Delinquent Subs Must Come Off

This week notices are being sent out to subscribers whose subscriptions are almost out and to those expiring in the last month. There are two reasons why delinquent subscriptions can't be sent out: 1. Our mailing permit won't allow us to do so. 2. The alarming shortage of newspaper has us stymied. After this week if you don't get your paper, check up on the date of expiration. We can, and do, make errors occasionally, so the fact that you don't get your paper may be our fault. WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C. June 2 — This is late Saturday afternoon and I have not had time to prepare this week's newsletter. Congressman W. R. Poage, of Waco, has written a newsletter on the burning subject of the day, to-wit: inflation. With his permission, I am simply substituting his newsletter of this week and sending it in lieu of my own. I do not necessarily agree with my distinguished colleague in all particulars, but his observations are sincere and significant. Our readers I know will be interested in his views. "Today I received a petition containing about 50 names. The letter with the petition stated that this was identical with hundreds of similar petitions. This petition protests the 'rapidly increasing cost of living' and urges 'that prices be rolled back to pre-Korean levels, and that a new law strong enough to protect the consumers be enacted.' It then states that 'we also urge that new taxes not be placed on low income families, and suggest that needed revenue be secured from corporations with their record profits and from high income families who are not carrying their share.' . . .

The tendency of the hour is to feel that we can cure any problem by 'passing a law.' We have tried to stop inflation with a law. Last August Congress passed a law giving the President power to freeze all prices and all wages. I voted for this law. I thought that if we acted promptly it would be possible to use the law as a sort of temporary stop-gap to hold the line until we could attack the real causes of inflation. I still think we could have done much to stabilize the situation had we acted at that time. No action was taken to use the powers Congress granted. I fear the time in which these control devices could be used has passed. We must follow the slower but much more fundamental policy of attacking the cause of inflation. Our people were ready last summer to accept controls across the board—controls that would control everybody. Since that time they have seen controls applied to some groups for the benefit of other groups and the American spirit of fair play has revolted against this practice. Last week we saw the price of cattle rolled back (with no reduction in the price of meat to the consumer.) The livestock producer's standard of living which is today about one and one-half times what it was in the base period was reduced by about 10 per cent. He was told that it would be reduced by about the same amount again this fall. The same week saw the packing house workers granted an increase of not quite 10 per cent in their wages. Their living standard was already almost exactly twice what it was during the base period. "Last year in his message to Congress, President Truman said: 'Price and wage controls do not cure the basic cause of inflation—the inflationary gap between the supply of goods and the value of buying power. The cure can only come by closing the gap.' This statement is, of course, true. It seems to me that it is high time that we began to treat the cause of inflation, rather than the result. The cause is lessened production for civilian purposes, and increased buying power (more money). "Most price ceilings and all price roll backs tend to reduce production (because there is less incentive), and they increase demand (because there are more customers at the lower price). Therefore, over any extended period of time, they actually add to the inflationary process. Like a narcotic they should be used only for a limited time in the most critical situations. I have voted for higher taxes, and shall vote for still higher taxes. Taxation is not, however, the best way of checking inflation as it definitely lowers people's living standards. It simply makes it impossible to buy so much. It is, however, necessary if we are to pay as much as possible of the current costs of government. With taxation should go a reduction of governmental expenditures. I have voted, and expect to continue to vote, for such reductions. "It is a mistake to believe that we can raise the funds needed simply by additional taxes on corporations, or the 'rich'. The total corporate income in the U. S. is only about $20 billion per year—less than 1-3 of our governmental expenditures. We now take approximately one-half of this income. The 'higher income families' pay taxes up to 87% of their income already, and their incomes make up only a small part of the money needed. There is no easy way to carry the tax load. We must all share it. "The simplest and most effective attack on inflation would, it seems to me, be for everyone to work longer at present hourly rates. If we increased the work week by only four hours we would increase production by 10 per cent. The workers would have more money, but there would be more things to purchase. That, as I see it, is the way to strike at the cause of inflation. Inflation cannot be stopped by asking someone else to make the sacrifices. Is it too much to ask America to do work?" S/ W. R. Poage, Congressman 11th Texas District

No Vacation for Congress, Capital View

Facing a mountain of unfinished and vital business, with only a good sized hill of accomplishment behind them, Senators and Representatives are resigning themselves to the prospect of sweating it out. While the House has polished off five of the ten major appropriation bills, the remaining five include the highly controversial 60 billion dollar defense appropriation; and the Senate has yet to act on any of these money bills. Add to this backlog such problems as agreement on the new 10 billion dollar tax bill sought by the administration, Foreign Aid bills, Control bills to cover prices, wages, materials; final action on Selective Service . . . but why go on, Congress undoubtedly will . . . all summer.

