Mathis Chevrolet Co. Passes Million Dollar Mark In New Car Sales for '54

JACK MATHIS

Mathis Chevrolet Co. is one of the few Burk concerns to pass the million dollar mark in sales for 1954. At the end of the year this dealership had gone quite a bit over one million dollars in car sales alone, and sales from service and accessories pushed the gross well past one million.

Right now the Chevrolet and Oldsmobile dealership is in the midst of its first anniversary celebration. On January 13th, 1954 Jack Mathis came up from Kilgore, Texas, and purchased the local agency from Carol Collins and took over the active management of its activities.

Mathis Chevrolet employs 19 people in its operation. The latest to join the organization is Waldo Huddlestone as bookkeeper. He joined the firm too late to get his picture in the paper, but for a look at the other employees, turn to another page of the Star this week.

To help celebrate the first anniversary, Mathis Chevrolet is making a most amazing offer to purchasers of new Chevrolets for the balance of this month. For details see the page ad in this week's paper.

IT WON'T GET LOST

President Eisenhower has sent to the Congress a military manpower program that he hopes will enable Americans henceforth to avoid the traditional "penalties of our unreadiness, in treasure, in blood, in the heartbreak of a mighty nation buying time with the lives of men."

In the accompanying message, the President referred to Korea and Indo China as "bitter reminders" and to the "masses of armed men and the vast array of war-making machines maintained by the Soviets and their satellites along the frontiers of the free world." And in spite of his assurances that our first defense objective is to maintain peace, the President's message grimly warned: "If, however, unwanted war should come, it should find us ready, to repel and defeat the enemy. And, at home, we must have forces trained for every emergency, should an aggressor be so criminally unwise as to attempt an atomic attack.

Recognizing that "we can not possibly keep armed and in uniform the total forces that might ultimately be required in all out war", the President asked for:

A four year extension of the draft, a two year extension of induction of doctors and dentists.

A national reserve program that could affect apparently all physically fit young Americans. A six months period of basic training, followed by nine and a half years of reserve status. Those from 17 to 19 who fail to volunteer will be subject to draft later.

Strengthening the National Guard both in numbers and training, and an additional militia in the states to take over Guard duties when the Guard is mobilized into the Army.

It can be confidently expected that this message will touch off long, and often feverish debate on Capital Hill. Opponent will call the President's program "universal military training", which has always had a repulsive sound, and perhaps worse. But sooner or later, it will dawn on our Congressmen, as it must on all of us, that the cold hard facts of life can not be ignored much longer, and that this plan in its general outline will provide, as the President has said, "a more equitable sharing of the military obligations.

When the sound and fury of politically-inspired discussion subside, the gentlemen will turn to consideration of operational details such as proper length of active and reserve service, methods of induction and so on. Such matters, on which a wealth of expert testimony is available to them, constitute the real job at hand, on which they should start tomorrow.

ANOTHER PROBLEM SOLVED

We are constantly amazed at the ever expanding public services rendered by TV. The latest is directed to those mortals who are fretting and stewing over what to do with a million dollars. If some one should give such a round sum to them or leave it to them, if they should find it under a rock, or even earn it.

The entertainment world being what it is, we hasten to state that this new series, entitled "The Millionaire" is not a give-away show. Nobody in the studio audience, or elsewhere, carries off a million dollars of the sponsor's money. Rather it records the diverting adventures of fictional characters after receiving a fictional million from a fictional and ailing billionaire whose doctor has told him to find a hobby to prolong his life.

Hence, to stimulate a new interest in living this gentleman has his bank present unsuspecting people with perfectly good checks for a million dollars, the only strings being that they will never know where it came from and must tell no one, other than husband or wife, of their good fortune. If that's what you would call it.

We are to discover first over CBS what happens to a widowed department store clerk when the million replaces her $42.50 a week paycheck, and subsequently other characters, including an ex-convict who can't tell his suspicious pals where his sudden wealth came from.

All in all, "The Millionaire" is what we would truly call an "educational" program, since it will be the first to bear down on what we discover can be a mighty serious problem. Thus, if you've been wondering what to do when you get your million, you will doubtless be grateful to the Colgate people for these studies in exotic economics.

Where The Merchant Ship Is Unique

A merchant ship is an element of war. Ships are the lifeline between the fighting fronts and production lines.

