PRINCIPAL SPEAKERS AT REGIONAL CONFERENCE WAR CHEST LEADERS PLANS TO BE LAID FOR CAMPAIGN

Paula Bane, USO-Camp Shows Singer (left), Capt. R. G. Morere, holder of the nation's second highest award for bravery, will be principal speakers at the regional conference of war chest leaders. At the conference plans will be laid for the October Campaign on behalf of the National War Fund.

Old Boys Greeted By Marines

War chest leaders from this area who attend the United War Chest of Texas regional conference at Sheppard Field, Wichita Falls, Tuesday, August 28, 1945 will hear one of America's prettiest and most talented USO Camp Shows entertainers in a report on services being provided for our fighting men through agencies of the National War Fund.

At the same time, while laying the groundwork for the October war chest campaign in Texas, they will hear from one of the nation's most outstanding battle heroes a personal account of the fighting abroad.

The USO entertainer, Miss Paula Bane, has just returned from a tour of both the Atlantic and Pacific fronts, during which she sang for thousands of American troops. She will appear at the war chest conference in uniform, to tell of USO work abroad in an informal talk entitled "This Is The Foxhole Circuit."

Capt. R. G. Morere, twice-wounded battle veteran and holder of the nation's second highest award for bravery, will give a first-hand account of modern warfare.

Captain Morere is now a patient at McCloskey General Hospital, where he is recuperating from serious wounds, but volunteered to make a tour of Texas because of his intense interest in the success of the National War Fund Drive in Texas.

Judge O. O. McCurdy, chairman of war chest Region 13, will preside at the conference, at which Wayland D. Towner, general manager of the United War Chest of Texas, will discuss plans for another over-the-top campaign in Texas. The meeting will be attended by war chest leaders and workers from every county and community in the region. All local persons interested in the October campaign have been invited to attend.

The conference will open at 10 A. M. Following the business discussion, all delegates will be guests at luncheon.

During the afternoon, the entire group will be conducted on a tour of Sheppard Field.

Many Buildings, Remodeling Projects Are Under Way In Burkburnett Now

There is more building, repairing, remodeling and additions being made to Burkburnett business establishments and homes now than any time in the past few years. Many of the projects have been under way for some time, while a few have been started in the past few weeks or days.

Cicero Smith Lumber Company is nearing completion on a warehouse, 24x90 feet, located in the middle of the yard, between the lumber sheds. The warehouse is new throughout, with roof and sides of five-lock seam sheet iron. The floors are made of 2x's, which will make for lasting service. Since the storm some weeks back, this lumber yard has taken on quite a different appearance. High winds took roofs off the lumber sheds. These roofs have been replaced with new material and quite a bit of reinforcing and bracing has been made to the lumber racks. In the near future, another warehouse, 20x24 feet is planned to house a new power saw which is expected soon.

J. F. Kelley has punched a hole in the roof of his feed store to make room for a new elevator shaft for his cleaner and treater. Monday workmen had about completed the job.

A 20 foot addition is being added to the City Light Plant building in the Northwest part of town. The extension is being made to the North part of the building and will house a new engine and generator which should arrive in the near future. With the extra space it will be possible to install two such engines if the need should arise. The construction is of brick and sheet iron, to match the original building.

Bricklayers are busy this week repairing the north walls of the Simmons Garage, which were damaged by the storm. The building is located just East of the depot on East Third Street. When the walls are finished, Mr. Simmons will have a new roof put on the building.

Last week a concrete foundation was poured for the hanger at Burkburnett Airport. The hanger will be large enough to accommodate six small planes. Construction will be of concrete, steel pipe frame, covered with corrugated sheet iron.

Cannon Drug Store has completed extensive remodeling of the soda room and prescription room. A new air-conditioner unit has also been installed. The prescription room was moved to the East side of the store and inclosed in glass. This move doubled the size of the soda room, which has new booths, tables, lights and paint. The store has much more room, and a very inviting appearance.

The beautiful residence on Magnolia being erected by Wayne Chambers is almost ready to be occupied. It is a large home, and unique in that all rooms except one have three outside exposures. The roof is white asbestos shingles, with outside walls of asbestos shingles and brick foundation.

Thaxton Bros. building just across the alley North of the hardware store is in the progress of complete remodeling. Foundation has been poured for 45x45 foot extension to the East end of the building. The addition is expected to be completed in the next week or two. The new structure will house the garage for the implement company. A new sidewalk has been poured in front of the building. A new brick front with large plate glass windows will be added soon. Show rooms in the front with rearranging of the parts department will complete the job. The extension will be of corrugated iron. R. P. Thaxton says they are getting ready for the future.

Sam Lax is sales manager for Allis-Chalmers farm implements which the firm has handled for some time. Mr. Thaxton states they now are agents for the GMC truck.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Allen are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Tex Allen in Graham this week.

