The basketball trophies were awarded during an assembly program in the gym. In the girls division of the tournament, 6-2, 7-1 and 8-3 received trophies. In the boys division, 6-3, 7-3 and 8-3 received trophies. Since the boys of 8-3 had won the trophy two years previously, they now keep it for their section.

The "Plantation" theme provided the inspiration for both decorations and program of the 8th grade banquet Friday night. The cafeteria was decorated in blue and white, and the program included group singing of Folk Songs, and a pantomime of Phil Harris' "That's What I Like About the South" by Charles Ramsey and Bobby Lewis. Following the banquet, dancing at the Youth Center, was enjoyed by many of the students.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

CATSKILL, N. Y., Examiner-Recorder: "We feel that in all fairness the private power concerns deserve the right to continue their free enterprise role. To restrict this freedom in any way is unfair and disregards the free play of economic factors in the growth of a balanced economy. Freedom of initiative and trust in the business community comes first."

BEREA, O., Enterprise: "Babson sees the next crash due to our present unheard of ways of paying for home building. Now, we read, they may be purchased with nothing down."

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Herald: "The Communist party has been outlawed by Congress and other federal and state legislation has further restricted the organization, but Americans who become complacent concerning the Communist conspiracy failed to measure its purpose. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover says in a statement to the House Appropriations Committee that while the party has thus been driven underground the 22,663 party members represent a Trojan horse of rigidly-disciplined fanatics. Mr. Hoover explained that where one agent was needed in World War II to trail a Nazi, 'as many as 10' are required now to shadow Communist subversives."

The Bee Has No Marketing Problem

The wild bee seems fortunate in having the raw honey provided for him in flowers with no effort on his part, until it is realized that he spends all his productive hours collecting, transporting and depositing it in the carefully prepared cells he has built. There he stops, his honey hidden in a hollow tree.

Man's task of providing for his wants is as never-ending as the work of the honey bee, only more so. He is not satisfied to have food stored in the most primitive manner. He has a marketing problem to make the results of his labor available for consumption, and this is a costly process.

It is reported that in 1953 two-thirds of the consumer's dollar went for marketing costs. In other words, getting the results of man's labors to the consumer has grown from the "honey in the tree" era to the readymix cake flour and frozen food package age.

Who wants to trade the chance to distribute some honey at a profit, for a bee's life?

THE BUREAUCRAT'S DREAM

When a householder buys natural gas from a utility company, he buys it at a price and under conditions which are regulated by public service commissions, just as in the case of electricity. The pipelines which carry gas in interstate commerce are federally regulated.

No one objects to this. But when the government is given the power to regulate natural gas at the wellhead in the field—which has happened as the result of a Supreme Court decision—the situation is different.

Natural gas in the field is a commodity that is no different from potatoes in the ground, fish in the ocean, wool on the sheep, or any other commodity that is sold competitively in the open market. There is exactly as much justification for government price control over a thousand and one other commodities as there is for it on gas at the wellhead. Thus, the precedent is set for price controls over all commodities, and therefore over all business.

On top of that, if federal regulation is continued, gas shortages are inevitable. Only one well in 44 leads to a substantial field. Only the incentive of a profit commensurate with so great a risk will keep producers hunting for more gas.

Legislation has been introduced in Congress to free the independent gas producers of well-head regulation, and leaders in both parties support it. So does the President's Fuels Policy Committee, which said that producers should be thus exempted "in the interests of a sound policy and the protection of the national defense and consumer interest."

ANOTHER NOBLE EXPERIMENT

Former President Herbert Hoover does not believe that the UN charter can be effectively amended at this time "because of the weight of the Communists in the Security Council," he told a Senate Relations subcommittee. On this point, he will doubtless find millions of his countrymen in agreement.

But, while Mr Hoover admits that the UN "has not fulfilled our hopes," he would not terminate the institution, nor withdraw from it. "I have no notion," he said, "that we can abandon any organization of nations that make for peace."

All of which recalls that President Hoover was similarly unenthusiastic some years back over the Eighteenth Amendment and described it in a letter to Senator Borah as "a great social and economic experiment, noble in motive and far reaching in purpose."

