BEST SOURCE OF PROTEIN

Americans are hearty meat eaters. We consume 65,000,000 pounds of it every day, enough to fill 2500 railroad refrigerator cars. Our annual per capita consumption is 76 pounds, which is well ahead of most other countries.

Yet there are nations which eat far more meat than we do. To take the extreme example, the average citizen of Argentina, a country whose economy has long been largely based on cattle, puts away 248 pounds of beef each year.

Many authorities think that within the next 10 years American consumption can and should rise to perhaps double the current level. The American National Cattle-men's Association is now engaged in a nationwide beef promotion program, and packers and retailers are co-operating. The program's theme is, "Beef is your best source of protein."

That is much more than just an attractive slogan. It is a matter of scientific fact. One of the major discoveries of recent years in the field of dietetics is that beef, because of its high protein content, contributes greatly to the mental and physical health and vigor of individuals. It also has been found valuable in aiding the treatment and recovery of people suffering from many forms of illness. And it's a food which the average person can eat once or more a day and still find palatable.

Whatever increase in demand for beef and other meats comes in the future will greatly benefit the farmer, and our great meat industry is prepared to handle it.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

ODESSA, Texas, American: "—any government with strongly centralized power poses a threat to personal liberty. Each time we take another step toward socialism, government control and higher taxes in our own country we should pause and think what life offers for the individual in countries where power is vested in the state."

COATESVILLE, PA. Record: "Some of the railroads are making it easier for families with a lot of baggage to handle it in railroad stations. Pittsburgh and Boston stations have carts one can rent for two bits and you get a dime change when you take it back."

TRENTON, NEBR., Register: "We value education highly and appreciate a form of government that allows free education to all whether they have the ability to pay — but are still strongly inclined to think that all families would be willing to pay in part for the education of their children, and from that would value the education more highly."

DILLON, S. C., Herald: "We may not be in the throes of a depression but we are in the midst of a mild recession. One wonders how this could happen when the volume of money in circulation is by far the largest in the nation's history. It is because the value of the dollar is at a low level. As the price of labor and commodities goes up the buying power of the dollars goes down."

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Record: "The security we have the easier lives, the pleasures we enjoy all come from the investment of capital, and not in any way from magic words or high-sounding terms."

Nicaragua-Guatemala Relations Broken

Nicaragua has broken off Diplomatic Relations with Guatemala—and suggested to Washington that the 21 Western Hemisphere republics confer on the Communist peril on this side of the world. Honduras and El Salvador may follow Nicaragua's lead. Asked about that shipment of arms from Poland to Guatemala, President Eisenhower replied that he was disturbed at the thought of a Communist outpost on this continent. Senator George A. Smathers (Dem.) of Florida declared the arms shipment was a violation of the Monroe Doctrine.

We have been wondering what had become of that Monroe Doctrine, and it's nice to know it's still around somewhere. Maybe we ought to dust it off.

GOING ALL-OUT

The New York Times recently featured an article under the by line of J. H. Carmical which said this "The major oil companies are going all-out to give the American motorist a better quality gasoline—Virtually every refining company has introduced a new motor fuel that is supposed to give up to 25 percent more power and 8 to 10 percent more road mileage. The improved gasoline has been brought out after the expenditure of millions of dollars in research and hundreds of millions in processing equipment."

Mr. Carmical explained that the improvement is obtained by rearranging gasoline's molecules, which results in a product with a higher octane reading.

This development is of direct interest to the automobile owner, who naturally wants gas that will give him more performance and mileage per gallon. It also holds a significance of a very different kind, in that it illustrates just how competitive the oil business is. Men and companies don't spend huge sums of money for any purpose just for the fun of it. They spent it because competition forces them to try to give the customers more for his money. The concern which fails to keep up this match of progress dies.

What is true of gasoline, is true of the thousand and one products that originate in crude oil. No one has a monopoly. And the business goes to those who do the best job.

Dividends Pay For Necessities

The News-Herald, of Italy, Texas, has made this editorial statement: "The American way of capitalizing industry amounts to a partnership of millions of wage earners and investors."

