Memorial Service Held In Memory of Lion Ray Hill

A beautiful memorial service was held Tuesday night at Town Hall in memory of Lion Ray Hill who recently passed on. Hill was a charter member of the Burkburnett Lions Club and had a perfect attendance record of 33 years.

President Herman Miller presided and John Rigby gave the invocation.

Special guests of the club were Mrs. F. U. McCutchen of Wichita Falls, Mr. McCutchen of Burkburnett, Mrs. Ray Hill, who preceded her husband only a few months, and her brother and sisters.

Following the meal, Roy T. Wampler, chairman of the permanent committee, presented a quartet composed of O. Baten, C. R. Chambers, Wampler and James Frye. Numbers rendered by the quartet were with unanimous approval.

Magars next presented T. M. Jensen, pastor of the Methodist Church, of which Hill was a faithful member.

Jensen spoke appropriately with great feeling for a man Burkburnett loved. He said of the many fine qualities of Hill: "He was a faithful member in his church, a devoted citizen in his civic work, and a loving and helpful father toward his fellowman."

The quartet concluded the program with a beautifully rendered rendition of "The Old Churchyard." Mrs. McCutchen thanked the pastor for permitting her and her husband to share in the memorial service with them.

Last week Howard Clement Laverne Davis will bring a program.

An Open Letter To Our Patrons About "The Best Years Of Our Lives" A Great Motion Picture

Dear Friends;

It has been said that "THE BEST YEARS OF OUR LIVES" is the best loved picture of our time and the most honored motion picture of all TIME — and after seeing it, I believe you will heartily agree that such praise is justified. Certainly I believe this with all my heart.

What makes "THE BEST YEARS OF OUR LIVES" such truly great entertainment? The quality is indeed hard to define, but I believe its greatness springs from the absorbing realism with which it's several interlocking stories transfer to the screen the real life experiences of, indeed, "OUR LIVES."

Yes, here are portrayed the vital chapters of our lives. The thrill of coming home after a long time away — looking for a job falling in love, and out again — the soldier discovering that his wife "played around" while he was overseas — the neighbor boy who gets into fights when he drinks too much, and the other one who lost a limb to an enemy grenade but who wants casual acceptance, not pity — Milly, Al, Fred, Peggy, Marie, Homer, Butch — they are more than actors in a movie — they are all the people we know now — they are YOU and ME!

"THE BEST YEARS OF OUR LIVES" has never shown before except at ROADSHOW PRICES of from $1.85 to $2.20 top. Now, we are exceedingly proud to present this distinguished motion picture at our REGULAR ADMISSION PRICES.

Seeing this picture will touch you deep in the heart. If you can not truthfully say it is one of the finest movies you have ever seen your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Yours Sincerely,
Doug Spieckerman, Mgr.

Note of Appreciation

We wish to take this means of expressing our sincerest appreciation to friends, neighbors and business houses for the many kind deeds bestowed upon us when our home was destroyed by fire recently. For the many household gifts, clothing and money, we are forever grateful.

any on the drills this week. As might be expected, an inexperienced team made lots of mistakes last Friday night. Those mistakes are obvious to the coaches, while the fans may think the performance perfect.

In still work-outs this week the coaches are trying hard to get the team members to profit by their mistakes, and be prepared for a strong team from Holliday here this week.

The Holliday Eagles have a good team. Many of their men from last year's team are back, and one little fellow in particular is expected to give plenty of trouble. He is playing his 4th year and is like greased lightning out in the open.

The game starts at 8:00 o'clock Friday night here at Bulldog Stadium.

HE SAID NO

We can only applaud President Eisenhower's "pocket veto" of that five percent across the board raise for Federal workers that was voted by Congress in the final moments of the last session, and in a final burst of political generosity.

The President stated flatly that he would not approve a measure that failed to iron out present inequities in pay scales properly consider the relationship between work performed and pay received and which neglected to provide the $350 millions the raise would cost. In so doing, we believe he regained a considerable measure of the prestige that has gradually oozed away since Inauguration Day. After the way the President has been whip-sawed by his political advisors, and forced into the very type of campaigning he has repeatedly assured us he would not indulge in, it is reassuring to see this bold and forthright step that many wiseacres are decrying as politically reckless.

Government workers have received a disappointing setback to their hopes for an immediate raise. But, for the great majority, who are interested and competent in their jobs, who seek advancement through performance and believe in giving a day's work for a day's pay, the President's action is the best possible assurance of proper recognition and fairer treatment by the next Congress.