TOO SMART TO FIGHT?

For three hours last Saturday, in a thousand test centers, 175,000 college boys wrestled with an extra-curricular exam, the first of four to determine whether their further education will be of the ivy-walled type or the "hay-foot, straw-foot," or rugged sort. This first step in an "intellectual deferment plan," followed months of heated controversy on the justice of military selection, or no-selection, by such methods. But whether the 150 questions that confronted the boys last week are generally considered as fair or unfair, the rectitude of this course of action will be long and bitterly debated, and will gain fresh emphasis when actual drafting begins on the basis of performance in these exams. It is still an undeniable fact, for instance, in spite of the wider availability of free scholarships, and other aids to the boy who works his way, that a well to do father is a distinct aid to higher education; and that thousands of young men, not so endowed, have preferred to forego college and get on with the business of making a living, only to find that the Horatio Alger outlook has made them draft bait.

Furthermore, every exam is a competitive effort. Every boy with spirit does his best to pass an exam, and with the highest possible mark. Thus, we can not avoid the feeling that there's something left-handed about a competition from which exemption from duty to one's country can be won. It is almost as if Uncle Sam himself were saying: "Smart boys don't go to war". We do not offer any criticism toward boys taking the exams. Most of them, and their parents, do not believe in the fairness of the situation. The powers that be that inaugurated the plan deserve the criticism. We need Super-Sonic Brains Now

A report from the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics that model airplanes are being tested secretly 30 miles above the earth at speeds above 3,000 m.p.h. comes to us along with word from Dr. Richard A. Byrnes of the U. S. Air Force School of Medicine that super-sonic speeds will require super-human brains and eyes . . . which will, of course, be electronic. What an unimaginative fellow this Jules Verne was!

No Vacation for Congress, Capital View

Facing a mountain of unfinished and vital business, with only a good sized hill of accomplishment behind them, Senators and Representatives are resigning themselves to the prospect of sweating it out.

While the House has polished off five of the ten major appropriation bills, the remaining five include the highly controversial 60 billion dollar defense appropriation; and the Senate has yet to act on any of these money bills.

Add to this backlog such problems as agreement on the new 10 billion dollar tax bill sought by the administration, Foreign Aid bills, Control bills to cover prices, wages, materials; final action on Selective Service . . . but why go on, Congress undoubtedly will . . . all summer.

TOO SMART TO FIGHT?

For three hours last Saturday, in a thousand test centers, 175,000 college boys wrestled with an extra-curricular exam, the first of four to determine whether their further education will be of the ivy-walled type or the "hay-foot, straw-foot," or rugged sort.

This first step in an "intellectual deferment plan," followed months of heated controversy on the justice of military selection, or no-selection, by such methods. But whether the 150 questions that confronted the boys last week are generally considered as fair or unfair, the rectitude of this course of action will be long and bitterly debated, and will gain fresh emphasis when actual drafting begins on the basis of performance in these exams.

It is still an undeniable fact, for instance, in spite of the wider availability of free scholarships, and other aids to the boy who works his way, that a well to do father is a distinct aid to higher education; and that thousands of young men, not so endowed, have preferred to forego college and get on with the business of making a living, only to find that the Horatio Alger outlook has made them draft bait.

Furthermore, every exam is a competitive effort. Every boy with spirit does his best to pass an exam, and with the highest possible mark. Thus, we can not avoid the feeling that there's something left-handed about a competition from which exemption from duty to one's country can be won. It is almost as if Uncle Sam himself were saying: "Smart boys don't go to war".

We do not offer any criticism toward boys taking the exams. Most of them, and their parents, do not believe in the fairness of the situation. The powers that be that inaugurated the plan deserve the criticism.

We Need Super-Sonic Brains Now

A report from the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics that model airplanes are being tested secretly 30 miles above the earth at speeds above 3,000 m.p.h. comes to us along with word from Dr. Richard A. Byrnes of the U. S. Air Force School of Medicine that super-sonic speeds will require super-human brains and eyes . . . which will, of course, be electronic. What an unimaginative fellow this Jules Verne was!

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C. June 2 — This is late Saturday afternoon and I have not had time to prepare this week's newsletter. Congressman W. R. Poage, of Waco, has written a newsletter on the burning subject of the day, to-wit: inflation. With his permission, I am simply substituting his newsletter of this week and sending it in lieu of my own. I do not necessarily agree with my distinguished colleague in all particulars, but his observations are sincere and significant. Our readers I know will be interested in his views.

