R. H. Henry Thanks Contributors to Cancer Control

R. H. Henry, chairman of the Cancer Control fund drive in Burk Burnett has authorized this paper to express his thanks to all who contributed and to all those who worked in the interest of the campaign.

The drive is officially over, though contributions are still being turned in to A. R. Hill, treasurer, at the bank. Mr. Henry states the hoped for amount was not received, but that he is well satisfied with the 100 per cent approval of the campaign by all who expressed themselves. This was the first nation-wide drive for funds for Cancer Control. Few people realize the high percentage of deaths from cancer. Another factor, this drive followed on the heels of numerous drives in the past few months. The ground work done this year will make the campaign easier another year.

Irma Ned Riley Honor Guest For 5th Birthday Party

Little Irma Ned's fifth birthday was the inspiration for a lovely party in her honor given by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Riley Thursday, April 22nd, at her home at 604 East 4th Street. This beautifully planned party was held in the afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock. Assistant hostesses with Mrs. Riley were Mrs. A. C. Auld, Mrs. Jimmy Holly and Mrs. M. W. (Mother) Majors.

The party rooms were attractively decorated with spring flowers. In the dining room, the refreshment table was particularly effective with its cover of lace and an arrangement of pink, blue and yellow flowers. All the hostesses wore dainty corsages harmonizing with the decorative color theme of pink, blue and yellow. Irma Ned's corsage was of deep pink, in pleasing contrast with her powder blue dress.

Arriving guests were greeted by Irma Ned. When all were assembled, Mother Majors related the story of how the rabbit lost his long tail. Immediately following, the children played a game based upon the story, with Diane Brookshier the winner for the girls and James Randel Hamner, winner for the boys. Active games out of doors followed. The little guests returned to the dining room to sing "Happy Birthday to You," as Irma Ned blew out the five candles on her cake. The little honoree was then presented with a lovely collection of miscellaneous gifts from her friends. The refreshment plate carried a dainty favor for each child and Irma Ned had a special gift for Mother-Majors.

Guests for this delightful party included: Mur Ann Elliott, Tony Auld, Scotty Carey, Jimmy Holly, Kayrene Davis, Jan Carey, James Randel Hamner, Diane Brookshier, Mike Morris, Shirley Ann Reynolds, Grady Grizzle, Sue Carter, Diane Buck-Hooper, Lee Coleman, Judy Hooper, Janice Ruth Wright, Bobbie Sullivan, Kay Dulaney, Bobby Bolinger, Laura Sue Stacy, Brenda Nunn, Glenn Veach, and the honoree, Irma Ned. Mesdames M. W. Majors, A. C. Auld, Jimmy Holly, Chris Morris, J. D. Grizzle, Ralph Brookshier, Jr., and Reva Wright.

Rotary Members Enjoy Talk Of Telephone Man

Tuesday noon Rotary members and their guests listened to a most unusual and instructive talk on "High Waves of Communication."

President Clark Gresham was in charge of the meeting. M. C. Tucker introduced guests. Harold VanLoh in charge of the program introduced George Hutson of the Information Department of the Southwestern Bell Telephone, of Dallas.

Mr. Hutson, who has been with the telephone company 12 years, has discussed with scientists in the world what lies ahead in the field of communications. He reports these findings in layman's language.

Micro-Wave Demonstration: — Micro-Waves were beamed unseen through the air from a transmitter to trip a relay and light a small bulb atop a receiver some 10 feet away. These waves, no longer than a cigarette, vibrated at the rate of 10,000,000,000 times per second in making the trip. They are the key to future communications whereby people will be able to talk by telephone from automobiles, trains, airplanes and ships at sea to any other telephone in the world. Mr. Hutson demonstrated the remarkable behavior of these mysterious waves which we never see, hear or feel, but which have a great bearing on our lives today, and will have even greater importance in years to come. The micro-wave beam pierced a sheet of cardboard and a section of plywood, singly and together, but could not get through Hutson's hand. It could get through a grill held with lines in horizontal position was blocked when the grill lines were vertical. The explanation for this phenomena was that these waves are polarized — or travel like waves on the ocean.

