Burk Ace On Tech Squad

"Who?" was more than a double talk among Texas fans as the Red Raiders' Burk Ace on Tech's 13-7 victory over the Pacific. Considered primarily a good player, nothing flashy — Burk Ace was late bordered on spectacular. Near sensation — Burk Ace's punt return of 50 yards two weeks ago at Tulsa. Fewin's leaping help of a pair of Buddy Hill helped Tech come from behind in a 27-7 win over Arkansas. Burk Ace's 22-0 loss to TCU, Fewin's punts for 14 yards, a touchdown more than that by the entire Raider team. Burk Ace's punts were a man as Fewin has time to be active on the field and in the classroom. Burk Ace is an engineering division representative to the student body. He serves as cadet major of the Army ROTC program and was honored as best outstanding cadet in his company at Ft. Leonard, Mo. Still he managed an average in a difficult engineering course. Burk Ace's grades are no surprise. He graduated from Burk Burnett as valedictorian. Burk Ace's mid-appearing sort, wearing glasses and weighing only 150 pounds when he enrolled at Burk Burnett. Fewin hardly looked like a football performer he was fullback and captain of Joe Tyler's Burk Burnett Bulldog. He didn't really set the fire as a freshman. Since Burk Ace is taking a five-year engineering course Fewin chose to drop out of competition his sophomore year at Tech. Burk Ace's year he stayed out of school, 1953. Fewin picked up 20 pounds of weight. Burk Ace's last season he was to share time at fullback with the remaining under the shadows of Jim Slides.

the field now, Fewin wears glasses, and that's an appropriate term, "contact," containing the type of football he wears.

Stamford Staggers Burk Burnett For 34-7 Bi-District Win

Wing-footed Mike McClellan led the Stamford Bulldogs past Burk Burnett Thursday afternoon scoring two touchdowns on gallops of 60 and 33 yards as the 2A-4 champions pounded out a 34-7 bi-district victory over Coach Joe Bob Tyler's Burk aggregation.

Burkburnett got its consolation touchdown against Stamford reserves with just 28 seconds left in the game, as Donald McKinnis capped an 81-yard drive by hammering across from the one yard stripe.

Stamford's tough line kept Burk Burnett in check all the way, although the invaders from the Red River country fumbled away a touchdown midway thru the first period after Stamford had taken a 14-0 lead.

Stamford's triumph, its 11th straight, earned the Bulldogs a spot in next week's regional title game against the winner of Fridal's Phillips-Olton game at Plainview.

McClellan who gained 145 yards in 16 carries, raced 60 yards on Stamford's second scrimmage play, and Melvin Stevenson's perfect placement put Burk Burnett in arrears, 7-0, with just one minute gone. The losers never recovered from the shock.

Finest defensive player on the field was Burk's Bill Turnbow, fiery 170 pound linebacker, who had a hand in 80 percent of the tackles. Jerry Gee, Bob Marine, Wayne Smith, Doyce Walker and Jerry Hodges also played well for Burk. Stamford's rugged forwards were led by Arch Pardue, Joe Wash, Dale Robinson and 148 pound T. C. Rice, a great linebacker.

Stamford picked up its second touchdown only 3:15 deep in the initial quarter. Burk's Ralph Atkins fumbled the kickoff after Stamford's first touchdown, and Truman Childress recovered on the Burk Burnett 38. Five plays later, quarterback Jackie Mills, threw a 20 yard scoring pass to end Dallas Christian, who made an unbelievable catch in the end zone. Stevenson converted to make it 14-0.

Burkburnett got a break two minutes later when Hodges recovered a Stamford fumble on the home squad's 31. Burk drove to the one, with a Billy to McKinnis pass for 17 yards being the big gainer, but McKinnis fumbled three plays later and Stamford's Rickey Giles recovered in the end zone for a touchback.

Stamford's third touchdown came at 9:45 of the second quarter, on McClellan's 33 yard sprint around right end. It climaxed a 71 yard 12 play drive. Stevenson converted to shove Stamford's lead to 21-0, where it stood at halftime.

In the third quarter, Coach Gordon Wood's crew steamrolled 85 yards in 20 plays to chalk up its fourth touchdown. Burk kicked out of bounds on the Stamford 15, and the Bulldogs rolled on to up the score 28-0. The payoff came on a five yard end sweep by reserve halfback Stanley Hill. Stevenson's placement made it 28-0.

