NATIONAL BIBLE WEEK 1955

National Bible Week, which will be observed from October 17th through the 23rd this year, has reached an important milestone — its 15th anniversary. The Laymen's National Committee, the all-faiths sponsoring group, feels that the week has helped a great deal in bringing about today's resurgence in religious matters.

Campaign theme for this year's National Bible Week is "The Bible Is The Rock On Which Our Republic Rests." Symbolic of the mighty strength that is found in the Bible, an all important American landmark, Plymouth Rock, is the object that shares honors with the Bible in the national poster being displayed throughout the country. Just as our great nation was founded on this rock, so may we build our spiritual life on the greatest rock of all — the Bible.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

MYRTLE BEACH, S. C., News: "Although the newspapers of the state each have their own characteristics, reflecting generally the communities they serve, there is one transcending principle by which they live—the desire to serve what they honestly believe to be the best interests of their communities, their state and their nation — when the voice of the press and the voice of the people join in a common crusade, public opinion — that fountainhead of power in our free nation — reaches its greatest effectiveness."

ITALY, Tex., News-Herald: "In almost every country except ours the editor operates under such restraint that it is almost impossible to present any viewpoint except the official one."

NORFOLK, Va., Times-Advocate: "Seems a pity, but more than a million American kids are making the mistake of their lives this week—They are passing up the chance to finish high school. Why all this hullabaloo about high school? It's not the dates in the history books or the names in geography you learn, although those may help. High school trains men and women to think straighter, to think things out — an ability you pick up while you are figuring out the answers to tough questions."

TAX PHILOSOPHY

It is now generally believed that—barring some unexpected calamity—there will be a moderate reduction in federal taxes next year. Leaders of both the parties have indicated as much.

There is considerable disagreement, however, as to what philosophy should prevail when Congress starts revising the tax laws again.

One group, for instance, holds that any cuts should be confined to the lower income brackets, and not extended to the higher brackets or to business.

From a purely political point of view, this might be profitable. From the viewpoint of the welfare of the country, however, it cannot be justified. Our population is growing by leaps and bounds. Within the next 10 years millions upon millions of people will join the labor force, and seek good jobs. Today it takes an average of $12,000 to create just one—yes, just one job in American industry. Untold billions, consequently, must be invested in the relatively near future if full employment is to be realized. The present tax laws which allow for taxes as high as 52 percent of a corporation's taxation income and 91 percent of individual's, are an obvious burden on economic growth. They don't leave sufficient capital in the hands of business and individuals to permit saving and investing at the levels which will be needed.

Any sound new tax law should distribute the benefits equitably all along the line, to people of small and large means, and business enterprises of every size and kind.

NO SUBSTITUTE FOR INGENUITY

The Wall Street Journal recently printed a thoughtful editorial on certain laws which were supposed to help independent grocers in competing with the big chains. The paper said: "A large-scale buyer is almost sure to get some price advantage over a small-scale buyer and so be in a position to under sell him."

"It does not follow that the small grocers are therefore unable to compete with the big chains. If that were true, the independents would long since have been gobbled up by the chains instead of flourishing side by side with them as they do. Price competition is only one kind of competition, and the independents have found that it can be offset by emphasizing quality, service, specialties and in many other ways."

The Journal then said that independents think that some laws have helped them, and added: "But what has manifestly helped them far more than any laws is their own ingenuity and their own competitive instinct. That is something which law can sometimes stifle, but for which it can never substitute."

This intelligent and valid point of view applies to all branches of retailing, not only in the grocery business. Those who, 20 years or so ago, foresaw the death of independent merchandising unless punitive legislation was levied against the chains were actually guilty of grossly underrating the vigor, imagination and abilities of the independents themselves. These merchants were quick to devise innovations and customer pleasing inducements of their own. As a result, the proportion of total retail trade done by the chains and independents respectively has changed but little over a period of many years.

Research Paces Oil's Progress

There are three reasons why America's petroleum industry has been able to supply the ever-increasing demand for energy called for by our mechanized way of life: 1, it has fearlessly invested its capital in the hazardous search for oil and gas; 2, it has steadily expanded its facilities; and 3, it has conducted endless research to find better, more efficient ways to make the oil products America needs.

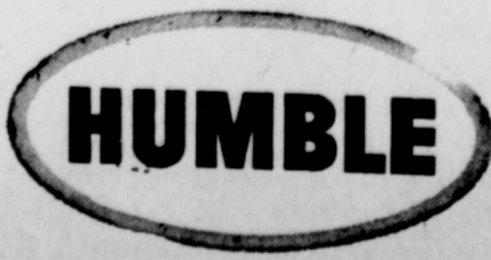

Research! That's the key to the petroleum industry's progress. And the Humble Company assures itself a place of leadership in this field with two great research laboratories.

