COMING HOME

Discharged soldiers seem the nearest thing to bringing face to face with the end of combat in Europe. We believe it because we are seeing it come true. The method of discharge is a product of the GI himself, for months ago interviewers went into the field to ascertain the way the boys themselves wanted it. Naturally there will be times where the program will fail to meet certain cases that perhaps a Burkburnett resident feels makes it faulty. The point system in computing the right of each man for time spent, meritous service, is just. Family conditions will be taken into consideration, as we have already seen happen. None of us but who would like to see every boy in uniform who is ready, free to come home. But until this is possible, it is up to us to keep on buying war bonds and praying for a near victory over our Pacific foe.

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 10.

The Golden Text is: "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou hast created all things, and for casualties, liberated prisoners of home with her parents, thy pleasure they are and were created" (Revelation 4:11.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "The mighty God, even the Lord, hath spoken, and called the earth from the rising of the sun unto the going down thereof".

(Psalms 50:1.) The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "From Love and from the light and harmony which are the abode of Spirit, only reflections of good can come" (page 280.)

(Fundamentalist)

Sunday School meets at 10 a. m. with all classes studying the 22nd chapter of Acts—"Preaching Christ In A Crises." We use the Bible only in our Sunday School.

Preaching at eleven o'clock. Sermon by the pastor, "Shall Your Bretheren Go To War and Shall Ye Sit Here?" (Numbers 32:6). This will be a timely message for all Christians. The common question one quite often hears these days-"don't you know that there is a war on?" -might have more meaning than you realize. Many of those who ask that question don't know themselves that there is a war on. If you are an honest Christian who wants the truth, this message will help you and put you on the alert. If you are not honest and in earnest about serving God, then this message will probably make you mad. Come and hear if you want the truth without the sugar-coating.

Sunday night services begin with the young people meeting in their regular place at 7:45. They will be discussing the book of Philemon.

Song and preaching service at 8:30. There will be special singing, followed by a message by the pastor. Sermon subject, "What Does God's Word say about Russia?-Does She Have "Drinking From Dry Books" a Major Role to Play in Future then one day, we find the stream Come and bring your Bible, note dry. What to do under such a book and pencil. Don't accept condition will be pointed out anything that you can't find in the Word of God.

7"WAR LOA

Yes, the Seventh War Loan is on right now!

There are new planes to be built . . . new tanks . . . new ships. All to bring the war to an earlier close.

Our fighting men will do their job. But we must do ours!

And right now, the most important job we have is to meet our personal quotas in the Seventh War Loan drive!

$7,000,000,000 from individuals. For this loan is really 2 in 1-there had been 2 drives in 1944, by this time. So now-we've got to do a two-loan job in one.

But Americans have never failed meet a War Bond quota yet-and won't fail now! So find out what ? quota is-and meet it!

Arkansas county weekly that your columnist edited for a year, was an incurable practical joker. Soon after coming there, I wrote a paragraph criticizing the presence of a wasp's nest in the courtroom and Charley kept running back and forth telling me what he claimed the county judge (a former preacher) had said and then telling the judge what I was supposed to have said in replywith the result that both of us. being men of peace, dodged each other for two weeks, which is quite a feat in a town no larger than Piggott.

It was before my advent however that Charley achieved his masterpiece. Piggott was a dry town but a prominent citizen, (Jones will do) had left a jug of corn in the newspaper office and he'd drop in and take a drink now and then. To keep out of sight, he would step into the telephone booth and duck beneath the level of the glassed upper half of the door, while quaffing. This particular day was a July scorcher and Jones was in the act of taking a nip when he heard Charley say, "Howdy do, Aunt Sallie" said Jones recognized the shrill reply as coming from the town's most strict of inhabitants. Thinking she would leave in a moment, he remained in his stooped position. But the conversation went on and on. Two or three times, Aunt Sallie would say goodbye and then Charley would ask her another question. The sweat rolled down the trapped man. At last, farewells were exchanged and Jones staggered weakly into the fresh air, exclaiming, "I thought she never would leave.'

Charley roared with laughter -Aunt Sallie hadn't been there at all; Charley, a natural mimic, had carried on the entire conversation. He almost got licked when Jones realized how unnecessarily he had suffered.

No man knows all the answers. Homer couldn't give the solution to the riddle some boys asked him; 'What we caught, we left behind; what we did not catch, we bring with us." The answer was lice.

The riddle of the Sphinx was, "What animal walks on four feet in the morning; at noon, on two; and in the evening, on three.' The answer to that one is, Man who crawls in infancy, walks upright in manhood and in old age uses a cane."

Keep up the home our boys are fighting for . . . the home that YOU will long live in. Paint will not only give your home a better appearance, but protect your investment as well. Your home deserves care both inside and out. Don't neglect it.

