OVER 300,000 BUSHELS WHEAT HARVEST APPROXIMATELY ONE-HALF OVER IN THIS AREA

Wheat Harvest Full Swing

Wet showers Wednesday slowed or completely stopped harvest in this area, but only in the city proper, only four miles southwest of town fell in just a few days. Further south over two weeks.

300 Bushels Harvested Thursday morning, the elevators in Burkburnett, Kelly, Howard Bentz, and Elevator A. Mills Elevator reaped a total of over 300,000 bushels of wheat already in. It is estimated that only one-half of the crop in this area has been harvested. This area produced excellent wheat and is in demand as fine milling wheat.

Wheat to the elevator men in this year is "above average" quality, and the grain is testing 16.5 pounds per bushel, with moisture content.

Above Expectations this year per acre are from 15 to 50 bushels. Farmers are harvesting the amount of grain they expect per acre. If weather the harvest will be short order. Plenty of wheat are here, many from away as Canada and Minnesota. It is not unusual to see five combines operating small field (160 acres).

Stacked On Ground because of shortage of transport and storage, more than 100,000 bushels of wheat is on the ground and in the elevators. Lumber Co. is piled deep for one block. Burkburnett is almost completely covered by huge stacks of wheat. Mills out a hole in the ground and let the grain fall to the ground to a depth of thirty feet on two sides of the elevator—some 150 feet.

of the local wheat is being trucked to Houston.

Burk Study Club Dinner Meeting At Country Club

A formal dinner at the Wichita Falls Country Club climaxed the 1955-56 year for members of the Burkburnett Study Club. Mrs. James Bohner was welcomed at a new member.

The outstanding member award, selected by secret ballot, was given to Mrs. W. T. Zimmerman. For the best program of the year, also by secret ballot, the award was presented to Mrs. Howard Henderson for biography of Carrie Nation.

Mrs. W. T. Lacy, violinist, and Mrs. Joe Bob Tyler, accordionist, entertained the members with a musical. Mrs. W. M. Knaust, member of the Wichita Falls Story League, gave two clever and interesting skits.

Place cards for each member were miniature ships of silver and pink. The centerpiece was a large ship surrounded by blue tulle and pink gladioli. This was the theme of the installation conducted by Mrs. Harry Dodson. The good ship Burkburnett S. C., had just completed its cruise for a successful year and was reloading for the 1956-57 voyage. Captain of the ship was Mrs. J. L. Mitchell, incoming president. Mrs. Harold Van Loh was first mate, vice-president. Other members installed with appropriate ship titles were Mrs. F. A. Jamieson, recording secretary; Mrs. Ollie Ratliff, corresponding secretary; Mrs. P. A. Carpenter, treasurer; Mrs. Joe Bob Tyler, parliamentarian; Mrs. Jack Robertson, reporter; Mrs. Jack Cox, historian; Mrs. Archie Faulk, chairman of art and music and Mrs. George McClarty, federation counselor.

SCIENCE IN TILE

Modern structural facing tile is what you might call clay with a college education. Its basic origin reaches back into antiquity and it shares with brick much of the responsibility for bringing the human race out of its caves.

Today, because of its structural qualities as well as its attractive and utilitarian features, it is regarded by architects, builders, industrialists, educators and doctors as one of the most exciting new building materials. Evidence of this is seen in the fact that production of glazed and unglazed facing tile rose from four million dollars worth in 1943 to nearly 32 millions last year.

The reason for all this would seem to be that "college education" we spoke of. Leading producers of these indispensable building blocks organized themselves into the Facing Tile Institute and went into research in a big way. Particular emphasis was put on the study of light and color, to control and avoid glare, yet give maximum reflection, and to provide color specifications that meet the newly recognized scientific principles of color engineering.

Working closely with outstanding color experts, the tile-makers carried forward the studies begun years ago in the hospital field, when it was discovered that replacing the glaring white of operating rooms with tones of green lessened fatigue and heightened the skill of surgeons. From this beginning, it was found that while cool colors relieve tension, warm colors stimulate the human system, and accordingly the Institute researchers have worked out a spectrum designed to aid workers and students at various tasks, as well as surgeons.