In the Humble Research Center in Houston scientists and engineers study all phases of finding, producing, and conserving oil and gas.

In the Research Laboratory at Humble's Baytown, Texas, Refinery, highly skilled technicians seek to develop new and better petroleum products, to improve those we already have, and to develop methods for making them more efficiently.

Just as America's progress depends on oil, so oil's progress depends on research.

F. M. Robertson Elected President Oil & Gas Ass'n

French M. Robertson, Abilene, second-generation independent oil producer, prison board member, and former civil defense chief, Tuesday was elected president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

His election came on the final session of the Association's 36th annual meeting. He succeeds Harry W. Bass, Dallas independent producer and drilling contractor, who served two terms as head of the state's oldest and largest organization of oil and gas producers.

Robertson is a former regional vice-president of the Texas Mid-Continent. He is serving his ninth year as a member of the board of the Texas Prison System, the past four as chairman.

Scout Budget Set At $62,089.55 For 1956 Work

The Boy Scout movement in Northwest Texas Council will need $62,089.55 to maintain present facilities and take care of anticipated expansion in 1956. That statement was made yesterday by Hunter Jones, Council President.

"In 1955 the enrollment of Cubs, Scouts and Explorers has been 4,405 youngsters. In 1956 we want to offer the benefits of Scouting to every youngster 8 to 18 wanting to join, and if we are financially capable, we expect to enroll 1,947 additional youngsters in Scouting," Mr. Jones said.

The big need now is for more organizations, namely churches, schools, clubs and veteran organizations to sponsor Cub Packs, Scout Troops and Explorer units. Sponsorship means providing leadership and a meeting place for the unit. Surveys now show that three out of every four boys of Cub, Scout and Explorer ages want to be Scouts, so more institutions are needed to provide the Scout program for their own youth.

In addition, the Scouting movement supports 38 summer camps all over the state of Texas. More than 30,000 youngsters attended these camps last summer, learning to respect others and take care of themselves. The local Scout council supports Camp Perkins, located 14 miles from Wichita Falls, and Camp Boulder in the Wichita Wild Life Refuge near Cache, Okla. Hundreds of local youngsters attended Camp there last summer.

The local Boy Scout group has its headquarters at the Memorial Auditorium in Wichita Falls. Its leadership comprises 1,252 devoted men and women from all walks of life. Helping these volunteer workers are five professional members of the Scouting movement. In addition, 96 local churches and organizations sponsoring Scout units are in partnership with the movement.

To launch the new four year program, "Onward For God and Country," more facilities and improvements will be needed at Camp Perkins. These improvements are a Chapel for Vesper and worship services of Units in long term camp or weekend camp, filtration plant for the swimming pool to keep the water pure and safe, a bath house at the pool and a new fence around the pool, a headquarters building which would house the canteen, the Camp office and storage for tenting and camp equipment. Conservation and reforestation is being continued so that new campsites may be developed. Sponsors are needed for some of these projects to five the Scouts of the Northwest Texas Council, Boy Scouts of America camping facilities of which the Civic leaders of this community may be proud.

Grade School News

We have been very busy and excited this past week looking at pictures and trading pictures with many friends. It is real exciting to try and see how many pictures we are able to collect and then look them over to see which one is the better picture.

Our first grade boys and girls have been with us for the full school day this past week. It has been very exciting to them and we are glad to have them and to help them with the problems.

We have been informed that we are to face the firing line this next week to see how much we have learned and how much that has sailed over our heads. It does a lot of good sometimes to take inventory of the do's and don'ts.

WCS Met Monday For Study Of The American Indians

The president, Mrs. Blake Browning, opened the meeting with the group singing "Jesus Calls Us."

Mrs. Hugh Veach offered the opening prayer.

Mrs. R. L. Gragg gave the devotional about God's Love and Goodness.

Mrs. Hugh Veach, program leader opened the lesson of the economics of the Indian Americans. She introduced Mrs. Marvin McDonald who presented the highlights of an article printed in the December Reader's Digest entitled "The Indian Goes To Town."

A panel consisting of Mesdames Hugh Veach, Raymond Schuette, E. E. Bangs, Felix Kindel, W. H. Holt and D. M. Morris discussed the lesson topic more fully with emphasis on the Navajo Americans.

Tuberculosis

Tuberculosis in the United States cannot be measured in terms of death statistics. More than ever before in history, it is a problem of living people.