Local Girls Will Attend T. S. C. W.

Texas State College For Women, world's largest residential college for women, will start its 1945-46 session with an enrollment of at least seven from Burkburnett, according to an August survey of dormitory room reservations by the college registrar. The attendance will be limited to around 2500 young women due to lack of additional rooms.

Registration will begin at 1 p. m. Monday, Sept. 17, and classes start Sept. 20. Dormitories will open Sunday, Sept. 16.

Freshmen listed from Burkburnett are: Miss Juanita Amos Groves, 216 West 2nd St. Others are: Misses Wilma J. Dunham, LaFon Farrington, Josephine Utts, Dorothy Ann Preston, Martha Gail Parr, and Alice Anna Millikin.

Lions Club

Lions Frank Kelley and Roy Magers had the program Tuesday night. Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe gave a detailed talk on the Four Amendments to be voted on Saturday August 25th. This was appreciated very much by the club.

Other visitors were: Glen Haynes, Guy McNeely, Ford Albritton, Jim Robinson and Chas. Pfeifer of Wichita Falls.

Scrap Paper Pick-Up committee for Friday week, August 31 are: Houser, Johnston, Roy Magers and Joe Majors.

Program for next week is in charge of Joe Majors and Harry Mayes. President Harrison was out of town and vice president Harry Dodson was in charge.

Johnny Weissmuller Brenda Joyce Starred New Jungle Thriller

"Tarzan and the Amazon" a Gripping Adventure of Primitive Hero with a Strange Lost Tribe of Women in Africa at the Palace Sunday and Monday.

The champion of Tarzan of all time, Johnny Weissmuller, again dons his jungle costume for his ninth portrayal of the role, in "Tarzan of the Amazons". Sol Lesser's newest production for RKO Radio release, which presents Brenda Joyce as heroine and again his little Johnny Sheffield in the role of Boy.

Revolving around a strange race of women living in a secret and nearly inaccessible valley in the heart of Africa, the new offering is crammed with adventure and action in typical Tarzan style.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Reeves of Wichita Falls spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kirsh.

A number of residences in town have added an extra room or two, screened in porches, received new coat of paint, a new roof or new windows and doors. When building materials and workmen are available, many home owners plan extensive repairs and additions.

Firemen Answered Grass Fire Tuesday

Volunteer Firemen were called out Tuesday noon to control a grass fire on West Fourth. The blaze was brought under control before any damage resulted. After the truck arrived Firechief Frank Kelley directed firemen to backfire on the West of the vacant lots to burn grass and weeds which were shoulder high.

As grass and weeds begin to die there are many fire hazards in all parts of town. When the wind is still these places should be burned off at the earliest opportunity time. If the hazards are near buildings that would catch fire easily, every precaution should be taken to prevent loss of property. If you have a dangerous spot to burn off which you doubt that you will be able to control, don't set it, until the hose is connected to the hydrant.

Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock the fire truck was called out again to smother another grass fire on West Third street.

PEACE BE WITH US

Praying, dying, laboring and fighting have brought about the settlement for which we have waited so long—the peace. The persistent efforts of united nations to win has brought to a conclusion the most horrible war in history. Rejoicing for personal reasons, in the interest of all men, the harried souls make merry in celebration. Victory brings elation, extreme jubilation records a world stripped for emotion, generally uncontrolled. The elaboration dies and the approach of normalcy comes with the morrow. Then, the session with ourselves with what next.

Does peace mean security? The future of the world, general living standards, race and cultural relationships of nations and peoples, correcting causes of war, are major points to consider. Japan's feeling of a divine right of conquest, Germany's of supremacy through superiority, shows need of reeducation to develop different attitudes for any security. The reforming must go into all places, the repressing of Japanese and Germans in domestic changes will be a step in the right direction. However, these ideas for tomorrow's thinking are to be shoveled until then, today we hurry. The result of crushing our enemy is a joyful occasion, but not a solemn consideration for these American homes where sons will not return. This makes the heart sad in the midst of revelry, the ceremony is not without its tears and crepe.

To qualify us for the true appreciation of peace we must have given some of ourselves to the war. There are few in Burkburnett who cannot freely take part, in sincerity, in the reward of deliverance from destruction. We have come again through the fire but are we cleansed, purified, revitalized, to do better building tomorrow. Do we expect to have contributed our part, and plan to reject international problems of relations and security as yesterday's bad news and assume an angle of sticking our heads in the sand, slumbering and smuggling into our cozy corner and regretting that everyone can't have such a wonderful land as America?

Peace be praised and may its power envelope the hearts of everyone, may its light shine into every dark corner of a blasted, shaken world, its shape imprint itself on every mind for evermore. We thank God for the heprieve from oblivion, wretchedness and condemnation. Carry us into the new days ahead with courage and spirit, with the determination to produce a society that hungers so much for peace that it will WORK to maintain it, rather than have to DIE to obtain it.