We do not like the idea of paying four cents for a postage stamp, that would give us about half the service a two cent stamp provided not so long ago, and we doubt that all 160,000,000 of us Americans could write enough letters to meet this vetoed pay raise or the one that is sure to pass in a matter of months. But, one way or another we will pay for it, and it will be less painful to know the raises are given with more reference to the work done for us, and less regard for the total votes controlled by Federal workers.

By now, we're all fairly well adjusted to accepting new problems. And if the next one must be that four cent stamp, we'll lick it!

WHOSE WELFARE

When we have a Congress again, the gentlemen may be induced to look into some of the "fringe benefits" that certain labor leaders have availed themselves of, and to consider who are the principal beneficiaries of some of those "welfare" funds that employers are shelling out for.

Following investigations strongly suggest that some union leaders are in highly profitable competition with firms whose workers they represent, and that others find a peculiar fascination in the insurance aspects of these huge health and welfare funds that run into the millions, a special subcommittee has recommended that the House Education and Labor committee make "a thorough study

Presented in the report is the success story of two wives of ranking union officials who spent $4,000 to establish a business that returned them $62,000 in four years; a business that had no employees, and in which neither of them had any work to do, other than telephoning the auditor now and then to get up some dividends. This business leases equipment to a concern hiring members of the husbands' union, and oddly enough there have been no strikes since the deal was made.

The subcommittee was further impressed with the operations of an insurance company which retains 17.5 percent of the premiums it collects to cover administration costs. The investigations consider this "abnormally high" and state that in at least one case investigated, it was the highest of all bidders. Yet from 1948 to 1952 the company's business had grown from 1.5 millions to about nine million when 77 percent of its business came from policies on three union welfare funds. A single agent of the company from 1948 until the middle of 1953, collected 1.3 millions in commissions and expense allowances!

It was the generally accepted idea when unions were first organized that they were necessary to protect the voiceless worker from exploitation and abuse by a greedy and heartless employer. It is time now, it would seem, to protect him against his one-time deliverers. As for the employer, he's a pathetic figure too, fenced in by regulations while the vultures, whose wings the lawmakers do not care, or dare, to clip, pluck out his tail feathers. (aimed at appropriate legislation to preserve these (welfare and pension) funds for the use of their true beneficiaries, who the the individual employees and their families."

"Little Boy Lost" Is Perfect Film For Bing Crosby

Bing Crosby has been one of the popular actors in motion pictures for years. He has won an Academy Award for his acting ability and he has captivated millions with his voice. Bing has a naturally loving personality and has, during the course of his career, provoked laughter and tears in varying degrees.

What could be better than to have "Der Bingle" combine all of these talents in one film. He does just that in his latest, Paramount's warm compelling human drama "Little Boy Lost" the George Seaton-William Perleberg production due to open next Sunday at the Palace Theatre.

"Little Boy Lost" was written for the screen and directed by George Seaton from a story by Marghanita Laski. An unusual film, it embodies a simple tale that subtly envelopes a penetrating study of a man's emotions.

Crosby plays an American newspaperman who has spent years searching for his young son whom he hasn't seen since his birth, just before the Nazis invaded France. His wife had been executed for working with the underground and took with her almost traces of their boy.

We Protect Wild Life

What About Child Life?

Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association, and Services Advisor for the Gulf Oil Corp. asked this question today as he spoke in behalf of the child traffic safety program being sponsored in Texas this month by the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council.

"The rules of good sportsmanship protect our wild birds and animals," he said, but too often the rules of safety are neglected when it comes to protecting our children on the streets and highways of the nation."

Col. Tilley pointed out that 4,400 children under 15 years of age were killed in traffic last year, and another 225,000 were injured.

The Texas Safety Association is solidly behind this September traffic safety program," he said. We want to do everything we can to help educate people to their responsibilities for the safety of youngsters."

Col. Tilley listed eight rules for adults, parents and motorists to follow to safeguard children in traffic.

Parents should:

1. Set children a good example by crossing streets only at intersections, waiting for the signal, looking both ways and for turning traffic before crossing.

2. Find out what traffic safety education your children are receiving at school and coordinate your own instructions with it.
3. Impress upon children the danger of playing in the street or near moving traffic. See that they play only in approved play-areas.
4. See that children are skilled in using outdoor toys such as roller skates, bicycles, scooters, tricycles and wagons, and that the youngsters practice safety rules when using the toys.