Another plus factor, of course, is the realization that the interior decorating job is done when the wall is laid up, and with a permanent and imperious finish that will never change.

Thus, it is no accident that this modern glare-proof, color engineered facing tile is so widely used throughout modern hospitals, meat packing and chemical plants, studios, workshops and factories where works of art and precision are turned out, and especially in our tremendous crop of new schools.

Sometimes we wonder, when we see these scientific new classrooms, how we ever learned anything, surrounded as we were with dingy, unsightly walls with cracks like rivers on the map.

At The Turn Of The Century

Like many other newspapers, the Globe-Free Press of Grand Junction, Iowa, periodically reprints nostalgic little news items from past times. One of these, taken from an issue of 50 years ago, tells of a local store which was offering "seven pounds of good coffee for $1.00, prunes, 5 cents per pound, three one-pound cans of salmon for 25 cents, 20 pounds of best sugar, $1.00."

The contrast between the prices of then and now would be equally startling in the case of most other wares clothes, household items, whatever. Without arguing the merits and demerits of the good old days, it obvious that wages and taxes and other costs borne by business have risen enormously and commodity prices have inevitably followed suit.

However, there is one thing that hasn't risen, that instead, has gone down, way down. It is the profit earned by the typical merchant on each dollar of his sales. Half a century ago the idea of mass distribution at a low unit profit was virtually unknown. It was pioneered by the chains, and other kinds of retailers successfully adopted it. Today the profit remaining to food chains after the bills are paid is commonly in the neighborhood of a single cent on each sales dollar. In the case of retailers in other fields it is only three or four cents. It is so little, in other words, that if there were no profit at all the difference in the prices we pay would hardly be noticeable.

No one can compute how much low cost mass distribution has saved and is saving the American consumer. But one thing is sure, the sum is staggeringly large.

THEY WON'T BE MISSED

Chairman Francis E. Walter of the House Un-American Activities committee, has expressed the hope that his group will be able to bring out all the facts in the case of Sidney Hatkin, Air Force employe who has been under suspension for 14 months on the charge of being a security risk.

And if Mr. Hatkin's story, that a member of the Soviet Military Mission in Washington sought to hire him to write a report on US aircraft production, stands up under investigation, says Rep. Walter, we should send Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zaroubin back home. He feels that it is more than a coincidence that Communist spy rings were exposed in Ottawa, London and Washington while Mr. Zaroubin happened to be occupying the Soviet embassies in those capitals.

Even though we feel it is a bit late for such stable-door locking, we heartily endorse the idea, providing the ouster is broadened to cover the embassy staff, the consulates and whatever other officials of the USSR are presently loose in our country, and with the further proviso that no replacements will be accepted.

We would naturally expect retaliation with respect to our own officials in Russia. But this too, we believe would be a plus. Under Red rules, they can hardly be helpful to us. And recalling the treatment accorded the two picture taking embassy wives a while ago, their very presence in such a country provides potential "incidents."

TELEPHONE TALK

by C. A. Deuschle, Manager

People Behind Your Telephone Service

I suppose you've heard the old saying that "people are known by the company they keep". Well, I'd like to switch it around and say that "a company is known by the people it keeps".

At the telephone company, you see, we're mighty proud of the fact that long service records are pretty common. Or should I say that we're proud of the many people who can boast of so many years of service with the company.

Right here in Burkburnett, for example, we have 2 telephone people with 25 or more years of service. They are Ruby Plemmons and Lillie Roark, with 30 years or more with the company.

With 15 or more years of service is Floyd A. Marten, Esta Faye Hoffman, Roy Brown, Jr., and Gwen Metz all have ten years or more with the telephone company.

On the five-year list are Sadie Beth Tevis, Harriet Lam, Dorothy M. Wilson, and Angie Mae Randall. Six other employes have less than five years service.

