This special advertisement will point out the advantages of locating industrial plants in the cities and towns of the Northwest Texas area.

The series is a continuation of the company's program to stimulate the development of industry in the Gulf South. In United's advertising program last year various areas received recognition, but the 1949 ads will be the first to call attention to individual communities.

The radio has been singing it for weeks, and now it's being repeated in most every gathering—higher inside, lower outside; narrower outside, wider inside, etc. The exact words are elusive at first.

Upside Down Sign Brings Questions

Whether by mistake or otherwise, the upside down sign in the window at the Ben Franklin Store is causing quite a few questions. Francis Kauer insists it is not a bust. Although there is a 9c sale going on at the store, Francis says if you want to read the sign as 6c, then they have oodles of items at that price too.

Tom Boyd Heads Red Cross Drive

Tom Boyd has been appointed and accepted chairmanship of the Red Cross yearly drive for funds here. Already he and his workers are making contacts and getting money to carry the work of Red Cross.

Burkburnett has been asked to give Red Cross $1,790 this year. That figure is 20 per cent more than last year's request. But, a good reason in the raise is listed as the greater need in this area because of money already spent since Sheppard Field was reopened. Some 7 or 8 thousand dollars has been spent by Red Cross and more will be allocated to that place as the need arises.

Sooner or later you will be called on by a Red Cross fundraiser. A house to house canvass, both residential and business is being planned. Several clubs and a number of individuals have already turned in their contributions.

Campaign On For Camp Fire Girls

Workers with Camp Fire in Burkburnett are working now to raise money to keep the good work going here. Some two or three years ago there were no groups of Camp Fire or Blue Birds in Burkburnett. Girls of those age groups were more or less ignored, as to recreation, training, and the enjoyment this type of organization gives.

Now there are several groups of Camp Fire and Blue Birds. Some sixty or more girls are having the times of their young lives enjoying their work. Make it possible for further growth and development of Camp Fire in Burkburnett by a generous contribution to the cause.

Golden Voiced Square Dance Caller Being Protected

No measure of precaution is being overlooked in taking care of the golden voiced tenor square dance caller, Dow Estes. This week friends presented him with a large bottle of throat medicine, highly recommended as being used by Bing Crosby, Gene Autry, Roy Acuff and scores of other stars.

Tuesday when it was raining one interested friend removed his coat, wrapped it around the delicate shoulders of Dow and escorted him across the street to safety and dry shelter.

So far efforts to insure the idol of millions have not been successful. Could be the risk is more than one company would care to take on. Perhaps a policy backed by two or more companies may be worked out.

Local Rebekahs Entertain Lawton Lodge Thursday

The Burkburnett Rebekah Lodge assembled in a called meeting, Thursday, Feb. 24, to entertain the Evangelos of Love of Rebekah Lodge No. 87 from Lawton, Okla.

The hall was beautifully decorated with red roses. Noble Grand, Nellie Rowe, presided, with Bertha Lynch at the secretary desk. A very short business session was conducted after which the meeting was turned to the Evangelos of Love, who displayed some very beautiful floor work.

Many expressions were voiced as to their work, and they in turn expressed their appreciation for the invitation to Burkburnett, and suggested singing, "The Eyes of Texas." The group then sang the Oklahoma State Song, after which Mrs. Wheeler, the Lawton secretary, presented Mrs. Rowe with a beautiful Key of Love and pennant.

After the meeting was dismissed, lovely refreshments were served by the refreshment committee, Lilly Alvey, Julia Roderick, Elizabeth Gragg, and Syble to 40 members of the Lawton Lodge, and 22 Burkburnett Rebekahs.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Enloe left this week to make their home in Arlington, Texas. Mr. Enloe is a retired Magnolia employee.

WOULD WE KNOW THE ANSWERS

There is a bill before the Georgia legislature that should interest all voters, regardless of precinct. It would require voters to re-qualify by passing a qualification test. Fifty questions are proposed and in reading them, one wonders how many citizens of any state might pass the test. How many here in Burkburnett know how many congressional districts in our state, whether Congress has the power to abolish all courts except the Supreme Court, how many judges on our state Court of Appeals. Twenty of the fifty questions may be handed the prospective voters and, since the bill was originally meant to block Negro registrants, the twenty most difficult questions would be their lot, probably. We offer no objection to a literacy for voters, since it makes for better government. Reasonable questions regarding basic government workings would benefit a democracy, as enlightened voters are needed for better organization. But, when it comes to making a questionnaire so involved, intricate and difficult that the politicians seeking office might not be able to answer them, then the questionnaire is ridiculous.

