Your Free Chest X-Ray At Corner Drug Store

Starting Sept. 4th from 9:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. is the day to get your free chest x-ray at the Corner Drug Store in Burkburnett. This service is rendered by the Wichita County mobile x-ray unit which has been covering the county from August 19 to Sept. 15th. The chest x-ray is approved by the Wichita County Medical Society and every person 15 years of age or older.

Chest x-rays find tuberculosis before its victims have any symptoms. If every adult would get a chest x-ray every year, Texas would ultimately stamp out tuberculosis and remember it is possible to prevent hundreds of deaths rather than to cure just one.

Body in and around Burkburnett and the surrounding counties in Oklahoma are being urged to get their free chest x-ray this year not only for their own protection, but also to be announced that if residents do not participate in the program, then Burkburnett will be the only town in the county to do not have to undress for a chest x-ray.

Get a chest x-ray.

LIONS CLUB Meets at Town Hall, 7:00 P. M. Each Tuesday

Roy Mitchell, a former member, was welcomed back to the club as an active member.

President Herman Miller reminded those present to have their free chest X-rays made Saturday, Sept. 4th at the Corner Drug Store. Lions have pledged to see that all their employees take advantage of this free service by the Wichita Co. T-B Association.

A unanimous vote of the club raised the monthly dues from $4.50 to $4.75 to take care of a 25c per month levy to go to the Lions Club Crippled Children's Home at Kerrville, Texas. All Lions Clubs of Texas are contributing to this home.

Newt Anthony and Wylie Browning had charge of the program. Anthony introduced Joe Bob Tyler, head high school football coach. Tyler introduced his assistants, Ted Averet, Jack Robinson and Walter Koller. In giving a word picture of the 1954 football team, Coach Tyler said most of the boys were inexperienced, but that they were the best football spirit of any team he ever coached. Last year Tyler lost nearly all his regulars via the graduation route. The one bright spot on the picture is the fact that many of the other teams in this district are in almost the same situation as Burkburnett in that they too have inexperienced players.

Next week A. R. Bunstine and J. L. Caffee will bring the program.

Information From Social Security Office at Wichita

Over 10 1-2 million married women now are gainfully employed on jobs of various kinds, according to Erton Tate, manager of the Wichita Falls Social Security office. Many in this group of workers are the mothers of small children. The money income from their job forms no small part of family income. It should be a comfort for these working mothers to know their children can depend on some help from Social Security should the mother's wages be cut off by death.

Social Security is survivor insurance and means monthly cash income to her young children should the mother meet the requirements of the law. This coverage is an important insurance provision for families.

Consult your Social Security office for information concerning these survivors' benefits.

A representative of the Social Security office will be at the City Hall in Burkburnett on September 14, 1954, at 9:30 A. M.

Burk Bulldogs Inexperienced But Have Right Spirit

The football picture for Burkburnett this season is not a bright one so far as the number of probable wins is concerned. But, Coach Joe Bob Tyler and his assistants are not singing the blues over the situation. They contend that the number of wins or losses does not count for everything—it's the way the game is played and the attitude of the boys participating. They claim this year's group of football boys has the best team spirit and the best spirit of co-operation of any team they ever coached!

Graduation took most of the regulars from last year's team. The group this year is almost entirely without experience. But their spirit is offsetting their lack of experience to a great extent. Last Saturday they went to Chillicothe for a practice game. The Chillicothe team, all experienced, scored two quick touchdowns against the Bulldogs. Profiting by the mistakes which had allowed those touchdowns, the Burk boys roared back and scored five times and held their opponents scoreless for the remainder of the scrimmage. That might be the main reason why the Bulldog camp is not moaning the blues.

The first game for the season for the Bulldogs will be played at Bowie Friday night, Sept. 10th. The following Friday night, Holiday brings a strong team to Burk. Then on Sept. 24th Burk goes to Iowa Park.