ATOMIC BOMBS

The secret weapon, the atomic bomb, might have been Germany's had not war ended when it did. Used on the Jap mainland, it came as a devastation so unbelievable in its ruin that the earth trembles. Atoms, as a scientific subject, have been over the heads of most of us in Burkburnett, who have not been educated to understand the force, but all of us can visualize a terrifying engine that is 2,000 times more forceful than the 22,000 pound British block-buster. We are awed by even the thought of this most destructive weapon known to mankind. It doesn't take a scientific mind to realize civilization could be erased virtually, from the earth. It may be a stronger talking point for peace than any conference of any number of nations. However, it must be kept controlled.

History

As revealed by the files of the Star 17 years ago.

Last Thursday evening, August 16, the A. F. & A. M. lodge members and their families motored to the pretty Lions Club Park, about three miles south of town, for a watermelon feast.

Interesting talks were made by the former Methodist pastor, Rev. M. L. Hamilton, of this city, now of Gainesville; R. H. Henry and R. S. Ragsdale.

The Burkburnett Band with their director, E. L. Nichols, entertained about four hundred and fifty guests.

Iced cold watermelon was served and a general good time was reported.

Jack Brumley, Bill Carrell, R. S. Ragsdale, Jack Chatham, Herman Draper and J. A. Standly, and several cars from Wichita Falls, made a tour Wednesday of Olney, Archer City, New Castle, South Bend, Eliasville, Padgett, Orth, Profit and Graham in the interest of Sam Spence's candidacy for District Attorney. They report a very favorable trip.

Frank Watkins, who has been employed with the Caro Motor Co., has accepted a position as night jailer in Wichita Falls.

Rev. and Mrs. M. B. Hays and son, who returned home here Tuesday, report an enjoyable 10 days' vacation, visiting in Mitchell county, near Colorado, Texas; fishing in Lake Kemp, and spending last Sunday in Seymour.

The Pump House of the Magnolia Company water station, on the Prescott farm southeast of town, was practically destroyed by fire Monday morning. The origin of the fire is unknown. The station is being rebuilt as rapidly as possible.

Jack Duke recently received a very interesting letter from a nephew in China. It came air mail and is one of the longest and most interesting we have seen. He is Randolph Duke, Corporal in the Signal Service. Read the letter:

Dear Uncle Jack:
It's been sometime since I have written you and lots of things have happened since my last letter. Yes, I am a long ways from Ceylon now. Can not tell you exactly where I am but it is in China. Was a thrilling trip as we flew up in one of the Army's big transport planes. It is surprising how comfortable it is to fly. We came over the world's highest mountains and their ridge called the "Hump". It is supposed to be the world's roughest country. It is easy to see why it has taken so long to run the Japs out.

This climate is certainly different than the tropics. We sleep under 4 blankets and they feel just right. Can't say I like to wear my wools after wearing cottons so long. We sleep in 6 man tents that are on the "ground floor." The biggest problem around here is keeping clean. Don't think the desert has anything on us for dust.

You would marvel at the crude ancient way these people farm. All the ground is chopped up by a mattock and then beat in powder-like fineness by flaying the ground like a person is thrashing by hand. The Chinks believe in putting everything back into the ground that comes out—even including human manure. Of course the smell is wonderful when the wind blows our way.

The town that we are near is the dirtiest, smelliest place I have ever been in. I thought I had seen everything but you never cease to wonder when you are in the far east. It is interesting to see some of the most modernist shops next to tumble down one. The shops have many things that we can't get in the states. For example, you can buy almost any type of an alarm clock or watch you care to. But the price makes it prohibitive. The inflation is terrific. A decent meal will cost around $4 to $5. The government pays us in American currency and we have to go on the black market for exchange. The current exchange is around $550 Chinese dollars to one American dollar. It changes just like a stock market.

If I know a Duke, you would get a kick out of looking at these teasing split nightgowns (Pardon me, I mean dresses) that these gals wear. They split them up the side just enough to make you curious to see what is farther up. Ho. Guess we copied our American pajamas from Chinese costume. The color is blue—reminds me "My Little Alice Blue Gown." If you find time drop line as I will always be glad to hear from you.

By Walter Shead WNU Correspondent

MEMBERS of the 79th congress are now back in their home towns for their summer vacations, lasting until congress convenes again on October 8.

This session will go down in history as the one that abruptly reversed the traditional isolationist policy of self-sufficiency, to one of full co-operation with other nations on military, social, economic and cultural questions.

Ratification of the United Nations charter by the senate, adoption of the Bretton Woods agreement, the Reciprocal Trade agreements and the Agricultural and Food agreements by both houses of congress mark important milestones in the life of the nation toward world peace and security.