In this regard merchant ships have a unique characteristic. The other elements of war, fighter planes, tanks, guns, A-bombs, are useful for nothing but war. The ship, on the other hand, is an all-important instrument of peace. It is almost universally agreed that we must maintain a major merchant marine against the possibility of war. But it doesn't stand idle, waiting in readiness for that grim time when fighting may begin again. Day in and day out, on all the essential trade routes of the world, American merchant ships perform a necessary service.

Foreign trade has a far greater influence than most of us realize on this country's productive ability and living standards. Thousands of men and women who have never seen an ocean, work directly or indirectly at producing foods and manufactures for export. And foreign trade is a two-way street, we must import a long list of commodities which are not available at home. To depend on foreign flag lines to indefinitely take care of these shipments would be blind folly, if war should come, their services might be denied to us overnight.

Vital in war, vital in peace. That slogan pretty well describes the American Merchant Marine.

Lubbock Tech. Hen Lays Whopper Egg

An unidentified White Rock hen in the Texas Tech poultry yard had plenty to cackle about today—if she had the strength.

The hen early yesterday laid a five and one half ounce egg, believed to be a world record. It is the equivalent in weight to two "large" and one "medium sized" egg as might be purchased at any grocery store.

Circumference of the egg's long axis was nine and one-half inches; short axis, seven and one quarter inches. The egg, still warm, was found at 10:30 a. m. yesterday (Tuesday) by T. T. Perry, manager of the Tech poultry farm.

"When I first saw it, my eyes practically bugged right out of their sockets," Perry exclaimed.

"This is the biggest egg I seen in my 35 years in poultry business."

Upon seeing the egg, Tech's agriculture quickly agreed that it was a record breaking size, as they knew.

The tired mother is one of the hens that does her nest in Hen house No. 1 in the poultry yard. All are sized hens.

Perry plans to preserve the egg by dehydrating it over a week's period.

A Pretty "Snappy" Menu

Cuff Taylor had a near riot in his hen yard last week. Seems the hens were scratching around the cold ground when they found a piece of rubber band frozen in the ice.

"One hen pecked at it," says Cuff, "and it snapped right back. She backed off clucking while another hen tried it, and another. And the 'worm' kept right on snapping back. They all got their feathers ruffled. You never heard such a ruckus!"

"I finally had to break up the ice with an ax before those hens would get back to business start laying eggs again."

From where I sit, some of the hens raise a pretty big fuss over the rubber band frozen in the ice. I would deny me a temperate beer with my game of cards. Maybe he'd rather have a right to his own preference. But so do I. And there's no cause his choice isn't the same as mine.

The theory that it is never too late to mend our ways allows many to coddle their bad habits.

Half the people who preach preparedness don't have a cent laid up for a rainy day.

Experience always provides the raw material for a lot of unnecessary conversation.

Silence is really golden to those who are paid to keep quiet.

The Air Age

By E. L.

Flying seems to be like the weather in one respect—everyone knows about it but just a mere handful do anything about flying.

The greatest drawback to the advancement of flying is exorbitant prices. The people who want flying can't afford it.

Should some magician make it possible for airport personnel to see their way clear to lower prices, latent interest would really unfold.

It's possible to get flying interest initiated but the urge soon wanes when hourly rates get beyond reach.

We have no figures to back our suspicions but if the truth was known wives may run high prices a close race for the main reason flying isn't so popular.

Rarely have we heard a wife voice concern about her husband making a trip in the family car, but most wives who have husbands who fly seem to worry each time the gent goes up.

Maybe they don't know it is actually two times as safe to fly between two points than to drive the highway between the points.

The twelve leading insurance companies of America will back that fact up.

We'll admit for the average individual, flying is a hobby. So is golf, model railroading and a lot of other things.

A hobby is for fun and relaxation. None compare to skimming through the air for ease on the nerves. That, too, is not a dreamed up notion. Doctors that are in the know, swear it's true and go so far as recommending it to nervous patients.

Get the cost down and sell the wives on the safety factor, then the interest factor is taken care of.

Texas Safety News

Believe it or not, it's twice as hard to stop your car on ice when the temperature is barely below freezing than it is when the thermometer registers zero.

This information was given by Mr. R. B. Roaper of Housatonic, Chief Safety Engineer, American Oil & Refining Company, and President of the Texas Safety Association, Inc., today as the grand jury discussed the winter hazards which the Texas Safety Association, Inc. and the Texas Dept. of Public Safety is now conducting in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

Temperature plays an all important part in braking distances. On possible traction on snow and ice," Mr. Roaper said, "As the temperature rises, ice (and, to a lesser degree, snow) becomes much more slippery. For example, at 20 mph when the temperature is 32 degrees F., stopping distance without tire skidding is 250 feet. When the temperature is 0 degrees F., stopping distance is 110 feet. This is a difference of 140 feet, a distance that might well cause a serious accident."