"A survey of this community to determine the number of people who benefit from stock dividends, would surprise many who have the antiquated picture in their mind of a stockholder as a bloated individual manipulating a pair of shears as he clips coupons. It would show more than a few, we are sure, who depend on their dividends to help pay for necessities of life."

In this modern era, stock ownership is primarily for the many with moderate incomes, rather than for the few in the upper brackets.

"High-Priced" Mistake

Maybe you noticed the big "ad" Red Smith's Furniture Store ran in The Clarion last week. One item caused some embarrassment around here. It read: "4-piece Bedroom Suite, regular price $119.50, bargain price $149.50." Guess I didn't "proof-read" too well, and when our pressman asked for the go-ahead, I yelled, "Let 'er go."

All kinds of jokes about the mistake. One fellow asked if Smith's was holding the price line so tight it just snapped. Turned out fine in the end—Red sold that suite for the real sale price, of course.

From where I sit, it's lucky my carelessness didn't cost Red any business. I'm the one who's always "experting" on being careful—careful of our responsibilities, careful of our neighbors' rights. Even careful to respect the other fellow's preference for a glass of beer. Let's all make a bargain to be more careful in the future.

Grade School News

We are planning many fine picnics for the last few days of the school year. The boys and girls look forward to the picnic as the high light of the school year activities. It is indeed very exciting to think about a lunch and going on a trip. Many schools have become aware of the great teaching possibilities that are involved in the social and educational advantages that are fostered in the field trips and picnics, and have made them a very important part of school activities.

Many of the boys and girls are planning on trips for the summer vacation period. We have a very unusual number that would like to continue going to school until the weather gets too warm for staying inside. They have been unusually good this spring and the fever has not hit as hard as it has in the past.

Destroy Bagworms Now Before They Ruin Your Plants

A cone shaped bag hanging from your plants is the cue to destroy the bagworm — now before they ruin your plants. Bagworms are usually found on arbovitae and cedar-like plants, but some species munch on althea, elms, roses, and oaks. At this time, a spray or dusting will kill the bagworms. Later when they are grown, the pest must be removed by hand and burned.

Two sprayings of 10 percent chlordane, applied a week apart, will kill the bagworms, says B. T. Haws, County Agent. Another effective killer is a spray of 3 tablespoons of lead arsenate to one gallon of water. Toxaphene may also be applied as a spray. Dusting of 10 percent chlordane or 10 percent toxaphene are good.

News From The Congress

By FRANK IKARD

The events of the last few weeks in Indochina, Geneva and elsewhere around the world have pointed up more than anything else our need to let our friends in the world know that we Americans are interested in achieving and maintaining peace in the world and that we seek no territory, no colonies and no preferential treatment for ourselves. If we are to accomplish this result that we all so greatly desire, we must, above everything else, have our government devoted to a bipartisan or actually a non partisan foreign policy. This country can never successfully have a foreign policy that is a Democratic policy or a Republican policy. In dealing with foreign countries we can only deal on an American policy. It must be made clear to everyone else in the world that all of us, Democrats and Republicans, first as Americans think alike as far as foreign affairs are concerned. Problems that confront us in the world cannot be settled or solved without their being approached by a unified American people. We have, I believe, made some progress toward reaching the unity in foreign affairs that we must have. All indications are now that even more progress will be made in this direction within the next few weeks since the leaders of both parties have indicated their desire to get together on this vital problem. I hope that this unity can be established within a very short time so that our world policy can begin to make progress instead of being slowed down by partisanship.

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Broyles and Jobie and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Broyles and children of Wichita Falls attended a family reunion at Trinity Park in Ft. Worth Sunday, May 23rd, where approximately 100 relatives enjoyed the day. Later in the afternoon the Broyles families drove on to Dallas where they visited the John Cox family.

1953-54 School Year Ends

The 1953-54 school year ends on May 28, 1954. This year has been an interesting one.

Forty-six seniors will be bidding adieu to dear ole Burk High. With them they will be taking the memories of the wonderful times had in school. Many of them fail to realize this at the present time, but as the years go by and they are faced with the ups and downs of life, they can think back and relive those happy moments.

The senior class will be leaving for New Orleans on May 27. They will leave as a group and return as a group. Some may fail to realize that as they depart from the bus upon returning, this will be the last time when all of them will be together.