Bluebirds in Color on Linens

BLUEBIRDS — the symbol of happiness—what more appropriate motif for a prospective bride's linens? Do them in natural color.

Birds and flowers are in easiest possible stitchery. Pattern 7481 has a transfer pattern of 20 motifs, 2 by 2 to 41/2 by 10 inches.

The water in which rice is boiled is just right for starching organdy blouses and white shirts.

An electric griddle for pancakes works more efficiently if wiped with olive oil.

Fingers from discarded rubber gloves make excellent guards for injured fingers. Bandage injury as usual, cut one of the fingers from the glove, and slip it over the bandage. Protects it from the dirt.

Do not use sheets or pillow cases for laundry bags as they are not woven to stand the strain.

Cover the bottom of your scouring powder can with adhesive tape. Then when can stands in your white enameled sink, it will leave no rust stains.

Fancy household linens, put away to save time and effort, should be washed and aired occasionally to keep them fresh and white. Ironing is not necessary.

When sewing, fasten a small pincushion to your wrist with a piece of elastic. This way as soon as pins are removed they can be put in place. Keep pins handy, too.

Cut a flower or two from the new wallpaper you've put on your walls, then paste it to a white lamp shade or two. Gives unity of design to your room. Carry out the same idea on a scrapbook cover that's kept permanently at hand.

Rustic furniture with the bark still on is mighty hard on stockings. They are much less apt to catch on the wood if the chair is given a coat of clear varnish.

To separate a head of lettuce, cut the core out in a cone shape and place the opening under the faucet, allowing the running water to separate the leaves without breaking them.

Banana Oddity

Unlike other banana plants which produce their fruit in bunches of from 50 to 150, a banana plant cultivated in the Far East produces only one fruit. But this banana is as long and thick as a man's arm and contains sufficient food to make an adequate meal for three hungry persons.

SAN FRANCISCO. - The tumult and the shouting dies, the captains and the kings depart, still stands Thine ancient sacrifice - an humble and a contrite heart. . . . so said Kipling in describing the end of a war ("far-called our navies melt away.") As I review this chapter of current history here at San Fran- ation but who has urged it on a cisco where the world security organization is in the making, I am impressed with one thing: what has already been achieved containing merit and the seeds of hope for a peaceful world has been achieved by the sacrifice offered by the humble and contrite hearts. That sounds somewhat idealistic perhaps but let me explain. I think it is not an exaggeration to say that compromise is the keystone of harmony whether it is a question of interpersonal, interparty, interstate or international relations. And what is compromise but sacrifice? Applied to the United Nations conference on international organization, sacrifice of national aspiration, and compromise which meant yielding actual selfish advantage of the moment in the hope of gaining potential advantage for the general good, have at least given evidence of good will. Good will, implemented by popular endorsement, means practical progress toward peace.

Peace More Natural Than War

You may have read a very trenchant article by Emery Reves, authority and writer on international affairs in the current Mercury magazine, which confutes the argument that since war is a part of human nature, it can never be prevented. Mr. Reves goes about his task of disproving this convent bromide of the pessimist in a highly scientific manner. "Why," he asks, "did cities once wage war against each other and why do they no longer fight each the United States. other with weapons today?

"Why, at certain times did great landowner barons war with each other and why have they ceased the practice?

"Why did the various churches plunge their adherents into armed stant relief; inexpensive; partiage and why today, are they killed as part of a spectacle of the established worship of His peoable to worship side by side with out shooting each other? Why did Scotland and England, the author continues, and other parts of what are now single nations, once fight and now live together peacefully?

Reves points out that these and other groups, presumably because it was the nature of the beast to once consider it natural to decide their differences with tooth, claw, powder and shot, or bow and arrow and yet that kind of legal murder no longer exists and would horrify modern man. This is his answer to these provocative questions: "Wars between these social units cease to exist the moment sovereign power is transferred to a larger or higher unit." That is worth pondering.

Yield Sovereignty

To Higher Community The sovereign power of the cities

rielded to the power of the nation; England and Scotland yielded their separate sovereignty to the sovereignty of the British crown. This occurred as a part of the due process of civilization which began when the individual cave man agreed to abide by the rules of the tribe, the tribe submitted to the will of the community and so on until the process produced the United States. Here is a vast area occupying a huge sector of a great continent, which, after a bloody war where state rights versus federal authority was the issue, became a unified whole. Hates, rivalries, competition, religious and economic difference continue (as a part of human nature) but internecine strife is unthinkable.

Where's the rub, then? Just, "sovereignty" which is a fighting word, still today. The United States is willing, anxious to participate in the United Nations organization - the both parties. But will she yield her forces for international good will am?" people have given that mandate to sovereignty? If so, how much?