According to Mr. Roaper, this action of ice in response to temperature presents a real hazard to the unwary driver who does not appreciate the need for extra caution when ice is on the verge of thawing. He said that is why it's important for the driver to "get the feel of the road" by trying out his brakes while driving slowly and away from traffic.

"Take the driver who starts out on an icy road early in the morning while it's still quite cold," Mr. Roaper explained. "He finds 'pulling away traction and stopping ability fairly good. But as the sun comes out and the temperature rises, he does not realize that the ice will become much more treacherous. When he finds he can't stop in time to avoid an accident, it's often too late to put on chains."

Mr. Roaper said that a driver's only safeguards in slippery weather are increased caution and decreased speed. He believes, "Slow up in a freeze up" is still the best rule of thumb for safety.

you usually do your hair at night, do your Pin-It at night. In the morning your hairset will be as lovely as it usually is, but your curl will stay without resetting between shampoos. Make your curls small, Miss Potter says, because small curls make your permanent last longer. And remember, this permanent isn't supposed to look like a permanent with tight or frizzy curls. If that's what you want, the traditional roller type permanent is best. Pin-It is a fashion permanent. It doesn't feel like a permanent. But it gives your hair a curl that will last in the new "curly" way. It makes your hair look beautifully fashionable. Like glamour in motion.

Glamour In Hairdos Can Be Permanent

Glamour in motion. That's the way to describe new hairdos this season. Because, says Katherine Potter who heads the beauty and grooming department for Procter and Gamble, the newest hairdos are so natural and young. They curve rather than curl. They can be windblown without looking mussed. The secret is in a hair cut that fits you and your hair, and a new kind of permanent that doesn't look like a permanent.

This new permanent, called Pin-It, makes your own hairset permanent. Or, a new one if you prefer. Curling lotion is applied to pin curls after they are rolled up. Rinse with water at a specified time to stop the curling action, then let your hair dry. There's no fussing or bother. If

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Frostbite isn't as simple an ailment as you might think. Frostbite is an injury to tissues caused by exposure to temperatures below freezing. The damage happens because the blood vessels close down either partially or totally, cutting off nourishment to the tissues affected. This results in either partial or total death of the tissue. Severe frostbite cases become gangrenous and you lose a finger, toe or an ear.

The first sign of frostbite is a grayish or whitish patch on the skin, a sort of blanching. This is usually numb, but not always. Proper clothing will prevent most frostbites. But clothing itself cannot generate warmth. Clothing keeps us warm by trapping body heat and preventing it from escaping. It's an insulator. You can take advantage of this in two ways: 1. wear clothes that trap many small pockets of air in the weave of pile of the fabric and 2. wear multiple layers of clothing so you'll get air spaces between layers.

Avoid overdressing. Too much clothing makes you sweat and wet clothing conducts heat away from the body. If you are sweating profusely, loosen your clothing or remove a damp garment.

If you do get frostbite, here are the basic first aid measures as listed by Dr. A. Michaels for Sports Afield readers:

1. Get out of the cold and into warm shelter.
2. Use body heat to warm the part. Never use external heat warmer than body heat. If the frostbite is on your face, ears or trunk, cover it with a warm, ungloved hand. If your fingers are frostbitten, place them inside your shirt up against your body.

If a foot is frostbitten, remove your shoe and sock and put the foot against the body of another person. Never rub snow or ice on frostbite. Never at all.

3. If the skin is broken, cover the area with a sterile dressing. Don't use strong antiseptics.

4. Take warm food and drink.

5. Get medical aid.

110th Anniversary For Baylor College

Mary Hardin-Baylor College will celebrate the 110th anniversary of its founding on Jan. 29 with the formal inauguration of Dr. Arthur Tyson as president.

Alumnae of the college will gather with representatives of colleges, universities, learned societies, Baptist denominational leaders, and friends of Dr. Tyson for the inaugural ceremonies at 10 a. m. in Alma Reeves chapel.

Dr. Tyson assumed the duties of the president of Mary Hardin Baylor on Sept 1, coming from East Texas Baptist college in Marshall, but his formal inauguration was delayed so that it might be a part of the annual Charter Day celebration.

Dr. J. Howard Williams, president of the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Ft. Worth, will be the guest speaker. Dr. Williams is the son, father, brother, nephew and cousin of former Mary Hardin-Baylor daughters.