Stamford's final tally came after taking the ball on downs on the Burk Burnett 24. Burk had gone to the air, and Mize had been dropped for losses, while looking for a receiver, on both third and fourth downs. On the sixth play from scrimmage, Stevenson went around left end for nine yards and a touchdown, but it was nullified and Stamford was assessed a five-yard penalty. Three plays later, Stevenson did exactly the same thing circling left end for nine yards and a touchdown.

A crowd of 4,000 fans watched the tilt.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

BUFFALO, S. D., Times-Herald: "The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away" could be paraphrased to read "the government giveth and the government taketh away." The main point of difference, however, is that the Lord giveth out of the bounty of His goodness, while the government can only "giveth" back part of what it takes away.

KETCHIKAN, Alaska, Daily News: "The paternalistic attitude exercised by the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) over commercial airlines is more often a handicap than a benefit. The CAB arbitrarily decides what routes airlines must run and what companies may operate. To our way of thinking, airlines should have the same right as other concerns to operate where they pleased as long as they maintain safety standards set by the CAB."

SALEM, O., Farm and Dairy: "Farming is no longer a matter of getting up with the chickens and going to bed with the sun. It is paper-work, pencil work, using long words like blend-price and aureomycin correctly and effectively. You have to be a combination of Einstein, Shakespeare and Diamond Jim Brady to be a success as a farmer any more, and it doesn't hurt if you throw in a little P. T. Barnum either. That's an exaggeration. But it is far harder to be a good farmer nowadays than it used to be."

ANOTHER TO CONQUER

One by one, the infectious diseases that have plagued men for centuries are going down to defeat. But tuberculosis remains unconquered.

The attack on TB has been carried out on a broad front by the combined efforts of the medical profession, public agencies, and citizen's groups, such as our own Wichita County Tuberculosis Association. The weapons have been education of the public, chest x-rays to find cases of tuberculosis, legislation to make the best treatment available to all patients, programs in rehabilitation to help patients get back on their feet and stay there, and research for ever better methods of preventing and treating the disease.

Each of these weapons has an effective place in the campaign against tuberculosis. If each were used to the fullest possible extent, the disease could be brought under control.

It is easy to be lulled into a sense of false security by telling ourselves that TB no longer kills people as it used to. We are curing people of tuberculosis, but we are not doing so well at preventing spread of the disease. Today, 400,000 Americans have the disease, approximately 100,000 new cases are reported each year. Estimates of the number who are infected with TB germs range from one-fourth to one-third of the American people. Most of these people will not develop active disease, but any of them could do so.

Obviously constant vigilance against tuberculosis is necessary. But more than that — there must be increased efforts to make full use of the weapons that can defeat tuberculosis. When we buy and use the Christmas Seals of the Wichita County Tuberculosis Association we are sharing in these efforts. We can take pride in what has been done — but we can and must do more.

Readiness Is The Best Prevention

Statistically, the great American hunter can be proud of his record for shooting game, instead of his fellow-hunters, innocent bystanders and domestic farm animals. Out of the total 90,000 fatal accidents last year, 1,050 were caused by firearms. And while only one third of these occurred while hunting, we should properly consider the alarming number of home tragedies due to hunting arms as hunting accidents. Further, since most hunters pride themselves on their guns and their understanding of how to use and care for them, as well as the lore of woods and fields, it should be possible to eliminate such accidents entirely.

But we know there will be mishaps and bloodshed and the best we can do is to improve a little on last year's record. Thus, it is fitting that again the season is ushered in by "Emergencies Don't Wait"—when our friends the druggists go all-out to remind us it's time to overhaul and restock both the first aid kit and the home medicine cabinet. We should need only a reminder that when an accident happens, in the field, the shop, the kitchen or the barn — there's no time to go shopping for emergency equipment.

We should remember too that hunting accidents most frequently involve novices at the sport. Thus, the youngsters who will get their first experience at game-shooting this year, as well as inexperienced oldsters, should be instructed, and drilled and drilled on the handling of arms. Here are the simplest and most comprehensive safety rules we know of which you may want to use as a teaching guide:

1. Make sure guns stored away at home are unloaded.
2. Guns should be locked away from children.

3. Keep firearms in good working condition.
4. A gun pulled carelessly out of a car may shoot someone, the first morning of the hunting season, or the last.