It is the problem of 400,000 people suffering from the disease; it is the problem of the 800,000 persons with inactive disease who must live within the limits deemed safe for those who have ever had this chronic, relapsing disease; it is the problem of families who may suffer disruption and deprivation when tuberculosis enters the home.

The total tuberculosis population, active and inactive cases, in the United States today is estimated conservatively at 1,200,000. Of the active cases, about 250,000 are known, cases which have been reported to health authorities. There are believed to be 150,000 unknown cases, people whose disease has not been reported, people who may not even know they are sick, as yet. Unless their disease is discovered and treatment provided, they may lose their own health and give their disease to others.

A new case of tuberculosis is reported at the rate of one every five minutes, approximately 100,000 last year. How many people are being infected annually is not known. Undoubtedly, there are great variations in infection rates in different geographic areas and different population groups. It is believed that about one third of the population may have tubercle bacilli, the germs that cause tuberculosis, in their bodies. The great majority of these people probably will never develop the disease, but any of them could if circumstances were to lower their resistance.

In terms of dollars and cents, the cost of tuberculosis has been estimated for one year in the

HALLOWE'EN MID-NIGHT SHOW COMING TO PALACE OCT. 29th

Tense, blood-curdling drama will keep you on the edge of your seat in Reallart's horror film, "The Mummy," which stars Boris Karloff in the title role.

United States at $307,000,000 for the federal government; $259,000,000 for state and local governments, and $55,000,000 for non governmental agencies, including the tuberculosis associations, or a total of $621,000,000. Although progress in cutting the cost of tuberculosis or in checking the spread of the disease has been slow, remarkable progress has been made in preventing deaths from the disease. The death rate in the United States has been forced down almost 60 percent in the past five years. Despite this, tuberculosis is the first cause of death among infectious diseases, and was responsible for 17,000 deaths last year.

The most dramatic factor in the reduction of the tuberculosis death rate has been improvement. Specific treatment has been available for less than 10 years. Before 1947, treatment consisted primarily of medically supervised rest, sometimes supplemented by lung collapse. Then came drugs which proved able to hold tuberculosis infection in check. The most commonly used today are isoniazid, streptomycin and PAS (para-aminosalicylic acid). These drugs do not actually kill germs in the body, but the protection they give has made possible a greater use of surgery to remove diseased parts. Research for better drugs continues.

Other factors which have contributed to the saving of lives are the generally better living conditions, including better nutrition; increased case-finding programs, and a better informed public.

More persons are under treatment for the disease than at any other time in history. With changes in how it is treated there have also been changes in where it is treated. The "rest home" type sanatorium is giving way to the well-equipped hospital with its various services and laboratory facilities. A growing number of patients are receiving at least a part of their treatment at home. Tuberculosis specialists ordinarily recommend that treatment be started in the hospital, but patients are frequently permitted to complete treatment at home when sufficient progress has been made and the danger of infecting others is slight.

The real test of modern treatment of tuberculosis is the rate of relapse. In the past, patients have had to look forward fearfully to the possibility of second, third, or even more bouts with the disease, each one leaving him less able to win the fight. Recent figures show relapse rates under five percent within a three year period following adequate drug treatment, whereas they ranged around 30 percent in the past. Further studies will be needed to find out whether these low relapse rates are real or merely represent postponement of trouble.

Another factor in prevention of relapse has been the development in recent years of techniques of rehabilitation and patient education. If the tuberculosis patient is to avoid future relapses, not only must he be given the best possible medical treatment, but he must have proper training and guidance for living with his disease. He must be given a fair chance for a satisfactory and productive future.

The rehabilitation program of today has to be flexible to meet the varied requirements of patients, with particular attention to the problems of middle-aged and older people. Almost half of the new active cases of tuberculosis are people over 45.

The National Tuberculosis Association promotes health education, case finding, rehabilitation and medical research to combat tuberculosis. Founded in 1904 as the first nationwide, voluntary organization of physicians and laymen to oppose a specific disease, the NTA now has 3,000 affiliated associations throughout the United States engaged in year-round tuberculosis control programs. Their activities supported by the annual Christmas Seals.

Of the total amount raised a year through the Christmas Seal Sale, six percent goes to the NTA. The remainder goes to the county and state tuberculosis departments.