Special Disability Records Frozen

Seriously disabled people who used to work in employment or self employment covered by the social security law should get in touch with the social security office by June 30, Erton Tate, social security district manager, announced today.

Tate pointed out that people who have been totally disabled for 6 months or longer, and who worked in employment or self-employment covered by the social security law for as many as 5 years out of the 10 years before they were disabled should get further information about this law.

Active military service and employment in the railroad industry may count toward the needed amount of work. By applying to have their social security earnings records frozen, disabled people may prevent loss or reduction of future benefits.

Some people now receiving old-age insurance payments or who will become eligible for old age payments in July were disabled for long periods before they reached age 65 and are still disabled. They may start getting larger payments as of July and will get them more promptly if they file an application for a "disability Freeze" by June 30. If the disabled person dies after June 30, the disability freeze can protect his family's rights to survivors payments but only if he had applied for it before death. For this reason, it is important for every person who meets the requirements for the "Freeze" to apply for it by June 30th.

Tate emphasized that the law protects the social security rights of a worker who is suffering from prolonged total disability but does not pay cash benefits to him before he is 65.

The address of the Wichita Falls social security office is 425 Post Office Bldg. If a disabled person is unable to call at the office, he may telephone or someone else may call for him, Tate said.

Speeding Causes More Arrests

Patrolmen of the Wichita Falls District of the Texas Highway Patrol contacted a total of 2,328 traffic law violators during the month of April. Capt. K. B. Hallmark, Jr., commanding officer reported that 721 of these were arrested while 1607 were warned for violation of the state Traffic laws.

Speeding was the leading cause of arrest, with Defective Equipment second and Improper passing ranking third.

Counties included in the Wichita Falls District are Archer, Baylor, Clay, Foard, Cottle, King, Hardeman, Knox, Montague, Wilbarger, Wichita and Young.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Stubbs of Amarillo, Tex., spent Mothers Day with Mrs. Stubbs' parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Bradford.

Hammet Vance and son Johnny and Mrs. Pettijohn of Wichita Falls spent Mothers Day with their mother, Mrs. W. T. Vance. They took her to church and then had dinner with her. It was also Mrs. Vance's birthday.

Gary Cooper tries to establish some honor among thieves in this battle royal with Cameron Mitchell in "Garden of Evil," Twentieth Century-Fox's stunning CinemaScope adventure drama, that was filmed in its entirety in Mexico. Susan Hayward and Richard Widmark are the other co-stars in the production now playing at the PALACE THEATRE — SUNDAY-MONDAY & TUESDAY, May

Gary Cooper Will Insure Full House

Gary Cooper, a man of few words—on the screen and off—when asked recently to define the one compelling element that he thought brought people back to the movies unhesitatingly shot back, "Suspense."

Then, in what was a garrulous outburst for the long-time box-office champion, he reasoned why it was the first requisite he looked for in choosing a script such as for his current assignment in "Garden of Evil," a Twentieth Century-Fox CinemaScope production in Technicolor showing at the Palace Theatre in which he co-stars with Susan Hayward and Richard Widmark.

"The action, the characters, the romance, the background—everything is meaningful with out suspense of outcome," Cooper went on. "And threaded thru the primary suspense of plot must be secondary moments of suspense climaxed by high action. In other words, the audience must be made to care what happens next."

Cooper, who is more of a student of drama than his laconic relaxed acting would indicate, says he has found that suspense has been the interest catcher in all entertainment from the old Greek plays on down thru the gaslight dramas, cliff-hanging serial movies, radio and television.

Bobby Mannas Three Years Old

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Mannas, 101 Linden, entertained in their home recently in honor of their son Bobby's third birthday. Candy tied in gay napkins and balloons were used as favors. The children sang and played games, then enjoyed chocolate milk and cake. The birthday cake had "Happy Birthday Bobby" iced on top with three candles.