5. Don't drag your gun through wire fences.
6. Following another hunter under trees, limbs and thru underbrush is dangerous when carrying loaded guns.
7. Never use your gun to punch or club game out of the brush.

8. Don't carry a cocked gun.
9. Carry the gun with its muzzle pointed to the ground. Never point it at anyone. Don't let the muzzle clog with snow or mud.

10. Don't shoot moving objects until you know what they are. Be certain no one is in the way.

To which we might add just a few more: Don't set the woods afire. Don't sit on a skinning knife. Don't forget about snakes. Don't let emergencies catch you unprepared.

Easy Coins A Quick Profit

Hear about Easy Roberts last Friday? I helped him count his money—both before and after—so believe me, the story's true.

Easy was on the way to the bank to deposit his "cookie jar" savings—exactly $24.95 in nickels, dimes and quarters. He had them in a paper bag and as we crossed Main Street the bottom fell out.

Money went flying. Passers-by pitched in to help recover the coins. Later on when Easy counted up, he had $25.05. The "search party" had turned up all of Easy's money plus ten cents someone else had lost!

From where I sit, I would want to try this "Easy" way to make money. Usually, it takes time for a bank roll to grow. Just as it takes time for a friendship to grow. But by respecting neighbor's rights—including the right to drink coffee, tea, beer or buttermilk, whichever and whenever he chooses—it's wonderful the solid friendship you can build. You can "bank" on that.

"The Happiest Dog In The World"

Minx, the beautiful German Shepherd seen above with her friend Charles Letizia, is one of the happiest dogs in the world. Unlike dogs who spend only a few hours with their masters, Minx is the full-time companion of Mr. Letizia. . . for Charles Letizia is blind. Minx is his Second Sight dog.

They trained together at the Second Sight Training Center—learning to walk and live as a team.

Second Sight, supported wholly by public contributions, provides guide dogs, training, room and board, and transportation (no matter how great the distance) for sightless persons—all entirely free.

If you know any sightless person who could be helped by a Second Sight dog, have him or her contact Second Sight, Smithtown, Long Island. Contributions to help this non-profit organization may be sent to the same address.

From Your County Agent

Generally, range conditions in Wichita county are much better than a year ago. But with winter coming on, it is time to consider management practices which will keep forage production and livestock numbers in balance, says B. T. Haws, county agent.

He suggests that all horses and mules not needed in operating the ranch be sold. Also that unthrifty and aged animals be marketed along with steers of wethers. He points out that the price is fairly good and it's better to sell now than be forced to do so later in the winter when there will be weight losses or heavy investments for feed. "In most cases buying roughage to get livestock through the winter is a risky business," says Haws.

The county agent says deferred pastures should not be grazed until after frost and as large a supply of bundles, hay and silage as possible should be saved. A protein supplement, one to two pounds for cattle and an eighth to a fourth pound for ewes, should be fed daily to livestock on dry grass. The calf and lamb crops are needed to pay operating costs and they'll be better if their mothers get proper attention. If feed supplies are needed, Haws suggests that purchases be made immediately.

It's just good business to supplement range forage with planted grazing crops and crops for winter and spring grazing should be planted immediately. Haws also suggests that better livestock distribution and more uniform utilization of range forage can be obtained by shifting salting and supplement feeding areas on the range.

Finally, he says, controlling brush will increase grass production. Trees can be successfully treated with chemicals during the winter season when labor may be more readily available.

Pasture management is a year round job and the production from winter pastures can be increased or cut by the management practices used, says E. T. Haws, county agent.

Small grains and annual clovers should not be grazed until the plants have developed a root system. Haws says that upright growing plants such as Aloha oats and Goliah barley should be eight inches high before they are grazed while the prostrate types such as Mustang oats may be grazed when four to six inches high provided the good root systems have been established. The upright types, he explains, should not be grazed closer than four inches for they make a poor regrowth if grazed too closely.

First year planting of bromegrass, orchard, fescue or perennial ryegrass irrigated or on very fertile soil, should not be grazed. The growth can be utilized as hay to give the plants a chance to become established.

Winter pastures should be grazed down rapidly and evenly, says Haws, and by rotation move the livestock to another area in order to let the plants make their regrowth. Rotation grazing is a must for getting top production and Haws says four or more pastures are needed. Rotation grazing will permit taking silage or hay from growth not needed for grazing and electric fences can be used for cutting a large pasture into smaller ones.

