LIONS CLUB Meets at Town Hall, 7:00 P. M. Each Tuesday

T. R. McCasling, City Manager, was a guest of J. Frank Kelley, Capt. Jack Franks, a former member of the club, now living in Dallas, was the guest of Harry Dodson.

Gene Robertson, new baby lion, was introduced and received the usual lion cheers.

Secretary Ted Roark gave his semi-annual report to the club and urged the Finance, Membership and Attendance Committees to be more active.

J. Frank Kelley and Francis Kauer had charge of the program. Kelley introduced Capt. Hallmark of the Texas State Highway Patrol, who in turn introduced Patrolman Cooper, who gave a wonderful exhibition of marksmanship. He used 22 calibre, 33 calibre and 45 calibre guns in the demonstration. Many eyebrow raising feats were performed. Cooper placed a small hand axe in front of the target with the sharp edge of the axe facing him. He then placed a clay target on either side of the axe. With one shot of a 38 he hit the sharp axe, splitting the bullet and breaking both targets.

Possibly the highlight of the demonstration came when Hallmark asked if any one had an ordinary pocket watch. Ralph White was the only one who had one, or was possibly the only one who had enough faith in the shooter to put his watch up as a target. The watch was hung before the target. Cooper placed a three o'clock shot, or one just to the right of the center of the watch. Next came the six o'clock shot, then the nine o'clock position. The last shot was too far to the left. He shot again. This was one-eighth inch still farther to the left. Hallmark very critically told the marksman he knew he could do much better. After long deliberation and several rests for the shaking arm, the gun boomed. A bulls-eye! Right in the middle of Ralph's watch. Ralph said it was all right—he got a new watch for Christmas anyway.

Next week Winston Freeman and Jim Frye will bring the program.

Mrs. H. E. Billingslea, Burkburnett high school teacher, has returned from a two weeks trip to Germany where she spent the Christmas holidays with her husband, Sgt. H. E. Billingslea. Sgt. Billingslea is stationed in Munich, Germany.

Visitors in the Tom Harms home over the Christmas holidays were Major and Mrs. Tom H. Harms and boys of Montgomery, Ala., Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Harms and Linda of Columbus, Mississippi and Mike of North Texas State College of Denton.

It is estimated that by 1960, 40 percent of the entire population of this country will be over forty-five years of age.

Burk's New School Cafeteria Offers Most Modern Facilities

The beautiful light colored brick and tile building was designed by Ray Arnold, Architect of Wichita Falls. Mills and Thweatt of Burkburnett handled the construction.

The building was erected at an approximate cost of $47,000 with an additional $12,800 expended for new equipment.

The Cafeteria has an attractive entrance on College street with convenient and close access to the three school buildings and is located on the East side of the Grade school.

The floors are concrete, finished in red tile color. The walls are finished in Beige colored glazed tiling to a height of about four feet from the floor and the rest of the walls are painted a sea green. The building is approximately 52x100 feet and will accommodate about 400 students comfortably.

The kitchen proper is conveniently and well equipped with Pastry, Salad and Vegetable preparation tables and three large double sinks, all of stainless steel with an additional 100 gallon hot water storage tank supplies an abundance of hot water.

A huge electric refrigerator and a 44 cu. ft. Koch deep freeze allows ample cold storage space. The kitchen is also well supplied with the usual labor saving devices such as: electric potato peeler, mixer and deep freeze.

The dish washing room, just off of the kitchen contains a modern electric washer with the accompanying rinse and drains along with plenty of stainless steel work tables.

The staff is composed of 7 women and 5 student helpers. Mrs. Leo Foster the capable and popular cafeteria Supervisor has an office in the dining room. Mr. Ralph Davis, Supt. of the Burkburnett Schools stated that they plan to hold Open House at a later date.

Mrs. Foster has charge of all buying, menu planning, takes care of all cafeteria tickets for the children, collects and deposits all money for the tickets. She also has charge of the workers in the kitchen.

Those who work with Mrs. Foster are: Mrs. Rainey Wilkerson, Mrs. Mamie Bryant, Mrs. Buna Uselton, Mrs. Maggie Hood and Mrs. Myrtle Hennis, full time workers. Mrs. G. D. Broyles helps during the mealtime rush. Other helpers, all High school students, are: Sharon Ramsey, Billy Ray Mize, Bonnie Elliott, Rehida Gifford, Juanita Howard and Alice McGowan.

