Lions Club To Sell Brooms Down Town Saturday

Weather permitting, the Burk Burnett Lions Club will pull the biggest down-town broom sale here Saturday afternoon you ever heard of. Beginning at 1:30 a gang of roaring Lions will be on the streets with brooms, hundreds of them, music, and plenty of just plain noise.

The Lions will be ballyhooing their sale of top quality brooms—house brooms, warehouse brooms, whisk brooms and door mats. The price of the house brooms is $1.50, the warehouse brooms $1.75, and whisk brooms 60c. These brooms are of excellent quality. They are made by the blind in Little Rock, Arkansas, and are being sold by the local club to finish lighting the baseball diamond at Morgan Stadium.

In addition to the down-town sale, Lions plans to knock on every door in Burk Burnett with their brooms.

Buy one or more of these good brooms. You'll be helping the local club in their worthy projects for the benefit of the town, and you'll be helping the blind to support themselves in a skilled trade.

Two Hurt Slightly In Plane Crash

Two Burk Burnett men escaped serious injury about 7 p. m. Saturday when brakes of the light air plane they were in apparently failed and the craft nosed over after hitting a fence about a mile southwest of Burk Burnett.

Wilbur Roberts, 38, pilot and J. V. Wallace, 41, passenger, suffered only scratches and bruises according to Roberts mother, Mrs. George T. Roberts of Burk Burnett.

Following reports of the accident on the Hugh Preston Dairy Farm about a mile southwest of Burk Burnett, persons going to the scene reported finding only the wrecked plane, but no trace of the occupants, who had walked away and proceeded to their home, according to Burk Burnett Patrolman Jim Turner.

The plane suffered damage to the landing gear, a wing, and the propeller was bent when the craft nosed over, observers reported.

Preston said that Roberts had been parking the plane on his pasture about 12 days and had been taking several persons for brief rides.

Clubs Encourage Christmas Lighting

Several of the Ladies' clubs have banded together and are encouraging home Christmas lighting this year. For the past few years, very few homes have had extensive lighting during the Christmas season. With just a little extra effort on the part of many home owners, the residential part of the city could present a very beautiful Christmas-time picture. Plans are being made to work out small awards for the best lighted yards, homes, etc.

Plan now to beautify your home premises with Christmas decorations. It will add so much to the atmosphere of the season.

Note of Appreciation

The Booker T. Washington School P.-T. A. and community as a whole, would like to thank Mr. J. V. Brookshear for the wonderful privilege that he gave us in showing the films of his beautiful vacation scenery. It was highly enjoyed by all.

Lions Club Meets Each Tuesday Night at 7:00 O'clock at Town Hall

John Durham and Vernon Duke brought the program last Tuesday night. Durham introduced H. W. (Red) Cope, who introduced the other members of a stringed orchestra. They were Denzil Rush, Glenn Harrington, and Gordon Cope. They played a number of tunes, which were enjoyed by the club very much.

Next week D. F. Douglas and Norman Duke will be responsible for the entertainment.

Ladies' Night will be held on November 24th with a special program arranged by the permanent program committee.

Newt Anthony reported all the light poles at the baseball diamond are up, and brackets and lights will be installed in the spring. Lion John Durham is responsible for getting most of the work done installing the poles.

The remainder of the time was taken up in discussing plans for selling brooms by members of the Lions Club. All proceeds of the broom sale will apply on the Lions Club sponsored lighted baseball diamond at Morgan Stadium.

Bulldogs Down Electra 19 to 6

Last Friday night the Bulldogs trimmed the Electra Tigers in the local ball stadium to the tune of 19 to 6. Burk scored once in the second quarter, twice in the fourth. Electra's lone score came in the 3rd quarter.

Kenneth Richardson, who had been out one game due to injuries received in the Olney game, was back in his slot at half back, and simply ripped and feinted the Tigers off their feet.

Burk threatened twice in the 2nd quarter. They fumbled on the 5 yard line, with Electra recovering. As the half ended, Burk was knocking at the goal line again, and time ran out with the ball on the Electra one foot line.

The Bulldogs traveled 78 yards for their first score, which came 3 minutes before the half ended. Kenneth Richardson, behind good blocking and beautiful open field running, went 37 yards for the touchdown. Prescott's attempt through the line failed to make the extra point. Preceding the score, Burk had taken a punt on their own 22 yard line, and with Billy Bean, Don Joe Prescott and Richardson alternating carrying the ball, had put the play down on the Electra 37, from which point Richardson scored.

Burk kicked off to open the 3rd quarter. Electra received on their 20 and returned it to the 44. After making three first downs to place the ball on the Burk 13, Fullback Ellis Burt went around right end for the touchdown. Extra point try was no good. The scoring march covered 80 yards.

In the middle of the 4th quarter, Burk recovered an Electra fumble on Burk's 46 yard line. On the next play Richardson raced across the goal line on a handoff from Prescott. But the referee called a clipping penalty on Burk on the 16 yard line, which moved Burk back to the 31. Richardson and Prescott drove to the 8, from which point Richardson went through tackle for the score. Extra point try failed, leaving the score 12 to 6.

Another Electra fumble set up Burk's third touchdown. The Bulldogs recovered the fumble on Electra's 28 yard line. Richardson scored from the 20, going more or less through center. McCabe crashed center for the extra point.