Automobile Telephone Service: Utilizing short waves, the speaker explained how telephones in automobiles traveling principal highways in the State of Texas would be able to make or receive calls from any other telephones. With the aid of charts he showed the tentative locations of 23 radio towers which will act as sending stations for the highway radio telephone network.

Here's how it works: Say your wife at home wants to call you in your automobile. She gives the operator your number (your car has a private number just as your home does) and connection is made from the central telephone office to the central transmitter station, and from there is beamed direct to your car, where your telephone is mounted in a small box under the dashboard. A bell rings and a small light on the box flashes. You take the handset from the box, press a small button in the middle of the handle which enables you to tell the other party to go ahead. You release the button to let the conversation flow, then press it again when you wish to reply.

In the back of your car is a small transmitter about the size of an average table model radio, and atop your car is a slender antenna. Incoming sounds are beamed direct from the central transmitter. Your reply goes from your transmitter to the nearest receiver tower then by wire to your home via the telephone office.

Nationwide Operator Dialing: Another development for the future made possible by an almost unlimited number of voice channels through use of micro-waves was outlined by Mr. Hutson. This development will make it possible for an operator to dial directly any telephone number in the United States with a maximum of 10 pulls of a dial—since no telephone number will have more than 10 digits. Such a plan will necessitate a universal numbering system throughout the nation.

Hutson explained that a maximum of 10,000,000,000 individual telephone number combinations were possible from the 10 digits on a telephone dial. He demonstrated the path of such a call through various carrier channels between Uvalde, Texas and Portland, Maine.

Other Development:

1. Television.
2. Overseas Telephone Service.
3. Vacuum tubes - Giant Overseas tube - Peanut Tube for

C. O. Smith To Open Flower Shop Here May First

C. O. Smith started raising flowers some 15 years ago as a hobby. Now he is devoting his full time to the hobby which has grown to a large enterprise.

Effective May 1st Mr. Smith will leave the First National Bank in Wichita Falls as an employee. He had been with the bank for more than 22 years. His hobby of growing flowers developed into the only wholesale nursery in this area. It got so large he could not look after two jobs and decided to give up banking in favor of his hobby.

May first Mr. Smith will open a retail flower shop in connection with his nursery, which is located at the South end of the Oklahoma Cut-off road. He states he intends to have on hands at all times a select stock of fresh cut flowers and pot plants. The opening of the flower shop will not mean that the wholesale nursery products will be discontinued. Quite the contrary. Mr. Smith has expanded his nursery. This spring he put out 25,000 nursery plants such as evergreens, etc. He also planted 40,000 gladioli bulbs.

The retail flower shop opens Saturday, May 1st. Mr. Smith extends an invitation to flower lovers to visit his shop and nursery.

Date of the formal opening is to be announced later.

CLEAN UP

Everything seems to take money, but there is something that those who take pride in their home town can do, without a great expenditure of cash. It is more a point of time than of cost, to use energy and effort to clean up one's town. Most Burk Burnett neighborhoods work to improve the appearance of homes, yards and alleys. Clean-up drives are popular in every city. Officials, civic groups, garden clubs, health organizations, sponsor campaigns to beautify their municipality.

Tin cans, ashes, refuse of all kinds, seem to accumulate in spite of us. Such detracts from the appearance of a community, is also a fire hazard and costs in life and property. Housewives take care in keeping attics, basements and garages free of "waste," for they know the danger of accumulating trash.

There is satisfaction in working to make houses, lawns, yards neat, of clearing unsightly vacant lots of rubbish. Tree lined streets, flower beds, neat houses, clean business blocks, attract the attention of those who pass through our town. But those who live here receive the most benefit. Each individual profits from his own civic pride.