FOLLOW UP NEEDED

As Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was expressing his pleasure at the release of two Americans from Soviet prison camps — along with 7,000 Germans and Austrians who have been given amnesty in recent months — Senator Charles E. Potter, (Rep.) of Michigan, announced he was checking into the number of Americans the Communists haven't freed.

The Senator indicated that a formal investigation may follow his personal inquiry — which would seem like a good idea since the number of our fellow citizens reported in Russian prisons has run as high as 5,000.

We congratulate Pvt. Homer H. Cox of Tulsa, Okla., and Leland H. Towers, San Francisco merchant seaman on their deliverance. But we will reserve throwing our hat in the air until the Kremlin give us more impressive evidence of its good intentions.

CAN DO!

One of the best money-saving ideas we have heard of yet is actually to be put into operation by the U. S. Air Force, and practically right now.

By next June 25,000 airmen now serving in depot operations on foreign bases will have been replaced by natives of the various countries and transferred home. During fiscal 1955, an additional 10,000 will be "repatriated," all 35,000 to be assigned to duty with the Air Force wings as they are organized.

Some indication of the potential savings is seen in the fact that the Air Force can hire European civilians for half the Airman's pay, and Japs for less than a third — who can do the work of a man training (which is not being used) has cost US taxpayers $14,000. Savings in Europe are estimated at 36 million dollars, which will be diverted to activating new wings.

Thus, by next June, we will have 116 combat wings instead of the 110, and a year later 120 wings — with 10,000 less men than the authorized strength.

We begin to see what Defense Secretary Wilson means when he promises more defense for less money.

IT'S YOUR RESPONSIBILITY

Let's take a "new look" at traffic safety this month. In previous years safe winter driving programs have warned motorists, "You can't stop on an icy dime" — have tried to promote operation skill with rules and techniques for safe ice and snow driving — have told both motorists and pedestrians the "what" facts on accidents and the "how" of improving the record by observing the laws and common-sense rules of safety.

These all are important factors in any January safety program, and they should not be overlooked this year.

But the "new look" this month — the approach we all might benefit by considering—is the "why" of traffic observances.

"Why" should you know traffic laws and obey them? "Why" should you learn safe driving techniques such as those discussed in the safe winter driving rules listed by the Texas Safety Association?

"Why" should you, as a motorist or a pedestrian, be alert in winter traffic?

One rather obvious answer is found in the January traffic slogan of the Texas Safety Association and the Texas Department of Public Safety: "Stay Alert — Stay Alive in Winter Weather." By getting through winter's traffic without accident you very well may be saving your own life.

Just as important a reason, perhaps, is found in the phrase: "It's your responsibility."

And that responsibility is two-edged. You are responsible for your own safety in traffic — for being accident free yourself.

You also are responsible for others — both motorists and pedestrians — who may be in the wrong, safety-wise, but whom you can save from their own folly if you are alert and careful.

Expert drivers have their cars under control at all times. Expert walkers never take chances in traffic.

So don't blame the weather, or the weatherman, if you have a winter weather traffic accident.

Safety is your responsibility.

VETERANS Administration Questions and Answers

Q—I'm planning to take a correspondence course under the Korean GI Bill. How much will my GI training allowance be?
A—Your training allowance will be computed on the basis of the established charge which the school requires non-veterans to pay for the same course.
Q—As a member of the organized reserves, may I count time spent on training duty—as opposed to regular active duty—in figuring how much entitlement I'll have for Korean GI Bill training?
A—No. Time spent on training duty does not count in determining entitlement under the Korean GI Bill. However, if you were recalled for regular active duty—and not training duty—that time would count.
Q—I understand that if a Korean GI Trainee entitlement runs out past the mid point of a school term or semester, he'll be allowed to finish that term or semester under the Korean GI Bill. Will entitlement be extended for an on the job trainee whose entitlement expires before he finishes his training?
A—No. Entitlement may not be extended under any circumstances for veterans taking on the job or institutional on farm training under the Korean GI Bill. The law permits such extensions only for veterans in school.
Q—Is it possible for two veterans, who own a farm in partnership to take institutional on-farm training on the same farm?
A—Yes, it is possible, provided that conditions are favorable enough to assure the success of both veterans, and provided that both training programs meet all qualifications of the law.

Threat of Fire at Peak In Winter Heating Season

Householders need to take extra precautions against fire during the winter, for the threat of fire is at its peak when cold weather requires the use of heating equipment.