But this reporter feels that the congress adjourned for the summer it did so with some trepidation over sins of omission. It had left undone many things necessary to safeguard our domestic economy.

Grave Matters Shelved

It did nothing on full employment, except to hold some belated hearings on the Murray bill, introduced last January. It did nothing on the "human" side of reconversion, such as acting on President Truman's proposal for an emergency $25 per week for 26 weeks for laid-off workers.

It did nothing about sub-standard wages among some 17 million white collar and other workers to raise minimum wages to at least 65 cents an hour. It did nothing about enlarging the social security program to include farmers and small business and professional men as provided in the Murray - Wagner bill.

It did nothing about the report of the Mead War Investigating committee which urged immediate control of all war agencies by the office of war mobilization, and severely criticized government delay in reconversion plans. It did nothing about government work programs to tide over any emergency.

It did rush through a measure intended to give some tax relief to business, but did nothing about a general interim tax revision, considered necessary for reconversion.

We Will Be Unready For Peace

This twinge of conscience was apparent in a meeting of some 20 senators and a published outline of a program of pending legislation, made the day before adjournment. The Mead committee report declared that if the war in the Pacific ends soon, it will find us largely unprepared to overcome our domestic problems. Unless reconversion is speeded up, unemployment on a large scale will ensue.

Many folks here believe that end of the Jap war will come within the next two to four months, and the feeling among those in position to know best is divided about half and half on that proposition. Congressional leaders apparently are among the 50 per cent who look for a longer war in the Pacific.

Another thing left undone was establishment of presidential succession which President Truman urged be done immediately. Many leaders here think this to be one of the most important and vitally essential questions at this time.

So if the end of the war in the Pacific does come sooner than congress thinks, the expected temporary chaos in which our domestic economy will founder can be laid directly at the door of congress. They have been forewarned, not only by the President, but by reports of conscientious and authoritative committees of their own membership.

Planning Takes Time

This business of reconversion, of getting back to normal after the war, requires planning and thinking through of tough problems on both temporary and long-range domestic questions. It cannot be done on the spur of the moment, and likely will take weeks or months after congress comes back next October.

Witnesses on the full employment bill, including senators and representatives of labor and business, were all agreed that sudden end of the war will mean "quite a period of lay-offs." Meanwhile Sen. Elbert Thomas (D., Utah) declared that legislation to boost the minimum wage under the Fair Labor Standards act from 40 to 65 cents an hour is "one of the first important measures for consideration of congress." At the same time, labor leaders are urging congress to restore War Labor board authority to order substantial wage adjustments.

Kathleen Norris Says: Don't Fool Yourself

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

"Visit little Evan on off days, borrow him for visits and keep his affection, but don't subject him to the strain of entirely new surroundings until you are a little surer of them yourself."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CAROLINE TERRY is a war widow, 27 years old. When Evan was killed, she handed her three-months-old baby over to her much older sister and took a job. The sister and her husband had two older girls. They welcomed little Evan and eventually adopted him.

Caroline, a professional nurse, has a little boy. Her husband was killed in action soon after their marriage. For a while Caroline did not know which way to turn. She was relieved when her married sister offered to take the baby. Presently this sister grew so fond of it that she and her husband wanted to adopt it, although they already had two children of their own.

Caroline consented, but later regretted it. Now she wants her son back. Her sister refuses to release him, and Caroline is thinking of legal action. It is Caroline's plan to share housekeeping with another nurse, also a war widow. This other woman has a three-year-old child. By working on different shifts, these mothers hope that one will always be at home with the children.

Caroline's letter says in part: "I know you will sympathize. I know everyone must sympathize with a mother whose one longing is to get her child into her arms. My wedded life with his father was only of a few weeks' duration. Then Evan went away to war and I discovered to my consternation that there was to be a baby. My sister comforted me, took care of me—I don't deny that. When the news of Evan's death came, I was much more shocked than grieved, staggered at the idea that I had a boy to raise. Then the offer of my sister and her husband seemed a godsend. I gladly turned him over to such love and care.

Two Widowed Nurses. "Now I am lonely. My plan is to share housekeeping with an older nurse, who has a girl of three, one of us always being with the children. She will get night duty, being at home all day. We are both widowed by the war and we believe we can build a home together. We can rent a five-room apartment for very little and turn the dining room into a playroom. I have never done any housekeeping, but can learn and will spend all my spare time with the babies. My nursing knowledge certainly will spare them many childish diseases.

"If my sister forces me to go to law to recover my child, which she and her husband suggest, would you not feel that I have a very strong case?"

Yes, Caroline, you have a strong case. It was strong in Solomon's time and it is strong today. The claim of a mother to the custody of her own child, especially in these emotional days when war-widowhood makes so strong an appeal, is undeniable.