Feeding dry hay to stock running on lush winter pastures will give them needed dry matter and help overcome bloat troubles. Dry forage can be supplied, says Haws, by mowing strips through the pastures. The livestock will pick up the cured hay as they need it. The dressing with 30 to 40 pounds of nitrogen in January or February if moisture conditions are favorable will pay big dividends, says Haws.

Important Dates In American History

The following article was written by Mrs. W. C. Vann of Burk Burnett and was read at a meeting of the Current History Club when the theme program was Know Your History.

The observance of Know America Week, let's take a look back through the pages of history to some of the scenes associated with the events, the date, the deeds and profound ideals which have contributed to the growth of our nation that is the greatest and most powerful in the world.

Progress has been all the more colorful. Within the space of a few centuries, we have seen a vast continent rise from the wilderness, and with a giant and gallant stride towards the sun.

It came the era of Discovery, 1492-1607, when Columbus discovered America; Balboa discovered the Pacific Ocean; Ponce de Leon searched for the fountain of youth. These discoverers gave a new impetus to civilization.

From 1607-1763 was the colonial period. We saw the pioneer in the wilderness, felling the forests and living in the log cabin. The glitter of gold and the power lured the Spaniards to establish colonies in the New World which became a veritable melting pot of nations. The first Revolutionary form of government was established by the Pilgrims in 1620. It was here the first seeds of liberty and self government took root.

But soon England's American policy of Taxation Without Representation led to revolt by the colonies and we had the Revolutionary Period from 1775-1783. In this drama we saw Patrick Henry in fiery action; Washington in camp that dismal winter at Valley Forge; the dramatic surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown and finally the climax, the writing of the Declaration of Independence. This document, largely the work of Thomas Jefferson, and adopted July 4, 1776, declared "All men are created equal and are endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and Pursuit of Happiness."

In 1783, by the Treaty of Paris the thirteen were declared free and independent and this marked the real birth of our nation. The Articles of Confederation, then drawn up, proved inadequate as a form of government, so a Constitutional convention, headed by George Washington, met at Philadelphia in 1788. The constitution was adopted as a chart for our destiny and George Washington was inaugurated as first president under the constitution. In 1791, to protect the individual rights of our citizens, ten amendments were added, which have popularly become known as our cherished Bill of Rights.

With the vigor of a growing giant, America advanced from colonies to a nation and from nation to empire. In 1803, Louisiana, became the possession of the United States and this doubled its territory. As the frontier pushed to the Pacific, the Americans marveled at its continent, its incredible wealth, its vast proportions, its sprawling loveliness. Democracy flowered on the frontier. The Stars and Stripes became our symbol and in 1812 The Star Spangled Banner was adopted as our anthem.

This was the historical setting for the peoples experiment in freedom. But very soon national unity was checked by sectional differences until the slavery issue led to the bitter War between The States. In the north, Lincoln towered granite like and with him stood Sherman and Grant. In the south shone the nobility and genius of Robt. E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson. The Battle of Gettysburg marked the turning point of the Civil War. Incidentally, on my trip through the East a few years ago, I visited this battleground. With its vast array of monuments, each a tribute to the fallen dead, one car almost visualize the clashing of the blue and the gray. Such a reverend atmosphere prevailed, that, to me, even the ground seemed hallowed.

Four months after the Battle of Gettysburg in November 1863, Lincoln delivered his memorable Gettysburg address in which he declared "that the government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth." And when the passions of war subsided, everyone agreed, it did not, shall not perish.

So the war wounds healed and the nation grew wondrously. Modern America emerged. It flung skyscrapers into the heavens; its ships encompassed the earth and America became a refuge for the oppressed.

Ever stronger grew the peoples faith in the American way of life. But the tree of liberty must be refreshed from time to time with the blood of patriots as well as tyrants. Yes, by wars, ruthless wars. Thomas Jefferson once said, "For the tree of freedom to thrive and prosper it must be bathed in human blood. Besides the War of 1812 and the Spanish War, we went to war for democracy three times in the past thirty eight years. These were of course World War I in 1917, World War II in 1941 and the Korean War.