"Today I received a petition containing about 50 names. The letter with the petition stated that this was identical with hundreds of similar petitions. This petition protests the rapidly increasing cost of living and urges that prices be rolled back to pre-Korean levels, and that a new law strong enough to protect the consumers be enacted." It then states that "we also urge that new taxes not be placed on low income families, and suggest that needed revenue be secured from corporations with their record profits and from high income families who are not carrying their share."

"It is but natural for all of us to seek a simple solution.

The tendency of the hour is to feel that we can cure any problem by 'passing a law.' We have tried to stop inflation with a law. Last August Congress passed a law giving the President power to freeze all prices and all wages. I voted for this law. I thought that if we acted promptly it would be possible to use the law as a sort of temporary stop-gap to hold the line until we could attack the real causes of inflation. I still think we could have done much to stabilize the situation had we acted at that time. No action was taken to use the powers Congress granted. I fear the time in which these control devices could be used has passed. We must follow the slower but much more fundamental policy of attacking the cause of inflation. Our people were ready last summer to accept controls across the board—controls that would control everybody. Since that time they have seen controls applied to some groups for the benefit of other groups and the American spirit of fair play has revolted against this practice. Last week we saw the price of cattle rolled back (with no reduction in the price of meat to the consumer.) The livestock producer's standard of living which is today about one and one-half times what it was in the base period was reduced by about 10 per cent. He was told that it would be reduced by about the same amount again this fall. The same week saw the packing house workers granted an increase of not quite 10 per cent in their wages. Their living standard was already almost exactly twice what it was during the base period.

"Last year in his message to Congress, President Truman said: 'Price and wage controls do not cure the basic cause of inflation—the inflationary gap between the supply of goods and the value of buying power. The cure can only come by closing the gap.' This statement is, of course, true. It seems to me that it is high time that we began to treat the cause of inflation, rather than the result. The cause is lessened production for civilian purposes, and increased buying power (more money).

"Most price ceilings and all price roll backs tend to reduce production (because there is less incentive), and they increase demand (because there are more customers at the lower price). Therefore, over any extended period of time, they actually add to the inflationary process. Like a narcotic they should be used only for a limited time in the most critical situations.

I have voted for higher taxes, and shall vote for still higher taxes. Taxation is not, however, the best way of checking inflation as it definitely lowers people's living standards. It simply makes it impossible to buy so much. It is, however, necessary if we are to pay as much as possible of the current costs of government. With taxation should go a reduction of governmental expenditures. I have voted, and expect to continue to vote, for such reductions.

"It is a mistake to believe that we can raise the funds needed simply by additional taxes on corporations, or the 'rich'. The total corporate income in the U. S. is only about $20 billion per year—less than 1-3 of our governmental expenditures. We now take approximately one-half of this income. The 'higher income families' pay taxes up to 87% of their income already, and their incomes make up only a small part of the money needed. There is no easy way to carry the tax load. We must all share it.

"The simplest and most effective attack on inflation would, it seems to me, be for everyone to work longer at present hourly rates. If we increased the work week by only four hours we would increase production by 10 per cent. The workers would have more money, but there would be more things to purchase. That, as I see it, is the way to strike at the cause of inflation. Inflation cannot be stopped by asking someone else to make the sacrifices. Is it too much to ask America to work?"

DID NOT STAY FOR CHURCH

"I told my church that I did not need it."
I received all of the spiritual power I needed in Sunday School. I would not enjoy fellowship with my Christian brothers and sisters. I would rather not associate with them at the worship hour, so I did not stay for church this morning.
"I told the children in the Sunday School that it was not necessary to stay for church in order to be the right kind of a church member."
I showed them by my example that all you need to do was attend Sunday School. An hour a week is plenty of time to spend in God's house, so I did not stay for church this morning.
"I told my family that it would be better for us to go home than to remain for the morning worship hour."
I told them we would receive a greater blessing and we would be a greater blessing by going home, so I did not stay for church this morning.
"I told the stranger passing by the church door that we did not like our church worship program nor our pastor's preaching, so we are going home."
We pushed the stranger backward so he would not enter in. We made such a surge toward the door that it was made impossible for him to enter in. I do not care what the stranger thinks of church, so I did not stay for church this morning.
"I told my unsaved friend that I was not interested in his finding Christ as his Saviour."
I know that unless he is saved in the church service that he will probably not be saved at all. But I do not particularly care whether the unsaved become saved or not, so I did not stay for church this morning.
"I told Christ that I had heard enough about Him for today."
I did not care to hear any more about Him. I did not care to hear my pastor lift up Christ to a lost world. I did not care about communing with my Master any longer, so I did not stay for church this morning."