But at the same time I advise you to leave little Evan where he is and stop fooling yourself about the possibility of two nurses, overworked as all nurses are today, taking over the care of two lively youngsters, not yet even at the nursery school stage.

True, you do have free hours. But when, at three o'clock, you finish eight hours of hospital service, you are in no condition to go home, take up the babies after naps, change your clothes and theirs, fix their cribs and blithely wheel them forth to market, to struggle with red points and shortages. As for your companion nurse, she is in a worse case, for she gets home perspiring, weary and nervous at seven in the morning, just about the time you leave and just about the time the children are at their hungriest, wettest, noisiest and most exacting.

A Constant Care. Little children of these ages never let up for an instant. If one takes a long, deep sleep in the middle of the day, the other doesn't. One of them is on the job all the time. They must be aired, amused and watched constantly, even in full health, and when colds and fevers come — as they inevitably do — they must be kept apart, specially fed, sponged, changed and comforted.

You would be very foolish to let a dream that involves so many untried elements break up an arrangement that is so fortunate for your boy. You don't know that you can live happily with this friend. You don't know anything of cooking, marketing and housework. Perhaps, you can amuse and care for your boy for a brief visit, but this won't be a brief visit.

It is far wiser to keep friendly with your sister, visit little Evan on off days, borrow him for visits and keep his affection, but don't subject him to the strain of entirely new surroundings until you are a little surer of them yourself.

We women are apt to idealize situations and imagine them far pleasanter than they are. This little boy would cause you serious worry, fatigue and responsibility. Don't invite it. Motherhood and wifehood are a long slow business, if they are to succeed, and to dream that raising a baby — or for that matter, getting your soldier home again — is going to be all roses is a mistake that thousands of our wives and mothers are going to find expensive.

Limitations of Open Kettle Canning. The open-kettle method of canning is recommended only for preserves, fruit butters, marmalades and pickles. While probably the oldest method of canning used in the home for fruits and tomatoes and is still used by many home canners, there is always the possibility of spoilage. In this method the jars as well as the food are boiled to destroy bacteria. Then the hot food is poured at once into hot containers, which are sealed quickly with rubber rings and screw caps.

I plan to live with an older nurse...

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for August 26

JACOB ADJUSTS PERSONAL RELATIONSHIPS

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 33:1-11, 17-20. GOLDEN TEXT—Let us therefore follow after the things which make for peace.—Romans 14:19.

Eventually a man's past catches up with him and he must face his own record. The Bible says, "Be sure your sin will find you out" (Num. 32:23), and it always does. Jacob, who had tricked and deceived his brother and had fled into a far country, ultimately had to return to his homeland and face Esau. The story of what happened makes up our dramatic and instructive lesson.

Before Jacob could be permitted to enter the Promised Land of his father, he had to meet God. He needed a thoroughgoing transformation of life and attitude, and he received it as he wrestled with God at Peniel (Gen. 32).

Ultimately the stubborn man had to yield, and then he found that it was God who had come to give him a great blessing. How often do we fight against the goodness and mercy of God. Yielding brings blessing; Jacob "the supplanter" became Israel "prince with God." He was now ready for

I. Reconciliation (vv. 1-7). After living for 20 years in horror of meeting Esau, Jacob now learned that his brother was coming against him with an army. He resorted to clever strategy, but this time it was done not in sly crookedness, but in an open friendly effort to win his brother's good will.

There is nothing wrong about the use of a tactful approach, and it really worked for Jacob. His courtesy was shown by his seven bows. His bravery appeared in going out first. His conciliatory attitude showed in his rich gift to his brother.

Then came a surprise. Esau proved to be a loving brother rather than a hated enemy. Blood does count, and men do well to respond to the promptings of their hearts to be affectionate toward their brethren.

Note Jacob's pride in presenting his family. God had blessed him and he rejoiced in his fine children. The scene is typically Oriental, but it shows an attitude toward one's family which we could well emulate.

Next, a very practical note entered into the reconciliation of the brethren, namely:

II. Restitution (vv. 8-11). The gift which Jacob had prepared for Esau was in the Oriental tradition, and yet it bore also the nature of a restoration of something of that which Jacob had taken from Esau in defrauding him of his birthright.

There is a place for proper restitution in every case where we have wronged another by taking his possessions or destroying his opportunities to prosper. Becoming a Christian is a forgetting of those things which are behind (Phil. 3:13) in a spiritual sense, but not in the ignoring of our obligations to others. What we can make right we must make right if we want God's blessing.

Esau was generous and did not want the gift, but since it would have been an affront to his brother to refuse, he accepted it. There are proprieties in life and little courtesies to be observed. Failure at this point has created much friction even between believers. Being a Christian should make one gentlemanly and ladylike. Let's remember that!