Those in attendance were Mrs. J. Wilchek and Elaine from Wichita Falls, Mrs. J. Brady and Patricia, Mrs. J. Viavatore and Eddie, Mrs. Ray Hyde and Hubby, Mrs. A. G. Crosby and Judy, Carolyn and David Mannas. Several were unable to attend the party.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Barton visited relatives and attended the funeral of Mrs. Barton's sister, Mrs. Sally Stevens, in Cushing, Okla., last week.

Highway Roulette

Speed is the number one killer on American highways because too many motorists think they can get away with a heavy foot on the accelerator "just one more time." In a way, the driver who speeds is taking just about the same chances as the crackpot who plays Russian Roulette. Maybe nothing will happen for a few spins, but eventually the result can be fatal.

The real danger of high speeds does not necessarily lie in increased frequency of accidents but rather in increased severity. As Hathaway G. Kemper, president of the Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Company and a leader in highway safety, pointed out, the faster a motorist drives the greater are his chances of being killed if he has an accident.

Some people may argue that, in this jet-propelled atomic age, drivers are entitled to go faster to get where they are going sooner. Actually, driving at a higher speed doesn't make too much difference in the amount of time spent on a trip.

In a test in Kansas, two cars were sent out on a 295 mile trip over the same route. One car was driven at a top speed of 65, and it made the trip in 6 hours and 25 minutes. The other was driven at a top speed of 50, and it made the trip in 6 hours and 50 minutes. Although the faster driver saved 6 percent in time, he lost 11 percent in gasoline consumption, 50 percent in oil consumption, and he almost doubled the possibility of his having a fatal accident in addition to endangering the lives of others.

McCarthy's Income Tax Returns

By R. D. Laney
Public has been made to know for several years past that McCarthy's finances were involved, and by implication that he had taken advantage of the tax laws to carry on his anti-communist subcommittee work. McCarthy had used them for financing unrelated to his anti-communist campaign. Investigation was in the anti-McCarthy published statements that have been found to be a tax evasion of the government.

The innuendoes, allegations are now found to be true. The internal revenue service picked out every charge that came to Sen. McCarthy in any form, and it looked into the government.

ed at times at the source and destinations of the contributions made to him to carry on his fight against communism. It did not find a single dollar that was not accounted for of which had been misapplied. Quite the reverse. It found that the senator had overpaid his tax bills.

The campaign of innuendo to the end that there was something smelly about McCarthy's finances has been going on for some years. It was one of the allegations made against McCarthy by Sen. Benton, former Connecticut New Dealer, when he offered a resolution in 1951 that McCarthy should be expelled from the senate.

That charge was picked up by the special subcommittee on privileges and elections which investigated the Benton charges, first under the chairmanship of Sen. Gillette, later under Sen. Hennings, both new dealers. The Gillette-Hennings subcommittee made a number of demands of Sen. McCarthy to disprove allegations which, it showed, it was entirely disposed to consider as facts.

Among these were whether funds collected to conduct the fight against communism were diverted and used for other purposes.

poses inuring to your personal advantage," whether Sen. McCarthy's financing and reporting of financing during his campaigns "involved violations of the federal and state corrupt practice acts," and whether loan or other transactions with a Wisconsin bank involved violations of tax and banking laws. The subcommittee also suggested McCarthy had used members of his family to "secrete receipts," income and other transactions.

Sen. McCarthy treated this political witch hunt with the contempt it merited, with the result that when the McCarthy haters got up full steam on their campaign last year to smear him, these allegations were repeated by the Watkins select committee which was organized to recommend that he be censured.

The senator's refusal to kowtow to the Gillette-Hennings subcommittee became the principal basis for the later senate vote to condemn his conduct, altho, as the tax refund received by McCarthy from the internal revenue bureau now shows, the chief allegations before that subcommittee were without foundation. The original second count of the Watkins committee, alleging abuse of Gen. Zwicker, collapsed, and a question of perjury has been referred to the justice department in reference to some of Zwicker's contradictory statements. The senate, however, adopted a substitute count accusing McCarthy of abusing the Watkins committee which served just as well.

