Friday, June 3rd, 9: A. M.
COMMON LET'S GO

Calling all parents of boys and girls in our community!
A special opportunity is offered all boys and girls, ages one to sixteen, at the First Baptist Church from June 6-10, 8:30 a.
m. to 11:30 a. m. Monday thru Friday. Special bible studies, visual aids, refreshments, recreation, notebook work and other interesting events help to make for better members of home, school and society as well as increasing the spiritual life of all who attend. Come and work with us.

You can help by bringing your own child and others in the neighborhood and mainly by praying for the school. Commencement exercises will be Friday, June 10th, at 7:30 p. m.

Wrong Credit Line On Last Week's Pic

The Star regrets that the wrong credit line was inserted under last week's picture of the first load of wheat from Oklahoma.

ROY'S STUDIO has made some fifty pictures for the Burk Chamber of Commerce for a very reasonable charge, and offered the wheat picture free of any charge. We offer our apologies for not giving the proper studio credit.

will be held Saturday, June 4th
The Beavers have been residents of Burkburnett for a number of years and are well known here.
They have three children, Phil,
Brenda and Babs. The family wishes to invite everyone to come by and visit with them.

Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District News

Now that moisture is in the soil, range and pasture land with a poor cover should be rested from grazing, Elvy Sargent of the Soil Conservation Service said today.

Hardland ranges with poor cover
may not have been wet deeper than 14 to 16 inches; This was found by SCS technicians making penetrations borings. Depth of moisture penetration on pastures is determined by cover and tightness of the land. Farmers and ranchers may increase the cover and prepare for the next rain by resting some of their pastures from grazing while moisture is available.

Extreme summer droughts has killed some grass but seedlings
have been found on these areas
this spring and need protection from grazing until they have survived one growing season and cover has increased.

Why not seed guar on lay out acreage or any land that will not go to fall seeded crop? Seed are reasonable and only five or six pounds are needed in rows or 12 pounds drilled.

Wilbur Prechel and Charles VanLoh of Clara are planning to seed guar. Albert Brockeide of Punkin Center, Wiley Bishop of Valley View, Carl Moer of Iowa Park are among those added to the guar list this week.

Chester Brown operator of the Mrs. D. E. Hooks farm of Valley
View has 18 acres of Madril up to a good stand and growing.

Miss Nathalie Foster left Saturday for Ridgecrest, North Carolina, where she will serve on the staff of the Ridgecrest Baptist Assembly during the months of June and July. She was accompanied to Ft. Worth by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Foster, and Mr. and Mrs. Al Lohofener
who spent the weekend with Mrs.
Betha Cropper.

Mrs. Don Lohofener of Abilene, visited her mother, Mrs. B.
H. Preston, and Mr. and Mrs.
A. H. Lohofener here last week.

Holly, who will appear in recital Wednesday night, June 8th, at the High School Auditorium.

Wheat Harvest Is Short This Year

Thursday morning only about 240,000 bushels of wheat had been brought into Burkburnett.
Estimates vary on the amount of the harvest completed. Some estimates go as high as 75-80 per cent.

None of the late wheat has been harvested, and some of the early wheat in the low places and on contour ridges is still in the fields. Recent rains have kept combes out of the fields, but very little wheat was lost on account of rain.

Some fields have averaged up to 40 bushels per acre, but the general average is 15 to 20 bu.
per acre.

One thing is certain—the harvest will be far behind some of the better years when over six hundred thousand bushels came to Burkburnett.

Morris-Miller Were United in Marriage Friday, May 27th

Mr. and Mrs. Franky Miller returned here Sunday where they will establish residence following a wedding trip to Fort Worth.

Miller and the former Miss Marilyn Sue Morris were united in Marriage Friday evening, May 27th at six o'clock at the Methodist parsonage with Rev. T. M.
Jenson, officiating.

The former Miss Morris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Morris and parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Lee Miller of Randlett, Okla.

The bride, given in marriage
by her father, wore an ice blue silk and nylon street length dress
The mouled, elongated bodice was styled with a deep V neckline. The bouffant skirt was gathered onto the basque bodice and worn over crinolines. She wore a corsage of pink rosebuds.
In the traditional manner, the bride wore an antique pin which once belonged to her grandmother, the late Mrs. M. W. Majors.
The same pin was worn by her mother at her wedding.

For the wedding trip, the bride chose a pink cotton suit with white accessories.