Then, too, Jacob was wise in putting Esau under the friendly obligation which is inherent in the acceptance of a gift. Those who are stingy and close-fisted about giving to others often find that their lack of generosity has reflected in their lack of friends.

The time has come for the brothers to part, and we find Jacob falling into his old trickery as he prepares to return.

III. Return (vv. 17-20). The portion between verses 11 and 17 indicate that instead of going on in straightforward dealings with Esau, Jacob resorts to evasion in order to be free to go where he would in his return to his fatherland.

Instead of going back to Bethel the place of blessing (Gen. 28), to which Jacob had been called (Gen. 31:11-13), he went to Succoth and ultimately to the outskirts of Shechem where his family fell into great sin. Ultimately, God did get him back to Bethel (Gen. 35), but only after much sorrow and suffering.

Jacob was called to live the life of a shepherd out in the fields with God, and when he pitched his tent near Shechem he compromised and lost out.

The incident pictures the tragic result of such folly in our day. Those who will not move over into the worldly life want to be close enough to it so that their children may have the cultural and educational advantages, and soon they find that they have lost their children to the world and have lost the savor of their own spiritual experience.

What you NEED is SLOAN'S LINIMENT

What are the two most important words we have learned in this war?

NOT long ago, Russian armies were lined up on the Oder, facing desperate Nazi resistance before Berlin. On the 14th of February, nearly 4,000 bombers and fighters, part British, part American, flew to that vital sector and smashed at enemy strong points and concentrations. Some planes actually unloaded their bombs only 12 miles in front of the Russian spearhead!

That was Combined Operations. In Burma, a British Admiral led tough U. S. Rangers, Tommies from all parts of the Empire, Indian Gurkhas and Sikhs, Chinese foot soldiers, carrying weapons made in Bridgeport. All wore different uniforms. But all shared in their hearts a single determination—to destroy the arch-destroyers, to conquer the common enemy.

That is Combined Operations—two words that affect the future of mankind. We have learned the lesson that to win this war we had to fight side by side with our allies, regardless of race, religion or politics.

And now, with durable peace within our grasp, we cannot abandon that lesson. Unity, efficiency, fellowship, international cooperation must be continued. Every American citizen, every man and woman in the nation, has a definite contribution to make toward seeing that a permanent international body to maintain peace be made a going concern.

We must add our strength to the surging movement toward unity among all men of good-will in every part of the globe. We must pledge our unwavering support to that movement, give our statesmen and legislators the support they need to make it effective. We must determine to make the necessary start, even though the first step is not as altogether perfect as we might wish.

Will you play your part in this greatest of all Combined Operations? Will you take your place in the ranks with your fellow men in the striving toward permanent peace? First, get and keep yourself informed about the specific proposals for peace and international cooperation which are now before us. Read and listen to the discussions of them. Ask your Public Library for material on them.

Second, interest your friends in these questions. Get them discussed in any social, labor, business, religious or other groups to which you belong. Third, say what you think—for or against—in writing, to your Congressman and Senators, to your newspaper. Declare yourself. Speak up.

Work today for peace, that your children may live tomorrow.

Rules For Mailing Yule Gifts Overseas

Millions of Christmas gifts go overseas again this year to our armed forces. It will be especially difficult to deliver these gifts safely and on time, the Army and Navy point out, unless families of service men and women cooperate in starting them off right. The following rules are therefore suggested for mailing Christmas packages abroad.

If your soldier is en route home or about to come home, don't send him a Christmas package.

Use his latest address and be sure it's complete and accurate; name-rank, serial number, organization and unit, APO, in care of Postmaster at port embarkation. Address it—then check it.

Mail Christmas gifts overseas from September 15 to October 15. In the Army, this is the only time you can mail a parcel overseas without a written request from your soldier. But—

If there's reason to believe he may move to a new location, it's safer to wait till you can mail your gift to the new address—even if this means asking him for a letter requesting your gift so that you can mail it after October 15.

Use a heavy box and strong cord. (Government-approved overseas boxes can be bought at retail stores.)

Send only usable gifts like tinned dried fruit, canned luxury foods, razor blades, fountain pens, wallets, watches, etc.

Don't mail perishable foods, intoxicants, weapons, poisons, and all inflammable materials, including matches and lighter fluids.

Your package must not weigh over 5 pounds. It must not be more than 15 inches in length and girth combined.

Navy gifts should be sent during the same period—from Sept. 15 to Oct. 15. However, gifts destined for Navy, Marine or Coast Guard personnel may be sent throughout the year without a written request.

Mail Christmas cards any time but seal them and put on first class postage.

There are no true cedars native to this country. However, seven evergreens are popularly so-called.

"Mind" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 26.