The Grade of Beef Is As Important As The Price

Perhaps we are one of the few who advertise and have U. S. Government Graded Choice or Good Beef. These are top grades and naturally the top grades under OPS ceilings have prices established in ratio to the quality. The price of U. S. Choice and Good Beef is very little if any higher than ordinary grades of beef, making Parker's Beef your best beef values.

DID NOT STAY FOR CHURCH

"I told my church that I did not need it."

I received all of the spiritual power I needed in Sunday School. I would not enjoy fellowship with my Christian brothers and sisters. I would rather not associate with them at the worship hour, so I did not stay for church this morning.

"I told the children in the Sunday School that it was not necessary to stay for church in order to be the right kind of a church member."

I showed them by my example that all you need to do was attend Sunday School. An hour a week is plenty of time to spend in God's house, so I did not stay for church this morning.

"I told my family that it would be better for us to go home than to remain for the morning worship hour."

I told them we would receive a greater blessing and we would be a greater blessing by going home, so I did not stay for church this morning.

"I told the stranger passing by the church door that we did not like our church worship program nor our pastor's preaching, so we are going home."

We pushed the stranger backward so he would not enter in. We made such a surge toward the door that it was made impossible for him to enter in. I do not care what the stranger thinks of church, so I did not stay for church this morning.

"I told my unsaved friend that I was not interested in his finding Christ as his Saviour."

I know that unless he is saved in the church service that he will probably not be saved at all. But I do not particularly care whether the unsaved become saved or not, so I did not stay for church this morning.

"I told Christ that I had heard enough about Him for today."

I did not care to hear any more about Him. I did not care to hear my pastor lift up Christ to a lost world. I did not care about communing with my Master any longer, so I did not stay for church this morning."

NEWS AT THE MOVIES

Autry, Champion At Burk Fri. - Sat.

"The Blazing Sun", in which Gene Autry is starred in a story of today's West as a fighting desert-detective who stalks bank robbing killers, is due Friday-Saturday at the Burk Theatre. The world's greatest cowboy is supported in this out door drama by Lynne Roberts, Anne Gwynne, Edward Norris, Kenne Duncan, Alan Hale, Jr., Pat Buttram and, of course, Champion, Autry's favorite stallion.

Unusual Calf to Be Here During Boomtown Rodeo

The Boomtown Celebration this year brings something quite different to Burkburnett. During the four days celebration, at a concession on Main Street, you can see a calf that laps water and milk like a dog and has a mouth that extends to the ear on one side. This calf's sire was a registered Hereford and the cow was a Jersey. Born the 20th of December, it is on a liquid diet of ten quarts of milk per day. Remember, this calf may be seen during the Boom Town Celebration. Admission is 15c for children and 25c for adults.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jordan spent Thursday and Friday of last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Wofford, parents of Mrs. Jordan.

Mrs. Letha Cornish and Mrs. Melvin Loyless of Wichita Falls were visitors in the C. A. Moreman home Sunday.

W. M. Ferguson spent a few days last week in Houston.

"Santa Fe" Here Sunday - Monday

A rough, raw, rugged and very real story of the fearless men and reckless women who made the old Santa Fe trail a path of glory and adventure, will open Sunday-Monday at the Palace Theatre. Photographed magnificently in color by Technicolor, the new film stars Randolph Scott in his greatest action packed role, while Janis Carter brings her beauty and charm to the feminine lead.

Building the Santa Fe Railroad from Topeka to the sea was one of the greatest adventures of the American frontier. It took men of iron, and women of fire, to forge a ribbon of steel beyond the trails of the Indian, the covered wagon and the pony express. This true story of empire-building is more thrilling than any fiction. "Santa Fe" brings it to the screen in all its magnitude.

Scott plays one of four brothers who go West after the Civil War. He is the only one of the four who goes straight. He gets himself a construction job on the Santa Fe, meets and falls in love with Miss Carter, who is a paymaster with the railroad. Unfortunately, Scott's career and his romance both are jeopardized by the actions of his brothers, who join a gang of outlaws operating along the Santa Fe. Despite the suspicions of others that Scott is involved with the gang, Miss Carter keeps faith in him. In a bloody, bullet-riddled climax that is one of the most exciting ever filmed, Scott fights the outlaws atop a speeding freight train.

Sgt. Leonard C. Wallace of Camp Hood spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Wallace and with his brother, J. V. Wallace and family.