Defective heating equipment leads to about 55,000 fires a year with a total loss approximating $60,000,000, says the National Fire Protection Association. Defective chimneys and flues cause another 30,000 fires, costing nearly $24,000,000. Sparks falling on flammable roofs cause about 22,000 fires, with a loss of $15,000,000.

Heating plants and chimneys should be cleaned annually, the NFPA says, and should be repaired if cracks or loose mortar are found. Furnaces and other heating equipment should be inspected for worn or broken parts. Damaged smokepipes should be replaced.

The danger in a dirty chimney is that it will shoot sparks out onto the roof. To minimize this danger, the NFPA advises the use of fire-resistant asphalt shingles or some other material which will not be kindled into flame by chimney sparks.

Sparks on roofs caused more fires a few years ago than this hazard does now. One of the main reasons for the decrease is that increasing numbers of homeowners have learned to protect their houses with fire-resistant material. Asphalt shingles are now used on about 80 percent of new dwellings and are also the favorite material for re-roofing of older homes.

The NFPA points out that the drop in roof fires is statistical and that the threat to any one building is still great if it is not properly protected.

To guard against fires originating in a heating plant, clearance of at least 18 inches is required between the heating plant and combustible material, the NFPA explains. When this clearance cannot be provided, the combustible material should be insulated, with a one-inch air space between the insulation and the material.

Furnace smokepipes often reach temperatures of 600 to 1,000 degrees. Consequently, they should be kept at least 24 inches from wood beams or walls. Concealed smokepipes are highly dangerous.

The NFPA says fuel storage is often an afterthought in home construction. Fuel oil lines are often situated so that they are subject to breakage. Coal bins are sometimes located too close to the furnace. The NFPA considers competency in furnace, chimney, and roof construction to be of first importance in building a fire-safe home.

"You can't be safe in an unsafe car at any time," he warned. "And it's especially dangerous at Christmas time when bad weather and the holiday spirit combine to make driving more hazardous than usual.

A good place to start when you're giving your car a winter checkup is with the windshield wipers, Col. Tilley said. It's extremely important to have them in good working order.

He also reminded motorists that it's important to keep rear windows free of snow and ice too.

Defrosters, too, should be in good condition, he said. The heater should issue a steady flow of warm-air to keep them working efficiently. As an extra precaution against poor visibility, he recommended carrying an ice scraper.

Good headlights and tail lights are a must for winter driving, because there is so much stormy weather and so much of the day is dark at this time of the year, he reminded motorists.

The properly equipped car should carry tire chains for use on snowy or icy pavements, he said. On snowy or icy roads, however, he pointed out, reduce vice.

"Child safety in traffic is a three-way proposition," Col. E.
B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association and Services Advisor for the Gulf Oil Corporation said today.

Col. Tilley was speaking in connection with the child traffic safety program which his group is sponsoring in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

The safety of children on the streets and highways of our nation is dependent on the traffic attitudes and actions of three groups, parents, motorist and children themselves, he said.

Schools are doing a fine job of teaching safety in the classrooms, from kindergarden on up Col. Tilley pointed out, and in many cases also are conducting driver education courses which give high school students practical experience behind the wheel.

But if the program to save our children from injury and death in motor vehicle accidents is to be really effective, he said, it must be carried beyond the class rooms.

Parents must set a good example to children in their traffic habits, Col. Tilley explained, and must use the authority and discipline of the home to instill in children respect and obedience to traffic safety rules.

Children lack the mature judgment of adults, however, he said and even with the best training, their actions sometimes are unpredictable. So it is up to the motorist to be especially alert near schools and playgrounds, in residential areas, and any place

Western Parade Will Usher In Ft. Worth's Big Show

The old west will live again as hundreds of horses and riders clatter through the business district of Fort Worth for the traditional parade opening the 10-day Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show on Friday afternoon, Jan. 29.

Riding clubs, family groups and individual horsemen are welcome to participate, says Parade Marshal Ernest Allen, vice president of the Stock show. If a group knows ahead of time and will notify parade officials, a special section will be arranged but, Allen adds, "If you don't know till the last minute that you can be here, come on — we will have a place for you."

Horse-drawn vehicles also will take part. The only exception to the "All Western" requirement is bands, of which there will be a dozen or so with the Horned Frog band of Texas Christian University marching in its traditional place at the head of the cavalcade.