Here, then is your America, As history marches on, it inspires us with a great reverence for the dead generations which have fought and wrought so magnificently for us. Their heroic deeds and supreme sacrifices should rekindle within us a renewed challenge.

America today faces a struggle against communism and other forces that will be long and hard. The nine million people who are now communists control one fourth of the world's surface. Realizing this seriousness, let us ever be alert and keep an eternal vigilance over liberty and freedom which stands as a monument to the people all over the world. Let each of us, as individual citizens, pledge ourselves to preserve our cherished heritage, "America, One nation under God with liberty and Justice for All."

Talented Musicians Needed Now For Air Force Bands

Talented musicians are in demand to play in the United States Air Force bands throughout the world, according to T-Sgt. Jack Ottaway, Air Force Recruiter for the Burk Burnett area.

A new Air Force Regulation authorizing the assignment of civilian "qualified" musicians to the bands as airmen seeks to bolster the organization's 80 bands on United States and overseas bases.

Air Force bands in the United States number sixty-three, said

Sgt. Ottaway, with at least 17 additional musical groups overseas. He added the Air Force has 20, 35 and 50 piece bands. Generally, the 20 piece units are located at smaller populated bases, larger bases, have 35 piece bands, while 50 piece groups are usually assigned to major command headquarters.

Texas has more Air Force bands than any other state with sixteen. California follows with six groups. One of the Texas bands is the WAF band. Civilian women musicians, if qualified, and there is a vacancy, can receive a direct assignment to the WAF organization.

Interested persons should contact Sgt. Ottaway at the Burk Burnett Post Office on Mondays between 12:30 and 1:30 or can visit the USAF Recruiting office in the Post Office, Wichita Falls, Texas, for additional information with... SHAMROCK'S NEW MOTOR OILS

GUARANTEED . . . the new multi-viscosity motor oils will do more to improve the winter starting characteristics and extend the life of your car than any other petroleum lubricating oil.

It's a scientific fact . . . most engine wear occurs:

1. During the warm-up period before ordinary oil thins down enough to circulate freely.
2. At high operating temperatures when ordinary oil thins down too much to give proper protection.

It's a scientific fact . . . Shamrock multi-viscosity motor oil stops this wear because:

1. It circulates freely in temperatures as low as 30° to 35° below zero.
2. It retains its viscosity (thickness) at highest operating temperatures.

Improve the performance and extend the life of your car with Shamrock 5W-20 or 10W-30 motor oil. Ask for them at the Shamrock station near you.

The Christmas party will be held Dec. 8th in the home of Mrs. E. N. Miracle. Those not having club pals, will bring a gift to be exchanged. Unit Cools Whole House But Takes No Extra Space Drawing shows how summer air conditioning can be installed in a basementless house where space is at a premium. Part of the cooling equipment fits in with the furnace. The bulkiest part goes outside the house. Cooled air in summer or warmed air in winter is discharged through inconspicuous blenders.

"Whole-house" air conditioning—the entire dwelling, not just a room or two—brings up the problem of where to keep the equipment in a basementless house. Space is both limited and valuable, and air-conditioning equipment can use a lot of it.

Manufacturers have given their best engineers the job of devising a solution. The one they've come up with is in two parts:

- 1—Put the cooling coil in the plenum chamber, the sheet metal box above the furnace.
 - 2—Put the rest, the heaviest and bulkiest section, outside the house entirely.
- The result is that whole-house, or central, summer air conditioning can be installed so that it requires no extra space at all. One manufacturer, Sheldon Coleman, president of the Coleman Company, Wichita, Kan., a firm that specializes in residential heating and air conditioning, explains that this system is economical "because the same blower and air ducts used for heated air during the winter are used for cooled air during the summer."

"Another type of space-saving cooling unit has its own cabinet," he says. "This does take extra space but not much, because the cabinet is slender and fits neatly right beside the furnace."

"The part that goes outside the house is the condensing unit. This might be put out in the open or in a garage or carport. Weather won't harm it, and it can be covered to make it blend with the house in appearance. Inasmuch as the compressor in this unit is the noise-producing part of air conditioning, this also has the advantage of making the house quieter."

CUDDLY CLOWN?

What little girl doesn't love a cuddly clown! And this appealing clown is as useful as he is cuddly. He zips up the back so he can be used as a pajama bag, as well as a nap-time companion. The clown was made by Mrs. E. H. Witt, Senoot, W. Va., from cotton bag fabric. It was entered in the stuffed toy division of the 1955 National Cotton Bag Sewing Contest, along with hundreds of others made from colorful cotton feed, flour, and fertilizer containers.