Thelma Ritter Screen Sensation

A new screen comedy with a top flight cast and a refreshing original story will set up shop on Wednesday-Thursday at the Palace Theatre with the opening of "The Mating Season." Starring Gene Tierney and John Lund, and with the fabulous Thelma Ritter in her richest comedy role to date, the film deals with the merry and tumultuous consequences of a marriage between a sumptuous socialite and a boy from the other end of town.

Mrs. Roy Wood of New Mexico is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. A. Winniger.

War Brides Speak To Rotarians

An International Relations program featuring four European "war brides" of American husbands was presented at the Rotary luncheon at the Town Hall Tuesday.

The program featured Mrs. J. W. Spence, native of Luxembourg; Mrs. R. L. Lucas, formerly of Vienna and Mrs. Edith Allen, native of Mannheim, Germany, all three having married American soldiers who are now stationed in Korea, and Mrs. Yvonne M. Brand, wife of a major at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. Mrs. Brand is from Rheims, France.

The four women spoke briefly on their native countries and cities and gave comparisons of life in their home land with life in their newly adopted homes in the United States. Mrs. Brand sang two songs in French, accompanied by Mrs. Floyd Jackson of Lawton, and Mrs. Lucas delighted the group with her yodeling.

The women were guests of Dr. C. J. Morrison, program chairman, and were presented by Mrs. Floyd Jackson, sister of Dr. Morrison.

Virgil Brookshear introduced Chas. B. Berry, visiting Rotarian from Odesa; Arden Bailey, Allen B. Stack, Leon Rogers and R. A. McGann, from Electra, and Weldon Bailey, Bill Sims, C. A. Mitchell and Oral Jones, from Wichita Falls. Winston Freeman, Mrs. Carl Morrison, Mrs. Floyd Jackson and Kay Morrison were guests of Carl Morrison; Dr. Cramer was guest of Don Short, and Virgil Brookshear had as his guest, Kyle Thompson.

Buster Morgan will bring the program next week.

Featured Speaker On Methodist Hour

Dr. Guy M. Hicks, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Shreveport, La., will be the featured speaker on the Methodist Hour Sunday, June 10th. This network radio program is sponsored by the Protestant Radio Conference and is presented by 149 radio stations over the South and Southwest.

Dr. Hicks, speaking on the subject "God Available Through Prayer," gives specific accounts of God's answer to prayer and the power of prayer. He tells how "Even in Korea we may find God available through prayer as we seek Him together. As a young doctor, my own son, gives first aid to his own brother-in-law, who has been hit by a round of mortar fire. No wonder he writes 'God was nearer to me than ever before in my life.' . . . Even in the danger zone of battle God is near to give a young doctor and a young soldier strength to do their jobs."

The Methodist Hour may be heard over radio station WFAA at 7:30 A. M., Sunday, June 10.

Annual Kiddies' Parade to Be Held Friday Afternoon, June 15 at 3 P. M.

Climaxing the Boomtown Celebration this year will be the Kiddies' Parade at 3:00 P. M. Friday afternoon, June 15th. Final plans for this colorful panorama were completed at a meeting Monday night of committee chairman H. D. Smith and his workers.

The Kiddies' Parade has proved during the past to be the highlight of the annual celebration festivities. As usual the parade will be made up of children riding their gaily decorated tricycles and bicycles, unique entries, and those decked out in their cowboy and cowgirl finery. Then there will be those on horses, uniformed groups, square dancers, and the little tin soldiers. The giant parade will be led by the Flag Bearers and the Grade School Band.

To make the contest more attractive, there will be three cash prizes in each of the groups this year: $1.50, $1.00 and 50c, 1st, 2nd, and 3rd, respectively to both girl and boy entries for the best decorated tricycles, bicycles, unique entry, best horse and rider, best dressed cowboy and cowgirl. This parade is open to all children 12 years and under in Burkburnett and surrounding area in Texas and Oklahoma. Everyone is invited and urged to take part to make this one of the best parades ever.

The parade will form at the corner of Avenue D and 2nd Street, proceed up Avenue D to Main Street, turning left and on down Main Street to Mills and Fleming. After breaking up, the children will then be taken to the Grade school playground for a period of games and refreshments. Winners will be announced at the playground. All children are urged to be at the Corner of Avenue D and 2nd Street between 2:00 and 2:30 to take their place in the parade.

Assisting Mr. Smith Friday will be: Mesdames J. V. Wallace, John English and Dink Lawson, with the tricycles; Mrs. I. C. Evans and Zala Dodson, bicycles; Mrs. D. F. Douglas and Mrs. Ralph Davis, unique group; Mr. Davis and Mr. Douglas, Judges Committee; Jaycees, Policing; Dow Estes, Announcing; I. C. Evans and John English, Horses.