Motorists should:

1. Keep a constant look-out for children. Even when children are clearly in view, their actions sometimes are unpredictable.
2. Near school areas be constantly alert for signs, signals, traffic police, school patrols and for children themselves.
3. Decrease speed and increase vigilance when driving near play grounds and residential areas and other places where children are likely to be found.
4. Don't compete with bike riders. Be ready always to give them the right of way.

If accidents continue to increase, the postwar car is going to have to have its speedometer marked off in kilometers.

Money is the fruit of all evil, and the root of it.

Children Follow Parents' Lead In Traffic Safety

"Things get done when people do them together, and this is especially true in the field of child traffic safety."

Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association, and Services Advisor for the Gulf Oil Corp., made that statement today in urging the cooperation of all the people in Texas in making a success of the child traffic safety program being sponsored locally this month by the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council.

If we are to keep our children safe in traffic, he said, it's going to take the combined efforts of motorists, parents and the children themselves.

The role of parents in this three way safety effort is very important, Col. Tilley pointed out, for parents can regulate to a large extent the activities of their children, keeping them away from dangerous traffic areas when they are not under the direct supervision of an adult. Parents also have many opportunities to teach children good safety habits.

Of course, he said, one of the best ways to do this is by example. If parents, and all adults, are careful always to follow safety rules, it will do much to instill in children respect for and obedience to these rules.

He pointed out that children don't have adult judgment, however, and that even when they have the very best training they sometimes are going to be unpredictable in traffic situations.

This is where the motorist must do his part, Col. Tilley said. It is up to the drivers to be especially alert near schools and playgrounds, in residential areas, and any place children might be expected to gather.

At the same time children themselves must do the best they can to walk and play safely, observing the rules they have been taught, he said.

Schools are doing a fine job of teaching safety, from kindergarten right thru high school, he said, and the police do all they can to keep children safe on our streets.

But if this child safety program of the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council is to become really effective, if we are to keep the tragic toll of child traffic fatalities from arising, we all must work together to accomplish our purpose.

Electricity Never Forgets - Do You?

It's too bad that a fallen wire doesn't have a little sign that pops out with, "Do Not Touch" on it.

A wire on a rural line broke and fell near one end of a corn field recently. A device protecting this portion of the line automatically shut off the circuit. The property owner was cultivating corn, working his way toward the fallen wire.

Not wishing to drive over it and perhaps damage it, he dismounted from his cultivator, picked up the end of the wire carefully rolled it up and hung it over a fence post to which it was attached.

He had no more than turned it loose and stepped away when this coil of wire suddenly became "alive" and arced and burned its way through all the strands of the woven wire fence.

Now let's go back and see what happened:

Our farmer friend wasn't the only one who had an interest in that fallen wire. The local power company had been notified that service in the area had been interrupted and promptly dispatched a repairman to investigate.

Unaware of the actions of each other:

The farmer stopped his tractor at almost the same time the repair truck drew up some distance away.

The farmer started to roll up the wire.

A repairman started to climb the pole to check the switch.

As the farmer finished rolling the wire, the repairman decided to test the line.

The farmer hung the loop of wire on the fence post and turned away. The repairman closed the switch.

And the farmer had missed death by seconds.

Electricity is a relatively new miracle to many rural areas in the country. When handled properly it is, beyond any doubt, one of the wonders of the world. But it can become a deadly weapon when it isn't handled correctly, as the farmer almost found out. In order to protect yourself and your families there are a few simple procedures that should be followed at all times:

1. Consider every fallen wire dangerous.
2. Keep a safe distance from any fallen wire.
3. Telephone wires and electric wires look the same — do not try to tell them apart.
4. Notify the proper authorities as soon as you can spot a fallen wire.
5. If necessary, post a guard by the wire to keep others from coming into contact with it.

16 Percent of Texas Lives on Hiway 7

More than 16 percent of the entire population, some 1,240,000 persons live along U. S. Highway 75, which passes through counties in this state, a University of Texas researcher reported.

Thomas E. Stutzenberg of the Texas Department of Transportation wrote a Master of Thesis on the highway's history.

Individual chapters are given to the counties through which U. S. 75 passes, Grayson, Dallas, Ellis, Navarro, Fannin, Leon, Walker, Madison, Hamilton, Montgomery and Galveston.

Fight Cattle Grub

The cattle grub war is on. Grubs are killed more readily in the fall when they appear as lumps on the backs of livestock.

A rotenone spray, dust or dip gives effective, economical control. Seven and on half pounds of derris or cube powder of five percent rotenone in 100 gallons of water makes a good spray. A spray machine with 200 pounds pressure is recommended.