District Meeting Of Farm Bureau September 16th

A district meeting of the Farm Bureau will be held Thursday, September 16th, beginning at 10:00 A. M. The meeting will be held at the YWCA in Wichita Falls.

The purpose of this meeting is to discuss current issues and lay plans for developing new Farm Bureau policies for next year.

In urging all county leaders to be present, J. Walter Hammond, president of the Texas Farm Bureau called their attention to the fact that the Texas Legislature would be meeting next January with several vital issues expected to come before the lawmakers.

"There will be an intensive effort to increase the funds provided for road building, which will involve a new source of revenue," Hammond stated. "And some of the proposals to raise this additional revenue will be an increased tax on gasoline, abolition of the tractor gas refund, a tax on natural gas, a state sales tax, or a state income tax."

A highlight of the Wichita Falls meeting will be the crowning of a district queen.

CONFUSION COMPOUNDED

Dr. Otto John, the former West German security chief who disappeared from West Berlin, July 20 and rocked four nations with a press conference in Communist East Berlin three weeks later, has been formally named a traitor by the Adenauer Government. In Washington, where John had dinner with Allen Dulles, head of the hush-hush Central Intelligence Agency, talked with high brass at the Pentagon and with Chief of the FBI, J. Edgar Hoover only two months ago, officials still insist that the worrisome German was abducted and has been brain washed.

Dr. John told 300 correspondents in East Berlin that he had defected to Communism to try to save his fellow Germans from a return to Nazism and militarism under the policies of the US and the West German government which would result in a disastrous Western attack on Communism.

Whether John told our officials that US policy was returning to Nazism to Germany, we shall probably never know. But, between the time of his departure from the West Zone and his public appearance in the East, Americans were startled to read in their newspapers that President Eisenhower had told President Adenauer that he did not approve of any of the pending legislation for the return of about $500,000,000 worth of seized German assets.

Secretary of State Dulles, who supported the Dirksen Bill to return alien property, told his press conference he thought the Administration shared his views, but the situation was confused. And since Mr. Herbert Brownell's Justice Department is pulling for another pending bill that is the direct reverse, authorizing the Alien property Custodian to sell these properties and turn the money over the War Claims Commission (and which Justice claims the Administration supports) confusion is hardly the word.

And if you want a little more confusion, a column by a leftist American commentator, written considerably before Dr. John's press conference, presents the same line pursued by the ex-security chief.

Or, of course, the German policy wobble here at home might be nothing more than a trial of strength between Secretary Dulles and New York's Governor Dewey.

A QUIET REVOLUTION

Short of atomic energy, no development in the history of our country has held greater significance than changes in the agricultural scene during recent decades. One farm equipment concern has dramatized the situation in a series of advertisements showing an attractive young housewife in her kitchen surrounded by work saving conveniences of modern living such as the washing machines, deep freeze, refrigerator, electric range, garbage disposal unit, and other items. These things, the advertisement points out, have been made possible by mechanization on the farm which has steadily reduced manpower requirements in agriculture. The energy of millions has thus been released from food production to the production of the countless necessities and luxuries which make this country a good place to live.

The July issue of Successful Farming describes a few late developments in cattle feeding, farm machinery, and land management which are typical of the progressive trend in agriculture. For example, experiments revealed that corn stalk silage with proper supplements is excellent for fattening beef. In step with this development, another farm equipment manufacturer has announced a new machine that in the words of Successful Farming will "pick the ears, chop the stalk and deliver each to different wagons." Thus the value of the corn is doubled, and the cause of more efficient food production has received another boost.

What is the reason for this quiet revolution in American agriculture? It is the old, but fundamental element of profit. The farmer uses improved techniques because they pay. The farm equipment manufacturer strives to meet the requirements of the farmer because that pays. Consumers reap the benefits.

IT IS REASSURING to hear that work has actually begun to arm the Atlantic coast from Cape Hatters to Newfoundland with a chain of twenty offshore "radar islands."