This adds up to a lot of people, a lot of experience behind your telephone service. And you can be sure whether they have (25) years, (five) years, or just (five) months on the job, telephone people are doing their best to give you good service, day or night, rain or shine.

Color Extension Telephones

Certainly, it's not news that extension telephones save you time and steps, make life easier and more convenient for you.

But the news from the telephone company nowadays is that you can order extension telephones in eight bright colors. That means you can now have the added convenience of extension service with a handsome color telephone to blend or contrast with the color scheme of any room in your home.

Or maybe you'd want a color extension to smarten up your office or your place of business.

The eight colors they come in are blue, yellow, red, ivory, beige, green, brown and grey.

To put more color into your home, just call us and order a new color extension telephone. Or if it's convenient, come down to the business office, look them over, and pick out the color which suits you best.

The cost is $11.75 for the color set and installation. The monthly rate for home extension service is $1.00.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

In the lives of all people there shines a beam of hope. That hope, like a flower, needs to be watered, fed, and cared for constantly or else it will die when the season is past. The human soul that looks toward a christian hope has to be fed, watered, and cared for or else it too will wither and die. Jesus once said, "I am the bread of life, he that eateth my body shall never hunger and he that drinketh my blood shall never thirst". Surely we cannot think of actually eating the flesh of Christ's body which is here no longer. We cannot drink His blood that was poured out on a dusty, barren, rocky hill in Judea. But a symbolic form was established to take its place. We eat the bread sanctified as Christ's body and drink from the cup that is sanctified as His blood. This was not an invention of man; for

Soil Conservation District News

Terrace construction, mulching, and seeding of summer legumes are soil conservation practices that are recommended for district co-operators by soil conservation technicians, according to Elvy Sargent, Work Unit Conservationist at Iowa Park.

Earl Hiesermann of Clara is planning to construct about 3 miles of terraces after wheat harvest. Willie Thorman, farming southeast of Wichita Falls will also terrace this summer. Wichita County ASC is paying 70 per cent of the cost of construction of terraces this year and SCS will provide planning and necessary engineering for establishment of the best terrace system possible.

Conservation officials urge you to mulch your stubble this year.

Reasons for mulching are (1) protection against wind and water erosion, (2) increases the ability of soil to take in water, (3) reduces evaporation, (4) adds organic matter on the surface that reduces crusting, (5) improves soil tilth and makes tillage easier.

Earl James of Wichita Falls is seeding guar. Mike Hartman-gruber, operator of George Graham Riverside Farm has seeded guar and Sesbania. Guar seed are very cheap this summer and can be seeded with very low seeding expense.

General Motors To Dedicate Technical Center

General Motors will dedicate its fabulous new Technical Center just north of Detroit in impressive ceremonies May 15-16. Hailed as one of the world's outstanding industrial research centers, the GM Technical Center contains 25 buildings on a site of 330 acres. The Tech Center is a resource available to all the company's divisions and is a workshop for more than 4,000 engineers, researchers, stylists and other specialists charged largely with the responsibility for forward research, engineering and styling. As General Motors President Harlow H. Curtice has said: "There are no 'today's' at the Technical Center. This is our investment in 'tomorrows.'" The mid-May dedication is expected to draw world-wide attention.

Poultry Trends Of Larger Flocks And More Egg For 1956

An increase in the size and number of commercial laying flocks in Texas indicates a trend toward a higher percent of high quality eggs reaching the consumer. This means a highly competitive commodity is being produced in Texas, says B. T. Haws county agent.

A larger and earlier hatch of chicks for laying flock replacement has been developed in 1956 than was present in 1955. January hatchery output of replacement chicks was 26 percent above last year and on February 1 the number of eggs in incubators was 21 percent above that of a year ago.

Because of the increase in laying flock replacements, egg production after the middle of the year will probably be increased over that of 1955. This will probably bring poultrymen lower prices in the latter part of 1956 than at the same period last year says Haws.

During the past few years the number of layers on the farm, as well as the number of small poultry flocks has decreased. The rate of lay however, has increased and there has been increasing commercialization of poultry flocks.