Add 10 pounds of wettable sulphur to the above if a dip is desired. Using a long-handled brush, scrub the backs of the animals as they run thru the vat. This assures thorough insecticide penetration, says B. T. Haws, county agent.

One pound of five percent rotenone mixed with two pounds of a heavy non-alkaline dust such as talc, tripolic earth or pyrophyllite makes an effective and easy to use dust. Ready prepared dusts must contain at least 1.67 percent rotenone. Work about three ounces into the back of each animal, he says.

Grub treatment, whether a dust, spray or dip, should be repeated at 30 day intervals until new bumps cease to appear.

We can assure you of one thing, the fellow who awakened and found himself a success wasn't sleeping.

The Best Years Of Our Lives" Hailed As a Masterpiece

The return, after half a decade of Samuel Goldwyn's "The Best Years of Our Lives" will afford to thousands of local screen patrons their first opportunity to see "the most honored picture of our time." The film will be presented at the Palace Theatre as its next attraction. Friday and Saturday.

Originally released in 1946, this is the production which swept the fields in honors bestowed by the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences for pictures released that year, taking a total of nine awards, the greatest number ever given to any one production.

Drama and comedy are skillfully blended in this picture, which presents in stellar roles Myrna Loy, Fredric March, Dana Andrews, Teresa Wright and Virginia Mayo, with Hoagy Carmichael, Harold Russell and Cathy O'Donnell in important and featured roles.

There is drama when Andrews finds that despite his ripe and proven experience he has developed no special job qualification and is compelled to accept a minor position as a drug store clerk, this leading to a definite break with his spectacular but gold digging wife; there is drama and heartache when Russell, maimed and handicapped, turns away from Cathy O'Donnell, his childhood sweetheart to whom he is engaged and who has long awaited his return.

Grade School News

The enrollment of the Grade School has increased to 560 during the past week. We are happy to have all the new boys and girls come to us and be friends in our school rooms.
 We will begin our Savings Stamp clubs next week. This is a great way to teach boys and girls to put back a small part of their earnings and to prepare for the time of financial need during sickness or for any emergency that might arise. We would like to have you think the matter of systematic saving over very carefully and let your child become a member. Keep the savings until maturity of the bonds and you will earn $4.00 for every $3.00 that you invested. The success of every individual depends upon the degree of saving that is practiced by the individual. This statement may be true or not, but it is very important that every individual should have enough money to take care of the emergencies that may arise.
 If you want to stay young, associate with young people. If you want to get old in a hurry, try to keep up with them!

SIX MISTAKES
 The Roman philosopher and statesman, Cicero, said it 2,000 years ago, and it's still true today. The "six mistakes of man" are:
 1. The delusion that individual advancement is made by crushing others; 2. The tendency to worry about things that cannot be changed or corrected; 3. Insisting that a thing is impossible because we cannot accomplish it; 4. Refusing to set aside trivial preferences; 5. Neglecting development and refinement of the mind, and not acquiring the habit of reading and study; 6. Attempting to compel other persons to believe and live as we do.

Humble's Comprehensive Program of FOOTBALL Broadcasts and Telecasts

There is no real substitute for a "seat in the stands" at a football game. Neither radio nor television can capture the full flavor of the game, with its dramatic moments, its color, its crowds. You will want to see as many football games as you can.

When you can't, you're invited to enjoy Humble's comprehensive program of football on the air:

RADIO:
 Southwest Conference games will be brought to you every weekend. The schedule includes broadcasts of both non-conference and conference games. Kern Tips again heads Humble's staff of able announcers.

TELEVISION:
 Live! Humble will bring Texans live telecasts of outstanding college games every Saturday afternoon during the season, and on Thanksgiving Day. These are telecast under the program of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. Tentative schedules include four Southwest Conference teams.

On film! Humble's weekly television program, Texas in Review, will feature highlights of Southwest Conference play. This appears on Monday or Tuesday nights over 14 Texas television stations. Special arrangements enable you to see Saturday's action as early as Monday night.

drive to as many as you can; turn in Humble's broadcasts and telecasts of those you can not see.

IT'S UP TO YOU

By Howard E. Kershner, L.H.D.

You are an ambassador of freedom. An ambassador is one who represents his nation to the people of another nation. According to the Bill of Rights you—the people—are the United States. Certainly you elect others to represent you in the realm of officialdom, but you are still a very real part of America when the individual is recognized as an important entity.

Do you, as an ambassador of freedom, represent to others the high standards of our nation? Do you tell others of your appreciation of free tuning radios, your fresh frozen foods, your fresh milk, your ice cream, your warm clothing in winter, your cool clothing in summer, your air-conditioned rooms, your easy and unrequited transportation?