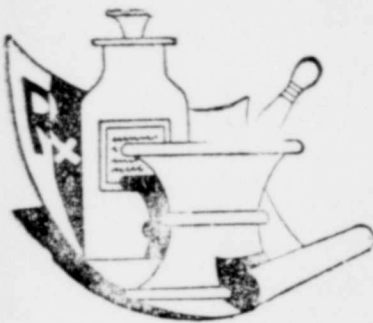

Many thousands of spectators line the streets each year to view the parade, which begins forming at 12:30 p. m. and starts at 2 o'clock.

Dr. and Mrs. R. M. Brumage and daughters spent the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Buzbee of Iowa Park.

Paul and Bertie Machel visited Mrs. E. C. Hennis and Mrs. Boldin during Christmas.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

A scene like this is a must for the family album.

If It's a Party, It's a Picture

YES indeed, party time is picture taking time, whether it is a family affair, a small fry birthday, or an adult affair.

When it's a birthday, the snapshots you make are important for record purposes—and don't forget that the parents of the young guests would like prints of those that show their children.

But with other parties, it's picture taking just for fun—and for keeping memories of that fun fresh to enjoy in years to come.

One of the things that make party pictures so very satisfactory is that the people always come out looking so very nice. In fact, a party setting offers one of the best possible occasions for picturing people. First of all, we usually try to look our best on festive evenings. Secondly, we're relaxed and having a good time. That makes an unbeatable combination for producing natural, attractive snapshots of your favorite people.

The party gives you a reason for picture taking and you can get good informal group pictures, with a definite center of interest. All of the things that go with a good snapshot are at hand. It isn't hard to find something for your subject to do, or a center of interest to give him or her a focal point of attention. It brings people together in a setting that helps the picture tell without explanation the story of why they are together at the particular time.

Flash photography is the secret to successful party pictures. You can hold sunlight in your hand when you pick up the little bulb. When you insert it in the reflector flash attachment that fits right on the side of your camera, you have your light source right where you want it. The same movement which opens the shutter flashes the bulb at just the right instant. You can carry your light right with you, wherever you want. In addition, some of these flash bulbs are very fast and will endow the simplest of cameras with enough extra speed to stop any normal movement your subject may make. This makes party picture taking easy indeed and puts it in the can't miss class—if you'll only follow the distance directions packed with the film and printed on the flash bulb carton.

Musical Progress

By J. S. Gore

Some people who have read my article in December issue of the Progressive Farmer entitled "For More Singing" and the article in Burk Star of Nov. 26th, "Musical Progress" seem to think I am rather radical, or made exaggerating statements; however, most of such persons were unable to even state the definition of Music, which is simply the Science of Sound, which have perceivable pitch. Other kinds of sound are only noise and have no part of worshipful song service.

I admitted that the round note music was important in instrumental music; however, such a small proportion of the people ever learn instrumental music, it is very needful for them to learn shaped notes for speed and accurate tonality when singing. The seven notes can be learned in one hour, as the key note of do is triangler like gable of a house top, re (pronounced ray) is like a soup bowl, mi (pronounced me) is diamond box and ti (pronounced tee) reshaped, fa like the house top blown over on one side, sol the noly round note used, la is square like a box and ti, pronounced tee resembles a sno cone or top.

The public schools attempt to teach singing, but I have never found an eighth grade pupil that could tell one note from an other unless they had attended at least one ten lesson singing school of shaped note lessons.

I would advise each teacher of piano or other instruments, to get familiar with the above description of the seven notes and see how well you can sing the notes to "Leaning On The Ever-Lasting Arms", in less than one hours practice, so you may know that it is unfair to hinder vocal lessons in shaped notes, which may be learned in one thirteenth of the time required to learn by the methods used in teaching instrumental music. You will find that song is ideal for tonality and ear training, by just starting off with the well known melody, singing, me me me ray dough, ray ray ray dough la, so sol do ti do re me re; thus continue until you can read them at correct speed, letting your hand move downward on the note following the measure bar then left, then right, then moving upward just in front of the next bar, ready to give the down beat following the measure bar. It will surprise you how many song directors, just wave their hand around but with not enough precision for an experienced singer in the back of the congregation to keep perfectly with him, in case they are unable to hear his voice; which, helps to explain some of the poor congregational singing, as so few of the leaders know how to beat time, especially a song starting in 3-4 time and changing to 4-4 time in the chorus or in 12-8 time, which are fully explained in the short time singing schools especially the full 13 lesson course.