With a grateful bow to the petroleum industry, the Defense Department will construct platforms similar to those drilling rigs in the Gulf of Mexico. These "islands" as much as 125 miles from shore, will have area enough for radar masts, and equipment quarters for 20 to 30 men and landing space for a helicopter.

Right now, adequate perimeter defense, plus overseas bases of our own, look better than NATO or EDC.

Fire Drills Are A Safety Factor

Prompted by Frequency of school fires, the National Board of Fire Underwriters is urging improved construction for new buildings, and a program of structural changes in existing buildings, in order to make them reasonably safe.

The National Board also points out that school fire drills should be started during the first three days of the fall term.

"It is essential in the event of fire to have the children leave the building in an orderly manner and to reach a point of safety without injury," says Lewis A. Vincent, NBFU's general manager.

Questions of Fire Fighting, of salvaging wearing apparel, or of attempting in any way to save material things are secondary to the safety of the school children.

The matter of saving property from destruction can well be left in the hands of the fire department, or to such adults as may be detailed to this work after all have left the building, he added.

Fire safety experts also say a definite program must be provided in which the location of all the available exits will be known to all of the school children. To accomplish this it is necessary to have frequent drills well planned, properly supervised and intelligently coordinated.

Frequency of drills is more important in the primary and grammar grades than in the high school grades. By the time pupils have reached high school, the panicky feeling of a drill should no longer exist. Drills might be subdivided as follows: Plan purpose, procedure.

Plan: The plan will depend on the type, kind, design and location of the school building, the number of teachers, age of the children, the possible use of older children as monitors and the general character and physical condition of the children. Special provisions must be made for the removal of those who are handicapped or crippled.

Purpose: Drills are to accustom people to the action which should be taken during a fire. Fires may be taken.

Fires may occur at any minute, therefore no fixed time should be set for any drill and no notification should be sent to any teacher. To completely evacuate the building is the main consideration and must always be borne in mind.

Procedure: Practice in mass marching is always worthwhile. Release from discipline inside of a building is seldom advisable. When sufficient yard space is not available classes must be able to cross streets safely.

News From The Congress

By FRANK IKARD

Due to the fact that Congress as adjourned and I will be in the District most of the time between the middle of September and the first of the year, this will be the last of these weekly letters until the new Congress convenes in January. Between now and January, it is my hope that I will have an opportunity to visit in every county in the District.

Two of the Committees of which I am a member, however, will be holding hearings throughout the Fall. One of these Committees is a special committee created to investigate alleged labor racketeering and will probably hold hearings in Detroit, Cleveland, and New York City sometime during the Fall. Plans are for this Committee to be active and, of course, it will be necessary for me to attend the hearings whenever they are held. Another Committee of which I am a member, Military Operation Committee, also has scheduled hearings for the next two and a half weeks and some later on in the Fall. The hearings of this Committee will deal with problems of supply, management and the disposal of surplus property by the Armed Services. Some of these hearings are scheduled for military installations in Europe and will be concluded about the middle of September. This Military Operations Subcommittee is one of the so-called "watchdog" committees that has been set up to investigate military spending and has been actively engaged in the study of many of the activities of the military departments. This Subcommittee has been instrumental in the past in calling many matters to the attention of the Armed Services which have resulted in changes contributing greatly to the efficiency and economy of their operations. I expect these hearings to be concluded around the middle of September, and I shall be home about the 20th and will remain there most of the time until January. My office at Room 206, Federal Building, Wichita Falls, will be open all Fall; however, I expect to spend most of my time visiting over the District.

VETERANS Administration Questions and Answers

Q—My National Service Life Insurance has been lapsed for more than three months and I understand I must take a physical examination in order to reinstate it. Will VA give me the examination?

A—Yes. You may receive your physical examination, at no cost from a VA regional office or hospital clinic.

