Burk Motors To Display '56 Dodge Friday

Driving Era Ends With Dodge Button Shift

Button controls will select driving range desired on all Dodge cars equipped with the PowerFlite Drive. It will literally "tune in" the gear operation for any situation. In the history of auto-development has there been such a significant stride as this elimination of the work of historic shift-levers of the new Dodge first public showing in dealerships on October 7 in a class with those who have first self-starters, the automatic tire or the first headlights. The starter, the electric and the hydraulic new push button concept represent another forward built in safety; another dividing task has been left, leaving the driver road concentration and ease. Another great step taken from completely automatic controls. These push-operate with the same push button radio. Wylie Browning installed four new Lions: Leroy Meyers, Davis Kelley, James Brady and Earl Cox, and told them of the duties of Lions and something about the organization. Browning said the Burk club was organized in 1922. Only two of the present members, Sloan Mills and Frank Kelley, are charter members. Mills has a perfect attendance record ever since the club was organized. Lions clubs now operate in 72 countries of the world, with more than 500,000 members. W. H. Holt, program chairman, presented Lawyer Joseph Janek, who spoke to the club about world conditions in general, and mental institutions in Texas in particular. Next week Frank Kelley will bring the program. The following week C. J. Lippard will be responsible for the program. Lions Club Rummage Sale will be held soon. Those children who have received only one immunization will have to make arrangements in about two weeks with their own private physician to receive the second immunization. Rains Add Woes To City Problems Problems of the City grow with each day or night of added rain. Since last Sunday almost three inches of rain have been added to some 7 or 8 inches which fell the week before. Streets all over town have washed out, holes appeared in blacktop streets and water is standing practically everywhere. Prior to the rains City Manager A. W. Newman had the streets in fairly good shape. All holes had been repaired, tall grass and weeds had been cut at the intersections and in the alleys and things were looking up. Newman said there were so many things needing to be done, with so little to do with that the situation was anything but bright. Work will go ahead just as fast as men and materials are available.

Dodge Introduces New 4-Door Hardtop

One of the newest, most exciting automobiles to appear on the American motoring scene in recent years is the glamorous 1956 Dodge Four-Door Lancer hardtop. All of the youth and vigor of true hardtop styling has been skillfully combined with the comfort and convenience of the four-door sedan. While the car shown above is in the Custom Royal series, the same body style is being offered in the lower priced Royal and Coronet series.

Cliff Wampler Heads T-B Seal Sale In Burkburnett

C. B. (Cliff) Wampler has consented to take the chairmanship of the TB Christmas Seal Sales in Burkburnett. Wampler, immediate past president of the Burkburnett Rotary Club, is a hard worker and will be calling on workers as he organizes his campaign.

Let's take a look at the 1955 Christmas Seals. During the coming weeks we will be working hard to publicize them, to make everyone aware of what they mean — to sell them. We should know them thoroughly in order to know them better. There are two ways to know the Christmas Seals: What they look like and what they stand for.

What the Christmas Seals Look Like With the first glance we see children and the Double-Barred Cross. Looking closer we see that there are two companion seals—on one a little boy against the blue of a winter sky, on the other a little girl against a background of apple green. The boy wears a cap and fringed scarf, and carries in one hand a Christmas package, and in the other a sprig of mistletoe. The girl wears a feminine cap and collar and mittens of blue trimmed with white, and carries in both hands a gift wrapped in red. The word Christmas appears on the boy seal and greetings on the girl seal.

These, then, are the main pictorial elements in the 1955 Christmas Seals: a boy and a girl, Christmas gifts, mistletoe, Christmas Greetings, and the red double barred cross. They convey a happy mood of Christmas giving. There is gaiety, love, and blooming health in the faces of the children, and the double barred cross stands boldly behind them as a promise of protection.

What the Christmas Seals Stand For They represent a tradition close to two thousand years old, the giving of gifts to loved ones at Christmas time, a tradition begun by the Wise Men at the manger in Bethlehem. They represent also a newer tradition, essentially American, of individual giving for the welfare of the whole community. A half century of organized effort to control tuberculosis lies behind these Christmas Seals. Old as they are, they are also as modern as today, standing for the activities of the tuberculosis association and its program for the future.

Blue Water Does Trick for Lancaster In "The Kentuckian", Palace Theatre

Although the old mill stream has been restored pretty much to what it used to be, it still bears traces of the Hollywood touch—it's the wrong color. The mill stream (plus pond) in question is a centuries old one in Levi Jackson State Park in Kentucky. It had the distinction, recently, of serving as a watery approach to a bit of lively mayhem indulged in by Burt Lancaster and a deep-eyed villain in "The Kentuckian", new United Artists released printed in Technicolor and CinemaScope, which opens at the Palace Theatre Friday and Saturday.