We have no concentration camps, no forced labor camps in the scorching deserts or the frozen tundras. We have an almost classless society. We can all own something regardless of how little. We can grow our own crops, large or small, and use the produce or sell it as we choose.

American can worship in churches of any denomination they choose. We sit, kneel, stand, or lie down to pray as we choose. We may pray to God in whatever language or tongue we choose without locking the door or going underground.

A foreign visitor to our shores asked the question, "Don't you train your people to be ambassadors of America before they go abroad?"

When ready answer was given, he continued, "I have asked a hundred Americans what was so good about America," and the only answer which I received was a shrug of the shoulders or a casual comment about it being home or a proud statement about how many automobiles there are in America.

Yes, we must be proud but as ambassadors, we should know why we have the things we have and why we enjoy our free way of life. We must know that our way of life has grown and flourished in a soil that recognizes the individual as important and free to make his own decisions in the realm of politics, economics, religion and self-expression generally.

Throughout history we have sent our ambassadors of mercy to all parts of the world through the missionary effort of our churches. These missionaries have spread the message of a vital, living Christianity along with Christian charity in tangible forms. Food, clothing, education, medical care and scores of other benefits have been offered by these ambassadors.

New groups of Christian businessmen are sending machinery and productive know-how to distant lands through such organizations as World Neighbors, Inc. to spread Christian "goodwill." They train Americans to be effective ambassadors of our good way of life.

You represent America to your neighbors. Do you represent it well? Christian Freedom Foundation, Inc. One East 12th St., N. W.

Traditional Cross Designs Go Modern on Panel Doors

Many modern ponderosa pine panel doors carry the sign of the cross in their design, a tradition that began hundreds of years ago, when divine protection was sought for the entrance to the house. The numbers have been assigned by the U. S. Department of Commerce in its Commercial Standard CS120-48. Doors may be ordered by these stock numbers. Five variations of the cross-symbol are illustrated here: the tall, slim Latin cross (N.D. 600), the X-shaped St. Andrew's cross (N.D. 612), the square Greek cross (N.D. 605 and 598), the T-shaped Egyptian cross (N.D. 591), and the cross of Lorraine (N.D. 110).

Panel doors of ponderosa pine without the cross design also are available.

Chemical Guards Stock Windows Against Weather

A major advantage of stock ponderosa pine windows is that they have been treated with a water-repellent preservative, which soaks into the wood and toughens it against harsh weather. Frames for picture windows, which do not open and consequently are simpler to manufacture, sometimes are made in small local shops. These frames are rarely treated, because the shops do not have the necessary equipment.

The water-repellent, preservative chemical practically eliminates warping, decaying, swelling, and shrinking. The treatment has no effect on the window's appearance or its ability to take paint or varnish. Ponderosa pine exterior panel doors are similarly treated.

TO CLEAN WICKER Wicker furniture should be washed out of doors. Brush it with a stiff brush, then dip the brush in lukewarm suds and go over the entire surface. Rinse thoroughly until the last trace of suds is removed and wipe as dry as possible with a cloth. Leave the furniture in an airy place until it dries completely.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat SPADEWORK

OUR PIONEER FOREFATHERS KNEW THE LITERAL MEANING OF SPADE WORK IN PREPARING THE GROUND, ONCE CLEARED, FOR PLANTING OR FOR BUILDING.

IN AMERICA TODAY, MACHINERY HAS REPLACED THE SPADE EXCEPT IN SMALL JOBS—PREPARING FAMILY GARDEN PLOTS, FOR EXAMPLE. BUT IN ALL OUR AFFAIRS—FROM STARTING A CAREER OR BUSINESS, TO PLANNING FOR FAMILY HAPPINESS AND SECURITY—WE RECOGNIZE THE NECESSITY OF ADEQUATE PREPARATION. THE EFFORT WE PUT INTO THE "SPADEWORK" LARGELY INFLUENCES THE RESULT.

Asphalt Meets 5,000-Year Durability Test

Five thousand years is a long time to test a building material, but that's how long asphalt has been proving it can hold things together and keep water out. The material that today gives its name and its waterproofing ability to the roofing that protects approximately eight of ten houses being built in the United States was used by the Sumerians in 3000 B.C. to cement ornaments to statues. Many of these ornaments are still intact.