NOT CLEAR SAILING

American farmers will meet increased acreage demand, but are keeping their fingers crossed. Increasing production during the war, then for the years following when food demands have been so critical, the farmers found a ready market and high prices. But, the farmer looks to the future and has questions to ask. He wonders if we will be at war when harvest comes, whether the land is depleted beyond repair by planting such abundant crops, whether there will be a market for the increased production, if there will be a price slump, what risk there will be about weather. As long as the world needs food, this answers a part, but distribution and currency are factors, also. When certain hungry countries are able to produce enough for themselves it means the American farmer must look for another market. Some around Burk Burnett, suffered a loss when markets and prices slumped after World War I and they want to avoid this happening to them again.

Spring finds agriculturists cooperating to harvest about three million acres more ground this year than last and their chief concern right now, is the weather. There is a big task but not a thankless job, for their success in helping to keep the world's cupboard supplied, as acknowledged at home and cheered abroad.

Chick Chats

(By Clark Gresiam)

CECAL COCCIDIOSIS THREAT IN SPRING

An extremely prevalent disease of growing chickens at this time of the year is cecal coccidiosis, an acute infection caused by microscopic one-cell organisms called coccidia. This disease attacks chicks and growing birds on what is practically a nation-wide scale. Occurrence of cecal coccidiosis is most frequent in the spring and early summer.

This acute form of coccidiosis appears in the flock suddenly. Affected birds may lose appetites, appear listless, huddle where it is warm, and show other general symptoms of infection. The first positive symptom of cecal coccidiosis is the appearance of bloody droppings; these come from hemorrhaging of the ceca (blind intestinal sacs) where the infection localizes.

Cecal coccidiosis may spread swiftly through the flock. In the event of an outbreak, the flock-owner should act immediately to check the spread. This may be accomplished by giving the flock certain arsenic compounds (such as 3-nitro 4-hydroxy phenylarsonic acid) or certain sulfas. Both of these families of drugs have proven effective in controlling cecal coccidiosis.

Sanitary measures are highly important in controlling outbreaks of cecal coccidiosis as well as in preventing them. In either case, the poultry house or yard should be kept as clean as possible. Although the importance of moisture in the development of the disease is disputed by some poultry disease specialists, dampness does seem to be a predisposing factor in many outbreaks.

Water founts and feed hoppers should be kept clean and sanitary. During an outbreak, disinfect them at least once daily. Stir up the litter of the house. Stimulate consumption of feed.

Although cecal coccidiosis is certainly one of the leading deadly diseases of young chickens, it can be rather effectively controlled through careful sanitation, medication and management.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Keith and boys visited last week-end in Breckenridge with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Keith.

Famous St. Bernards
Seek Rescue Work

Modern means of travel have rendered the famous St. Bernard Hospice in Switzerland almost unnecessary. It is to be closed after nearly 1,000 years of service. The monks and dogs will live in the Rhone Valley from now on.
Its head, Prior Lucien Gailloud, has explained that the hospice is not to be abandoned completely. Four dogs will stay for rescue work. Some time ago several dogs were sent to Tibet to establish in the mountains a branch of the Great St. Bernard Hospice. The kennels for the famous dogs are located at Martigny.

Methodist CHURCH
MINGA
Pastor

This week in Boston the General Conference of the Methodist Church begins its sessions. Delegates from all over the world have assembled there to consider the interests of Methodism. Rev. Bolton Boone, our District Superintendent, is a delegate. Methodists are asked to pray for this meeting. Tune in your radios at 7:30 Sunday morning to hear the Methodist hour which will originate this week in Boston. The preacher will be Bishop Paul B. Kern.

It will be only five weeks until the Annual Conference convenes in Dallas. Our church must have its finances up to date by that time. We have cared for our increased budget, the newly acquired property, the pipe organ, and the elevator. But our offering for the Youth Camp at Bridgeport is not all in. If you are a member or friend of this church be sure to pay your part in this great enterprise in the next few weeks. This Youth Camp will be a great asset to our young people for years to come.

Come to church school and the morning and evening services this Sunday. You will enjoy the music and fellowship, and the messages will give you encouragement and hope. You need the church; the church needs you. Be at church this Sunday.

PARAMOUNT'S "ROAD TO RIO" STARS CROSBY, HOPE, LAMOUR

Those two irrepressible, irresistible kingpins of laughter — Bing Crosby and Bob Hope are headed this way in their newest Paramount comedy, "Road to Rio," which co-stars them with Dorothy Lamour and which arrives Sunday at the Palace Theatre.