The inauguration will be performed by Dr. H. A. Haswell, executive coordinator of the Christian Education commission of the Baptist General Convention of Texas. Dr. Grady Metcalf chairman of the college's board of trustees and pastor of the First Baptist church of Temple will preside at the inauguration.

Flue-vented heating keeps indoor air fresh, more healthful, more pleasant. Window sweating is reduced; moisture from combustion is eliminated. Flue-vented heating is recommended by Lone Star for residential installation.

If your furnace isn't the correct size, you'll never achieve comfort heating. Insist on expert engineering . . . on a heating system designed to deliver the correct amount of heat at proper intervals in exactly the right places.

A furnace without a good duct system is like a fine automobile engine in a pushcart. Plan for installation by experienced, reliable personnel. Luckily for most homeowners, new gas central furnaces are compact — fit in small closet areas or in attics.

Here's a good way to judge a heating system! Modern flue-vented perimeter gas heating systems actually put heat in the floors. Children can play with less danger of catching colds. Chilly feet become a thing of the past. "Toe-tucking" days will be over!

POLIO VACCINE ANSWER SCHEDULED THIS SPRING

The annual March of Dimes opened this week with a sober note of caution from Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Pointing out that "we still do not know if the trial polio vaccine has prevented one case of poliomyelitis," Mr. O'Connor stated that "this factor, plus the large number of patients needing help, means that fighting polio is a bigger job now."

"I know that parents are anxiously waiting for the answer," Mr. O'Connor said. "The scientific evaluation of the vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk is a time-consuming and precise job requiring detailed records on 100 children who either have been vaccinated or are awaiting controls."

Poliomyelitis Vaccine Center at the University of Michigan is now gathering data on children in schools in the 217 study areas.

Laboratories at Work Fifty-seven laboratories are processing and testing some blood samples taken from the children to determine the amount of protective antibodies against polio present in their bloodstreams.

The Evaluation Center at the University of Michigan is now gathering data on children in schools in the 217 study areas.

Colbert, MacMurray, Kettles Make "Egg" An All-Time Hit

There are many reasons why THE EGG AND I will always remain one of Hollywood's most hilariously heartwarming and satisfying achievements. For one thing, this fabulously popular adaptation of Betty MacDonald's best seller, which opens an engagement Friday at the Palace Theatre, creates that wonderful hunk of Americana—the bewildering family of "Ma and Pa Kettle".

Bowie County Man Speaker of House

It had been one hundred and two years since a speaker of the Texas House of Representatives came out of Bowie County and a goodly company of us, two score and more, were present and full of pride when Jim Lindsey took the oath and dedicated himself to that service today. We were mighty pleased that his election was unanimous and that no one opposed him.

"A tall pine from Bowie county, genial Jim Lindsey," he had been called in a second nominating speech by J. Gordon Bristow of Big Springs, and the home towners liked it.

Jim Lindsey was born fifteen years and a few days after Sam Rayburn of Bonham, another youngster who took the same oath of office in the 32nd Legislature. Rayburn, who now at 74 has served longer than any other man as speaker of the United States House of Representatives, had turned 29 a few days before he was elected. Lindsey will be 29 on February 1.

Lindsey is distinctly of the pattern and in the tradition of Texas. Dark of eyes and with black unruly hair he stands 6 feet 2 inches; weighs a full muscle 190 pounds. He is entering his fourth two year term of office and let he is less and five years out of where he graduated with honors. His college career was delayed somewhat while he trained for a pilot's job in the Air Force.

And further in the Texas tradition, Jim Lindsey is fresh from the soil that was his forbearers. He has followed a plow long hours in the earth that his great-grandfather first furrowed 85 years ago.

There are similarities between Jim Lindsey and Hardin Richard Runnels, the Bowie County speaker who preceded him by 102 years. Runnels came off a plantation along Red River. Runnels was a member of the 2nd, 3rd and 4th Texas Legislatures before he was elected speaker of the 5th. Runnels was 33 years old when he was chosen. Lindsey was a member of the 51st, 52nd and 53rd Legislatures before he became speaker of the 54th on the threshold of 29, and Jim Lindsey was a doer, a comer and a leader from the beginning.

Runnels must have had the same fibre too, for in 1855 after one term as speaker of the House he was elected lieutenant governor and in 1857 after another two years' lapse he ran as a Democrat against Sam Houston, Independent, for Governor and gave Houston the only defeat he ever suffered in an election.

