Many an air conditioner wants you to post-war plans have been com- build one just like his, whether pleted, which will be put into it works or not. If you show the effect as soon as present critical least bit of interest, you won't have to ask questions. Most anybody will tell you how to build one. Get all the information possible, then forget it and go ahead and build yours just like you intended in the first place. Whatever you build probably won't work anyhow, and if you accept too much advice, you won't know who to blame for your failure.

You will need a motor and some kind of fan or squirrel cage. Most amateurs prefer the squirrel cage. If you are not on good terms with the squirrels, you won't be trying to build a conditioner. Get what tools you have together then borrow some more from everybody who will lend them to you. If your memory is bad you will come out ahead on this deal, which may be the only thing you gain from your adventure.

Decide how much you can afford to spend on the project. Multiply this figure, by three and you will find the minimum it will cost you. If you think you can build it in 2 days, multiply this by 10. When 20 days have passed, don't get discouraged. You have gone too far to quit.

Air conditioners are complicated. Your work shop should be as secluded as possible, preferable small and hot. The intense heat will spur you on to complete the job that will change perspiration to goose pimples. To determine the speed of the fan get two pulleys. Multiply the motor by the big pulley. No that's not seem right either. Substract the small pulley from the large one. One pulley from two pulley is one pulley, but you must have two pulleys, so that can't be right either. You may need some outside help on this. When the motor, shaft, bearings, pulleys and fan are assembled turn the juice on from a safe distance. If the fan blades come off, you are too fast. If no air come out the front, you are too slow or the fan is running backward. If the latter is the case, turning the conditioner around won't solve the problem. I tried that. It isn't satisfactory Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Buns- to have the excelsior between years while the demand tine of Edmond, Okla., are the the window and the fan. Try reversing the motor. Colored Folk Enjoyed June 19

Every year on June 19th, Tom Hamilton gives a big barbecue for the colored folk of Burkburnett and surrounding towns.

This year the evene was held at the Municipal Light Plant Park. There was plenty of barbecue and all the trimmings for the noon meal and at night when still piled high with barbecue, bread, etc. Children enjoyed the see-saws and swings while the grown-ups sat in the shade and talked. More than one hundred enjoyed the day with Tom.

FARM SAFETY

The President calls attention to the part farmers have played in the war, recognizing that they are faced with more difficult tasks this year due to more shortages than last. Everyone pays tribute to their relentless efforts to produce the goods.

The fact that each month 1,400 farm residents lose their lives in rural accidents and 125,000 are injured, means, as the President states: "an unnecessary waste of human life as well as of time and material." Farm organizations such as the Grange, Farm Bureau, Farmer's Union, and like groups, should perform a service for their country by stressing the safety campaign for the farm by spreading the word through publications and educational sources. The farmer is a vital factor in war. Worn out machinery, fatigue of farm workers, tired from long hours during those heavy rush seasons of farm work, the hurry to try to make up for shortages, all are dangers to the farmer. Since the war, factories have found that safety campaigns have been needed to stress the importance to the workers of safety measures. If this was needed in industry, then it is needed for the farmer, his family, his workers, for they will be doing not only themselves a kindness but their country as well, in recognizing the sense in a farm safety program.

Our revival will close this Sunday, June 24. We would like to make that day a definite climax to the effort, with a great representation of members and friends at Sunday School and at the morning and evening worship. The Sunday School convenes at 9:45, followed by the morning service at 10:50. The evening service begins at 8:15.

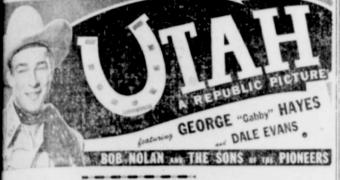

We wish to thank all who have shown interest in our meeting and to express our gratitude toward the fine cooperation of our fellow pastors and churches.

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force? is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 24.

The Golden Text is: "The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein" (Psalms 24:1.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: By the word of the Lord were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth. For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast (Psalms 33:6, 9.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with If in this scoffing, perverse, Baker Eddy: Infinite Mind creates and governs all, from the mental molecule to infinity. Have You Forgotten

How A Thin Pay Envelope Looks? Planned Spending and Planned Saving Play A Big Part In Winning the War

Some folks are getting so used to seeing money come in fast that they are spending every cent they make. They have forgotten all about horse sense in spending and horse sense in

And, they're treading on mighty thin ice. For there's danger in spending it

Spend for the things you really need, of course. But PLAN your spending. Be realistic. Take a pencir and figure out your total income, your necessary spending. Then plan to lay aside a good part of your remaining income for the things you can't buy now but which will be available to you when the right time for spending comes after the war.

And as you plan your spending, also plan your saving. Set goals nowhigh goals. Think of things you really want-and save to get them. Save by buying more War Bonds-put your over-and-above dollars in a savings account reserve. Then you will help keep prices down-will help keep the buying power of your dollar up-will have a sound backlog for the readjustment period after the war-will have money to buy worthwhile things when spending is in style again.

But right now, the style swing is toward saving. For your own sakeyour family's sake-your country's sake-save. And save hard. . . .

When Mr. Brown Retires

He's Going to Stay on the Farm

In a few more years, Mr. Brown will be 65, and he's going to quit farming then. But he isn't going to quit the farm. He's going to stay right there, and let Jim take over. It will be Jim's farm from there on, and Mr. Brown is just going to sit back and take it easy. And he won't have to ask Jim for money, either, because the check he'll get each month from Southwestern Life Insurance Company will be ample to take care of his needs-as long

You can do exactly what Mr. Brown did, self! And when he realized that, he started and when you think about it, you'll realize, investigating, and he found out he could do just as Mr. Brown, that it's the reasonable a dual job with Southwestern Life Insurthing to do. Mr. Brown had everything on ance: protect his family in event of his his farm insured — the house, barns, live- death, or quit and let Jim take over, with a stock, implements — everything, except the independent income for himself at a retiremost important asset on that farm - him- ment age of his choice.

The cost of such a plan is so reasonable it will please you. It pleased Mr. Brown. Get the figures today and see for yourself.