"Road to Rio", as the title clearly indicates, has the boys invading South America with strictly North American gags and antics. According to advance reports it is the funniest of all the "Road" pictures, which ought to make it positively uproarious. Leading assistance to that end are Gale Snodergaard, Frank Faylen, the Wiers Brothers, and the Andrews Sisters.

The story presents Bing and Bob as a couple of irresponsible musicians who find it expedient to stow away on board a luxury ship bound for Rio. Their adventure on shipboard and in Rio revolve about their endeavors to free Miss Lamour from the nefarious plotting of her guardian, portrayed by Miss Snodergaard, who has designs on Dotty's fortune. Before the boys are able to accomplish their purpose they are involved in all kinds of hair-breadth escapes, a zany duel and a wedding fiesta at which they are the targets for some wild shenanigans. All of it is said to be in the gayest of spirits and played with no regard for sense, but every regard for the risibilities.

Sorority Banquet Held at A. C. C.

The Delta Theta's 27th annual spring banquet was held in the Ball Room of the Wooten Hotel April 17.

A reception was held preceding the banquet in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Harper and each guest was presented with a boutonniere.

Betty May of Burkburnett is one of the members, and had as her guest Abe Lincoln.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Blum, students at Texas Tech, Lubbock, visited last week-end with his mother and grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Blum and Mrs. H. D. Lewis.

College Students Admit Offenses

Texas Survey Reveals They Are Just Better at Covering Trails.

ST. LOUIS, MO.—College students indulge in the same juvenile delinquency offenses as boys and girls who do not have the opportunity for higher education, but only a few of them ever get into court, says Austin L. Porterfield of the department of sociology of Texas Christian University.

Writing in the Christian-Evangelist, a national weekly church publication, he cites a study of 2,049 alleged delinquents in Fort Worth, Tex., and of 337 college students in three schools in northern Texas.

"It is a striking fact," says Porterfield, "that 100 per cent of the men and women in college reported doing at least one of the acts that had been serious enough to get less fortunate boys and girls into the courts, but instead of getting into court the former went to college."

Everyone Guilty.

The average college man reported doing in his pre-college days 17.6 per cent of the acts charged against court cases, the average college woman 4.7 per cent of the delinquent acts.

Not one acknowledged less than three specific delinquent acts.

Specific juvenile offenses which got into the court records varied all the way from shooting spit wads to murder.

Students, answering questionnaires anonymously, freely reported delinquencies of the same kind.

These students in their pre-college days "disturbed church, turned in false fire alarms, tripped trolleys, threw rocks at cars, set off fireworks in public buildings, drove while intoxicated, stole automobiles, bicycles, money, shoplifted, burglarized houses, forged checks, gambled, passed slugs and bad coins, had pre-marital sexual intimacies, attempted rape and so on."

They Have a 'Drag.'

Thirty-nine per cent of the men and 3 per cent of the girls reported drunkenness before enrolling in college, Porterfield disclosed, and 43 per cent of the men indulged in drunkenness during their college days.

Porterfield concludes that pre-college students do not suffer the penalties of these offenses because they have plenty of persons who "go to bat" for them, friends in the home, school, church and community.

TREATY: Finns-Russ

Russia had what it wanted from Finland—a buffer state to the northwest.

The two nations signed a 10-year treaty of mutual assistance which binds Finland to fight within its own borders in the event either country is attacked.

Finland and Russia, stated the pact, would battle side by side to repel aggression by Germany "or another state allied with Germany." The treaty circumspectly failed to mention any other state by name.

Despite the fact that Finland's delegation virtually had been commanded to appear at Moscow to sign a treaty with Russia, Premier Josef Stalin beamed expansively after the agreement had been concluded, hailing it as a "treaty between equals." And he said:

"I would like to see us pass from a long period of mutual distrust against each other, to a new period in our relations—to a period of mutual trust."