As a number of areas in the state are developing large commercial flocks emphasis is being placed in feeding, management, marketing and other factors aimed at building a more efficient operation. This enables large commercial operators to produce at a lower cost per unit, assuring a greater opportunity for profit. As small flock owners are unable to operate with the efficiency of management that is made possible by a large commercial flock, they are kept at an economic disadvantage. To insure volume for efficient and profitable marketing distribution small egg producers will have to increase their production, says Haws.

The secret of writing is to learn the big words and then learn to use them.

Marketing Practice Important To Egg Producer & Buyer

Egg producers can realize more net profit year in and out by selling their products on known grade standards and to a buyer who will pay the highest average price each year in relation to cost of selling.

Some producers selling direct to consumers, points out B. T. Haws, county agent, receive a higher price per dozen but because of marketing cost their net is less than could have been obtained from other sources. Too adds the county agent, many producers believe the higher their take of the consumer's food dollar the better their profit. This isn't necessarily true. The limiting factor may be the production that can be moved.

For example, producers thru direct sales may be able to dispose of the production from 1,000 hens at a profit of $2.50 per hen and get about 65 percent of the consumer dollar. On the other hand, by selling to a buyer for resale to consumer he could move the total production from 2,000 hens at a profit of $2.00 per hen. The total net income would be much larger from the larger unit even though the percent of the consumer dollar retained would be less. The big difference comes in the greater opportunities for sales.

Many services must be rendered for consumers and producers and these services mean greater sales and increase the possibilities for added income to producers. Business firms are largely responsible for both the increased sales and services, says the county agent. In most cases, producers should remember that the best income is derived from selling to a buyer who has the highest yearly average paying price for all eggs sold.

Current receipt selling normally brings less than when eggs are sold on grade. This is especially true if the producer is selling a high percent of grade A quality eggs. Current receipt eggs bring less because the buyer has no assurance of quality or size. Producers who have above average eggs get less than their eggs are worth while those delivering lower quality eggs receive more than their eggs are worth.

Summer Pastures Management Is Best Practice

Once a cultivated pasture is established, management largely determines its productivity, says B. T. Haws, county agent.

Good grazing management on cultivated pastures requires rotation grazing. Up to half of the forage produced can be wasted if livestock are permitted to graze continuously on a pasture. Cut the pasture into small blocks and graze off in a hurry. Then shift the livestock to another block. Electric fences can be used for dividing the pastures. This method of grazing keeps the plants vigorous and the rest periods permit them to build their root systems.

If forage production gets ahead of the animals, use the surplus for hay or silage. Few Texas beef or dairy operators ever get excessive feed reserves on hand says Haws, but many failures result from inadequate reserves.

Mowing is an important part of pasture management for it will control weeds and small brush and keep the plants growing and producing nutritious forage. When forage plants approach maturity, their protein and mineral content drops. Fiber content increases and they become less palatable.

Without adequate fertility to produce good growth, other management practices are wasted, says Haws. A ton of grass hay contains about 30 pounds of nitrogen, 10 pounds of phosphoric acid and 30 pounds of potash. A ton of legume hay contains about 30 percent more of these nutrients, points out the county agent. A soil test will show how much and what kind of fertilizer are needed.

Finally, Haws points out that cattle grazing on lush, fast growing pasture need some dry hay. Such hay should be available in hay racks or strips can be mowed in the pasture and left for the cattle to pick up as they need it.

All men aren't clock-watchers. Some are whistle listeners.

"Make That Last One For The Road Coffee"

Jayne Mansfield, star of Broadway's hit play "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter" advises in this picture "Make that last one for the road COFFEE!"

Miss Mansfield is posing with the "biggest coffee pot in the world," especially provided for the summer vacation safe-driving campaign by the International Silver Company.