The Golden Text is: "Blessed be the name of God for ever and ever: for wisdom and might are his—he giveth wisdom unto the wise, and knowledge to them that know understanding" (Daniel 2-20, 21.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Behold, God is mighty, and despiseth not any: he is mighty in strength and wisdom" (Job 36:5.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The exterminator of error is the great truth that God is the only Mind, and that the supposititious opposite of infinite Mind—called devil or evil—is not Mind, is not Truth, but error, without intelligence or reality" (page 469.)

COMPLETE VICTORY! Japs Agree to All Terms Of Potsdam Declaration; MacArthur Gets High Post

By AL JEDLIKA

Forty years after its armies marched into Korea to establish a foothold on the Asiatic mainland, Japan's course of imperial conquest came to a dramatic end on the evening of August 14 with the unqualified acceptance of the Potsdam declaration subscribed to by the U. S., Britain, China and Russia.

With the Allied powers consenting to his retention on the throne to assure the surrender of Japanese armies scattered throughout Asia and the submission of the homeland to the stiff terms imposed, Emperor Hirohito ordered the nation to lay down its arms as the Tokyo radio reported thousands of downcast subjects bowed in grief before the gates of the imperial palace lamenting their defeat.

Having led American ground forces back over the vast tracts of the Pacific to the doorstep of Japan following the crippling blow at Pearl Harbor, General MacArthur was designated to accept the Nipponese surrender along with representatives of the other Allied nations.

Coming four days after Tokyo's first offer to give up the fight provided the emperor's sovereignty was respected, and three months after V-E day, Japan's surrender was greeted with wild enthusiasm throughout the U. S.

In accepting the Allied terms, Japan agreed to the total reduction of its once proud empire, with hope for the future based upon the organization of a free democracy within the home islands of Honshu, Kyushu, Hokkaido and Shikoku.

Under the Potsdam ultimatum, Japan must eliminate the influence of those elements which have encouraged conquest; give up Manchuria, Korea and other overseas acquisitions; disarm all armed forces; permit the revival of democracy and freedom of speech, religion and thought; and submit to Allied occupation of designated points in the homeland until post-war security has been established.

At the same time, Japan was promised an opportunity for orderly development once a peaceful government had been created, with retention of such industries as would maintain its internal economy and eventual access to raw materials and world trade.

The war ended just as the atomic bomb threatened the obliteration of Japan's sprawling industrial settlements, with Hiroshima and Nagasaki already badly mangled by the terrific blasts.

Packing an explosive force 20,000 times greater than TNT, the atomic bomb's destructive capacity so far exceeded that of ordinary missiles that it brought a quick reaction from a government that had planned continuation of the conflict from underground bastions despite increasing B-29 attacks.

Besides threatening to lay Japan waste, the atomic bomb also was credited with blowing Russia into the conflict, thus bringing the total Allied weight to bear against the Nipponese. In all, these two events served to climax the growing tempo of the Allied drive in the Pacific, which saw U. S. forces virtually sitting on Japan's doorstep at the cessation of hostilities.

Japan's Imperial Ambitions Led to War

Before the Twentieth century Japan's imperial ambitions were restricted to Korea, the coast of China and some neighboring islands in the Japanese sea. Japanese leaders suddenly realized the power of western armament. During the next half century Japan was modernized so successfully that the Japanese victories over China in 1894, and Russia in 1905 were swift and conclusive.

With the navy and air force carrying the fight to the enemy, and with army and marine troops slashing forward in island to island fighting, the war in the Pacific rates as one of the bloodiest in history.

From the very beginning the U. S. encountered a bitter and fanatical foe, ardent and well disciplined, willing to fight to the last cartridge even when completely enveloped. All through the war, the toll of Jap killed far surpassed the number captured, indicating the nature of their defense.

Because of the close teamwork required in the over-all operations, it would be difficult to single out one outstanding hero, though General MacArthur's fiery stand against the enemy in the early stages of the conflict and his later redemption of lost territories made him the symbol of the American spirit.

Beside the name of MacArthur must be added those of Admiral Nimitz, who directed U. S. naval operations in the vast Pacific theater, and General Le May, whose B-29s seriously reduced Japan's industrial potential in repeated heavy raids.

Recovering quickly from the black days immediately after Pearl Harbor, when the Nipponese overran much of the Pacific, the U. S. checked the enemy tide in the spring of 1942, when the American fleet stopped the Japs' southeastward drive in the battle of the Coral sea and then thwarted their eastward surge at Midway.

From then on, the U. S., building up tremendous military and material strength under a unified front at home, was on the march, with the Japanese seeking time to consolidate their newly won position as the overruling Asiatic power by bitter delaying action in their outposts.

With the navy severing vital Japanese supply lines to these outposts, and with the ground forces isolating enemy units into disorganized resistance pockets on invaded islands, the American advance in the Pacific far exceeded expectations, with the end of the European war finding U. S. sea, land and air forces perched right on Nippon's doorstep.