Actually, the Finns got a better deal from Russia than they might have hoped for. Their nation had not been forced into a tight, arbitrary military accord with the Soviets, nor had Finland lost its sovereignty although it was brought firmly into the bloc of states along Russia's exposed western flank.

ATOM BOMB: No Secret

Secretary of Defense James Forrestal put a name and a definitive edge, after a fashion, to all the restless postwar fears Americans have been experiencing.

He did it by announcing to the house armed services committee that Russia knows how to make the atomic bomb. More specifically, the Russians possess the knowledge of how to put the bomb together but so far do not have the industrial capacity to capitalize on that knowledge.

Russia does not yet have an atom bomb, but the days of U. S. monopoly of A-bomb production are numbered, Forrestal said. He told the congressional committee that he got his information from Dr. Vannevar Bush, chairman of the U. S. research and development board.

During the course of his testimony regarding a two-year draft of men 19 through 25, the defense secretary answered queries with:

"I said they do not have the atom bomb. I did not say they do not have the secret of the atom bomb. I am informed by Dr. Bush that the scientific knowledge and technical procedure involved in the manufacture of the atom bomb are known to Russia."

Thus, U. S.-Russian relations on the atomic level had developed to the point where there was only one unknown quantity: How soon would the Soviets acquire the industrial capacity to produce atom bombs?

Secretary Forrestal admitted he didn't know.

Italian Style

U. S. Ambassador to Italy James Clement Dunn (right) peers benevolently at an Italian worker in Taranto as he tastes grain that was among the foodstuffs delivered aboard the 500th relief ship to bring food to Italy.

CONTROLS: Cold Shoulder

The jeering specter of price, wage and ration controls was invoked again by President Truman's council of economic advisers which called for nationwide "discipline" to prevent inflation under the impact of the new defense program.

As usual, this advice rattled cheerlessly among the stony hearts of electroneering congressmen.

In its report covering the first three months of 1948 the council denounced the tax cut law as "inflationary" and recommended new taxes if the planned defense spending is not offset by reduced government costs in other areas.

Republican-dominated congress received rather happily the council's call for reduced government spending, but maintained a glum silence on the subject of selective price, wage and ration controls.

Congressmen indicated that they want to study possible inflationary effects of the preparedness program and foreign aid spending under the Marshall plan before they give any serious consideration to resurrecting economic controls.

Although the council admitted that foreign spending coupled with a big defense outlay "will not swamp our economy nor require us to pass from free enterprise to regimentation," it added that "some rather systematic and vigorous discipline must be exercised."

Nehemiah Rebuilds Jerusalem

Lesson for May 2, 1948

BORN and reared in Persia, Nehemiah appears in the opening scene of his prophesy as cup bearer to King Artaxerxes in the royal palace at Shushan. He was a favorite at court, due, no doubt, to his personality and training, plus a keen desire to serve his people.

Dr. Newton

He obtained a royal order from Artaxerxes, granting him passage to Jerusalem. It was a long and dangerous journey, but Nehemiah travelled not only with letters from the king but assurance in his heart that he was on the Lord's mission. He was given authority to seek help from other nations. Just how much help he received from other nations is not definitely certified, but we do know that he achieved the high purpose which God had put in his heart. He governed the city wisely for a dozen years and wrought many notable reforms. Read the first seven chapters of Nehemiah for the complete story. Read also Psalms 122: 1-9.

WHEN FRIENDS WORK TOGETHER

UPON arrival in Jerusalem, Nehemiah made a tour of the city by night. He was shocked and amazed at the ruins. He called upon the people to come and help rebuild the walls. And they were impressed with the earnestness and sincerity and courage of his will. "So built we the wall, and all the wall was joined together unto the half thereof; for the people had a mind to work," Nehemiah 4:6.

There is work for everyone who is of a willing mind. There is work in the home. Boys and girls who pitch in and share in the everyday work of the home make glad the hearts of their parents, and at the same time they are learning how to care for their own homes when they grow up.

STRENGTH AND ENCOURAGEMENT

NEHEMIAH set the people together in families, with tools for work and weapons for defense against the enemy. And in this union of numbers there was both strength and courage. We need today to learn anew this lesson of working together. So often we witness evidence of people pulling against one another. We see it in the home and in the school and in the wider areas of life—in politics and in the clash between capital and labor.