The bride is a senior at Burk-burnett High school. The groom graduated from Cameron College
at Lawton, Okla.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

EMPORIA, Kans., Gazette: "In this great land of the free and home of the suckers there always is the desire to get something 'at wholesale.' Recently many Kansas towns have been flooded with so-called 'wholesale' catalogs. These 'wholesale' houses are trying to bamboozle the public into thinking they are offering something for nothing. You get just what you pay for. Moreover the merchandise is likely to be cheap 'seconds.'"

NASHVILLE, ARK., News: "The Chattanooga Times, showed that Tennessee since TVA has skidded in population, farm production, retail sales, payrolls, manufacturing output, where her neighbors without the burden of such fraud, have pushed ahead in economics. In effect, socialism damns the giver and the taker."

DILLON, S. C., Herald: "Karl Marx has been dead nearly seventy-five years, but his warped mind and irregular life are responsible for many of the ills that have afflicted the world for the past half century. His false teachings have cost millions of lives."

MANHEIM, Pa., Sentinel: "It would be a great blessing to humanity and to civilization if governments were under the same compulsion to cut costs as is private enterprise. No matter how large a private business becomes, it is faced with oblivion the moment management becomes lax and inefficient."

FRESH OUTLOOK

It is refreshing to hear of an agricultural group that wants no Government price supports—at any level of parity—and that expects no crop surpluses since it intends selling to the consumer everything it can produce.

These are the thousands of members of the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association, growers, shippers and wholesalers, mostly small business men, who are determined to keep the pulse of their seven billion dollar trade beating lustily without the aid of Uncle Sam's fiscal pulmotor.

But the produce people are no more immune to problems than the rest of us. In recent years, they have seen an unhealthy chunk of their business slipping away to the food freezers and canners. Industry leaders have reacted to the danger signals, and a drive is on to give new meaning to the word "fresh." In fact, it is to become a noun as well as an adjective.

Under the guidance of the newly organized Fresh for Health Foundation, home-makers all over America are continually reminded of the merits of fresh. From the Foundation's test kitchen comes hundreds of new recipes for fresh. Produce men demonstrate on local TV shows across the nation how to buy and prepare fresh. This strictly positive campaign concerns itself with nutrition—not competition.

Last fall, the produce people joined another advocate of self-help, the meat industry, in a highly successful effort to do their own price-supporting by the time-tested, free-enterprise method of making the public want their products. When vegetables and meat get together, the inevitable result is an old fashioned stew. With everyone cooperating, from President Eisenhower on down (he contributed his favorite recipe and served his own stew to prominent guests), the stew idea caught on and the nutritional curve took an upswing. You can expect something similar again this fall.

As taxpayers and as consumers of food, we can all applaud a group that believes in producing food to be eaten—not to be sold to the Government at fictitious prices and stored at further public expense until it's not fit for man or beast. We salute the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association. Theirs is the healthy spirit!

HOW BIG IS TOO BIG?

The Federal Trade Commission and the Department of Justice are reported working together under the close direction of the White House to give anti-trust legislation some new dentures to protect us against the current wave of mergers and general concentrations of business power. One example is the purchase of the Statler Hotel chain by the Hilton group, which Government lawyers contend enables the combine to dominate convention business over the nation. Another is the wave of bank mergers on which the Justice Department is turning a cold eye.

Federal Trade wants a law to require firms that are that way about each other to tell uncle before they do anything about it, in effect, get a marriage license first. Justice wants Congress to say how big the mergees must be before they have to reveal their intentions.

But we don't seem to be hearing anything about merger of our labor trusts being slightly immoral, threatening to our economy or contrary to the public interest. Even a monopoly of the convention business, badges and soft drinks included, would seem less threatening than control of 15 million workers. And borrowing all our money from one bank could hardly restrain trade more severely than hiring all our workers from one super-union.

Wonder when our eager-beaver regulatory agencies will think of that?

What Success

By R. D. Laney

Success, if any, are we to the enforcement of the law as was handed down by the United States Supreme Court, May 17, 1954? How long will it take to bring about the long-awaited settlement and uncertainty, and how long will it take for observers who have indicated convictions that the Supreme Court decision opened a new era of freedom and control? It is difficult to estimate as the process of adjustment under the law be-were looking toward the Supreme Court's decision as the ball and end-all of the long debate over racially separate public schools. Now, for many months after the Court has spoken, it is clear that the decision was a beginning rather than an end.

There were really two questions before the Court. The first dealt with the legal and moral principle: Is racial segregation in the public schools compatible with the ideals of our democracy as expressed in the United States Constitution? And this, of course the nine Justices answered with a clear unanimous "no."