And what of Jim Lindsey and the future. We who are proud to be his homefolks are not seers but we can vision the shade of Hardin Richard Runnels beckoning another Bowie County boy to advancement in State and National service.

LoWanna Activities

The final meeting for 1954 of the LoWanna Camp Fire girls was their annual Christmas party held in the home of Irma Ned Riley. Seasonal decorations featuring arrangements made by the members. Participating on the program were Irma Ned Riley, who played "Silent Night, Holy Night;" Loretta Brocker, who read some Christmas Legends; Jo Ann Hervey, a Christmas poem; Ileatha Herring, "Christmas Customs;" Shirley Hodges, Carolyn Clement and Charlotte Wallace, who sang a medley of Christmas carols.

Shirley Hodges introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. J. M. Willingham, who told the Christmas story. After the program, gifts were exchanged. Traditional red punch and Christmas tree and wreath cookies made colorful refreshments. Mrs. A. C. Auld and Walter Riley were guests of the group. Mr. and Mrs. Riley took the members carol singing at the conclusion of the party.

Starting the New Year off with vigor, the LoWanna girls discussed plans for programs for the next six weeks, which include a ceramics course, building a bird house, a trip to the museum at Midwestern, and a visit to Downings greenhouse. Work was started during the work period on the bird house. This project will be completed at the next meeting. Carolyn Clement presided over the short business session in the absence of President Shirley Hodges.

After refreshments, the girls visited the Ceramic Shop operated by Mrs. F. E. Cruce on Ave. F. The members selected their pattern and will begin work Jan. 25th.

News From The Congress

FRANK IKARD

It has been my custom, I expect, to write you a letter about the news from the Congress. It is my hope that these news letters will bring some information to you that you would not otherwise receive. I am sure that they will be of interest to you. If there are any particular questions you would like to have discussed here, please let me know.

Up to this point, the Congress has been concerned mostly with the reorganization of the executive branch, getting the executive branch reorganized, and putting everything in shape so that the work of this session can be done. There is only one Committee in the House to which membership is elected, and that is the Committee on Ways and Means. I had the honor of being elected to serve on this Committee. Besides being a committee member, I am very grateful to my colleagues for having selected me to serve on this important committee and it will certainly offer an opportunity to be of real service.

Generally speaking, the Texas Delegation in the House will have great influence during the coming session of congress. In addition to having Sam Rayburn of Bonham as Speaker of the House, which is the highest and most important position a Member of the House can attain, Texas will be ably represented on all the important Committees.

The Committee on Agriculture will have as its second ranking Member Democrat W. R. (Bob) Poage of Waco. Also serving on this committee is Clark W. Thompson of Galveston. On the Appropriations Committee the second ranking Member is George H. Mahon of Colorado City, Texas, and the fourth ranking Democrat is Albert Thomas of Houston, Tex. Paul J. Kilday of San Antonio, and O. C. Fisher of San Angelo, are both members of the important Armed Services Committee. Wright Patman of Texarkana and John J. Bell, a new Member from Cuero, will serve on the Committee on Banking and Currency. In addition to being Chairman of the House Administration Committee, Omar Burlison of Anson is also a Member of the Foreign Affairs Committee. Jack Brooks of Beaumont will be on the Committee on Government Operations along with Joe M. Kilgore who is a new Member to represent the Rio Grande Valley District. Jack Brooks also will serve as a Member of the Judiciary Committee, and Kilgore will be on Post Office and Civil Service. Walter Rogers of Pampa has two important assignments in that he will serve with Martin Dies of Lufkin as a member of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce as well as on the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. J. T. Rutherford from Odessa will have membership on the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs and the District of Columbia. Olin Teague of Bryan will be Chairman of the important Veterans Affairs Committee. Jim Wright from Weatherford and Brady Gentry of Tyler will represent Texas on the Public Works Committee. John Dowdy will be on the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service and on the Committee on House Administration. Homer Thornberry of Austin will serve as a member of the powerful Committee on Rules.

Visitors this week in Washington were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Davis of Vernon.

Dr. White To Head 1955 Heart Fund State Campaign

Dr. William R. White, president of Baylor University at Waco, has been appointed chairman of the 1955 Heart Fund campaign in Texas, it has been announced.

The appointment marks the second successive year that Dr. White has headed the month-long February drive, which coincides with a nationwide effort against mankind's greatest killer, diseases of the heart system.

In accepting the task, the Baylor, president, one of the nation's leading Baptist clergymen, said the "remarkable new medical techniques for heart disease treatment are showing such early promise that I am pleased to do all I can to further them."