Officers Elected By LoWannas

A trip to the Texas-Okla. Fair was planned for Friday night. The group voted to form a garden club unit within the membership of the Lowanna group. They selected "The Redbud Garden Club" as a name for the unit. Cookies, Candy and cokes were served by Loretta Brocker at close of meeting.

The October 3rd meeting of the Lowanna girls was held in the home of Carolyn Clement. Ietha Herring, president, presided at the brief business session. The rummage sale was voted to be held Saturday, Oct. 8th, if the weather permits.

A report was given by the project committee on proposed projects for this season. Committees were appointed for the Halloween party. Mrs. Riley, councilor announced that the Burkburnett Garden club will sponsor the Red bud Garden club, a unit of the Lowanna Camp fire Group. The garden club unit will meet the second Monday in each month. A note of thanks was sent to Mrs. K. Hervey for assisting with transportation of the members to the Fair Friday night. All members were present. Carolyn's two brothers, Randy and David were guests for the meeting. Refreshments of cokes and do-nuts were served by the hostess.

Later in the evening, after the beds were turned back, ghost stories and scare houses were enjoyed. Around 2:00 a. m. all were sound asleep and were fresh as daisies when breakfast was called. Those enjoying this party included Charlotte Wallace, Irma Ned Riley, Jo Ann Hervey, Ietha Herring, Shirley Hodges, Carolyn Clement and Loretta Brocker.

The Significance Of Oil Progress Week

Each year the oil industry devotes a week to making a comprehensive report to the American people. The occasion is known as Oil Progress Week, and its 1955 observance will take place October 9 through 15.

It's hard to realize that the oil industry is less than a century old—the first successful well came into being in Titusville, Pennsylvania, in 1859. Few people were impressed by that achievement then. In fact, a New Brunswick driller brought in another well at about the same time then shut it down, on the grounds that North America could support only one well.

No one ever did a more thorough job of wrong guessing than that Canadian driller. Today 42,000 separate businesses serve American oil consumers. We produce almost 2,500,000,000 barrels of oil a year—yet, due to the effectiveness of the exploratory and pioneering operations of the industry, a barrel and a quarter of oil is found for every barrel taken out of the earth. Oil was a major weapon of victory in two world wars. On the farm, in industry, and in the home oil has worked revolutions. And petrochemistry, oil's fast-growing baby, is enriching our living standards.

These accomplishments—unrivaled anywhere else in the world—were made under our system of free competitive enterprise. That is the true and basic significance of the coming Oil Progress Week.

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK

What makes a newspaper the basic and primary reading habit of the people?

Well, lot of things do, but let's suggest just a few.

The reliable coverage of news—all of the news, not just the bare headline facts by the newspaper—is indispensable to the community. Think how your own newspaper has kept you informed in time of peace and in time of war, how the have exposed corruption and crime to help make your city a better place in which to live—how by giving you the news, they've led the way to better law enforcement, increased fire protection, fought for better schools and parks or playgrounds. Think of the thousands of lines of space they gave to the Chamber of Commerce to help the city progress or the space they gave to the Tuberculosis Seal Sale, the Polio Drive, the Red Cross, the Community Chest and other worthy causes which could not exist without this help.

It keeps the individual informed of what goes on all over the world and more important—right down the street in his own home town.

Let's go into a typical American home—and there are few without a newspaper—and see what happens to the newspaper.

The child's birth was no doubt announced in the newspaper. Mother looked over the advertisements to shop for the baby's clothing and food. As he grew older, the comics were read to him and later he took an interest in the sports page and learned all about scoring and knew the batting averages of the outstanding major leaguers. He shopped the classified ads for his first jalopy. He followed the amusement pages to see where he was going to take his girl that night. He also found that reading his newspaper helped with his school work for a typical Connecticut high school, 97% of the students say they read the newspapers and 85% testified that newspapers help them with their studies.

The woman of the family looks at the society page for news of women she knows; of parties given and who was there; she learns about fashions and beauty hints; what's new in dresses and hats and how much they cost. The food advertisements tell her where to buy the best for the least and give her hints on new ways of preparing tempting dishes for the family.

Recent surveys show that 95% of those women who read a newspaper, and that's practically all, read the advertisements and whether it's a car or a hat that hits her eye, something usually happens.

Chances are the man of the family went to his first job through a classified ad. News and facts from the newspaper help him form his opinions and he finds mental relaxation in the comics and crossword puzzles. Business news helps him keep abreast of the times and the sports he devours. And he likes to see his own name in the newspaper, news of his marriage, his latest promotion, or his election as president or officer of some club or lodge. Then, too, he follows the latest advertisements of his firm.