But apart from the principle of segregation, there is also segregation in practice, and to this answer is not so simple. Through generations in the South segregation rooted itself deeply in law in custom, and most important in the minds and emotions of Southern people. During the last fifteen years the unrooting has begun in many areas of public life. But the Supreme Court wisely recognized that segregation could not be eradicated from the public schools at a stroke; that skill and planning and time for adjustment would be needed.

There are still many legal questions to be decided, but it's no longer possible for us to look to the court for final solutions to the problems of school segregation. Nor is it realistic to expect the decision to translate itself into practice by some natural, automatic process. What happens from this point on will depend increasingly on the everyday activities of ordinary citizens in their own communities. For the process touched off by the Supreme Court decision is fundamentally a matter of human growth and the new ways of thinking and feeling that are required can't be achieved without earnest effort by the people involved.

We must not, however, confuse the potentialities of this decision with its actual achievement. The latter cannot be appraised accurately now, but this much can be said. Residential segregation will dilute the influence of successful litigation in the school cases; this, in turn will lessen the displacement of colored teachers; integration, even where there are sympathetic boards of education and school officials, will be much slower and less complete than many people anticipate.

In the months ahead we may expect to see many patterns emerge. A large number of urban areas in the border and southern states will comply with the decision; others will approach the matter with extreme caution and reluctance; some will attempt delay tactics and still others will openly defy the Court.

The problem of how to bring about these changes is not to be minimized. The change can be compelled by power. As a matter of fact, a part of the change in the armed services was compelled. But such a change is not what was the intent of the Supreme Court decision nor the intent of the millions of citizens who have looked forward to the day when we could truly unify our citizens.

Three Ring Circus Martin-Lewis Hit

For the most hilarious and most satisfying entertainment to hit town in many a blue moon rush down to the Palace Theatre June 5-7 where Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis' brand new funfest in Vista Vision and color by Technicolor, "Three Ring Circus" will be showing.

Dean and Jerry have never been seen to better advantage than in this howl-a-second comedy which has as its background the exciting and colorful circus big top. Producer Hal Wallis has spared nothing in making this film a sparkling, lavish and vibrant piece of celluloid pleasure. The second VistaVision film from Paramount, it brings home the point quite firmly that this new filming process is one of the most important technical advancements since the advent of sound. In "Three Ring Circus" it adds tremendous clarity and scope to the large production sequences, an asset which coupled with the Technicolor photography, gives the huge circus scenes imposing stature. Dean and Jerry take full advantage of the marvelous opportunity of cavorting about the circus. They have fashioned many side-splitting routines in the past but none have been as overwhelming hilarious as those presented in "Three Ring Circus"

YOUR REFRIGERATED ROOM AIR CONDITIONER cools more efficiently

COOL ONLY AN AREA WITHIN THE SIZE your unit is designed to cool. When cooling a larger area, the unit works harder and its efficiency is lowered.

INSULATE CEILING AREA above room being cooled. Insulation is comparatively inexpensive and keeps hot air out, cool air in.

PROPERLY REGULATE intake of outside air. This is important to operating efficiency of your unit. Follow manufacturer's instructions carefully.

AN AUTOMATIC THERMOSTAT is recommended to hold room temperature to 75 to 80 degree level recommended for comfort. Each degree below 78 degrees increases power consumption unnecessarily.

KEEP AIR FILTERS CLEAN. Clogged filters lower efficiency of the unit and cause it to use more electricity.

LOCATE UNIT IN SHADE if possible. The north side of house is best, followed by east, south and west. Proper shading of unit increases its efficiency.

KEEP OUT DIRECT SUNLIGHT. It brings in heat which your unit must work extra hard to remove. Awnings over your windows will help.

REMEMBER, TOO, that operating cost is governed by hours of use. Turn off your unit when you expect to be away for several hours. You can quickly lower the temperature when you return.

Looks like the Thunderbird — Acts like it, too!

A Test Drive will prove Ford's Trigger-Torque power lives up to the promise of Ford's Thunderbird styling

Ford used the long, low Thunderbird as an inspiration for the styling of its 16 models for 1955.

Ford also captured a lot of the Thunderbird's "Go" . . . a lot of its easy handling . . . and a lot of its interior beauty.

You'll find Ford's Trigger-Torque power gives you action right when you want it. You'll feel safer—pass faster.

You'll find Ford's Ball-Joint Front Suspension helps Ford hold the road like a coat of paint . . . and a new front suspension mounting gives Ford a silky-smooth Angle-Poised Ride.

Then, Ford interiors, like those of the Thunderbird, are rich, colorful and completely new! Come in and see why Ford's worth more.