THOSE WHO OPPOSED NEHEMIAH

OUR lesson describes not only the courage and wisdom of Nehemiah in getting the Jews to work and work together, but it tells us about those who opposed the rebuilding of Jerusalem. Sanballat was the governor of Samaria, and when he heard that Nehemiah was rebuilding Jerusalem, he put in to defeat him by many schemes of sabotage.

He began with ridicule. "What do these feeble Jews?" he scoffingly asked. Ridicule is always one of the weapons of those who would tear down and destroy. Young people will do well to guard themselves against the snare of cynicism. It is a dangerous thing. Sanballat and his cohorts, Tobiah, and certain Arabians and Ammonites and Ashdodites, conspired to hinder Nehemiah in many devilous attacks; but the people worked and fought in the name of the Lord.

WHAT MAKES A REAL LEADER?

THIS is the question which will inevitably arise as we study this lesson. How could one man inspire people to undertake the impossible? First, Nehemiah relied implicitly upon God's help. Second, he threw himself into the task, fearlessly and intelligently. Third, he possessed the quality of inspiring faith and hope in others. These are the qualities that make a real leader, anywhere, any time.

How we do need such leaders today! And the Bible speaks to us, in the story of Nehemiah, reminding us how real leaders are produced. Read the 122nd Psalm. Here is the secret of it all—"They shall prosper that love thee." Every difficulty confronting the home, the community, the nation, the world, can be met and mastered, provided we tackle it in the name of the Lord, relying upon his wisdom, his strength, his poise.

Bride Elect Named Shower Honoree

A large hostess group complimented Miss Iva Jo Fields with a lovely bridal shower Monday evening, April 19 in the lower auditorium of the First Baptist Church.

Margaret Alexander presided at the bride's book as 78 registered. The bride-elect, her mother, Mrs. Ivan Fields and the groom's mother, Mrs. Doc Goins, were presented lovely corsages and seated before a huge white heart whereon played cupids with their blue and gold umbrellas under the suspended wedding bells.

The room throughout reflected the bride-elect's chosen colors of blue, white and gold from the beautiful refreshment table presided over by Janice Vincent and Christine Suttles, through the stage April garden and display table of gold pottery presented by the hostesses.

An unusual program was presented as a trio, Christine Suttles, Vivian Suttles and Nathalie Foster sang the theme song, April Showers. Janice Wright as the fairy came into the garden and with her magic wand turned it into a love nook. Carolyn Clement and Jon Evans sang Playmates, as the tiny sweethearts; Patsy Morgan and Hugh Fewin were the Schoolday Sweethearts; Tom Burnett and Beatrice England presented Everytime I fall in Love, as the high school sweethearts; Serious Courtship was shown when Mamie Browning and Brack Preston, Jr., sang Whispers; Ulwanda and Johnny Ralston reprised the new Mr. and Mrs. in their skit; Gwen and Benny Turner delighted all with their stunt as the trio sang My Blue Heaven. Silver Threads Among the Gold was sung by the trio as Rita Adair and Fred Fewin, Jr. came slowly into the garden as the elderly sweethearts. The little fairy, who knows that hearts are full of love are really young hearts, turned them into young sweethearts again. The ensemble returned to the garden as Rita sang April Showers as a finale.

The fore mentioned musical numbers were all presented with Miss Blanche Butler as accompanist.

The gardener then entered the garden with a wheel barrow laden with gifts which were auctioned off to a gentleman in the rear of the room, and to the delight of all, and the astonishment of the bride-elect, was her future groom, Charles Goins, who promptly wheeled his prize before her and seated himself by her side. As the wheel barrow emptied, it was refilled with many beautiful gifts, their friends way of wishing them a happy future together.

Raymond A. Shaffer and his friend, A. R. Smith of San Francisco, California arrived this week for a visit with Raymond's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shaffer and son, 701 Ave. C and with his grandmother, Fredonia Belle Shaffer and brother Donald, 717 Glendale.