To Childress This Week

This Friday night the Bulldogs and their supporters go to Childress for the deciding game in this district. Burk has not lost a conference game. Childress has lost one, yet they lead in all district standings reported, and are also rated over Burk in Friday night's contest. Burk is relying a lot on their superior line, plus the single wing over Childress' T formation. If Burk wins over Childress, they will undoubtedly win the district. If they lose to Childress, they still could be declared winners, for Childress still must meet Seymour, a dangerous threat to any team they meet.

Hallow'en Pranks Carried Too Far

Many instances of Hallow'en destruction have been reported this week. The destruction of property was not done by the little trick or treat kiddies, but by the older children who know better, and should do better.

Hallow'en can be a lot of fun. The little trick or treaters are cute and are always welcome when they ring the door bell all dressed up in their scary costumes. That is the spirit of Hallow'en. It is fine. But when expensive property is carried off or destroyed on the spot, that is carrying matters too far, and not at all in keeping with the occasion. The whereabouts of many missing items is known by those who removed them, or by others. Now is the time to help get those items back where they belong.

THOU SHALL NOT FORGET

Armistice Day in 1918, if you remember, was a day of rejoicing. The fighting in Europe was stopped. The great war, involving the major powers of the earth; the great war that killed with poison gas and armored tanks, as well as with cannon and cold steel; the struggle that first gave war its third dimension of horror, the zeppelin raids on sleeping cities from the skies, was, we thought forever ended.

But there has been a second world war on a far more colossal scale, and a stalemated Korean War and we know better now what "armistice" mean. It is not for celebration, it is for prayer. It is to pay homage to those who have fought, those who have died fighting, and those who have lived, perhaps to fight again. It is to recognize the debt we also owe to the thousands of soldiers and sailors and airmen who have not yet seen battle, but who have postponed their own careers for our protection, who have already given us of their youth, and stand ready to give all.

Arlington National Cemetery, where hundreds of veterans graves are still brown with fresh earth, and more are dug each day, will be the scene of the traditional memorial services under sponsorship of The American Legion. The nation's military leaders and highest dignitaries will pay solemn tribute at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, and Americans everywhere will echo this reverence in their hearts.

Among those who will address the nation from this hallowed ground will be National Commander Arthur J. Connell, of The American Legion and Army Secretary Robert T. B. Stevens, who well may stress the thought that the day must never come when we shall forget our fighting men.

NEW HOPE

Members of the American Institute of Architects from all over the US have been in Washington lately to talk shop, eat dinner together, and decide where to meet next year. This conclave may go down in the history books, however, for the suggestion of Waldron Faulkner, former president of the Washington chapter, who suggested we ought to set up a second "working capital" that would not be such a sitting duck for enemy bombers as the present metropolis on the Potomac.

While Mr. Faulkner did not indicate whether the locale should be an abandoned coal mine (a gold mine would be more symbolic, of course), an isolated mountain fastness or perhaps an hermetically-sealed hide-away; he did recommend that it be completely Government-owned, devoted exclusively to the essential functions of government, including Congress and the defense set-up. There would be none of the diversions of private enterprise, such as cocktail parties.

We hope Architect Faulkner's idea was overheard by some of our lawmakers, and that we may look forward to the execution of his plan. The plain people have been trying for a couple of generations to reduce government to its essentials. In fact, a record majority of the plain people agreed with General Eisenhower last November that it was "time for a change." But President Eisenhower after ten months in Washington, seems as bewildered as the rest of us by the bureaucratic ruse and rulings, precedents and pressures that add up to "mustn't touch."

Starting over in Mr. Faulkner's bomb-proof retreat may be the only way.

NON-POLITICAL PRESIDENT

Perhaps President Eisenhower was thinking of Harry Truman's whistle-stop tour in the last campaign when he shocked Republican leaders with the press conference announcement that he did not intend to use the Presidency in partisan elections, and that while he was elected by a part of the people, anyone occupying the office was President of all the people.

But while Mr. Truman's free-style political slugging was a significant factor in the Eisenhower victory and an impossible handicap for the sometimes sly, sometimes sardonic but always gentlemanly Adlai Stevenson; it seems Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall has a higher regard for the Eisenhower platform manner. For, the day after the President's announcement, Mr. Hall was an unexpected White House caller. We don't know whether he was out of breath on arrival, but he admitted he had been receiving telephone calls since the press conference. He also said after his meeting that he expected the President would make some speeches next year on the subject of the accomplishments of the Administration.

They will probably be as "non-political" as some that Harry has made under that classification. And it's also possible they might be delivered in places where Republicans expect no landslide.

Merchants Expect Heavy Buying During Christmas

Merchants in many Texas localities are expecting record holiday trade although sales tapered off some in September after record summer business activity, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

September incomes in nine of 12 Texas crop-reporting districts topped August returns by 2 to 14 percent, with Southern High Plains and Red Bed Plains in the lead. Six districts bettered September, 1952, totals with 1- to 9 percent increases and with the Western Cross Timbers and East Texas Timbers and Plains regions making the best showings.

By city size groups, however, towns under 2,500 population registered decreases in business activity during September, —6 percent less than both September, 1952 and August. Activity for the first nine months of 1953 in those towns was 8 percent less than the same period last year.