Q—I intend to go to school under the Korean GI Bill. I would like to get a part time job to supplement my GI allowance. Is there any limit on how much money I would be permitted to earn?

A—No. There is no limit on the outside earning of veterans in school under the Korean GI Bill. No matter what you earn, your GI monthly allowances will remain the same.

Q—I am enrolling in college this fall under the Korean GI Bill. When can I expect my first GI allowance check?

A—You will receive your first check about two months after you enroll. Under the law, payments are made after the end of each month of training so that accounts for one month. Then, you and your school must sign a certification that you've been in training all month. VA pays its allowances within 20 days after it receives this certification; so that accounts for almost another month.

Texas Safety Association

"A total of 4,400 children under 15 years old were killed in traffic last year," Col E. B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association, and Services Advisor for the Gulf Oil Corp. said today.

He said that this terrible child death toll in itself would be reason enough for the child traffic safety program which his group is sponsoring this month in Texas in cooperation with the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council.

"But the number of fatalities is only part of the picture, he said. In addition, approximately 225,000 children were injured in traffic accidents in 1953, according to the National Safety Council.

Many of these injuries, Col. Tilley pointed out, will leave the youthful victims maimed or scarred for life.

There is no quick, easy remedy for this deplorable situation on our streets and highways, he said. Instead, it will take a long range program of public education to bring about a lasting improvement. Motorists must come to realize their responsibility for the lives of unpredictable chilpatient treatment for a non-service connected disability? A—No. Under the law, out-patient care may be received only for the treatment of service-connected disabilities.

Fire Department Requests Citizens To Use Care In Burning Trash

The Volunteer Fire Department asks citizens to be more cautious and careful when burning trash. Recently several runs have been made to put out grass fires which showed somebody was terribly neglectful in letting the fire get out of control.

Before burning trash, be sure there are no weeds or grass near the barrel.

Keep the barrel covered with fine mesh wire to keep sparks from setting your house or your neighbor's on fire.

Have a water hose handy and connected to a hydrant—just in case.

Before leaving a trash fire, check and make doubly sure that all fire and coals are out.

Your house or your garage is worth more than your time—if you don't have time to watch the fire—DON'T START IT!

dren and must exercise extra caution when driving in areas where youngsters may be walking or playing. And parents, too, must be made to understand the serious danger involved, and teach their children safety precautions.

Many people today do not realize that traffic is the number one killer of children between the ages of one and 14.

Traffic accidents kill more children in this age group than any one of the highly-publicized childhood diseases, Col Tilley said.

Figures for 1951, the most recent year for which complete statistics are available, show that for one to 14 age group, there were 3,888 deaths due to motor vehicle accidents, he said.

This was five times as many child deaths as were caused the same year by polio and three times as many as were caused by tuberculosis. There were 800 fewer deaths from pneumonia and 600 fewer from cancer, in all its forms, than from traffic accidents in this age group.

He said that if we are to improve this tragic situation we all will need to remember and act on the traffic safety slogan being featured this month in the program of the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety, and the National Safety Council: "Watch Out for Kids."

Optical Illusion 'Lowers the Roof'

You can make a "boxy traditional" house look lower and more modern by applying paint to its masonry surfaces. To create this illusion, here's a decorator's trick: paint horizontal masonry lines to contrast with the rest of the house, and vertical planes to match. Areas to color shown above are (1) concrete steps; (2) construction block foundation; and (3) masonry chimney. This styling has been gaining wide popularity since Martin-Senour introduced Colomac masonry paint in 144 colors, varying from light pastels to deep tones. It can be used on concrete, construction block, stucco, brick, or asbestos shingles. Another way to lower the house is to paint the masonry foundation the same color as the terrain.

mon disease seen by skin specialists during the summer, and the fifth most common disorder in winter. It is due to a little mold-like growth or fungus which thrives best where there is moisture and warmth. Therefore, the feet make an ideal place for the growth of this germ.