DIRT ON OUR HANDS

Man is, by nature, a rural creature, is kin to the soil in spite of pull of city and urban type of living. The pavement may have been his path from birth, but instinct towards the dirt road can't be denied. There is within us a deep respect for things that grow, that are cultivated and harvested. Growing things successfully gives man great satisfaction with himself. To plant a seed and find it developing into flower, fruit, vegetable, is soul enriching. No matter the size of the city you will find parks, find trees and flowers. Many city dwellers find space for gardens. Neighborhood gardening is popular where families band together to lease property for cultivating their gardens. Ruralites do planting on a large scale and by acres, this means mighty hard work. Man expends energy whether he has a "green thumb" or not.

The man city-bound gets great pleasure in reading the seed catalogue. It is a sight to behold. Customs change, style alter, booms and busts in finance come and go, but the packet of seeds that brings forth leaves, roots, food, stays with us year in and out. We each are given the power, through a beneficent Force, to have this gift called growing. Let us in Burkburnett use it.

CHICK CHATS

By Clark Gresham

RESPIRATORY ILLS CAUSE CHICK LOSSES

The first two or three weeks are a real danger period in chicks' lives. Baby birds are delicate and easily fall ill. The disease and mortality rate are generally much higher among older birds. Help your chicks get past the first few weeks and your chances for raising a profitable flock will be much greater.

Chicks commonly are troubled by various respiratory conditions in the brooder house. Among these are colds, bronchitis, pneumonia and air-sac infections. The confinement of the brooder house predisposes the chicks to these conditions; poor ventilation, drafts, chilling, over-heating and overcrowding all contribute to respiratory troubles of chicks.

Chicks affected with what is usually described as a cold have a watery mucous discharge from the eyes and nostrils, at first. Later, the discharge becomes thicker and sticky in nature. In advanced colds the eyes may be swollen shut.

In simple bronchitis, the wind-pipe and the bronchial tubes leading to the lungs contain thick, sticky mucus and phlegm. The condition causes affected chicks to gasp and rattle when breathing.

Chicks that lose appetite, appear extremely drowsy, and have drooping wings and ruffled feathers may have pneumonia — infection of the lungs. If this condition is suspected a post-mortem examination of a typical chick will quickly reveal whether it is pneumonia or some other disease. Chick lungs infected with pneumonia are dark, whereas normal lungs are light red.

Treatment of chick respiratory conditions is accomplished in these ways; brooder-house conditions must be surveyed to see if there are any management errors, if present, these must be corrected; and medication such as sulfa or an inhalant may be given on advice of a poultry-disease specialist.

Mesdames P. A. Wiggins, I. E. Harwell, Cliff Cannon, Ray Hill, and J. H. Brumley attended a Red Cross meeting in Wichita Falls Tuesday night.

"Bill And Coo" Wonderful Film Presentation

The time honored expression of lovers garners a new and more important meaning with the release of Republic's feature, Ken Murray's full length Trucolor production, "Bill and Coo", which shows at the Palace Theatre Friday. Photographed in the exciting new color process, just developed by Republic, this picture is a real departure from the Hollywood trend for its diverse roles are enacted by 273 birds, a black crow, a baby alligator, a pair of horned toads and other miscellaneous animals. Young and old alike will thrill and wonder at the extraordinary stunts performed by their winged friends in a colorful, suspense-filled story. Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Wofford were visitors in Markley, Texas Sunday, Feb. 20. They attended Sunday School and Church there and enjoyed lunch with their daughter, Mrs. J. J. Jordan and family.

Dr. Shores Blasts Basic Science Bill

Health freedom of Texans is at stake in basic science legislation now pending before the Texas Legislature, Dr. Lewis Shores, of Burkburnett, said today.

Dr. Shores said basic science legislation had been approved by committees in both the Texas Senate and House of Representatives and unless the public speaks out against the legislation, basic science may become law.

The basic science legislation, he said, was being opposed by the Texas chiropractors, osteopaths and naturopaths, and hundreds of people who have been helped by practitioners of these professions.

Dr. Shores said basic science was being opposed by these three because it is (1) discriminatory, (2) placed too much power in the hands of one profession (the Texas Medical Association); (3) deprived the people of their right to select the type of health treatment they desired; and (4) super boards set up by basic science would be a duplication of licensing boards and thus a waste of taxpayers money.

"The claim is being made that basic science will raise the standards of healing arts practitioners," Dr. Shores said. "It will do no such thing, because the bills, now being considered by the Legislature, specifically exempt all present practitioners."

Dr. Shores said a more practical measure—a chiropractic licensing law that will raise standards among the chiropractic practitioners was now pending in the Legislature and "would do all the things the proponents of the basic science claim their bill would do."

"Licensing has worked very well in other professions, and it is more satisfactory than a drastic basic science law," he said.

"The basic science legislation is aimed directly at eliminating chiropractors in the State," Dr. Shores said. The fact that in other states where basic science legislation has been enacted the number of chiropractors allowed to practice had been cut down was proof of this statement, he said. "Several of the so-called basic science states are now in the process of repealing the basic science laws," he said. "Because basic science not only stifles chiropractors and others, but also cuts down on the number of medical doctors thus creating a shortage."