Newspapers satisfy the hunger for facts, fresh and straight and complete while they are still news. We all know that the closer anything comes to home, the more real it is. Thousands can become homeless through some disaster in some distant area, but right or wrong, it bothers us a lot more if we hear our rent is going up.

America's free press belongs to the people and not to the newspapers. Over the years we have witnessed the encroachment upon the press in various countries, and we have been convinced that we must be ever alert here at home protecting that freedom. This is far from being a partisan question. Generally speaking, the members of America's leading political parties sense the dangers ahead and have resented signs of encroachment.

One of the first things a dictator does when he gets into power is to abolish the free press. He knows that he cannot enslave a well informed people and a free press will keep the people well informed and his job will not last long.

Your newspaper today is published by men and women who recognize newspapers must put out a product which will appeal to all denominations and parties who are entitled to all of the news regardless of personal opinions. Every newspaper has the right and every editor has the right to express its and his own opinions on the Editorial Page of course.

Most newspapers allow their readers to express their opinions thru a "Letter to the Editor" or similar columns.

The newspaper is more than a dispenser of world and local news. It avails itself of the boundless opportunities to do good. It's success depends upon the confidence its readers place in the newspaper and the respect they have for those who conduct the publication.

Shades of Tom Sawyer

Hack Willis had just stopped the tractor so's he could cool off at the pump, when a young insurance salesman came up the drive.

Hack was tired of plowing, and needed insurance on his new barn. But he also needed to get that winter rye in fast. The salesman, an eager kid, noticed hesitation. "I come from a farm," he said. "Why don't you look at these booklets—get all the dope—and I'll take that plow a couple of rounds for you."

Young fellow laid off a pretty straight furrow, too. It was almost dark before Hack—sitting

In the shade—was able to decide just what kind of policy to get. From where I sit, to be a good citizen—always helps to "put yourself in the other man's place." He may have a different sort of job, but he's got to close a deal over a friendly glass of beer while you might prefer something else. Both of you can co-operate to make it a "policy" to try.

boundaries extend 3 miles except in the gulf of where Texas and Florida 1-2 mile limit. Beyond the federal govern- tains title. The Demo- their allies like the to are trying to make capital by misrepresen- tants, wanted the federal to take everything, as well as beyond the mile limit. They said would bring a great to the government.

ber 13 the federal gov- received bids of almost on dollars for mineral submerged lands off ana coast, beyond the 3 mit. The highest bid was acre on a 5,000 acre is was the first time the ent had gone to open Its old system was to eses for a fixed price. his system, oil lands in were leased for 50 acre for the first year, for the second and third cents an acre for the fourth year, and nothing for the fifth year. The government took 75 cents an acre for a five year period.

Comparment with the 75 cents which it was receiving before the states resisted the tidelands grab, the federal government's $1220 per acre aproachs a bonanza For this bonanza, credit is due leaders in California, Texas and Louisiana who insisted and still insist that the states were handling their oil lands better than the federal government was handing its oil lands and that the states historic rights to lands 3 leagues from their coasts should and must be preserved.

In fact, the new system of open bidding adopted by the federal government was the same long used by the state of Louisiana, so that the intensive discussion leading up to the legislation governing the submerged lands actually proved of great educational value to the federal government. As a consequence it was induced to change its methods in granting leases, so that it is now making far more out of its offshore oil than it ever did before.

When 130 million dollars comes to the government in a lump it would take persons as reckless as Harry S. Truman, Adlai Stevenson, Paul Douglas and the CIO to say that "the people" have been victimized by some unconscionable "give-away." Actually the central government has learned how to make something of the submerged mineral lands which it formerly leased out as a token price, and in this it was instructed by the states.

Adlai Stevens has just recently concluded a visit to Texas. In an interview he said "Texas would be better off today if Gov. Shivers had spent more time on veterans land and less on tidelands." Stevenson also put himself on record as having urged, in the 1952 campaign, an "equitable" distribution of tidelands revenue between states and the federal government. He urged "enactment of legislation providing for the administration of these lands and the disposition of their proceeds."

The last election proved definitely that the voters of Texas love their tidelands and Governor Shivers far more than the Democrat party and Adlai.

By VERN STANFORD
Texas Press Association

Adlai Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, kept his political thoughts and hopes mostly to himself during his Texas visit.

He made only a left handed jibe at political foe Gov. Allan Shivers.

Shivers has said he will not support Stevenson if he is the '56 presidential nominee.

In his University of Texas lecture, Stevenson said that, while not a full-time economic expert, he is a "full time Democrat." He sidestepped a question from the audience on Texas tidelands, issue on which he and Shivers broke in 1952.

Stevenson was joined by Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn in an overnight visit at U. S. Sen. Lyndon Johnson's farm. Plane schedules allowed the three top level Democratic leaders very little time to discuss their party's brightened prospects. They all disclaimed any political significance in the get-together.