Many pianists can transpose a composition downward from sharps to flats, but with the shape note knowledge they are able to transpose upward also with accuracy. If you are a graduate, you leave impression that you are well posted in music; therefore, you take the chance of a person who only has weeks shaped note singing catch you in a music that you do not just take time to attend chance, and be sure a lesson, which will to forever avoid any of the use of shaped note helping to have congregational singing in especially when singing an instrument; further will not have to sing new songs.

Age To Wives

Discusses Jobs Men

By Roger W. Babson

Start 1954 by writing servicemen's wives. They are wondering what you can do to help them. Certainly, don't wait until they get back before you discuss the future. Devote to this subject your next letter to him. Enclose a message from me. Employers will be helpful. If your husband had a job when he was drafted, the chances are good that his former employer would take him back. However, if your husband is to be content to be a big wheel again, returns? Men differ. Men will do better business by themselves in large cities; while in small cities and towns try to make your own way over into someone else's. Find out what he is best at, then help him make it.

Opportunities Everywhere exist today which exist a year or more ago. Buy them everywhere—closed real estate, down garages, vacant lots, etc. As an illustration, the closed automobile agencies. To buy one of these now, properly located where a family can live on the property, may be like finding money.

Small stores and lunchrooms, where the owner can live upstairs or adjoining, are now for sale cheap. They will be in demand again some day. No one will get rich in such a place; but it gives independence and assures work to all the family. The same applies to scores of little businesses, from barber shops to repair shops of all kinds. There will always be good opportunities for anyone who knows more about anyone thing than anyone else in his neighborhood.

Parking Land is good Insurance

I think that a piece of land will appeal to many returning soldiers. Incidentally, the best buy in every community is that adjoining or near a parking lot. If you and your husband came from a farm and want to go back to the same home farm, this is wonderful. However, unless you know farming, you had better be content with an acre of good land located near schools, stores, and a church. Latest scientific agricultural experiments indicate that you can feed your family on a very small plot, provided your husband has some "job on the side" to get spending money. Have you read my recent column on "New Inventions and New Discoveries?" Those contemplating land for farming should buy adjoining a State or U. S. Agricultural Experiment Station.

Buy Merchandise & Bank Stock

In almost every community there are several "chain stores." They may be grocery chains, or a variety chains, such as the "5 cent to 5 dollars" kind. Ask your local banker to tell you which of these in your town has its stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Buy a few shares. This might even help your husband in getting a job with one of these growing merchandising concerns.

Perhaps before buying a chain store stock, it would be well to buy a few shares of stock in your local bank. Banks are doing well right now, and it may help your husband get started right to have a few shares of local bank stock and to know the men who run the bank.

Parents Should Help More

Soldiers who have been overseas are coming home with better ideas than they left. Many are realizing that the only things worthwhile for a family or a nation are (1) good land; (2) good babies; (3) good education; and (4) good character. I trust that fathers and mothers, as well as wives and sweethearts, will encourage these sensible ideas. Parents, especially, should help their young people get started right when they return. But begin to plan for them NOW; remember, "Shrouds don't have pockets."

Texas State Dept. of Health

By Geo. W. Cox, M. D.

Regular licensing of nursing homes operating in Texas got underway this week, the State Department of Health said today. The department has been issuing temporary licenses since last July to both nursing and convalescent homes. Regular licensing has been delayed until the State Board of Health approved minimum operating standards formulated by the department.

The board unanimously approved operating standards for nursing homes at its Dec. 14 meeting, but standards of operation for convalescent homes have not yet been acted on. The department was charged by the last legislature with the responsibility for seeing that elderly residents in nursing and convalescent homes are properly housed and attended to when ill.

A nursing home can be granted a permanent license after a trained inspector has checked its method of operation for compliance with the law, State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox said. The license must be renewed each year.

"We've got a responsibility to fulfill to our elderly citizens," Dr. Cox said. We'd rather fulfill it by cooperating with nursing homes operators, rather than resorting to police tactics.

Non-compliance with minimum operating standards will mean a denial of license, and operating without a license will mean a fine. Inspectors will work through local health officials whenever possible, Dr. Cox said. Under terms of the law, a nursing home is an institution that gives routine medical and nursing care to residents. Convalescent homes are defined as institutions giving custodial care but not nursing or medical care.

Any home, the law says, where 4 or more more residents unrelated to the owner are furnished services beyond board, room, and laundry will fall under a nursing or convalescent home classification.

Heils and Howls Hit "Stalig 17" At Palace Sun.-Mon.
