose president, David R. Foster, points out that the company is contributing the quarter-million dollars "to help our young people to a better America." Colgate decided on a national balloting, he adds, "in order to involve all Americans in the needs and goals of these young people."

Noted personalities who have volunteered to help the "Help Young America" Campaign represent fields ranging from government and entertainment to the music and literary worlds. Among them are Joseph Blatchford, the dynamic young director of the government agency that represents both the Peace Corps and VISTA;

New Housing to Hit Record Levels in '72

New housing, which dominated the nation's construction industry during 1971, will continue at record levels in 1972 "but non-residential and non-building construction will start catching up in the first six months of the new year," it is forecast by R. B. Pamplin, chairman of Georgia-Pacific Corp.

Speaking at a business outlook conference in Chicago, sponsored by First National Bank of Chicago, Mr. Pamplin pointed out that, during 1971, "two of the three legs of the construction industry gained only three to four per cent while housing was gaining 40 per cent in dollar volume by the end of the third quarter."

He noted that remodeling, which expanded from a $14.8 billion annual rate in 1970 to a $16 billion rate near the end of 1971 for major alterations, repairs and additions, "is being understated because of the growing amount of do-it-yourself work that is not recorded in such figures, and this type of housing improvement will continue to grow."

Mr. Pamplin also predicted that "right now it looks like the entire year 1972 should be outstanding for the nation's construction industry."

Newspaper and magazine columnists and local TV program hosts are also helping the "Help Young America" Campaign.

Energy and Ecology Needs Should Balance

"The country must avoid an 'environmental protection overkill' which could stall the expansion of energy plants," Walter Rogers, president of the Independent Natural Gas Association, asserted in a year-end statement.

He said that the United States is entering a period when it will have to balance its environmental needs against its energy requirements.

Confronted with soaring demands, Mr. Rogers said the industry must increase our efforts to find and develop new domestic sources of natural gas and other energy.

The environmental problems associated with production of energy should be met and solved quickly, "without undue delay or prolonged public debate," Rogers concluded.

Question of the Week

Now that the voting age has been lowered and you are a registered voter or will be eligible to vote within a short time, what would you like to see done in Burkburnett?

SEDELTA VERBLE, 16
I believe Burkburnett needs more concern by the citizens who live here. This city is small enough to reflect the views of all its citizens and therefore more citizen action groups should be started so as to involve the majority of voters and taxpayers who live here. These various committees require only interested citizens and some energy. Then they could tackle such problems as improvement for our library which is badly in need of books, the growing ecological problem--before it gets out of hand, and new community programs such as parks and recreational projects.

JAMES COKENDOLPHER, 18
To improve the community of Burkburnett, I would first make it wet. By making it wet, Burk would receive all the liquor taxes and would help to clean up the streets of our town. Second, I would use these funds to build a kiddie fishing pool with adjoining benches and trees.

MAVIS ROUNDTREE, 17
I think that Burkburnett High School should have an art program, involving everything from the fundamentals to sculpturing. It would be a good way for students to express themselves and to develop what ever talent they had. I'm very interested in art, and I'm disappointed that this school doesn't have any such program.

LARRY ROSS, 17
I'm afraid I don't know the budget problems of a small town but I would think that things like the traffic signals or some of the bad portions of the city streets could be updated. Also, the school could allocate funds for the school paper.

SUSAN BARAD, 16
I think one of the most necessary improvements for Burkburnett would be the providing of air conditioning for the public schools. Improved conditions would definitely make it easier for the student to focus his mind on the subject at hand.

STEPHEN RORABAW, 18
Improved traffic signs, signals and roads is something in need of concern. There are many streets here in Burkburnett that are in desperate need of repair. There also are some very dangerous intersections and streets where there are no signs or signals. The lights in the intersections are also too fast. Very few cars can get through safely until it quickly changes. The cost for these few things would be very low and some not very time-consuming.

The pickup in the photo is the exact reproduction of Sandy's entry and it is on display in its brilliant colors in the Mathis Chevrolet show room. Sandy, as the winner of the contest, received the use of another "Can You Top This" 1972 Chevrolet Pickup which has a large eagle painted on the side of the pickup. Sandy is the 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sonner.

Softball League Tower Co. Elections Tues. Chairman

The ever-growing Girls' Softball League will elect officers for the 1972 season Tuesday night at the Youth Center. The 7:30 p.m. meeting will involve everyone who is interested in the girls' program, according to Mac Malone, past president.

Last year the league was comprised of six teams and approximately 150 girls were involved. One hundred and twenty of these girls were between the ages of 8 and 13. A team for older girls is being planned for this summer.

Malone also stated that registration will be held later this spring with teams being formed following that time.