"To have athlete's foot, the infection must be gotten either directly or indirectly from someone else," states Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer. "The most common places to contact the infection are around shower rooms, baths or bath houses, locker rooms, and other public places where persons go barefoot. And it is probable that at least one-half of all adults suffer from the infection at some time."

The following measures have been suggested for preventing and avoiding recurrent attacks of athlete's foot

1. After bathing, dry carefully and thoroughly the spaces between the toes.

2. Liberally apply a plain, unscented talcum to those areas and sprinkle it freely in socks, stockings and shoes.

3. Wear properly fitting hose, that are absorbent but not too coarse. Wear shoes that are not too tight, nor too large. They should fit the foot comfortably.

Snap the Smile, Not the Squint

SUN-PLUS-FLASH gives this evenly-lighted natural effect with no more effort than firing a Bantam 8 on the flash-camera.

Even facing full into the sun you find that the eye sockets are just black holes, and forehead is a mass of squint wrinkles. Placing a small SF or Bantam 8 flashbulb in your flash attachment for pictures up to 15 feet with black-and-white film, and a Press 25 for photos up to 25 feet, will eliminate all these defects.

Another easy method of eliminating the irritating squint is to photograph your subject in the shade, and light your picture with flash. Flash will add sparkle to the picture and the shaded area will enable your subject to relax and be himself.

Your ultimate aim is to get good, natural likenesses of the people you photograph, and eliminating the squint to get natural smiles is easy—with flash.

Do your color pictures come back with half of them too dark? Was the sun in the wrong position, causing the faces in the pictures to be in dark shadow?

The solution is simple—brighten your pictures with flash. Simply pop a flashbulb into your flash attachment—a blue one if you're shooting outdoor color film—and take your picture. The normal daylight will light the background, and the light from the flashbulb will brighten the faces and foreground.

FRONT LIGHTING is best and easiest for color pictures. Normal daylight lights the background and flashbulbs brighten the faces and foreground.

Colors in your pictures will give you the desired separation and contrast, and it is not necessary to have a full modeled light. Thus, taking pictures with the flashbulb on the camera will give you the best results for every-day picture-taking.

Proper Treatment Of House Roof Adds to Its Life

A new roof is like a new car—the better care it receives, the more attractive it will look and the longer it will last. The owner of a home will get the best return on his roofing investment if he follows a few simple rules of roof care.

Asphalt shingles are an economical, long-lived roofing material, fire- and weather-resistant, but like any other quality product they deserve good treatment.

Keep gutters, downspouts, and roof surfaces clear of fallen leaves, twigs, and other litter so that water will drain freely and will not back up. Never allow water from a downspout to pour directly onto a roof below; keep the downspout connected to the gutter which drains the lower roof.

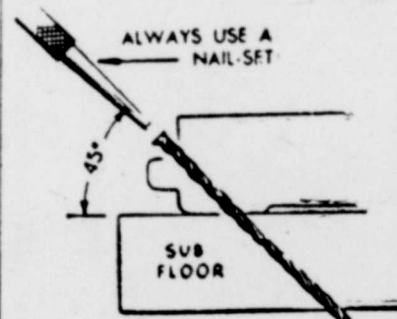

Keep trees trimmed to prevent scuffing of the roof by branches or damage by falling limbs.

Do not walk on roofing. When it is necessary for workmen to go on a roof, they should use walkboards, ladders, or scaffolding. When it is necessary to remove snow or ice from a valley or roof area, be careful not to damage the roof with tools.

Nail Floor Correctly

Attractive, durable hardwood floors continue to be a favorite of American home-owners. Because of the quality of the material, it deserves careful workmanship in construction and good care afterward.

Zinc gives this tip for laying hardwood flooring: Drive nails through the tongue side of each piece of flooring at an angle of 45 to 55 degrees, as shown in the drawing. Do not drive nails home with the hammer head, but sink them with a nail-set to avoid marring the edges of the boards.