A "How-To-Do-It" PAINT POINTERS

Some things you should know about repainting outdoor furniture:

Sand all rust spots down to bright metal and "spot prime" with a metal primer, preferably an alkyl type.

When dry, apply two coats of gloss enamel, lightly sanding between coats when thoroughly dry. Be sure the enamel you use is recommended for outdoor use.

Do not paint metal when hot or in direct sunlight.

Above all, never use house paint on chairs. It may take several days to dry hard enough and some varieties will rub off on clothes.

News From Your County Agent and Home Agent

The Louis Maloney family, from the City View community in Wichita county is the first family to begin work as family economics demonstrators. Mrs. Eula J. Newman, Home Management Specialist for the Texas Extension Service and Miss Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent, have just completed their first visit to help the family start their work.

Cut Flowers— to insure lasting quality of these, recut the stems and place the stem in lukewarm water, when you take the paper off. Add clear, cool water to the container daily. The cooler the temperature in the place you put cut flowers, the longer they will last.

Fresh Pot Plants — To obtain the best results with small pot plants, water them daily. When very dry, the best method is to submerge the pot in water until bubbles cease rising. Do not place in drafts of hot or cold air.

Poultry infested with lice grow at a slower rate, are unthrifty and produce fewer eggs. One percent lindane in an oil solution makes an effective roost paint. A repeat application should be made in 10 days to two weeks.

Winter pastures should be grazed down rapidly and evenly. Rotation grazing will permit the plants to make their growth and give top production. All winter pastures in the county need rain badly.

The use of artificial lights to keep hens on the job for 13 hours each day during the short days of fall and winter is a management practice which pay dividends.

B. T. Haws and Miss Thelma Wirges, county agents, worked with Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Simmons this past week. The Simmons family is working as Farm and Home Development demonstrators and have just completed a farm and home inventory and a list of things they plan to begin working on.

Scores of rural communities during recent years have literally had their faces lifted because their citizens believed changes for the better were in order. These changes, according to B. T. Haws, county agent, came about because rural people realized that their communities were going backwards. They had lost something which meant a great deal to them in former years.

With the holiday season on the way, flowers and pot plants may be received in many homes. The following instructions may help to make your gift last longer:

Travesty

R. D. Laney

Intellectual honesty is the weakest link in the fiber of our generation. It shows up in many ways, but I doubt if any make it more evident than the contents of many of the magazines. I have read a number of these magazines published just before Christmas. Some of the stories were beautiful and executed. The lighting was one of the themes on the outer cover of the publications. The most interesting examples of the increasing number of American families are used to express their joy.

tenancy to a family and a sprig of holly. It is the strong, deep kinship that brings the family together and binds it together. It is whatever tugs at the soul of the passerby, seeing a ragged little boy gazing in earnest wonderment into the toyshop window. The lessons of the story are simple lessons, of justice, mercy, brotherhood, and the dignity of any man born in God's image.

What is wrong with this picture, you ask? Nothing. Nor do I question the sincerity of the writer. The wrong of such beautiful stories of Christmas which are followed throughout the body of the publications of various and sundry whiskey advertising. What a travesty! These ads always are presented in alluring attractive colors and couched in enticing phraseology and with but one exception, true to the characteristic impertinence of the liquor industry. They hitch their wagons to the bright star of Bethlehem. Give US they say, and make your Christmas merry.

What a travesty. What a far cry from the precious gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh brought by the adoring Magi to the manger-cradled child that first Christmas morn. That babe, joyfully heralded by angels singing "Peace on Earth, good will to Men," was to bring when grown to manhood, a message of truth which, understood and lived, would free mankind from every human ill.

What is the history of the product which so blatantly flaunts its insidious charms in this, the season dedicated to the pristine purity of the Christ child? One need not be a fanatic to follow its slimy trail through the centuries. It is a trail of crime and corruption, shame and degradation, sorrow and despair. It companions with vice; it lures the innocent; it mocks the upright.

During the coming days it will bring untold tragedy, all in the name of Christmas cheer. At the wheel of cars it will bring crippling and death. It will enter countless homes which give tenancy to a family and a sprig of holly, and leave nothing but a wilted sprig of holly. It will defy "the strong, deep kinship that binds a family together," and will tear numberless families asunder.