After dismissal by prayer by Mrs. Minick, games were supervised by Mrs. Carswell and Mrs. Hunt.

The meeting May 4th will be with Mrs. Fields and Mrs. Mayes as joint hostesses.

Refreshments were served to the following: Misses Reed and McKnight and Mesdames Evans, Beldon, Moore, Scott, Thaxton, Minick, Boyd and the hostesses, Mrs. Carswell.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
Sam's Hens Wear Spectacles!
Yes, it's a fact! Sam's brood of two dozen hens are wearing spectacles — which he bought from a mail-order house in Capitol City.
Sam says it works (and big poultry raisers say so, too). The hens see each other through soft colored glasses, and instead of fighting and pecking at each other, they go around placidly, gain weight, and lay more eggs.
Makes me almost wish we could have rose-colored glasses for human beings, too. So that instead of quarreling and criticizing, like we do so much of the time, we'd live and let live in contentment.

From where I sit, the human race wastes a powerful lot of time in wrangling over minor issues... whether a man should drink beer or cider... whether a woman should wear slacks or skirts... instead of seeing each other through "spectacles" of tolerance that enable us to live-and-let-live like Sam's brood of chickens.

God's Power

omnipotent, or all-powerful God. By His spoken word, He created heaven and earth, and all things therein, came into being by that same power, the vast and complicated universe continues in perfect order. There are many instances in which God's power can be denied, but let us remember that when we obey the Lord by being baptized, we are denying the power of sin. Let us examine this thought.

Noah to build an ark in order to save himself and his family from the flood. Did Noah deny God's power by building the ark and going into it? No, he would have saved himself without the ark, but he would not have obeyed the command of Elisha to dip in the Jordan. Did Naaman, the leper, deny the power of God by obeying the command of Elisha to dip in the Jordan seven times? (Read 2 Kings 5:1-15). Scores of examples could be given.

At Pentecost, Peter commanded the people to repent for the remission of sins, and 3,000 of them were baptized. Did they deny God's power by simply obeying the Lord himself commanded? God has the power to save the sinner without faith, but he will not. He could have saved the sinner without faith, but he has designated the gospel as the way to save the soul of the sinner. Romans 1:16. It is a denial of God's power to obey his command if it is not at this time.

opened with the group singing Wonderful Man of Galilee, led by Mrs. Cheney. We were happy to have our teacher with us and she led in prayer after the opening song.

Mrs. Jo Brookman presided over a short business session. Minutes were read by Mrs. Mabel Johnson. Short reports were given by group captains; McKnight, Woodard, Scott and Brookshier.

At this time Mrs. Mills took charge and presented Bill McClarty who in turn presented Louie Hall, Baritone; Bill Gilbow, Trumpet; Marlin Parrack, Trombone; Bill McClarty, Cornet. They played "Wagner's Quartet, which was greatly enjoyed by the group. Mrs. Reed gave an inspiring devotional on The Joy of knowing Christ, taken from Matt. 3:1-5 and 3:13.

A reading, The Head of Christ, was beautifully given by Mrs. Mills after which she conducted a game, Life of the Party. Mrs. Cheney gave the closing prayer.

Lovely refreshments were served to one visitor, Mrs. Foster, and to the following members: Misses Jewel Reed and Bessie McKnight and Mesdames Sylvia Lohoefer, Giles, Moore, Johnson, Thaxton, Gibow, Powell, Lassiter, Read, Cheney, Mills, West, Woodward, Brookman, Temple, Scott, Shafer, and Brookshier.

Wednesday— Mid-Week Bible Study, 8 p. m.

Thursday— Ladies Bible Class, 2:30 p. m.

Our revival meeting came to a close last Sunday night and was successful in every way. The gospel of Christ was present in song and sermon and was well received by the large audiences who attended. During the meeting, five were baptized into Christ and nine re-dedicated their lives to the Lord.

We feel that the meeting has been a great help to all of us, and we sincerely believe that the seed sown will bear fruit for many days to come. We are encouraged to press on the Lord's service.