PUBLIC SAFETY

20,000 persons are duped to death each year by the fallacy that you are safer driving at night simply because there is less traffic. Actually, you need only a glimpse of the traffic accident picture to realize how fallacious that reasoning really is.

Out of every hundred fatal accidents, 60 occur in the dark when only 25 of every 100 vehicles are operating. In addition to the 20,000 lives, the night toll last year was 900,000 injured and $1 billion of economic loss.

It is because of the greater danger of fatality at night that motorists are urged to observe special safety precautions after dark.

REDUCED SPEED: Driving at night should always be at speeds which permit stopping within range of headlight vision.

WATCH FOR SIGNAL CRASHERS: Never crash lights nor stop signs and don't ever move into an intersection until you have looked in both directions after the light has changed. Don't assume that a green light means safety! Too many drivers like to race through the red end of a light change.

PROPER VEHICLE LIGHTING: Headlights should be accurately focused, kept clean, and rear lights properly operating. Directional signal lights, both front and rear, aid in signaling but no driver at night should assume the mere act of signaling his intent will prevent an accident. He should never intersect traffic unless absolutely sure he has ample time to avoid a "close call".

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Q—I have a farm fence more than a mile long. I cannot afford to paint it, and whitewash disappears every year when it rains. What can I do?

A—Apply an exterior wood stain, or, if color is unimportant, use creosote oil. The oil, which will protect the wood against rot, will dry to a dull finish.

Q—I have just bought a house in the country. It is in good shape, except that the old roof has been damaged badly, apparently by the wind. What kind of new roof should I put on for best wind-resistance?

A—There are two recommended procedures for roofs in high-wind areas. One is to use individual or strip asphalt shingles and cement down the tabs with quick-setting asphalt cement. The other is to use interlocking asphalt shingles. These lock together so tightly that the roof covering becomes one piece, in effect, and it's virtually impossible for the wind to lift shingle tabs up.

Q—How can a fireplace be prevented from smoking just after the kindling has been ignited?

A—Hold a burning stick in the area where the smoke chamber and fireplace proper meet. The warmed air will create an upward draft, which will pull the smoke up into the chimney flue.

Boost Due Soon In Social Security

Social Security Administration officials have disclosed some 6 1-2 million beneficiaries automatically will get increases in their September checks after President Eisenhower signs the bill to expand the program.

September checks will be delivered about Oct. 4.

Each retired worker covered by the program will get a boost of at least $5 a month. Those getting the present maximum of $85 monthly will get $98.50. Those getting the $25 minimum will get $30. The increases will average about $6 a month.

The same minimum increase of at least $5 monthly will apply to each family unit, which must consist of more than one person under social security regulations. A widow and one child now getting $37.60 a month will get $45, those getting $127.60 will get $147.60.

The minimum for a lone survivor will be increased to $30 from $18.80, but where the present benefit is $30 monthly it will be increased only to $33.80. Where it now is $63.80 it will become $73.90.

Other beneficiaries now on the rolls will receive generally proportionate increases based on the wage record of the retired or deceased worker, but there will be a few exceptions.

The officials told a newsman each recipient of an August check due to be delivered next week, will be informed by an enclosure that he or she need do nothing to get the increased benefits.

The bill also will extend old and survivors insurance to another 10 million people, effective next January 1.

This will probably push the total number of wage accounts of the living persons on file to more than 100 million.

New groups to be covered involve an estimated 3,600,000 farm operators, 2,100,000 farm employees, 250,000 household and casual workers, 100,000 self-employed professional people such as architects, engineers, accountants and funeral directors, some 3,500,000 employees of local and state governments (if they wish to be covered), some 100,000 ministers and Christian Science practitioners (also on a voluntary basis), some 100,000 Americans working for foreign subsidiaries of American firms, some 50,000 persons employed in fishing and related activities on small vessels, and some 150,000 government employees.