It will too often be responsible for the "ragged little boy gazing in earnest wonderment into the toyshop window." It will laugh at "justice, mercy, brotherhood," and display a sorry caricature of "man born in God's image." Today, when the increase of crime is so apparent, when juvenile delinquency is a growing problem in every community, is it not time to face, honestly, the part alcohol plays in these problems?

Air Force Recruiters Old Acquaintance Months Designated

In conjunction with the Air Force's new prior-service program, the local Air Force Recruiters have designated November and December as "Old Acquaintance" months.

T-Sgt. Jack Ottaway, Air Force Recruiter, said the new program allows veterans with needed skills to re-enlist after the 90-day period without loss of rank. Previously, any man who stayed out longer than 90 days was reduced one rank.

"More than 95 percent of the skilled veterans who have re-enlisted under the new program have been assigned to the bases of their choice," he added.

As much as 30 days leave before reporting to the base is another feature of the program.

Interested persons should contact Sgt. Ottaway at the Burkburnett Post Office on Mondays between 12:30 and 1:30 or can visit the USAF Recruiting office in the Post Office, Wichita Falls, Texas, for additional information.

You see it in the tasteful design of its massive grille . . . in that "hug-the-road" look. And Ford's fabulous new interiors are more evidence that it's truly the fine car at half the fine car price.

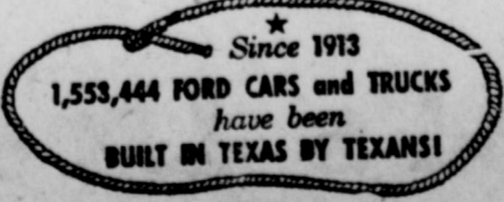

And the 202-h.p. Thunderbird Y-8 Engine, too! This mighty, new Y-8 engine is packed with GO-power . . . yet runs quiet and smooth as a breeze. Its deep-block Y-design makes it more rigid . . . makes the engine last longer! It not only gives you lightning "GO" . . . but gives you assurance in its split-second passing power. Available in all Fordomatic Fairlane and Station Wagon models.

Mrs. Paul Browning
Hostess Nov. 23rd
Burk Garden Club

The Burkburnett Garden club met in the home of Mrs. Paul Browning, Nov. 23rd.

President, Mrs. C. M. Archer, presided over the business session. Mrs. J. C. Adams reported on the flower show held recently at Town Hall. We had eleven members participating winning twenty-five blue ribbons, eight red and eight yellow with Mrs. J. B. Riley winning the sweepstakes. Runner-up, Mrs. Carl Morrison. There were a total of 56 entries.

Mrs. Glen Bear project chairman, urged everyone to have their miniature Christmas trees at the next meeting for bedside arrangements for SAFB airmen.

Mrs. Melton, chairman for the juniors, reported on the window box at the grade school which was recently installed and filled with holly, bulbs, geraniums, etc., donated by club members. She reported the children as well as the teachers were very grateful for this project.

Mrs. Morrison had charge of the lesson. She gave a very interesting lesson on the varieties of roses best adapted to this area. Mrs. B. Danforth told about the new Circus Rose which has perfect buds with high centered blooms in huge clusters. It comes in vivid yellow and red. Circus is so distinctive that it is going to set the style in Floribundas for years to come. Mrs. Walter Riley gave helpful horticulture hints.

Mrs. Browning served delicious refreshment plates to Messdames J. C. Adams, M. C. Archer, Glen Bear, J. V. Brookshear, A. R. Bunstone, J. L. Caffee, P. A. Carpenter, B. N. Cauthorn, B. Danforth, F. R. Kindel, O. E. Melton, Carl Morrison, J. B. Riley, Walter Riley, R. C. Tevis and two visitors, Miss Laura Louise Tevis and Mrs. Gene Robinson.

The next meeting will be Dec. 13th with Mrs. Tom Britton.

SUITS THE OCCASION

A woven cotton tweed suit by Alix of Miami adapts to many occasions. Because it's cotton, it's comfortable in steam-heated buildings, yet the tweedy texture makes it right for cold-weather wear. A suit like this is an asset in any woman's wardrobe, according to the National Cotton Council, because it can be worn round-the-calendar.