Though the main body of Japanese troops had not been touched by the steady U. S. advances westward, the American navy's mastery of the sea lanes as far as the Chinese coast interrupted the shipment of vital material to the home islands for industrial processing, and the B-29s' terrific bombardment of manufacturing centers greatly curtailed output.

With deliveries of materials cut, and output dwindling, the effectiveness of an estimated 4,000,000 remaining enemy troops stood to be severely limited. On top of it all, Russia's invasion of Manchuria and threat to Jap-held China promised to tap the only remaining important enemy industrial source outside the homeland.

Coast-to-Coasting:

Herman Shumlin, Broadway-made director, now a Hollywood wage-slave (at what a wage!) is hot for realism. For a scene in a film with Charles Boyer and Lauren Bacall, he wanted a photo of a bullet hitting a wall—and he wanted it authoritatively authentic. At 2 o'clock in the morning, he got four Warner let cops to stand off and pop their 44's at a studio wall and had each shot shot from several angles. . . . He still didn't get just what he was after. . . . But, came the dawn, H. M. Warner sent for his whole force and demanded to know—what crackpot had been shooting up his bungalow? It's right past the wall. The place looked like Berlin!

Mike Romanoff, the Great Pretender, who now owns the most prosperous cafe in California, has won his naturalization papers, thus disproving canards that his Imperial Highballness was born in Brooklyn. Mike is a native of London. Strangely, his true name is Romanoff, which gave him his original inspiration to "adopt" the czarist clan. He says he will definitely not change the monicker now to Mike Stalin. . . . Dr. Irving Berman, Hollywood eye specialist, has it figured out that persons with normal sight should sit four times the height of the screen from the screen. Bring your own tape-measure!

The Commies in and around the movie industry have set up such an organized and agitated howl against a proposed Red probe that their activities are accentuating the positive far more than another official investigation is likely to. That Hollywood is crummy with every shade of bolsy lovers is obvious to anyone who can see or hear. A recent California legislative survey turned up conditions even more malodorous than surface symptoms had indicated. Stars, producers, executives—with no understanding of what the Russian system means—plug for it. Crimson propaganda creeps into costly films. Anyone who thinks democracy and a republic are pretty sweet is a fascist isolationist; anyone who thinks we're lend-lease like fools is a Tory reactionary. The victory of the radicals in Britain was toasted and celebrated in mansions and swank cafes in the community which glorifies the Soviets and squawks about high U. S. income taxes in the same breath!

Tim Gayle has left Fred Waring exploitation to start another musical mag, "Preview." He formerly published "The Baton." He was going to call his new periodical "Finale," but Westbrook Pegler, whose advice he asked, didn't like that—said it sounded pessimistic. Peg also said in his letter: "I think anyone who starts a business enterprise today on his own money deserves either a medal or a scholarship in Matteawan. Anything that old Sam doesn't take away from you, in the improbable event that you make a dollar in the first place, will be taken by the unions and the lawyers whose services will be necessary to keep you out of prison from day to day." And Peg advises against pessimism!

Hollywood is where: A fortune rides on the turn of ankle or the tilt of a nose; everything is so irresponsible and goofy that a dozen new millionaires emerge every year; everybody wears slacks and owns race-horses; biggies loves yemen and hire high-priced monitors to stop them from doing what they'd love to do; everyone denies that the movies are just entertainment and insists the screen is a medium of education, culture, enlightenment and patriotism; and the cast and crew of "The Kid from Brooklyn" put in 48,400 man-hours in a prize fight sequence that runs 3 minutes 14 seconds, when you see it.

Connie Bennett is back again, just a trouper on the payroll. Her ambitious venture as a producer came rather a cropper. . . . "Paris Underworld," a great story, was washed out with VE Day. But Connie had fun while it lasted—ordering people around, refusing this, turning down that, one Constance picnic.

Freddie Sterle, ex-middleweight champ, couldn't get East for the "Story of G.I. Joe" premiers, but Pvt. Robert Mitchum (who plays the captain) got travel priority because he's in the army. Both are film finds and will be heard from plenty more. . . . Faye Emerson is heart-sick. A few months ago she blazed up as Elliot Roosevelt's bride, daughter-in-law of the President. Since then, she's had some tough publicity breaks and the Roosevelt name no longer works magic. Soon Elliot will be back in private life.

Empty salt bags, after being washed in hot suds, can be used as individual shoe bags for storing evening slippers. Or, they can be slipped over shoes to be packed for a journey.

MAKE ICE CREAM LONDON DERRY Brand Homemade Ice Cream STABILIZER. A teaspoon of lemon juice added to each quart of water in which rice is cooked, will make the rice whiter and more fluffy. Water hanging plants with ice cubes to prevent spattering. But do not place cube near center of plant. Screens are comfortable, but they don't afford much privacy. Fool the neighbors.