Senator John Tower today announced the appointment of Wichita Falls Attorney Harold D. Rogers as regional chairman of the senator's re-election campaign to the United States Senate.

Rogers, a graduate of Oklahoma State University and the Denver University School of Law, will supervise Tower's campaign activities in Region Four, made up of 14 counties in North Central Texas.

The 14 counties include Wichita, Wilbarger, Floyd, Clay, Crosby, Hardeman, Baylor, Archer, Knox, Dickens, Cottle, Foard, Motley and King.

Rogers served as co-chairman of the finance committee in the Paul Eggers campaign for governor in 1968 and 1970.

Civilians Instructing On Military Aircraft

SHEPPARD AFB, TEXAS--"Why are civilian instructors teaching about military aircraft?" This is a question heard often from students in 3750th Technical School's Department of Aircraft Maintenance Training.

CMSgt. Robert W. Hrabovsky, chief of the department's fighter aircraft branch which teaches the Aircraft Maintenance Specialist, Jet Aircraft One and Two Engine Course, gives the answer.

The course is one of the largest in the Air Force, and when the student load is at its peak, there will be more than 340 instructors assigned. Of this number, an average of 40 are civilians who prove themselves invaluable as part of the Air Force team.

Military instructors are assigned to the course for a limited time and are then replaced with new instructors. The civilian instructors remain with the course and provide continuity necessary to keep the standard of instruction at its best.

Also, a major share of the responsibility for training new military instructors for the course falls upon the civilians. Years of experience in the techniques of instruction are freely given to their military counterparts who bring the latest ideas and concepts about aircraft maintenance with them as they are assigned from the field.

Surplus Scrap To Be Sold

SHEPPARD AFB, TEXAS--Surplus scrap is being offered for public sale on a sealed bid at Sheppard AFB.

Types of scrap include stainless steel, magnetic, non-magnetic, high temperature alloy, electronic and copper-bearing.

Bids should be mailed to the Defense Surplus Sales Office, P.O. Box 8297, Fort Worth, Texas 76115. They will be opened at 9 a.m. February 29, 1972.

The 40 civilian instructors assigned to the course represent a total of 793 years of teaching experience, with 769 of those years representing experience on aircraft.

Eighteen of the instructors hold bachelor degrees and five hold masters degrees. Two are licensed commercial pilots with instructor certificates and two hold mechanics certificates from the Federal Aviation Administration.

The combination of military and civilian instructors, according to Sergeant Hrabovsky, make a more effective team that is responsive to the ever changing conditions of today's Air Force.

TAX NEWS

The absentee voting shall be held at School Tax Office within the boundaries of the above named School District and said place of voting shall remain open for at least eight hours on each day of absentee voting which is not a Saturday or Sunday, or an Official State Holiday beginning on the 13th day of March and continuing through March 28, 1972. Said place of voting shall remain open between the hours of 8:00 A.M. and 4:00 P.M. on each day for said absentee voting. The manner of holding said election shall be governed, as near as may be, by the Election Code of this State.

MEDICAL EQUIPMENT, ETC. IS DEDUCTIBLE

Taxpayers know about most deductible medical expenses - including such obvious things as hospital, surgical, and professional fees, as well as the cost of medicines, drugs and health insurance premiums. According to H & R Block, America's Largest Tax Service, most Americans who in the past have claimed medical deductions, are fully aware of the fact that they may only deduct medical expenses which exceed 3% of their adjusted gross income. For this reason many people in upper income brackets have never been able to deduct medical expenses. Under a fairly recent rule, however, one-half the cost of medical and hospitalization insurance premiums (up to $150) may be deducted without regard to the 3% limit. This could mean a fairly substantial tax saving to those who in the past have been unable to claim any medical deductions.

Other deductions that people often overlook are costs of round-trip transportation to seek medical care, and fees paid to specialists other than an M.D. These specialists include osteopaths, chiropractors, psychiatrists, podiatrists, dentists, and Christian Science practitioners as well as other healers.

Deductions for transportation costs are most frequently overlooked, says H & R Block. If a person's ailment is such that it is necessary to travel to a specialist 1,000 miles away from his home, he should deduct the cost of such transportation. Of course the transportation is deductible even if you only travel 15 blocks on a subway or bus. If you drive your car you can deduct the cost of gasoline and oil for your automobile, or take a flat deduction of 6¢ a mile.

Other items often overlooked by taxpayers, says Block, are elastic bandages, wheelchairs, hospital beds, or any other medical equipment (usually prescribed or recommended by a doctor), that must be rented or purchased to enable a patient to regain physical or mental health. Many items not prescribed by a doctor, that contribute to your health or physical well-being, may qualify as deductions within certain regulations. A competent tax consultant can advise you which items qualify.