You can see the Thunderbird look in the long, low lines of the Ford Fairlane Sunliner

DEVOL NEWS

Mrs. C. O. WOODLEY

Wind and hail did considerable damage to this community last Wednesday night. A tornado funnel was sighted north of Devol and is reported to have blown a chicken house and sheds away on the Joe Champion farm and also damaged the house roof. Six windows were blown out or broken in the Bob McCullough home and hail damage to crops north of Devol was higher than in other places.

Mrs. Ethel McCasland was hostess to the HD club Tuesday afternoon in the club house. Some business was taken care of and after a social hour, refreshments were served to six members.

larger projects would require. $100,000,000 was authorized to be appropriated to carry out the purposes of this act.

The National Reserve Bill was scuttled in the House last week and it will be considered by the House during this session. The reason for this was the adoption on the Floor of Amendments the effect of which would have destroyed the historic management of the state National guards by the states. The amendment adopted was offered by Adam Clayton Powell of New York and would have prohibited the assigning of any person to a national guard unit in a sense where the guard is segregated. The national guard has historically been a state organization (except when called into federal service.) I voted against this amendment. There is no doubt but what the adoption of an adequate reserve program would provide more flexible means of training for young men and would save substantial sums of money in our national defense but, as I have pointed out, the adoption of this amendment made favorable action on this bill impossible at this time.

The House Public Works Committee is about to conclude its consideration of the Federal Road Program and apparently will be ready to report a bill providing for a Federal Road

Program sometime in the near future. It is too early yet to tell what kind of a bill this committee will report.

About this time each year much speculation is always made about a possible date of adjournment. In view of the fact that the Congress is pretty well along with consideration of major legislation it seems that a good guess on adjournment would be sometime during the last week in July.

Visitors from home this week were Mr. Harwell Shepard of Denton, Mr. Ken Brown and Mr. Howard Fry of Wichita Falls, Mr. Joe Leonard, Jr. of Gainesville, and Mrs. W. A. Krohn and W. A. Krohn, Jr. of Electra.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mayes and Caroline are enjoying a weeks vacation in Oklahoma.

News From The Congress

By FRANK IKARD

There can be little doubt but what the development of the Southwest is to no small degree dependent upon our developing adequate sources and supplies of water. This week the House considered and passed legislation that should be a step forward in working out some solution for our deficiencies in source and supplies of water. The bill which was passed by the House establishes a program which would fill the gap which was created when we enacted the so-called upstream water conservation program last year. Of course, there is not space here to explain in detail this new program. However, generally speaking, it provides that a state conservation district, irrigation district water users association and other organizations may receive a loan or grant not to exceed $5,000,000 for the principal purpose of irrigation and flood control of a municipal water supply. The type of administration contemplated under this act is simple and will not require the extensive red tape or specific additional legislative authority that

Screw-Worm Season Is Here

Branding, dehorning, castrating and other seasonal livestock jobs may open the way to screw-worm infestation unless effective controls are used.

Stockmen are advised to be on the alert for these costly insects and to treat all fresh wounds on livestock, infested or not.

One application of EQ-335 smear should do the job, says B. T. Hays, county agent. Large wounds may require a second treatment. EQ-335 contains lindane which gives a lasting-killing effect.

Apply the smear directly to the wound, then put a small ring around the opening.

Screw-worms increase rapidly once present. If heated off from the start a lot of trouble and needless loss can be avoided, Hays says.

Marriage is not a word, it's a sentence.

Texas State Dept. of Health

Dr. Henry A. Holle, M. D.

The summer season always brings an increase in the incidence of dysentery, diarrhea and enteritis, all of which are major menaces to the lives of small children, annually causing the death or illness of hundreds of Texas youngsters.

Dr. Henry Holle, commissioner of Health, declares that the chief cause of these intestinal diseases are contaminated milk, water or food, allowing the child to get over heated or exhausted, excessive sugar in the infant's formula and foods that have been improperly refrigerated.

All foods should be clean and fresh and all leftovers should be refrigerated so as to avoid spoilage. The utmost care should be used in preparing the infant's formula which should, of course be prescribed by a physician and his recommendations as to sanitation precautions and correct refrigeration should be implicitly followed.

The Commissioner of Health warned parents especially of the disease transmission by flies. Children in any home that is not free from flies are in danger of contracting dysentery or other intestinal diseases which may be fatal.

If dysentery or diarrhea symptoms appear in your child, call your doctor immediately. Dr. Holle advises. His treatment of the disease is your best insurance against fatal results, since such diseases are really a very serious threat to the child's life. Do not depend on home remedies for diarrhea or dysentery; consult a competent physician and let him start the safest and best treatment which medical science has available for combating these diseases.