Dr. White added that he felt that Heart Fund work offered one of the best opportunities for man to enjoy the blessing of the Creator thru cooperative efforts to help himself.

His first step as 1955 chairman was to call for volunteer workers down thru every community level.

"These workers who give of their time and energy are the very backbone of the crusade," Dr. White said.

The Baylor educator said he would take a personal hand in the Texas Heart Fund campaign wherever possible. He plans for appearances over statewide television and radio, as well as news paper messages and talks.

Edgar Brown of Houston, executive director of the Texas Heart Association, said Dr. White's consent to head the campaign again in 1955 signalizes its worthiness and appeal.

The Texas fight to cut down the high mortality rate from heart disease could have no finer leader than this eminent churchman, who also heads one of our great universities and medical schools, Brown declared.

Last year about $1,000,000 was raised nationally for research and treatment thru the Heart Fund, although no actual goal is set.

Dr. White expressed gratification at the response of the people of Texas to the 1954 campaign, and added that he was taking the helm of this year's crusade with the expectation of even greater support.

Texans have always recognized a good cause, and their response is reflected in our many blessings, he commented.

raised are retained by local and state Heart Associations to support their own programs. The remainder goes to nationwide research, education and community service activities of the American Heart Association.

Latest mortality figures show diseases of the heart and blood vessels led their nearest rival, cancer, by more than three to one. More than 52 percent of all deaths in the nation in 1953 were attributed to ailments of the heart and circulatory system.

In the last generation medical science and new surgery avenues have reduced the heart disease death rate by 70 percent for those under 24 years of age, and by 35 percent for those between 24 and 44, Dr. White pointed out.

Styling that's stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars!

It costs no more to form a sheet of steel into a graceful shape than it does an awkward one—so price has nothing to do with styling. Only the talent of its designers determines whether a car is a delight to the eye or it isn't.

You couldn't find more pointed proof of this than the 1955 Chevrolet—for here is a low-priced car that has snatched the styling spotlight, overshadowing even the highest-priced creations with its subtle sweep of line, the bold rake of its deep-curved windshield.