Geological research also shows the use of asphalt in India in 3000 B.C. to cement brick walls. The Egyptians used it to preserve their mummies, many of which have come to light only recently, well preserved. The Babylonians used asphalt both as a cement and a waterproofing agent in their buildings, and Noah calked his Ark with it.

Started in Sweden The first form of asphalt roofing was made in Sweden toward the end of the 18th century. By 1831, in Andrew Jackson's day, duck fabrics coated with cold asphalt were being used as roofing in the United States. Thirteen years later it was found preferable to melt the asphalt before coating the base fabric.

Improvement Continues Research continues to produce new improvements. Today's shingles are attractive, weathertight, fire-resistant, durable, and low in initial cost and maintenance. A major development has been the manufacture of asphalt shingles in every color needed to meet the requirements of modern decorative concepts. In addition to traditional red, blue, green, and black shingles, there are now whites, silver-grays, icy greens, cool blues, warm russet, coral and many other solid and blended colors.

Q—I have an unused certificate of entitlement for Korea GI training, but it states I must have started by August 20, 1954. Now that a new law gives me another year to begin, is this certificate still good?

A—The unused certificate still is valid. Present it to your school when you enroll, along with a photostate of your separation paper. The school will admit you under the Korean GI Bill, so long as your separation paper shows you are beginning within three years after your discharge.

Q—I was discharged from service on July 1, 1951. Will the new Korean GI Bill extension help me get into school this fall?

A—No. Under the new law, veterans separated before August 20, 1951, must have begun Korean GI training by August 20, 1954.

Q—Under the new law signed by the President, do all disabled veterans get an extra four years in which to complete Public Law 16 training?

A—No. The added four years apply only to disabled veterans who (1) were too severely disabled to begin in time; (2) were late in establishing that they have service connected ailments, or (3) who originally received discharges barring them from training and later had them changed so that now they are eligible.

Q—I am a disabled Korean veteran, already out of service. I am not in any of the special categories listed in the new law having to do with training deadlines. By what date must I complete Public Law 16 training?

A—Training for disabled Korea veterans, out of service before

HERE'S HOW... MAKE A LUMBER STORAGE RACK

Lumber can be kept clean, dry, neat and convenient to the home craftsman if he makes a handy storage rack in his workshop or basement. The horizontal lumber-support members are made as shown in the detail drawing. These are 2-foot pieces of 2 by 4-inch lumber, securely fastened to the studs with 4-inch carriage bolts. Each piece is supported by a 2-foot 2 by 4, cut to form a 45-degree angle at each end.

Depending upon the construction of the room in which the rack is to be placed, the studs, also 2 by 4's, may be fastened to the joists, to a ceiling plate,

Mrs. Hugh Preston Jr. Hostess to Forum Study Club Sept. 9th

The Forum Study Club began their new year with a most impressive luncheon in the home of Mrs. Hugh Cole, Jr., on Thursday, Sept. 9th, at 7:00 P. M. The home was beautifully decorated and the tables featured a centerpiece of yellow chrysanthemums and were set with linens in tones of brown. A delicious meal of baked ham and all the trimmings was served to fifteen members.

Following the luncheon a business meeting was held during which Mrs. Wallace Landrum, president, presided. Mrs. Ralph White gave a most interesting program on Federation.

Mrs. A. C. Todd won the door prize. If you would be great, cultivate your greatest assets. About the only thing a woman can't order from a mail order house is a male. No, sis, a second story man is not one who has another in case you don't believe the first.

CLEAN CONCRETE FLOOR

The layer of soft chalky material that "dusts" some concrete floors can often be removed with steel wool. The floor should then be thoroughly cleaned and treated with a hardener such as sodium silicate or zinc sulphate.

August 20, 1954, must be complete no later than August 20, 1963.

If Grazing Is Short Livestock Needs Feed Supplement

Present range and pasture conditions favor the development of vitamin A deficiency in farm animals.

Caused by a lack of green feed, the deficiency is characterized by night blindness and in later stages by loss of appetite and energy, says B. T. Haws, county agent.

When green grazing disappears so does vitamin A, he explains. To maintain proper levels of the vitamin, Haws recommends the producers supplement their livestock with two to five pounds of green leafy alfalfa hay each day. Then to round out the protein and mineral requirements of livestock he suggests one and one half to two pounds of 41 percent protein cake daily and steamed bone meal and granulated salt free choice.

Many cows are not getting these essential elements and can not take care of their own needs not to mention next year's calf crop.

Here the need for proper vitamin A reappears. Calves born to cows lacking the vitamin usually are in a poor, stunted condition and unless placed on healthy cows, may die shortly after birth.