Dr. Shores said farm families were opposing basic science because they were convinced the already shortage of doctors in rural areas would be even more critical.

The bride was lovely in a gray suit with which she wore white accessories. She carried a white prayer book topped with pink carnations.

Miss Helen Damansky attended the bride, and also wore grey with white accessories. She completed her costume with a corsage of pink roses. Sgt. and Mrs. McCloskey were entertained with a reception at their home following the wedding. The white linen covered refreshment table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake embossed with silver leaves. Relatives and friends shared in the opening of the wedding gifts.

After a fifteen day Christmas leave the couple returned to Columbus, Georgia, where they will make their home. Mrs. McCloskey is employed by the Houston Company and Sgt. McCloskey is stationed at Fort Ben-

Wichita County Farm Bureau News

Mrs. John Wesley

On Mr. Loys Barbour's return from Austin this week he announces that there is a bill ready to come up that contains what the farmers have asked for in all weather roads. The bill is the McClellan H-B 59 and will come up for hearing on March 7. He urges farmers who are interested to either write to their senator and representative or to attend the hearing in Austin.

Mr. George Lewis, president of the Wichita Co. Farm Bureau is calling a meeting of the directors for Thursday March 3, and invited all who are interested in this road bill and the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Hospitalization to attend. The meeting will probably be in the directors room of the State National bank in Iowa Park.

LOOKING AHEAD

by GEORGE S. BENSON
President—Harding College
Scary, Arkansas

The Spirit of Research

What has happened to the half-starved genius who used to toll in some lonely attic, hoping to invent the wonder of the age? His day is just about over. There are not so many of these lone-wolf inventors as there were in grandpa's time. Don't we give patents any more? It isn't that. America is still the land of liberty and opportunity. A man can still build his gadget and risk his shirt—in hope of making his first million. Some do. That spirit remains.

The Newer Way

But better ways have been found. The newer term "research" is gradually replacing the older term "invention." Our complex age has made specialization necessary, and this has been true of invention, or product development. To solve the problems of the day, the new way is to bring together many different minds, each highly trained in its own way. Industry is doing just this, and we call it research.

The spirit of the attic inventor is there, but the tools and the methods are different. While the half-starved inventor struggled along with almost no financial backing, the modern research team requires and uses vast amounts of money.

Gets Customers

Now, I wonder if Joe Doe, member of Local 382, understands why his company put down in its 1947 annual report: for Research and Development, $2,000,000. In round figures, that was the sum spent last year by a company that employs about 8,000 persons. Some companies spend more. One of the firms that manufacture rayon reports that it has spent more than $30,000,000 since it became interested in that product.

True, it may seem like a lot of money your company is spending for research, Joe. But remember this: research money comes right back to you in a thousand ways. Actually, the company that does not spend for research, for better ways of producing better products, is a company that will lose out and close down in the long run. A more enterprising competitor will wind up with the consumer's dollar!

Spirit of America

The company that spends for research is the company that I would want to work for. It is also the company whose stock I'd be willing to buy. I am convinced that when many industries are putting large sums of money into research, to find the answers to problems that face them and the consumer, that money is well spent. Years of time and millions of dollars may be behind a new product. But it may be worth far more. Many a new job and a much better product may be the result.

I mentioned rayon. Nowadays, nylon is newer. The DuPont Company spent 11 years of research before they could even announce nylon, and used up $11,000,000 before a penny was earned from the product. That kind of thing can happen only in America, and under free enterprise. The freedom to venture and to look for the better way of doing things, for the newer and better product, belongs to the spirit of America, and it is responsible for our high wages and our high standard of living.

Hayworth Ideal Choice as Carmen

A star born Margarita Carmen Cansino, but better known professionally as Rita Hayworth appropriately enough has the title role in Columbia's "The Loves of Carmen," now on view with co-star Glenn Ford at the Palace Theatre.

As if this were not enough, the remarkable parallel between the fictitious Carmen and the lovely star chosen to play her continues still further. The part calls for an actress adept at dancing in the spirited flamenco style of the Spanish gypsy. Rita earned her living for many years as a dancer, having teamed up with her father in many successful professional engagements.

And we saved the best for the last; her paternal grandmother after whom she was named Carmen, actually was a worker in a Seville cigarette factory. Rita thus clinched her right to the party by right of inheritance as well as ability.

Ray Mills was taken to the Bethania Hospital in Wichita Falls last Friday after suffering a severe heart attack. He was reported to be some better Tuesday evening.

J. G. Giles was admitted to the Bethania Hospital in Wichita Falls this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Robertson left Thursday for Marfa, Texas, where they will attend the wedding of Miss Kay Mitchell, a former room mate of Mrs. Robertson.

Col. and Mrs. Brown, who have been transferred from Sheppard Air Base, left Wednesday for Las Vegas.