One or two years from now, most of them will have left Burk to enter business, attend college, or for various other reasons.

To be sure, graduation is a very happy occasion, but it is also a very sad one. The writer has these words to leave with the seniors of 1953-54.

"I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." (Phil. 4:13)

DEVOL NEWS

Mrs. C. O. WOODLEY

Heavy rains were received in this community Sunday night and Monday postponing wheat harvest several days. J. W. Branham, Jr., cut the first wheat in this immediate area Saturday afternoon. Harvest will very likely be in full swing now as soon as the fields are dry enough for the heavy machines to enter.

A surprise pounding was given Rev. and Mrs. O. M. McKinney Friday evening when wheat harvest was held at the parsonage. Approximately 75 friends and church members called during the evening.

Sgt. and Mrs. David Hurt were informed their daughter, Diane Marie, a first grader, received highest scores in tests given recently by county school officials.

Initiatory and honoring past matrons and patrons were featured during a special meeting held May 18th by Burk Burnett chapter 655 at the lodge with Mrs. Ada Lois Burnett, the worthy matron in charge.

After the opening drill, the chapter was opened in regular form. Visitors from Randlett and Iowa Park were introduced and welcomed. Invitations were extended by the worthy matron to the past matrons and patrons to fill the stations and exemplify the initiatory work.

The regular officers relinquished their stations for the evening to Ada Lois Burnett, worthy matron; Henry Ferguson, worthy patron; Ruth McBride, associate patron; Oscar McBride, associate patron; Gerald Tyler, secretary; R. L. Gragg, treasurer; Helen Turner, conductress; Elizabeth Gragg, associate conductress; Jessie Jones, chaplain; Alice Goodwin, marshal; Lillie Tyler, organist; Mabel Johnson, Adah; Josie McGee, Ruth; Mary Cecil, Esther; Lorene Edison, Martha; Elsie Crosley, Electa; Eva Clement; Warder; Otis McGee, sentinel; Other past patrons present were R. The second highlight of the evening, the worthy matron instructed the marshal to lead those who had faithfully served their fellow men to the East. Sister Ada Lois paid tribute to the past matrons and past patrons for their past work and service and calling each by name and gave the year in which they served. As each name was called she presented them with a lovely gift. Each accepted their gift with words of appreciation.

For the occasion, the dining hall was decorated in colorful arrangements of spring flowers by Mrs. W. P. Sims.

Refreshments were served to 59 members and visitors.

Burk Students Prove Thrifty

The Burk Burnett public school system has established an excellent thrift practice among students.

During the current school year the three schools have had approximately 366 students participating in the purchase of savings stamps and U. S. Savings bonds.

Approximately $2,500 has been invested in savings stamps of which some $2,200 has been converted to savings bonds by the students.

In the 18 grade school rooms sales were handled by the home room teacher. In the junior high sales were handled by an elected student under supervision of the principal.

Credit for this commendable practice goes to the faculty which inaugurated the program some two or three years ago. The thrift project has been proving more popular with the students each year it has been in operation. The present year has seen the highest student participation of all.

The secrets and beautiful lessons portrayed by the heroines of the order were revealed and the chapter was happy to extend the fraternal hand of friendship to Ruby Weaver and Edith Edison.

The second highlight of the evening, the worthy matron instructed the marshal to lead those who had faithfully served their fellow men to the East. Sister Ada Lois paid tribute to the past matrons and past patrons for their past work and service and calling each by name and gave the year in which they served. As each name was called she presented them with a lovely gift. Each accepted their gift with words of appreciation.

For the occasion, the dining hall was decorated in colorful arrangements of spring flowers by Mrs. W. P. Sims.

Refreshments were served to 59 members and visitors.

Trains Again Using Burk River Bridge

Temporary repair work is sufficiently completed on the Katy Railroad bridge across Red River north of Burk Burnett to allow passage of trains.

No. 84, northbound freight, crossed at noon and No. 83 southbound crossed at 4 p. m. Wednesday.

Two 25-man crews working two pile drivers have been working day and night replacing and repairing the 24 bents washed out or damaged by the high water last week. The center portion of the bridge which was washed out of the line was replaced.