In 1955, according to statistics compiled by The Travelers, insurance company, 37,800 persons lost their lives as a result of automobile accidents — 2,300 more than in 1954; 2,158,000 were injured — 19,800 more than in 1954. With more automobiles on the road in 1956 than in any previous year, the number of accidents on the highways seems likely to increase unless the public responds to the many cautions by authorities and civic organizations urging safe driving.

Highway Patrol News

Patrolmen of the Wichita Falls District of the Texas Highway Patrol contacted a total of 2179 traffic law violators during the month of April. Captain K. B. Hallmark, Jr., commanding officer, reported that 747 of these were arrested while 1432 were warned for violation of the state traffic laws.

Speed was the leading cause of arrest, with defective equipment second and improper passing ranking third.

The Highway Patrol investigated a total of 41 accidents with the following breakdown: 30 property damage, 10 personal injury, and 1 fatal accident.

Total property damage $19,295.00, with 18 persons injured and 1 killed. This is an increase of 19 accidents and deaths for the same period in 1955.

JAMES W. KINDER

Randlett Man Tours Russia

James W. Kinder of Randlett, son of Mrs. Minerva Kinder Clapp of Frederick and native resident of Tillman County, is one of a group of 29 Oklahoma cattlemen and farmers who are touring Soviet Russia.

The group departed from Oklahoma City Sunday, May 6th. Tuesday they took off from New York for Helsinki, Finland, aboard a Scandinavian airliner. From there they boarded two Russian air transports bound for Leningrad and the Soviet tour began Thursday, May 10th.

En route to Russia, the group made stops at Prewick, Scotland, Hamburg, Amsterdam, Copenhagen and Stockholm. The tour is being sponsored by the Daily Oklahoman and its affiliated WKY-TV, Oklahoma City. Tour director is Roy Stewart, Daily Oklahoman columnist.

The group is spending a majority of the time in "the breadbasket" area of the Ukraine, considered the best farming land in Russia. The 29, who together own 121,555 acres of land in Oklahoma and lease even more, are seeing at first-hand opportunity the working of Russia's collective farming.

Kinder was graduated from Frederick High School in 1929 and attended Cameron College, Lawton and Oklahoma A&M College, Stillwater. He resides with his wife, the former Miss Trixie Uzell of Hollister community, and five sons north of Cookestown, near Randlett, in Cookestown.

The boys and their father farm several sections of land—most of it in wheat and cotton and they also raise cattle.

Kinder is the only cotton farmer in the group touring Russia.

QUEEN OF THE MEDITERRANEAN: When the relentless desert sun beats down on Cairo the inhabitants pack up and leave for the refreshing beaches and cool sea-breezes of Alexandria, Egypt's summer capital, distinguished from Cairo by its completely continental pattern. As one of the chief seaports of the Mediterranean it reached its zenith during the Graeco-Roman period. It was the home of famous scientists, scholars, philosophers, poets and artists of the time. Today the Library, the Museum and the Serapeum in Alexandria remind the visitor of that flourishing period. It owes its name to Alexander the Great, the Greek conqueror who, when he subdued Egypt in 331-332 B.C., wished to link his new conquest to the Greek world and founded the city. Later in history, Mohammed Ali, the founder of the last Egyptian Royal family, changed the city into a show-piece of the eastern Mediterranean. Here you see one of the beaches called Stanley Bay, surrounded by municipal cabins for the convenience of the public. The buildings in the background consist mainly of hotels, restaurants, and private residences separated from the beach by the corniche drive, which runs all along the coast.

LIONS CLUB
Meets at Town Hall, 7:30 Each Tuesday

John Durham was in charge of the program. He was assisted by Clyde Fillmore, Wichita attorney, who spent his afternoon in the Burkburnett area, principally at Strasburg (longer existing). Fillmore recalled the Model T Ford, described its make-up and function of each part. He also discussed early days of the automobile, some of the pleasant memories of early days beyond the radiator and crank.

Next week Leo Braun will bring the program.

The club voted to send a letter to the Lions International Convention at Miami, Florida.

Mrs. Polly McLean and her mother, Mrs. P. A. McLean and others relatives will be in Devol this week.