The medical section of the NTA is the American Tuberculosis Society which this year celebrates its 50th anniversary. It is the NTA on medical questions and supervises the medical research and medical education programs. Its journal, The American Review of Tuberculosis and Pulmonary Diseases, enjoys world wide reputation in the field.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin and Floyd Wayne spent the weekend in Ft. Worth and they visited friends and attended the state fair.

et & Summer

R. D. Laney
The September sun did tonight, in a well-colored, somebody usual. Yes, and if an artist you'd say it wasn't an artist can really paint, because color and light are only part of the sun. Indeed, a sunset is a splash of sight that itches the senses, and we feel at the eyes until hearing are forgotten. We have to see a lot of sun become neutralized as you begin to sense the aspects of a good sun-is preferable to any other method we are able to suggest. In this position we are prepared to state that summer is the season of the year when more people feel like taking this same position than any other. And this is undoubtedly a very salutary thing for the whole of mankind, heat waves to the contrary.

There is no denying that summer is a season of extremes as challenging to mankind as winter in its way, but it is generally agreed that heat waves are chiefly dreaded by civilized men to learn the lessons that summer because they have not been willer has to teach, lesson of rest, receptivity and reflection. Summer in nature is a season of effortless growth when plants and animals alike find rest after the fine frenzy of the spring.

Summer is a season of receptivity and perhaps that is why it is the favorite season of children. It is the time of year when a whole new world of pleasures such as ice cream cones, rides in convertibles, iced drinks, dips in the "old swimming hole" and last though certainly not least, going barefooted, is showered upon these former inmates of the schools. But it is not only these obvious pleasures of childhood that summer has given us, if we will open ourselves up to them, but the infinite largest of its sights and sounds, and above all of its smells.

Winter is the season without odors as astringent as it can be brilliant. Autumn is a season of essentially one tone, one odor, the sight and scent of flame, while spring beckons with a bouquet of blossoms, as evanescent in their scent as in their visit on the boughs. But summer is warm sweet, spicy, with the familiar smell of grasses and leaves in the sun, the smell that makes a mockery of our pitiful vocabulary of the nose.

Perhaps to jump suddenly into the middle of summer without the slow transition of spring is the only way to realize properly its full essence. Only then can we receive the wonder of all things unfolded in the simple force of green, the tropic bliss within the short-lived freshness of morning, and the power behind the birds of evening sweeping home across a sky of primal light and splendor.

Best Annual Report Made By Lone Star

In the final ratings by an independent board of judges in the fifteenth annual survey of "Financial World," national weekly magazine, Lone Star Gas Company was judged as having the best annual report of the Natural Gas Utility Industry for the first time.

The bronze "Oscar of Industry" will be presented to D. A. Hulcy, president of the company, at the annual awards banquet in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Statler in New York on Monday evening, Oct. 24, 1955.

A total of 5,000 annual reports were considered this year in this international competition, and 1,895 qualified for the final screening. These were judged in 100 industrial classifications for bronze trophies. In the Natural Gas Utility Industry, Consolidated Natural Gas was runner-up for top honors, while National Fuel Gas company, placed third.

The chairman of the jury making the final selections is Dr. Pierre R. Bretley, editor of "The Analysts Journal," and he was assisted by Shelby Cullom Davis, president of The National Federation of Financial Analyst Societies; Kennard Woodward, president of the Massachusetts Hospital Life Insurance Co.; and John Kanelous, distinguished artist. The screening of reports was under the direction of Nathan Bowen, president of the New York Society of Security Analysts Inc., with the cooperation of six division chairman and sixteen investment specialists, all members of the New York Society.

Weston Smith, originator and director of the annual report surveys, will present the "Oscar of Industry" at the awards banquet which will attract some 1,400 business and financial leaders from all over the United States, Canada and Latin America.

Before we ever go to Africa we are going to have our heads Sanforized.

Forum Study Club Toured TV Station Thursday, Oct. 6th.

The Forum Study Club met October 6th in the home of Mrs. Charles Woodruff.

Mrs. Gene McNish was welcomed into the club. The members opened the meeting with the reading of the Club Collect. Plans were made for a rummage sale to be held in the month of November. Members discussed having a forty-two party for their husbands this month.

After the business session, Mrs. Lonnie Taylor and Mrs. Charles Goins debated on Advantages and Disadvantages of Television in Your Home. A club discussion followed the debate. Afterwards the members enjoyed a very interesting tour of KFDX television station in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Ellis Gragg won the door prize. Fifteen members were present.

Mrs. A. R. Bunstine Hostess October 10 Circle 2 Of WSCS

Circle 2 of the WSCS of the Methodist church met in the home of Mrs. A. R. Bunstine with Mrs. D. M. Lowery as co-hostess on Monday, Oct. 10th at 9:30 a. m.