Where grazing is scarce, sorghum, prairie hay or other roughage should be fed at least once daily.

The extra feeds may seem expensive, but the result will more than offset in the final pay-off.

Strange Things

R. D. Laney

Some strange things are going on in our government. For the past 20 years, when any public figure attempted to expose Communist infiltration in our government, high government officials managed to find something wrong with that man, or his methods were objected, and crafty newspaper writers joined in the attempt to put that person out of commission. The Dies Committee was soon destroyed, and General Patton, who discerned that World War II was being run for the benefit of communism, was smeared by finding something wrong with Chambers and Bentley, and President Truman found bad things with Senator Nixon when he was exposing Alger Hiss. But as soon as Mr. Nixon got into the White House, he joined the parade by joining in the ruse that what Senator McCarthy is doing is OK, but his methods are horrible.

Now, with TV, so that each American can see and hear for himself, it becomes obvious that the present attempt by high officials and certain newspaper writers, to find something wrong with Senator McCarthy is just more of the same. Once Senator McCarthy exposes a Communist to the American public, high government officials cannot cover up his sinister FBI report and continue him in office and promote him, as President Truman and other high level government officials have done in the past. Once Senator McCarthy's methods of exposing a Communist have been carried out, the American people are safe from his enemy as they would be if that particular enemy had been executed.

The Communist and fellow travelers should be very thankful for Senator McCarthy's methods, rather than criticizing them. The Communist execute the people who differ with their own political opinions. So it all boils down to this, Senator McCarthy's "method" to render a political enemy incapable of further sabotage of our way of life is merely to expose him and let him live. The Communist's method of rendering its political enemies from further thwarting their efforts to bring about their way of life is just to destroy his life. Actually, the Communists have the most sure-fire method, but it isn't quite as human as the Senator's method.

Americans reviewing the eight weeks of hearings before the Mundt committee seeking judgments and lessons for the future should look beyond the original charges of the distracting bickerings. The controversy over Private Schine was never more than a surface ripple above a malestrom of conflict. The legal skirmishes, the diversionary maneuvers, even the explosive personal word combats in the hearing room were but minor evidences of great hidden struggles. The basis conflict, that over methods, was disclosed as a by-product of the hearings. The Army had objected to abuse of power as against the executive, but not directly to abuse of power as against individual citizens.

From these concerned with methods, and apparently this included many who had previously had little attention. There was pro-McCarthy reaction. But many had a contrary impression. For a multitude of citizens have their eyes on end, combating Reds which they think justifies any means. Or they are still convinced that there is a security emergency with which no one else is willing or able to deal so effectively. So those who hoped that exposure of Senator McCarthy's methods would largely destroy his influence and restore national unity were disappointed.

Those who wished to exploit Red uniting for personal or political purposes will always seek to distort the picture and keep hysteria alive. Those very hearings distracted American attention from a very great Communist danger in Indochina. The nation can become like a farmer who drops all his harvesting to hunt for a fox that raided his chicken coop last year. There is need to determine just what the danger is and how much attention it deserves. Every citizen should ask himself whether he is being gulled into unthinking support of unfair, dishonest and dictatorial means of fighting communism.

Equally, those who objected to

Shade Trees Need A Little Help

Shade trees sapped by another summer of sparse rainfall need a little help from their owners.

An ailing tree's condition can be improved greatly with water and fertilizer, says B. T. Haws, county agent. To accomplish this build a circular dike around the trees to hold water four inches deep in the basin. The diameter of the basin, says Watkins should approximate the size of the trees shade canopy. A dike six feet in diameter is suggested for very small trees and shrubs.

Spread a commercial fertilizer over the soil within the dike. The formula and application rate depend upon the inherent fertility of the soil. As a starter, one pound of 16-20-0 to every 100 sq. feet of surface is recommended.

Fill the basin to a depth of four inches and allow to soak in. During the hot dry, part of the year repeat the waterings at 7 to 10 day intervals but discontinuing during the seasons.

Senator McCarthy's methods should recognize that they must prove they are also interested in effective results. Both groups might well heed the outstanding lesson of these hearings, that Americans are paying far more attention to the pyrotechnics and personal quarrels of a certain senator than to what Communist are doing inside this country of ours.

Time To Plant Winter Legume

Now is the time to start planning your winter legume program, says B. T. Haws, county agent. Vetch and Austrian winter peas are the two most common winter legumes planted in Wichita County. Sept. 15 to Nov. 15 is the best seeding dates for these legumes. A good general rain is need to plant the legume crop in the county, but some farmers are planning on dusting the seed in and waiting for a rain. The earlier planted legumes make a better growth before cold weather meaning more grazing for livestock.