Johnson and Rayburn said no change in Democratic Congressional tactics is planned as a result of President Eisenhower's heart attack. They said Democrat leaders would nevertheless try to draft a Congressional program that will put a Democrat in the White House.

Apparently well on the road to recovery from his own heart attack, Johnson sent a telegram inviting President Eisenhower to Texas to hunt with him.

SHIVERS CRITICIZES COURT

Last year's desegregation ruling by the U. S. Supreme Court was part of a long series of moves toward centralized government, Gov. Shivers contends.

U. S. Supreme Court justices "stepped out of their judicial robes" in their desegregation decision, he said. "Nine men, sitting 2,000 miles away are not going to tell crossroad, Texas, how they're going to run their schools," the Governor emphasized.

Shivers spoke at a meeting of oil well drillers in Houston, at the same time Adlai Stevenson addressed an Austin audience.

Earlier he pointed out the court ruling can be overridden by act of Congress or amendment to the U. S. Constitution. He cited recent tidelands legislation as an example.

POLITICAL SPECULATION

Sen. Price Daniel has indicated he may disclose his political plans during a series of speeches scheduled in Texas during November. He has kept the door open for a possible race for governor next year. His Senate term still has two years to go.

Meanwhile, Daniel will open hearings of the Senate judiciary sub-committee on narcotics in Austin, Oct. 12th, and will hold other hearings in San Antonio, Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth.

Political speculation has swung toward the idea that Gov. Allan Shivers and other top office holders choose to seek re-election next year, Shivers for a fourth elective term.

Among the possibilities were Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd, and Agri. Comm. John C. White. The same speculation hinted that possibly U. S. Sen. Daniel might decide against the governor's race for which he has been discussed.

Gov. Shivers decision to run for re-election would greatly thin the ranks of prospective candidates. So far, only former Speaker Reuben Senterfitt has announced. Ralph Yarbrough, twice defeated for the office, is regarded as a certain candidate. White and State Senator Jimmy Phillips of Angleton are probable entrants.

TEACHERS DUE JURY DUTY

This fall for the first time in Texas history, some school teachers will have to interrupt the three R's to answer summonses.

Legislators, apparently by an oversight, deprived them of their traditional exemption. Jury service laws were written last session after constitutional amendments made women eligible for duty.

Old laws, specifically exempting "school masters," had been interpreted as meaning all teachers. That new status had dropped this classification did not come to light until school and fall court session began.

Teachers summoned are expected to seek reprieve on the ground that their absence would work a hardship on their schools.

RADAR REDUCES ACCIDENTS

Radar, says Public Safety Director, Homer Garrison, Jr., has had a pronounced psychological effect, slowing down highway speeders wherever it is used.

Fatalities on major routes were down six percent for the first eight months of the year, Garrison pointed out.

BUILDING PLANNERS HIRED

A professional planning firm has been employed by the State Building Commission to map out a long range program for housing the state government.

An orderly building program covering needs for the next 25 to 50 years is the goal, said Gov. Shivers, chairman of the commission.

He said he favors a government center built around the Capitol, rather than an aimless sprinkling of buildings.

Funds already have been appropriated for a new state courts and office building and for partial air conditioning and remodeling of the Capitol.

SHORT SNORTS: TEXAS' 31 STATE SENATORS REPORTED THEY SPENT $43,756 OF STATE MONEY FOR EXPENSES THIS YEAR.

Highest was Sen. Jimmy Phillips of Angleton, who reported $4,189. Lowest was Sen. R. A. Weinegt of Seguin who spent $402. Ben H. We have had the second round of Polio Shots that was started and not completed before the end of school last spring. Approximately 85 percent of the students who started the Shots last Spring completed the series this past week, and several who did not take the shot have moved out of town.

The first grade boys and girls are very excited about getting to stay at school all day. They have a feeling of great responsibility placed upon their shoulders and are very willing to accept the challenge.

We are very grateful for the fine rains and are hoping that we will be able to enjoy some very nice cool weather.

The safer car wins . . .
 and Chevrolet's the winning car

Every checkered flag signals a Chevrolet victory in official 1955 stock car competition—not only against its own field but against many American and foreign high-priced cars, too!

On the stock car tracks, this go-getting Chevrolet is making the high-priced jobs turn green with envy . . . and making the other low-priced cars wish they'd stayed home in the garage!
 Let's translate this into your kind of driving.
 You've got to have faster acceleration to win on the tracks. And that means safer passing or the highways.
 You've got to have better springing and suspension to nail you to the turns. Again, safer and happier motoring for you.
 You've got to have big brakes that act but fast and smooth . . . and easy, accurate steering.
 More things that make your driving more secure and more enjoyable.
 But it's more fun to try these things out than just to talk about them. So come in and let's take a ride.