The measure also broadens the social security tax base from $3,600 to $4,200 of annual pay. This means an increased tax of up to $12 a year for each covered employee and a similar boost for his employer.

One change to affect many householders trims down a requirement that a domestic servant to be eligible must work for the same employer 24 days in a quarter year and make at least $50 in cash wages.

After Jan. 1 the requirement for coverage of a domestic servant will be reduced to the $50 cash wage stipulation.

Affected housewives will have to file quarterly reports and pay the social security tax on their servants levied at the 2 percent rate on both employer and employee. An employer can withhold an employee's share of the tax from wages.

After Jan. 1 the eligibility standard for farm hands is to be changed from a complicated formula to a simple stipulation that an employee must make at least $100 a year from one employer.

For each $100 paid by one employer in a year, up to a maximum of $400, an employee will be credited with one quarter of coverage. The employee's entire wages from any employer paying him more than $100 a year, however, are to be reported and credited and his benefits will be based on the total credits up to a maximum of $4,200 yearly.

Explaining how the new bill would affect persons now covered and approaching the retirement age of 65, officials said a person with full eligibility, who has been earning the maximum covered wage of $300 monthly, could retire in November and receive $98.50 a month.

Such a person could continue to work in covered employment after Jan. 1 at the new maximum covered wage, $350 monthly and after six additional consecutive quarters could retire in the third quarter of 1956 with a monthly benefit payment of $108.50.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harms received word that their son, Thomas H. Harms and family, sailed last Friday from New York on the S. S. America, luxury liner, for England where they will be stationed with the 3rd Air Force Headquarters near London.

The Southern Problem

By R. D. Laney

Many years the Negroes have been faithful servants, loved them as such. There are fewer servants for other jobs are open to them with better status and the majority of white people are not able to afford help with labor-saving devices. The low wages paid for household help kept the Negro on a par with the white man for he could not afford for modern house-hold conveniences and for many years the better things of life were present with increased clearances and public housing, his scale of living has greatly improved.

While the white race has taken many centuries to advance from savagery to its present level, the Negro race has had only a few generations in which to go forward. But it has advanced more rapidly in this short time than has another people, of course its close proximity to the whites has enabled it to do so. Reasoning, personal fastidiousness, and aesthetic tastes grow slowly; African magic, superstition, and backwardness yield slowly. Some Negro citizens in the South no doubt, are equal in intellect to refined whites, while many whites are, in the words of the old-time colored people, still "po whitetrash."

But speaking generally of the great average mass of both races the white race in accepted standards of conduct stands far above the Negro race. The huge Negro population in the Southern states make the problem. In the state of Mississippi, the races are about even in population. In some New England states which have mixed schools for so many years, have no problem on account of its scarcity of Negroes; just as here for the same reason we have no Chinese or Japanese problem. The country brought this deep question upon itself by allowing the northern traders to forcibly uproot and bring captive the primitive, helpless Africans and then sell them to the southern planters.

Some Southern people say, "that they like the Negroes, and need them and wouldn't be without them. Some of them, like some of them, like some white people, are remarkable fine, but it's awful hard to get a day's work like it is some of the whites. Often when Negroes make money they buy a big car or something else they don't need and then they don't have money for food and clothing and they say it's our fault. They're too different from the white people emotionally and otherwise to think of mixing up with them socially for a long, long time, if ever, and we hope it never comes."

"A Negro with a little education, as some of them have here is harder to control than one without any or one who has a lot. The White man here where the Negroes predominate in numbers has to keep the supremacy. The attitude of the white people, particular the younger generation, toward the Negroes has improved a lot, and so has the treatment of them. It would not make sense from a profit standpoint to have grumbling workers on your hands. And, after all, don't forget we have a conscience to live with when we mistreat people, like anyone else."