Mrs. W. C. Gage, circle leader opened the meeting with the group singing Let Jesus Come Unto Your Heart. Mrs. Gage conducted the business session. Money was given for the school lunch ticket which we are sponsoring. Mrs. Blake Browning, president of the WSCS, announced our week of prayer which will meet Tuesday, Oct. 25th, 7:30 p. m. with all circles and guild meeting together.

Mrs. F. L. Pilkenton brought a nice devotional and prayer God Seeks His Own.

Mrs. Hugh Jones, program leader, introduced Mrs. Leslie Finnell of Holiday who in her Indian costume spoke to us about our Indian Americans. She had several things made by the Indians and each one enjoyed looking at them. She quoted "We should call them Indian Americans in stead of American Indians as they came first." Evelyn Yellow Robe from Rosebud Reservation in South Dakota has her doctors degree and has studied speech correction. At this time she is studying in Paris, France.

At the close of our study with in 2 Worlds, a free will offering will go to Farmington, New Mexico, our own Indian School which is our responsibility. Mrs. Finnell spoke of Ira Hayes, the Indian American boy who helped raise the flag on Iwo Jima and how we as christians neglected to help him in his religious life and he died an alcoholic.

The benediction prayer closed the meeting and thanked Mrs. Finnell for her very inspiring message.

Coffee and doughnuts were served during the morning to the following: Mesdames Finnell, of Holiday, Tex., G. D. Scruggs, Blake Browning, J. S. Gore, R. H. Henry, J. M. Patterson, W. C. Gage, Lena Patton, D. M. Lowery, A. R. Bunstine, F. L. Pilkenton, Felix Kindel, Haws, and Hugh Jones.

Vitality Is Key To Sex Appeal Says Audrey Totter

Sex appeal does not depend on physical dimensions. This dictum which may irk some of the glamor girls in Hollywood, originates with curvaceous red-blonde Audrey Totter, whose measurements are on a par with any of the screen's best publicized bodies.

Audrey Totter is the co-star of Edward G. Robinson, George Raft, Peter Van Eyck and George Dolenz in A BULLET FOR JOEY the United Artists suspense thriller which opens on Tuesday-Wednesday at the Palace Theatre.

"Sex appeal has one primary requisite," says Miss Totter, "and that's vitality. The kind of vitality that stems from health, buoyant health that gives sparkle to the eye, tone to the skin, and spring to the step—in short, attractiveness to every gesture and posture."

Card of Thanks

Visitation Day At Tipton Home Oct. 15

On Saturday, Oct. 15, 1955 Tipton Home of Tipton, Okla., will hold open house for all visitors. There will be a program of short speeches and singing by the Home Choruses beginning at 10:30 in the forenoon. At noon the Home will serve a big barbecue to the one thousand visitors who are expected. The principal order of the day will be visiting the beautiful new buildings which have just been completed.

The present building program began in May 1952. The $60,000, 000 nursery building was completed in December of that year. Construction of six more cottages began in Sept. 1954. The large boys moved into their new home March 19, 1955 and the large girls into theirs one week later. In July two more groups moved into their new quarters and on October 1st the last two moved from the old barracks buildings where they had lived for the past eight years into their new cottages. The entire cost of this building program was close to $300,000.00. All Tipton Home children are now out of wooden structures.

The Home has cared for more than 160 children during the more than thirty years of its existence. Normal capacity is 200 children. The home is the largest operated by any church in the state of Oklahoma. While the Home is operated under the direction of the elders of the Tipton Church of Christ the home receives children on the basis of their need without consideration of their religious background.

Principal donors for the buildings have been Dr. Silas G. Heard of Haskell, Okla., $55,000, The J. E. and L. E. Mabree Foundation, Inc. of Tulsa, $124,000; Mr. Movie Fowler of Wichita Falls Texas, $50,000. Others were V. M. Arnold of Altus, A. A. Mutti of Snyder, Okla., Sam Hardwick of Lubbock, Tex, and Miss Minnie Leathermann of Rogers, Ark. Many smaller donations have come from individual and churches of the southwest.

All people are invited to this Open House. The Tipton Tiger band will play after the noon meal.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hill attended the fair and the Texas-Oklahoma football game in Dallas Saturday.

Christine Suttles of Wichita Falls visited her father, J. A. Suttles here over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Laney of Eastland, Texas, and Mrs. Nora Lancaster of Bangs, Texas, visited Mr. and Mrs. Troy Miller over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harris and daughter of Los Angeles, California, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Browning, here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Bookbinder visited in Altus, Oklahoma.