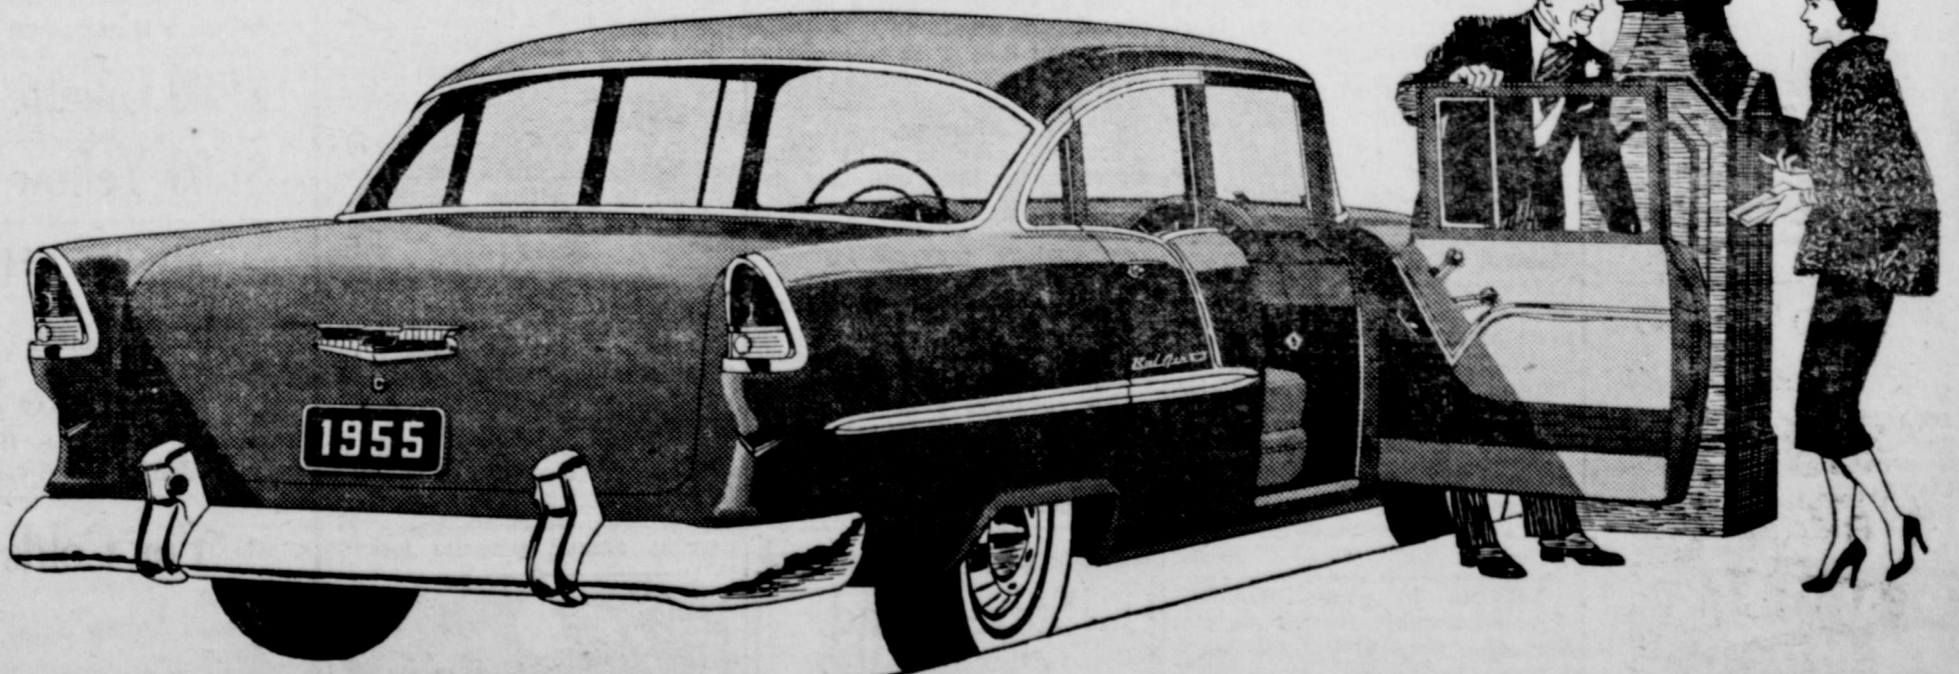

New V8 and two new 6's

But the Motoramic Chevrolet has advances in engineering that even surpass its styling. There are three ultra-efficient new engines—the 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire V8" and two "Blue-Flame" 6's. There is a whole new chassis design, with spherical-joint front suspension that spurns bumps like a swallow skimming a lake, and Anti-Dive braking control to check that sharp "nosing down" of the front end.

There are three new drives—sturdier Synchro-Mesh and, optional at extra cost, a silkier Power-glide automatic transmission or the flexibility of Touch-Down Overdrive... plus all the power helpers you could wish. Try a 1955 Chevrolet—now—and find out why it is stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars.

Texas State Dept. of Health Dr. Henry A. Holle, M. D.

"A hundred years ago nobody worried about bursitis because nobody had it," said Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer. It wasn't until about forty years ago that there was enough of it around for it to be given a name. Today an estimated two and a half million Americans suffer from the hurting joints caused by bursitis.

The reason for the big increase seems to be found in modern living. So many of the things people do, typing, working adding machines, driving, handling compressed air tools, exercising strenuously on weekends, are the very things that can cause attacks of bursitis. Too, people live longer nowadays and bursitis most often attacks after forty when age weakens tendons.

Between the moving of muscles, tendons and bones there are cushions, tiny, flat sacs filled with an oily substance. These are the bursae. As the parts move, the two inside surfaces of the sacs glide against each other providing satin-smooth action.

The body has more than 140 of these little sacs. Most important is the subdeltoid bursae in the shoulder, which helps the major shoulder muscle operate. It is the most important because the human shoulder wasn't designed for the work it now has to do. The result is that though bursitis can occur in any of the 140 bursae and often does not affect elbows, hips, ankles and joints, 80 percent of the time it is in the shoulder.

If an attack of bursitis occurs, a physician should be consulted. He can control bursitis but he can't control the results of neglect. Curing bursitis takes time and patience.

Governor To Serve As Fund Chairman Of Heart Campaign

Gov. Allan Shivers again this year will serve as honorary chairman of the annual February Heart Fund Campaign of the Texas Heart Association, it has been announced, and Attorney General John Ben Shepperd again will serve as co-chairman.

The Governor and the Attorney General join with Dr. William R. White, President of Baylor University, active campaign chairman, in soliciting the support of all Texans for the voluntary HEART FUND drive.