The McCarthy haters suffered much discomfiture when the senator from Wisconsin was privileged to waive a $1,056.75 income tax refund check before reporters at the conclusion of the long protracted, intensive and much publicized investigation by the internal revenue department into all of his financial transactions from 1947 thru 1952. Far from having shorted the government on his tax returns, as his enemies charged, Sen. McCarthy overpaid his income tax.

It would appear on the basis of these facts that the most conspicuous victim of what Communist and "liberals" choose to call "McCarthyism" is the senator himself. If that derogatory term is defined as character assassination on the basis of unsupported allegations and rumors, Sen. McCarthy has certainly received the full treatment. The outcome of the tax investigation shows that much.

Victim Of Cancer Lives Normal Life

The following is an article taken from a Ft. Worth paper and concerns a former Burkburnett resident, Mrs. O. G. Heins, the former Pearl Padgett. April is Cancer Control Month and this is the story of how even advanced cancer can be controlled and allow a cancer victim to live a normal life.

"You wouldn't think from looking at the smile on Pearl's face that she has cancer like she does. That was O. G. Heins talking about his wife. Mrs. Heins sat a few feet away in the couples living room. She looked like any other housewife. She was not bedfast, helpless or depressed. She smiled frequently as she talked freely of her cancer.

"Sure, it was a shock when I first found out I had cancer. It nearly scared the life out of me. But I didn't think I was going to die. I figured they could do something about it."

It's been two years since Mrs. Heins' cancer first appeared and since then at various times has spread to different parts of her body. Mrs. Heins' doctors explain that her cancer is "like weeding a garden." The cancer will crop up in one place and they start treatments to "weed it out." Maybe by the time it is weeded there it crops up another place and the weeding starts all over again.

How is weeding done? There are a number of ways in which this can be done. The methods used on Mrs. Heins are: surgery, radium needles, X-ray, radioactive gold.

Mrs. Heins won't kid you. Cancer is no picnic. It causes her pain and so do some of the treatments she must go thru. But with her faith in God and faith in her doctors, Mrs. Heins is able to lead a normal life.

Mrs. Heins is a sister of Mrs. B. A. Dorland of Rt. 1, Iowa Park, Texas.

Fairview Community Enters & M Rural Neighborhood Contest

drive west of Burkburnett, Highway 240, you pass a sign which states that you are entering a rural neighborhood contest. This contest is sponsored by the Farmers and A&M College. It is a small, compact neighborhood, eight miles due west of Burkburnett in the north center of Wichita County on the River.

you turn back the page early history of Wichita you will find the story built by a rugged group of pioneers. The story goes that in 1879 Spec began to advertise papers of the Mid-west for the fabulous opportunities in land holdings in Texas. His ad would bring settlers to his land. And in 1880 the policy reaped harvest.

twenty-five families of Scotch descent arrived from Minnesota, Missouri and to take up making a claim on the Texas plain. The entire community is taking part in the soil improvement overlooking the huts of the workers of the fields.

Fairview had the same fate as Clara, and after the school was removed, it also settled down to a sleepy little village.

And so the condition remained until December of 1954 when a few interested residents stirred by County agent B. T. Haws and Cathryn Sands Home Demonstration agent, met in the home of E. J. Simons to discuss the rebirth of these documents that had been asleep for so long.

It was decided to combine both communities and have one joint group. With the enthusiastic willingness shown only in a farm group, the families elected their officers. Mrs. Lois Crane, a proud farm woman and happy mother was elected chairman. The other officers included Mr. Edward Simon, vice-president, Mr. O. W. Prechel, secretary-treasurer and Alden Smith, reporter.

The community is made of twenty families which total about sixty-five people. The total number of acres which is in the community is 14,407, which includes 5,567 acres in crops.

The entire community is taking part in the soil improvement practices. This includes terraces, drainage ditches, chiseled land, legumes and contoured farming. The result of their hard work won them first place in the annual Bridwell Awards, which won for the community $250.

Did we have trouble in organizing? Just as in all new groups, we had our troubles. Our main problem was a meeting place — we had no school, but the new Lutheran church had a parish hall, so thru the kind generosity of the board, people of different religions came to meet in the spare room of the Lord's house.