The temporary repairs are to be replaced with steel and concrete construction, according to R. L. McCraig, bridge building foreman for the Katy. The work of driving steel piling is to start immediately.

There are now 12 steel and concrete spans at the south end of the bridge which were built about two years ago, and 20 or 21 more spans are to be added by new construction which will then extend the new bridge across the river. There will be 13 steel spans of 28 feet and 8 steel spans of 42 feet length.

McGaug stated they would complete the job in 60 to 90 days unless hampered by weather. A crew of 20 men will be employed.

The Katy sees no delay or difficulty in moving the coming wheat crop.

Longhorn Cavern Largest In State

Sightseeing Texans have "discovered" a spectacular scenic wonder within the state's own borders—Texas Longhorn Cavern, the third largest in the world.

A trickle of visitors to the giant cave became a flood last year, Manager H. H. (Hob) Galloway said, and a record number of vacationers, tourists and just folks driving by are expected this summer. Over a quarter of a million sightseers from all over the country already have explored the cavern.

Longhorn Cavern State Park and the adjacent Inks State Park are particularly beautiful at this time of year, when the wild flowers are in bloom. Mr. Galloway pointed out. The road to the cavern from U. S. 281 is six miles of pavement that winds and dips thru rolling fields of colorful daisies, black-eyed Susans, Indian paint brush, gallardia, purple sage, yucca and cacti of various types.

Mr. Leo Bryant suffered a heart attack early Tuesday morning. He was taken to a Wichita Falls hospital and is improving at this time.

Segregation

By R. D. LANEY

Education and poli- cers already have start- on problems arising United States Supreme decision which outlaws in public schools. mentous decision was received calmly thru- south. What to do about and public schools south now rests with a community.

is a historic announce- by the highest court and in tune with of events. But if it be with the Emancipation tion, as it well could it must be remembered many people of the bears the ring of the on Appomattox. If it aimed that here demo- was then the Union, in its entirety, let ed in that, as at itox, there also be fore- and understanding.

now in order for us to at much of the South quite a different world which we see out of our . At best however, the es a task far greater zens remote from the the problem can readily it will take tolerance and patience in the states where 40 percent of the country's public school pupils are involved. There is need for many in the South to realize the world has changed incredibly since the Civil War. But not to the extent that the High Court's decision will be received with any outward manifestation of enthusiasm by those mothers whose children will be subjected to such a radical change in their school environment at some unknown date in the future.

The question now arises, what can the southern states with segregation laws now separating their children do? It is agreed to put white and Negro children into the same schools — where they have been separated since time immemorial — will cause the deepest kind of social problem. The South now faces a challenge to meet the problem with a minimum of conflict and difficulty — short of another Civil war.

It is generally agreed that change in racial relations is so far reaching that it will take months and possibly years before final echoes are heard. There has not been an opinion made by the Supreme Court in a century which cuts thru and invalidates so many local provisions and state constitutions. While the tendency of northern states without large elements of Negro population will be to rejoice at the new doctrine, while the social problem for the southern states is grave indeed.

The new opinion undoubtedly represents a history making landmark but grave doubts exist about the practicability of any quick action being taken by any of the Southern states. It is agreed that the problem of application of this principal of segregation will be many and difficult. There is no minimizing the problems that face those responsible for its enforcement.

It must be worked out by themselves in the way in which they can carry out their basic principles.

In many localities, especially in lower grades schools, it will be a long time before there is or needs to be — such mixing of races. The schools will reflect the population. And in communities where the population is mainly negro, or mainly white, the schools will likely continue in this pattern. It will be in the high schools, universities and colleges and technical institutes where the races will mingle sooner, but at these levels the problem is far easier.

The Voice of America's dissemination of the decision to the four corners of the world met with mixed response. In many friendly nations, newspapers heaped praises on the decision, but there was no reference to the enormous size and gravity of the American problem of race relations, a problem far more difficult than that concerning tiny minorities of Negro population who live in British and French homelands.

The South made no apologies for having made important progress in the solution of the race problems for a good many past decades. Nothing has been more significant than the decrease in lynching, the unbridled release of animality and hate which were once the measure of our unsolved problems in connection with the Negro, who does not as a rule, crave social equality with the white man.