Gov. Shivers pointed out that every dollar invested in livestock is and are costing farmers about $1,000,000,000 annually, Dr. F. M. Fuller, extension entomologist, reports.

That's a loss of five cents on every dollar invested in livestock. The entomologist says these figures, which are termed conservative, show that livestock raisers are not realizing full returns from their operations.

Ironically, says Dr. Fuller, modern research has found practical ways to control most of today's parasitic enemies.

Few, if any, livestock are completely free of infestation, he says. Even the best looking animal may harbor a dozen or more different parasite species.

Heaviest losses in cattle come from external parasites, horn-flies and grubs. However, internal parasites likewise are a major problem.

For every eight animals shipped to market, the value of one is lost to parasitism, Dr. Fuller emphasizes. This means cattlemen are "giving away" each year an additional 2,000,000,000 pounds of meat.

Studies show that losses from parasites exceed 10 percent in poultry. One battery in 10 is wasting space, feed and labor and equipment.

Parasites are robbing swine producers of the value of one pig in every 12; and shepherds face the problem of combating a 25 percent annual parasite loss.

YOUR FARM BUREAU- BY MARYE ECKELKAMP

Usually things are pretty quiet around the county in January and the Farm Bureau office is just as quiet with the exception of income tax. This certainly hasn't been true this year.

Letters are going out to the membership concerning the new Cancer coverage on Blue Cross-Blue Shield Hospitalization Insurance. Blue Cross members are being offered this coverage effective April 1, 1955. Non-Blue Cross members making application will become effective the same date.

The Cancer coverage is offered under the Catastrophic illness Endorsement which covers the ten major diseases such as polio, leukemia, etc. All applications must be in the Farm Bureau office by February 10 in order that they may be processed for the quarterly group role that is issued on March 15. This is a special offer to Farm Bureau groups and has eliminated the six months waiting period that normally is required.

Non-Blue Cross members are to be contacted by the Membership Committee headed by Joe Cunningham, Chairman. Anyone wanting more information can contact the Farm Bureau Director in your precinct or the Farm Bureau office.

The Commodity Committee has been hard at work locating some surplus hay and feed in other counties in Texas and believe it or not they have found bundle feed, mostly hygear and capper at 10 cents a bundle or $20 a ton in West Texas: Baled oats, 65c a bale, Johnson Grass at 60c a bale or $18 to $20 a ton, Johnson grass and clover combined at $24 a ton in East Texas; and Peanut hay at $20 a ton in Oklahoma; some shocked maize stalks for silage has been found at Lubbock. These prices are reasonable and anyone wanting further information can contact the Farm Bureau office.

The Board of Directors have set the county membership quota at 450 members and the annual drive will begin Monday, Jan. 24. Prospect cards are now in the process and a general meeting of the Membership Committee will be held Friday, Jan. 21 to complete plans. This committee is composed of Cunningham, Elwood Haynes, Buster Morgan, D. H. Ford, Herbert Detmer, George Streit, T. H. (Dutch) Eckelkamp, Emil Flusche, Emil Schroeder, J. L. Caffee, J. C. Hinkle, Wymore Downing, J. C. Porter, Bill Jenne, Will Spruiell, T. J. Pace and George Lewis.

Parasites Take One Farm Animal In Twenty

External and internal parasites are claiming one farm animal in 20 and are costing farmers about $1,000,000,000 annually, Dr. F. M. Fuller, extension entomologist, reports.

Veterans Administration Questions & Answers

Q-Previously VA had been reducing my GI insurance premium payments from my Monthly disability compensation. My compensation has just been reduced to the point where it no longer is large enough to cover my premiums. What happens now?

A-Since your compensation payments no longer are large enough to cover your GI Insurance premiums, the automatic deduction plan will stop. You will have to start paying premiums yourself.

Q-I am drawing a VA pension. My wife has just gone to work part-time to supplement our income. Am I supposed to count her salary in figuring whether my annual income falls below the legal "ceiling"?

A-No. In computing your annual income, you need not include the separate income of your wife.

Q-I applied for disability compensation at VA a year and a half ago, and was turned down. I had planned to appeal, but kept putting it off. Is it too late now?

A-Yes. Any decision of a VA rating board unappealed within one year is final. But you may submit a new claim for compensation and include any additional information that you might have.

Q-I am taking a trade school course under the Korean GI Bill. It will last for two years. I know that I get 30 days authorized absences a year. If I'm not absent my first year, can I carry those 30 days over to the second year?

A-No. Carry-overs of unused absences from one year to the next are not allowed.