As any community we set to work cleaning up our farmsteads and the community projects. Our crops reaped great harvest, for we added two new homes, remodeled eight, and many of us redecorated the entire inside of their homes.

We had six families to add water pumps and six to equip a modern bathroom, which is an essential to a modern set-up.

To have better living, you must get modern equipment in both the field and in the home. Ten new pieces of farming machinery was added at the value of $45,000. Many modern, up-to-date appliances were added in the home to make the duties of a Clara-Fairview farm wife easier.

An asset of a rural community is its general appearance, and the ClaraFairview folks clearly realized this. Armed with paint and brushes, the local 4-H club set out to make the mail boxes look like new. Road signs were installed at each end of the community and road markers made by industrious supporters soon dotted the entire community from end to end.

But the prize of the community is the building of its picnic ground known as "Friendship Park," on the site where the Clara High School previously stood. The men worked hard at setting out the trees, and plans are in progress for picnic tables, a barbecue pit, and lighting facilities. This park is being built as a tribute to the first settlers of Clara.

Beautification is another part of the community project in which our members have taken part. Our local rural cemetery, for many years, was run down and depleted, but now after many hours of hard work, it is a place of beauty and cleanliness wanted in a rural yard.

All our members take an active part in religious group and altho we possess different beliefs we all live together as brothers, in spite of the fact that we have different religious groups totaling four.

The community has taken upon itself the task of learning more about facilities and promoting organizations.

The community has an active 4-H club named Clara-Burk and has eight members. All the youth are also members of the FHA and FFA. Some members have brought many honors to their club. One future farmer is serving as a district officer and placed in the state speaking contest. Two 4-H girls are Gold Star members and have represented the club at the state meet at A&M College for the past two years.

Many of the women are charter members of Hardin Home Demonstration club and are serving the club capably as officers. They have won many ribbons at the Texas-Oklahoma Fair and each have made a float for the Boomtown parade.

Publicity is an important part of a rural community, and we believe that we have ably furnished enough information for newspapers, radio and television.

Each week we have at least one article in our local paper and during the past year have had six radio and television programs.

This is an account of the work done the past year, though it may be small compared to some communities, we can honestly say the Clara-Fairview commu-ity has worked hard to improve the rural life. Already we are looking forward to next year and have bigger and better plans. What is the purpose of our group?

To improve better living for rural America and her people.

Missus Tolliver, a cautious lady won't let her son have a .22 just at about the age when the government's set to give him a howitzer.

New L.C.F.

(Low Cab Forward)

Chevrolet Task-Force Trucks

Powered by the most modern V8 in any truck...

Chevrolet's new Taskmaster V8 engine!

Chevrolet's great new L.C.F. models bring you all the advantages of a C.O.E.—plus a long list of important new advances you won't find anywhere else!

For example, the cab is a full seven inches lower than former C.O.E. models. And it has only two steps instead of the usual three for C.O.E.'s. Just think of the time and effort this will save the driver every time he gets in and out of the cab! Also, the low L.C.F. is handsomer by far than any C.O.E. ever built! What's more, in an L.C.F. you still get the easy maneuverability of a C.O.E.—plus sturdier frames, new suspensions and many more modern-truck features.

Inside, the L.C.F.'s new Flight-Ride cab has a level floor with plenty of "stretch-out" leg room and offers the same driver convenience you'll find in all new Chevrolet trucks. The driver has a commanding view of the road—through the big, broad panoramic windshield.

Quicker, simpler maintenance is another big advantage offered by Chevrolet's new L.C.F. models. Everything's easier to reach in the roomy engine compartment.

If you don't get the all-modern advantages offered by the new Task-Force trucks, you're getting an old-fashioned truck and stand to lose money on the job and at trade-in time, too. Come see the most modern trucks of all!

Shortest Stroke V8 of All! The new Taskmaster V8—the most modern V8 your money can buy—powers the new L.C.F.! It has a 12-volt electrical system (twice the "steam" for starting!).

Year after year, America's best selling truck!