Underlying the deep feeling in the South, no doubt, is the fear that in the future generations the white race here, as such, will have completely disappeared. Human equality, strictly speaking, is just and right, but to have close racial contacts, encouraging racial marriage, and intimate relationships in playing, worshipping and living, of two such differing races and cultures enforced by law and strict policing, before the races are more equal, would in many respects be much the same to us as if we were conquered by an enemy nation.

One Southern white woman comments, "Certainly intergration in schools, churches, playgrounds would wind up in inter-marriages, the severest sin that could befall either race. We also feel that by accepting the interracial theory of the Supreme Court, we would be accepting the Russian theory of communism, which we never could, or would permit ourselves to do."

Veterans Information Center

Veterans should find it easier to get supplemental loans for major alterations, repairs and improvements to their GI homes as a result of the Housing Act of 1954 and new Veteran Administration streamlined procedures, VA announced today.

The Housing Act, which became a law on August 2, 1954, makes it possible for World War II and post Korea veterans to take advantage of any unused GI home loan entitlement for home improvement loans.

To further encourage lenders to make more such loans, VA now will allow supervised lenders holding GI home loans to complete improvement loans to their veteran borrowers without getting clearance in advance from VA.

VA estimated that more than 3,000,000 of the 3,351,000 veterans who have obtained GI home loans have some home loan guaranty entitlement left. Previously, if a veteran had not used his maximum guaranty entitlement of $7,500, there were restrictions on the balance. Now, with the passage of the 1954 Housing Act, there are no limitations on the use of any part of the maximum guaranty for home improvement loans.

VA emphasized that under the amended GI Bill, a supplemental loan may be guaranteed or insured by VA only if it covers repairs necessary for the protection of the property or will substantially improve the basic livability or utility of the property.

The VA move to allow lenders to process home improvement loans without VA's advance approval is extended only to lenders who are supervised by Federal or State banking authorities. These lenders hold nearly 85 percent of all GI loans.

Non-supervised lenders and lenders who are not holders of the primary mortgage must continue to get VA's approval before processing supplemental loans.

In another streamlining step, VA will accept the appraisal of a supervised lender on a home improvement loan of not more than $2,500. VA obtains its own appraisal on any loans over that amount. The previous limit was $1,000.00

The new Housing Act coupled with VA's new procedures should stimulate GI home improvement loans at a time when many veterans are thinking about improving or expanding their homes, VA said.

Veterans have reduced their original GI loan debt and, according to Government surveys, have increased their earning capacity. This linked with larger families has increased the demand for home improvement loans.

Veterans may obtain supplemental loans even though they do not have any loan guaranty entitlement remaining if the lender is willing to make such loans. In these cases, VA will not increase the amount of guaranty but will rewrite the guaranty to cover the supplemental loan.

In those areas where it is possible, GI supplemental home improvement loans may be secured by "open-end" mortgages.

T-B Chest X-rays
Corner Drug Store
Saturday, Sept. 4

The free chest X-Ray unit coming to Burkburnett Saturday, September 4th, is something everyone should be proud of, and every one should be doubly sure they patronize it when it makes its one-day visit here. Free chest X-Rays may be had from 9:00 A. M. to 6:00 P. M. on that day, including the noon hour.

This free visit of the X-Ray unit is made possible by contributions to the Wichita County Tuberculosis Association. In the never ending fight to discover and stamp out TB, the mobile X-Ray unit is one of the most helpful of all other measures.

The fact that the mobile unit will visit Burkburnett this year is largely due to the efforts of Miss Margaret Hall, Executive Secretary of the Wichita County TB Association. Because of the small number of Burkburnett citizens who patronized the unit on its visit last year, the Executive Board felt that the expense was not justified by the results here. However, Miss Hall pleaded the cause for Burkburnett and we have another chance to make its return still another year a certainty.

The service is free. It takes only about three minutes of your time. GET YOUR FREE CHEST X-RAY AT THE CORNER DRUG STORE, SATURDAY, SEPT. 4th.