We extend a warm welcome to all to attend the services of the Church of Christ. The same plea that we made in the meeting; viz, the TRUTH, the whole Truth, and nothing but the Truth, will be made in every service we conduct. Come, let us reason together.

Sunday School at ten a. m. with all classes studying the eleventh chapter of Hebrews—"Faith, The Forward March Word of God's People Against All the World Does to Hinder."

Preaching services at eleven o'clock. Sermon subject of pastor, "The Just Shall Live By Faith." This statement is made four times in the Bible. We would like to use all of them in their context and show how they beautifully blend together to give us an important lesson from God.

Night services begin at 7:45 with an old-time gospel song service. Sermon subject of pastor, "The Ten Virgins."

Calvary Baptist Church extends a warm welcome to everyone, to all its services. Come as you are to hear the Bible as it is. We introduce you to the Living Word, Christ, through the written word—the Bible, nothing added, nothing subtracted. We preach Christ, the sinner's friend. Ray C. Morrow, Pastor.

The Faith Sunday School class of the First Baptist Church combined their monthly business meeting with a social last Thursday night at the home of Mrs. H. W. Fowler. Hostesses for evening were: Mrs. Otis Stegall, Mrs. Harley Evans, and social chairman, Mrs. Wallace Landrum.

The business meeting was opened by the song "Footsteps of Jesus" led by Mary Frances Northcott, which was followed by prayer led by Dorothy Duke. "Our Native Product"

We Americans are proud of the things we do well. One of these things is growing cotton, and processing this cotton into finished goods of high quality. While the story of cotton goes back into the mists of time so ancient that there were no historians to record its earliest culture and manufacture, nevertheless, we consider cotton a "native product" because Americans have developed cotton beyond all the nations of the world.

The growing and processing of cotton are a major factor in America's economic life, providing a living for 15,000,000 men, women, and children.

One of America's leading fabric designers caught the true spirit of our feeling for cotton when she said: "I like to think my finest abilities are being used in fashioning this — my native product. By the same token, I ask the dress designers to give their best in the creation of cotton styles. I say the same thing to the salesgirls I address in stores in an attempt to make them realize not only how fine their native product is, but also how important it is in the economy of their own country."

Cotton farmer, ginner, warehouseman, crusher, merchant, shipper, spinner, salesgirl are strands inextricably woven into a great enterprise—an enterprise dependent on you, the consumer, through your steady purchases of cotton products.

The message above is published by this institution in behalf of the cotton industry of surrounding counties in Texas and Oklahoma.

City Grocery and Market Says....

Why harp about Grocery prices all the time? Any merchant that sells merchandise at cost and below, will have to get the loss on that item some other way. That is why we maintain a fair and close mark-up on each and every item.

BUT What we want to talk about are the dogs and chickens that are not very polite about despoiling their neighbors flowers and gardens which they have worked so hard to make.

When an old hen scratches up two or three rows of vegetables the gardener was watching with such pride, or a dog scratches up one of the finest shrubs, roses or bulbs - - -

WOULD YOU LIKE IT TO HAPPEN TO YOU?

Local Cubs Win First Place At Scout-O-Rama

Boys of Cub Pack 155 won first place last week at the Scout O-Rama in Wichita Falls for their Wolf Gold Arrow Merit Badge display. This assortment of handiwork of the boys is composed of any article that is useful in the home. They have been working on this project since September.

The boys, their Den Mothers and their leader are to be commended for the time and effort spent on this achievement. It contains everything imaginable from a pot holder to pieces of furniture. Quite outstanding is the variety of stools. Some made from tree stumps, sanded and highly varnished. There are also clothes racks made from small trees with the original limbs as hooks.

This unique display may be seen this week in the West window at Boyd Bros. Dept. store. It is well worth your while to stop by and see what these young Cubs have accomplished.

Den Mothers are: Mrs. Truman Garland, Den 1; Mrs. Harold VanLoh, Den 2; Mrs. T. C. Wright, Den 3; Mrs. Loy Nichols, Den 4; and Mrs. Chas. Boyd, Den 5.

Charles Vick is their Cub Master.