To help the Wichita County farmer with his legume program a series of meetings have been planned for this week, reports Haws.

Mr. Lester Brooks, superintendent of the Iowa Park Experiment station will discuss winter legumes for the county and will give the latest information the Experiment Station.

Mr. Bob Crocker will discuss the 1954 AEC program.

Mr. Elvy Sargent will demonstrate on soil views will also be held.

These meetings are being sponsored by the Wichita County Agricultural agencies and national teachers.

The meetings will be held at the following places: Monday, Sept. 13 7:30 p.m. Frisberg Methodist church

Wednesday, Sept. 15 7:30 p.m. Burk Burnett Town Hall

Thursday, Sept. 16, 7:30 p.m. Iowa Park School cafeteria

All farmers are invited to attend one of these meetings.

There are a lot of things to learn about living that do not learn until it is too late.

HIGHLIGHTS and Sidelights From Your STATE CAPITOL

The state Democratic convention out of the way, Texans now turn their attention to the next regular session of the legislature, coming up in January.

The lawmakers convene, the principal problem is likely raising new taxes, in the amount of $10 million to $15 million per year.

Senator Shivers has advocated raising $5 million more for mental and tubercular hospitals.

He has recommended more to continue improvement in the state prison system. He favors a state water conservation program.

He will also be called for to continue paying teacher salaries at the current rate.

At the first press conference since the run-off primary, the senator said that his re-election would be a re-statement of independence.

He pleases Texas, the South and Southwest, the national Democratic Party must get back to the middle of the road, Shivers said.

He recommended reorganization of Stephen Mitchell, the Democratic committee man, with a "good, strong, liberal" road man.

He said the recent gubernatorial election is the long battle between the conservative and liberal loyalist Democrats.

Preparations are being made for another struggle in 1956, when the rivalries in Texas may clash in the presidential election.

As well as in many cities, the conservative forces are setting up a permanent organization to work between elections.

Letters will go out to workers at the precinct level, thanking them for their efforts.

Files will be kept for use as reference when the campaigning begins next time.

Labor organizations are also active in the interest of elections two years hence.

Sent out by the UAW-CIO headquarters to all local union leaders in the state was a letter saying "We must, of necessity, prepare ourselves to be able to present our candidate and the issues to each and every voter next time."

Expressed in the letter was regret that Ralph Yarbrough, opposing Shivers for the chief executive's job, was defeated.

For many years, the continuous political work by the CIO has been recognized.

Union people work at politics the year round, whereas Texas conservatives now plan to alter their strategy and try to insure another victory next time by keeping right on the job from now right thru the 1956 primaries.

One national columnist, commenting on the Texas election, remarked that the conservatives of this state have finally realized "that a political party cannot be captured by frontal assault. It must be captured by patient, quiet work at the precinct level."

Finally reported by both candidates were their expenses for the campaign.

Governor Shivers revealed a total cost of $285,121, with $242,087 in donations and no debts or loans outstanding.

Judge Yarbrough reported that his campaigning expenditures were $279,722, with $245,394 in gifts and $35,258 in debts outstanding.

Donors to Yarbrough's campaign put in amounts ranging up to $10,000, while no individual contributor to Shivers' race gave more than $500, according to the reports.

Reorganization in the Texas Education Agency's high officialdom came about as the result of the resignation of L. P. Sturgeon, associate commissioner of Education, who will become public relations director for the Texas State Teachers Association.

Moving up in agency will be Warren Hitt, who becomes deputy commissioner of education; Bascom Hayes, who will be assistant commissioner for instructions; and M. A. Browning, who becomes assistant commissioner for vocational education.

Dr. J. W. Edgar, commissioner of education, recommended the changes.

Also selected was a new superintendent for the Austin School for the Deaf; John F. Grace, who had been principal of Gallaudet School for the Deaf in St. Louis. Grace succeeds Roy M. Steele who moved to Colorado.

In the fiscal year ended August 31, the State government took in $790,556,058, or nearly $55 million more than the total for the previous 12 months.

Biggest items in the state's budget are schools (about $255 million, up $26 million); welfare (about $158 million, up 20 million); and highways (about $162 million, up $5 million).

Accounting for much of the boost in revenue were increases in taxes on oil, natural gas, motor fuel, and franchises. There was an $18 million increase in federal aid for public welfare. Added to endowment funds was $28 million from mineral bonuses and royalties.
